18 Micah the Moraſhite * propheſied in the daies of Hezekiah King of Iudah, and ſpake to all the people of Iudah, ſaying, Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, Zion ſhall be plowed like a field, and Ieruſalem ſhall bee an heap, and the mountaine of the [i] houſe ſhall be as the high places of the forreſt.

19 Did Hezekiah King of Iudah, and all Iudah put him to death? did he not feare the Lord, and praied befor the Lord, and the Lord repented him of the [k] plague, that hee had pronounced againſt them? Thus might we procure great evill againſt our ſoules.

20 And there was alſo a man that propheſied in the Name of the Lord, one Vrijah the ſon of Shemajah, of Kiriath-jarem, who propheſied againſt this citie, and againſt this land, according to all the words of Ieremiah.

21 Now when Iehojakim the King with all his men of power, and all the Princes heard his words, the King ſought to ſlay him. But whem Vrijah heard it, he was afraid, and fled, and went into Egypt.

22 Then Iehojakim the King [l] ſent men into Egypt, even Elnathan the ſon of Achbor, and certaine with him into Egypt.

23 And they fet Vrijah out of Egypt, and brought him unto Iehojakim the King, who ſlew him with the ſword, and [m] caſt his dead body into the graves of the children of the people.

24 But the hand of Ahikam [n] the ſonne of Shaphan was with Ieremiah, that they ſhould not give him into the hand of the people to put him to death.

Chap. XXVII.

1 Ieremiah at the commandement of the Lord, ſendeth bonds to the king of Iudah, and to the other Kings that were neare, whereby they are moniſhed to be ſubjects unto Nebuchadnezzar. 9 Hee warneth the people and the kings and rulers, that they beleeve not falſe Prophets.

IN the beginning of the reign of [a] Iehojakim the ſon of Ioſiah king of Iudah came this word unto Ieremiah from the Lord, ſaying,

2 Thus ſaith the Lord to me, Make thee [b] bonds, and yokes, and put them upon thy neck,

3 And ſend them to the king of Edom, and to the king of Moab, and to the king of the Ammonites, and to the king of Tyrus, and to the king of Zidon, by the hand of the meſſengers which came to Ieruſalem unto Zedekiah the king of Iudah,

4 And command them to ſay unto their maſters, Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts the God of Iſrael, Thus ſhall ye ſay unto your maſters,

5 I have made the earth, the man, and the beaſts that are upon the ground, by my great power, and by my outſtretched arme, and have given it unto whom it pleaſed me.

6 But now I have given all theſe lands into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babel my [c] ſervant, and the beaſts of the field have I alſo given him to ſerve him.

7 And all nations ſhall ſerve him, and his [d] ſon, and his ſons ſon, untill the very time of his land come alſo: then many nations and great kings ſhall [e] ſerve themſelves of him.

[k] So that the citie was not deſtroied, but by miracle was delivered out of the hands of Sancherib.

[l] Here is declared the furie of tyrants, who cannot abide to heare Gods word declared, but perſecute the miniſters thereof, and yet in the end they prevaile nothing, but provoke Gods judgements ſo much the more.

[m] As in the firſt, Hezekiahs example is to bee followed, ſo in this other Iehoiakims act is to be abhorred: for Gods plague did light on him and his houſhold.

[n] Which declareth that nothing could have appeaſed their furie, if God had not moved this noble man to ſtand valiantly in his defence.

1 The falſe propheſie of Hananiah. 10 Ieremiah reproveth Hananiah, and propheſieth.

AND that ſame yeare in the beginning of the [a] reigne of Zedekiah king of Iudah, in the [b] fourth yeare, and in the fifth moneth, Hananiah the ſon of Azur the Prophet, which was of [c] Gibeon, ſpake to me in the houſe of the Lord, in the preſence of the Prieſts, and of all the people, and ſaid, [c] This was a cit in Benjamin b longing to th ſons of Aaro Joſh. 21.17.

2 Thus ſpeaketh the Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, ſaying, I have broken the yoke of the king of Babel.

3 ‡ Within two yeares ſpace I will bring into this place all the veſſels of the Lords Houſe, that Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel tooke away from this place, and carried them into Babel.

4 And I will bring again to this place Jeconiah the ſon of Jehojakim king of Judah, with all them that were carried away captive of Judah, and went into Babel, ſaith the Lord: for I will breake the yoke of the king of Babel.

5 Then the Prophet Ieremiah ſaid unto the [d] Prophet Hananiah in the preſence of the Prieſts, and in the preſence of al the people that ſtood in the Houſe of the Lord,

6 Even the Prophet Ieremiah ſaid, So be it: the [e] Lord ſo doe, the Lord confirme thy words which thou haſt propheſied, to reſtore the veſſels of the Lords Houſe, and all that is carried captive from Babel, into this place.

[e] That is, I wo vviſh the ſame Gods honour wealth of my ple, but hee appointed the trary.

7 But heare thou now this word that I will ſpeak in thine eares, and in the eares of all the people.

8 The Prophets that have been before me and before thee in time paſt, [f] propheſied againſt many countries, and againſt great kingdomes, of warre, and of plagues, and of peſtilence.

[f] Meaning, the Prophets did either nounce vvarre peace, vvere either true or by the ſucceſſ their propheſi Albeit God keth to com paſſe ſome that which falſe prophet keth, to trie faith of his, D 13.3.

9 And the Prophet which propheſieth of peace, when the word of the Prophet ſhall come to paſſe, then ſhall the Prophet be known, that the Lord hath truely ſent him.

10 Then Hananiah the Prophet tooke the yoke from the Prophet Ieremiahs neck, and [g] brake it.

11 And Hananiah ſpake in the preſence of all the people, ſaying, Thus ſaith the Lord, Even ſo will I breake the yoke of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel, from the neck of all nations within the ſpace of two yeares: and the Prophet Ieremiah went his way.

12 ¶ Then the word of the Lord came unto Ieremiah the Prophet, (after that Hananiah the Prophet had broken the yoke from the neck of the Prophet Ieremiah) ſaying, 13 Goe, and tell Hananiah, ſaying, Thus ſaith the Lord, Thou haſt broken the yokes of wood, but thou ſhalt make for them yokes of Iron.

14 For thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts the God of Iſrael, I have put a [h] yoke of iron upon the necke of all theſe nations, that they may ſerve Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel: for they ſhall ſerve him, and I have given him the [i] beaſts of the field alſo.

15 Then ſaid the Prophet Ieremiah unto the Prophet Hananiah, Heare now Hananiah, the Lord hath not ſent thee, but thou makeſt this people to truſt in a lie.

16 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, I will caſt thee from off the earth: this yeare thou ſhalt die, becauſe thou haſt ſpoken rebellioully againſt the Lord.

17 So Hananiah the Prophet [k] died the ſame yeare in the ſeventh moneth.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 Ieremiah writeth unto them that were in captivitie in Babylon. 10 Hee propheſieth their returne after ſeventie yeares. 16 Hee propheſieth the deſtruction of the King and of the people that remaine in Ieruſalem. 21 Hee threatneth the prophets that ſeduce the people. 32 The death of Shemajah is propheſied.

NOw theſe are the words of the ‡ book that Ieremiah the Prophet ſent from Ieruſalem unto [a] the reſidue of the Elders, which were carried away captives, and to the Prieſts, and to the Prophets, and to all the people, whom Nebuchadnezzar had carried away captive from Ieruſalem to Babel:

2 (After that Ieconiah the king, and the [b] Queen, and the eunuches, the* Princes of Iudah, and of Ieruſalem, and the workmen, and cunning men were departed from Ieruſalem)

3 By the hand of Elaſah the ſonne of Shaphan, and Gemariah the ſonne of Hilkiah, (whom Zedekiah king of Iudah [c] ſent unto Babel to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel) ſaying,

4 Thus hath the Lord of hoſts the God of Iſrael ſpoken unto all that are carried away captives, whom I have [d] cauſed to be carried away captives from Ieruſalem unto Babel:

5 Build you houſes to dwel in, and plant you gardens, and eat the fruits of them.

6 Take you wives, and beget ſons, and daughters, and take wives for your ſons, and give your daughters to husbands, that they may beare ſons and daughters, that ye may be increaſed there, and not diminiſhed.

7 And ſeek the proſperity of the citie, whether I have cauſed you to bee carried away captives: and [e] pray unto the Lord for it: for in the peace thereof ſhall yee have peace.

8 ¶ For thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts the God of Iſrael, Let not your prophets, and your ſoothſaiers that be among you, deceive you, neither give eare to your dreames, which you dreame.

9 For they propheſie you a lie in my Name, I have not ſent them, ſaith the Lord.

10 But thus ſaith the Lord, that after ſeventie yeares be accompliſhed at Babel, I will viſite you and performe my good promiſe toward you, and cauſe you to returne to this place.

11 For I know the thoughts, that I have thought towards you, ſaith the Lord, even the thoughts of peace, and not of trouble, to give you an end, and your hope.

12 Then ſhall you crie unto me, and ye ſhall goe and pray unto me, and I will heare you.

13 And ye ſhall ſeek me, and finde me, becauſe ye ſhall ſeek me with all [f] your heart.

14 And I will be found of you, ſaith the Lord, and I will turne away your captivitie, and I will gather you from all the nations, and from all the places, whither I have caſt you, ſaith the Lord, and will bring you againe unto the place, whence I cauſed you to be carried away captive.

15 ¶ Becauſe ye have ſaid, The Lord hath raiſed us up [g] Prophets in Babel.

16 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord of the King, that ſitteth upon the throne of David, and of all the people that dwell in this citie, your brethren that are not gone forth with you into captivitie:

17 Even thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, Behold, I will ſend upon them the [h] ſword, the famine, and the peſtilence, and will make them like vile [i] figs, that cannot be eaten, they are ſo naughty.

18 And I will perſecute them with the ſword, with the famine, and with the 19 Becauſe they have not heard my words, ſaith the Lord, which I ſent unto them by my ſervants the Prophets, [l] riſing up early, and ſending them, but ye would not heare, ſaith the Lord.

20 ¶ Heare ye therefore the word of the Lord all ye of the captivitie, whom I have ſent from Jeruſalem to Babel.

21 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, of Ahab the ſon of Kolajah, and of Zedekiah the ſonne of Maaſejah, which propheſie lies unto you in my Name, Behold, I will deliver them into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar King of Babel, & he ſhall ſlay them before your eyes.

22 And all they of the captivitie of Judah, that are in Babel, ſhall take up this curſe againſt them, and ſay, The Lord make thee like Zedekiah, and like Ahab, whom the King of Babel burnt [m] in the fire.

23 Becauſe they have committed [n] villanie in Iſrael, and have committed adulterie with their neighbours wives, and have ſpoken lying words in my Name, which I have not commanded them, even I know it, and teſtifie it, ſaith the Lord.

24 ¶ Thou ſhalt alſo ſpeak to Shemajah the ‡ Nehelamite, ſaying,

25 Thus ſpeaketh the Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, ſaying, Becauſe thou haſt ſent letters in thy name unto all the people, that are at Jeruſalem, and to Zephaniah the ſonne of Maaſejah the Prieſt, and to all the Prieſts, ſaying, 26 The Lord hath made the Prieſt for [o] Jehojada the Prieſt, that ye ſhould bee officers in the Houſe of the Lord, for every man that raveth and maketh himſelfe a Prophet, to put him in priſon and in the ſtocks.

27 Now therefore why haſt not thou reproved Jeremiah of Anathoth, which propheſieth unto you?

28 For, for this cauſe he ſent unto us in Babel, ſaying, This captivitie is long: build houſes to dwell in, and plant gardens, and eate the fruits of them.

29 And Zephaniah the Prieſt read this letter in the eares of Jeremiah the Prophet.

30 Then came the word of the Lord unto Ieremiah, ſaying,

31 Send to all them of the captivitie, ſaying, Thus ſaith the Lord of Shemajah the Nehelamite, Becauſe that Shemajah hath propheſied unto you, and I ſent him not, and he cauſed you to truſt in a lie,

32 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, I will viſite Shemajah the Nehelamite, and his ſeed: hee ſhall not have a man [p] to dwell among this people, neither ſhall he behold the good, that I will doe for my people, ſaith the Lord, becauſe he hath ſpoken rebelliouſly againſt the Lord.

6 Demand now and behold, if man travell with child: wherefore doe I behold every man with his hands on his loines as a woman in travell, and all faces are turned into a paleneſſe?

7 Alas, for this [c] day is great: none hath been like it: it is even the time of Iaakobs trouble, yet ſhall he be delivered from it.

8 For in that [d] day, ſaith the Lord of hoſts, I will breake [e] his yoke from off thy neck, and breake thy bonds, and ſtrangers ſhall no more ſerve themſelves [f] of him.

9 But they ſhall ſerve the Lord their God, and [g] David their King, whom I will raiſe up unto them.

10 Therefore feare not, O my ſervant Iaakob, ſaith the Lord, neither bee afraid, O Iſrael: for loe, I will deliver thee from a farre countrie, and thy ſeed from the land of their captivitie, and Iaakob ſhall turne againe, and ſhall be in reſt and proſperitie, and none ſhall make him afraid.

11 For I am with thee, ſaith the Lord, to ſave thee: though I utterly deſtroy all the nations where I have ſcattered thee, yet will I not utterly deſtroy thee, but I will correct thee by judgement, and not [h] utterly cut thee off.

joy among the chiefe of the [l] Gentiles:
publiſh praiſe, and ſay, O Lord, ſave thy people, the remnant of Iſrael.
8 Behold, I will bring them from the North countrey, and gather them from the coaſts of the world, with the blind and the lame among them, with the woman with childe, and her that is 9 They ſhall come [m] weeping, and with mercy will I bring them againe: I will leade them by the rivers of [n] wa-

and Ephraim is [o] my firſt borne.
10 ¶ Heare the word of the Lord, O ye Gentiles, and declare in the Iſles afar off, and ſay, He that ſcattered Iſrael, will gather him, and will keep him as a ſheep-

11 For the Lord hath redeemed Jaa-

12 Therefore they ſhall come, and refor the oyle, and for the increaſe of 14 And I will repleniſh the ſoule of the Prieſt with [f] fatneſſe, and my people ſhall be ſatisfied with my goodneſſe, ſaith the Lord.

15 Thus ſaith the Lord, A voice was heard on high, a mourning, and bitter weeping, [t] Rahel weeping for her children, refuſed to be comforted for her children, becauſe they were not.

16 Thus ſaith the Lord, Refraine thy voice from weeping, and thine eies from teares: for thy worke ſhall be rewarded, ſaith the Lord, and they ſhall come againe from the land of the enemie:

17 And there is hope in thine end, ſaith the Lord, that thy children ſhall come againe to their owne borders.

18 I have heard [u] Ephraim lamenting, thus, Thou haſt corrected me, and I was chaſtiſed as an [x] untamed calfe: [y] convert thou me, and I ſhall bee converted: for thou art the Lord my God.

19 Surely after that I converted, I repented: and after that I was inſtructed, I ſmote upon my [z] thigh: I was aſhamed, yea, even confounded, becauſe I did beare the reproch of my youth.

20 Is Ephraim [a] my deare ſonne, or pleaſant childe? yet ſince I ſpake unto him, I ſtill [b] remembred him: therefore my bowels are troubled for him: I will ſurely have compaſſion upon him, ſaith the Lord.

21 Set thee up [c] ſignes: make thee heapes: ſet thine heart toward the path and way, that thou haſt walked: turne againe, O virgine of Iſrael: turne againe to theſe thy cities.

22 How long wilt thou goe aſtray, O thou rebellious daughter? for the Lord hath created [d] a new thing in the earth: A WOMAN ſhall compaſſe a man.

23 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, the God of Iſrael, Yet ſhall they ſay this thing in the land of Judah, and in the cities thereof, when I ſhall bring againe their captivitie. The Lord bleſſe thee, O habitation of juſtice, and holy mountaine.

24 And Judah ſhall dwell in it, and all the cities thereof together, the huſbandmen and they that goe forth with the flocke, 25 For I have ſatiate the weary ſoule, and I have repleniſhed every ſorrowfull ſoule.

26 Therefore I awaked and beheld, and my [e] ſleepe was ſweet unto me.

27 Behold, the daies come, ſaith the Lord, that I will ſowe the houſe of Iſrael, and the houſe of Judah [f] with the ſeed of man, and with the ſeed of beaſt.

28 And like as I have watched upon them, to plucke up, and to root out, and to throw downe, and to deſtroy, and to plague them, ſo will I watch over them, to build, and to plant them, ſaith the Lord.

29 In thoſe daies ſhall they ſay no more, The fathers have [g] eaten a ſowre grape, and the childrens teeth are ſet on edge.

30 But every one ſhall die for his own iniquitie: every man that eateth the ſowre grape, his teeth ſhall bee ſet on edge.

31 ¶ Behold, the daies come, ſaith the Lord, that I will make a [h] new Covenant with the houſe of Iſrael, and with the houſe of Judah.

32 Not according to the Covenant that I made with their fathers, when I tooke them by the hand to bring them out of the land of Egypt, the which my Covenant they [i] brake, although I was ‡ an huſband unto them, ſaith the Lord:

33 But this ſhall bee the Covenant that I will make with the houſe of Iſrael, After [k] thoſe daies, ſaith the Lord, I will put my Lawe in their inward parts, and write it in their hearts, and will bee their God, and they ſhall bee my people.

34 And they ſhall [l] teach no more every man his neighbour, and every man his brother, ſaying, Know the Lord: for they ſhall all know me from the leaſt of them unto the greateſt of them, ſaith the Lord: for I will forgive their iniquitie, and will remember their ſinnes no more.

35 Thus ſaith the Lord, which giveth [m] the ſunne for a light to the day, and the courſes of the moone and of the ſtarres for a light to the night, which breaketh the ſea, when the waves thereof roare: his Name is the Lord of hoſtes.

36 If theſe ordinances depart out of my ſight, ſaith the Lord, then ſhall the ſeed of Iſrael ceaſe from being a nation before me for ever.

37 Thus ſaith the Lord, If the heavens can be meaſured, [n] or the foundations of the earth be ſearched out beneath, then will I caſt off all the ſeed of Iſrael, for all that they have done, ſaith the Lord.

38 Behold, the daies come, ſaith the Lord, that the [o] citie ſhall be built to the Lord from the towre of Hananeel, unto the gate of the corner.

Chap. XXXII.

Ieremiah is caſt into priſon, because he prophecied that the citie ſhould bee taken of the King of Babylon. 7 He ſheweth that the people ſhould come againe to their owne poſſeſsion. 38 The people of God are his ſervants, and he is their Lord.

The word that came unto Jeremiah from the Lord, in the [a] tenth yeare of Zedekiah king of Judah, which was the eighteenth yeare of Nebuchadnezzar.

2 For then the King of Babels hoſte beſiedged Jeruſalem: and Jermiah the Prophet was ſhut up in the court of the priſon, which was in the King of Judahs houſe.

3 For Zedekiah king of Iudah had ſhut him up, ſaying, Wherefore doeſt thou propheſie, and ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord, * Behold, I will give this citie into the hands of the king of Babel, and he ſhall take it?

4 And Zedekiah the king of Iudah ſhall not eſcape out of the hand of the Caldeans, but ſhall ſurely bee delivered into the hands of the king of Babel, and ſhall ſpeake with him mouth to mouth, and his eyes ſhall behold his face.

5 And he ſhall leade Zedekiah to Babel, and there ſhall he be, untill [b] I viſite him, ſaith the Lord: though yee fight with the Caldeans, yee ſhall not proſper.

6 ¶ And Ieremiah ſaid, The word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying,

7 Behold, Hanameel, the ſonne of Shallum thine uncle, ſhall come unto thee, and ſay, [c] Buy unto thee my field, that is in Anathoth: for ‡ the title by kinred appertaineth unto thee [d] to buy it.

8 So Hanameel, mine uncles ſonne came to mee in the court of the priſon, according to the word of the Lord, and ſaid unto mee, Buy my [e] field, I pray thee, that is in Anathoth, which is in the countrey of Benjamin: for the right of the poſſeſſion is thine, and the purchaſe belongeth unto thee: buy it for thee. Then I knew that this was the word of the Lord.

9 And I bought the field of Hanameel, mine uncles ſonne, that was in Anathoth, and weighed him the ſilver, even [f] ſeven ſhekels, and tenne pieces of ſilver.

10 And I wrote it in the booke and ſigned it, and tooke witneſſes, and weighed him the ſilver in the balances.

11 So I tooke the booke of the poſſeſſion, being ſealed [g] according to the Law, and cuſtome, with the booke that was open,

12 And I gave the booke of the poſſeſſion unto Baruch the ſonne of Neriah, the ſonne of Maaſeiah, in the ſight of Hanameel mine uncles ſonne, and in the preſence of the witneſſes, written in the booke of the poſſeſſion, before all the Jewes that ſate in the court of the priſon.

13 And I charged Baruch before them, ſaying,

14 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, the God of Iſrael, Take the writings, even this booke of the poſſeſſion, both that is ſealed, and this booke that is open, and put them in an earthen [h] veſſell, that they may continue a long time.

15 For the Lord of hoſtes, the God of Iſrael ſaith thus, Houſes, and fields, and vineyards ſhall be poſſeſſed againe in this land.

16 ¶ Now when I had delivered the booke of the poſſeſſion unto Baruch, the ſonne of Neriah, I praied unto the Lord, ſaying,

17 Ah Lord God, behold, thou haſt made the heaven and the earth by thy great power, and by thy ſtretched out arme, and there is nothing ‡ hard unto thee.

18 * Thou ſheweſt mercy unto thouſands, and recompenſeſt the iniquitie of the fathers, into the boſome of their [i] children after them: O God the great and mighty, whoſe Name is The Lord of hoſtes,

19 Great in counſell, and mighty in worke, (for thine eies are open upon all the waies of the ſonnes of men, to give to every one according to his waies, and according to the fruit of his works)

20 Which haſt ſet ſignes and wonders in the land of Egypt unto this [k] day, and in Iſrael, and among all men, and haſt made thee a Name, as appeareth this day,

21 And haſt brought thy people Iſrael out of the land of Egypt with ſignes, and with wonders, and with a ſtrong hand, and with a ſtretched out arme, and with great terrour,

22 And haſt given them this land, which thou diddeſt ſweare to their fathers to give them, even a land, that floweth with milke and hony,

23 And they came in, and poſſeſſed it, but they obeied not thy voice, neither walked in thy Law: all that thou commandeſt them to doe, they have not done:

Then I knew that this was the word of the Lord.

9 And I bought the field of Hanameel, mine uncles ſonne, that was in Anathoth, and weighed him the ſilver, even [f] ſeven ſhekels, and tenne pieces of ſilver.

[a] So that Ieremiah had now propheſied from the thirteenth yeare of Ioſiah unto the laſt yeere ſave one, of Zedekiahs reigne, which was almoſt forty yeares.

* Chap. 29.16. 17. and 34.2.

[b] Till I take Zedekiah away by death: for he ſhal not die by the ſword, as Chap. 34.4.

[c] Whereby was meant, that the people ſhould returne againe out of captivitie, and enjoy their poſſeſſions and vineyards, as verſe 15. and 44.

[f] Which mounteth to of our money, about tenne ſhillings ſixpence, if this ſhekel were the common ſhekel, read Gen. 23, 15. for the ſhekel of the Temple was of double value, and ten pieces of ſilver were halfe a ſhekel: for twenty made the ſhekel.

10 And I wrote it in the booke and ſigned it, and tooke witneſſes, and weighed him the ſilver in the balances.

11 So I tooke the booke of the poſſeſſion, being ſealed [g] according to the Law, and cuſtome, with the booke that was open,

12 And I gave the booke of the poſſeſſion unto Baruch the ſonne of Neriah, the ſonne of Maaſeiah, in the ſight of Hanameel mine uncles ſonne, and in the preſence of the witneſſes, written in the booke of the poſſeſſion, before all the Jewes that ſate in the court of the priſon.

13 And I charged Baruch before them, ſaying,

14 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, the God of Iſrael, Take the writings, even this booke of the poſſeſſion, both that is ſealed, and this booke that is open, and put them in an earthen [h] veſſell, that they may continue a long time.

15 For the Lord of hoſtes, the God of Iſrael ſaith thus, Houſes, and fields, and vineyards ſhall be poſſeſſed againe in this land.

16 ¶ Now when I had delivered the booke of the poſſeſſion unto Baruch, the ſonne of Neriah, I praied unto the Lord, ſaying,

17 Ah Lord God, behold, thou haſt made the heaven and the earth by thy great power, and by thy ſtretched out arme, and there is nothing ‡ hard unto thee.

18 * Thou ſheweſt mercy unto thouſands, and recompenſeſt the iniquitie of the fathers, into the boſome of their [i] children after them: O God the great and mighty, whoſe Name is The Lord of hoſtes,

19 Great in counſell, and mighty in worke, (for thine eies are open upon all the waies of the ſonnes of men, to give to every one according to his waies, and according to the fruit of his works)

20 Which haſt ſet ſignes and wonders in the land of Egypt unto this [k] day, and in Iſrael, and among all men, and haſt made thee a Name, as appeareth this day,

21 And haſt brought thy people Iſrael out of the land of Egypt with ſignes, and with wonders, and with a ſtrong hand, and with a ſtretched out arme, and with great terrour,

22 And haſt given them this land, which thou diddeſt ſweare to their fathers to give them, even a land, that floweth with milke and hony,

23 And they came in, and poſſeſſed it, but they obeied not thy voice, neither walked in thy Law: all that thou commandeſt them to doe, they have not done:

[g] According to the cuſtome, the inſtrument of evidence was ſealed up with the common ſeale, and a copy therof remained, which cōtained the ſame in effect, but was not ſo authenticall as the other, but was left open to bee ſeene if any thing ſhould be called into doubt.

[h] And ſo to hide thē in the ground, that they might be preſerved as a token of their deliverance.

* Exod. 34.7. Deut. 5.9.

[i] Becauſe the wicked are ſubject to the curſe of God, he ſheweth that their poſteritie, which by nature are under this malediction, ſhall be puniſhed both for their owne wickedneſſe, and that the iniquitie of their fathers, which is likewiſe in them, ſhall be alſo revenged on their head.

[k] Meaning, that his miracles in delivering his people, ſhould never be forgotten.

therefore thou haſt cauſed this whole plague to come upon them.

24 Behold, the [l] mounts, they are come into the citie to take it, and the citie is given into the hand of the Caldeans, that fight againſt it by meanes of the ſword, and of the famine, and of the peſtilence, and what thou haſt ſpoken, is come to paſſe, and behold, thou ſeeſt it.

25 And thou haſt ſaid unto me, O Lord God, Buy unto thee the field for ſilver, and take witneſſes: for the citie ſhall bee given into the hand of the Caldeans.

26 ¶ Then came the word of the Lord, unto Ieremiah, ſaying,

27 Behold, I am the Lord God of all [m] fleſh: is there any thing too hard for me?

28 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, I will give this citie into the hand of the Caldeans, and into the hand of Nebuchad-rezzar king of Babel, and he ſhall take it.

29 And the Caldeans ſhall come and fight againſt this citie, and ſet fire on this citie, and burne it, with the houſes, upon whoſe roofes they have offered incenſe unto Baal, and powred drinke offerings unto other gods, to provoke mee unto anger.

30 For the children of Iſrael, and the children of Iudah have ſurely done evill before me from their [n] youth: for the children of Iſrael have ſurely provoked mee to anger with the workes of their hands, ſaith the Lord.

31 Therefore this citie hath been unto me as a provocation of mine anger, and of my wrath, from the day that they built it, even unto this day, that I ſhould remove it out of my ſight,

32 Becauſe of all the evill of the children of Iſrael, and of the children of Iudah, which they have done to provoke me to anger, even they, their Kings, their Princes, their Prieſts, and their Prophets, and the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ieruſalem.

33 And they have turned unto me the backe, and not the face: though I taught them, [o] riſing up earely, and inſtructing them, yet they were not obedient to receive doctrine,

34 But they ſet their abominations in the houſe (whereupon my Name was called) to defile it,

35 And they built the high [p] places of Baal, which are in the valley of [q] Ben-hinnom, to cauſe their ſons and their daughters to [r] paſſe thorow the fire unto Molech, which I commanded them not, neither came it into my minde, that they ſhould doe ſuch abomination, to cauſe Iudah to ſinne.

36 And now [s] therefore, thus hath the Lord God of Iſrael ſpoken, concerning this citie, whereof ye ſay, It ſhall be delivered into the hand of the King of Babel by the ſword, and by the famine, and by the peſtilence, 37 *Behold, I will gather them out of all countries wherein I have ſcattered them in mine anger, and in my wrath, and in great indignation, and I will bring them againe unto this place, and I will cauſe them to dwell ſafely.

38 And they ſhall be * my people, and I will be their God.

39 And I will give them [t] one heart, and one way, that they may feare me for ever, for the wealth of them, and of their children after them.

40 And I will make an [u] everlaſting covenant with them, that I will never turne away from them to doe them good, but I will put my feare in their hearts, that they ſhall not depart from mee.

41 Yea, I will delight in them to doe them good, and I will plant them in this land aſſuredly, with my whole heart, and with all my ſoule.

42 For thus ſaith the Lord, Like as I have brought all this great plague upon this people, ſo will I bring upon them all the good that I have promiſed them.

43 And the fields ſhall be poſſeſſed in this land, whereof ye ſay, It is deſolate without man or beaſt, and ſhall be given into the hand of the Caldeans.

44 Men ſhall buy [x] fields for ſilver, and make writings and ſeale them, and take witneſſes in the land of Benjamin, and round about Ieruſalem, and in the cities of Iudah, and in the cities of the mountains, and in the cities of the plaine, and in the cities of the South: for I will cauſe their captivitie to returne, ſaith the Lord.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 The Prophet is moniſhed of the Lord to pray for the deliverance of the people, which the Lord promiſed. 8 God forgiveth ſinnes for his owne glorie. 15 Of the birth of Chriſt. 20 The kingdome of Chriſt in the Church ſhall never be ended.

MOreover, the word of the Lord came unto Ieremiah the ſecond time, (while hee was yet ſhut up in [a] the court of the priſon) ſaying,

2 Thus ſaith the Lord, the maker [b] thereof, the Lord that formed it, and eſtabliſhed it, the Lord is his Name.

3 Call unto me, and I will anſwere thee, and ſhew thee great and mightie things which thou knoweſt not.

4 For thus ſaith the Lord God of Iſrael, concerning the houſes of this citie, and and concerning the houſes of the Kings of Judah, which are deſtroied by the [c] mounts, and by the ſword:

5 They come to [d] fight with the Caldeans, but it is to fill themſelves with the dead bodies of men, whom I have ſlaine in mine anger and in my wrath: for I have hid my [e] face from this citie, becauſe of all their wickedneſſe.

6 ¶ Behold, [f] I will give it health and amendment: for I will cure them, and will reveale unto them the abundance of peace, and truth.

7 And I will cauſe the captivitie of Judah, and the captivitie of Iſrael to returne, and will build them as at the firſt.

8 And I will [g] cleanſe them from all their iniquitie, whereby they have ſinned againſt me: yea, I will pardon all their iniquities, whereby they have ſinned againſt me, and whereby they have rebelled againſt me.

9 And it ſhall be to me a name, a [h] joy, a praiſe, and an honour before all the nations of the earth, which ſhall heare all the good that I doe unto them: and they ſhall feare and tremble for all the goodneſſe, and for all the wealth, that I ſhew unto this citie.

10 Thus ſaith the Lord, Againe there ſhall be heard in this place (which ye ſay ſhall be deſolate, without man, and without beaſt, even in the cities of Judah, and in the ſtreets of Jeruſalem, that are deſolate without man, and without an inhabitant, and without beaſt)

11 The voice of joy, and the voice of gladneſſe, the voice of the bridegrome, and the voice of the bride, the voice of them that ſhall ſay, [i] Praiſe the Lord of hoſtes, becauſe the Lord is good: for his mercie endureth for ever, and of them that offer the ſacrifice of praiſe in the Houſe of the Lord, for I will cauſe to returne the captivitie of the land, as at the firſt, ſaith the Lord.

12 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, Againe in this place, which is deſolate, without man, and without beaſt, and in all the cities thereof there ſhall be dwelling for ſhepheards to reſt their flockes.

13 In the cities of the [k] mountaines, in the cities in the plaine, and in the cities of the South, and in the land of Benjamin, and about Jeruſalem, and in the cities of Judah ſhall the ſheepe paſſe againe, under the hand of him that telleth them, ſaith the Lord.

14 Behold, the daies come, ſaith the Lord, that I will perform that good thing, which I have promiſed unto the houſe of Iſrael, and unto the houſe of Judah.

15 In thoſe daies and at that time, will I cauſe [l] the branch of righteouſneſſe to grow up unto David, and he ſhall execute judgement and righteouſneſſe in the land.

16 In thoſe daies ſhall Judah be ſaved, and Jeruſalem ſhall dwell ſafely, and hee that ſhall call [m] her, is the Lord our [n] righteouſneſſe.

17 For thus ſaith the Lord, David ſhall never want a man to ſit upon the throne of the houſe of Iſrael.

18 Neither ſhall the Prieſts and Levits want a man before me to offer [o] burnt offerings, and to offer meate offerings, and to doe ſacrifice continually.

19 ¶ And the word of the Lord came unto Jeremiah, ſaying,

20 Thus ſaith the Lord, If you can breake my covenant of the [p] day, and my covenant of the night, that there ſhould not be day and night in their ſeaſon,

21 Then may my covenant be broken with David my ſervant, that he ſhould not have a ſonne to reigne upon his throne, and with the Levites and Prieſts my miniſters.

22 As the armie of heaven cannot bee numbred, neither the ſand of the ſea meaſured: ſo will I multiply the ſeed of David my ſervant, and the Levites, that miniſter unto me.

23 ¶ Moreover, the word of the Lord came to Ieremiah, ſaying,

24 Conſidereſt thou not, what [q] this people have ſpoken, ſaying, The two families, which the Lord hath choſen, hee hath even caſt them off? thus they have deſpiſed my people, that they ſhould bee no more a nation before them.

25 Thus ſaith the Lord, if my covenant be not with day and night, and if I have not appointed the order of heaven and earth,

26 Then will I caſt away the ſeed of Iaakob and David my ſervant, and not take of his ſeed to be rulers over the ſeed of Abraham, Izhak, and Iaakob: for I will cauſe their captivitie to returne, and have compaſſion on them.

Chap. XXXIV.

2 He threatneth that the citie, and the King Zedekiah ſhall be given into the hands of the King of Babylon. 11 He rebuketh their crueltie toward their ſervants.

THe word which came unto Ieremiah from the Lord (when [a] Nebuchadrezzar king of Babel, and all his hoſte, and all the kingdomes of the earth, that were under the power of his hand, and all people fought againſt Ieruſalem, and againſt all the cities thereof) ſaying,

2 Thus ſaith the Lord God of Iſrael, Goe, and ſpeake to Zedekiah king of Judah,

[m] To wit, Chriſt, that ſhall call his Church.

[n] That is, Chriſt is our Lord God, our righteouſnes, ſanctification, and redemption, 1 Cor. 1. 30.

[p] Reade Chapt. 31. 35.

[q] Meaning, the Caldeans & other infidels, which thought God had utterly caſt off Judah and Iſrael or Benjamin, becauſe he did correct them for a time for their amendment.

[a] Who commonly of Jeremiah was called Nebuchad-rezzar, and of others Nebuchad nezzar.

dah, and tell him, Thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, * I will give this citie into the hand of the King of Babel, and he ſhall burne it with fire,

3 And thou ſhalt not eſcape out of his hand, but ſhalt ſurely be taken, and delivered into his hand, and thine eies ſhall behold the face of the King of Babel, and he ſhall ſpeak with thee mouth to mouth, and thou ſhalt goe to Babel.

4 Yet heare the word of the Lord, O Zedekiah, King of Judah: thus ſaith the Lord of thee, Thou ſhalt not die by the ſword,

5 But thou ſhalt die in [b] peace: and according to the burning of thy fathers the former Kings which were before thee, ſo ſhall they burne odours for thee, and they ſhall lament thee, ſaying, Oh [c] lord: for I have pronounced the word, ſaith the Lord.

6 Then Jeremiah the Prophet ſpake all theſe words unto Zedekiah King of Judah in Jeruſalem,

7 (When the king of Babels hoſte fought againſt Jeruſalem, and againſt all the cities of Iudah, that were left even againſt Lachiſh, and againſt Azekah: for theſe ſtrong cities remained of the cities of Iudah)

8 This is the word that came unto Ieremiah from the Lord, after that the king Zedekiah had made a covenant with all the people, which were at Ieruſalem, [d] to proclaime libertie unto them,

9 That everie man ſhould let his [e] ſervant goe free, and everie man his handmaid, which was an Ebrew or an Ebreweſſe, and that none ſhould ſerve himſelfe of them, to wit, of a Iew his brother.

10 Now when all the Princes, and all the people which had agreed to the covenant, heard that everie one ſhould let his ſervant goe free, and everie one his handmaid, and that none ſhould ſerve themſelves of them any more, they obeyed and let them goe.

11 But afterward they ‡ repented and cauſed the ſervants and the handmaids, whom they had let goe free, to returne, and held them in ſubjection as ſervants and handmaids.

12 Therefore the word of the Lord came unto Ieremiah from the Lord, ſaying,

13 Thus ſaith the Lord God of Iſrael, I made a covenant with your fathers, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, out of the houſe of ‡ ſervants, ſaying, 14 * At the terme of ſeven yeeres let ye goe everie man his brother an Ebrew which hath beene ſold unto thee: and when he hath ſerved thee ſixe yeeres, thou ſhalt let him goe free from thee: but your fathers obeyed me not, neither inclined their eares.

15 And ye were now turned, and had done right in my ſight in proclaiming libertie every man to his neighbour, and yee had made a covenant before mee in [f] the houſe, whereupon my Name is called.

16 But ye repented, and poluted my Name: for ye have cauſed everie man his ſervant, and everie man his hand-maid, whom ye had ſet at libertie at their pleaſure, to returne, and hold them in ſubjection to be unto you as ſervants and as handmaids.

17 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord, Yee have not obeyed me, in proclaiming freedome everie man to his brother, and everie man to his neighbour: behold, I proclaime a libertie for you, ſaith the Lord, to [g] the ſword, to the peſtilence, and to the famine, and I will make you a terrour to all the kingdomes of the earth.

18 And I will give thoſe men that have broken my covenant, and have not kept the words of the covenant, which they had made before me, when they [h] cut the calfe in twaine, and paſſed betweene the parts thereof.

19 The princes of Judah, and the princes of Jeruſalem, the Eunuches, and the Prieſts, and all the people of the land, which paſſed betweene the parts of the calfe, 20 I will even give them into the hand of their enemies, and into the hands of them that ſeeke their life: and their dead bodies ſhall bee for meate unto the fowles of the heaven, and to the beaſts of the earth.

21 And Zedekiah King of Judah, and his Princes will I give into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of them that ſeek their life, and into the hand of the king of Babels hoſte, which [i] are gone up from you.

22 Behold, I will command, ſaith the Lord, and cauſe them to returne to this citie, and they ſhall fight againſt it, and take it, and burne it with fire: and I will make the cities of Iudah deſolate without an inhabitant.

Chap. XXXV.

He propheſieth the obedience of the Rechabites, and thereby confoundeth the pride of the Iewes.

[h] As touching this manner of a ſolemne covenant which the ancient uſed by paſſing betweene the two parts of a beaſt, to ſignifie that the tranſgreſſour of the ſame covenant ſhould bee ſo divided in pieces, reade Gen. 15. 10.

2 Goe unto the houſe of the [b] Rechabites, and ſpeake unto them, and bring them into the houſe of the Lord, into one of the chambers, and give them wine to drinke.

3 Then tooke I Jaazaniah, the ſonne of Ieremiah the ſonne of Habazziniah, and his brethren, and all his ſonnes, and the whole houſe of the Rechabites,

4 And I brought them into the Houſe of the Lord, into the chamber of the ſons of Hanan, the ſonne of Igdaliah a [c] man of God, which was by the chamber of the Princes, which was above the chamber of Maaſejah the ſonne of Shallum, the keeper of the ‡ treaſure.

5 And I ſet before the ſonnes of the houſe of the Rechabites pots full of wine, and cups, and [d] ſaid unto them, Drinke wine.

6 But they ſaid, Wee will drinke no wine: for [e] Ionadab the ſon of Rechab our father commanded us, ſaying, [f] Yee ſhall drinke no wine, neither you nor your ſonnes for ever.

7 Neither ſhall you build houſe, nor ſow ſeed, nor plant vineyard, nor have any, but all your daies you ſhall dwell in tents, that ye may live a long time in the land where ye be ſtrangers.

8 Thus have we obeyed the voice of Ionadab the ſonne of Rechab our father, in all that he hath charged us, and we drink no wine al our daies, neither we, our wives, our ſons, nor our daughters.

9 Neither build we houſes for us to dwell in, neither have we vineyard, nor field, nor ſeed,

10 But we have remained in tents, and have obeyed, and done according to [g] all that Ionadab our father commanded us.

11 But when Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel came up into the land, wee ſaid, Come, and let us goe to Ieruſalem, from the hoſte of the Caldeans, and from the hoſte of Aram: ſo we [h] dwell at Ieruſalem.

12 Then came the word of the Lord unto Ieremiah, ſaying,

13 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, the God of Iſrael, Goe, and tell the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ieruſalem, Will [i] ye not receive doctrine to obey my words, ſaith the Lord?

14 The commandement of Ionadab ſon of Rechab that hee commanded his ſonnes that they ſhould drinke no wine, is ſurely kept: for unto this day they drink none, but obey their fathers commandement: notwithſtanding I have ſpoken unto you, [k] riſing early, and ſpeaking, but ye would not obey me.

15 I have ſent alſo unto you all my ſervants the Prophets, riſing up early, and ſending them ſaying, * Return now everie man from his evill way, and amend your workes, and goe not after other Gods to ſerve them, and ye ſhall dwell in the land which I have given unto you, and to your fathers, but you would not incline your eare, nor obey me.

16 Surely the ſons of Ionadab the ſon of Rechab have kept the commandement of their father, which he gave them, but this people hath not obeyed me.

17 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes the God of Iſrael, Behold, I will bring upon Iudah and upon all the inhabitants of Ieruſalem, all the evill that I have pronounced againſt them, becauſe I have [l] ſpoken unto them, but they would not heare, and I have called unto them, but they would not anſwer.

18 And Ieremiah ſaid to the houſe of the Rechabites, Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes the God of Iſrael, Becauſe ye have obeyed the commandement of Ionadab your father, and kept all his precepts, and done according to all that he hath commanded you, 19 Therefore, thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, the God of Iſrael, Ionadab the ſonne of Rechab ſhall [m] not want a man, to ſtand before me for ever.

Chap. XXXVI.

1 Baruch writeth, as Ieremiah inditeth, the Booke of the curſes againſt Iudah and Iſrael. 9 He is ſent with the booke unto the people, and readeth it before them all. 14 He is called before the Rulers, and readeth it before them alſo. 32 The King caſteth it in the fire. 28 There is another written at the commandement of the Lord.

AND in the fourth [a] yeere of Iehojakim the ſonne of Ioſiah King of Iudah, came this word unto Ieremiah from the Lord, ſaying, goe into the Houſe of the Lord.

6 Therefore goe thou, and reade the roule, wherein thou haſt written at my mouth the words of the Lord, in the audience of the people in the Lords Houſe upon the [e] faſting day: alſo thou ſhalt reade them in the hearing of all Judah, that come out of their cities.

7 It may be that they will [f] pray before the Lord, and everie one return from his evill way, for great is the anger and the wrath that the Lord hath declared againſt this people.

8 So Baruch, the ſonne of Neriah, did according unto all that Jeremiah the Prophet commanded him, reading in the book the words of the Lord in the Lords Houſe.

9 ¶ And in the fifth [g] yeere of Jehojakim the ſonne of Joſiah king of Judah, in the ninth moneth, they proclaimed a faſt before the Lord to all the people in Ieruſalem, and to all the people that came from the cities of Iudah unto Ieruſalem.

10 Then read Baruch in the book the words of Ieremiah in the Houſe of the Lord, in the chamber of Gemariah the ſonne of Shaphan the Secretarie, in the higher court at the entrie of the [h] new gate of the Lords houſe, in the hearing of all the people.

11 When Michajah the ſonne of Gemariah, the ſonne of Shaphan had heard out of the booke all the words of the Lord,

12 Then he went downe to the Kings houſe in the Chancellours chamber, and loe, all the princes ſate there, even Eliſhama the Chancellour, and Delajah, the ſonne of Shemajah, and Elnathan the ſon of Achbor, and Gemariah the ſonne of Shaphan, and Zedekiah the ſonne of Hananiah, and all the princes.

13 Then Michajah declared unto them all the words that he had heard when Baruch read in the booke in the audience of the people.

14 Therefore all the Princes ſent Iehudi the ſonne of Nethaniah, the ſonne of Shelemiah, the ſonne of Chuſhi, unto Baruch, ſaying: Take in thine hand the roule, wherein thou haſt read in the audience of the people, and come. So Baruch the ſonne of Neriah tooke the roule in his hand, and came unto them.

15 And they ſaid unto him, Sit down now, and reade it, that we may heare. So Baruch read it in their audience.

16 Now when they had heard all the words, they were [i] afraid both one and other, and ſaid unto Baruch, We will certifie the King of all theſe words.

17 And they examined Baruch, ſaying, Tell us now, how diddeſt thou write all theſe words, at his mouth?

18 Then Baruch anſwered them, He pronounced all theſe words unto me with his mouth, and I wrote them with inke in the booke.

19 Then ſaid the Princes unto Baruch, Goe, [k] hide thee, thou and Ieremiah, and let no man know where ye be.

20 ¶ And they went in to the King, to the court, but they laid up the roule in the chamber of Eliſhama the Chancellor, and told the King all the words, that hee might heare.

21 So the King ſent Jehudi to fetch the roule, and he tooke it out of Eliſhama the Chancellours chamber, and Jehudi read it in the audience of the King, and in the audience of all the princes, which ſtood beſide the King.

22 Now the king ſate in the winter houſe, in the [l] ninth moneth, and there was a fire burning before him.

23 And when Jehudi had read three, or foure ſides, he cut it with the penknife, and caſt it into the fire that was on the hearth, untill all the roule was conſumed in the fire that was on the hearth.

24 Yet they were not afraid, nor rent [m] their garments, neither the King, nor any of his ſervants, that heard all theſe words.

25 Nevertheleſſe, Elnathan, and Delajah, and Gemariah had beſought the King, that he would not burne the roule: but he would not heare them.

26 But the king commanded Jerahmeel the ſonne of Hammelech, and Serajah the ſonne of Azriel, and Shelemiah the ſonne of Abdiel, to take Baruch the Scribe, and Jeremiah the Prophet, but the Lord [n] hid them.

27 ¶ Then the word of the Lord came to Ieremiah (after that the king had burnt the roule, and the words which Baruch wrote at the mouth of Ieremiah) ſaying, 28 Take thee againe [o] another roule and write in it all the former words that were in the firſt roule which Iehojakim the king of Iudah hath burnt.

29 And thou ſhalt ſay to Iehojakim king of Iudah, Thus ſaith the Lord, Thou haſt burnt this roule, ſaying, [p] Why haſt thou written therein: ſaying, That the king of Babel ſhall certainly come and deſtroy this land, and ſhall take thence both man and beaſt?

30 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord of Iehojakim king of Iudah, He ſhall [q] have none to ſit upon the throne of David, and his [r] dead bodie ſhall be caſt out in the day to the heate, and in the night to the froſt.

[e] Which was proclaimed for feare of the Babylonians, as their cuſtome was when they feared warre, or any great plague of God.

[g] The faſt was then proclaimed, and Baruch read this roule, which was a little before that Jeruſalem was firſt taken, and then Jehojakim and Daniel, and his companions were led away captives.

[h] Which is the Eaſt gate of the Temple.

[i] The godly were afraid, ſeeing God ſo offended, and the wicked were aſtonied for the horrour of the puniſhment.

[k] They that were godly among the princes, gave this counſell, by whoſe meanes it is like that Jeremiah was delivered: for they knew the rage of the king, and of the wicked to be ſuch, that they could not eſcape without danger of their lives.

[m] Shewing, that the wicked inſtead of repenting when they heare Gods judgments, grow into further malice againſt him & his word.

[n] Thus wee ſee the continuall care, that God hath ever over his, to preſerve them from the rage of the wicked.

32 Then took Ieremiah another roule, and gave it Baruch the Scribe the ſonne of Neriah, which wrote therein at the mouth of Ieremiah all the words of the booke which Iehojakim king of Iudah had burnt in the fire, and there were added beſides them many like words.

CHAP. XXXVII.

Zedekiah ſucceeded Ieconiah. 3 He ſendeth unto Ieremiah to pray for him. 12 Ieremiah, going into the land of Benjamin, is taken. 15 He is beaten and put in priſon.

AND * King Zedekiah the ſonne of Ioſiah reigned for [a] Coniah the ſonne of Iehojakim, whom Nebuchadrezzar king of Babel [b] made King in the land of Iudah.

2 But neither he, nor his ſervants, nor the people of the land would obey the words of the Lord, which he ſpake by the ‡ miniſterie of the Prophet Ieremiah.

3 And Zedekiah the King [c] ſent Iehucal the ſonne of Shelemiah, and Zephaniah the ſonne of Maaſejah the Prieſt to the Prophet Ieremiah, ſaying, Pray now unto the Lord our God for us.

4 (Now Ieremiah [d] went in and out among the people: for they had not put him into the priſon.

5 Then Pharaohs hoſte was [e] come out of Egypt: and when the Caldeans that beſieged Ieruſalem, heard tidings of them, they ‡ departed from Ieruſalem)

6 Then came the word of the Lord unto the Prophet Ieremiah, ſaying,

7 Thus ſaith the Lord God of Iſrael, Thus ſhall yee ſay to the king of Iudah that ſent you unto mee to inquire of me, Behold, Pharaohs hoſte, which is come forth to helpe you, ſhall returne to Egypt into their owne land.

8 And the Caldeans ſhall come again, and fight againſt this citie, and take it and burne it with fire.

9 Thus ſaith the Lord, ‡ Deceive not your ſelves, ſaying, The Caldeans ſhall ſurely depart from us: for they ſhall not depart.

10 For though yee had ſmitten the whole hoſte of the Caldeans, that fight againſt you, and there remained but wounded men among them, yet ſhould everie man riſe up in his tent, and burn this citie with fire.

11 ¶ When the hoſte of the Caldeans was broken up from Ieruſalem, becauſe of Pharaohs armie, 12 Then Jeremiah went out of Jeruſalem to go into the [f] land of Benjamin, ſeparating himſelfe thence from among the people.

13 And when he was in the [g] gate of Benjamin, there was a chiefe officer whoſe name was Irijah, the ſonne of Shelemiah, the ſonne of Hananiah, and he tooke Jeremiah the Prophet, ſaying, Thou ‡ fleeſt to the Caldeans.

14 Then ſaid Jeremiah, That is falſe, I flee not to the Caldeans: but he would not heare him: ſo Irijah tooke Jeremiah, and brought him to the Princes.

15 Wherefore the Princes were angrie with Jeremiah, and ſmote him, & laid him in priſon in the houſe of Jehonathan the ſcribe: for they had made that the [h] priſon.

16 When Jeremiah was entred into the dungeon, and into the priſons, and had remained there a long time,

17 Then Zedekiah the king, ſent and took him out, and the king asked him ſecretly in his houſe, and ſaid, Is there any word from the Lord? And Ieremiah ſaid, Yea: for, ſaid he: thou ſhalt be delivered into the hand of the king of Babel.

18 Moreover, Ieremiah ſaid unto king Zedekiah, What have I offended againſt thee, or againſt thy ſervants, or againſt this people, that ye have put me in priſon?

19 * Where are now your prophets, which propheſied unto you, ſaying, The king of Babel ſhall not come againſt you, nor againſt this land?

20 Therefore heare now, I pray thee: O my lord the King: let my prayer ‡ be accepted before thee, and thou cauſe me not to returne to the houſe of Iehonathan the Scribe, leſt I die there.

21 Then Zedekiah the king, commanded, that they ſhould put Ieremiah in the court of the priſon, and that they ſhould give him daily a piece of bread out of the bakers ſtreet, untill all the [i] bread in the citie were eaten up. Thus Ieremiah remained in the court of the priſon.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

1 By the motion of the rulers Ieremiah is put into a dungeon 10 At the requeſt of Ebed-melech the King commandeth Ieremiah to be brough forth of the dungeon. 17 Ieremiah ſheweth the King how hee might eſcape death.

THen Shephatiah the ſon of Mattan, and Gedaliah the ſonne of Paſhur, and Jucal the ſonne of Shelemiah, and Paſhur the ſonne of [a] Malchiah, heard the words that Ieremiah had ſpoken unto all the people, ſaying,

2 Thus ſaith the Lord, He that remaineth in this citie ſhall die by the ſword, by the famine, and by the peſtilence: but he that goeth forth to the Caldeans, ſhall live: for he ſhall have his life for a [b] prey, and ſhall live.

3 Thus ſaith the Lord, This citie ſhall ſurely be given into the hand of the king of Babels army, which ſhall take it.

4 Therefore the Princes ſaid unto the king, We beſeech you, let this man bee put to death: for thus hee ‡ weakneth the hands of the men of warre [c] that remaine in this citie, and the hands of all the people, in ſpeaking ſuch words unto them: for this man ſeeketh not the wealth of this people, but the hurt.

7 Now when Ebed-melech the ‡ black Moore, one of the Eunuches which was in the kings houſe, heard that they had put Ieremiah in the dungeon, (then the King ſate in the [e] gate of Benjamin)

9 My lord the king, [f] theſe men have done evill in all that they have done to Ieremiah the Prophet, whom they have caſt into the dungeon, and he dieth for hunger in the place where he is: for there is no more bread in the citie.

10 Then the king commanded Ebed-melech the Moore, ſaying, Take from hence thirty men ‡ with thee, and take Ieremiah the Prophet out of the dungeon before he die.

11 So Ebed-melech tooke the men with him, and went to the houſe of the King under the treaſurie, and tooke there old rotten ragges, and olde worne cloutes, and let them downe by cords into the dungeon to Ieremiah.

12 And Ebed-melech the black Moore ſaid unto Ieremiah, Put now theſe olde rotten ragges and worne, under thine arme holes, betweene the cordes. And Ieremiah did ſo.

13 So they drew up Ieremiah with cords, and tooke him up out of the dungeon, and Ieremiah remained in [g] the court of the priſon.

14 ¶ Then Zedekiah the king ſent and tooke Ieremiah the Prophet unto him, into the third entrie that is in the Houſe of the Lord, and the king ſaid unto Ieremiah, I will aske thee a thing: hide nothing from me.

15 Then Ieremiah ſaid to Zedekiah, If I declare it unto thee, wilt not thou ſlay me? and if I give thee counſell, thou wilt not heare me.

16 So the king ſware ſecretly unto Ieremiah, ſaying, As the Lord liveth, that made us theſe ſoules, I will not ſlay thee, nor give thee into the hands of thoſe men that ſeeke thy life.

17 Then ſaid Ieremiah unto Zedekiah, Thus ſaith the Lord God of hoſtes, the God of Iſrael, If thou wilt goe forth unto the king of Babels [h] princes, then thy ſoule ſhall live, and this citie ſhall not be burnt up with fire, and thou ſhalt live, and thine houſe.

18 But if thou wilt not goe forth to the king of Babels princes, then ſhall this citie be given into the hand of the Caldeans, and they ſhall burne it with fire, and thou ſhalt not eſcape out of their hands.

19 And Zedekiah the King, ſaid unto Ieremiah, I am careful for the Jewes that are fledde unto the Caldeans, leſt they deliver mee into their hands, and [i] they mocke me.

20 But Jeremiah ſaid, They ſhall not deliver thee: hearken unto the voice of the Lord I beſeech thee, which I ſpeake unto thee: ſo ſhall it be well unto thee, and thy ſoule ſhall live.

21 But if thou wilt refuſe to goe forth, this is the word that the Lord hath ſhewed me.

22 And behold, all the women that are [k] left in the King of Judahs houſe, ſhall be brought forth to the king of Babels Princes: and thoſe women ſhall ſay, Thy friends have perſwaded thee, and have prevailed againſt thee: thy feet are faſtened in the mire, and they are turned backe.

23 So they ſhall bring out all thy wives, and thy children to the Caldeans, and thou ſhalt not eſcape out of their hands, but ſhalt be taken by the hand of the king of Babel: and this citie ſhalt thou cauſe to be burnt with fire.

24 Then ſaid Zedekiah unto Ieremiah, Let no man know of theſe words, and thou ſhalt not die.

IN * the ninth yeare of Zedekiah king of Judah in the tenth moneth, came Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel and all his hoſte againſt Jeruſalem, and they beſieged it.

2 And in the eleventh yeare of Zedekiah, in the fourth moneth, the ninth day of the moneth, the citie was [a] broken up.

3 And all the princes of the king of Babel came in, and ſate in the middle gate, even Neregal, Sharezer, Shamgarnebo, Sarſechim, Rab-ſaris, Neregal, Sharezer, Rab-mag, with all the reſidue of the Princes of the King of Babel.

4 And when Zedekiah the king of Iudah ſaw them, and all the men of warre, then they fledde, and went out of the citie by night, through the kings garden, and by the [b] gate betweene the two walles, and he went toward the wilderneſſe.

5 But the Caldeans hoſte purſued after them, and overtooke Zedekiah in the deſert of Iericho: and when they had taken him, they brought him to Nebuchad-rezzar king of Babel unto [c] Riblah in the land of Hamath, were hee gave judgement upon him.

6 Then the king of Babel ſlew the ſonnes of Zedekiah in Riblah before his eies: alſo the king of Babel ſlew all the nobles of Iudah.

7 Moreover he put out Zedekiah his eies, and bound him in chaines to carie him to Babel.

8 And the Caldeans burnt the kings houſe, and the houſes of the people with fire, and brake downe the walles of Ieruſalem.

9 Then Nebuzar-adan the ‡ chiefe ſteward carried away captive into Babel the remnant of the people that remained in the citie, and thoſe that were fled and fallen unto him, with the reſt of the people that remained.

11 Now Nebuchad-rezzar king of Babel gave charge concerning Ieremiah, ‡ unto Nebuzar-adan the chiefe ſteward, ſaying, 14 Even they ſent and tooke Ieremiah out of the court of the priſon, and committed him unto [f] Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahikam, the ſonne of Shaphan, that he ſhould carie him home: ſo he dwelt among the people.

15 Now the word of the Lord came unto Jeremiah, while he was ſhut up in the court of the priſon, ſaying, 16 Goe, and ſpeake to Ebed-melech the blacke Moore, ſaying, Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes the God of Iſrael, Behold, I will bring my words upon this citie for evill, and not for good, and they ſhall bee accompliſhed in that day before thee.

17 But I will deliver thee in that day, ſaith the Lord, and thou ſhalt not bee given into the hand of the men whom thou feareſt.

15 Then Iohanan the ſonne of Kareah ſpake to Gedaliah in Mizpah ſecretly, ſaying, Let mee goe, I pray thee, and I will ſlay Iſhmael the ſonne of Nethaniah, and no man ſhall know it. Wherefore ſhould hee kill thee, that all the Iewes, which are gathered unto thee, ſhould bee ſcattered, and the remnant in Iudah periſh?

1 Iſhmael killeth Gedaliah guilefully, and many other with him. 11 Iohanan followeth after Iſhmael.

BUt in the [a] ſeventh moneth came Iſhmael the ſonne of Nethaniah, the ſonne of Eliſhama of the ſeed royall, and the princes of the [b] king, and ten men with him, unto Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahikam to Mizpah, and there they did [c] eate bread together in Mizpah.

2 Then aroſe Iſhmael the ſonne of Nethaniah with theſe ten men that were with him, and ſmote Gedaliah the ſon of Ahikam, the ſonne of Shaphan with the ſword, and ſlew him whom the king of Babel had made governour over the land.

3 Iſhmael alſo ſlew all the Iewes that were with Gedaliah at Mizpah, and all the Caldeans that were found there, and the men of warre.

4 Now the ſecond day that hee had ſlaine Gedaliah, and no man knew it,

5 There came men from Shechem, from Shiloh, and from Samaria, even fourescore men, having their beards ſhaven, and their clothes rent and cut, with [d] offerings, and incenſe in their hands to offer in the houſe of the Lord.

6 And Iſhmael the ſonne of Nethaniah went forth from Mizpah to meet them, weeping as he went, and when he met them, he ſaid unto them, Come to [e] Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahikam.

7 And when they came into the mids of the citie, Iſhmael the ſonne of Nethaniah ſlew them, and caſt them into the mids of the pit, he and the men that were with him.

8 But tenne men were found among them, and ſaid unto Iſhmael, ſlay us not: for wee have treaſures in the field, of wheat, and of barley, and of oyle, and of honie: ſo hee ſtaied, and ſlew them not among their brethren.

‡ Or, choſen to dwell in.

[f] Which were fled alſo for feare of the Caldeans.

[g] For under the colour of entertaining of Iſhmael, he ſought onely to make them to deſtroy one another.

[h] Thus the godly, which thinke no harme to others, are ſooneſt deceived, and never lacke ſuch as cōſpire their deſtruction.

[a] The citie was deſtroied in the fourth moneth, & in the ſeventh moneth, which contained part of September and part of October, was the governor Gedeliah ſlaine.

[b] Meaning, Zedekiah.

[c] They are together as familiar friends.

[d] For they thought that the Temple had not beene deſtroied, & therefore came up to the feaſt of Tabernacles: but hearing of the burning thereof in the way, ſhewed theſe ſignes of ſorrow.

[e] For his death was kept ſecret, & he fained that hee lamented for the deſtruction of Jeruſalem, and the Temple: but after ſlew thē when they ſeemed to favour Gedaliah.

9 Now the pit wherein Iſhmael had caſt the dead bodies of the men (whom he had ſlaine becauſe of Gedaliah) is it, which Aſa the King had [f] made becauſe of Baſha King of Iſrael, and Iſhmael the ſon of Nethaniah filled it with them that were ſlaine.

10 Then Iſhmael carried away captive all the reſidue of the people that were in Mizpah, even the Kings daughters, and all the people that remained in Mizpah, whom Nebuzar-adan the chiefe Steward had committed to Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahikam, and Iſhmael the ſon of Nethaniah carried them away captive, and departed, to goe over to the Ammonites.

11 But when Iohanan the ſon of Kareah, and all the [g] captaines of the hoſt that were with him, heard of all the evill that Iſhmael the ſonne of Nethaniah had done, 12 Then they all took their men, and went to fight with Iſhmael the ſon of Nethaniah, and found him by the great waters that are in Gibeon.

13 Now when all the people whom Iſhmael carried away captive, ſaw Iohanan the ſon of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoſte that were with him, they were glad.

14 So all the people, that Iſhmael had carried away captive from Mizpah, returned and came againe, and went unto Iohanan the ſon of Kareah.

15 But Iſhmael the ſon of Nethaniah eſcaped from Iohanan with eight men, and went to the [h] Ammonites.

16 Then took Iohanan the ſonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoſte that were with him all the remnant of the people, whom Iſhmael the ſonne of Nethaniah had carried away captive from Mizpah, (after that he had ſlaine Gedaliah the ſon of Ahikam) even the ſtrong men of war, and the women, and the children, and the eunuches, whom hee had brought againe from Gibeon.

17 And they departed and dwelt in Geruth [i] Chimham, which is by Beth-lehem, to goe and to enter into Egypt, 18 Becauſe of the Caldeans: for they feared them, becauſe Iſhmael the ſon of Nethaniah had ſlaine Gedaliah the ſon of Ahikam, whom the king of Babel made governour in the land.

CHAP. XLII.

1 The captaines aske counſell of Ieremiah what they ought to doe. 7 He admoniſheth the remnant of the people not to goe into Egypt.

THen all the captaines of the hoſte, and Iohanan the ſon of Kareah, and Iezaniah the ſonne of Hoſhaajah, and all the people from the leaſt unto the moſt, came,

2 And ſaid unto Jeremiah the Prophet, ‡ Heare our praier, wee beſeech thee, and pray for us unto the Lord thy God, even for all this remnant (for we are left, but a few of many, as thine eyes doe behold)

3 That the Lord thy God may ſhew us the way wherein we may walke, and the thing that we may [a] doe.

4 Then Jeremiah the Prophet ſaid unto them, I have heard you: behold, I will pray unto the Lord your God according to your words, and whatſoever thing the Lord ſhall anſwer you, I will declare it unto you: I will keepe nothing back from you.

5 Then they ſaid to Jeremiah, [b] The Lord be a witneſſe of truth, and faith between us, if we doe not, even according to all things for the which the Lord thy God ſhall ſend thee to us.

6 Whether it be good or evill, wee will obey the voice of the Lord God, to whom we ſend thee that it may bee well with us, when we obey the voice of the Lord our God.

7 ¶ [c] And ſo after ten daies came the Word of the Lord unto Ieremiah.

8 Then called he Iohanan the ſon of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoſt, which were with him, and all the people from the leaſt to the moſt,

9 And ſaid unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord God of Iſrael, unto whom ye ſent mee to preſent your praiers before him,

10 If ye will dwell in this land, then I will build you, and not deſtroy you, and I will plant you, and not root you out: for I [d] repent me of the evill that I have done unto you.

11 Feare not for the king of Babel, of whom ye are afraid, be not afraid of him, ſaith the Lord: for I am with you, to ſave you, and to deliver you [e] from his hand.

12 And I will grant you mercie that he may have compaſſion upon you, and he ſhall cauſe you to ‡ dwell in your own land.

13 But if ye ſay, We will not dwell in this land, neither heare the voice of the Lord your God,

13 Saying, Nay, but we will goe into the land of Egypt, where we ſhall ſee no warre, nor heare the ſound of the trumpet, nor have hunger of bread, and there will we dwell.

19 O ye remnant of Judah, the Lord hath ſaid concerning you, Goe not into Egypt: know certainly that I have admoniſhed you this day.

21 Therefore I have this day declared it you, but you have not obeied the voice of the Lord your God, nor any thing for the which he hath ſent me unto you.

22 Now therefore, know certainely that yee ſhall die by the ſword, by the famine, and by the peſtilence, [i] in the place whither yee deſire to goe and dwell.

Chap. XLIII.

Iohanan carrieth the remnant of the people into Egypt, contrary to the minde of Ieremiah. 8 Ieremiah propheſieth the deſtruction of Egypt.

NOw when Jeremiah had made an end of ſpeaking unto the whole people all the words of the Lord their God, for the which the Lord their God had ſent him to them, even all theſe words,

2 Then ſpake [a] Azariah the ſon of Hoſhajah, and Iohanan the ſon of Kareah, and all the [b] proud men, ſaying unto Ieremiah, [c] Thou ſpeakeſt falſely: the Lord our God hath [d] not ſent thee to ſay, Goe not into Egypt to dwell there,

3 But Baruch the ſonne of Neriah [e] provoketh thee againſt us, for to deliver us into the hand of the Caldeans, that they might ſlay us, and carrie us away captives into Babel.

4 So Iohanan the ſon of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoſte, and all the people obeied not the voice of the Lord, to dwell in the land of Iudah.

5 But Iohanan the ſon of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoſt tooke all the remnant of Iudah, that were returned from all [f] nations, whither they had been driven, to dwell in the land of Iudah.

6 Even men and women, and children, and the kings daughters, and every perſon, that Nebuzar-adan the chiefe ſteward had left with Gedaliah the ſon of Ahikam, the ſon of Shaphan, and Ieremiah [g] the Prophet, and Baruch the ſonne of Neriah.

7 So they came into the land of Egypt: for they obeied not the voice of the Lord: thus came they to [h] Tahpanhes.

8 ¶ Then came the word of the Lord unto Ieremiah in Tahpanhes, ſaying,

9 Take great ſtones in thine hand, and [i] hide them in the clay in the brickkill, which is at the entrie of Pharaohs houſe in Tahpanhes in the ſight of the men of Iudah,

10 And ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts the God of Iſrael, Behold, I will ſend and bring Nebuchad-nezzar the king of Babel [k] my ſervant, and will ſet his throne upon theſe ſtones that I have had, and he ſhall ſpread his pavilion over them.

11 And when he ſhall come, he ſhall ſmite the land of Egypt: [l] ſuch as are appointed for death, to death, and ſuch as are for captivitie, to captivitie, and ſuch as are for the ſword, to the ſword.

12 And I will kindle a fire in the houſes of the gods of Egypt, and he ſhall burne them and carie them away captives, and he ſhall aray himſelfe with the land of Egypt, as a [m] ſhepheard putteth on his garment, and ſhall depart from thence in peace.

13 He ſhall break alſo the Images of ‡ Bethſhemeſh, that is in the land of Egypt, and the houſes of the gods of the Egyptians ſhall he burne with fire.

Chap. XLIV.

He reproveth the people for their idolatry. 15 They that ſet light by the threatning of the Lord, are chaſtened. 26 The deſtruction of Egypt and of the Iews therein is propheſied.

[d] Hee ſheweth vvhat is the nature of the hypocrites: to vvit, to faigne that they would obey God and imbrace his vvord, if they were aſſured that his meſſengers ſpake the truth: though indeed they be moſt far from all obedience.

[e] Thus the wicked doe not onely contemne and hurt the meſſengers of God, but ſlander and ſpeake wickedly of all them that ſupport or favour the godly.

‡ Or, the houſe of the ſunne.

[a] These were al famous and ſtrong cities in Egypt, where the Iews that were fled, dwelt for their ſafety: but the Prophet declareth that there is no hold ſo ſtrong that can preſerve them from Gods vengeance.

2 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, the God of Iſrael, Yee have ſeene all the evill that I have brought upon Jeruſalem, and upon all the cities of Judah: and behold, this day they are deſolate, and no man dwelleth therein,

3 Becauſe of their wickedneſſe which they have committed, to provoke me to anger in that they went to burne incenſe, and to ſerve other gods whom they knew not, neither they, nor you, nor your fathers.

4 Howbeit I ſent unto you all my ſervants the Prophets, [b] riſing early and ſending them, ſaying, Oh doe not this abominable thing that I hate!

5 But they would not heare, nor incline their eare to turne from their wickedneſſe, and to burne no more incenſe unto other gods.

6 Wherefore [c] my wrath, and mine anger was powred forth, and was kindled in the cities of Judah, and in the ſtreets of Jeruſalem, and they are deſolate, and waſted, as appeareth this day.

7 Therefore now thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, Wherefore commit yee this great evill againſt your ſoules, to cut off from you man and woman, childe and ſuckling out of Judah, and leave you none to remaine?

8 In that yee provoke me unto wrath with the workes of your hands, burning incenſe unto other gods in the land of Egypt whither ye be gone to dwell: that ye might bring deſtruction unto your ſelves, and that ye might be a curſe and a reproch among all nations of the earth.

9 Have yee forgotten the wickednes of your fathers, and the wickednes of the [d] kings of Judah, and the wickedneſſe of their wives, and your owne wickedneſſe, and the wickedneſſe of your wives, which they have committed in the land of Judah and in the ſtreets of Jeruſalem?

10 They are not ‡ humbled unto this day, neither have they feared nor walked in my law, nor in my ſtatutes, that I ſet before you and before your fathers.

11 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes the God of Iſrael, Behold, I will ſet my face againſt you * to evill, and to deſtroy all Judah.

12 And I will take the remnant of Judah, that [e] have ſet their faces to goe into the land of Egypt there to dwell, and they ſhall all be conſumed and fall in the land of Egypt: they ſhall even be conſumed by the ſword, and by the famine: they ſhall die from the leaſt unto the moſt, by the ſword, and by the famine, and they ſhall bee a deteſtation, and an aſtoniſhment, and a [f] curſe, and a reproach.

13 For I will viſit them that dwell in the land of Egypt, as I have viſited Jeruſalem, by the ſword, by the famine, and by the peſtilence.

14 So that none of the remnant of Judah, which are gone into the land of Egypt to dwell there, ſhall eſcape or remaine, that they ſhould returne into the land of Judah, to the which they ‡ have a deſire to returne to dwell there: for none ſhall returne, but [g] ſuch as ſhall eſcape.

15 Then all the men which knew that their wives had burnt incenſe unto other gods, and all the women that ſtood by, a great multitude, even all the people that dwelt in the land of Egypt in Pathros, anſwered Jeremiah, ſaying,

16 The word that thou haſt ſpoken unto us, in the Name of the Lord, we will [h] not heare it of thee.

17 But we will doe whatſoever thing goeth out of our owne mouth, as to burne incenſe [i] unto the Queene of heaven, and to powre out drinke-offerings unto her, as we have done, both we and our fathers, our kings, and our princes in the cities of Judah, and in the ſtreets of Jeruſalem: for then ‡ had we [k] plenty of victuals, and were well and ‡ felt none evill.

18 But ſince wee left off to burne incenſe to the Queene of heaven, and to powre out drinke-offerings unto her, we have had ‡ ſcarſeneſſe of all things, and have beene conſumed by the ſword, and by the famine.

19 And when wee burnt incenſe to the Queene of heaven, and powred out drinke-offerings unto her, did wee make her cakes ‡ to make her glad, and powre out drinke-offerings unto her without [l] our huſbands?

20 Then ſaid Jeremiah unto all the people, to the men, and to the women, and to all the people which had given him that anſwere, ſaying,

21 Did not the Lord remember the incenſe, that ye burnt in the cities of Judah, and in the ſtreets of Jeruſalem, both you, and your fathers, your kings, and your princes, and the people of the land, and ‡ hath he not conſidered it?

22 So that the Lord could no longer forbeare, becauſe of the wickedneſſe of your inventions, and becauſe of the abominations which yee have committed: therefore is your land deſolate and an aſtoniſhment, and a curſe, and without inhabitant, as appeareth this day.

23 Becauſe ye have burnt incenſe, and becauſe ye have ſinned againſt the Lord, and have not obeyed the voice of the Lord, nor walked in his Law, nor in his ſtatutes, nor in his teſtimonies, therefore

[c] He ſetteth before their eyes Gods judgements againſt Judah and Jeruſalē for their idolatry, that they might beware by their example, and not with the like wickedneſſe provoke the Lord: for thē they ſhould bee double puniſhed.

[d] Hee ſheweth that we ought to keepe in memory Gods plagues frō the beginning, that conſidering them, wee might live in his feare, and know, it hee have not ſpared our fathers, yea, kings, princes, and rulers, and alſo whole countries and nations for their ſinnes, that wee vile wormes cannot looke to eſcape puniſhmēt for ours.

[g] Meaning, but a few.

[h] This declareth how dangerous a thing it is to decline once from God, and to follow our own fantaſies: for Satan ever ſoliciteth ſuch, and doth not leave them till hee have brought thē to extreame impudency & madneſſe, even to juſtifie their wickedneſſe againſt God and his Prophets.

[i] Reade Chap. 7. 18. It ſeemeth that the papiſts gathered of this place their Salve Regina, & Regina cœli lætare, calling the virgine Mary Queene of heaven, and ſo of the bleſſed virgine & mother of our Saviour Chriſt made an idole: for heere the Prophet condemneth their idolatrie.

‡ Ebr. we were ſatiate with bread.

[k] This is ſtill the argument of idolaters, which eſteeme religion by the belly, and in ſtead of acknowledging Gods works, who ſendeth both plenty and dearth, health and ſicknes, they attribute it to their idoles, & ſo diſhonour God.

‡ Or, to appeaſe her.

[l] This teacheth us, how great danger it is for the husbands to permit their wives any thing whereof they bee not aſſured by Gods word: for thereby they take an occaſion to juſtifie their doings, & their husbands ſhall give an account thereof before God. reade Iſa. 3. 25.

‡ Ebr. is it not come up into his heart?

this plague is come upon you, as appeareth this day.

24 Moreover, Jeremiah ſaid unto all the people, and to all the women, Heare the word of the Lord, all Judah that are in the land of Egypt,

25 ¶ Thus ſpeaketh the Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, ſaying, Yee and your wives have both ſpoken with your mouthes, and fulfilled with your [m] hand, ſaying, we will performe the vowes that wee have vowed to burne incenſe to the Queen of heaven, and to powre out drink-offrings to her: yee will performe your vowes and doe the things that yee have vowed.

26 Therefore heare the word of the Lord, all Judah that dwell in the land of Egypt. Behold, I have ſworne by my great Name, ſaith the Lord, that my Name [n] ſhal no more be called upon by the mouth of any man of Judah, in all the land of Egypt, ſaying, The Lord God liveth.

27 Behold, I will watch over them for evill and not for good, and all men of Judah that are in the land of Egypt, ſhall be conſumed by the ſword, and by the famine, untill they be utterly deſtroied.

28 Yet a ſmall number that eſcape the ſword, [o] ſhall returne out of the land of Egypt into the land of Judah: and all the remnant of Judah that are gone into the land of Egypt to dwell there ſhall know whoſe words ſhall ſtand, mine or theirs.

29 And this ſhall be a ſigne unto you, ſaith the Lord, when I viſite you in this place, that ye may know that my words ſhall ſurely ſtand againſt you for evill.

30 Thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, I will [p] give Pharaoh Hophra King of Egypt into the hand of his enemies, and into the hand of them that ſeeke his life: as I gave Zedekiah king of Judah into the hand of Nebuchad-rezzar king of Babel his enemie, who alſo ſought his life.

CHAP. XLV.

2 Ieremiah comforteth Baruch, aſſuring him that he ſhould not periſh in the deſtruction of Ieruſalem.

THe word that Jeremiah the Prophet ſpake unto [a] Baruch the ſonne of Neriah, when hee had written [b] theſe words in a booke at the mouth of Jeremiah, in the fourth yeare of Jehojakim the ſonne of Joſiah king of Judah, ſaying,

2 Thus ſaith the Lord God of Iſrael unto thee, O Baruch,

3 Thou diddeſt ſay, Wo is me now: for the Lord hath laid ſorrow unto my ſorrow: I [c] fainted in my mourning, and I can finde no reſt.

4 Thus ſhalt thou ſay unto him, The Lord ſaith thus, Behold, that which I have built, will I [d] deſtroy, and that which I have planted, will I plucke up, even this whole land.

5 And ſeekeſt [e] thou great things for thy ſelfe? ſeeke them not: for behold, I will bring a plague upon all fleſh, ſaith the Lord: but thy life will I give thee for [f] a prey in all places, whither thou goeſt.

CHAP. XLVI.

1 He propheſieth the deſtruction of Egypt. 27 Deliverance is promiſed to Iſrael.

THe words of the Lord, which came to Jeremiah the Prophet, againſt the [a] Gentiles,

2 As againſt Egypt, againſt the army of [b] Pharaoh Necho king of Egypt, which was by the river Perath in Carchemiſh, which Nebuchad-rezzar king of Babel ſmote in the fourth yeare of Jehojakim the ſonne of Joſiah king of Judah,

3 [c] Make ready buckler and ſhield, and goe forth to battell.

4 Make ready the horſes, and let the horſemen get up, and ſtand up with your ſallets, furbiſh the ſpeares, and put on the brigandines.

5 [d] Wherefore have I ſeene them afraid, and driven backe? for their mightie men are ſmitten, and are fled away, and looke not backe: for feare was round about, ſaith the Lord.

6 The ſwift ſhall not flee away nor the ſtrong man eſcape: they ſhall ſtumble, and fall toward the [e] North by the river Perath.

7 Who is this, that commeth up, as [f] a flood, whoſe waters are moved like the rivers?

8 Egypt riſeth up like the flood, and his waters are moved like the rivers, and he ſaith, I will goe up, and will cover the earth: I will deſtroy the citie with them that dwell therein.

9 Come up, yee horſes, and rage yee charets, and let the valiant men come forth, [g] the blacke Moores, and the Libyans that beare the ſhield, and the Lydians that handle and bend the bowe.

10 For this is the day of the Lord God of hoſtes, and a day of vengeance, that he may avenge him of his enemies: for the ſword ſhall devoure, and it ſhall be ſatiate, and made drunke with their blood: for the Lord God of hoſtes hath [h] a ſacrifice in the North countrey [i] by the river Perath.

11 Goe up unto Giliad, [k] and take balme, O [l] virgine, the daughter of Egypt: in vaine ſhalt thou uſe many [m] medicines: for thou ſhalt have no health.

12 The nations have heard of thy ſhame, and thy cry hath filled the land: for [m] You have cōmitted double evill in making wicked vowes, & in performing the ſame.

[n] This declareth an horrible plague toward Idolaters, ſeeing that God will not vouchſafe to have his Name mentioned by ſuch as have poluted it.

[o] Wee ſee therefore, that God hath a perpetuall care over his, whereſoever they are ſcattered: for though they bee but two or three, yet he will deliver them when he deſtroyeth his enemies.

[p] He ſheweth the meanes whereby they ſhould be deſtroied, to aſſure them of the certainety of the plague, and yet they remaine ſtill in their obſtinacy till they periſh: for Joſephus lib. 10. de Antiq cap. 11. writeth, that five yeares after the taking of Jeruſalem, Nebuchad-nezzar the younger, having overcome the Moabites and the Ammonites, went againſt Egypt, & ſlew the King, & ſo brought theſe Jewes, and other, into Babylon.

[b] Whereof reade Chap. 36. 10.

[c] Baruch moved with an incōſiderate zeale of Ieremiahs impriſonment, but chiefly for the deſtruction of the people and the Temple, maketh this lamentation, as Pſal. 6. 6.

[d] Meaning, that God might deſtroy this people, becauſe hee had planted them.

[f] Reade Chap. 21. 9.

[a] That is, nine nations, which are round about the land af Egypt.

[b] Read 2 King. 23. 29. and 24. 7. and 2 Chron, 35. 20.

[c] He warneth the Egyptians to prepare themſelves to warre.

[d] The Prophet had this viſion of the Egyptians which ſhould bee put to flight by the Babylonians at Carchemiſh.

[f] He derideth the boaſtings of the Egyptians, who thought by their riches and power to have overcome all the world, alluding to the river Nilus, which at certaine times overfloweth the countrey of Egypt.

[g] For theſe nations tooke part with the Egyptians.

[h] Hee calleth the ſlaughter of Gods enemies a ſacrifice, becauſe it is a thing that doth pleaſe him, Iſai. 34. 6.

[i] That is, at Carchemiſh.

[k] For at Gilead did grow moſt ſoveraigne balme for wounds.

[l] So called, becauſe Egypt had not yet bin overcome by the enemie.

[m] Hee ſheweth, that no ſalve or medicine can prevaile, whereas God giveth the wound.

for the ſtrong hath ſtumbled againſt the ſtrong and they are fallen both together.

13 ¶. The word that the Lord ſpake to Jeremiah the Prophet, how Nebuchad-rezzar king of Babel ſhould come and ſmite the land of Egypt.

14 Publiſh in Egypt, and declare in Migdol, and proclaime in Noph, and in Tahpanhes, and ſay, Stand ſtill, and prepare thee: for the ſword ſhall devoure round about thee.

15 Why are thy valiant men put back? they could not ſtand, becauſe the Lord did drive them.

16 He made many to fall, and one fell upon another: and they ſaid, Ariſe, let us goe againe to our [n] owne people, and to the land of our nativitie from the ſword of the violent.

17 They did crie there, Pharaoh king of Egypt, and of a great multitude [o] hath paſſed the time appointed.

18 As I live, ſaith the king, whoſe Name is the Lord of hoſts, ſurely as Tabor is in the mountaines, and as Carmel is in the Sea: ſo ſhall [p] it come.

19 O thou daughter dwelling in Egypt, make thee geare to goe into captivitie: for Noph ſhall be waſte and deſolate, without an inhabitant.

20 Egypt is like a [q] faire calfe, but deſtruction commeth: out of the North it commeth.

21 Alſo her hired men [r] are in the midſt of her like fat calves: they are alſo turned back and fled away together: they could not ſtand, becauſe the day of their deſtruction was come upon them, and the time of their viſitation.

22 The voice thereof ſhall goe forth like a [s] ſerpent: for they ſhall march with an armie, and come againſt [t] her with axes, as hewers of wood.

23 They ſhall cut downe [t] her forreſt, ſaith the Lord: for they cannot be counted, becauſe they are more then the [x] graſhoppers, and are innumerable.

24 The daughter of Egypt ſhall bee confounded: ſhe ſhall be delivered into the hands of the people of the North.

25 ¶ Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, Behold, I will viſite the [y] common people of No, and Pharaoh, and Egypt, with their gods and their Kings, even Pharaoh, and all them that truſt in him,

26 And I will deliver them into the hands of thoſe that ſeeke their lives, and into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, and into the hands of his ſervants, and afterward ſhe ſhall dwell as [z] in old time, ſaith the Lord.

27 ¶ [a] But feare not thou, O my ſervant Jaakob, and be not thou afraid, O Iſrael: for behold, I will deliver thee from a far countrey, and thy ſeed from the land of their captivitie, and Jaakob ſhall returne and be in reſt, and proſperity, and none ſhall make him afraid.

28 Feare thou not, O Jaakob my ſervant, ſaith the Lord: for I am with thee, and I will utterly deſtroy all the nations, whither I have driven thee: but I will not utterly deſtroy thee, but correct [b] thee by judgement, and not utterly cut thee off.

CHAP. XLVII.

The word of the Lord againſt the Philiſtims.

THe words of the Lord that came to Jeremiah the Prophet againſt the Philiſtims, before that Pharaoh ſmote [a] Azzah.

2 Thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, waters riſe up out of the [b] North, and ſhall be as a ſwelling flood, and ſhall overflow the land, and all that is therein, and the cities with them that dwell therein: then the men ſhall crie, and all the inhabitants of the land ſhall howle.

3 At the noiſe and ſtamping of the hoofes of his ſtrong horſes, at the noiſe of his charets, and at the rumbling of his wheeles: the fathers ſhall not [c] look back to their children, for feebleneſſe of [d] hands,

4 Becauſe of the day that commeth to deſtroy all the Philiſtims, and to deſtroy Tyrus, and Zidon, and all the reſt that take their part: for the Lord will deſtroy the Philiſtims, the remnant of the Iſle of [e] Caphtor.

5 [f] Baldneſſe is come upon Azzah: Aſhkelon is cut up with the reſt of their valleys. How long wilt [g] thou cut thy ſelfe?

6 O thou ſword of the Lord, how long will it bee or thou ceaſe? turne againe into thy ſcabberd, reſt and be ſtill.

7 How can it [h] ceaſe, ſeeing the Lord hath given it a charge againſt Aſhkelon, and againſt the Sea banke? even there hath he appointed it.

CHAP. XLVIII.

The Word of the Lord againſt the Moabites. 26 Becauſe of their pride and cruelty.

COncerning Moab, thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, Woe unto [a] Nebo: for it is waſted: Kiriathaim is confounded and taken: Miſgab is confounded and afraid.

2 Moab ſhall boaſt no more of Heſhbon: for they have deviſed evill againſt it. [b] Come, and let us deſtroy it, that it bee no more a nation: alſo thou ſhalt be deſtroied, [c] O Madmen, and the ſword ſhall purſue thee.

[n] As they that ſhould repent that they helped the Egyptians.

[o] Hee derideth them which ſhall impute their overthrow to lack of counſell and policie, or to fortune, and not obſerving of time: not conſidering that it is Gods juſt judgement.

[p] To wit, that the Egyptians ſhal be deſtroied.

[q] They have abundance of al things, and therefore are diſobedient and proud.

[r] As verſe 9.

[s] They ſhall bee ſcarce able to ſpeake for feare of the Caldeans.

[t] Meaning, Egypt.

[u] That is, they ſhal ſlay the great and mighty men of power.

[x] To wit, Nebuchadnezzars army.

[y] Some take the Hebrew vvord Amon for the kings name of No, that is, of Alexandria.

[z] Meaning, that after the ſpace of fortie yeares, Egypt ſhould be reſtored, Iſa. 19. 23. Ezek. 29. 13.

[a] God comforteth all his that vvere in captivitie, but ſpecially the ſmall Church of the Jews, vvhereof were Ieremiah & Baruch, vvhich remained among the Egyptians: for the Lord never forſaketh his, Iſa. 44. 2. Chap. 30. 10.

[b] Read Chap. 10. 24.

[a] Which vvas alſo called Gaza, a citie of the Philiſtims.

[b] He meaneth the armie of the Caldeans, Iſa. 8. 7. 8.

[c] The great feare ſhall take avvay their naturall affection.

[d] Their heart ſhall ſo faile them.

[e] For the Chaphtorims, vvhich are alſo called Cappadocians, had deſtroied in old time the Philiſtims and dwelt in their land, even to Geza, Deut. 2. 23.

[f] They have pulled off their haire for ſorrow and heavineſſe.

[g] As the heathen uſed in their mourning, vvhich the Lord forbad his people to doe, Deut. 14. 1.

[h] Meaning, that it is not poſſible that the wicked ſhould by any meanes eſcape or ſtay the Lord, vvhen hee vvill take vengeance.

[a] Theſe were cities of the Moabites, which Nebuchad-nezzar took before hee vvent to fight againſt Necho king of Egypt.

[b] Thus ſhall the Babylonians incourage one another.

[c] Read Iſa. 25. 10.

3 A voice of crying ſhall be from Horonaim with deſolation and great deſtruction.

4 Moab is deſtroied: her little ones have cauſed their crie to be heard.

5 For at the going up of [d] Luhith, the mourner ſhall go up with weeping: for in the going downe of Horonaim, the enemies have heard a crie of deſtruction.

6 Flee, and ſave your lives, and bee like unto the [e] heath in the wilderneſſe.

7 For becauſe thou haſt truſted in thy [f] workes and in thy treaſures, thou ſhalt alſo be taken, and [g] Chemoſh ſhall goe forth into captivitie with his Prieſts and his Princes together.

8 And the deſtroier ſhall come upon all cities, and no citie ſhall eſcape: the valley alſo ſhall periſh, and the plaine ſhall bee deſtroied, as the Lord hath ſpoken.

9 Give wings unto Moab, that it may flee and get away: for the cities thereof ſhall be deſolate without any to dwell therein.

10 [h] Curſed be he that doth the worke of the Lord ‡ negligently, and curſed be he that keepeth backe his ſword from blood.

11 Moab hath been at reſt from his youth: and hee hath ſettled on his lees, and hath not been [i] powred from veſſell to veſſell, neither hath he gone into captivitie: therefore his taſte remained in him, and his ſcent is not changed.

12 ¶ Therefore behold, the daies come, ſaith the Lord, that I will ſend unto him ſuch as ſhall carie him away, and ſhall emptie his veſſels, and breake their bottels.

13 And Moab ſhall bee aſhamed of Chemoſh, as the houſe of Iſrael was aſhamed of [k] Beth-el their confidence.

14 How thinke you thus, Wee are mightie, and ſtrong men of warre?

15 Moab is deſtroied, and his cities ‡ burnt up, and his choſen young men are gone downe to ſlaughter, ſaith the King, whoſe Name is the Lord of hoſts.

16 The deſtruction of Moab is ready to come, and his plague haſteth faſt.

17 All ye that are about him, mourne for him, and all ye that know his name, ſay, [l] How is the ſtrong ſtaffe broken, and the beautifull rod!

18 Thou daughter that doſt inhabite Dibon come downe from thy glorie, and ſit in thirſt: for the deſtroier of Moab ſhall come up upon thee, and hee ſhall deſtroy thy ſtrong holds.

19 Thou that dwelleſt in Aroer, ſtand by the way, and behold: aske him that fleeth and that eſcapeth, and ſay, What is done?

20 [m] Moab is confounded: for it is deſtroied: howle, and crie, tell ye it in Arnon, that Moab is made waſte.

21 And judgement is come upon the plaine countrie, upon Holon, and upon Iahazah, and upon Mephaath, 22 And upon Dibon, and upon Nebo, and upon the houſe of Diblathaim.

23 And upon Kiriathaim, and upon Bethgamul, and upon Beth-meon.

24 And upon Kirioth, and upon Bozrah, and upon all the cities of the land of Moab farre or neare.

25 The [n] horne of Moab is cut off, and his arme is broken, ſaith the Lord.

26 Make yee him [o] drunken: for hee magnified himſelfe againſt the Lord: Moab ſhall ‡ wallow in his vomite, and he alſo ſhall be in deriſion.

27 For didſt not thou deride Iſrael, as though hee had beene found among theeves? for when thou ſpeakeſt of him, thou art [p] moved.

28 O ye that dwell in Moab, leave the cities, and dwell in the rocks, and be like the dove, that maketh her neſt in the ſides of the holes mouth.

29 * We have heard the pride of Moab (he is exceeding proud) his ſtoutneſſe, and his arrogancie, and his pride, and the hautineſſe of his heart.

30 I know his wrath, ſaith the Lord, [q] but it ſhall not be ſo: and his diſſimulations, for they do not right.

31 [r] Therefore will I howle for Moab, and I will crie out for all Moab: mine heart ſhall mourne for the men of Kirheres.

32 O vine of Sibmah, I will weepe for thee, as I weept for Jazer: the plants are gone over the ſea, they are come to the ſea [ſ] of Jazer: the deſtroier is come upon thy ſummer fruits, and upon thy vintage.

33 And joy, and gladneſſe is taken from the plentifull field, and from the land of Moab: and I have cauſed wine to faile from the winepreſſe: none ſhall tread with ſhouting: their ſhouting ſhall be no ſhouting.

34 From the crie of Heſhbon unto Elaleh, and unto Jahaz have they made their noiſe: from Zoar unto Horonaim, the [t] heifer of three yeare old ſhall go lowing: for the waters alſo of Nimrim ſhall be waſted.

35 Moreover, I will cauſe to ceaſe in Moab, ſaith the Lord, him that offereth in the high places, and him that burneth incenſe to his gods.

36 Therefore mine heart ſhall ſound

[d] Horonaim and Luith vvere tvvo places vvhereby the Moabites ſhould flee, Iſa. 15. 5.

[e] Hide your ſelves in barren places vvhere the enemy vvill not purſue after you, Cha. 17. 6.

[f] That is, the idols vvhich are the vvorkes of thine hands. Some read, in thy poſſeſſions, for ſo the vvord may ſignifie, as 1 Sam. 25. 2.

[g] Both thy great idoll and his maintainers ſhall be led away captives, ſo that they ſhal then know that it is in vaine to looke for help at idols, Iſa. 15. 2.

[h] He ſheweth that God would puniſh the Caldeans, if they did not deſtroy the Egyptians, and that vvith a courage, and calleth this execution of his vengeance againſt his enemies his vvorke, though the Caldeans ſought another end, Iſa. 10. 12.

[i] Have not been removed as the Iews have, but have lived at eaſe, and as wine that feedeth it ſelfe on his lees.

[k] As the calfe of Beth-el vvas not able to deliver the Iſraelites: no more ſhall Chemoſh deliver the Moabites.

[m] Thus they that flee, ſhall anſwere.

[n] That is, his power and ſtrength.

[o] Hee willed the Caldeans to lay afflictions enow upon them, till they bee like drunken men that fall down to their ſhame and are derided of all.

‡ Or, ſhall be ful, or clap his hand.

[p] Thou rejoyceſt to heare of his miſery.

* Iſa. 16. 6.

[r] Read Iſa. 16. 7.

[ſ] Which city vvas in the utmoſt border of Moab: and hereby hee ſignifieth that the whole land ſhould be deſtroyed, and the people caried away.

[t] Read Iſa. 15. 5.

for Moab like a [u] ſhaume, and mine heart ſhall ſound like a ſhaume for the men of Kir-heres, becauſe the riches that he hath gotten, is periſhed.

37 * For every head ſhall be ‡ bald, and every beard plucked: upon all the hands ſhall bee cuttings, and upon the loines ſackcloth.

38 And mourning ſhall be upon all the houſe tops of Moab, and in all the ſtreets thereof: for I have broken Moab like a veſſell wherein is no pleaſure, ſaith the Lord.

39 They ſhall howle, ſaying, How is he deſtroied? how hath Moab turned the back with ſhame? ſo ſhall Moab be a deriſion, and a feare to all them about him.

40 For thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, [x] he ſhall flee as an Eagle, and ſhall ſpread his wings over Moab.

41 The cities are taken, and the ſtrong holds are won, and the mighty mens hearts in Moab at that day, ſhall be as the heart of a woman in travaile.

42 And Moab ſhall be deſtroied from being a people, becauſe hee hath ſet up himſelfe againſt the Lord.

43 [y] Feare, and pit and ſnare ſhall bee upon thee, O inhabitant of Moab, ſaith the Lord.

44 Hee that eſcapeth from the feare, ſhall fall into the pit, and he that getteth up out of the pit, ſhall bee taken in the ſnare: for I will bring upon it, even upon Moab, the yeare of their viſitation, ſaith the Lord.

45 They that fled, ſtood under the ſhadow [z] of Heſhbon, becauſe of the force: for [a] the fire came out of Heſhbon, and a flame from Sihon, and devoured the corner of Moab, and the top of the ſeditious children.

46 Woe be unto thee, O Moab: the people of [b] Chemoſh periſheth: for thy ſons are taken captives, and thy daughters led into captivitie.

47 Yet will I bring againe the captivitie of Moab in the [c] latter daies, ſaith the Lord. Thus farre of the judgement of Moab.

CHAP. XLIX.

1 The word of the Lord againſt the Ammonites. 7 Idumea, 23 Damaſcus, 28 Kedar, 34 and Elam.

UNto the children of [a] Ammon, thus ſaith the Lord, Hath Iſrael no ſons? or hath hee none heire? Why then hath their [b] king poſſeſſed Gad? and his people dwelt in [c] his cities?

2 Therefore behold, the daies come, ſaith the Lord, that I will cauſe a noiſe of warre to be heard in [d] Rabbah of the Ammonites, and it ſhall be a deſolate heape, and her daughters ſhall be burnt with fire: then ſhall Iſrael poſſeſſe thoſe that poſſeſſed him, ſaith the Lord.

3 Howle, O Heſhbon, for Ai is waſted: cry ye daughters of Rabbah: gird you with ſackcloth: mourne and run too and fro by the hedges: for their king ſhall goe into captivitie, and his Prieſts and his Princes likewiſe.

4 Wherefore glorieſt thou in the [e] valleys? thy valley floweth away, O rebellious daughter: ſhe truſted in her treaſures, ſaying, Who ſhall come unto me?

5 Behold, I will bring [f] a feare upon thee, ſaith the Lord God of hoſts, of all thoſe that be about thee, and ye ſhall be ſcattered every man [g] right forth, and none ſhall gather him that fleeth.

6 And [h] afterward I will bring againe the captivitie of the children of Ammon.

7 ¶ To Edom thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, is wiſdome no more in [i] Teman? is counſell periſhed from their children? is their wiſdome vaniſhed?

8 Flee, yee inhabitants of Dedan ([k] they are turned back, and have conſulted to dwell) for I have brought the deſtruction of Eſau upon him, and the time of his viſitation.

9 If the [l] grape-gatherers come to thee, would they not leave ſome grapes? if theeves come by night, they will deſtroy till they have enough.

10 For I have diſcovered Eſau: I have uncovered his ſecrets, and he ſhall not be able to hide himſelfe: his ſeed is waſted, and his brethren and his neighbours, and there ſhall be none to ſay, 11 Leave thy [m] fatherleſſe children, and I will preſerve them alive, and let thy widows truſt in me.

12 For thus ſaith the Lord, [n] Behold, they whoſe judgement was not to drink of the cup, have aſſuredly drunken, and art thou hee that ſhall eſcape free? thou ſhalt not goe free, but thou ſhalt ſurely drink of it.

13 For I have ſworne by my ſelfe, ſaith the Lord, that [o] Bozrah ſhall bee waſte, and for a reproach, and a deſolation, and a curſe, and all the cities thereof ſhall be perpetuall deſolations.

14 I have heard a rumour from the Lord, and an ambaſſadour is ſent unto the heathen, ſaying, Gather you together, and come againſt [p] her, and riſe up to the battell.

15 For loe, I will make thee but ſmall among the heathen, and deſpiſed among men.

16 They ‡ feare, and the pride of thine

[u] Their cuſtome vvas to play on flutes or inſtruments, heavie and grave tunes at burials, and in the time of mourning, as Mat. 9. 23.

* Iſa. 15. 2. 3. Ezek. 7. 18.

[x] That is, Nebuchad-nezzar, as Chap. 49. 22.

[y] He that eſcapeth one danger, ſhal be taken of another, Iſa. 24. 17.

[z] They fled thither, thinking to have ſuccour of the Ammorites.

[a] The Ammorites had deſtroyed the Moabites in times paſt, and now becauſe of their power, the Moabites ſhall ſeek to them for helpe.

[b] Which vaunted themſelves of their idols, as though he could have defended them.

[c] That is, they ſhall bee reſtored by the Meſſiah.

[a] They were ſeparated from the Moabites by the river Arnon, and after that the ten tribes were carried away into captivity, they invaded the countrey of Gad.

[b] To wit, of the Ammonites.

[c] Meaning, of the Ammonites.

[d] Which was one of the chiefe cities of the Ammonites; as vvere Heſhbon and Ai: there vvas alſo a city called Heſhbon among the Moabites.

[e] In thy plentifull countrey.

[f] Signifying, that power and riches cannot prevaile when as God will execute his judgements.

[g] That is, vvithout looking back, and as every one can finde a vvay to eſcape.

[h] In the time of Chriſt, vvhen the Gentiles ſhall bee called.

[i] Which vvas a citie of Edom, called by the name of Teman, Eliphaz ſon, vvho came of Eſau.

[k] The enemies that ſhal diſſemble as though they fled away, ſhall turne back and invade your land and poſſeſſe it.

[l] Meaning, that God vvould utterly deſtroy them, and not ſpare one, though the grape-gatherers leave ſome grapes, and theeves ſeeke but till they have enough, Obad. 1. 5.

[m] The deſtruction ſhall be ſo great, that there ſhall be none left to take care over the vvidows and fatherleſſe.

[n] I have not ſpared mine owne people, and how ſhould I pittie thee?

[o] Which vvas a chiefe citie of Edom.

[p] That is, Bozrah.

heart hath deceived thee, thou that dwelleſt in the clefts of the rocke, and keepeſt the height of the hill: though thou ſhouldeſt make thy neſt as high as the eagle, I will bring thee downe from thence, ſaith the Lord.

17 ¶ Alſo Edom ſhall bee deſolate: everie one that goeth by it, ſhall be aſtoniſhed, and ſhall hiſſe at all the plagues thereof,

18 As the overthrow of Sodom, and of Gomorah, and of the places thereof neere about, ſaith the Lord: no man ſhall dwell there, neither ſhall the ſonnes of men remaine in it.

19 Behold, [q] he ſhall come up like a Lion from the ſwelling of Jorden unto the ſtrong dwelling place: for I wil make Iſrael to reſt, even I will make [r] him to haſte away from her, and who is a choſen man that I may appoint againſt her? for who is like me? and who will appoint me the time? and who is the [ſ] ſhepheard that will ſtand before me?

20 Therefore heare the counſell of the Lord that he hath deviſed againſt Edom, and his purpoſe that he hath conceived againſt the inhabitants of Teman: ſurely the leaſt [t] of the flocke ſhall draw them out: ſurely [u] he ſhall make their habitations deſolate with them.

21 The earth is moved at the noiſe of their fall: the crie of their voice is heard in the red Sea.

22 Behold, he ſhall come up, and flee as the Eagle, [x] and ſpread his wings over Bozrah, and at that day ſhall the heart of the ſtrong men of Edom be as the heart of a woman in travaile.

23 ¶ Unto [y] Damaſcus he ſaith, Hamath is confounded and Arpad, for they have heard evill tidings, and they are faint hearted as one on the fearfull Sea that cannot reſt.

24 Damaſcus is diſcouraged, and turneth her ſelfe to flight, [z] and feare hath ceaſed her: anguiſh and ſorrowes have taken her as a woman in travaile.

25 How is the glorious [a] citie not reſerved, the citie of my joy?

26 Therefore her yong men ſhall fall in her ſtreets, and all her men of warre ſhall be cut off in that day, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes.

27 And I will kindle a fire in the wall of Damaſcus, which ſhall conſume the palaces of [b] Benhadad.

28 ¶ Unto [c] Kedar, and to the kingdomes of Hazor, which Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel ſhall ſmite, thus ſaith the Lord, Ariſe, and goe up unto Kedar, and deſtroy the men of the Eaſt.

29 Their tents and their flockes, ſhall they take away: yea they ſhall take to themſelves their [d] curtaines and all their veſſels, and their camels, and they ſhall crie unto them, Feare is on everie ſide.

30 Flee, get you farre off (e they have conſulted to dwell) O ye inhabitants of Hazor, ſaith the Lord: for Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel hath taken counſell againſt you, and hath deviſed a purpoſe againſt you.

31 [f] Ariſe, and get you up unto the wealthie nation that dwelleth without care, ſaith the Lord, which have neither gates nor barres, but dwell alone.

32 And their camels ſhall be a bootie, and the multitude of their cattell a ſpoile, and I will ſcatter them into all windes, and to the utmoſt corners, and I will bring their deſtruction from all the ſides thereof, ſaith the Lord.

33 And Hazor ſhall be a dwelling for dragons, and deſolation for ever: there ſhall no man dwell there, nor the ſonnes of men remaine in it.

34 ¶ The words of the Lord that came to Jeremiah the Prophet, concerning [g] Elam, in the beginning of the reigne of Zedekiah king of Judah, ſaying, 35 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, Behold, I will breake the [h] bow of Elam, even the chiefe of their ſtrength.

36 And upon Elam I will bring the foure windes from the foure quarters of heaven, and will ſcatter them towards all theſe windes, and there ſhall bee no nation, whither the fugitives of Elam ſhall not come.

37 For I will cauſe Elam to be afraid before their enemies, and before them that ſeeke their lives, and will bring upon them a plague, even the indignation of my wrath, ſaith the Lord, and I will ſend the ſword after them till I have conſumed them.

38 And I will ſet my [i] throne in Elam, and I will deſtroy both the King and the Princes from thence, ſaith the Lord: but [k] in the latter daies I will bring againe the captivitie of Elam, ſaith the Lord.

CHAP. L.

He propheſieth of the deſtruction of Babylon, and the deliverance of Iſrael, which was in captivitie.

2 Declare among the nations, and publiſh it, and ſet up a ſtandard, proclaime it and conceale it not: ſay, [a] Babel is taken, Bel is confounded, [b] Merodach is broken down: her idols are confounded, and their images are burſt in pieces.

[h] Becauſe the Perſians were good archers, he ſheweth that the thing wherein they put their truſt, ſhould not profit them.

[i] I will place Nebuchad-nezzar there: and in theſe propheſies Jeremiah ſpeaketh of thoſe countries, which ſhould be ſubdued under the firſt of thoſe foure monarchies, whereof Daniel maketh mention.

[k] This may be referred to the empire of the Perſians and Medes after the Caldeans, or unto the time of Chriſt, as Chapt. 48. 47.

[a] After that God hath uſed the Babylonians ſervice to puniſh other nations, he ſheweth that their turn ſhall come to be puniſhed.

[b] Theſe were two of their chiefe idoles.

3 For out of the North there [c] commeth up a Nation againſt her, which ſhall make her land waſte, and none ſhall dwell therein: they ſhall flee, and depart, both man and beaſt.

4 In thoſe daies, and at that time, ſaith the Lord, the children of Iſrael ſhall [d] come, they, and the children of Judah together, going, and [e] weeping ſhall they goe, and ſeeke the Lord their God.

5 They ſhall aske the way to Zion, with their faces thitherward, ſaying, Come, and let us cleave to the Lord in a perpetuall covenant that ſhall not be forgotten.

6 ¶ My people hath beene as loſt ſheepe: their [f] ſhepheards have cauſed them to goe aſtray, and have turned them away to the mountaines: they have gone from [g] mountaine to hill, and forgotten their reſting place.

7 All that found them, have devoured them, and their enemies ſaid, Wee offend not, becauſe they have ſinned againſt the Lord, [h] the habitation of juſtice, even the Lord the hope of their fathers.

8 [i] Flee from the mids of Babel, and depart out of the land of the Caldeans, and be yee as the hee goates [k] before the flocke.

9 For loe, I will raiſe, and cauſe to come up againſt Babel, a multitude of mightie nations from the North country, and they ſhal ſet themſelves in aray againſt her, whereby ſhe ſhall be taken: their arrowes ſhall be as of a ſtrong man, which is expert, for none ſhall returne in vaine.

10 And Caldea ſhall be a ſpoile: all that ſpoile her, [l] ſhall be ſatisfied, ſaith the Lord.

11 Becauſe ye were glad and rejoiced in deſtroying mine heritage, and becauſe yee are growne fat, as the calves in the graſſe, [m] and neyed like ſtrong horſes,

12 Therefore your mother ſhall be ſore confounded, and ſhe that bare you, ſhall be aſhamed: behold, the uttermoſt of the nations ſhall be a deſert, a drie land, and a wilderneſſe.

13 Becauſe of the wrath of the Lord it ſhall not be inhabited, but ſhall be wholly deſolate: every one that goeth by Babel, ſhall be aſtoniſhed, [n] and hiſſe at all her plagues.

14 [o] Put your ſelves in aray againſt Babel round about: all yee that bend the bow ſhoot at her, ſpare no arrowes: for ſhee hath [p] ſinned againſt the Lord.

15 Crie againſt her round about: ſhe hath ‡ given her hand: her foundations are falne, and her walles are deſtroied: for it is the vengeance of the Lord: take vengeance upon her: as ſhee hath done, doe unto her.

16 Deſtroy the [q] ſower from Babel, and him that handleth the ſithe in the time of harveſt: becauſe of the ſword of the oppreſſour, they ſhall turne everie one to his people, and they ſhall flee everie one to his owne land.

17 Iſrael is like ſcattered ſheepe: the lions have diſperſed them: firſt the King of [r] Aſhur hath devoured him: and laſt, this Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel hath broken [ſ] his bones.

18 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes the God of Iſrael, Behold, I will viſite the king of Babel and his land, as I have viſited the King of Aſhur.

19 And I will bring Iſrael againe to his habitation: he ſhall feed on Carmel and Baſhan, and his ſoule ſhall be ſatisfied upon the mount Ephraim and Gilead.

20 In thoſe daies, and at that time, ſaith the Lord, the iniquitie of Iſrael ſhall bee ſought for: and there ſhall be none: and the ſinnes of Judah, and they ſhall not be found: for I will be mercifull unto them whom I reſerve.

21 Goe up againſt the land of the [t] rebels, even againſt it, and againſt the inhabitants * of ‡ Pekod: deſtroy, and lay it waſte after them, ſaith the Lord, and doe according to all that I have commanded thee.

22 A crie of a battell is in the land, and of great deſtruction.

23 How is the [v] hammer of the whole world deſtroied and broken! how is Babel become deſolate among the nations!

24 I have ſnared thee, and thou art taken, O Babel, and thou waſt not aware: thou art found, and alſo caught, becauſe thou haſt ſtriven againſt the Lord.

25 The Lord hath opened his treaſure, and hath brought forth the weapons of his wrath: for this is the worke of the Lord God of hoſtes in the land of the Caldeans.

26 Come againſt her ‡ from the utmoſt border: open her ſtore houſes: tread on her as on ſheaves, and deſtroy her utterly: let nothing of her be left.

27 Deſtroy all her [x] bullocks: let them goe downe to the ſlaughter. Woe unto them, for their day is come, and the time of their viſitation.

28 The voice of them that [y] flee, and eſcape out of the land of Babel to declare in Zion the vengeance of the Lord our God, and the vengeance of his Temple.

29 Call up the archers againſt Babel: all yee that bend the bow, beſiege it round about: let none therof eſcape: * recompenſe her according to her work, and according to all that ſhe hath done, doe unto her: for ſhe hath been proud againſt the Lord, even againſt the holy One of Iſrael.

30 Therefore ſhall her young men fall in the ſtreets, and all her men of war ſhall be deſtroied in that day, ſaith the Lord.

31 Behold, I come unto thee, O proud man, ſaith the Lord God of hoſtes: for thy day is come, even the time that I will viſit thee.

32 And the proud ſhall ſtumble and fall, and none ſhall raiſe him up: and I will kindle a fire in his cities, and it ſhall devoure all round about him.

33 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, The children of Iſrael and the children of Judah were oppreſſed together: and all that took them captives, held them, and would not let them goe.

[a] For Cyrus did cut the river Euphrates, and divided the courſe thereof into many ſtreames, ſo that it might be paſſed over, as though there had been no water: which thing hee did by the counſel of two of Belſhazzars captaines, who conſpired againſt their king, becauſe he had gelded the one of them in deſpight, and ſlain the ſonne of the other.

3 Alſo to the bender that bendeth his bowe, and to him that lifteth himſelfe up in his brigandine, will I ſay, Spare not her young men, but deſtroy all her hoſte.

4 Thus the ſlaine ſhall fall in the land of the Caldeans, and they that are thruſt through in her ſtreets.

5 For Iſrael hath beene no [b] widow, nor Judah from his God, from the Lord of hoſtes, though their land was filled with ſinne againſt the holy One of Iſrael.

[g] righteouſneſſe: come and let us declare in Zion the worke of the Lord our God.

11 Make bright the arrowes: ‡ gather the ſhields: the Lord hath raiſed up the ſpirit of the king of the Medes: for his purpoſe is againſt Babel to deſtroy it, becauſe it is the [h] vengeance of the Lord, and the vengeance of his Temple.

12 Set up the ſtandard upon the wals of Babel, make the watch ſtrong: ſet up the watchmen: prepare the ſcoutes: for the Lord hath both deviſed, and done that which he ſpake againſt the inhabitants of Babel.

13 O thou that dwelleſt upon many [i] waters, abundant in treaſures, thine end is come, even the ‡ end of thy covetouſneſſe.

14 The Lord of hoſtes hath ſworne by ‡ * himſelfe, ſaying, Surely I will fill thee with men as with caterpillers, and they ſhall crie and ſhout againſt thee.

15 * He hath made the earth by his power, and eſtabliſhed the world by his wiſedome, and hath ſtretched out the heaven by his diſcretion.

16 He giveth by his voice the multitude of waters in the heaven, and he cauſeth the clouds to aſcend from the ends of the earth: he turneth lightnings to rain, and bringeth forth the wind out of his treaſures.

17 Everie man is a beaſt by his owne [k] knowledge: everie founder is confounded by the graven image: for his melting is but falſhood, and there is no breath therein.

18 They are vanitie, and the worke of errours: in the time of their [l] viſitation they ſhall periſh.

19 The [m] portion of Jaakob is not like them: for he is the maker of all things, and Iſrael is the rod of his inheritance: the Lord of hoſtes is his Name.

20 Thou art mine [n] hammer, and weapons of warre: for with thee will I break the nations, and with thee will I deſtroy kingdomes, 21 And by thee will I break horſe and horſeman, and by thee will I breake the charet and him that rideth therein.

22 By thee alſo will I breake man and woman, and by thee will I breake old and young, and by thee will I breake the young man and the maid.

23 I will alſo break by thee the ſhepheard, and his flocke, and by thee will I breake the huſbandman and his yoke of oxen, and by thee will I breake the dukes and princes.

24 And I will render unto Babel, and to all the inhabitants of the Caldeans all their evill that they have done in Zion, even in your ſight, ſaith the Lord.

25 Behold, I come unto thee, O deſtroying [o] mountain, ſaith the Lord, which deſtroieſt all the earth: and I will ſtretch out mine hand upon thee, and roule thee downe from the [p] rockes, and will make thee a burnt mountaine.

26 They ſhall not take of thee a ſtone for a corner, nor a ſtone for foundations, but thou ſhalt be deſtroied for ever, ſaith the Lord.

27 Set up a ſtandard in the land: blow the trumpets among the nations: prepare the nations againſt her: call up the kingdomes of [q] Ararat, Minni, and Aſchenaz againſt her: appoint the prince againſt her: cauſe horſes to come up as the rough caterpillers.

28 Prepare againſt her the nations with the Kings of the Medes, the dukes thereof, and the princes thereof, and all the land of his dominion.

29 And the land ſhall tremble and ſorrow: for the deviſe of the Lord ſhall be performed againſt Babel, to make the land of Babel waſte without an inhabitant.

30 The ſtrong men of Babel have ceaſed to fight: they have remained in their holds: their ſtrength hath failed, and they were like women: they have burnt her dwelling places, and her barres are broken.

31 A poſte ſhall run to meet the poſte, and a meſſenger to meet the meſſenger, to ſhew the King of Babel, that his citie is taken on a [r] ſide thereof.

32 And that the paſſages are ſtopped, and the reeds burnt with fire, and the men of warre troubled.

33 For thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes the God of Iſrael, The daughter of Babel is like a threſhing floore: the time of her threſhing is come: yet a little while, and the time of her harveſt [ſ] ſhall come.

34 Nebuchad-nezzar the King of Babel hath [t] devoured me, and deſtroied me: he hath made me an emptie veſſell: he ſwallowed me up like a dragon, and filled his belly with my delicates, and hath caſt me out.

35 The ſpoile of me, and that which was left of me, is brought unto Babel, ſhall the inhabitant of Zion ſay: and my blood unto the inhabitants of Caldea, ſhall Jeruſalem ſay.

36 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord, Behold I will maintain thy [v] cauſe, and take vengeance for thee; and I will dry up the ſea, and dry up her ſprings.

37 And Babel ſhalbe as heaps, a dwelling place for dragons, an aſtoniſhment,

[m] That is, the true God of Iſrael is not like to theſe idoles: for he can helpe when all things are deſperate.

[n] Hee meaneth, the Medes and Perſians, as he did before call the Babylonians his hammer, Chapt. 50. 23.

[o] Not that Babylon ſtood on a mountain, but becauſe it was ſtrong and ſeemed invincible.

[p] Frõ thy ſtrong holds and fortreſſes.

[q] By theſe three nations, he meaneth Armenia the higher, and Armenia the lower, and Scythia: for Cyrus had gathered an armie of divers nations.

[r] By turning the courſe of the river, one ſide was made open, and the reedes that did grow in the water, were deſtroied, which Cyrus did by the counſell of Gobria and Gabatha, Belſhazzars captaines.

[ſ] When ſhe ſhall bee cut up and threſhed.

[t] This is ſpoken in the perſon of the Jewes, bewailing their ſtate & the crueltie of the Babylonians.

[v] Thus the Lord eſteemeth the injurie done to his Church, as done to himſelfe, becauſe their cauſe is his.

and an hiſſing without an inhabitant.

38 They ſhal roare together like lions, and yell as the lions whelpes.

39 In their [x] heate I will make them feaſts, and I will make them drunken, that they may rejoice, and ſleepe a perpetuall ſleepe, and not wake, ſaith the Lord.

40 I will bring them downe like lambes to the ſlaughter, and like rammes and goates.

41 How is [y] Sheſhach taken! and how is the glorie of the whole earth taken! how is Babel become an aſtoniſhment among the nations!

42 The [z] ſea is come up upon Babel: ſhe is covered with the multitude of the waves thereof.

43 Her cities are deſolate: the land is dry and a wilderneſſe, a land wherein no man dwelleth, neither doth the ſonne of man paſſe thereby.

44 I will alſo viſite Bel in Babel, and I will bring out of his mouth, that which [a] he hath ſwallowed up, and the nations ſhall runne no more unto him, and the wall of Babel ſhall fall.

45 My people, goe out of the mids of her, and deliver ye every man his ſoule from the fierce wrath of the Lord, 46 Leſt your heart even faint, and ye feare the rumour, that ſhall be heard in the land: the rumour ſhall come this yeere, and after that in the other [b] yeere ſhall come a rumour, and cruelty in the land, and ruler againſt ruler.

47 Therefore, behold, the daies come, that I will viſit the images of Babel, and the whole land ſhall be confounded, and all her ſlaine ſhall fall in the mids of her.

48 Then the heaven and [c] the earth, and all that is therein, ſhall rejoice for Babel: for the deſtroiers ſhall come unto her from the North, ſaith the Lord.

49 As Babel cauſed the [d] ſlain of Iſrael to fall, ſo by Babel the ſlain of all the earth did fall.

50 Ye that [e] have eſcaped the ſword, goe away, ſtand not ſtill: remember the Lord a farre off, and let Jeruſalem come into your minde.

51 We are [f] confounded becauſe we have heard reproach: ſhame hath covered our faces, for ſtrangers are come into the Sanctuaries of the Lords houſe.

52 Wherefore behold, the daies come, ſaith the Lord, that I will viſite her graven images, and through all her land, the wounded ſhall groane.

53 Though Babel ſhould mount up to [g] heaven, and though ſhe ſhould defend her ſtrength on high, yet from me ſhall her deſtroiers come, ſaith the Lord.

54 A ſound of a cry commeth from Babel, and great deſtruction from the land of the Caldeans,

55 Becauſe the Lord hath laid Babel waſte, and deſtroied from her the great voice, and her waves ſhall roare like great waters, and a ſound was made by their noiſe, 56 Becauſe the deſtroier is come upon her, even upon Babel, and her ſtrong men are taken, their bowes are broken: for the Lord God that recompenſeth, ſhall ſurely recompenſe.

57 And I will [h] make drunke her princes, and her wiſe men, her dukes, and her nobles, and her ſtrong men: and they ſhall ſleepe a perpetuall ſleepe, and not wake, ſaith the King, whoſe name is the Lord of hoſtes.

58 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, The [i] thicke wall of Babel ſhall be broken, and her high gates ſhall be burnt with fire, and the people ſhall labour in vaine, and the folke in the fire, for they ſhall be weary.

59 The word which Jeremiah the Prophet commanded Sherajah the ſonne of Nerijah, the ſonne of Maaſejah, when he went with Zedekiah the king of Judah into Babel, in the [k] fourth yeere of his reigne, and this Sherajah was a peaceable prince.

60 So Jeremiah wrote in a booke all the evill that ſhould come upon Babel, even all theſe things, that are written againſt Babel.

61 And Jeremiah ſaid to Sherajah, When thou commeſt unto Babel, and ſhalt ſee, and ſhalt reade all theſe words, 62 Then ſhalt thou ſay, O Lord, thou haſt ſpoken againſt this place to deſtroy it, that none ſhould remaine in it, neither man nor beaſt, but that it ſhould be deſolate for ever.

63 And when thou haſt made an end of reading this booke, thou ſhalt binde a [l] ſtone to it, and caſt it in the mids of Euphrates,

64 And ſhalt ſay, Thus ſhall Babel be drowned, and ſhall not riſe from the evill, that I will bring upon her: and they ſhall be [m] weary. Thus farre are the words of Jeremiah.

3 [a] Doubtleſſe becauſe the wrath of the Lord was againſt Jeruſalem and Judah, till he had caſt them out from his preſence, therefore Zedekiah rebelled againſt the king of Babel.

4 * But in the ninth yeere of his reign, in the tenth moneth, the tenth day of the moneth, came Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, he, and all his hoſte againſt Jeruſalem, and pitched againſt it, and built forts againſt it round about.

5 So the citie was beſieged unto the eleventh yeere of the king Zedekiah.

6 Now in the fourth moneth, the ninth day of the moneth, the famine was ſore in the citie, ſo that there was no more bread for the people of the land.

7 Then the citie was broken up, and all the men of warre fled, and went out of the citie by night, by the [b] way of the gate between the two wals, which was by the kings garden: (now the Caldeans were by the citie round about) and they went by the way of the wilderneſſe.

8 But the armie of the Caldeans purſued after the king, and tooke Zedekiah in the deſert of Jericho, and all his hoſte was ſcattered from him.

9 Then they tooke the king, and caried him up unto the king of Babel to Riblah, in the land of Hamath, [c] where he gave judgement upon him.

10 And the king of Babel ſlew the ſons of Zedekiah before his eies: he ſlew alſo all the princes of Judah in Riblah.

11 Then he put out the eies of Zedekiah, and the king of Babel bound him in chaines, and carried him to Babel, and put him in priſon till the day of his death.

12 Now in the fifth moneth, in the [d] tenth day of the moneth (which was the nineteenth yeere of the king Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel) came Nebuzar-adan chiefe ſteward, which [e] ſtood before the king of Babel in Jeruſalem, 13 And burnt the houſe of the Lord, and the kings houſe, and all the houſes of Jeruſalem, and all the great houſes burnt he with fire.

14 And all the armie of the Caldeans that were with the chiefe ſteward, brake downe all the walles of Jeruſalem round about.

15 Then Nebuzar-adan the chiefe ſteward, carried away captive certaine of the poore of the people, and the reſidue of the people that remained in the citie, and thoſe that were fled and fallen to the king of Babel, with the reſt of the multitude.

16 But Nebuzar-adan the chiefe ſteward left certaine of the poore of the land, to dreſſe the vines, and to till the land.

17 Alſo the [f] pillars of braſſe that were in the Houſe of the Lord, and the baſes, and the braſen Sea, that was in the Houſe of the Lord, the Caldeans brake, and caried all the braſſe of them to Babel.

18 The pots alſo and the [g] beſoms, and the inſtruments of muſick, and the baſins, and the incenſe diſhes, and all the veſſels of braſſe wherewith they miniſtred, tooke they away.

19 And the bowles, and the aſhpans, and the baſins, and the pots, and the candleſtickes, and the incenſe diſhes, and the cups, and all that was of gold, and that was of ſilver, tooke the chiefe ſteward away.

20 With the two pillars, one Sea, and twelve braſen bulles, that were under the baſes, which king Salomon had made in the houſe of the Lord: the braſſe of all theſe veſſels was without [h] weight.

21 And concerning the pillars, the height of one pillar was eighteene cubites, and a threed of twelve cubites did compaſſe it, and the thickneſſe thereof was foure fingers: it was hollow.

22 And a chapiter of braſſe was upon it, and the height of one chapiter was five cubites with net-work, and pomegranates upon the chapiters round about, all of braſſe: the ſecond pillar alſo, and the pomegranates were like unto theſe.

23 And there were ninetie and ſixe pomegranates on a ſide: and all the pomegranates upon the net-work were an [i] hundreth round about.

24 And the chiefe ſteward tooke Sherajah the chiefe Prieſt, and Zephaniah [k] the ſecond Prieſt, and the three keepers of the doore.

25 Hee tooke alſo out of the citie an Eunuch, which had the overſight of the men of warre, and [l] ſeven men that were in the Kings preſence, which were found in the citie, and Sopher captaine of the hoſte, who muſtered the people of the land, and threeſcore men of the people of the land, that were found in the mids of the citie.

26 Nebuzar-adan the chiefe ſteward tooke them, and brought them to the king of Babel to Riblah.

27 And the king of Babel ſmote them, and ſlew them in Riblah, in the land of Hamath: thus Judah was caried away captive out of his owne land.

28 ¶ This is the people whom Nebuchad-nezzar caried away captive, in the [m] ſeventh yeere, even three thouſand Jews, and three and twentie.

29 In the [n] eighteenth yeere of Nebuchadnezzar, he caried away captive from Jeruſalem eight hundreth thirtie and two ‡ perſons.

[a] So the Lord puniſhed ſinne by ſinne, and gave him up to his rebellious heart, till hee had brought the enemie upon him to leade him away, and his people.

30 In the three and twentieth yeare of Nebuchad-nezzar, Nebuzar-adan the chiefe ſteward caried away captive of the Jews ſeven hundred forty and five perſons: all the perſons were foure thouſand and ſixe hundred.

31 And in the ſeven and thirtieth yeare of the captivitie of Iehojachin king of Iudah, in the twelfth moneth, in the five and twentieth day of the moneth, Euil-merodach king of Babel, in the first yeare of his reigne, [o] lifted up the head of Iehojachin king of Iudah, and brought him out of priſon.

32 And ſpake kindly unto him, and ſet his throne above the throne of the kings, that were with him in Babel, 33 And changed his priſon [p] garments, and he did continually eate bread before him all the daies of his life.

34 His portion was a [q] continuall portion given him of the king of Babel, every day a certaine, all the daies of his life untill he died.

[o] That is, reſtored him to liberty and honour.

[p] And gave him princely apparell.

[q] That is, hee had allowance in the court, and thus at length he had reſt and quietneſſe, becauſe hee obeyed Jeremiah the Prophet, vvhereas the other vvere cruelly ordered, that vvould not obey him.

LAMENTATIONS.

Chap. I.

1 The Prophet bewaileth the miſerable eſtate of Ieruſalem, 5 and ſheweth that they are plagued becauſe of their ſins. The firſt and ſecond Chapter begin every verſe according to the letters of the Hebrew Alphabet. The third hath three verſes for every letter, and the fourth is as the firſt.

How doth [a] the city remaine ſolitary that was full of people? ſhe is as a widow: ſhe that was great among the nations, and [b] princeſſe among the provinces, is made tributary.

2 Shee weepeth continually in the [c] night, and her teares run downe by her cheeks: among all her [d] lovers, ſhe hath none to comfort her: all her friends have dealt unfaithfully with her, and are her enemies.

3 Iudah is caried away captive, becauſe of [e] affliction, and becauſe of great ſervitude: ſhe dwelleth among the heathen, and findeth no reſt: all her perſecutors tooke her in the ſtraits.

4 The waies of Zion lament, becauſe no man commeth [f] to the ſolemne feaſts: all her gates are deſolate: her Prieſts ſigh: her virgins are diſcomfited, and ſhe is in ‡ heavineſſe.

5 Her adverſaries [g] are the chiefe, and her enemies proſper: for the Lord hath afflicted her, for the multitude of her tranſgreſſions, and her children are gone into captivity before the enemy.

6 And from the daughter of Zion all her beauty is departed: her Princes are become [h] like Harts that find no paſture, and they are gone without ſtrength before the purſuer.

7 Jeruſalem remembred the daies of her affliction, and of her rebellion, and all her pleaſant things that ſhe had in times paſt, when her people [i] fell into the hand of the enemy, and none did helpe her: the adverſaries ſaw her, and did mock at her [k] Sabbaths.

8 Jeruſalem hath grievouſly ſinned, therefore ſhe is ‡ in deriſion: all that honoured her, deſpiſe her, becauſe they have ſeen her filthineſſe: yea ſhe ſigheth and turneth backward.

9 [l] Her filthineſſe is in her skirts: ſhe remembred not her laſt end, therefore ſhe came downe wonderfully: ſhee had no comforter: O Lord, behold mine affliction: for the enemy ‡ is proud.

10 The enemy hath ſtretched out his hand upon all her pleaſant things: for ſhe hath ſeen the heathen enter into her Sanctuarie, whom [m] thou didſt command, that they ſhould not enter into thy Church.

11 All her people ſigh and ſeek their bread: they have given their pleaſant things for meat to refreſh the ſoule: ſee, O Lord, and conſider: for I am become vile.

12 Have ye no regard, all ye that paſſe by this way? behold, and ſee, if there be any [n] ſorrow like unto my ſorrow, which is done unto mee, wherewith the Lord hath afflicted me in the day of his fierce wrath.

13 From above hath [o] he ſent fire into my bones, which prevaileth againſt them: he hath ſpread a net for my feet, and turned me back: he hath made me deſolate, and daily in heavineſſe.

14 The [p] yoke of my tranſgreſſions is bound upon his hand: they are wrapped, and come up upon my neck: hee hath made my ſtrength to fall: the Lord hath delivered me into their hands, neither am I able to riſe up.

15 The Lord hath troden under foot all my valiant men in the midſt of mee: he hath called an aſſembly againſt me to deſtroy my young men: the Lord hath troden [q] the wine-preſſe upon the virgin the daughter of Judah.

16 * For theſe things I weepe: mine eye, even mine eye caſteth out water, becauſe the comforter that ſhould refreſh

[a] The Prophet vvondereth at the great judgement of God, ſeeing Ieruſalem, which was ſo ſtrong & ſo full of people, to bee now deſtroied and deſolate.

[b] Which had chiefe rule over many provinces and countries.

[c] So that ſhee taketh no reſt.

[d] Meaning, the Egyptians and Aſſyrians, vvhich promiſed helpe.

[e] For her cruelty toward the poore and oppreſſion of ſervants, Ier. 34. 11.

[g] That is, have rule over her, Deut. 28. 44.

[h] As men pined away vvith ſorrow, and that have no courage.

[i] In her miſery ſhe conſidered the great benefits and commodities that ſhe had loſt.

[k] At her religion and ſerving of God, vvhich vvas the greateſt griefe to the godly.

[m] God forbiddeth that the Ammonites & Moabites ſhould enter into the Congregation of the Lord, and under them hee comprehendeth all enemies, Deut. 23.3.

[n] Thus Ieruſalem lamenteth, moving others to pity her, and to learne by her example.

[o] This declareth that vvee ſhould acknowledge God to be the authour of all our afflictions, to the intent that vvee might ſeeke unto him for remedy.

[p] Mine heavie ſins are continually before his eyes, as he that tyeth a thing to his hand for a remembrance.

[q] He hath troden them under foot as they that tread grapes in the vvinepreſſe.

* Ier. 14. 17. Chap 2.18.

my ſoule, is farre from me: my children are deſolate, becauſe the enemie prevailed.

17 Zion ſtretched out her hands, and there is none to comfort her: the Lord hath appointed the enemies of Jaakob round about him: Jeruſalem is [r] as a menſtruous woman in the midſt of them.

18 The Lord is righteous: for I have rebelled againſt his ‡ commandement: heare, I pray you, all people, and behold my ſorrow: my virgins and my young men are gone into captivitie.

19 I called for my lovers, but they deceived mee: my Prieſts and mine Elders periſhed in the city, while they [ſ] ſought their meat to refreſh their ſoules.

20 Behold, O Lord, how I am troubled: my bowels ſwell: mine heart is turned within me, for I am full of heavineſſe: the ſword ſpoileth abroad, as death doth at home.

21 They have heard that I mourne, but there is none to comfort me: all mine enemies have heard of my trouble, and are glad, that thou haſt done it: thou wilt bring the day, that thou haſt pronounced, and they ſhall be like unto me.

22 [t] Let all their wickedneſſe come before thee: ‡ doe unto them, as thou haſt done unto me, for all my tranſgreſſions: for my ſighes are many, and mine heart is heavie.

CHAP. II.

HOw hath the Lord [a] darkned the daughter of Zion in his wrath! and hath caſt downe from [b] heaven unto the earth the beautie of Iſrael, and remembred not his [c] footſtoole in the day of his wrath!

2 The Lord hath deſtroied all the habitations of Jaakob, and not ſpared: he hath throwne downe in his wrath the ſtrong holds of the daughter of Judah: he hath caſt them downe to the ground: hee hath polluted the kingdome and the Princes thereof.

3 He hath cut off in his fierce wrath all the [d] horne of Iſrael: he hath drawne back his [e] right hand from before the enemy, and there was kindled in Jaakob like a flame of fire, which devoured round about.

4 He [f] hath bent his bow like an enemie: his right hand was ſtretched up as an adverſary, and ſlew all that was pleaſant to the eye in the Tabernacle of the daughter of Zion: hee powred out his wrath like fire.

5 The Lord was an enemy: he hath devoured Iſrael, and conſumed all his palaces: hee hath deſtroyed his ſtrong holds, and hath increaſed in the daughter of Judah lamentation and mourning.

6 For he hath deſtroied his Tabernacle, as a garden, he hath deſtroied his Congregation: the Lord hath cauſed the feaſts and Sabbaths to be forgotten in Zion, and hath deſpiſed in the indignation of his wrath the King and the Prieſt.

7 The Lord hath forſaken his Altar: he hath abhorred his Sanctuary: he hath given into the hand of the enemie the wals of her palaces: they have made a [g] noiſe in the houſe of the Lord, as in the day of ſolemnity.

8 The Lord hath determined to deſtroy the wall of the daughter of Zion: he ſtretched out a line, he hath not withdrawne his hand from deſtroying: therefore he made the rampart [h] and the wall to lament: they were deſtroyed together.

9 Her gates are ſunke to the ground: he hath deſtroied and broken her barres: the king and her princes are among the Gentiles: the Law is no more, neither can her Prophets ‡ receive any viſion from the Lord.

10 The Elders of the daughter of Zion ſit upon the ground and keep ſilence: they have caſt up duſt upon their heads: they have girded themſelves with ſackcloth: the virgins of Jeruſalem hang downe their heads to the ground.

11 Mine eyes doe faile with teares: my bowels ſwell: my liver is powred upon the earth, for the deſtruction of the daughter of my people, becauſe the children and ſucklings ‡ ſwoone in the ſtreets of the citie.

12 They have ſaid to their mothers, Where is ‡ bread and drink? when they ſwooned as the wounded in the ſtreets of the city, and when they ‡ gave up the ghoſt in their mothers boſome.

13 [i] What thing ſhall I take to witneſſe for thee? what thing ſhall I compare to thee, O daughter Jeruſalem? what ſhall I liken to thee that I may comfort thee, O virgin daughter Zion? for thy breach is great like the Sea: who can heale thee?

14 Thy prophets have [k] looked out vaine and fooliſh things for thee, and they have not diſcovered thine iniquity to turne away thy captivity, and have looked out for thee falſe ‡ propheſies, and cauſes of baniſhment.

15 All that paſſe by the way, clap their hands at thee: they hiſſe and wag their head upon the daughter Jeruſalem, ſaying, Is this the city that men call, The perfection of beauty, and the joy of the whole earth?

[r] Which becauſe of her polution was ſeparate from her husband, Levi. 15.19. and was abhorred for the time.

‡ Ebr. mouth.

[ſ] That is, they died for hunger.

[t] Of deſiring vengeance againſt the enemy, read Jer. 11.20. & 18.21.

‡ Or, gather them like grapes.

[b] Hath given her a moſt ſore fall.

[c] Alluding to the Temple, or to the Arke of the covenant, which was called the footſtoole of the Lord, becauſe they ſhould not ſet their mindes ſo low, but lift up their hearts toward the heavens.

[d] Meaning, the glory and ſtrength, as 1 Sam. 2.1.

[e] That is, his ſuccour which hee was wont to ſend us, when our enemies oppreſſed us.

[f] Shewing, that there is no remedy but deſtruction, where God is the enemy.

[g] As the people were accuſtomed to praiſe God in the ſolemne feaſts with a loud voice, ſo now the enemies blaſpheme him with ſhouting and crying.

[h] This is a figurative ſpeach, as that was, when he ſaid, the waies did lament, Chap. 1.4. meaning, that this ſorrow was ſo great that the inſenſible things had their part thereof.

[i] Meaning, that her calamity was ſo evident, that it need no witneſſes.

[k] Becauſe the falſe prophets called themſelves Seers, as the other were called, therefore hee ſheweth that they ſaw amiſſe, becauſe they did not reprove the peoples faults, but flattered them in their ſins, which was the cauſe of their deſtruction.

16 All thine enemies have opened their mouth againſt thee: they hiſſe and gnaſh the teeth, ſaying, Let us devoure it: certainely this is the day that we looked for: we have found and ſeen it.

17 * The Lord hath done that which he had purpoſed: hee hath fulfilled his word that he had determined of old time: he hath throwne down, and not ſpared: he hath cauſed thine enemy to rejoyce over thee, and ſet up the horne of thine adverſaries.

18 Their heart * cried unto the Lord, O wall of the daughter Zion, let teares run downe like a river, day and night: take thee no reſt, neither let the apple of thine eye ceaſe.

19 Ariſe, cry in the night, in the beginning of the watches powre out thine heart like water before the face of the Lord: lift up thine hands toward him for the life of thy young children, that faint for hunger in the corners of all the ſtreets.

20 Behold, O Lord, and conſider to whom thou haſt done thus: ſhall the women eat their fruit, and children of a ‡ ſpan long? ſhall the Prieſt and the Prophet be ſlaine in the Sanctuary of the Lord?

21 The young and the old lie on the ground in the ſtreets: my virgins and my young men are fallen by the ſword: thou haſt ſlaine them in the day of thy wrath: thou haſt killed and not ſpared.

22 Thou haſt called as in a ſolemne day my ‡ terrours round about, ſo that in the day of the Lords wrath none eſcaped nor remained: thoſe that I have nouriſhed and brought up, hath mine enemy conſumed.

Chap. III.

1 I Am the man that hath ſeen [a] affliction in the rod of his indignation.

2 He hath led me, and brought mee into darkneſſe, but not to light.

3 Surely he is turned againſt mee: hee turneth his hand againſt mee all the day.

4 My fleſh and my skinne hath he cauſed to waxe old, and he hath broken my bones.

5 He hath [b] builded againſt me, and compaſſed me with gall and labour.

6 He hath ſet me in dark places, as they that be dead for ever.

7 He hath hedged about me, that I cannot get out: he hath made my chaines heavie.

8 Alſo when I cry and ſhout, he ſhutteth out my [c] prayer.

9 He hath [d] ſtopped up my waies with hewen ſtone, and turned away my paths.

10 [e] He was unto me as a beare lying in wait, and as a lyon in ſecret places.

11 He hath ſtopped my waies, and pulled me in pieces: he hath made me deſolate.

12 He hath bent his bow and made me a marke for the arrow.

13 He cauſed ‡ the arrows of his quiver to enter into my reines.

14 I was a deriſion to all my people, and their ſong all the day.

15 He hath filled me with bitterneſſe, and made mee drunken with [f] wormewood.

16 Hee hath alſo broken my teeth with ſtones, and hath covered me with aſhes.

17 Thus my ſoule was farre off from peace: I forgate proſperity.

18 And I ſaid, My ſtrength and mine hope [g] is periſhed from the Lord.

19 Remembring mine affliction, and my mourning, the wormewood and the gall.

20 My ſoule hath them in remembrance, and is humbled [h] in me.

21 I conſider this is mine heart: therefore have I hope.

22 It is the Lords [i] mercies that we are not conſumed, becauſe his compaſſions faile not.

23 They are renewed [k] every morning: great is thy faithfulneſſe.

24 The Lord is my [l] portion, ſaith my ſoule: therefore will I hope in him.

25 The Lord is good unto them that truſt in him, and to the ſoule that ſeeketh him.

26 It is good both to truſt, and to wait for the ſalvation of the Lord.

27 It is good for a man that he beare the yoke in his [m] youth.

28 He ſitteth alone, [n] and keepeth ſilence, becauſe hee hath borne it upon him.

29 He putteth his [o] mouth in the duſt, if there may be hope.

30 He giveth his cheeke to him that ſmiteth him: he is filled full with reproches.

31 For the Lord will not forſake for ever.

32 But though he ſend affliction, yet will he have compaſſion according to the multitude of his mercies.

33 For hee doth not [p] puniſh ‡ willingly, nor afflict the children of men,

34 In ſtamping under his feet all the priſoners of the earth,

35 In overthrowing the right of a man before the face of the moſt High.

36 In ſubverting a man in his cauſe: the Lord [q] ſeeth it not.

* Levit. 26. 15. 25. Deut. 28. 15. 25.

* Ier. 14. 17. Chap. 1. 16.

‡ Or, brought up in their owne hands.

‡ Or, enemies, whom I feared.

[a] The Prophet complaineth of the puniſhments and afflictions that he endured by the falſe prophets and hypocrites, when hee declareth the deſtruction of Ieruſalem, as Ierem. 20. 2.

[b] He ſpeaketh this as one that felt Gods heavie judgements, which he greatly feared, and therefore ſetteth them out with this diverſitie of words.

[c] This is a great temptation to the godly, when they ſee not the fruit of their praiers, and cauſeth them to thinke that they are not heard, which thing God uſeth to doe, that they might pray more earneſtly and the oftner.

[d] And keepeth me in hold as a priſoner.

[e] He hath no pity on me.

‡ Ebr. ſonnes.

[f] With great anguiſh and ſorow he hath made me to loſe my ſenſe.

[g] Thus with paine he was driven to and fro betweene hope and deſpaire, as the godly oftimes are, yet in the end, the Spirit getteth the victory.

[h] He ſheweth that God thus uſeth to exercise his, to the intent that hereby they may know themſelves, and feele his mercy.

[i] Conſidering the wickedneſſe of man, it is marvaile that any remaineth alive: but onely that God for his own mercies ſake, and for his promiſe wil ever have his Church to remaine, though they bee never ſo few in number, Iſa. 1. 9.

[k] We feele thy benefits daily.

[l] The godly put their whole confidence in God, and therefore look for none other inheritance, as Pſal. 16. 5.

[m] He ſheweth that we can never begin too timely to be exerciſed under the croſſe, that when the afflictions grow greater, our patience alſo by experience may be ſtronger.

[n] He murmureth not againſt God, but is patient.

[o] Hee humbleth himſelfe as they that fall downe with their face to the ground, and ſo with patience waiteth for ſuccour.

[p] Hee taketh no pleaſure in it, but doth it of neceſſity for our amendment, when hee ſuffereth the wicked to oppreſſe the poore.

‡ Ebr. with his heart.

[q] He doth not delight therein.

37 Who is he then that ſaith, and it commeth to paſſe, and the Lord [r] commandeth it not?

[r] He ſheweth that nothing is done without Gods providence.

38 Out of the mouth of the moſt High proceedeth not [ſ] evill and good?

[ſ] That is, adverſitie, and proſperitie, Amos, 3. 6.

39 Wherefore then is the living [t] man ſorrowfull? man ſuffereth for his ſinne.

[t] When God afflicteth him.

40 Let us ſearch and trie our waies, and turne againe to the Lord.

41 Let us lift up our [v] hearts with our hands unto God in the heavens.

[v] That is, both hearts and hands: for els to lift up the hands is but hypocriſie.

42 We have ſinned, and have rebelled, therefore thou haſt not ſpared.

43 Thou haſt covered us with wrath, and perſecuted us: thou haſt ſlaine and not ſpared.

44 Thou haſt covered thy ſelfe with a cloud, that our praiers ſhould not paſſe through.

45 Thou haſt made us as the * off-ſcouring and refuſe in the mids of the people.

49 Mine eye droppeth without ſtay, and ceaſeth not,

50 Till the Lord looke downe, and behold from heaven.

51 Mine eye [x] breaketh mine heart, becauſe of all the daughters of my citie.

[x] I am overcome with ſore weeping for all my people.

52 Mine enemies chaſed me ſore like a bird, without cauſe.

53 They have ſhut up my life [y] in the dungeon: and caſt a ſtone upon me.

[y] Reade Ier. 37. 16. how he was in the mirie priſon.

54 Waters flowed over mine head, then thought I, I am deſtroyed.

55 I called upon thy Name, O Lord, out of the low dungeon.

56 Thou haſt heard my voice: ſtoppe not thine eare from my ſigh, and from my cry.

57 Thou dreweſt neere in the day that I called upon thee: thou ſaidſt, Feare not.

58 O Lord, thou haſt maintained the cauſe of my [z] ſoule, and haſt redeemed my life.

[z] Meaning, the cauſe wherefore his life was in danger.

59 O Lord, thou haſt ſeene my wrong, judge thou my cauſe.

60 Thou haſt ſeene al their vengeance, and all their deviſes againſt me.

61 Thou haſt heard their reproach, O Lord, and al their imaginations againſt me.

62 The lips alſo of thoſe that roſe againſt mee, and their whiſpering againſt me continually.

63 Behold, their ſitting downe and their riſing up, how I am their ſong.

64 * Give them a recompence, O Lord, according to the worke of their hands.

* Pſal. 28. 4.

65 Give them ‡ ſorrow of heart, even thy curſe to them.

‡ Or, an obſtinate heart.

66 Perſecute with wrath, and deſtroy them from under the heaven, O Lord.

CHAP. IV.

HOw is the [a] gold become ſo ‡ dim! the moſt fine gold is changed, and the ſtones of the Sanctuarie are ſcattered in the corner of every ſtreet.

[a] By the gold, he meaneth the Princes, as by the ſtones, he underſtandeth the Prieſts.

‡ Or, hid.

2 The noble ‡ men of Zion comparable to fine gold, how are they eſteemed as earthen [b] pitchers, even the worke of the hands of the potter!

[b] Which are of ſmall eſtimation, and have none honour.

3 Even the dragons [c] draw out the breaſts, and give ſucke to their young, but the daughter of my people is become cruel like the [d] Oſtriches in the wilderneſſe.

[c] Though the dragons be cruel, yet they pitie their yong, and nouriſh them, which thing Jeruſalem doth not.

[d] The women forſake their children, as the Oſtrich doth her egges, Iob 39. 17.

4 The tongue of the ſucking childe cleaveth to the roofe of his mouth for thirſt: the young children aske bread, but no man breaketh it unto them.

5 They that did feed delicately, periſh in the ſtreets: they that were brought up in Scarlet, embrace the dung.

6 For the iniquitie of the daughter of my people is become greater then the ſin of Sodom that was * deſtroied as in a moment, and ‡ none pitched camps againſt her.

‡ Or, no ſtrength was againſt her.

7 Her * Nazarites were purer then the ſnow, and whiter then the milke: they were more ruddy in body, then the redde precious ſtones: they were like poliſhed Saphir.

* Num. 6. 2.

8 Now their [e] viſage is blacker then a coale: they cannot know them in the ſtreets: their skin cleaveth to their bones: it is withered, like a ſtocke.

[e] They that were before moſt in Gods favour, are now in greateſt abomination unto him.

9 They that be ſlaine with the ſword, are better then they that are killed with hunger: for they fade away as they were ſtricken thorow for the [f] fruits of the field.

[f] For lacke of food they pine away & conſume.

10 The hands of the pitifull women have ſodden their owne children, which were their meat in the deſtruction of the daughter of my people.

11 The Lord hath accompliſhed his indignation: he hath powred out his fierce wrath, hee hath kindled a fire in Zion, which hath devoured the foundations thereof.

12 The kings of the earth, and all the inhabitants of the world would not have beleeved that the adverſarie and the enemie ſhould have entred into the gates of Jeruſalem:

13 For the ſinnes of her Prophets, and the iniquities of her Prieſts, that have ſhed the blood of the juſt in the mids of [g] her.

[g] Hee meaneth that theſe things are come to paſſe therefore, contrary to all mens expectations.

14 They have wandred as blinde men [h] in the ſtreets, and they were polluted with with blood, ſo that [i] they would not touch their garments.

15 But they cried unto them, Depart, ye poluted, depart, depart, touch not: therefore they fled away, and wandered: they have ſaid among the heathen, They ſhall no more dwell there.

16 The ‡ anger of the Lord hath ſcattered them, he will no more regard them: [k] they reverenced not the face of the Prieſts, nor had compaſſion of the Elders.

17 Whiles we waited for our vaine help our eyes failed: for in our waiting we looked for [l] a nation that could not ſave us.

18 They hunt our ſteps that we cannot goe in our ſtreets: our end is neere, our daies are fulfilled, for our end is come.

19 Our perſecuters are ſwifter then the Eagles of the heaven: they purſued us upon the mountaines, and laid wait for us in the wilderneſſe.

20 The [m] breath of our noſtrils, the Anointed of the Lord was taken in their nets, of whom we ſaid, Under his ſhadow we ſhall bee preſerved alive among the heathen.

21 Rejoice and be glad, [n] O daughter Edom, that dwelleſt in the land of Uz, the cup alſo ſhall paſſe through unto thee: thou ſhalt be drunken ‡ and vomit.

22 Thy puniſhment is accompliſhed, O daughter Zion: he [o] will no more cary thee away into captivitie, but he will viſit thine iniquitie, O daughter Edom, he will diſcover thy ſinnes.

Chap. V.

The praier of Ieremiah.

Remember, O Lord, what is come upon us: [a] conſider, and behold our reproch.

2 Our inheritance is turned to the ſtrangers, our houſes to the aliants.

3 We are fatherleſſe, even without father, and our mothers are as widowes.

4 We have drunken our [b] water for money, and our wood is ſold unto us.

5 Our necks are under perſecution, we are weary, and have no reſt.

6 We have given our [c] hands to the Egyptians, and to Aſſhur, to be ſatisfied with bread.

7 Our fathers have ſinned, and are not, and we have borne their [d] iniquities.

8 Servants have ruled over us, none would deliver us out of their hands.

9 We gate our bread with the perill of our lives, becauſe of the ſword [e] of the wilderneſſe.

10 Our skinne was blacke like as an oven, becauſe of the terrible famine.

11 They defiled the women in Zion, and the maides in the cities of Judah.

12 The princes are hanged up by [f] their hand, the faces of the Elders were not had in honour.

13 They took the yong men to grind, and the children fell under [g] the wood.

14 The Elders have ceaſed from the [h] gate, and the yong men from their ſongs.

15 The joy of our heart is gone, our dance is turned into mourning.

16 The crowne of our head is fallen: woe now unto us, that we have ſinned.

17 Therefore our heart is heavie for theſe things, our [i] eyes are dimme, 18 Becauſe of the mountaine of Zion which is deſolate: the foxes run upon it.

19 But thou, O Lord, remaineſt for [k] ever: thy throne from generation to generation.

20 Wherefore doeſt thou forget us for ever, and forſake us ſo long time?

21 [l] Turne thou us unto thee, O Lord, and we ſhall be turned: renew our daies as of old.

22 But thou haſt utterly rejected us: thou art exceedingly angry againſt us.

[i] Meaning, the heathen which came to deſtroy them, could not abide them.

‡ Or, face.

[k] That is, the enemies.

[l] He ſheweth two principall cauſes of their deſtruction: their cruelty, and their vaine confidēce in man: for they truſted in the helpe of the Egyptians.

[m] Our king Joſiah, in whom ſtood our hope of Gods favour, and on whom depended our ſtate & life, was ſlain, whom hee calleth anointed, becauſe he was a figure of Chriſt.

[n] This is ſpoken by deriſion.

‡ Or, ſhew thy nakedneſſe.

[o] He comforteth the Church by that, after ſeventie yeares their ſorrowes ſhall have an end, whereas the wicked ſhould be tormented for ever.

[a] This praier, as is thought, was made when ſome of the people were caried away captive, others, as the pooreſt remained, and ſome went into Egypt, and other places for ſuccour: albeit it ſeemeth that the Prophet foreſeeing their miſeries to come, thus praied.

[b] Meaning, their extream ſervitude and bondage.

[c] Wee are joined in league & amity with them, or have ſubmitted our ſelves unto them.

[d] As our fathers have beene puniſhed for their ſins, ſo wee that are culpable of the ſame ſinnes, are puniſhed.

[f] That is, by the enemies hand.

[g] Their ſlaverie was ſo great that they were not able to abide it.

[h] There were no more lawes, nor forme of common wealth.

[i] With weeping.

[k] And therefore thy covenant and mercies can never faile.

EZEKIEL.

The Argument.

After that Iehojachin, by the counſell of Ieremiah and Ezekiel, had yeelded himſelfe to Nebuchad-nezzar, and ſo went to captivitie with his mother, and divers of his princes, and of the people, certaine began to repent and murmure that they had obeied the Prophets counſell, as though the thing which they had propheſied ſhould not come to paſſe, and therefore their eſtate ſhould bee ſtill miſerable under the Caldeans, By reaſon whereof hee confirmeth his former propheſies, declaring by new viſions and revelations ſhewed unto him, that the citie ſhould moſt certainely be deſtroied, and the people grievouſly tormented by Gods plagues, inſomuch that they that remained, ſhould be brought into cruell bondage. And leſt the godly ſhould deſpaire in theſe great troubles, he aſſureth them that God will deliver his Church at his time appointed, and alſo deſtroy their enemies, which either afflicted them, or rejoiced in their miſeries, ſeries, The effect of the one and the other ſhould chiefly be performed under Chriſt, of whom in this booke are many notable promiſes, and in whom the glory of the new Temple ſhould perfectly be reſtored. Hee propheſied theſe things in Caldea, at the ſame time that Ieremiah propheſied in Iudah, and there began in the fift yeare of Iehojachins captivitie.

CHAP. I.

1 The time wherin Ezekiel propheſied, and in what place. 3 His kinred. 5 The viſion of the foure beaſts. 26 The viſion of the throne.

IT came to paſſe in the [a] thirtieth yeare, in the fourth moneth, and in the fift day of the month (as I was among the captives by the river [b] Chebar) that the heavens were opened, and I ſaw the viſions of [c] God.

2 In the fift day of the moneth (which was the fift yeare of King Joachins captivitie)

3 The word of the Lord came unto Ezekiel the Prieſt, the ſonne of Buzi, in the land of the Caldeans, by the river Chebar, where the [d] hand of the Lord was upon him.

4 And I looked, and behold, [e] a whirlewind came out of the North, a great cloud and a fire wrapped about it, and a brightneſſe was about it, and in the mids thereof, to wit, in the mids of the fire came out as the likeneſſe of ‡ amber.

5 Alſo out of the middes thereof came the likeneſſe of foure [f] beaſts, and this was their forme: they had the appearance of a man.

6 And every one had foure faces, and every one had foure wings.

7 And their feet were ſtreight feet, and the ſole of their feet, was like the ſole of a calves foot, and they ſparkled like the appearance of bright braſſe.

8 And the hands of a man came out from under their wings in the foure parts of them, and they foure had their faces and their wings.

9 They were [g] joyned by their wings one to another, and when they went forth, they returned not, but every one went ſtreight forward.

10 And the ſimilitude of their faces was as [h] the face of a man: and they foure had the face of a lion on the right ſide, and they foure had the face of a bullocke on the left ſide: they foure alſo had the face of an Eagle.

11 Thus were their faces: but their wings were ſpread out above: two wings of every one were joined one to another, and two covered their bodies.

12 And every one went ſtreight forward: they went whither their ‡ ſpirit led them, and they returned not when they went forth.

13 The ſimilitude alſo of the beaſts, and their appearance was like burning coales of fire, and like the appearance of lampes: for the fire ranne among the beaſts, and the fire gave a gliſter, and out of the fire there went lightning.

14 And the beaſts ranne, and [i] returned like unto lightning.

15 ¶ Now as I beheld the beaſts, behold, a wheele appeared upon the earth by the beaſts, having foure faces.

16 The faſhion of the wheeles and their worke was like unto a [k] Chryſolite: and they foure had one forme, and their faſhion, and their worke was as one wheele in another wheele.

17 When they went, they went upon their foure ſides, and they returned not when they went.

18 They had alſo ‡ rings, and height, and were fearefull to behold, and their rings were full of eies, round about them foure.

19 And when the beaſts went, the wheeles went with them: and when the beaſts were lift up from the earth, the wheeles were lift up.

26 Whither their ſpirit led them, they went, and thither did the ſpirit of the wheeles leade them, and the wheeles were lifted up beſides them: for the ſpirit of the beaſts was in the wheeles.

21 When the beaſts went, they went, and when they ſtood, they ſtood, and when they were lifted up from the earth, the wheeles were lifted up beſides them: for the ſpirit of the beaſts was in the wheeles.

22 And the ſimilitude of the firmament upon the heads of the beaſts was wonderfull, like unto Chryſtall, ſpread over their heads above.

23 And under the firmament were their wings ſtreight, the one toward another: every one had two, which covered them, and every one had two, which covered their bodies.

24 And when they went forth, I heard the noiſe of their [l] wings like the noiſe of great waters, and as the voice of the Almighty, even the voice of ſpeach, as the noiſe of an hoſte: and when they ſtood, they [m] let downe their wings.

25 And there was a voice from the firmament, that was over their heads, when they ſtood, and had let downe their wings.

26 And above the firmament that was over their heads, was the faſhion of a throne like unto a Saphire ſtone, and 27 And I ſaw as the appearance of amber, and as the ſimilitude of fire [n] round about within it to looke to, even from his loines upward: and to looke to, even from his loines downeward, I ſaw as a likeneſſe of fire, and brightneſſe round about it.

28 As the likenes of the bow that is in the cloud in the day of raine, ſo was the appearance of the light round about.

29 This was the appearance of the ſimilitude of the glory of the Lord: and when I ſaw it, I fell[o] upon my face, and I heard a voice of one that ſpake.

CHAP. II.

The Prophet is ſent to call the people from their errour.

AND[a] he ſaid unto me, [b] Sonne of man, ſtand up upon thy feet, and I will ſpeake unto thee.

2 [c] And the Spirit entred into me, when he had ſpoken unto me, and ſet me upon my feet, ſo that I heard him that ſpake unto me.

3 And he ſaid unto me, Sonne of man, I ſend thee to the children of Iſrael, to a rebellious nation, that hath rebelled againſt me: for they and their fathers have rebelled againſt mee, even unto this very day.

4 For they are ‡ impudent children, and ſtiffe hearted: I doe ſend thee unto them, and thou ſhalt ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord God.

5 But ſurely they will not heare, neither indeed will they ceaſe, for they are a rebellious houſe: yet ſhall they know that [d] there hath been a Prophet among them.

6 And thou ſon of man, [e] feare them not, neither be afraid of their words, although rebels, and thornes be with thee, and thou remaineſt with ſcorpions: feare not their words, nor bee afraid at their looks, for they are a rebellious houſe.

7 Therefore thou ſhalt ſpeake my words unto them: but ſurely they will not heare, neither will they indeed ceaſe: for they are rebellious.

8 But thou ſonne of man, heare what I ſay unto thee: be not thou rebellious, like this rebellious houſe: open thy mouth, and [f] eate that I give thee.

9 And when I looked up, behold, an hand was ſent unto me, and loe, a roule of a booke was therein.

10 And he ſpread it before me, and it was written within and without, and there was written therein, [g] Lamentations, and mourning, and woe.

CHAP. III.

1 The Prophet being fed with the word of God, and with the conſtant boldneſſe of the Spirit, is ſent unto the people that were in captivitie. 17 The office of true miniſters.

MOreover he ſaid unto me, Sonne of man, [a] eate that thou findeſt: eate this roule, and goe, and ſpeake unto the houſe of Iſrael.

2 So I opened my mouth, and hee gave me this roule to eat.

3 And he ſaid unto me, Son of man, cauſe thy belly to eat, and fill thy bowels with this roule that I give thee, Then did I eat it, and it was in my mouth as ſweet as honie.

4 And he ſaid unto me, Sonne of man, goe, and enter into the houſe of Iſrael, and declare them my words.

5 For thou art not ſent to a people of an ‡ unknowne tongue, or of an hard language, but to the houſe of Iſrael:

6 Not to many people of an unknown tongue, or of an hard language, whoſe words thou canſt not underſtand: yet if I ſhould ſend thee to them, they would obey thee.

7 But the houſe of Iſrael will not obey thee: for they will not obey me: yea, all the houſe of Iſrael are impudent and ſtiffe hearted.

8 Behold, I have made thy face [b] ſtrong againſt their faces, and thy forehead hard againſt their foreheads.

9 I have made thy forehead as the adamant, and harder then the flint: feare them not therefore, neither be afraid at their lookes: for they are a rebellious houſe.

10 He ſaid moreover unto me, Son of man, [c] receive in thine heart all my words that I ſpeake unto thee, and heare them with thine eares.

11 And goe, and enter to them that are led away captives unto the children of thy people, and ſpeake unto them, and tell them, Thus ſaith the Lord God: but ſurely they will not heare, neither will they indeed ceaſe.

12 Then the ſpirit tooke me up, and I heard behinde me a noiſe of a great ruſhing, ſaying, [d] Bleſſed bee the glory of the Lord out of his place.

13 I heard alſo the noiſe of the wings of the beaſts, that touched one another, and the ratling of the wheeles that were by them, even a noiſe of a great ruſhing.

14 So the Spirit lift me up, and tooke me away, and I [e] went in bitterneſſe, and indignation of my ſpirit, but the hand of the Lord was ſtrong upon me.

15 Then I came to them that were led away captives, to [f] Tel-abib, that dwelt by the river Chebar, and I ſate where they ſate, and remained there aſtoniſhed among them [g] ſeven daies.

[d] Whereby he ſignifieth that Gods glory ſhould not be diminiſhed although he departed out of his Temple: for this declared, that the citie and Temple ſhould be deſtroied.

18 When I ſhall ſay unto the wicked, Thou ſhalt ſurely die, and thou giveſt not him warning, nor ſpeake it to admoniſh the wicked of his wicked way, that he may live, the ſame wicked man ſhall die in his iniquity: but his blood will I require at thine hand.

19 Yet if thou warne the wicked, and he turne not from his wickedneſſe, nor from his wicked way, he ſhall die in his iniquity, but thou haſt delivered thy ſoule.

20 Likewiſe if a [i] righteous man turne from his righteouſneſſe, and commit iniquity, I will lay a [k] ſtumbling block before him, and he ſhall die, becauſe thou haſt not given him warning: he ſhall die in his ſin, and his [l] righteous deeds, which he hath done, ſhall not be remembred: but his blood will I require at thine hand.

21 Nevertheleſſe, if thou admoniſh that righteous man, that the righteous ſin not, and that he doth not ſin, he ſhall live becauſe he is admoniſhed: alſo thou haſt delivered thy ſoule.

22 And the [m] hand of the Lord was there upon me, and he ſaid unto me, Ariſe, and goe into the ‡ field, and I will there talke with thee.

23 So when I had riſen up, and gone forth into the field, behold, the [n] glory of the Lord ſtood there, as the glory which I ſaw by the river Chebar, and I fell down upon my face.

24 Then the Spirit entred into me, which [o] ſet me up upon my feet, and ſpake unto me, and ſaid to me, Come and [p] ſhut thy ſelfe within thine houſe.

25 But thou, O ſon of man, behold, they ſhall put bands upon thee, and ſhall binde thee with them, and thou ſhalt not goe out among them.

26 And I will make thy tongue [q] cleave to the roofe of thy mouth, that thou ſhalt be dumb, and ſhalt not be to them as a man that rebuketh: for they are a rebellious houſe.

The ſigne of the haires, whereby is ſignified the deſtruction of the people.

And thou ſonne of man, take thee a ſharp knife, or take thee a barbours raſour and cauſe it [a] to paſſe upon thine head, and upon thy beard: then take thee balances to weigh, and divide the haire.

2 Thou ſhalt burne with fire the third part in the midſt of [b] the city, when the daies of the ſiege are fulfilled, and thou ſhalt take the other third part, and ſmite about it with a knife, and the laſt third part thou ſhalt ſcatter in the winde, and I will draw out a ſword after them.

3 Thou ſhalt alſo take thereof a few in number, and binde them in thy [c] lap.

4 Then take of them againe and caſt them into the midſt of the fire, and burne them in the fire: [d] for thereof ſhall a fire come forth into all the houſe of Iſrael.

5 Thus ſaith the Lord God, This is Jeruſalem: I have ſet it in the midſt of the nations and countries, that are round about her.

6 And ſhe hath changed my [e] judgements into wickedneſſe more then the nations, & my ſtatutes more then the countries that are round about her, for they have refuſed my judgements and my ſtatutes, and they have not walked in them.

7 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, Becauſe your [f] multitude is greater then the nations that are round about you, and ye have not walked in my ſtatutes, neither have ye kept my judgements: no, ye have not done according to the judgements of the nations that are round about you,

8 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I, even I come againſt thee, and will execute judgement in the midſt of thee, even in the ſight of the nations.

9 And I will do in thee, that I never did before, neither will doe any more the like, becauſe of all thine abominations.

10 For in the midſt of thee, the fathers * ſhall eate their ſonnes, and the ſonnes ſhall eate their fathers, and I will execute judgement in thee, and the whole remnant of thee will I ſcatter into all the windes.

11 Wherefore, as I live, ſaith the Lord God, Surely, becauſe thou haſt defiled my Sanctuary with all thy filthineſſe, and with all thine abominations, therefore will I alſo deſtroy thee, neither ſhall mine eye ſpare thee, neither will I have any pity.

12 The third part of thee ſhall die with the peſtilence, and with famine ſhall they be conſumed in the midſt of thee: and another third part ſhall fall by the ſword round about thee: and I will ſcatter the laſt third part into all windes, and I will draw out a ſword after them.

13 Thus ſhall mine anger be accompliſhed, and I wil cauſe my wrath to ceaſe in them, and I will be [g] comforted: and they ſhall know, that I the Lord have ſpoken it in my zeale, when I have accompliſhed my wrath in them.

14 Moreover, I will make thee waſte, and abhorred among the nations that are round about thee, and in the ſight of all that paſſe by.

15 So thou ſhalt be a reproach and ſhame, a chaſtiſement and an aſtoniſhment unto the nations that are round about thee, when I ſhall execute judgements in thee, in anger and in wrath, and in ſharpe rebukes: I the Lord have ſpoken it.

16 When I ſhall ſend upon them the ‡ evill [h] arrows of famine, which ſhall be for their deſtruction, and which I will ſend to deſtroy you: and I will increaſe the famine upon you, and will break your ſtaffe of bread.

17 * So will I ſend upon you famine, and evill beaſts, and they ſhall ſpoile thee, and peſtilence and blood ſhall paſſe thorow thee, and I will bring the ſword upon thee: I the Lord have ſpoken it.

Chap. VI.

He ſheweth that Ieruſalem ſhall be deſtroyed for their idolatry. 8 He propheſieth the repentance of the remnant of the people, and their deliverance.

And by the ſcattering into the winde, thoſe that fled into Egypt and into other parts after the city was taken.

[c] Meaning, that a very few ſhould be left, which the Lord would preſerve among all theſe ſtormes, but not without troubles and triall.

[d] Out of that fire which thou kindleſt, ſhall a fire come, which ſhall ſignifie the deſtruction of Iſrael.

3 And ſay, Ye mountaines of Iſrael, heare the word of the Lord God: thus ſaith the Lord God to the [a] mountaines and to the hills, to the rivers and to the valleys, Behold, I, even I will bring a ſword upon you, and I will deſtroy your high places:

4 And your altars ſhall be deſolate, and your images of the [b] Sunne ſhall be broken: and I will caſt down your ſlaine men before your idols.

5 And I will lay the dead carkeiſes of the children of Iſrael before their [c] idols, and I will ſcatter your bones round about your altars.

6 In all your dwelling places the cities ſhall be deſolate, and the high places ſhall be laid waſte, ſo that your altars ſhall be made waſte and deſolate, and your idols ſhall be broken, and ceaſe, and your images of the Sun ſhall be cut in pieces, and your works ſhall be aboliſhed.

7 And the ſlaine ſhall fall in the midſt of you, and ye ſhall know that I am the Lord.

8 Yet will I leave a remnant, [d] that you may have ſome that ſhall eſcape the ſword among the nations, when you ſhall be ſcattered through the countries.

9 And they that eſcape of you, ſhall remember me among the nations, where they ſhall be in captivity, becauſe I am grieved for their whoriſh hearts, which have departed from me, and for their eyes, which have gone a whoring after their idols, and they [e] ſhall be diſpleaſed in themſelves for the evils which they have committed in all their abominations.

10 And they ſhall know that I am the Lord, and that I have not ſaid in vaine that I would do this evill unto them.

11 Thus ſaith the Lord God, [f] Smite with thine hand, and ſtretch forth with thy foot, and ſay, Alas, for all the wicked abominations of the houſe of Iſrael: for they ſhall fall by the ſword, by the famine, and by the peſtilence.

12 He that is far off ſhall die of the peſtilence, and he that is neere, ſhall fall by the ſword, and he that remaineth and is beſieged, ſhall die by the famine: thus will I accompliſh my wrath upon them.

13 Then [g] ye ſhall know, that I am the Lord, when their ſlaine men ſhall be among their idols round about their altars, upon every high hill in all the tops of the mountaines, and under every green tree, and under every thick oke, which is the place where they did offer ſweet ſavour to all their idols.

14 So will I * ſtretch mine hand upon them, and make the land waſte and deſolate [h] from the wilderneſſe unto Diblath in all their habitations, and they ſhal know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. VII.

The end of all the land of Iſrael ſhall ſuddenly come.

Moreover, the Word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying,

2 Alſo thou ſon of man, thus ſaith the Lord God, An end is come unto the land of Iſrael: the end is come upon the foure corners of the land.

3 Now is the end come upon thee, and I will ſend my wrath upon thee, and will judge thee according to thy waies, and wil lay upon thee all [a] thine abominations.

4 Neither ſhall mine eye ſpare thee, neither will I have pity: but I will lay thy waies upon thee: and thine abomination ſhall be in the midſt of thee, and ye ſhall know that I am the Lord.

5 Thus ſaith the Lord God, ‡ Behold, one evill, even one evill is come.

6 An end is come, the end is come, it [b] watched for thee: behold, it is come.

7 The [c] morning is come unto thee, that dwelleſt in the land: the time is come, the day of trouble is neare, and not the [d] ſounding againe of the moutaines.

8 Now I will ſhortly powre out my wrath upon thee, and fulfill mine anger upon thee: I will judge thee according to thy waies, and will lay upon thee all thine abominations.

9 Neither ſhall mine eye ſpare thee, neither will I have pity, but I will lay upon thee according to thy waies, and thine abominations ſhall be in the midſt of thee, and ye ſhall know that I am the Lord that ſmiteth.

10 Behold, the day, behold, it is come: the morning is gone forth, the [e] rod flouriſheth: [f] pride hath budded.

11 [g] Cruelty is riſen up into a rod of wickedneſſe: none of them ſhall remaine, nor of their riches, nor of any of theirs, neither ſhall there be [h] lamentation for them.

12 The time is come, the day draweth neare: let not the buyer [i] rejoyce, nor let him that ſelleth, [k] mourne: for the wrath is upon all the multitude thereof.

13 For he that ſelleth, ſhall not [l] returne to that which is ſold, although they were yet alive: for the [m] viſion was unto all the multitude thereof, and they returned not, [n] neither doth any encourage himſelfe in the puniſhment of his life.

14 [o] They have blowne the trumpet, and prepared all, but none goeth to the battell: for my wrath is upon all the multitude thereof.

[d] He ſheweth that in all dangers God will preſerve a few, vvhich ſhall be as the ſeed of his Church, & call upon his Name.

[e] They ſhall be aſhamed to ſee that their hope in idols was but vaine, and ſo ſhall repent.

[f] By theſe ſignes he would that the Prophet ſhould ſignifie the great deſtruction to come.

[g] That is, all nations, when you ſhal ſee my judgements.

* Chap. 5.14.

[h] Some read more deſolate then the wildernes of Diblath, which was in Syria, & bordered upon Iſrael, or from the wilderneſſe, which was South unto Diblath, which was North: meaning, the whole countrey.

[m] This viſion ſignified that all ſhould bee caried avvay, and none ſhould returne for the Jubile.

[n] No man, for all this, endeavoureth himſelfe, or taketh heart to repent for his evill life. Some read, for none ſhall be ſtrengthned in his iniquity of his life, meaning, that they ſhould gaine nothing by flattering themſelves in evill.

[o] The Iſraelites made a brag, but their hearts failed them.

15 The ſword is without, and the peſtilence, and the famine within: he that is in the field, ſhall die with the ſword, and he that is in the citie, famine and peſtilence ſhall devoure him.

16 But they that flee away from them, ſhall eſcape, and ſhall be in the mountaines, like the doves of the valleyes: all they ſhall mourne, everie one for his iniquitie.

17 * All hands ſhall be weake, and all knees ſhall fall away as water.

[t] That is, of ſins that deſerve death.

24 Wherefore I will bring the moſt wicked of the heathen: and they ſhall poſſeſſe their houſes: I will alſo make the pompe of the mightie to ceaſe, and their [v] holy places ſhall be defiled.

27 The king ſhall mourne, and the prince ſhall be clothed with deſolation, and the hands of the people in the land ſhall be troubled: I will doe unto them according to their waies, and according to their judgments will I judge them, and they ſhall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. VIII.

2 An appearance of the ſimilitude of God. 3 Ezekiel is brought to Ieruſalem in the ſpirit. 6 The Lord ſheweth the Prophet the idolatries of the houſe of Iſrael.

AND in the [a] ſixt yeere, in the [b] ſixt moneth, and in the fift day of the moneth, as I ſate in mine houſe, and the Elders of Judah ſate before me, the hand of the Lord God fell there upon me.

[b] Which contained part of Auguſt, and part of September.

2 Then I beheld, and loe: there was a likeneſſe, as the appearance of [c] fire, to looke to, from his loines downeward: and from his loines upward, as the appearance of brightneſſe, and like unto amber.

[c] As Chap. 1. 27.

3 And he ſtretched out the likeneſſe of an hand, and took me by an hairy lock of mine head, and the Spirit lift me up between the earth, and the heaven, and brought me ‡ by a Divine [d] viſion to Jeruſalem, into the entry of the inner [e] gate that lieth toward the North, where remained the idole of [f] indignation, which provoked indignation.

‡ Ebr. in the viſions of God

[d] Meaning, that he was thus caried in ſpirit, and not in bodie.

[e] Which was the porch or the court, where the people aſſembled.

[f] So called, becauſe it provoked Gods indignation, which was the idole of Baal.

4 And behold, the glory of the God of Iſrael was there according to the viſion, that I ſaw [g] in the field.

[g] Reade Chapt. 3. 22.

5 Then ſaid he unto me, Sonne of man, lift up thine eies now toward the North. So I lift up mine eies toward the North, and behold, Northward, at the gate of the [h] altar, this idole of indignation was in the entry.

[h] That is, in the court where the people had made an altar to Baal.

6 He ſaid furthermore unto me, Sonne of man, ſeeſt thou not what they doe? even the great abominations that the houſe of Iſrael committeth here to cauſe mee to depart from [i] my Sanctuary? but yet turn thee and thou ſhalt ſee greater abominations.

[i] For God will not bee where idoles are.

7 And he cauſed me to enter at the gate of the court: and when I looked, behold, an hole was in the wall.

8 Then ſaid he unto me, Sonne of man, dig now in the wall. And when I had digged in the wall, behold, there was a doore.

9 And he ſaid unto me, Goe in, and behold the wicked abominations that they doe here.

10 So I went in, and ſaw, and behold, there was every ſimilitude of creeping things and [k] abominable beaſts, and all the idoles of the houſe of Iſrael, painted upon the wall round about.

[k] Which were forbidden in the Law, Levit. 11. 4.

11 And there ſtood before them ſeventie [l] men of the ancients of the houſe of Iſrael, and in the mids of them ſtood Jaazaniah, the Sonne of Shaphan, with every man his cenſer in his hand, and the vapour of the incenſe went up like [m] a cloud.

[l] Thus they that ſhould have kept all the reſt in the feare and true ſervice of God, were the ring-leaders to all abomination, and by their example pulled others from God.

[m] It was in ſuch abundance.

12 Then ſaid he unto me, Sonne of man, haſt thou ſeen what the ancients of the houſe of Iſrael [n] doe in the darke, every one in the chamber of his imagery? for they ſay, The Lord ſeeth us not, the Lord hath forſaken the earth.

[n] For beſides their common idolatrie, they had particular ſervice, which they had in ſecret chambers.

13 Againe, he ſaid alſo unto me, Turne thee again, and thou ſhalt ſee greater abominations that they doe.

14 And he cauſed me to enter into the entry of the gate of the Lords houſe, which was toward the North: and behold, there ſate women mourning [o] for Tammuz.

15 Then ſaid he unto me, Haſt thou ſeene this, O ſonne of man? Turne thee againe, and thou ſhalt ſee greater abominations then theſe.

16 And he cauſed me to enter into the inner court of the Lords houſe, and behold, at the doore of the Temple of the Lord, between the porch and the altar were about five and twenty men with their backes toward the Temple of the Lord, and their faces toward the Eaſt, and they worſhipped the ſunne toward the Eaſt.

17 Then he ſaid unto me, Haſt thou ſeen this, O ſonne of man? Is it a ſmall thing to the houſe of Judah to commit theſe abominations which they doe here? for they have filled the land with crueltie, and have returned to provoke me: and loe, they have caſt out [p] ſtinke before their noſes.

18 Therefore will I alſo execute my wrath: mine eye ſhall not ſpare them: neither will I have pitie, and * though they crie in mine eares with a loud voice, yet will I not heare them.

Chap. IX.

1 The deſtruction of the citie. 4 They that ſhall be ſaved, are marked. 8 A complaint of the Prophet for the deſtruction of the people.

He cried alſo with a loud voice in mine eares, ſaying, The viſitations of [a] the citie draw neere, and every man hath a weapon in his hand to deſtroy it.

2 And behold, ſixe [b] men came by the way of the high gate, which lieth toward the [c] North, and every man a weapon in his hand, to deſtroy it: and one man among them was clothed with linnen, with a writers [d] Inke-horne by his ſide, and they went in and ſtood beſide the braſen altar.

3 And the glory of the God of Iſrael was [e] gone up from the Cherub, whereupon he was, and ſtood on ‡ the doore of the houſe, and he called to the man clothed with linnen, which had the writers Inke-horne by his ſide.

4 And the Lord ſaid unto him, Goe through the mids of the citie, even through the mids of Jeruſalem, and ſet a ‡ marke upon the foreheads of them that [f] mourn: and cry for all the abominations that be done in the mids thereof.

5 And to the other he ſaid, that I might heare, Goe ye after him through the citie, and ſmite: let your eye ſpare none, neither have pitie.

6 Deſtroy utterly the old, and the young, and the maides, and the children, and the women, but touch no man, upon whom is the [g] marke, and begin at my Sanctuary. Then they began at the [h] ancient men, which were before the houſe.

7 And he ſaid unto them, Defile the houſe, and fill the courts with the ſlaine, then goe forth: and they went out, and ſlew them in the citie.

8 Now when they had ſlaine them, and I had eſcaped, I fell downe upon my face, and cried, ſaying, [i] Ah Lord God, wilt thou deſtroy all the reſidue of Iſrael, in powring out thy wrath upon Jeruſalem?

9 Then ſaid he unto me, The iniquity of the houſe of Iſrael and Judah is exceeding great, ſo that the land is [k] full of blood, and the citie full of corrupt judgement: for they ſay, The Lord hath forſaken the earth, and the Lord ſeeth us not.

10 As touching me alſo, mine eye ſhall not ſpare them, neither will I have pitie, but wil recompenſe their waies upon their heads.

11 And behold, the man clothed with linnen which had the Inke-horne by his ſide, made report, and ſaid, Lord, I have done as thou haſt commanded me.

Chap. X.

1 Of the man that tooke hot burning coales out of the middle of the wheeles of the Cherubims. 8 A rehearſall of the viſion of the wheeles, of the beaſts, and of the Cherubims.

And as I looked, behold, in the * firmament that was above the head of the [a] Cherubims, there appeared upon them like unto the ſimilitude of a throne, as it were a ſaphir ſtone.

2 And he ſpake unto the man clothed with linnen, and ſaid, Go in between the wheels, even under the Cherub, and fill thine hands with coles of fire from between the Cherubims, and ſcatter them over [b] the city. And he went in, in my ſight.

3 Now the Cherubims ſtood upon the right ſide of the houſe, when the man went in, and the cloud filled the inner court.

4 Then the glory of the Lord [c] went up from the Cherub, and ſtood over the doore of the houſe, and the houſe was filled with the cloud, and the court was filled with the brightneſſe of the Lords glory.

5 And the [d] ſound of the Cherubims wings was heard into the utter court, as the voice of the Almighty God, when he ſpeaketh.

[i] That is, the whole body of the foure beaſts or Cherubims.

21 Every one had foure faces, and every one foure wings, and the likeneſſe of mans hands was under their wings.

22 And the likeneſſe of their faces was the ſelfe ſame faces, which I ſaw by the river Chebar, and the appearance of the Cherubims was the ſelfe ſame, and they went every one ſtraight forward.

Chap. XI.

1 Who they were that ſeduced the people of Iſrael. 5 Againſt theſe he propheſieth, ſhewing them how they ſhall be diſperſed abroad. 19 The renewing of the heart commeth of God. 21 He threatneth them that leane unto their owne counſels.

MOreover, the Spirit lift me up, and brought me unto the Eaſt gate of the Lords Houſe, which lieth Eaſtward, and behold, at the entry of the gate were five and twenty men: among whom I ſaw Jaazaniah the ſonne of Azur, and Pelatiah the ſonne of Benajah, the princes of the people.

2 Then ſaid he unto me, Son of man, theſe are the men that imagine miſchiefe, and deviſe wicked counſell in this citie.

3 For they ſay, [a] It is not neere, let us build houſes: this citie is the [b] cauldron, and we be the fleſh.

[a] Thus the wicked derided the Prophets, as though they preached but errours, and therefore gave themſelves ſtill to their pleaſures.

[b] We ſhall not be pulled out of Jeruſalem, till the houre of our death come, as the fleſh is not taken out of the cauldron till it be ſod.

4 Therefore propheſie againſt them, ſonne of man propheſie.

5 And the ſpirit of the Lord fell upon me, and ſaid unto me, Speake, Thus ſaith the Lord, O ye houſe of Iſrael, this have ye ſaid, and I know that which riſeth up of your mindes.

6 Many have ye murthered in this citie, and ye have filled the ſtreets thereof with the ſlaine.

7 Therfore thus ſaith the Lord God, They that ye have ſlaine and have laid in the mids of it, they are [c] the fleſh, and this citie is the cauldron, but I will bring you forth of the mids of it.

[c] Contrary to their vaine confidence, he ſheweth in what ſenſe this citie is the cauldron: that is, becauſe of the dead bodies that have beene murthered therin, and ſo lie as fleſh in the cauldron.

8 Ye have feared the ſword, and I will bring a ſword upon you ſaith the Lord God.

9 And I will bring you out of the mids thereof, and deliver you into the [d] hands of ſtrangers, and will execute judgements among you.

[d] That is, of the Caldeans.

10 Ye ſhall fall by the ſword, and I will judge you in the border of [e] Iſrael, and ye ſhall know that I am the Lord.

[e] That is, in Riblah, reade 2 King. 25. 6.

11 This citie ſhall not be your cauldron, neither ſhall you be the fleſh in the mids thereof, but I will judge you in the border of Iſrael,

12 And ye ſhall know that I am the Lord: for ye have not walked in my ſtatutes, neither executed my judgments, but have done after the manners of the heathen, that are round about you.

13 ¶ And when I propheſied, Pelatiah the ſonne of [f] Benajah died: then fell I downe upon my face, and cried with a loud voice, and ſaid, Ah Lord God, wilt thou then utterly deſtroy all the remnant of Iſrael?

14 Againe, the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying,

15 Sonne of man, thy [g] brethren, even thy brethren, the men of thy kinred, and all the houſe of Iſrael, wholy are they unto whom the inhabitants of Jeruſalem have ſaid, Depart yee farre from the Lord: for the Land is given us in poſſeſſion.

16 Therefore ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Although I have caſt them farre off among the heathen, and although I have ſcattered them among the countries: yet will I bee to them as a little [h] Sanctuarie in the Countries where they ſhall come.

17 Therefore ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord God, I will gather you againe from the people, and aſſemble you out of the countries where you have beene ſcattered, and I will give you the land of Iſrael.

18 And they ſhall come thither, and they ſhall take away all the idols thereof, and all the abominations thereof from thence.

19 * And I will give them one heart, and I will put a new ſpirit within their bowels: and I will take the [i] ſtonie heart out of their bodies, and will give them an heart of fleſh,

20 That they may walke in my ſtatutes, and keep my judgements, and execute them: and they ſhall be my people, and I will be their God.

21 But upon them, whoſe heart is toward their idoles, and whoſe affection goeth after their abominations, I will lay their way upon their owne heads, ſaith the Lord God.

22 ¶ Then did the Cherubims lift up their wings, and the wheeles beſides them, and the glorie of the God of Iſrael was upon them on high.

23 And the glorie of the Lord went up from the mids of the citie, and ſtood upon the mountaine which is toward the Eaſt ſide of the citie.

24 Afterward the Spirit tooke me up, and brought me in a viſion by the ſpirit of God into Caldea to them that were led away captives: ſo the viſion that I had ſeene, went up from me.

25 Then I declared unto them that were [k] led away captives, all the things that the Lord had ſhewed me.

[f] It ſeemeth that this noble man died of ſome terrible death, and therefore the Prophet feared ſome ſtrange judgment of God toward the reſt of the people.

[g] They that remained ſtill at Jeruſalem, thus reproched them that were gone into captivitie, as though they were caſt off and forſaken of God.

[h] They ſhalbe yet a little Church: ſhewing that the Lord will ever have ſome to call upon his Name, whom hee will preſerve and reſtore, though they be for a time afflicted.

* Ier. 32.29. Chap. 36.26.

[i] Meaning, the heart whereunto nothing can enter, and regenerate them anew, ſo that their heart may be ſoft, and ready to receive my graces.

[k] When Jeconiah was led away captive.

Chap. XII.

1 The parable of the captivitie. 18 Another parable, whereby the diſtreſſe of hunger and thirſt is ſignified.

The word of the Lord alſo came unto me, ſaying,

2 Sonne of man, thou dwelleſt in the mids of a rebellious houſe, which have eies to ſee, and ſee [a] not: they have eares to heare, and heare not: for they are a rebellious houſe.

3 Therefore thou ſonne of man, ‡ prepare thy ſtuffe to goe into captivity, and goe forth by day in their ſight: and thou ſhalt paſſe from thy place to another place in their ſight, if it be poſſible that they may conſider it: for they are a rebellious houſe.

4 Then ſhalt thou bring forth thy ſtuffe by day in their ſight as the ſtuffe of him that goeth into captivitie: and thou ſhalt go forth at even in their ſight, as they that goe forth into captivitie.

5 Dig thou through the wall in their ſight, and carie out thereby.

6 In their ſight ſhalt thou beare it upon thy ſhoulders, and carie it forth in the darke: thou ſhalt cover thy face that thou ſee not the earth: for I have ſet thee as a [b] ſigne unto the houſe of Iſrael.

7 And as I was commanded, ſo I brought forth my ſtuffe by day, as the ſtuffe of one that goeth into captivitie: and by night I digged through the wall with mine hand, and brought it forth in the darke, and I beare it upon my ſhoulder in their ſight.

8 And in the morning came the word of the Lord unto me, ſaying,

9 Sonne of man, hath not the houſe of Iſrael, the rebellious houſe, ſaid unto thee, What [c] doſt thou?

10 But ſay thou unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord God, This ‡ burden concerneth the chiefe in Jeruſalem, and all the houſe of Iſrael that are among them.

11 Say, I am your ſigne: like as I have done, ſo ſhall it be done unto them: they ſhall goe into bondage and captivitie.

12 And the chiefeſt that is among them, ſhall beare upon his ſhoulder in the darke, and ſhall goe forth: they ſhall dig through the wall, to carrie out thereby: he ſhall cover his face, that he ſee not the ground with his eies.

13 My net will I alſo ſpread [d] upon him, and he ſhall be taken in my net, and I will bring him to Babel to the land of the Caldeans, yet ſhal he not ſee it, though he ſhall die there.

14 And I will ſcatter toward everie winde all that are about him to help him, and all his gariſons, and I will draw

[a] That is, they receive not the fruit of that which they ſee and heare.

‡ Ebr make thee veſſels to goe into captivitie.

[b] That as thou doſt, ſo ſhall they doe, and therefore in thee they ſhall ſee their owne plague and puniſhment.

[c] Doe not they deride thy doings?

[d] When the King ſhall thinke to eſcape by fleeing, I will take him in my net, as Chap. 17.20. and 32.3.

out the ſword after them.

15 And they ſhall know that I am the Lord, when I ſhall ſcatter them among the nations, and diſperſe them in the countries.

16 But I will leave a [e] little number of them from the ſword, from the famine, and from the peſtilence, that they may declare all theſe abominations among the heathen, where they come, and they ſhall know that I am the Lord.

17 ¶ Moreover, the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying,

18 Sonne of man, eat thy bread with trembling, and drinke thy water with trouble, and with carefulneſſe,

19 And ſay unto the people of the land: Thus ſaith the Lord God of the inhabitants of Jeruſalem, and of the land of Iſrael, They ſhall eate their bread with carefulneſſe, and drinke their water with deſolation: for the land ſhall be deſolate from her abundance becauſe of the crueltie of them that dwell therein.

20 And the cities that are inhabited, ſhall be left void, and the land ſhall be deſolate, and yee ſhall know that I am the Lord.

21 ¶ And the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying,

22 Sonne of man, what is that proverbe that you have in the land of Iſrael, ſaying, The daies [f] are prolonged, and all viſions ‡ faile?

23 Tell them therefore, Thus ſaith the Lord God, I will make this proverbe to ceaſe, and they ſhall no more uſe it as a proverbe in Iſrael: but ſay unto them, the daies are at hand, and the effect of everie viſion.

24 For no viſion ſhall be any more in vaine, neither ſhall there be any flattering divination within the houſe of Iſrael.

25 For I am the Lord: I will ſpeake, and that thing that I ſhall ſpeake, ſhall come to paſſe: it ſhall be no more prolonged: for in your daies, O rebellious houſe, will I ſay the things, and will performe it, ſaith the Lord God.

26 Againe, the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying,

27 Sonne of man, behold, they of the houſe of Iſrael ſay, The viſion that he ſeeeth, is for [g] many daies to come, and he propheſieth of the times that are farre off.

28 Therefore ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord God, All my words ſhall no longer be delayed, but that thing which I have ſpoken, ſhall bee done, ſaith the Lord God.

Chap. XIII.

2 The word of the Lord againſt falſe prophets, which teach the people the counſels of their owne hearts.

And the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying,

2 Sonne of man, propheſie againſt the prophets of * Iſrael, that propheſie, and ſay thou unto them, that propheſie out of their [a] owne hearts, Heare the word of the Lord.

3 Thus ſaith the Lord God, Woe unto the fooliſh prophets that follow their owne ſpirit, and have ſeene nothing.

4 O Iſrael, thy prophets are like the foxes [b] in the waſte places.

5 [c] Ye have not riſen up in the gaps, neither made up the hedge for the houſe of Iſrael, to ſtand in the battell in the day of the Lord.

6 They have ſeene vanitie, and lying divination, ſaying, the Lord ſaith it, and the Lord hath not ſent them: and they have made others to hope that they would confirme the word of their propheſie.

7 Have ye not ſeene a vaine viſion? and have ye not ſpoken a lying divination? [d] ye ſay, The Lord ſaith it, albeit I have not ſpoken.

8 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, Becauſe ye have ſpoken vanitie and have ſeene lies, therefore behold, I am againſt you, ſaith the Lord God.

9 And mine hand ſhall be upon the prophets that ſee vanitie, and divine lies: they ſhall not be in the aſſemblie of my people, neither ſhall they be written in the [e] writing of the houſe of Iſrael, neither ſhall they enter into the land of Iſrael: and ye ſhall know that I am the Lord God.

10 And therefore, becauſe they have deceived my people, ſaying, [f] Peace, and there was no peace: and one built up a [g] wall: and behold, the others daubed it with untempered morter,

11 Say unto them which daub it with untempered morter, that it ſhall fall: for there ſhall come a great ſhowre, and I will ſend hail-ſtones, which ſhall cauſe it to fall, and a ſtormy wind ſhall break it.

12 Loe, when the wall is falne, ſhall it not bee ſaid unto you, Where is the daubing wherewith ye have daubed it?

13 Therfore thus ſaith the Lord God, I will cauſe a ſtormie winde to break forth in my wrath, and a great ſhowre ſhall be in mine anger, and haile-ſtones in mine indignation to conſume it.

14 So I will deſtroy the wall that yee have daubed with untempered morter, and bring it downe to the ground, ſo that the foundation thereof ſhall be diſcovered, and it ſhall fall, and ye ſhall be conſumed in the mids thereof, and ye ſhall know, that I am the Lord.

15 Thus will I accompliſh my wrath

[e] Which ſhould beare his Name, and ſhould be his Church, reade Chap. 11. 16.

[f] Becauſe they did not immediately ſee the propheſies accompliſhed, they contemned them as though they ſhould never be fulfilled.

‡ Or, take none effect.

[g] That is, it ſhall not come to paſſe in our daies, and therefore we care not for it: thus the wicked ever abuſe Gods patience and benignitie.

* Chap. 14. 9.

[a] After their own fantaſie, and not as having the revelation of the Lord, Jer. 23. 16.

[b] Watching to deſtroy the vineyard.

[c] He ſpeaketh to the governors and true miniſters that ſhould have reſiſted them.

[d] Yee promiſed peace to this people, and now yee ſee their deſtruction, ſo that it is manifeſt, that ye are falſe prophets.

[f] Reade Jerem. 6. 14.

[g] Whereas the true Prophets propheſied the deſtruction of the citie to bring the people to repentance, the falſe prophets ſpake the contrary, and flattered them in their vanities, ſo that what one falſe prophet ſaid, (which is here called the building of the wall) another falſe prophet would affirme, though hee had neither occaſion nor good ground to beare him.

upon the wall, and upon them that have daubed it with [h] untempered morter, and will ſay unto you, The wall is no more, neither the daubers thereof,

16 To wit, the Prophets of Iſrael, which propheſie upon Jeruſalem, and ſee viſions of peace for it, and there is no peace, ſaith the Lord God.

17 Likewiſe thou ſonne of man, ſet thy face againſt the daughters of thy people, which propheſie out of their owne heart: and propheſie thou againſt them, and ſay,

18 Thus ſaith the Lord God, Woe unto the women that ſow [i] pillowes under all arme-holes, and make vailes upon the head of everie one that ſtandeth up to hunt ſoules: will ye hunt the ſoules of my people, and will ye give life to the ſoules that come unto you?

19 And will ye polute me among my people, for handfuls of [k] barley, and for pieces of bread to ſlay the ſoules of them that ſhould not die, and [l] to give life to the ſoules that ſhould not live in lying to my people, that heare your lies?

20 Wherefore thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I will have to doe with your pillowes, wherewith ye hunt the [m] ſoules to make them to flie, and I will teare them from your armes, and will let the ſoules goe, even the ſoules, that ye hunt to make them to flie.

21 Your vailes alſo will I teare, and deliver my people out of your hand, and they ſhall be no more in your hands to be hunted, and ye ſhall know that I am the Lord.

22 Becauſe with your eyes yee have made the heart of the [n] righteous ſad, whom I have not made ſad, and ſtrengthened the hands of the wicked, that he ſhould not returne from his wicked way, by promiſing him life,

23 Therefore ye ſhall ſee no more vanitie, nor divine divinations: for I will deliver my people out of your hand, and ye ſhall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XIV.

4 The Lord ſendeth falſe prophets for the ingratitude of the people. 22 He reſerveth a ſmall portion for his Church.

THen came certaine of the Elders of Iſrael unto me, and [a] ſate before me.

2 And the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying,

3 Sonne of man, theſe men have ſet up their idoles in their [b] heart, and put the ſtumbling blocke of their iniquitie before *their face: ſhould I, being required, anſwer them?

4 Therefore ſpeake unto them, and ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Everie man of the houſe of Iſrael that ſetteth up his idoles in his heart, and putteth the ſtumbling blocke of his iniquitie before his face, and commeth to the [c] Prophet, I the Lord will anſwer him that commeth, according to the multitude [d] of his idoles.

5 That [e] I may take the houſe of Iſrael in their owne heart, becauſe they are all departed from mee through their idoles.

6 Therefore ſay unto the houſe of Iſrael, thus ſaith the Lord God, Returne, and withdraw your ſelves, and turn your faces from your idoles, and turne your faces from all your abominations.

7 For every one of the houſe of Iſrael, or of the ſtranger that ſojourneth in Iſrael, which departeth from me, and ſetteth up his idoles in his heart, and putteth the ſtumbling blocke of his iniquitie before his face, and commeth to a Prophet, for to inquire of him for me, I the Lord will anſwer him ‡ for my ſelfe,

8 And I will ſet my face againſt that man, and will make him an example and proverbe, and I will cut him off from the mids of my people, and ye ſhall know that I am the Lord.

9 And if the Prophet be [f] deceived, when he hath ſpoken a thing, I the Lord have deceived that Prophet, and I will ſtretch out mine hand upon him, and will deſtroy him from the mids of my people of Iſrael.

10 And they ſhall beare their puniſhment: the puniſhment of the Prophet ſhall be even as the puniſhment of him that asketh,

11 That the houſe of Iſrael [g] may goe no more aſtray from me, neither be poluted any more with all their tranſgreſſions, but that they may be my people, and I may be their God, ſaith the Lord God.

12 ¶ The word of the Lord came againe unto me, ſaying,

13 Sonne of man, when the land ſinneth againſt me by committing a treſpaſſe, then will I ſtretch out mine hand upon it, * and will breake the ſtaffe of the bread thereof, and will ſend famine upon it, and I will deſtroy man and beaſt forth of it.

14 Though theſe three men, [i] Noah, Daniel, and Job were among them, they ſhould deliver but their owne ſoules by their [k] righteouſneſſe, ſaith the Lord God.

* 15 If I bring noiſome beaſts into the land, and they ſpoile it, ſo that it bee

[h] Whereby is meant, whatſoever man of himſelfe ſetteth forth under the authoritie of Gods word.

[i] Theſe ſuperſtitious women for lucre would propheſie, and tell every man his fortune, giving them pillowes to leane upon, and kerchiefes to cover their heads, to the intent they might the more allure them and bewitch them.

[k] Will yee make my word to ſerve your bellies?

[l] Theſe ſorcerers made the people beleeve that they could preſerve life, or deſtroy it, and that it ſhould come to everie one according as they propheſied.

[m] That is, to cauſe them to periſh, and that they ſhould depart frō the bodie.

[n] By threatning them that were godly, and upholding the wicked.

[a] He ſheweth, the hypocriſie of the idolaters, who will diſſemble to heare the Prophets of God, though in their heart they follow nothing leſſe then their admonitions, and alſo how by one meanes or other, God doth diſcover them.

[b] They are not onely idolaters in heart, but alſo worſhip their filthy idols openly, which lead them in blindneſſe, and cauſe them to ſtumble, and caſt them out of Gods favor, ſo that he will not heare them when they call unto him, reade Jer. 16. 15.

[c] To enquire of things which the Lord hath appointed to come to paſſe.

[d] As his abomination hath deſerved, that is, hee ſhall be led with lies, according as he delighted therein, 2 Theſ. 2. 10.

[e] That is, convince them by their owne conſcience.

[f] The Prophet declareth, that God, for mans ingratitude, raiſeth up falſe Prophets to ſeduce them that delight in lies, rather then in the truth of God, and thus he puniſheth ſin by ſin, 1 Kings 22. 20. 22. and deſtroieth as well thoſe Prophets as that people.

[g] Thus Gods judgments againſt the wicked, are admonitions to the godly, to cleave unto the Lord, and not to defile themſelves with like abominations.

[h] Reade Chapt. 4. 16, and 5. 17. Iſa. 3. 1.

[i] Though Noah and Job were now alive, which in their time were moſt godly men (for at this time Daniel was in captivitie with Ezekiel) and theſe three together ſhould pray for this wicked people, yet would I not heare them, reade Jer. 15. 1.

[k] Meaning, that a very few (which he calleth the remnant, verſ. 22.) ſhould eſcape theſe plagues, whom God hath ſanctified & made righteous, ſo that this righteouſneſſe is a ſign that they are the Church of God, whom he would preſerve for his own ſake.

deſolate, that no man may paſſe through becauſe of beaſts,

16 Though theſe three men were in the midſt thereof, as I live, ſaith the Lord God, they ſhall ſave neither ſonnes nor daughters: they onely ſhall be delivered, but the land ſhall be waſte.

17 Or if I bring a ſword upon this land, and ſay, Sword, goe through the land, ſo that I deſtroy man and beaſt out of it, 18 Though theſe three men were in the midſt thereof, As I live ſaith the Lord God, they ſhall deliver neither ſonnes nor daughters, but they onely ſhall be delivered themſelves.

19 Or if I ſend a peſtilence into this land, and powre out my wrath upon it in blood, to deſtroy out of it man and beaſt,

20 And though Noah, Daniel and Job were in the midſt of it, As I live, ſaith the Lord God, they ſhall deliver neither ſon nor daughter: they ſhall but deliver their own ſoules by their righteouſneſſe.

21 For thus ſaith the Lord God, How much more when I ſend my * foure ſore judgements upon Jeruſalem, even the ſword, and famine, and the noiſome beaſt and peſtilence, to deſtroy man and beaſt out of it?

* Chap. 5. 17.

22 Yet behold, therein ſhall be left a [l] remnant of them that ſhall be caried away both ſons and daughters: behold, they ſhall come forth unto you, and ye ſhall ſee their way, and their enterpriſes: and ye ſhall be comforted, concerning the evill that I have brought upon Jeruſalem, even concerning all that I have brought upon it.

[l] Read Chap. 5. 3.

23 And they ſhall comfort you, when ye ſee their way and their enterpriſes: and ye ſhall know, that I have not done without cauſe all that I have done in it, ſaith the Lord God.

CHAP. XV.

As the unprofitable wood of the vine tree is caſt into the fire, ſo Ieruſalem ſhall be burnt.

AND the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying,

2 Sonne of man what commeth of the vine tree above all other trees? and of the vine branch which is among the [a] trees of the forreſt?

[a] Which bringeth forth no fruit, no more then the other trees of the forreſt doe: meaning, that if Ieruſalem, which bare the name of his Church, did not bring forth fruit, it ſhould bee utterly deſtroied.

3 Shall wood be taken thereof to do any worke? or will men take a pin of it to hang any veſſell thereon?

4 Behold, it is caſt in the fire to be conſumed: the fire conſumeth both the ends of it, and the midſt of it is burnt. Is it meet for any worke?

5 Behold, when it was whole, it was meet for no worke: how much leſſe ſhall it be meet for any worke, when the fire hath conſumed it, and it is burnt?

6 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, As the vine tree, that is among the trees of the forreſt, which I have given to the fire to be conſumed, ſo will I give the inhabitants of Jeruſalem.

7 And I will ſet my face againſt them: they ſhall go out from one [b] fire, and another fire ſhall conſume them: and ye ſhall know, that I am the Lord, when I ſet my face againſt them,

[b] Though they eſcape one danger, yet another ſhall take them.

8 And when I make the land waſte, becauſe they have greatly offended, ſaith the Lord God.

CHAP. XVI.

The Prophet declareth the benefits of God toward Ieruſalem. 15 Their unkindneſſe. 46 He juſtifieth the wickedneſſe of other people in compariſon of the ſinnes of Ieruſalem. 49 The cauſe of the abominations into the which the Sodomites fell. 60 Mercy is promiſed to the repentant.

AGaine, the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying,

2 Son of man, cauſe Jeruſalem to know her abominations,

3 And ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord God unto Jeruſalem, Thine habitation and thy kinred is of the land [a] of Canaan: thy father was an Ammonite, and thy mother an Hittite.

4 And in thy nativity when thou waſt [b] borne, thy navill was not cut: thou waſt not waſhed in water to ſoften thee: thou waſt not ſalted with ſalt, nor ſwadled in clouts.

[a] Thou boaſteſt t be of the ſeed of Abraham, but tho art degenerate and followeſt the abominations of the wicked Canaanites, as childre do the manners o their fathers, Iſa 14. and 57.3.

[b] When I firſt brought thee ou of Egypt, and plan ted thee in thi land to bee t Church.

5 None eye pittied thee to do any of theſe unto thee, for to have compaſſion upon thee, but thou waſt caſt out in the open field to the contempt of thy perſon in the day that thou waſt borne.

6 And when I paſſed by thee, I ſaw thee poluted in thine [c] own blood, and I ſaid unto thee, when thou waſt in thy blood, Thou ſhalt live: even when thou waſt in thy blood, I ſaid unto thee, Thou ſhalt live.

7 I have cauſed thee to multiply as the bud of the field, and thou haſt increaſed and waxen great, and thou haſt gotten excellent ornaments: thy breaſts are faſhioned, thine haire is grown, whereas thou waſt naked and bare.

8 Now when I paſſed by thee, and looked upon thee, behold, thy time was as the time of love, and I ſpread my skirts over thee, and covered [d] thy filthineſſe: yea, I ſware unto thee, and entred into a covenant with [e] thee, ſaith the Lord God, and thou becameſt mine.

9 Then waſhed I thee with [f] water: yea, I waſhed away thy blood from thee, and I [g] anointed thee with oyle.

[c] Being thus in thy filthineſſe, an forſaken of all men, I took thee and gave thee life vvhereby is mean that before Go vvaſh his Church and give life, ther is nothing but fi thineſſe and deat

11 I decked thee alſo with ornaments, and I put bracelets upon thine hands, and a chaine on thy necke.

12 And I put a frontlet upon thy face, and earerings in thine eares, and a beautifull [h] crowne upon thine head.

13 Thus waſt thou deckt with gold and ſilver, and thy rayment was of fine linnen, and ſilke, and broidered worke: thou didſt eat fine flowre, and honey, and oyle, and thou waſt very beautifull, and thou didſt grow up into a kingdome.

14 And thy Name was ſpread among the heathen for thy beauty: for it was perfect through my [i] beauty which I had ſet upon thee, ſaith the Lord God.

15 Now thou didſt [k] truſt in thine own beauty, and plaiedſt the harlot, becauſe of thy renowne, and haſt powred out [l] thy fornications on every one that paſſed by, thy deſire was to him.

16 And thou didſt take thy garments, and deckedſt thine high places with divers colours, [m] and plaiedſt the harlot thereupon: the like things ſhall not come, neither hath any done ſo.

17 Thou haſt alſo taken thy faire jewels made of my gold and of my ſilver, which I had given thee, and [n] madeſt to thy ſelfe images of men, and didſt commit whoredome with them,

18 And tookeſt thy broidered garments, and coveredſt them: and thou haſt ſet mine oyle and my perfume before them.

19 My meat alſo which I gave thee, as fine flowre, oyle, and honey, wherewith I fed thee, thou haſt even ſet it before them for a ſweet ſavour: thus it was, ſaith the Lord God.

20 Moreover, thou haſt taken thy ſons and thy daughters, whom thou haſt borne unto me, and theſe haſt thou ſacrificed unto them, to [o] bee devoured: is this thy whoredome a ſmall matter?

21 That thou haſt ſlaine my children, and delivered them to cauſe them to paſſe thorow fire for them.

22 And in all thine abominations and whoredoms thou haſt not remembred the daies of thy youth, when thou waſt naked and bare, and waſt poluted in thy blood.

23 And beſide all thy wickedneſſe (woe, woe unto thee, ſaith the Lord God)

24 Thou haſt alſo built unto thee an high place, and haſt made thee an high place in every ſtreet.

25 Thou haſt built thine high place at every ‡ corner of the way, and haſt made thy beautie to bee abhorred: thou haſt opened thy feet to every one that paſſed by, and multiplyed thy whoredome.

26 Thou haſt alſo committed fornication with the [p] Egyptians thy neighbours, which have great members, and haſt increaſed thy whoredome, to provoke me.

27 Behold, therefore I did ſtretch out mine hand over thee, and will diminiſh thine ordinarie, and deliver thee unto the will of them that hate thee, even to the ‡ daughters of the Philiſtims, which are aſhamed of thy wicked way.

28 Thou haſt plaied the whore alſo with the Aſſyrians, becauſe thou waſt inſatiable: yea, thou haſt plaied the harlot with them, and yet couldſt not be ſatisfied.

29 Thou haſt moreover multiplied thy fornication from the land of Canaan unto Caldea, and yet thou waſt not ſatisfied herewith.

30 How weake is thine heart, ſaith the Lord God, ſeeing thou doſt all theſe things, even the worke of a ‡ preſumptuous whoriſh woman?

31 In that thou buildeſt thine high place in the corner of every way, and makeſt thine high place in every ſtreet, and haſt not been as an harlot [q] that hath deſpiſed a reward,

32 But as a wife that plaieth the harlot, and taketh others for her husband:

33 They give gifts to all other whores, but thou giveſt gifts unto all thy lovers, and rewardeſt them that they may come unto thee on every ſide for thy fornication.

34 And the contrary is in thee from other women in thy fornications, neither the like fornication ſhall be after thee: for in that thou giveſt a reward, and no reward is given unto thee, therefore thou art contrary.

35 Wherefore, O harlot, heare the word of the Lord.

36 Thus ſaith the Lord God, Becauſe thy ‡ ſhame was powred out, and thy filthineſſe diſcovered through thy fornications with thy lovers, and with all the idols of thine abominations, and by the blood of thy children, which thou didſt offer unto them,

37 Behold, therefore I will gather all [r] thy lovers, with whom thou haſt taken pleaſure, and all them that thou haſt loved, with all them that thou haſt hated: I will even gather them round about againſt thee, and will diſcover thy filthineſſe unto them, that they may ſee all thy filthineſſe.

38 And I will judge thee after the manner of them that are [ſ] harlots, and of them that ſhed blood, and I will give thee the blood of wrath and jelouſie.

[m] This declareth, how the idolaters put their chiefe delight in thoſe things, which pleaſe the eyes and outward ſenſes.

[n] Thou haſt converted my veſſels and inſtruments which I gave thee to ſerve me with, to the uſe of thine idols.

hands, and they ſhall deſtroy thine high place, and ſhall break downe thine high places: they ſhall ſtrip thee alſo out of thy clothes, and ſhall take thy faire jewels, and leave thee naked and bare.

40 They ſhall alſo bring up a company againſt thee, and they ſhall ſtone thee with ſtones, and thruſt thee thorow with their ſwords.

41 And they * ſhall burne up thine houſes with fire, and execute judgements upon thee in the ſight of many women: and I will cauſe thee to ceaſe from playing the harlot, and thou ſhalt give no reward any more.

42 So will I make my wrath toward thee to reſt, and my [t] jealouſie ſhall depart from thee, and I will ceaſe and be no more angry.

43 Becauſe thou haſt not remembred the daies of thy youth, but haſt provoked me with all theſe things, behold, therefore I alſo have [u] brought thy way upon thine head, ſaith the Lord God: yet haſt not thou had conſideration of all thine abominations.

44 Behold, all that uſe proverbs, ſhall uſe this proverb againſt thee, ſaying, As is the mother, [x] ſo is her daughter.

45 Thou art thy mothers daughter, that hath caſt off her huſband and her children, and thou art the ſiſter of thy [y] ſiſters, which forſook their huſbands and their children: your mother is an Hittite, and your father an Amorite.

46 And thine elder ſiſter is Samaria, and her [z] daughters that dwell at thy left hand, and ‡ thy younger ſiſter that dwelleth at thy right hand, is Sodom and her daughters.

47 Yet haſt thou [a] not walked after their waies, nor done after their abominations: but as it had beene a very little thing, thou waſt corrupted more then they in all thy waies.

48 As I live, ſaith the Lord God, Sodome thy ſiſter hath not done, neither ſhe nor her daughters, as thou haſt done and thy daughters.

49 Behold, this was the iniquity of thy ſiſter Sodome, [b] Pride, fulneſſe of bread, and abundance of idleneſſe was in her, and in her daughters: neither did ſhe ſtrengthen the hand of the poore and needy.

50 But they were haughty, and committed abomination before me: therefore I tooke them away as pleaſed me.

51 Neither [c] hath Samaria committed halfe thy ſins, but thou haſt exceeded them in thine abominations, and haſt [d] juſtified thy ſiſters in all thine abominations, which thou haſt done.

52 Therefore thou which haſt juſtified thy ſiſters, beare thine owne ſhame for thy ſins, that thou haſt committed more abominable then they which are more righteous then thou art: be thou therefore confounded alſo, and beare thy ſhame, ſeeing that thou haſt juſtified thy ſiſters.

53 Therefore I will bring againe [e] their captivity with the captivity of Sodome, and her daughters, and with the captivitie of Samaria, and her daughters: even the captivity of thy captives in the midſt of them,

54 That thou maiſt beare thine owne ſhame, and maiſt be confounded in all that thou haſt done, in that thou haſt [f] comforted them.

55 And thy ſiſter Sodome and her daughters ſhall returne to their former ſtate. Samaria alſo and her daughters ſhall returne to their former ſtate, [g] when thou and thy daughters ſhall returne to your former ſtate.

56 For thy ſiſter Sodom ‡ was not heard of [h] by thy report in the day of thy pride, 57 Before thy wickedneſſe was [i] diſcovered, as in that ſame time of the reproch of the daughters of Aram, and of all the daughters of the Philiſtims round about [k] her, which deſpiſe thee on all ſides.

58 Thou haſt borne therefore thy wickedneſſe, and thine abomination, ſaith the Lord.

59 For thus ſaith the Lord God, I might even deale with thee, as thou haſt done: when thou didſt deſpiſe the [l] oath, in breaking the covenant.

60 Neverthelesse, I will [m] remember my covenant made with thee in the daies of thy youth, and I will confirme unto thee an everlaſting covenant.

61 Then thou ſhalt remember thy waies, and be aſhamed, when thou ſhalt receive [n] thy ſiſters, both thy elder and thy younger, and I will give them unto thee for daughters, but not [o] by thy covenant.

62 And I will ſtabliſh my covenant with thee, and thou ſhalt know that I am the Lord.

63 That thou maiſt remember, and be [p] aſhamed, and never open thy mouth any more: becauſe of thy ſhame when I am pacified toward thee, for all that thou haſt done, ſaith the Lord God.

The great [a] eagle with great wings, and long wings and full of feathers which had divers colours, came unto Lebanon, and tooke the higheſt branch of the cedar,

4 And brake off the top of his twig, and caried it into the land of [b] merchants, and ſet it in a citie of merchants.

5 He tooke alſo of the [c] ſeed of the land, and planted it in a fruitfull ground: he placed it by great waters, and ſet it as a willow tree.

6 And it budded up, and was [d] like a ſpreading vine of [e] low ſtature, whoſe branches turned toward it, and the roots thereof were under it, ſo it became a vine, and it brought forth branches, and ſhot forth buds.

7 There was alſo [f] another great eagle with great wings, and many feathers, and behold, this vine did turne her rootes toward it, and ſpread forth her branches toward it, that ſhee might water it by the trenches of her plantation.

8 It was planted in a good ſoile by great [g] waters, that it ſhould bring forth branches, and beare fruit, and be an excellent vine.

9 Say thou, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Shall it proſper? ſhall [h] he not pull up the roots thereof, and deſtroy the fruit thereof, and cauſe them to drie? all the leaves of her bud ſhall wither without great power, or many people to pluck it up by the roots thereof.

10 Behold it was planted: but ſhall it proſper? ſhall it not be dried up and wither? [i] when the Eaſt wind ſhall touch it, it ſhall wither in the trenches, where it grew.

11 Moreover, the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying,

12 Say now to this rebellious houſe, Know yee not what theſe things meane? tell them, Behold, the king of Babel is come to Jeruſalem, and hath taken [k] the King thereof, and the princes thereof, and led them with him to Babel,

13 And hath taken one of the Kings ſeede, and made a covenant with him, and hath taken [l] an oath of him: he hath alſo taken the princes of the land,

14 That the kingdome might bee in ſubjection, and not lift it ſelfe up, but keep their covenant and ſtand to it.

15 But he rebelled againſt him, and ſent his Ambaſſadours into Egypt, that they might give him horſes, and much people: ſhall he proſper? ſhall he eſcape, that doth ſuch things? or ſhall he breake the covenant and be delivered?

16 As I live, ſaith the Lord God, he ſhall die in the mids of Babel, in the place of the King, that had made him King, whoſe oath he deſpiſed, and whoſe covenant made with him, he brake.

17 Neither ſhall Pharaoh with his mightie hoſte, and great multitude of people, maintaine him in the warre, when they have caſt up mounts, and builded ramparts to deſtroy many perſons.

18 For he hath deſpiſed the oath, and broken the covenant (yet loe, hee had given [m] his hand) becauſe he hath done all theſe things, he ſhall not eſcape.

19 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, As I live, I will ſurely bring mine oath that he hath deſpiſed, and my covenant that hee hath broken, upon his owne head.

20 * And I will ſpread my net upon him, and hee ſhall be taken in my net, and I will bring him to Babel, and will enter into judgement with him there for his treſpaſſe that hee hath committed againſt me.

21 And all that flee from him with all his hoſte, ſhall fall by the ſword, and they that remaine, ſhall be ſcattered toward all the windes, and yee ſhall know that I the Lord have ſpoken it.

22 Thus ſaith the Lord God, I will alſo take off the top [n] of this high cedar, and will ſet it, and cut off the [o] top of the tender plant thereof, and I will plant it upon an high mountaine and great.

23 Even in the high mountaine of Iſrael will I plant it: and it ſhall bring forth boughes and beare fruit, and be an excellent cedar, and under it ſhall remaine all birdes, and every [p] fowle ſhall dwell in the ſhadow of the branches thereof.

24 And all the [q] trees of the field ſhall know that I the Lord have brought downe the high tree, and exalted the low tree: that I have dried up the greene tree, and made the drie tree to flouriſh: I the Lord have ſpoken it, and have done it.

2 Hee ſheweth that every man ſhall beare his owne ſinne. 21 To him that amendeth, is ſalvation promiſed. 24 Death is propheſied to the righteous, which turneth backe from the right way.

The word of the Lord came unto me againe, ſaying,

2 What meane yee that yee ſpeake this proverbe, concerning the land of Iſrael, ſaying, [a] The fathers have eaten ſowre grapes, and the childrens teeth are ſet on edge?

of the ſonne, are mine: the ſoule that ſinneth, it ſhall die.

5 But if a man bee juſt, and doe that which is lawfull, and right,

6 And hath not eaten [b] upon the mountaines, neither hath lift up his eies to the idoles of the houſe of Iſrael, neither * hath defiled his neighbours wife, neither hath ‡ lien with a * menſtruous woman,

7 Neither hath oppreſſed any, but hath reſtored the pledge to his debtor: he that hath ſpoiled none by violence, * but hath given his bread to the hungrie, and hath covered the naked with a garment,

8 And hath not given forth upon * uſurie, neither hath taken any increaſe, but hath withdrawne his hand from iniquitie, and hath executed true judgement betweene man and man,

9 And hath walked in my ſtatutes, and hath kept my judgements to deale truely, he is juſt, he ſhall ſurely live, ſaith the Lord God.

10 ¶ If he beget a ſonne, that is ‡ a thiefe, or a ſhedder of blood, if he doe any one of theſe things:

11 Though he doe not all theſe things, but either hath eaten upon the mountaines, or defiled his neighbours wife,

12 Or hath oppreſſed the poore and needy, or hath ſpoiled by violence, or hath not reſtored the pledge, or hath lift up his eies unto the idoles, or hath committed abomination,

13 Or hath given forth upon uſurie, or hath taken increaſe, ſhall he live? he ſhall not live: ſeeing he hath done theſe abominations, [c] he ſhall die the death, and his blood ſhall be upon him.

14 ¶ But if hee beget a ſonne, that ſeeth all his fathers ſinnes, which hee hath done, and feareth, neither doth ſuch like,

15 That hath not eaten upon the mountaines, neither hath lift up his eies to the idoles of the houſe of Iſrael, nor hath defiled his neighbours wife,

16 Neither hath oppreſſed any, nor hath withholden the pledge, neither hath ſpoiled by violence, but hath given his bread to the hungry, and hath covered the naked with a garment,

17 Neither hath withdrawne his hand from the afflicted, nor received uſurie nor increaſe, but hath executed my judgements, and hath walked in my ſtatutes, he ſhall not die in the iniquitie of his father: but he ſhall ſurely live.

18 His father, becauſe hee cruelly oppreſſed and ſpoiled his brother by violence, and hath not done good among his people, loe, even he dieth in his iniquitie.

19 Yet ſay yee, Wherefore ſhall not the ſonne beare the iniquitie of the father? becauſe the ſonne hath executed judgement aud juſtice, and hath kept all my ſtatutes, and done them, hee ſhall ſurely live.

20 * The ſame ſoule that ſinneth, ſhall die, the ſonne ſhall not beare the iniquitie of the father, neither ſhall the father beare the iniquitie of the ſonne: but the righteouſneſſe of the righteous ſhall bee upon him, and the wickedneſſe of the wicked ſhall be upon himſelfe.

21 But if the wicked will returne from all his ſinnes that he hath committed, and keepe all my [d] ſtatutes, and doe that which is lawfull and right, hee ſhall ſurely live, and ſhall not die.

22 All his tranſgreſſions which hee committed, they ſhall not be ‡ mentioned unto him, but in his [e] righteouſneſſe that hee hath done, he ſhall live.

23 [f] Have I any deſire that the wicked ſhould die, ſaith the Lord God? ‡ or ſhall hee not live, if hee returne from his waies?

24 But if the righteous turne away from his righteouſnes, and commit iniquitie, and doe according to all the abominations that the wicked man doth, ſhall hee live? all his [g] righteouſneſſe that he hath done, ſhall not be mentioned: but in his tranſgreſſion that he hath committed, and in his ſinne that he hath ſinned, in them ſhall he die.

25 Yet yee ſay, the way of the Lord is not [h] equall: heare now, O houſe of Iſrael, Is not my way equall? or are not your waies unequall?

26 For when a righteous man turneth away from his righteouſneſſe, and committeth iniquitie, hee ſhall even die for the ſame, he ſhall even die for his iniquitie, that he hath done.

27 Againe, when the wicked turneth away from his wickedneſſe that he hath committed, and doth that which is lawfull and right, hee ſhall ſave his ſoule alive.

28 Becauſe hee conſidereth, and turneth away from all his trangreſſions that he hath committed, hee ſhall ſurely live and ſhall not die.

29 Yet ſaith the houſe of Iſrael, The way of the Lord is not equall, O houſe of Iſrael, are not my waies equall? or are not your waies unequall?

[i] Deſtruction is come by Zedekiah, who was the occaſion of this rebellion.

Chap. XX.

3 The Lord denieth that he will anſwer them when they pray, becauſe of their unkindneſſe. 33 He promiſeth that his people ſhall returne from captivitie. 46 By the foreſt that ſhould bee burnt, is ſignified the burning of Ieruſalem.

And in the [a] ſeventh yeare, in the fift moneth, the tenth day of the moneth, came certaine of the Elders of Iſrael to enquire of the Lord, and ſate before me.

2 Then came the word of the Lord unto me, ſaying,

3 Sonne of man, ſpeake unto the Elders of Iſrael, and ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Are yee come to enquire of me? as I live, ſaith the Lord God, when I am asked, I will not anſwer you.

4 Wilt thou judge them, Sonne of man? wilt thou judge them? cauſe [b] them to underſtand the abominations of their fathers,

[b] This declareth the great lenitie and patience of God, which calleth ſinners to repentāce before he condemne them.

5 And ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord God, In the day when I choſe Iſrael, and [c] lift up mine hand unto the ſeed of the houſe of Jaakob, and made my ſelfe knowne unto them in the land of Egypt, when I lift up mine hand unto them, and ſaid, I am the Lord your God.

[c] I ſware that I would bee their God, which maner of oath was obſerved from all antiquitie, where they uſed to lift up their hands toward the heaven, acknowledging God to be the author of truth, and the defender therof, and alſo the judge of the heart, wiſhing that hee ſhould take vengeance, if they concealed any thing which they knew to be truth.

6 In the day that I lift up mine hand unto them, to bring them forth of the land of Egypt, into a land that I had provided for them, flowing with milke and honie, which is pleaſant among all lands,

7 Then ſaid I unto them, Let every man caſt away the abominations of his eies, [d] and defile not your ſelves with the idoles of Egypt: for I am the Lord your God.

[d] God had forbidden them to make mention of the idoles, Exod. 23. 13. Pſal. 16. 4.

8 But they rebelled againſt me, and would not heare mee: for none caſt away the abominations of [e] their eies, neither did they forſake the idoles of Egypt: then I thought to powre out mine indignation upon them, and to accompliſh my wrath againſt them in the midſt of the land of Egypt.

[e] Which thing declareth the wickedneſſe of mans heart, which judge Gods ſervice by their eies and outward ſences,

9 But I had reſpect to my [f] Name, that it ſhould not be polluted before the heathen among whom they were, and in whoſe ſight I made my ſelfe knowne unto them, in bringing them forth of the land of Egypt.

[f] God had ever this reſpect to his glory, that hee would not have his Name evill ſpoken of among the Gentiles for the puniſhment that his people deſerved, in confidence whereof the godly ever praied, as Exod. 32. 12. Numb. 14. 13.

10 Now I caried them out of the land of Egipt, and brought them into the wilderneſſe, 11 And I gave them my ſtatutes, and declared my judgements unto them, * which if a man doe, hee ſhall live in them.

12 Moreover, I gave them alſo my * Sabbaths to be a ſigne between me and them, that they might know that I am the Lord, that ſanctifie them.

13 But the houſe of Iſrael rebelled againſt me in the wilderneſſe: they walked not in my ſtatutes, and they caſt away my judgements, which if a man doe, he ſhall live in them, and my Sabbaths have they greatly polluted: then I thought to powre out mine indignation upon them * in the wilderneſſe to conſume them.

14 But I had reſpect to my Name, that it ſhould not be polluted before the [g] heathen, in whoſe ſight I brought them out.

15 Yet nevertheleſſe, I lift up mine hand unto them in the wilderneſſe that I would not bring them into the land, which I had given them, flowing with milke and honie, which was pleaſant above all lands.

16 Becauſe they caſt away my judgements, and walked not in my ſtatutes, but have polluted my [h] Sabbaths: for their heart went after their idoles:

17 Nevertheles, mine eye ſpared them, that I would not deſtroy them, neither would I conſume them in the wildernes.

18 But I ſaid unto their children in the wilderneſſe, walke ye not in the ordinances of your [i] fathers, neither obſerve their manners, nor defile your ſelves with their idoles.

19 I am the Lord your God: walke in my ſtatutes, and keepe my judgements and doe them,

20 And ſanctifie my Sabbaths, and they ſhall bee a ſigne betweene mee and you, that yee may know that I am the Lord your God.

21 Notwithſtanding, the children rebelled againſt me: they walked not in my ſtatutes, nor kept my judgements to doe them, which if a man doe, hee ſhall live in them, but they polluted my Sabbaths: then I thought to powre out mine indignation upon them, and to accompliſh my wrath againſt them in the wilderneſſe.

22 Nevertheleſſe, I withdrew mine hand and had reſpect to my Name, that it ſhould not be polluted before the heathen, in whoſe ſight I brought them forth.

23 Yet I lift up mine hand unto them in the wilderneſſe, that I would ſcatter them among the heathen, and diſperſe them through the countries,

24 Becauſe they had not executed my judgements, but had caſt away my ſtatutes, and had polluted my Sabbaths, and their eies were after [k] their fathers idoles.

25 Wherefore I [l] gave them alſo ſtatutes that were not good, and judgements, wherein they ſhould not live.

26 And I polluted them in their owne [m] gifts, in that they cauſed to paſſe by the fire all that firſt openeth the wombe, that I might deſtroy them, to the end, that they might know that I am the Lord.

27 Therefore, Sonne of man, ſpeake unto the houſe of Iſrael, and ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Yet in this your fathers have blaſphemed mee, though they had before grievouſly tranſgreſſed againſt me.

28 [n] For when I had brought them into the land, for the which I lifted up mine hand to give it to them, then they ſaw every high hill, and all the thicke trees, and they offered there their ſacrifices, and there they preſented their offering of provocation: there alſo they made their ſweet ſavour, and powred out there their drinke-offerings.

29 Then I ſaid unto them, What is the high place whereunto yee goe? And the name thereof was called [o] Bamah, unto this day.

30 Wherefore, ſay unto the houſe of Iſrael, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Are yee not polluted ‡ after the manner of your fathers? and commit yee not whoredome after their abominations?

31 For when you offer your gifts, and make your ſonnes to paſſe thorow the fire, you pollute your ſelves with all your idoles unto this day: ſhall I anſwer you when I am asked, O houſe of Iſrael? As I live, ſaith the Lord God, [p] I will not anſwere you when I am asked.

32 Neither ſhall that bee done that commeth into your minde: for ye ſay, We will bee as the heathen, and as the families of the countries, and ſerve wood, and [q] ſtone.

33 As I live, ſaith the Lord God, I will ſurely rule you with a mighty hand, and with a ſtretched-out arme, and in my wrath powred out,

34 And will bring you from the people, and will gather you out of the countreys wherein yee are ſcattered, with a mighty hand, and with a ſtretched-out arme, and in my wrath powred out,

35 And I will bring you into the [r] wilderneſſe of the people, and there will

[g] Who might thereby take an occaſion to blaſpheme my Name, and to accuſe mee of lack of ability, or elſe that I had ſought a meanes to deſtroy them more commodiouſly.

[h] That is, my true religion, which I had commanded them, and gave themſelves to ſerve me according to their owne fantaſies.

[i] Whereby the holy Ghoſt confuteth them that ſay, that they will follow the religion & example of their fathers, and not meaſure their doings by Gods word, whether they be approveable therby or no.

[k] Meaning, that they ſet their delight upon them.

[l] Becauſe they would not obey my Lawes, I gave them up to themſelves, that they ſhould obey their owne fantaſies, as verſe 39. Rom. 1. 21.24.

[m] I condemned thoſe things, and counted them as abominable which they thought had bin excellent and to have declared moſt zeale, Luke 15. 16. for that which God required as moſt excellent, that gave they to their idoles.

[n] Not onely in the wilderneſſe when I brought thē out of Egypt, but ſince I placed them in this land: which declareth how prompt mans heart is to idolatrie, ſeeing that by no admonition h can bee drawne backe.

[o] Which ſignifieth an high place, declaring that they vaunted thēſelves of their idolatrie and were not aſhamed thereof, though God had commanded them expreſſely, tha they ſhould have no altar lifted upon hie by ſtaires Exod. 20.26.

‡ Ebr. in the wa

[p] Hee ſheweth that the ingratitude of the peopl deſerveth, tha God ſhould cu them off, an that they ſhoul not have the com fort of his word

[q] Hee declaret that man of nature is wholy en mie unto God & to his owne ſalvation, and there fore God calle him to the righ way, partly b chaſtiſing, bu chieſely by his mercy, in forgiving his rebellio and wickedneſſe.

[r] I will bring yo amongſt ſtrang nations, as into wilderneſſe, an there wil viſit yo and ſo call you repentance, an then bring the godly home againe, Iſa 65.9.

will I plead with you face to face.

36 Like as I pleaded with your fathers in the wildernesse of the land of Egypt, ſo will I pleade with you, ſaith the Lord God.

37 And I will cauſe you to paſſe under the rod, and will bring you into the bond of the covenant.

38 And I will [ſ] chuſe out from among you the rebels, and them that tranſgreſſe againſt me: I will bring them out of the land where they dwell, and they ſhall not enter into the land of Iſrael, and you ſhall know that I am the Lord.

[ſ] Signifying, that he will not burne the corn with the chaffe, but chuſe out the wicked to puniſh them when he will ſpare his.

39 As for you, O houſe of Iſrael, thus ſaith the Lord God, [t] Goe you, and ſerve every one his idole, ſeeing that yee will not obey me, and pollute mine holy Name no more with your gifts and with your idoles.

[t] This is ſpoken to the hypocrites.

40 For in mine holy mountaine, even in the high mountaine of Iſrael, ſaith the Lord God, there ſhall all the houſe of Iſrael, and all in the land ſerve me: there will I accept them, and there will I require your offerings, and the firſt fruits of your oblations, with all your holy things.

41 I will accept your ſweet ſavour, when I bring you from the people, and gather you out of the countries, wherein ye have beene ſcattered, that I may bee ſanctified in you before the heathen.

42 And yee ſhall know that I am the Lord, when I ſhall bring you in the land of Iſrael, into the land, for the which I lifted up mine hand to give it to your fathers.

43 And there ſhall ye remember your waies, and all your workes, wherein yee have been defiled, and yee [v] ſhall judge your ſelves worthy to bee cut off for all your evils, that yee have committed.

[v] Your own conſciences ſhall convict you after that you have felt my mercies.

44 And yee ſhall know that I am the Lord, when I have reſpect unto you for my Names ſake, and not after your wicked waies, nor according to your corrupt workes, O ye houſe of Iſrael, ſaith the Lord God.

45 ¶ Moreover, the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying,

46 Sonne of man, ſet thy face toward the way of Teman, and drop thy word toward [x] the South, and propheſie toward the foreſt of the field of the South, [x] For Judah ſtood South from Babylon.

47 And ſay to the foreſt of the South, Heare the word of the Lord: thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I will kindle a fire in thee, and it ſhall devoure all the [y] greene wood in thee, and all the dry wood: the continuall flame ſhall not be quenched, and every face from the South to the North ſhall be burnt therein.

[y] Both ſtrong & weake in Jeruſalem.

48 And all fleſh ſhall ſee that I the Lord have kindled it, and it ſhall not bee quenched. Then ſaid I, Ah Lord God, they ſay of mee, Doth not hee ſpeake [z] parables?

[z] The people ſaid that the Prophet ſpake darkly: therfore hee deſireth the Lord to give them a plaine declaration hereof.

Chap. XXI.

3 Hee threatneth the ſword, and deſtruction to Jeruſalem. 25 He ſheweth the fall of King Zedekiah. 28 Hee is commanded to propheſie the deſtruction of the children of Ammon. 30 The Lord threatneth to deſtroy Nebuchadnezzar.

THe word of the Lord came to mee againe, ſaying,

2 Son of man, ſet thy face toward Jeruſalem, [a] and drop thy word toward the holy places, and propheſie againſt the land of Iſrael,

[a] Speake ſenſibly that all may underſtand.

3 And ſay to the land of Iſrael, Thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, I come againſt thee, and will draw my ſword out of his ſheath, and cut off from thee both the [b] righteous and the wicked.

[b] That is, ſuch which ſeeme to have an outward ſhew of righteouſneſſe, by obſervation of the ceremonies of the Law.

4 Seeing then that I will cut off from thee both the righteous and wicked, therefore ſhall my ſword goe out of his ſheath againſt all fleſh from the South to the [c] North.

[c] Meaning, thorow all the land.

5 That all fleſh may know that I the Lord have drawne my ſword out of his ſheath, and it ſhall not returne any more.

6 Mourne therefore, thou Sonne of man, as in the paine of thy [d] reines, and mourne bitterly before them.

[d] As though thou were in extreme anguiſh.

7 And if they ſay unto thee, Wherefore mourneſt thou? then anſwere, Becauſe [e] of the bruit: for it commeth, and every heart ſhall melt, and all hands ſhall be weake, and all mindes ſhall faint, and all knees ſhall fall away as water: behold, it commeth, and ſhall bee done, ſaith the Lord God.

8 ¶ Againe, the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying,

9 Sonne of man, propheſie and ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord God, ſay, A ſword, a ſword, both ſharpe and fourbiſhed.

10 It is ſharpned to make a ſore ſlaughter, and it is fourbiſhed that it may [f] glitter: how ſhall we rejoice? for it contemneth the [g] rod of my ſon, as [h] all other trees.

[f] And ſo cauſe a feare.

[g] Meaning, the ſcepter: ſhewing that it will not ſpare the king who ſhould be as the Son of God, and in his place.

[h] That is, the reſt of the people.

11 And he hath given it to be fourbiſhed, that he may handle it: this ſword is ſharpe, and is fourbiſhed, that he may give it into the hand of the [i] ſlaier.

[i] To wit, unto the army of the Caldeans.

12 Cry, and howle, Son of man: for this ſhall come to my people, and it ſhall come unto all the princes of Iſrael: the terrours of the ſword ſhall bee upon my people: [k] ſmite therefore upon thy thigh.

[k] Reade Jer. 31. 19.

13 For it is a triall, [l] and what ſhal this be, if the ſword contemne even the rod? It ſhall be no more, ſaith the Lord God.

[l] Ezekiel moved with compaſſion, thus complaineth fearing the deſtruction of the kingdome which God had confirmed to David and his poſteritie, by promiſe: which promiſe God performed, although here it ſeemed to mans eye that it ſhould utterly periſh.

14 Thou therefore, ſonne of man, propheſie, and ſmite [m] hand to hand, and let the [m] That is, encourage the ſword.

the ſword be doubled: let the ſword that hath killed, returne the third time: it is the ſword of the great ſlaughter entring into their privie chambers.

15 I have brought the feare of the ſword into all their gates to make their heart to faint, and to multiply their ruines. Ah, it is made bright, and it is dreſſed for the ſlaughter.

16 Get thee [n] alone: goe to the right hand, or get thy ſelfe to the left hand, whitherſoever thy face turneth.

17 I will alſo ſmite mine hands together, and will cauſe my wrath to ceaſe. I the Lord have ſaid it.

18 ¶ The word of the Lord came unto me againe, ſaying,

19 Alſo, thou Sonne of man, appoint thee [o] two waies, that the ſword of the King of Babel may come: both twaine ſhall come out of one land, and chuſe a place, and chuſe it in the corner of the way of the citie.

20 Appoint a way, that the ſword may come to Rabbath of the Ammonites, and [p] to Judah in Jeruſalem the ſtrong citie.

22 At his right hand was the divination for Jeruſalem to appoint captaines, to open their mouth in the ſlaughter, and to lift up their voice with ſhouting, to lay engines of warre againſt the gates, to caſt a mount, and to build a fortreſſe.

23 And it ſhall bee unto them [ſ] as a falſe divination in their ſight, for the oathes made unto them: [t] but hee will call to remembrance their iniquitie, to the intent they ſhould be taken.

24 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, Becauſe ye have made your iniquitie to be remembred, in diſcovering their rebellion, that in all your works your ſins might appeare: becauſe I ſay, that yee are come to remembrance, ye ſhall be taken with the hand.

25 And thou [v] prince of Iſrael polluted, and wicked, whoſe day is come, when iniquitie ſhall have an end.

26 Thus ſaith the Lord God, I will take away the [x] diademe, and take off the crowne: this ſhall be no more the ſame: I will exalt the humble, and will abaſe him that is high.

27 I will overturne, overturne, overturne it, and it ſhall be no more untill he [y] come, whoſe right it is, and I will give it him.

28 ¶ And thou Sonne of man, propheſie, and ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord God to the children of Ammon, and to their blaſphemy: ſay thou, I ſay, The ſword, the ſword is drawne forth and fourbiſhed to the ſlaughter, to conſume, becauſe of the glittering:

29 Whiles they ſee [z] vanitie unto thee, and propheſied a lye unto thee to bring thee upon the neckes of the wicked that are ſlaine, whoſe day is come when their iniquitie ſhall have an end.

30 Shall I cauſe it to returne into his ſheath? I will judge thee in the place where thou waſt created, even in the land of thine habitation.

31 And I will powre out mine indignation upon thee, and will blow againſt thee in the fire of my wrath, and deliver thee into the hand of beaſtly men, and skilfull to deſtroy.

32 Thou ſhalt be in the fire to be devoured: thy blood ſhall be in the mids of the land, and thou ſhalt bee no more remembred: for I the Lord have ſpoken it.

CHAP. XXII.

1 Ieruſalem is reproved for crueltie. 25. Of the wicked doctrine of the falſe prophets and prieſts, and of their unſatiable covetouſneſſe. 27 The tyranny of rulers. 29 The wickedneſſe of the people.

MOreover, the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying,

2 Now thou Sonne of man, wilt thou [a] judge, wilt thou judge this bloody citie? wilt thou ſhew her all her abominations?

3 Then ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord God, The citie ſheddeth blood in the middes of it, that her [b] time may come, and maketh idoles [c] againſt her ſelfe to pollute her ſelfe.

4 Thou haſt offended in thy blood, that thou haſt ſhed, and haſt polluted thy ſelfe in thine idoles, which thou haſt made, and thou haſt cauſed thy daies to draw neere, and art come unto thy terme: therefore have I made thee a reproch to the heathen, and a mocking to all countries.

5 Thoſe that be neere, and thoſe that be far from thee, ſhall mocke thee, which art vile in [d] name, and ſore in affliction.

6 Behold, the princes of Iſrael every one in thee was ready to his power, to ſhed blood.

7 In thee have they deſpiſed father and mother: in the middes of thee [e] haue they oppreſſed the ſtranger: in thee have they vexed the fatherleſſe and the widow.

8 Thou haſt deſpiſed mine holy things, and haſt polluted my Sabbaths.

9 In thee are men that carie tales to ſhed blood: in thee are they that eat upon the [n] Provide for thy ſelfe: for thou ſhalt ſee Gods plague of all parts on this countrey.

[o] This was ſpoken, becauſe that when Nebuchadnezzar came againſt Judah, his purpoſe was alſo to goe againſt the Ammonites: but doubting in the way, which enterpriſe to undertake firſt, he conſulted with his ſoothſayers, and ſo went againſt Judah.

[p] That is, to the Tribe of Judah that kept themſelves in Ieruſalem.

[q] To know whether he ſhould goe againſt the Ammonites, or them of Ieruſalem.

[r] He uſed conjuring and ſorcerie.

[ſ] Becauſe there was a league betweene the Iewes and the Babylonians, they of Ieruſalem ſhall thinke nothing leſſe then that this thing ſhould come to paſſe.

[t] That is, Nebuchad-nezzar will remember the rebellion of Zedekiah, and ſo come upon them.

[v] Meaning, Zedekiah, who practiſed with the Egyptians to make him high, and able to reſiſt the Babylonians.

[x] Some referre this to the prieſts attire: for Iehozadek the Prieſt went into captivity with the king.

[y] That is, unto the comming of Meſſiah: for thogh the Iewes had ſome ſigne of governement afterward under the Perſians, Greekes, and Romans, yet this reſtitution was not til Chriſts comming, and at length ſhould bee accompliſhed, as was promiſed, Gen. 49. 10.

[z] Though the Iewes and Ammonites would not beleeve that thou, to wit, the ſword, ſhouldeſt come upon them, and ſaid that the Prophets which threatned, ſpake lies, yet thou ſhalt as ſurely come, as though thou wereſt already upon their necks.

[a] Art thou ready to execute thy charge, which I commit unto thee againſt Ieruſalem, that murthereth the Prophets, and them that are godly.

[b] That is, the time of her deſtruction.

[c] To her owne undoing.

[d] Whoſe very name all men hate.

[e] Hee meaneth hereby that there was no kinde of wickednes which was not committed in Ieruſalem, and therefore the plagues of God ſhould ſpeedily come upon her.

10 * In thee have they diſcovered their fathers ſhame: in thee have they vexed her that was poluted in her floures.

* Levit. 20. 11. 18.

11 And every one * hath committed abomination with his neighbours wife, and every one hath wickedly defiled his daughter in law, and in thee hath every man forced his owne ſiſter, even his fathers daughter.

* Ier. 5. 8.

12 In thee have they taken gifts to ſhed blood: thou haſt taken uſury and the increaſe, and thou haſt defrauded thy neighbour by extortion, and haſt forgotten me, ſaith the Lord God.

13 Behold, therefore I have [f] ſmitten mine hands upon thy covetouſneſſe, that thou haſt uſed, and upon the blood, which hath been in the midſt of thee.

[f] In token of my wrath and vengeance.

14 Can thine heart endure, or can thine hand [g] bee ſtrong, in the daies that I ſhall have to doe with thee? I the Lord have ſpoken it, and will doe it.

[g] That is, able to defend thy ſelfe.

15 And I will ſcatter thee among the heathen, and diſperſe thee in the countries, and will cauſe thy [h] filthineſſe to ceaſe from thee.

[h] I will thus take away the occaſion of thy wickednes.

16 And thou ſhalt take thine [i] inheritance in thy ſelfe in the ſight of the heathen, and thou ſhalt know that I am the Lord.

[i] Thou ſhalt be no more the inheritance of the Lord, but forſaken.

17 ¶ And the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying,

18 Son of man, the houſe of Iſrael is unto me as [k] droſſe: all they are braſſe, and tin, and Iron, and leade in the midſt of the fornace: they are even the droſſe of ſilver.

[k] Which before was moſt precious.

19 Therefore thus ſaith tbe Lord God, Becauſe ye are all as droſſe, behold, therefore I will gather you in the midſt of Jeruſalem.

20 As they gather ſilver and braſſe, and Iron, and lead, and tin into the midſt of the fornace, to blow the fire upon it to melt it, ſo will I gather you in mine anger and in my wrath, and I will put you there, [l] and melt you.

21 I will gather you, I ſay, and blow the fire of my wrath upon you, and you ſhall be melted in the midſt thereof.

22 As ſilver is melted in the midſt of the fornace, ſo ſhall ye be melted in the midſt thereof, and ye ſhall know that I the Lord have powred out my wrath upon you.

23 And the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying,

24 Son of man, ſay unto her, Thou art the Land that is uncleane, [m] and not rained upon in the day of wrath.

[m] Thou art like a barren land, which the Lord plagueth with drought.

25 There is a conſpiracy [n] of her prophets in the midſt thereof, like a roaring lion, ravening the prey: they have devoured ſoules: they have taken the riches and precious things: they have made her many widows in the midſt thereof.

[n] The falſe prophets have conſpired together to make their doctrine more probable.

26 Her Prieſts have broken my Law, and have defiled mine holy things: they have put no difference between the holy and prophane, neither diſcerned between the uncleane and the cleane, and have hid their [o] eyes from my Sabbath, and I am prophaned among them.

[o] They have neglected my ſervice.

27 Her princes in * the midſt thereof are like wolves, ravening the prey to ſhed blood, and to deſtroy ſoules for their own covetous lucre.

* Micah 3. 11. Zephan. 3. 3.

28 And her [p] prophets have dawbed them with untempered morter, ſeeing vanities, and divining lies unto them, ſaying, Thus ſaith the Lord God, when the Lord hath not ſpoken.

[p] They which ſhould have reproved them, flattered them in their vices, and covered their doings with lies, Chap. 13. 10.

29 The people of the land have violently oppeſſed by ſpoiling and robbing, and have vexed the poore and the needy: yea, they have oppeſſed the ſtranger against right.

30 And I ſought for a man among them, that ſhould [q] make up the hedge, and ſtand in the gap before me for the land, that I ſhould not deſtroy it, but I found none.

[q] Which would ſhew himſelfe zealous in my cauſe by reſiſting vice, Iſa. 59. 16. and 63. 5. and alſo pray unto mee to with-hold my plagues, Pſal. 106. 23.

31 Therefore have I powred out mine indignation upon them, and conſumed them with the fire of my wrath: their owne waies have I rendred upon their heads, ſaith the Lord God.

CHAP. XXIII.

Of the idolatry of Samaria and Ieruſalem, under the names of Aholah and Abolibah.

THe word of the Lord came againe unto me, ſaying,

2 Son of man, there were two women, the daughters of one [a] mother.

[a] Meaning, Iſrael and Judah, which came both out of one family.

3 And they committed fornication [b] in Egypt, they committed fornication in their youth: there were their breſts preſſed, and there they bruiſed the teates of their virginity.

[b] They became Idolaters, after the manner of the Egyptians.

4 And the names of [c] them were Aholah the elder, and Aholibah her ſiſter: and they were mine, and they bare ſons and daughters: thus were their names, Samaria is Aholah, and Jeruſalem Aholibah.

[c] Aholah, ſignifieth a manſion or dwelling in her ſelfe, meaning, Samaria, which was the royall city of Iſrael: and Aholibah ſignifieth my manſion in her, whereby is meant Jeruſalem, where Gods Temple was.

5 And Aholah plaied the harlot ‡ when [d] ſhe was mine, and ſhe was ſet on fire with her lovers, to wit, with the Aſſyrians her neighbours, ‡ Ebr. under me.

[d] When the Iſraelites were named, the people of God, they became idolaters, and forſook God, and put their truſt in the Aſſyrians.

6 Which were cloathed with blue ſilke, both captaines and princes: they were all pleaſant young men, and horſemen riding upon horſes.

7 Thus ſhee committed her whoredome with them, even with all them that were the choſen men of Aſſhur, and with all on whom ſhe doted, and defiled her ſelfe with all their idols.

8 Neither left ſhe her fornications, learned of the Egyptians: for in her youth they [e] lay with her, and they bruiſed the breaſts of her virginity, and powred their whoredome upon her.

9 Wherefore I delivered her into the hands of her lovers, even into the hands of the Aſſyrians, upon whom ſhe doted.

10 Theſe diſcovered her ſhame: they tooke away her ſonnes and her daughters, and ſlew her with the ſword, and ſhee had an evill name among women: for [f] they had executed judgement upon her.

11 And when her ſiſter Aholibah ſaw this, ſhe marred her ſelfe with inordinate love, more then ſhe, and with her fornications more then her ſiſter with her fornications.

12 She doted upon the Aſſyrians her neighbours, both captaines and princes clothed with divers ſutes, horſemen riding upon horſes: they were all pleaſant young men.

13 Then I ſaw that ſhe was defiled, and that they were both after one ſort,

14 And that ſhe increaſed her fornications: for when ſhe ſaw men [g] painted upon the wall, the images of the Caldeans painted with vermilion,

15 And girded with girdles upon their loines, and with died attire upon their heads (looking all like princes after the manner of the Babylonians in Caldea, the land of their nativity)

16 As ſoone, I ſay, as ſhe ſaw them, ſhe doted upon them, and ſent meſſengers unto them into Caldea.

17 Now when the Babylonians came to her into the bed of love, they defiled her with their fornication, and ſhee was poluted with them, and her luſt departed from them.

18 So ſhe diſcovered her fornication, and diſcloſed her ſhame: then mine heart forſooke her, like as mine heart had forſaken her ſiſter.

19 Yet ſhe increaſed her whoredome more, and called to remembrance the daies of her youth, wherein ſhe had plaied the harlot in the land of Egypt.

20 For ſhe doted upon their ſervants, whoſe members are as the members of aſſes, and whoſe iſſue is like the iſſue of horſes.

21 Thou calledſt to remembrance the wickedneſſe of thy youth, when thy teates were bruiſed by the Egyptians: therefore the paps of thy youth are thus.

22 Therefore, O Aholibah, thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I will raiſe up thy lovers againſt thee, from whom thine heart is departed, and I will bring them againſt thee on every ſide,

23 To wit, the Babylonians, and all the Caldeans, [h] Peked, and Shoah, and Koa, and all the Aſſyrians with them: they were all pleaſant yong men, captaines and princes: all they were valiant and renowned, riding upon horſes.

24 Even theſe ſhall come againſt thee with charets, wagons, and wheeles, and with a multitude of people, which ſhall ſet againſt thee buckler and ſhield, and helmet round about: and ‡ I will leave the puniſhment unto them, and they ſhall judge thee according to their ‡ judgements.

25 And I will lay mine indignation upon thee, and they ſhall deale cruelly with thee: they ſhall cut off thy [i] noſe and thine eares, and thy remnant ſhall fall by the ſword: they ſhall cary away thy ſons and thy daughters, and thy reſidue ſhall be devoured by the fire.

26 They ſhall alſo ſtrip thee out of thy clothes, and take away thy faire jewels.

27 Thus will I make thy wickedneſſe to ceaſe from thee, and thy fornication out of the land of Egypt: ſo that thou ſhalt not lift up thine eyes unto them, nor remember Egypt any more.

28 For thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I will deliver thee into the hand of them, whom thou hateſt: even into the hands of them from whom thine heart is departed.

29 And they ſhall handle thee deſpitefully, and ſhall take away all thy [k] labour, and ſhall leave thee naked and bare, and the ſhame of thy fornications [l] ſhall bee diſcovered, both thy wickedneſſe, and thy whoredome.

30 I will doe theſe things unto thee, becauſe thou haſt gone a whoring after the heathen, and becauſe thou art poluted with their idols.

31 Thou haſt walked in the way of thy ſiſter: therefore will I give her [m] cup into thine hand.

32 Thus ſaith the Lord God, Thou ſhalt drinke of thy ſiſters cup, deepe and large: thou ſhalt bee laughed to ſcorne and had in deriſion, becauſe it containeth much.

33 Thou ſhalt be filled with [n] drunkenneſſe and ſorrow, even with the cup of deſtruction, and deſolation, with the cup of thy ſiſter Samaria.

34 Thou ſhalt even drinke it, and wring it out to the dregs, and thou ſhalt

36 ¶ The Lord ſaid moreover unto me, Son of man, wilt thou judge Aholah and Aholibah? and wilt thou declare to them their abominations?

37 For they have plaied the whores, and blood is in their hands, and with their idols have they committed adultery, and have alſo cauſed their ſonnes, whom they bare unto me, to paſſe by the fire to be their [o] meat.

38 Moreover, thus have they done unto me: they have defiled my Sanctuary in the ſame day, and have prophaned my Sabbaths.

39 For when they had ſlaine their children to their idols, they came the ſame day into my Sanctuary to defile it: and loe, thus have they done in the midſt of mine houſe.

40 And how much more is it that they ſent for men to come from [p] farre, unto whom a meſſenger was ſent, and lo, they came: for whom thou didſt waſh thy ſelfe, and paintedſt thine eyes, and deckedſt thee with ornaments, 44 And they went in unto her as they goe to a common harlot: ſo went they to Aholah and Aholibah the wicked women.

CHAP. XXIV.

1 He ſheweth the deſtruction of Ieruſalem by a parable of a ſeething pot. 16 The parable of Ezekiels wife, being dead.

AGaine, in the [a] ninth year, in the tenth moneth, in the tenth day of the [b] moneth, came the word of the Lord unto me, ſaying,

2 Son of man, write thee the name of the day, even of this ſame day: for the king of Babel ſet himſelfe againſt Jeruſalem this ſame day.

3 Therefore ſpeake a parable unto the rebellious houſe, and ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Prepare a [c] pot, prepare it, and alſo powre water into it.

4 Gather the [d] pieces thereof into it, even every good piece, as the thigh and the ſhoulder, and fill it with the chiefe bones.

5 Take one of the beſt ſheepe, and ‡ turne alſo the [e] bones under it, and make it boile well, and ſeeth the bones of it therein,

6 Becauſe the Lord God ſaith thus, Wo to the bloody citie, even to the pot, [f] whoſe ſcum is therein, and whoſe ſcum is not gone out of it: bring it out [g] piece by piece: let no [h] lot fall upon it.

7 For her blood is in the midſt of her: ſhee ſet it upon an high [i] rocke, and powred it not upon the ground to cover it with duſt,

8 That it might cauſe wrath to ariſe and take vengeance: even I have ſet her blood upon an high rock that it ſhould not be covered.

9 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, * Wo to the bloody citie, for I will make ‡ the burning great.

11 Then ſet it empty upon the coles thereof, that ‡ the braſſe of it may be hot, and may burne, and that the filthineſſe of it may be molten in it, and that the ſcum of it may be conſumed.

15 ¶ Alſo the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying,

Chap. XXV.

1 The word of the Lord againſt Ammon, which rejoyced at the fall of Ieruſalem. 8 Againſt Moab and Seir, Idumea, and the Philiſtims.

THe word of the Lord came againe unto me, ſaying,

2 Son of man, ſet thy face againſt the Ammonites, and propheſie againſt them,

3 And ſay unto the Ammonites, Heare the word of the Lord God; Thus ſaith the Lord God, Becauſe thou ſaidſt, [a] Ha, ha, againſt my Sanctuary, when it was poluted, and againſt the land of Iſrael when it was deſolate, and againſt the houſe of Judah, when they went into captivity,

4 Behold, therefore I will deliver thee to the [b] men of the Eaſt for a poſſeſſion, and they ſhall ſet their [c] palaces in thee, and make their dwellings in thee: they ſhall eate thy fruit, and they ſhall drinke thy milke.

5 And I will make [d] Rabbah a dwelling place for camels, and the Ammonites a ſheep-cote, and yee ſhall know that I am the Lord.

6 For thus ſaith the Lord God, Becauſe thou haſt clapped thy hands, and ſtamped with the feet, and rejoiceſt in heart with all thy deſpite againſt the land of Iſrael:

7 Behold, therefore I will ſtretch out mine hand upon thee, and will deliver thee to be ſpoiled of the heathen, and I will root thee out from the people, and I will cauſe thee to bee deſtroied out of the countries, and I will deſtroy thee, and thou ſhalt know that I am the Lord.

8 Thus ſaith the Lord God, Becauſe that Moab and Seir doe ſay, Behold, the houſe of Judah is like unto all the heathen, 9 Therefore behold, I will open the ſide of Moab, even of the cities [e] of his cities, I ſay, in his frontires with the pleaſant countrey, Beth-jeſhimoth, Baal-meon, and Kiriathaim.

10 I will call the men of the Eaſt againſt the Ammonites, and will give them in poſſeſſion, ſo that the Ammonites ſhall no more bee remembred among the nations.

11 And I will exerciſe judgement upon Moab, and they ſhall know that I am the Lord.

12 ¶ Thus ſaith the Lord God, Becauſe that Edom hath done evill by taking vengeance upon the houſe of Judah, and hath committed great offence, and revenged himſelfe upon them.

13 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, I will alſo ſtretch out mine hand upon Edom, and deſtroy man and beaſt out of it, and I will make it deſolate from Teman, and they of Dedan ſhall fall by the ſword.

14 And I will execute my vengeance upon Edom by the hand of my people Iſrael, and they ſhall doe in Edom according to mine anger, and according to mine indignation, and they ſhall know my vengeance, ſaith the Lod God.

15 Thus ſaith the Lord God, Becauſe the Philiſtims have executed vengeance, and revenged themſelves with a deſpitefull heart, to deſtroy it for the old hatred,

16 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I will ſtretch out mine hand upon the Philiſtims, and I wil cut off the [f] Cherethims, and deſtroy the remnant of the Sea coaſt.

17 And I will execute great vengeance upon them with rebukes of mine indignation, and they ſhall know that I am the Lord, when I ſhal lay my vengeance upon them.

Chap. XXVI.

1 Hee propheſieth that Tyrus ſhall bee overthrowne becauſe it rejoiced at the deſtruction of Ieruſalem. 15 The wondring and aſtoniſhment of the merchants for the deſtruction of Tyrus.

AND in the [a] eleventh yeare, in the firſt day of the moneth, the word of the Lord, came unto me, ſaying,

2 Sonne of man becauſe that Tyrus hath ſaid againſt Jeruſalem, Aha, the [b] gate of the people is broken: it is turned unto me: for ſeeing ſhe is deſolate, I ſhall be [c] repleniſhed:

3 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I come againſt thee, O Tyrus, and I will bring up many nations againſt thee, as the Sea mounteth up with his waves.

4 And they ſhall deſtroy the walles of Tyrus, and breake downe her towres: I will alſo ſcrape her duſt from her, and make her like the top of a rocke.

5 Thou ſhalt be for the ſpreading of nets in the mids of the Sea: for I have ſpoken it, ſaith the Lord God, and it ſhall be a ſpoile to the Nations.

6 And her [d] daughters which are in the fields, ſhall be ſlaine by the ſword, and they ſhall know that I am the Lord.

7 For thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I will bring upon Tyrus Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, a king of kings from the North, with horſes, and with charets, and with horſemen, with a multitude, and much people.

8 Hee ſhall ſlay with the ſword thy daughters in the field, and he ſhall make a fort againſt thee, and caſt a mount againſt thee, and lift up the buckler againſt thee.

9 Hee ſhall ſet engines of warre before him againſt thy walles, and with his weapons breake downe thy towres.

10 The duſt of his horſes ſhall cover thee, for their multitude: thy walles ſhall ſhake at the noiſe of the horſemen, and of the wheeles, and of the charets, when he ſhall enter into thy gates, as into the entrie of a citie that is broken downe.

11 With the hoofes of his horſes ſhall he tread downe all thy ſtreets: he ſhall ſlay thy people by the ſword, and the [e] pillars of thy ſtrength ſhall fall downe to the ground.

12 And they ſhall rob thy riches, and ſpoile thy merchandiſe, and they ſhall breake downe thy walles, and deſtroy thy pleaſant houſes, and they ſhall caſt thy ſtones and thy timber, and thy duſt into the mids of the water.

13 * Thus will I cauſe the ſound of thy ſongs to ceaſe, and the ſound of thine harpes ſhall be no more heard.

14 I will lay thee like the top of a rocke: [f] thou ſhalt be for a ſpreading of nets: thou ſhalt be built no more: for I the Lord have ſpoken it, ſaith the Lord God.

15 Thus ſaith the Lord God to Tyrus, Shall not the Iſles tremble at the ſound of thy fall: and at the cry of thy wounded, when they ſhall be ſlaine and murthered in the mids of thee?

16 Then all the princes of the [g] ſea ſhall come downe from their thrones: they ſhall lay away their robes, and put off their broidered garments, and ſhall cloth themſelves with aſtoniſhment: they ſhall ſit upon the ground, and be aſtonied at every moment, and bee amaſed at thee.

17 And they ſhall take up a lamentation for thee, and ſay to thee, How art thou deſtroyed, that waſt inhabited [h] of the ſea men, the renowned citie, which was ſtrong in the Sea, both ſhe and her inhabitants, which cauſe their feare to be on all that haunt therein!

18 Now ſhall the Iſles bee aſtoniſhed in the day of thy fall: yea, the Iſles that are in the Sea, ſhall be troubled at thy departure.

19 For thus ſaith the Lord God, When I ſhall make thee a deſolate citie, like the cities that are not inhabited, and when I ſhall bring the deepe upon thee, and great waters ſhall cover thee,

Chap. XXVII.

The Prophet bewaileth the deſolation of Tyrus, ſhewing what were the riches, power and authoritie thereof in time paſt.

THe word of the Lord came againe unto me, ſaying,

2 Sonne of man, take up a lamentation for Tyrus,

CHAP. XXVIII.

2 The word of God againſt the King of Tyrus for his pride. 21 The word of the Lord againſt Zidon. 25 The Lord promiſeth that he will gather together the children of Iſrael.

THe word of the Lord came againe unto me, ſaying,

2 Sonne of man, ſay unto the prince of Tyrus, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Becauſe thine heart is exalted, and thou haſt ſaid, [a] I am a god, I ſit in the ſeat of God, in the mids of the ſea, yet thou art but a man and not God, and ‡ though thou didſt thinke in thine heart, that thou waſt equall with God,

3 Behold, thou art wiſer then [b] Daniel: there is no ſecret that they can hide from thee.

4 With thy wiſdome and thine underſtanding, thou haſt gotten thee riches, and haſt gotten gold and ſilver into thy treaſures.

5 By thy great wiſdome and by thine occupying haſt thou increaſed thy riches, and thine heart is lifted up becauſe of thy riches.

6 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, Becauſe thou didſt thinke in thine heart, that thou waſt equall with God,

7 Behold, therefore I will bring ſtrangers upon thee, even the terrible nations: and they ſhall draw their ſwords againſt the beauty of thy wiſdome, and they ſhal defile thy brightneſſe.

8 They ſhall caſt thee downe into the pit, and thou ſhalt die the death of them that are ſlaine in the mids of the ſea.

9 Wilt thou ſay then before him that ſlaieth thee, I am a God? but thou ſhalt be a man, and no God, in the hands of him that ſlaieth thee.

10 Thou ſhalt die the death of the [c] uncircumciſed by the hands of ſtrangers: for I have ſpoken it, ſaith the Lord God.

11 ¶ Moreover, the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying,

12 Son of man, take up a lamentation upon the king of Tyrus, and ſay unto him, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Thou ſealeſt up the ſumme, and art full of [d] wiſdome and perfect in beauty.

13 Thou haſt been in Eden the garden of God, every precious ſtone was in thy garment, the rubie, the topaze and the ‡ diamond, the chryſolite, the onix, and the jaſper, the ſaphire, ‡ emeraud, and the carbuncle and gold: the workmanſhip of thy timbrels, and of thy pipes was prepared in thee in the day that thou waſt created.

14 Thou art the [e] anoynted Cherub, that covereth, and I have ſet thee [f] in honour: thou waſt upon the holy mountaine of God: thou haſt walked in the midſt of the [g] ſtones of fire.

15 Thou waſt perfect in thy waies from the day that thou waſt [h] created, till iniquity was found in thee.

16 By the multitude of thy merchandiſe, they have filled the midſt of thee with cruelty, and thou haſt ſinned: therefore I will caſt thee as prophane out of the [i] mountaine of God: and I will deſtroy thee, O covering Cherub, from the midſt of the ſtones of fire.

17 Thine heart was lifted up becauſe of thy beauty, and thou haſt corrupted thy wiſdome by reaſon of thy brightneſſe. I will caſt thee to the ground: I will lay thee before kings, that they may behold thee.

18 Thou haſt defiled thy [k] ſanctification by the multitude of thine iniquities, and by the iniquity of thy merchandiſe: therefore will I bring forth a fire from the midſt of thee, which ſhall devoure thee: and I will bring thee to aſhes upon the earth, in the ſight of all them that behold thee.

19 All they that know thee among the people, ſhal be aſtoniſhed at thee: thou ſhalt be ‡ a terror, and never ſhalt thou be any more.

[a] Whereby is meant a long time: for it was propheſied to bee deſtroied but ſeventie yeares, as Iſa. 23. 15.

[a] I am ſafe that none can come to hurt me, as God is in the heaven.

‡ Ebr. Though thou ſet thine heart as the heart of God.

[b] Thus he ſpeaketh by deriſion: for Daniel had declared notable ſignes of his wiſdome in Babylon, when Ezekiel wrote this.

[d] He derideth the vaine opinion & cōfidence that the Tyrians had in their riches, ſtrength and pleaſures.

[e] He meaneth the royall ſtate of Tyrus, which for the excellency & glory thereof hee compareth to the Cherubims which covered the Arke; and by this word anointed, he ſignifieth the ſame.

[f] I did thee this honour to make thee one of the builders of my Temple, which was when Hyram ſent unto Salomon things neceſſarie for the worke.

[g] To wit, among my people Iſrael, which ſhined as precious ſtones.

[h] Which was when I firſt called thee to this dignitie.

[i] Thou ſhalt have no part among my people.

[k] That is, the honour whereunto I called them.

‡ Or brought to nothing.

20 ¶ Againe, the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying,

21 Son of man, ſet thy face againſt Zidan, and propheſie againſt it,

22 And ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I come againſt thee, O Zidon, and I will be [l] glorified in the midſt of thee: and they ſhall know that I am the Lord, when I ſhall have executed judgements in her, and ſhall be ſanctified in her.

[l] By executing my judgements againſt thy wickedneſſe.

23 For I will ſend into her peſtilence, and blood into her ſtreets, and the ſlaine ſhall fall in the midſt of her: [m] the enemy ſhall come againſt her with the ſword on every ſide, and they ſhall know that I am the Lord.

[m] That is, Nebuchad-nezzar.

24 And they ſhall bee no more a pricking thorne unto the houſe of Iſrael, nor any grievous thorne of all that are round about them, and deſpiſed them, and they ſhall know that I am the Lord God.

25 Thus ſaith the Lord God, When I ſhall have gathered the houſe of Iſrael from the people where they are ſcattered, and ſhall bee [n] ſanctified in them in the ſight of the heathen, then ſhall they dwell in the land that I have given to my ſervant Jaakob.

[n] He ſheweth for what cauſe God will aſſemble his Church, and preſerve it ſtil, though he deſtroy his enemies: to wit, that they ſhould praiſe him, and give thankes for his great mercies.

26 And they ſhall dwell ſafely therein, and ſhall build houſes, and plant vineyards: yea, they ſhall dwell ſafely, when I have executed judgements upon all round about them that deſpiſe them, and they ſhall know that I am the Lord their God.

CHAP. XXIX.

He propheſieth againſt Pharaoh and Egypt. 13 The Lord promiſeth that he will reſtore Egypt after fourty yeares. 18 Egypt is the reward of King Nebuchad-nezzar for the labour which he tooke againſt Tyrus.

IN the [a] tenth yeare, and in the tenth moneth, in the twelfth day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying,

[a] To wit, of the captivity of Ieconiah, or of the reigne of Zedekiah. Of the order of theſe propheſies, and how the former ſometimes ſtandeth after the latter, read Ierem. 27. 1.

2 Son of man, ſet thy face againſt Pharaoh the king of Egypt, and propheſie againſt him, and againſt all Egypt,

3 Speake, and ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I come againſt thee, Pharaoh king of Egypt, the great [b] Dragon, that lieth in the midſt of his rivers, which hath ſaid, The river is mine, and I have made it for my ſelfe.

[b] Hee compareth Pharaoh to a Dragon, which hideth himſelfe in the river Nilus, as, Iſa. 51. 9.

4 But I will put [c] hookes in thy jawes, and I will cauſe the fiſh of thy rivers to ſtick unto thy ſcales, and I will draw thee out of the midſt of thy rivers, and all the fiſh of thy rivers ſhall ſtick unto thy ſcales.

[c] I will ſend enemies againſt thee, which ſhall pluck thee and thy people, which truſt in thee, out of thy ſure places.

5 And I will leave thee in the wilderneſſe, both thee and all the fiſh of thy rivers: thou ſhalt fall upon the open field: thou ſhalt not be brought together, nor gathered: for I have given thee for meat to the beaſts of the field, and to the foules of the heaven.

6 And all the inhabitants of Egypt ſhall know that I am the Lord, becauſe they have beene a ſtaffe of [d] reed to the houſe of Iſrael.

[d] Read 2.King.18.21. Iſa.36.6.

7 When they took hold of thee with their hand, thou didſt breake, and rent all their ſhoulder: and when they leaned upon thee, thou brakeſt and madſt all their loynes to ‡ ſtand [e] upright.

‡ Or, ſhake.

[e] When they felt their hurt, they would ſtay no more upon thee, but ſtood upon their feet, and put their truſt in others.

8 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I will bring a ſword upon thee, and deſtroy man and beaſt out of thee.

9 And the land of Egypt ſhall be deſolate, and waſte, and they ſhall know that I am the Lord: becauſe he hath ſaid, [f] The river is mine, and I have made it.

[f] Thus God cannot ſuffer that man ſhould arrogate any thing to himſelfe, or put his truſt in any thing ſave in him alone.

10 Behold, therefore I come unto thee, and upon thy rivers, and I will make the land of Egypt utterly waſte and deſolate, from the towre of Seveneh, even unto the borders of the ‡ black Mores.

‡ Ebr. Cuſh, or Ethiopia.

11 No foot of man ſhall paſſe by it, nor foot of beaſt ſhall paſſe by it, neither ſhall it be inhabited fourty yeares.

12 And I will make the land of Egypt deſolate in the midſt of the countries, that are deſolate, and her cities ſhall be deſolate among the cities that are deſolate, for fourty yeares: and I will ſcatter the Egyptians among the nations, and will diſperſe them through the countries.

13 Yet thus ſaith the Lord God, * At the end of forty yeares will I gather the Egyptians from the people, where they were ſcattered.

* Ier. 46.26.

14 And I will bring againe the captivity of Egypt, and will cauſe them to returne into the land of Pathros, into the land of their habitation, and they ſhall be there a [g] ſmall kingdome.

[g] Meaning, that they ſhould not have full dominion, but bee under the Perſians, Grecians & Romans, and the cauſe is, that the Iſraelites ſhould no more put their truſt in them, but learne to depend on God.

15 It ſhall be the ſmalleſt of the kingdoms, neither ſhal it exalt it ſelfe any more above the nations: for I will diminiſh them, that they ſhall no more rule the nations.

16 And it ſhall be no more the confidence of the houſe of Iſrael, to bring their [h] iniquity to remembrance by looking after them, ſo ſhall they know, that I am the Lord God.

[h] Leſt I ſhould by this meanes puniſh their ſinnes.

17 ¶ In the [i] ſeven and twentieth yeare alſo in the firſt moneth, and in the firſt day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord unto me, ſaying,

[i] Counting from the captivity of Ieconiah.

18 Sonne of man, Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel cauſed his army to ſerve a great [k] ſervice againſt Tyrus: every head was made bald, and every ſhoulder was made bare: yet had he no wages, nor his [k] Hee tooke great paines at the ſiege of Tyrus, and his army was ſore handled.

army

[l] army for Tyrus, for the ſervice that he ſerved againſt it.

[l] Signifying, that Nebuchad-nezzar had more paines then profit by the taking of Tyrus.

19 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I will give the land of Egypt unto Nebuchad-nezzar the king of Babel: and he ſhall take her multitude, and ſpoile her ſpoile, and take her prey, and it ſhall be the wages of his army.

20 I have given him the land of Egypt for his labour, that he ſerved ‡ againſt it, becauſe they wrought ‡ for me, ſaith the Lord God.

‡ Or, evill againſt me.

21 In that day will I cauſe the horne of the houſe of Iſrael to grow, and I will give thee an open mouth in the midſt of them, and they ſhall know that I am the Lord.

Chap. XXX.

The deſtruction of Egypt, and the cities thereof.

THe word of the Lord came againe unto me, ſaying,

2 Son of man, propheſie, and ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Howle and cry, Woe be unto this day.

3 For the day is neare, and the day of the Lord is at hand, a cloudy day, and it ſhall be the time of the heathen.

4 And the ſword ſhall come upon Egypt, and feare ſhall bee in Ethiopia, when the ſlaine ſhall fall in Egypt, when they ſhall take away her multitude, and when her foundations ſhall bee broken downe.

5 [a] Ethiopia, and Phut, and Lud, and all the common people, and Cub, and the men of the land that is in league, ſhall fall with them by the ſword.

[a] By Phut and Lud are meant Africa and Lybia.

6 Thus ſaith the Lord, They alſo that maintaine Egypt, ſhall fall, and the pride of her power ſhall come downe: from the tower of [b] Seveneh ſhall they fall by the ſword, ſaith the Lord God.

[b] Which was a ſtrong city of Egypt, Cha. 29, 10.

7 And they ſhall be deſolate in the midſt of the countries that are deſolate, and her cities ſhall be in the midſt of the cities that are waſted.

8 And they ſhall know that I am the Lord, when I have ſet a fire in Egypt, and when all her helpers ſhall bee deſtroied.

9 And that day ſhall there meſſengers goe forth from me in ſhips, to make the careleſſe Mores afraid, and feare ſhall come upon them, as in the day of Egypt: for lo, it commeth.

10 Thus ſaith the Lord God, I will alſo make the multitude of Egypt to ceaſe by the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel.

11 For he, and his people with him, even the terrible nations ſhall be brought to deſtroy the land: and they ſhall draw their ſwords againſt Egypt, and fill the land with the ſlaine.

12 And I will make the rivers drie, and ſell the land into the hands of the wicked, and I will make the land waſte, and all that therein is, by the hands of ſtrangers: I the Lord have ſpoken it.

13 Thus ſaith the Lord God, I will alſo deſtroy the idols, and I will cauſe their idols to ceaſe out of ‡ Noph, and there ſhall be no more a prince of the land of Egypt, and I will ſend a feare in the land of Egypt:

‡ Or, Memphis, of Alkaira.

14 And I will make Pathros deſolate, and will ſet fire in ‡ Zoan, and I will execute judgement in No.

‡ Or, Tanis.

15 And I will powre my wrath upon ‡ Sin, which is the ſtrength of Egypt: and I will deſtroy the multitude of ‡ No.

‡ Or, Peluſium.
‡ Or, Alexandria.

16 And I will ſet fire in Egypt: Sin ſhall have great ſorrow, and No ſhall be deſtroied, and Noph ſhall have ſorrows daily.

17 The young men of ‡ Aven, and of ‡ Phibeſeth ſhall fall by the ſword: and theſe cities ſhall goe into captivity.

‡ Or, Heliopolis.
‡ Or, Pubaſtum.

18 At Tehaphnehes the day [c] ſhall reſtraine his light, when I ſhall breake there the [d] barres of Egypt: and when the pompe of her power ſhall ceaſe in her, the cloud ſhall cover her, and her daughters ſhall goe into captivity.

[c] Meaning, that there ſhall be great ſorrow and affliction.
[d] That is, the ſtrength and force.

19 Thus will I execute judgements in Egypt, and they ſhall know that I am the Lord.

20 ¶ And in the [e] eleventh yeare, in the firſt moneth, and in the ſeventh day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying,

[e] Of the captivity of Ieconiah, or of Zedekiahs reigne.

21 Sonne of man, [f] I have broken the arme of Pharaoh king of Egypt: and loe, it ſhall not be bound up to be healed, neither ſhall they put a roule to binde it, and ſo make it ſtrong, to hold the ſword.

[f] For Nebuchad-nezzar deſtroyed Pharaoh Necho at Carchemiſh, Ier. 46. 26.

22 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I come againſt Pharaoh king of Egypt, and will break his [g] arme, that was ſtrong, but it is broken, and I will cauſe the ſword to fall out of his hand.

[g] His force, and power.

23 And I will ſcatter the Egyptians among the nations, and will diſperſe them through the countries.

24 And I will ſtrengthen the arme of the king of Babel, and put my ſword in his hand, but I will breake Pharaohs armes, and hee ſhall caſt out ſighings, as the ſighings of him that is wounded before him.

25 But I will ſtrengthen the armes of the king of Babel, and the armes of Pharaoh ſhall fall downe, and they ſhall know that I am the Lord [h] when I ſhall put my ſword into the hand of the king of Babel, and he ſhall ſtretch it out upon the land of Egypt.

26 And I will ſcatter the Egyptians among the nations, and diſperſe them among the countries, and they ſhall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXI.

2 A compariſon of the proſperity of Pharaoh, with the proſperity of the Aſſyrians, 10 He propheſieth a like deſtruction to them both.

AND in the [a] eleventh yeare, in the third moneth, and in the firſt day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying,

2 Sonne of man, ſpeake unto Pharaoh king of Egypt, and to his multitude, Whom art thou [b] like in thy greatneſſe?

3 Behold, Aſhur was like a cedar in Libanon with faire branches, and with thick ſhadowing boughs, and ſhot up very high, and his top was among the thicke boughs:

4 The waters nouriſhed him, and the deepe exalted him on high with her rivers running round about his plants, and ſent out her [c] little rivers unto all the trees of the ‡ field.

5 Therefore his height was exalted above all the trees of the field, and his boughs were multiplied, and his branches were long, becauſe of the multitude of the waters, which the deepe ſent out.

6 All the foules of the heaven made their neſts in his boughs, and under his branches did all the beaſts of the field bring forth their young, and under his ſhadow dwelt all mighty nations.

7 Thus was he faire in his greatneſſe, and in the length of his branches: for his root was neare great waters.

8 The cedars in the garden [d] of God could not hide him: no firre tree was like his branches, and the cheſſenut tree was not like his boughes: all the trees in the garden of God were not like unto him in his beauty.

9 I made him faire by the multitude of his branches: ſo that all the trees of Eden, that were in the garden of God, envied him.

10 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, Becauſe ‡ hee is lift up on high, and hath ſhot up his top among the thick boughes, and his heart is lift up in his height:

11 I have therefore delivered him into the hands of the [e] mightieſt among the heathen: hee ſhall handle him, for I have caſt him away for his wickedneſſe.

12 And the ſtrangers have deſtroied him, even the terrible nations, and they have left him upon the mountaine, and in all the valleys his branches are fallen, and his boughes are [f] broken by all the rivers of the land: and all the people of the earth are departed from his ſhadow, and have forſaken him.

13 Upon his ruine ſhall all the fowles of the heaven remaine, and all the beaſts of the field ſhall be upon his branches,

14 So that none of all the trees by the waters ſhall be exalted by their height, neither ſhall ſhoot up their top among the thicke boughes, neither ſhall their leaves ſtand up in their height which drinke ſo much water: for they are all delivered unto death in the nether parts of the earth, in the mids of the children of men, among them that goe downe to the pit.

15 Thus ſaith the Lord God, In the day when he went downe to hell, I cauſed them to mourne, and I [g] covered the deepe for him, and I did reſtrain the floods thereof, and the great waters were ſtaied: I cauſed Lebanon to mourne for him, and all the trees of the field fainted.

16 I made the nations to ſhake at the ſound of his fall, when I caſt him downe to hell, with them that deſcend into the pit, and all the excellent trees of Eden, and the beſt of Lebanon: even all that are nouriſhed with waters, ſhall [h] be comforted in the nether parts of the earth.

17 They alſo went downe to hell with him, unto them that bee ſlaine with the ſword, and his arme, and they that dwell under his ſhadow in the mids of the heathen.

18 To whom [i] art thou thus like in glory and in greatneſſe among the trees of Eden? yet thou ſhalt bee caſt downe with the trees of Eden, unto the nether parts of the earth: thou ſhalt ſleepe in the middes of the [k] uncircumciſed, with them that bee ſlaine by the ſword: this is Pharaoh and all his multitude, ſaith the Lord God.

CHAP. XXXII.

2 The Prophet is commanded to bewaile Pharaoh king of Egypt. 12 He propheſieth that deſtruction ſhall come unto Egypt through the King of Babylon.

AND in the [a] twelfth yeare, in the twelfth moneth, and in the firſt day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying,

2 Sonne of man, take up a lamentation for Pharaoh king of Egypt, and ſay unto him, Thou art like a [b] lion of the nations, and art as a ‡ dragon in the ſea: thou caſtedſt out thy rivers, [c] and troubledſt the waters with thy feet, and ſtampedſt in their rivers.

---

[h] Whereby wee ſee that tyrants have no power of themſelves, neither can doe any more harme then God appointeth, and when he will they muſt ceaſe.

[a] Of Zedekiahs reigne, or of Ieconiahs captivity.

[b] Meaning, that he was not like in ſtrength to the King of the Aſſyrians whom the Babylonians overcame.

[c] Many other nations were under their dominion.

[d] Signifying, that there was no greater power in the world then his was.

‡ Or, thou waſt lift up.

[e] That is, of Nebuchad-nezzar, who afterward was the Monarch, and onely ruler of the world.

[f] Hereby is ſignified the deſtruction of the power of the Aſſyrians by the Babylonians.

[g] The deep waters that cauſed him to mount ſo high (meaning his great abundance and pompe) ſhall now lament as though they were covered with ſackcloth.

[h] To cauſe this deſtruction of the King of Aſſyria to ſeeme more horrible, hee ſetteth forth other Kings and Princes which are dead, as though they rejoyced at the fall of ſuch a tyrant.

[i] Meaning, that Pharaohs power was nothing ſo great as his was.

[k] Read Chap. 28 10.

[a] Which was th firſt yeare of th generall captivi under Zedekiah.

[b] Thus the Scri tures compare t rants to cruell a huge beaſts, whi devoure all tha be weaker th they, and ſuch they may over come.

[c] Thou prepare great armies,

3 Thus ſaith the Lord God, * I will therefore ſpread my net over thee with a great multitude of people, and they ſhall make thee to come up into my net.

* Chap. 12.13 and 17.20.

4 Then will I leave thee upon the land, and I will caſt thee upon the open field, and I will cauſe all the fowles of the heaven to remaine upon thee, and I will fill all the beaſts of the field with thee.

5 And I will lay thy fleſh upon the mountaines, and fill the vallyes [d] with thine height.

d With heapes of the carkeiſes of thine armie.

6 I will alſo water with thy blood the land wherein thou [e] ſwimmeſt, even to the mountaines, and the rivers ſhall be full of thee.

e As Nilus overfloweth Egypt, ſo will I make the blood of thine hoſte to overflow it.

7 And when I ſhall [f] put thee out, I will cover the heaven, and make the ſtars thereof darke: * I will cover the ſunne with a cloud, and the moone ſhall not give her light.

f The word ſignifieth, to be put out as a candle is put out.

* Iſa. 13. 10. Ioel. 2. 31. and 3. 15. Matth. 24.29.

8 All the lights of heaven will I make darke for thee, and bring [g] darkneſſe upon thy land, ſaith the Lord God.

g By this maner of ſpeech is meant the great ſorrow that ſhall be for the ſlaughter of the King and his people.

9 I will alſo trouble the hearts of many people, when I ſhall bring thy deſtruction among the nations, and upon the countries which thou haſt not known.

10 Yea, I will make many people amazed at thee, and their Kings ſhall bee aſtoniſhed with feare for thee, when I ſhal make my ſword to glitter againſt their faces, and they ſhall be afraid at everie moment: everie man for his owne life in the day of thy fall.

11 For thus ſaith the Lord God, The ſword of the King of Babel ſhall come upon thee.

12 By the ſwords of the mightie will I cauſe thy multitude to fall: they all ſhall bee terrible nations, and they ſhall deſtroy the [h] pompe of Egypt, and all the multitude thereof ſhall bee conſumed.

This came to paſſe in leſſe then oure yeares after his propheſie.

13 I will deſtroy alſo all the beaſts thereof from the great water ſides, neither ſhall the foot of man trouble them any more, nor the hoofes of beaſts trouble them.

14 Then will I make [i] their waters deepe, and cauſe their rivers to runne like oile, ſaith the Lord God.

To wit, of the haldeans thine emies, which all quietly en- oy all thy com- odities.

15 When I ſhall make the land of Egypt deſolate, and the countrey with all that is therein, ſhall be laid waſte: when I ſhall ſmite all them which dwell therein, then ſhall they know that I am the Lord.

16 This is the mourning wherewith they ſhall lament her: the daughters of the nations ſhall lament her: they ſhall lament for Egypt, and for all her multitude, ſaith the Lord God.

17 ¶ In the twelfth yeare alſo, in the fifteenth day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord unto me, ſaying, 18 Sonne of man, lament for the multitude of Egypt, and [k] caſt them downe, even them and the daughters of the mightie nations unto the nether parts of the earth, with them that goe downe into the pit.

k That is, propheſie, that they ſhall bee caſt downe: thus the Lord giveth his Prophets power both to plant and to deſtroy by his word, reade Jer. 1. 10.

19 Whom doſt thou paſſe [l] in beautie? goe downe and ſleep with the uncircumciſed.

l Have not other kingdomes, more beautifull then thou, periſhed?

20 They ſhall fall in the mids of them that are ſlaine by the ſword: [m] ſhe is delivered to the ſword: draw her downe, and all her multitude.

m That is, Egypt.

21 The moſt mightie and ſtrong ſhall ſpeake to [n] him out of the mids of hell with them that helpe her: they are gone downe and ſleepe with the uncircumciſed that be ſlaine by the ſword.

n To make the matter more ſenſible, he bringeth in Pharaoh, whō the dead ſhal meet and marvaile at him. read Iſa. 14. 9.

CHAP. XXXIII.

2 The office of the governours and miniſters. 14 He ſtrengtheneth them that deſpaire, and boldneth them with the promiſe of mercie. 30 The word of the Lord againſt the mockers of the Prophet.

Againe, the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying,

2 Sonne of man, ſpeake to the children of thy people, and ſay unto them, When I bring the ſword upon a land, if the people of the land take a man ‡ from among them, and make him their [a] watchman,

3 If when he ſeeth the ſword come upon the land, he blow the trumpet, and warne the people,

4 Then he that heareth the ſound of the trumpet, and will not be warned, if the ſword come and take him away, his blood ſhall be upon his owne head.

5 For he heard the ſound of the trumpet, and would not be admoniſhed: therefore his blood ſhall bee upon him: but he that receiveth warning, ſhall ſave his life.

6 But if the watchman ſee the ſword come, and blow not the trumpet, and the people be not warned: if the ſword come, and take any perſon from among them, he is taken away for his [b] iniquitie, but his blood will I require at the watchmans hand.

7 * So thou, O ſonne of man, I have made thee a watchman unto the houſe of Iſrael: therefore thou ſhalt heare the word at my [c] mouth, and admoniſh them from me.

8 When I ſhall ſay unto the wicked, O wicked man, thou ſhalt die the death, if thou doſt not ſpeake, and admoniſh the wicked of his way, that wicked man ſhall die for his iniquitie, but his blood will I [d] require at thine hand.

9 Neverthеleſſe, if thou warne the wicked of his way, to turne from it, if he doe not turne from his way, he ſhall die for his iniquitie, but thou haſt delivered thy ſoule.

10 Therefore, O thou ſonne of man, ſpeake unto the houſe of Iſrael, Thus ye ſpeake and ſay, If our tranſgreſſions and our ſinnes bee upon us, and we are conſumed becauſe of them, [e] how ſhould we then live?

11 Say unto them, As I live, ſaith the Lord God, [f] I deſire not the death of the wicked, but that the wicked turne from his way and live: turne you, turne you from your evill waies, for why will ye die, O ye houſe of Iſrael?

12 Therefore thou ſonne of man, ſay unto the children of thy people, [g] The righteouſneſſe of the righteous ſhall not deliver him in the day of his tranſgreſſion, nor the wickedneſſe of the wicked ſhall cauſe him to fall therein, in the day that he returneth from his wickedneſſe, neither ſhall the righteous live for his righteouſneſſe in the day that he ſinneth.

13 When I ſhall ſay unto the righteous, that he ſhall ſurely live, if he truſt to his owne righteouſneſſe, and commit iniquitie, all his righteouſneſſe ſhall be no more remembred, but for his iniquitie that he hath committed, he ſhall die for the ſame.

14 Againe, when I ſhall ſay unto the wicked, Thou ſhalt die the death, if he turne from his ſinne, and doe that which is lawfull and [h] right,

15 To wit, if the wicked reſtore the pledge, and give againe that he had robbed, and walke in the ſtatutes of life, without committing iniquitie, hee ſhall ſurely live, and not die.

16 None of his ſinnes that he hath committed, ſhall be mentioned unto him: becauſe he hath done that which is lawfull, and right, he ſhall ſurely live.

17 Yet the children of thy people ſay, * The way of the Lord is not equall: but their owne way is equall.

18 When the righteous turneth from his righteouſneſſe, and committeth iniquitie, he ſhall even die thereby.

19 But if the wicked returne from his wickednes, and doe that which is lawfull and right, he ſhall live thereby.

20 Yet ye ſay, The word of the Lord is not equall. O ye houſe of Iſrael, I will judge you every one after his waies.

28 For I will lay the land deſolate and waſte, and the * pompe of her ſtrength ſhall ceaſe: and the mountaines of Iſrael ſhall be deſolate, and none ſhall paſſe thorow.

29 Then ſhall they know that I am the Lord, when I have laid the land deſolate and waſte, becauſe of all their abominations, that they have committed.

30 Alſo thou ſonne of man, the children of thy people that [p] talke of thee by the walles and in the doores of houſes, and ſpeake one to another, everie one to his brother, ſaying, Come, I pray you, and heare what is the word that commeth from the Lord.

31 For they come unto thee, as the people uſeth to come: and my people ſit before thee, and heare thy words, but they will not doe them: for with their mouths they make [q] jeſts, and their heart goeth after their covetouſneſſe.

CHAP. XXXIV.

2 Againſt the ſhepheards that deſpiſe the flock of Chriſt, and ſeeke their owne gaine. 7 The Lord ſaith that he will viſite his diſperſed flocke, and gather them together. 23 He promiſeth the true ſhepheard Chriſt, and with him peace.

AND the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying,

2 Sonne of man, propheſie againſt the ſhepheards of Iſrael, propheſie and ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord God unto the ſhepheards, * Woe be unto the [a] ſhepheards of Iſrael, that feed themſelves: ſhould not the ſhepheards feed the flockes?

3 Yee eat the [b] fat, and ye clothe you with the wooll: ye kill them that are fed, but ye feed not the ſheepe.

4 The [c] weake have ye not ſtrengthened, the ſicke have ye not healed, neither have ye bound up the broken, nor brought againe that which was driven away, neither have ye ſought that which was loſt, but with crueltie, and with rigour have ye ruled them.

5 And they were ſcattered without a ſhepheard: and when they were diſperſed, they were [d] devoured of all the beaſts of the field.

6 My ſheepe wandered through all the mountains, and upon every high hill: yea, my flock was ſcattered through all the earth, and none did ſeek or ſearch after them.

7 Therefore ye ſhepheards, heare the word of the Lord.

8 As I live, ſaith the Lord God, ſurely becauſe my flock was ſpoiled, and my ſheep were devoured of all the beaſts of the field: having no ſhepheard, neither did my ſhepheards ſeek my ſheep, but the ſhepheards fed themſelves and fed not my ſheepe,

9 Therefore, heare ye the word of the Lord, O ye ſhepheards.

10 Thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I come againſt the ſhepheards, and will require my ſheep at their hands, and cauſe them to ceaſe from feeding the ſheepe: neither ſhall the ſhepheards feed themſelves any more: for I will deliver my ſheep from [e] their mouthes, and they ſhall no more devoure them.

11 For thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I will ſearch my ſheep and ſeek them out.

12 As a ſhepheard ſearcheth out his flocke, when he hath beene among his ſheepe that are ſcattered, ſo will I ſeeke out my ſheep and will deliver them out of all places where they have been ſcattered in [f] the cloudy and darke day.

the people, and gather them from the countries, and will bring them to their own land, and feed them upon the mountaines of Iſrael, by the rivers, and in all the inhabited places of the countrie.

14 I will feed them in a good paſture, and upon the high mountaines of Iſrael ſhall their fold be: there ſhall they lie in a good fold, and in fat paſture ſhall they feed upon the mountaines of Iſrael.

15 I will feed my ſheep, and bring them to their reſt, ſaith the Lord God.

16 I will ſeek that which was loſt, and bring againe that which was driven away, and will binde up that which was broken, and will ſtrengthen the weake: but I will deſtroy the fat and the [g] ſtrong, and I will feed them with [h] judgement.

17 Alſo you my ſheep, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I judge betweene ſheepe, and ſheepe, between the rammes and the goates.

19 And my ſheepe eate that which ye have troden with your feet: and drinke that which ye have troubled with your feet.

20 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God unto them, Behold, I, even I will judge betweene the fat ſheeepe and the leane ſheepe.

21 Becauſe ye have thruſt with ſide and with ſhoulder, and puſht all the weake with your hornes, till ye have ſcattered them abroad,

22 Therefore will I helpe my ſheepe, and they ſhall no more be ſpoiled, and I will judge between ſheepe and ſheepe.

23 And I will ſet up a ſhepheard over them, and he ſhall feed them, even my ſervant [k] David, he ſhall feed them, and he ſhall be their ſhepheard.

24 And I the Lord will be their God, and my ſervant David ſhall be the prince among them. I the Lord have ſpoken it.

25 And I will make with them a covenant of peace, and will cauſe the evill beaſts to ceaſe out of the land: and they ſhall [l] dwell ſafely in the wilderneſſe, and ſleepe in the woods.

26 And I will ſet them, as a bleſſing even round about my mountaine: and I will cauſe raine to come down in due ſeaſon, and there ſhall be raine of bleſſing.

27 And the [m] tree of the field ſhall yeeld her fruit, and the earth ſhall give her fruit, and they ſhall be ſafe in the land, and ſhall know that I am the Lord, when I have broken the cords of their yoke, and delivered them out of the hands of thoſe that ſerved themſelves of them.

28 And they ſhall no more be ſpoiled of the heathen, neither ſhall the beaſts of the land devoure them, but they ſhall dwell ſafely and none ſhall make them afraid.

29 And I will raiſe up for them [n] a plant of renoume: and they ſhall be no more conſumed with hunger in the land, neither beare the reproach of the heathen any more.

30 Thus ſhall they underſtand that I the Lord their God am with them, and that they, even the houſe of Iſrael, are my people, ſaith the Lord God.

31 And ye my ſheep, the ſheep of my paſture are men, and I am your God, ſaith the Lord God.

CHAP. XXXV.

2 The deſtruction that ſhall come on mount Seir, becauſe they troubled the people of the Lord.

MOreover, the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying,

2 Sonne of man, ſet thy face againſt mount [a] Seir, and propheſie againſt it.

3 And ſay unto it, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, O mount Seir, I come againſt thee, and I will ſtretch out mine hand againſt thee, and will make thee deſolate and waſte.

4 I will lay thy cities waſte, and thou ſhalt be deſolate, and thou ſhalt know that I am the Lord.

5 Becauſe thou haſt had a perpetuall hatred, and haſt put the children of Iſrael to flight by the force of the ſword in the time of their calamitie, when their [b] iniquitie had an end.

6 Therefore as I live, ſaith the Lord God, I will prepare thee unto blood, and blood ſhall purſue thee: except thou [c] hate blood, even blood ſhall purſue thee.

7 Thus will I make mount Seir deſolate and waſte, and cut off from it him that paſſeth out and him that returneth.

8 And I will fill his mountaines with his ſlaine men: in thine hils, and in thy vallies, and in all thy rivers ſhall they fall, that are ſlaine with the ſword.

9 I will make thee perpetuall deſolations, and thy cities ſhall not [d] returne, and ye ſhall know that I am the Lord.

10 Becauſe thou haſt ſaid, [e] Theſe two nations, and theſe two countries ſhall be mine, and we will poſſeſſe them (ſeeing the Lord was [f] there.)

14 Thus ſaith the Lord God, So ſhall all the world rejoice when I ſhall make thee deſolate.

15 As thou didſt rejoice at the inheritance of the houſe of Iſrael, becauſe it was deſolate, ſo will I doe unto thee: thou ſhalt be deſolate, O mount Seir, and all Idumea wholly, and they ſhall know that I am the Lord.

Chap. XXXVI.

8 He promiſeth to deliver Iſrael from the Gentiles. 22 The benefits done unto the Iewes, are to be aſcribed to the mercie of God, and not unto their deſervings. 26 God renueth our hearts, that we may walke in his commandements.

ALſo thou ſonne of man propheſie unto the * mountaines of Iſrael, and ſay, ye mountaines of Iſrael, heare the word of the Lord.

* Chap. 6. 2.

2 Thus ſaith the Lord God, Becauſe the [a] enemie hath ſaid againſt you, Aha, even the [b] high places of the world are ours in poſſeſſion,

[a] That is, the Idumean.
[b] That is, Jeruſalem, which for Gods promiſes was the chiefeſt of all the world.

3 Therefore propheſie, and ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Becauſe that they have made you deſolate and ſwallowed you up on every ſide, that yee might be a poſſeſſion unto the reſidue of the heathen, and ye are come unto the lips and [c] tongues of men, and unto the reproach of the people,

[c] Ye are made a matter of talke and deriſion to all the world.

4 Therefore ye mountaines of Iſrael, heare the word of the Lord God, Thus ſaith the Lord God to the mountaines and to the hilles, to the rivers and to the valleyes, and to the waſte, and deſolate places, and to the cities that are forſaken: which are ſpoiled and had in deriſion of the reſidue of the heathen that are round about.

5 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, Surely, in the fire of mine indignation have I ſpoken againſt the reſidue of the heathen, and againſt all Idumea, which [d] have taken my land for their poſſeſſion, with the joy of all their heart, and with deſpitefull mindes, to caſt it out for a prey.

[d] They appointed with themſelves to have it, and therefore came with Nebuchadnezzar againſt Jeruſalem for this purpoſe.

6 Propheſie therefore upon the land of Iſrael, and ſay unto the mountaines, and to the hils, to the rivers and to the valleys, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I have ſpoken in mine indignation, and in my wrath, becauſe ye have ſuffered the [e] ſhame of the heathen, [e] Becauſe you have been a laughing ſtocke unto them.

7 Therfore thus ſaith the Lord God, I have [f] lifted up mine hand, ſurely the heathen that are about you ſhall beare their ſhame.

[f] By making a ſolemne oath, read Chap. 20. 5.

8 But you, O mountaines of Iſrael, ye ſhall [g] ſhoote for your branches, and bring forth your fruit to my people of Iſrael: for they are ready to come.

[g] God declareth his mercies and goodneſſe toward his Church, who ſtil preſerveth his, even when he deſtroieth his enemies.

9 For behold, I come unto you, and I will turne unto you, and ye ſhall be tilled and ſowne.

10 And I will multiply the men upon you, even all the houſe of Iſrael wholly, and the cities ſhall be inhabited, and the deſolate places ſhall be builded.

11 And I will multiply upon you man and beaſt, and they ſhall increaſe and bring fruit, and I will cauſe you to dwell after your old eſtate, and I will beſtow benefits upon you more then [h] at the firſt, and ye ſhall know that I am the Lord.

[h] Which was accompliſhed under Chriſt, to whom all theſe temporall deliverances did direct them.

12 Yea, I will cauſe men to walke upon [i] you, even my people Iſrael, and they ſhall poſſeſſe ‡ you, and ye ſhall be their inheritance, and ye ſhall no more henceforth deprive them of men.

[i] That is, upon the mountaines of Jeruſalem.
‡ Or, thee.

13 Thus ſaith the Lord God, Becauſe they ſay unto you, Thou [k] land devoureſt up men, and haſt been a waſter of thy people.

[k] This the enemies imputed as the reproch of the land, which God did for the ſinnes of the people according to his juſt judgements.

14 Therefore thou ſhalt devoure men no more, neither waſte thy people henceforth, ſaith the Lord God,

15 Neither will I cauſe men to heare in thee the ſhame of the heathen any more, neither ſhalt thou beare the reproch of the people any more, neither ſhalt cauſe thy folke to fall any more, ſaith the Lord God.

16 ¶ Moreover the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying,

17 Sonne of man, when the houſe of Iſrael dwelt in their owne land, they defiled it by their owne waies, and by their deeds: their way was before me as the filthineſſe of the menſtruous.

18 Wherefore I powred my wrath upon them, for the blood that they had ſhed in the land, and for the idoles, wherewith they had poluted it.

19 And I ſcattered them among the heathen, and they were diſperſed through the countries: for according to their waies, and according to their deeds, I judged them.

mine holy Name, when they ſaid of them, Theſe are the people of the Lord, and are gone out of his land.

21 But I favoured mine holy [l] Name which the houſe of Iſrael had poluted among the heathen, whither they went.

22 Therefore ſay unto the houſe of Iſrael, Thus ſaith the Lord God, I doe not this for your ſakes, O houſe of Iſrael, but for mine [m] holy Names ſake, which ye poluted among the heathen whither ye went.

23 And I will ſanctifie my great Name, which was poluted among the heathen, among whom ye have poluted it, and the heathen ſhall know that I am the Lord, ſaith the Lord God, when I ſhall be ſanctified in you before ‡ their eyes.

24 For I will take you from among the heathen, and gather you out of all countries, and will bring you into your owne land.

25 Then will I powre cleane [n] water upon you, and ye ſhall be clean: yea, from all your filthineſſe, and from all your idols will I cleanſe you.

26 * A new heart alſo will I give you, and a new ſpirit will I put within you, and I will take away the ſtony heart out of your body, and I will give you an heart of fleſh.

27 And I will put my ſpirit within you, and cauſe you to walke in my ſtatutes, and yee ſhall keepe my judgements and doe them.

28 And ye ſhall dwell in the land that I gave to your fathers, and ye ſhall be my people, and I will be your God.

29 I will alſo deliver you from all your filthineſſe, and I will call for [o] corne, and will increaſe it, and lay no famine upon you.

30 For I will multiply the fruit of the trees, and the increaſe of the field, that ye ſhall beare no more the reproach of famine among the heathen.

31 Then ſhall ye remember your own wicked waies, and your deeds that were not good, and ſhall judge your ſelves worthy to have been [p] deſtroied for your iniquities, and for your abominations.

32 Be it known unto you that I doe not this for your ſakes, ſaith the Lord God: therefore, O ye houſe of Iſrael, be aſhamed, and confounded for your owne waies.

33 Thus ſaith the Lord God, What time as I ſhall have cleanſed you from all your iniquities, I will cauſe you to dwell in the cities, and the deſolate places ſhall be bulded.

34 And the deſolate land ſhall be tilled, whereas it lay waſte in the ſight of all that paſſed by.

35 For they ſaid, This waſte land was like the garden of Eden, and theſe waſte and deſolate and ruinous cities were ſtrong, and were inhabited.

36 Then the reſidue of the heathen that are left round about you, ſhall [q] know that I the Lord build the ruinous places, and plant the deſolate places: I the Lord have ſpoken it, and will doe it.

37 Thus ſaith the Lord God, I will yet for this be ſought of the houſe of Iſrael, to performe it unto them: I will increaſe them with men like a flocke.

38 As the holy flocke, as the flocke of Jeruſalem in their ſolemne feaſts, ſo ſhall the deſolate cities bee filled with flockes of men, and they ſhall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXVII.

1 He propheſieth the bringing againe of the people, being in captivity. 16 He ſheweth the union of the ten tribes with the two.

THe hand of the Lord was upon me, and caried me out in the Spirit of the Lord, and ſet me downe in the midſt of the ‡ field, which was full of [a] bones.

2 And he led me round about by them, and behold, there were very many in the open field, and loe, they were very dry.

3 And he ſaid unto me, Son of man, can theſe bones live? And I anſwered, O Lord God, thou knoweſt.

4 Again, he ſaid unto me, Propheſie upon theſe bones, and ſay unto them, O ye drie bones, heare the word of the Lord.

5 Thus ſaith the Lord God unto theſe bones, Behold, I will cauſe breath to enter into you, and ye ſhall live.

6 And I will lay ſinews upon you, and make fleſh grow upon you, and cover you with skin, and put breath in you, that ye may live, and ye ſhall know that I am the Lord.

7 So I propheſied, as I was commanded: and as I propheſied, there was a noiſe, and behold, there was a ſhaking, and the bones came together, bone to his bone.

8 And when I beheld, lo, the ſinews, and the fleſh grew upon them, and above, the skin covered them, but there was no breath in them.

9 Then ſaid he unto me, Propheſie unto the wind: propheſie ſon of man, and ſay to the wind, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Come from the foure [b] winds, O breath, and breath upon theſe ſlaine, that they may live.

10 So I propheſied as he had commanded me: and the breath came into them,

---

[l] And therefore vvould not ſuffer my Name to bee had in contempt as the heathen would have reproached me, if I had ſuffered my Church to periſh.

[m] This excludeth from man all dignity, and meane to deſerve any thing by, ſeeing that God referreth the whole to himſelfe, and that onely for the glory of his holy Name.

‡ Or, your.

[n] That is, his Spirit, vvhereby hee reformeth the heart, and regenerateth his, Iſa. 44. 3.

* Ier. 32. 39. chap. 11. 19.

[o] Vnder the abundance of temporal benefits he concludeth the ſpirituall graces.

[p] Ye ſhall come to true repentance, and thinke your ſelves unworthy to be of the number of Gods creatures for your ingratitude againſt him.

[q] He declareth that it ought not to be referred to the ſoile or plentifulneſſe of the earth, that any countrey is rich, and abundant, but onely to Gods mercies, as his plagues, and curſes declare, vvhen hee maketh it barren.

‡ Or, valley.

[a] He ſheweth by a greater miracle, that God hath power, and alſo vvill deliver his people from their captivity, in as much as he is able to give life unto the dead bones, and bodies, and raiſe them up againe.

[b] Signifying, all parts, vvhereas the Iſraelites vvere ſcattered: that is, the faithfull ſhall be brought to the ſame unity of ſpirit, and doctrine, vvhereſoever they are ſcattered thorow the vvorld.

and they lived, and ſtood up upon their feet, an exceeding great armie.

11 Then he ſaid unto me, Son of man, theſe bones are the whole houſe of Iſrael. Behold, they ſay, Our bones are dried, and our hope is gone away, and we are cleane cut off.

12 Therefore propheſie, and ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, my people, I will open your graves, and cauſe you to come up out of your ſepulchres, and bring you into the land of Iſrael,

13 And yee ſhall know that I am the Lord, [c] when I have opened your graves, O my people, and brought you up out of your ſepulchres, [c] That is, when I have brought you out of thoſe places, and townes where you are captives.

14 And ſhall put my Spirit in you, and ye ſhall live, and I ſhall place you in your owne land: then ye ſhall know that I the Lord have ſpoken it, and performed it, ſaith the Lord.

15 ¶ The word of the Lord came then againe unto me, ſaying,

16 Moreover, thou ſon of man, take thee a piece of wood, and write upon it, Unto Judah, and to the children of Iſrael his companions: then take [d] another piece of wood, and write upon it, Unto Joſeph the tree of Ephraim, and to all the houſe of Iſrael his companions.

[d] Which ſignifieth the joyning together of the two houſes of Iſrael and Iudah.

17 And thou ſhalt joyne them one to another into one tree, and they ſhall be as one in thine hand.

18 And when the children of thy people ſhall ſpeake unto thee, ſaying, Wilt thou not ſhew us what thou meaneſt by theſe?

19 Thou ſhalt anſwer them, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I will take the tree [e] of Joſeph, which is in the hand of Ephraim, and the tribes of Iſrael his fellows, and will put them with him, even with the tree of Judah, and make them one tree, and they ſhall bee one in mine hand.

[e] That is, the houſe of Iſrael.

20 And the pieces of wood, whereon thou writeſt, ſhall be in thine hand in their ſight.

21 And ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I will take the children of Iſrael from among the heathen, whether they be gone, and will gather them on every ſide, and bring them into their owne land.

22 And I will make them one people in the land, upon the mountaines of Iſrael, * and one king ſhall bee king to them all: and they ſhall be no more two people, neither bee divided any more henceforth into two kingdomes.

* Iohn 10.16.

23 Neither ſhall they be poluted any more with their idols, nor with their abominations, nor with any of their tranſgreſſions: but I will ſave them out of all their dwelling places, wherein they have ſinned, and will cleanſe them: ſo ſhall they be my people, and I will bee their God.

24 And David my * ſervant ſhall bee king over them, and they ſhall have one ſhepheard: they ſhall alſo walke in my judgements, and obſerve my ſtatutes, and doe them.

* Iſa. 40.11. Ier. 23.5. chap. 34.23. Dan. 9. 24.

25 And they ſhall dwell in the [f] land, that I have given unto Jaakob my ſervant, where your fathers have dwelt, and they ſhall dwell therein, even they, and their ſonnes, and their ſonnes ſonnes for ever, and my ſervant David ſhall be their prince for ever.

[f] Meaning, that the elect by Chriſt ſhall dwell in the heavenly Jeruſalem, which is meant by the land of Canaan.

26 Moreover, I will make * a covenant of peace with them: it ſhall be an everlaſting covenant with them, and I will place them, and multiply them, and will ſet my Sanctuary among them for evermore.

* Pſal. 109.4. and 116.2.

27 My Tabernacle alſo ſhall bee with them: yea, I will be their God, and they ſhall be my people.

28 Thus the heathen ſhall know, that I the Lord doe ſanctifie Iſrael, when my Sanctuary ſhall bee among them for evermore.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

2 Hee propheſieth that Gog and Magog ſhall fight with great power againſt the people of God. 21 Their deſtruction.

AND the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying,

2 Son of man, ſet thy face againſt [a] Gog, and againſt the land of Magog, the chiefe prince of Meſhech and Tubal, and propheſie againſt him.

[a] Which was a people that came of Magog, the ſon of Japhet, Gen. 10.2. Magog alſo here ſignifieth a certaine countrey, ſo that by theſe two countries, which had the government of Grecia and Italy, hee meaneth the principall enemies of the Church, Rev. 20.8.

3 And ſay, thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I come againſt thee, O Gog the chiefe prince of Meſhech and Tubal.

4 And I will deſtroy thee, and put hooks in thy jawes, and I will bring thee forth, and all thine hoſte, both horſes, and horſemen, all clothed with all ſorts of armour, even a great multitude with bucklers, and ſhields, all [b] handling ſwords.

[b] He ſheweth that the enemies ſhould bend themſelves againſt the Church, but it ſhould be to their owne deſtruction.

5 They of [c] Paras, of Cuſh, and Phut with them, even all they that beare ſhield and helmet.

[c] The Perſians, Ethiopians, & men of Africa.

6 [d] Gomer and all his bands, and the houſe of Togarmah of the North quarters, and all his bands, and much people with thee.

[d] Gomer was Iaphets ſon, and Togarmah the ſon of Gomer, and are thought to be they that inhabite Aſia minor.

7 Prepare thy ſelfe, and [e] make thee ready, both thou, and all thy multitude, that are aſſembled unto thee, and bee thou their ſafegard.

[e] Signifying, that all the people of the world ſhould aſſemble themſelves againſt the Church, & Chriſt their head.

8 After many daies thou ſhalt be viſited: for in the latter yeares thou ſhalt come into the land, that hath been deſtroied with the ſword, and is gathered out of many people upon the mountaines of Iſrael, which have long laine waſte: yet ‡ they have been brought out of the people, and they ſhall dwell all ſafe.

‡ Or, it: meaning, the land of Iſrael.

9 Thou ſhalt aſcend and come up like a tempeſt, and ſhalt be like a cloud to cover the land, both thou, and all thy bands, and many people with thee.

10 Thus ſaith the Lord God, Even at the ſame time ſhall many things come into thy minde, and thou ſhalt thinke [f] evill thoughts.

[f] That is, to moleſt and deſtroy the Church.

11 And thou ſhalt ſay, I will goe up to the land that hath no walled towers: [g] I wil goe to them that are at reſt, and dwell in ſafety, which dwell all without walls, and have neither barres nor gates,

[g] Meaning, Iſrael, which had now been deſtroied, & vvas not yet built againe: declaring hereby the ſimplicity of the godly, vvho ſeeke not ſo much to fortifie themſelves by outward force, as to depend on the providence and goodneſſe of God.

12 Thinking to ſpoile the prey, and to take a bootie, to turne thine hand upon the deſolate places that are now inhabited, and upon the people, that are gathered out of the nations which have gotten cattell and goods, and dwell in the mids of the land.

13 Sheba and Dedan, and the merchants of Tarſhiſh, with all the lions thereof ſhall ſay unto thee, [h] Art thou come to ſpoile the prey? haſt thou gathered thy multitude to take a booty? to cary away ſilver and gold, to take away cattell and goods, and to ſpoile a great prey?

[h] One enemy ſhall envie another, becauſe every one ſhall think to have the ſpoile of the Church.

14 Therefore, Sonne of man, propheſie, and ſay unto Gog, Thus ſaith the Lord God, In that day when my people Iſrael [i] dwelleth ſafe, ſhalt thou not know it?

[i] Shalt not thou ſpy thine occaſions to come againſt my Church when they ſuſpect nothing?

15 And come from thy place out of the North parts, thou and much people with thee? all ſhall ride upon horſes, even a great multitude and a mighty army.

16 And thou ſhalt come up againſt my people of Iſrael, as a cloud to cover the land: thou ſhalt bee in the [k] latter daies, and I will bring thee upon my land, that the heathen may know mee, when I [l] ſhall be ſanctified in thee, O Gog, before their eyes.

[k] Meaning, in the laſt age, and from the comming of Chriſt unto the end of the world.

[l] Signifying, that God will bee ſanctified by maintaining his Church, and deſtroying his enemies, as Chap. 36. 23. & 37. 28.

17 Thus ſaith the Lord God, Art not thou hee of whom I have ſpoken in old time, [m] by the hand of my ſervants the Prophets of Iſrael, which propheſied in thoſe daies, and yeares, that I would bring thee upon them?

[m] Hereby he declareth that none affliction can come to the Church, vvhereof they have not been advertiſed aforetime, to teach them to indure all things vvith more patience vvhen they know that God hath ſo ordained.

18 At the ſame time alſo when Gog ſhall come againſt the land of Iſrael, ſaith the Lord God, my wrath ſhall ariſe in mine anger.

19 For in mine indignation and in the fire of my wrath have I ſpoken it: ſurely at that time there ſhall be a great ſhaking in the land of Iſrael,

20 So that the fiſhes of the Sea, and the foules of the heaven, and the beaſts of the field, and all that move and creepe upon the earth, and all the men that are upon the earth, ſhall tremble at my preſence, and the mountaines ſhall be overthrowne, and the [n] ſtars ſhall fall, and every wall ſhall fall to the ground.

[n] All meanes whereby man ſhould think to ſave himſelfe ſhall faile, the affliction in thoſe daies ſhall bee ſo great, and the deſtruction ſhall bee ſo terrible.

21 For I will call for a ſword againſt him [o] throughout all my mountaines, ſaith the Lord God: every mans ſword ſhall be againſt his brother.

[o] Againſt the people of Gog and Magog.

22 And I will plead againſt him with peſtilence, and with blood, and I will cauſe to raine upon him and upon his bands, and upon the great people that are with him, a ſore raine and haileſtones, fire and brimſtone.

23 Thus will I be * magnified and ſanctified, and known in the eyes of many nations, and they ſhall know, that I am the Lord.

* Chap 36. 23. and 37. 28.

Chap. XXXIX.

1 He ſheweth the deſtruction of Gog and Magog. 11 The graves of Gog and his hoſte. 17 They ſhall be devoured of birds and beaſts. 23 Wherefore the houſe of Iſrael is captive. 24 Their bringing againe from captivity is promiſed.

Therefore, thou ſon of man, propheſie againſt Gog, and ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I come againſt thee, O Gog, the chiefe prince of Meſhech and Tubal.

2 And I will deſtroy thee, [a] and leave but the ſixth part of thee, and will cauſe thee to come up from the North parts, and will bring thee upon the mountaines of Iſrael:

[a] Or deſtroy thee vvith ſixe plagues, as Chap 38. 22.

3 And I will ſmite thy bow out of thy left hand, and I will cauſe thine arrows to fall out of thy right hand.

4 Thou [b] ſhalt fall upon the mountaines of Iſrael, and all thy bands, and the people that is with thee: for I will give thee unto the birds, and to every feathered foule and beaſt of the field to be devoured.

[b] Meaning, that by the vertue of Gods vvord, the enemy ſhall be deſtroyed vvhereſoever hee aſſaileth his Church.

5 Thou ſhalt fall upon the open field: for I have ſpoken it, ſaith the Lord God.

6 And I will ſend a fire on Magog, and among them that dwell ſafely in the [c] Iſles, and they ſhall know that I am the Lord.

[c] That is, among all nations where the enemies of my people dwell, ſeem they never ſo far ſeparate.

7 So will I make mine holy Name knowne in the midſt of my people Iſrael, and I will not ſuffer them to polute mine holy Name any more, and the heathen ſhall know that I am the Lord, the Holy one of Iſrael.

8 Behold, [d] it is come, and it is done, ſaith the Lord God: this is the day whereof I have ſpoken.

[d] That is, this plague is fully determined in my counſell, and cannot be changed.

9 And they that dwell in the cities of Iſrael, ſhall [e] goe forth, and ſhall burne and ſet fire upon the weapons, and on the ſhields, and bucklers, upon the bowes, and upon the arrowes, and upon the ſtaves in their hands, and upon the ſpeares, and they ſhall burne them with fire ſeven yeares.

[e] After this deſtruction the Church ſhall have great peace and tranquilitie, and burne all their weapons, becauſe they ſhal no more feare the enemy: and this is chiefly meant of the accompliſhment of Chriſts kingdom, when by their head Chriſt, all enemies ſhall bee overcome.

10 So that they ſhall bring no wood out of the field, neither cut downe any out of the forreſts: for they ſhall burne the weapons with fire, and they ſhall robbe thoſe that robbed them: and ſpoile thoſe that ſpoiled them, ſaith the Lord God.

11 And at the ſame time will I give unto Gog [f] a place there for buriall in Iſrael, even the valley whereby men goe toward the Eaſt part of the ſea: and it ſhall cauſe them that paſſe by, to ſtop their [g] noſes, and there ſhall they bury Gog with all his multitude: and they ſhall call it the valley of ‡ Hamon-Gog.

[f] Which declareth, that the enemies ſhall have an horrible fall.

[g] For the ſtinke of the carkeiſes.

‡ Or, of the multitude of Gog.

12 [h] And ſeven months long ſhall the houſe of Iſrael be burying of them, that they may cleanſe the land,

[h] Meaning, a long time.

13 Yea, all the people of the land ſhall burie them, and they ſhall have a name when I ſhall bee glorified, ſaith the Lord God.

14 And they ſhall chuſe men to goe continually through the [i] land with them that travell, to bury thoſe that remaine upon the ground, to clenſe it: they ſhal ſearch to the end of ſeven moneths.

[i] Partly, that the holy land ſhould not bee polluted, and partly, for the compaſſion that the children of God have, even on their enemies.

15 And the travellers that paſſe through the land, if any ſee a mans bone, then ſhall he ſet up a ſigne by it, till the buriers have buried it, in the valley of Hamon-Gog.

16 And alſo the name of the citie ſhall bee ‡ Hamonah: thus ſhall they cleanſe the land.

17 And thou ſonne of man, thus ſaith the Lord God, Speake unto every feathered foule, and to all the beaſts of the field, Aſſemble your ſelves, and come: [k] gather your ſelves on every ſide to my ſacrifice: for I doe ſacrifice a great ſacrifice for you upon the mountaines of Iſrael, that yee may eate fleſh, and drinke blood.

[k] Whereby hee ſignifieth the horrible deſtruction that ſhould come upon the enemies of his Church.

18 Yee ſhall eat the fleſh of the valiant, and drinke the blood of the princes of the earth, of the weathers, of the lambs, and of the goates, and of bullocks, even of all fat beaſts of Baſhan.

19 And ſhall eate fat till yee bee full, and drinke blood till ye be drunken of my ſacrifice which I have ſacrificed for you.

20 Thus you ſhall be filled at my table with horſes and chariots, with valiant men, and with all men of warre, ſaith the Lord God.

21 And I will ſet my glory among the heathen, and all the heathen ſhall ſee my judgement that I have executed, and mine hand, which I have laid upon them.

22 So the houſe of Iſrael ſhall know, that I am the Lord their God from that day, and ſo forth.

23 And the heathen ſhall know, that the houſe of Iſrael went into captivitie for [l] their iniquitie, becauſe they treſpaſſed againſt me: therefore hid I my face from them, and gave them into the hand of their enemies: ſo fell they all by the ſword.

[l] The heathen ſhall know that they overcame not my people by their ſtrength, neither yet by the weakeneſſe of mine arme, but that this was for my peoples ſinnes.

24 According to their uncleanneſſe, and according to their tranſgreſſions have I done unto them, and hid my face from them.

25 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, Now will I bring againe the captivitie of Jaakob, and have compaſſion upon the whole houſe of Iſrael, and will be jealous for mine holy Name.

26 After that they have borne their ſhame, and al their tranſgreſſion, whereby they have tranſgreſſed againſt me, when they dwelt ſafely in their land, and without feare of any.

27 When I have brought them againe from the people, and gathered them out of their enemies lands, and am * ſanctified in them in the ſight of many nations,

* Chap. 36. 23.

28 Then ſhall they know that I am the Lord their God, which cauſed them to bee led into captivitie among the heathen: but I have gathered them unto their owne land, and have left none of them any more there, 29 Neither will I hide my face any more from them: for I have powred out my Spirit upon the houſe of Iſrael, ſaith the Lord God.

CHAP. XL.

The reſtoring of the citie and the Temple.

IN the five and twentieth yeare of our being in captivitie, in the [a] beginning of the yeare, in the tenth day of the moneth, in the foureteenth yeare after that the citie was ſmitten, in the ſelfe ſame day, the hand of the Lord was upon mee, and brought me thither.

[a] The Jewes coũted the beginning of the yeare after two ſorts: for their feaſts they began to count in March, and for their other affaires in September: ſo that this is to be underſtood of September.

2 Into the land of Iſrael brought he me by ‡ a divine viſion, and ſet me upon a very high mountaine, whereupon was as the building of a citie toward the South.

‡ Or, viſions of God.

3 And he brought me thither, and behold, there was a [b] man, whoſe ſimilitude was to looke to like braſſe, with a linnen threed in his hand, and a reed to meaſure with: and he ſtood at the gate.

[b] Which was an Angel in forme of a man, that came to meaſure out this building.

4 And the man ſaid unto me, Sonne of man, behold with thine eies, and heare with thine eares, and ſet thine heart upon all that I ſhall ſhew thee: for to the intent that they might be ſhewed thee, art thou brought hither: declare all that thou ſeeſt unto the houſe of Iſrael.

5 And behold, I ſaw a wall on the outſide of the houſe round about: and in the mans hand was a reed to meaſure with, of ſix cubits long, by the cubite, and an hand breadth: ſo hee meaſured the breadth of the building with one reede, and the height with one reede.

6 Then came he unto the gate, which looketh toward the Eaſt, and went up the ſtaires thereof, and meaſured the ‡ poſt of the gate, which was one reede broad, and ‡ the other poſt of the gate, which was one reed broad.

7 And every chamber was one reed long, and one reed broad, and betweene the chambers were five cubits: and the poſt of the gate by the porch of the gate within was one reed.

8 He meaſured alſo the porch of the gate within, with one reed.

9 Then meaſured hee the porch of the gate of eight cubits, and the ‡ poſts thereof, of two cubits, and the porch of the gate was inward.

10 And the Chambers of the gate Eaſtward, were three on this ſide, and three on that ſide: they three were of one meaſure, and the poſts had one meaſure on this ſide, and one on that ſide.

11 And hee meaſured the breadth of the entrie of the gate tenne cubits, and the height of the gate thirteene cubits.

12 The ſpace alſo before the chambers was one cubit on this ſide, and the ſpace was one cubit on that ſide, and the chambers were ſixe cubits on this ſide, and ſixe cubits on that ſide.

13 Hee meaſured then the gate from the roofe of a chamber to the top of the gate: the breadth was five and twentie cubits, doore againſt doore.

14 He made alſo poſts of threeſcore cubits, and the poſts of the court, and of the gate had one meaſure round about.

15 And upon the forefront of the entrie of the gate unto the forefront of the porch of the gate within, were fiftie cubites.

16 And there were narrow windowes in the chambers, and in their poſts within the gate round about, and likewiſe to the arches: and the windowes went round about within: and upon the poſtes were palme trees.

17 ¶ Then brought he mee into the outward court, and loe, there were chambers, and a pavement made for the court round about, and thirtie chambers were upon the pavement.

18 And the pavement was by the ſide of the gates over againſt the length of the gates, and the pavement was beneath.

19 Then hee meaſured the breadth from the forefront of the lower gate without unto the forefront of the court within, an hundreth cubites Eaſtward and Northward.

20 And the gate of the outward court, that looked toward the North, meaſured hee after: the length and breadth thereof.

21 And the chambers thereof, were three on this ſide, and three on that ſide, and the poſtes thereof, and the arches thereof, were after the meaſure of the firſt gate: the length thereof was fiftie cubites, and the breadth five and twenty cubites.

22 And there windowes and their arches, with their palme trees, were after the meaſure of the gate that looketh toward the Eaſt, and the going up unto it had ſeven ſteppes, and the arches thereof were before them.

23 And the gate of the inner court ſtood over againſt the gate toward the North, and toward the Eaſt, and hee meaſured from gate to gate an hundreth cubites.

24 After that, he brought me toward the South, and loe, there was a gate toward the South, and hee meaſured the poſts thereof, and the arches thereof according to theſe meaſures.

25 And there were windowes in it, and in the arches thereof round about like thoſe windowes: the height was fiftie cubites, and the breadth five and twentie cubites.

26 And there were ſeven ſteps to goe up to it, and the arches thereof were before them: and it had palme trees, one on this ſide, and another on that ſide upon the poſts thereof.

27 ¶ And there was a gate in the inner Court toward the South, and hee meaſured from gate to gate toward the South an hundred cubites.

28 And he brought me into the inner Court by the South gate, and hee meaſured the South gate according to theſe meaſures.

29 And the chambers thereof, and the poſts thereof, and the arches thereof, according to theſe meaſures, and there were windowes in it, and the arches thereof round about, it was fiftie cubites long, and five and twentie cubites broad.

30 And the arches round about were five and twenty cubites long, and five cubites broad.

31 And the arches thereof were toward the utter court, and palme trees were upon the poſts thereof, and the going up to it had eight ſteps.

32 ¶ Again, he brought me into the inner [e] court toward the Eaſt, and he meaſured the gate according to theſe meaſures, [e] In all he maketh ſix courts, two on the Eaſt ſide, two on the North, and two one the South ſide.

33 And the poſts thereof, and the arches thereof were according to theſe meaſures, and there were windows therein, and in the arches thereof round about, it was fifty cubits long, and five and twenty cubits broad.

34 And the arches thereof were toward the utter court, and palme trees were upon the poſts thereof, on this ſide and on that ſide, and the going up to it had eight ſteps.

35 ¶ After, he brought me to the North gate, and meaſured it, according to theſe meaſures, 36 The chambers thereof, the poſts thereof, and the arches thereof, and there were windows therein round about: the height was fifty cubits, and the breadth five and twenty cubites.

37 And the poſts thereof were toward the utter court, and palme trees were upon the poſts thereof on this ſide, and on that ſide, and the going up to it had eight ſteps.

38 And every [f] chamber, and the entry thereof was under the poſts of the gates: there they waſhed the burnt offering.

[f] He ſpeaketh of ſix chambers, which were in the porch of the inner court on the north ſide.

39 And in the porch of the gate ſtood two tables on this ſide, and two tables on that ſide, upon the which they ſlew the burnt-offering, and the ſin-offering, and the treſpaſſe-offering.

40 And at the ſides beyong the ſteps, at the entrie of the North gate ſtoode two tables, and on the other ſide, which was at the porch of the gate were two tables.

41 Foure tables were on this ſide, and foure tables on that ſide, by the ſide of the gate, even eight tables whereupon they ſlew their ſacrifice.

42 And the foure tables were of hewen ſtone for the burnt-offering, of a cubit and an half long, and a cubite and an half broad, and one cubite high: whereupon alſo they laid the inſtruments wherewith they ſlew the burnt-offering and the ſacrifice.

43 And within were bordes an hand broad faſtned round about, and upon the tables lay the fleſh of the offering.

44 And without the inner gate were the chambers of the ſingers in the inner court, which was at the ſide of the North gate: and their proſpect was toward the South, and one was at the ſide of the Eaſt gate, having the proſpect toward the North.

45 And he ſaid unto me, This chamber whoſe proſpect is toward the South, is for the Prieſts that have the charge to keep the houſe.

46 And the chamber whoſe proſpect is toward the North, is for the Prieſts that have the charge to keepe the Altar: theſe are the ſonnes of Zadok among the ſonnes of Levi, which may come neere to the Lord to miniſter unto him.

47 So he meaſured the court, an hundreth cubites long, and an hundreth cubits broad, even foure ſquare: likewiſe the Altar that was before the houſe.

48 And he brought me to the porch of the houſe, and meaſured the [g] poſts of the porch, five cubites on this ſide, and five cubites on that ſide: and the breadth of the gate was three cubites on this ſide, and three cubites on that ſide.

[g] By the poſts of the porch, he meaeth the wall which was five cubites thick on either ſide of the alley or porch.

49 The length of the porch was twenty cubits, and the breadth eleven cubits, and he brought me by the ſteps whereby they went up to it, and there were pillars by the poſts, one on this ſide, and another on that ſide.

CHAP. XLI.

1 The diſpoſition and order of the building of the Temple, and the other things thereto belonging.

AFterward he brought me to the Temple, and meaſured the poſts, ſix cubites broad on the one ſide, and ſix cubites broad on the other ſide, which was the breadth of the Tabernacle.

2 And the breadth of the entrie was ten cubites, and the ſides of the entry were five cubits on the one ſide, and five cubites on the other ſide, and he meaſured the length thereof forty cubits, and the breadth twenty cubites.

3 Then went [a] he in, and meaſured the poſts of the entry two cubites, and the entry ſix cubites, and the breadth of the entry ſeven cubites.

[a] The Angel went into the moſt holy place.

4 So he meaſured the length thereof twenty cubits, and the breadth twenty cubites before the Temple. And he ſaid unto me, This is the moſt holy place.

5 After, he meaſured the wall of the houſe, ſix cubites, and the breadth of every chamber, foure cubites round about the houſe, on every ſide.

6 And the chambers were chamber upon chamber, three and thirty foot high, and they entred into the wall made for the chambers which was round about the houſe, that the poſts might be faſtned therein, and not be faſtned in the wall of the houſe.

7 And it was large, and went round, mounting upward to the chambers: for the ſtaire of the houſe was mounting upward round about the houſe: therefore the houſe was larger upward: ſo they went up from the loweſt chamber to the higheſt by the mids.

8 I ſaw alſo the houſe high round about: the foundations of the chambers were a full reed of ſix great cubits.

9 The thickneſſe of the wall which was for the chamber without, was five cubits, and that which remained was the place of the chambers that were within.

10 And between the chambers was the wideneſſe of twenty cubits round about the houſe on every ſide.

11 And the doores of the chambers were toward the place that remained, one doore toward the North, and another doore toward the South, and the breadth of the place that remained, was five cubits round about.

12 Now the building that was before the ſeparate place toward the Weſt corner, was ſeventy cubites broad, and the wall of the building was five cubites thick, round about, and the length ninetie cubites.

13 So he meaſured the houſe an hundred cubits long, and the ſeparate place and the building with the walls thereof were an hundred cubits long.

14 Alſo the breadth of the forefront of the houſe, and of the ſeparate place toward the Eaſt, was an hundred cubits.

15 And he meaſured the length of the building, over againſt the ſeparate place, which was behinde it, and the chambers on the one ſide and on the other ſide an hundred cubits with the Temple within, and the arches of the court.

16 The poſts and the narrow windows, and the chambers round about, on [b] three ſides over againſt the poſts, ſieled with cedar wood round about, and from the ground up to the windows, and the windows were ſieled.

[b] He declareth that whatſoever was of ſtone work from the bottome to the top, was covered with wood on the Eaſt, South and North ſides.

17 And from above the doore unto the innerhouſe and without, and by all the wall round about within and without it was ſieled according to the meaſure.

18 And it was made with Cherubims and palm-trees, ſo that a palm-tree was between a Cerub and a Cherub: and every Cherub had two faces.

19 So that the face of a man was toward the palm-tree on the one ſide, and the face of a lion toward the palm-tree one the other ſide: thus was it made through all the houſe round about.

20 From the ground unto above the doore were Cherubims and palm-trees made as in the wall of the Temple.

21 The poſts of the Temple were ſquared, and thus to look unto was the ſimilitude and form of the Sanctuary.

22 The Altar of wood was three cubits high, and the length thereof two cubites, and the corners thereof, and the length thereof, and the ſides thereof were of wood. And he ſaid unto me, This is the table that ſhall be before the Lord.

23 And the Temple and the Sanctuary had two doores.

24 And the doores had two wickets, even two turning wickets, two wickets for one doore, and two wickets for another doore.

25 And upon the doores of the Temple there were made Cherubims and palm-trees, like as was made upon the walles, and there were thick planks upon the forefront of the porch without.

26 And there were narrow windows and palm-trees on the one ſide, and on the other ſide, by the ſides of the porch, and upon the ſides of the houſe, and thick planks.

CHAP. XLII.

Of the chambers of the Temple for the Prieſts, and the holy things.

THen brought he me into the utter court by the way toward the North, and he brought me into the chamber that was over againſt the ſeparate place, and which was before the building, toward the North.

2 Before the length of an hundreth cubits, was the North doore, and it was fifty cubits broad.

3 Over againſt the twenty cubites which were for the inner court, and over againſt the pavement, which was for the utter court, was chamber againſt chamber in three rows.

4 And before the chambers was a gallerie of ten cubits wide, and within was a way of one cubit, and their doores toward the North.

5 Now the [a] chambers above were narrower: for thoſe chambers ſeemed to eat up theſe, to wit, the lower, and thoſe that were in the mids of the building:

[a] Theſe chambers were contrary faſhioned to them of the Temple.

6 For they were in three rows, but had not pillars as the pillars of the court: therfore there was a difference from them beneath and from the middlemoſt, even from the ground.

7 And the wall that was without, over againſt the chambers, toward the utter court on the forefront of the chambers, was fifty cubits long.

8 For the length of the chambers that were in the utter court, was [b] fifty cubits: and lo, before the Temple were an hundreth cubits.

[b] So that the wall for the chambers of the outward court and the wall of the inner, was either fifty cubits and the whole court an hun

9 And under theſe chambers was the [c] entry, on the Eaſt ſide, as one goeth into them from the outward court.

[c] Under theſe chambers were entries, or doores to paſſe from one place to another.

10 The chambers were in the thicknes of the wall of the court toward the Eaſt, over againſt the ſeparate place, and over againſt the building.

11 And the way before them was after the manner of the chambers, which were toward the North, as long as they, and as broad as they: and all their entries were like, both according to their faſhions, and according to their doores.

12 And according to the doores of the chambers, that were toward the South, was a doore in the corner of the way, even the way directly before the wall toward the Eaſt, as one entreth.

13 Then ſaid he unto me, The North chambers and the South chambers which are before the ſeparate place, they be holy chambers: wherein the Prieſts that approach unto the Lord, ſhall eate the moſt holy things: there ſhall they lay the moſt holy things, and the meate-offering, and the ſin-offering, and the treſpaſſe-offering: for the place is holy.

14 When the Prieſts enter therein, they ſhall not go out of the holy place into the utter court, but there they ſhall lay their garments wherein they miniſter: for they are holy, and ſhall put on other garments, and ſo ſhal approach to thoſe things, which are for the people.

15 Now when he had made an end of meaſuring the inner houſe, he brought me forth toward the gate whoſe proſpect is toward the Eaſt, and meaſured it round about.

16 He meaſured the Eaſt ſide with the meaſuring rod, five hundreth reeds, even with the meaſuring reed round about.

17 He meaſured alſo the North ſide, five hundreth reeds, even with the meaſuring reed round about.

18 And he meaſured the South ‡ ſide, five hundreth reeds with the meaſuring reed.

‡ Or, winde.

19 He turned about alſo to the Weſt ſide, and meaſured five hundreth reeds with the meaſuring reed.

20 He meaſured it by the foure ſides: it had a wall round about, five hundreth reeds long, and five hundreth broad, to make a ſeparation between the Sanctuary, and the prophane place.

CHAP. XLIII.

2 He ſeeth the glory of God going into the Temple, from whence it had before departed. 7 He mentioneth the idolatry of the children of Iſrael, for the which they were conſumed and brought to nought. 9 He is commanded to call them again to repentance.

AFterward he brought me to the gate, even the gate that turneth toward the Eaſt.

2 And behold, the glory of the God of Iſrael came from out of the Eaſt, whoſe voice was like a noiſe of great waters, and the earth was made light with his glory.

3 And the viſion which I ſaw was * like the viſion, even as the viſion that I ſaw [a] when I came to deſtroy the citie: and the viſions were like the viſion that I ſaw by the river Chebar: and I fell upon my face.

* Chap. 9. 3.

[a] When I propheſied the deſtruction of the city by the Caldeans.

4 And the [b] glory of the Lord came into the houſe by the way of the gate, whoſe proſpect is toward the Eaſt.

[b] Which was departed afore, chap. 10. 4. and 11. 22.

5 So the Spirit took me up and brought me into the inner court, and behold, the glory of the Lord filled the houſe.

6 And I heard one ſpeaking unto me out of the houſe: and there ſtood a man by me,

7 Which ſaid unto me, Son of man, this place is my throne, and the place of the ſoles of my feet, whereas I will dwell among the children of Iſrael for ever, and the houſe of Iſrael ſhall no more [c] defile mine holy Name, neither they, nor their kings by their fornication, nor by the carkeiſes of [d] their kings in their high places.

[c] By their idolatries.

[d] He alludeth to Ammon & Manaſſeh, who were buried in their gardens neere the Temple, and there had erected up monuments to their idols.

8 Albeit they ſet their threſholds by my threſholds, and their poſts by my poſts (for there was but a wall between me and them) yet have they defiled mine holy Name with their abominations, that they have committed: wherefore I have conſumed them in my wrath.

9 Now therefore let them put away their fornication, and the carkeiſes of their kings far from me, and I will dwell among them for ever.

10 ¶ Thou ſon of man, ſhew this houſe to the houſe of Iſrael, that they may be aſhamed of their wickedneſſe, and let them meaſure the pattern.

11 And if they be aſhamed of all that they have done, ſhew them the form of the Houſe, and the pattern thereof, and the going out thereof, and the coming in thereof, and the whole faſhion thereof, and all the ordinances thereof, and all the figures thereof, and all the laws thereof: and write it in their ſight, that they may keep the whole faſhion thereof, and all the ordinances thereof, and do them.

12 This is the ‡ deſcription of the Houſe, It ſhal be upon the top of the mount: all the limits thereof round about ſhall be moſt holy. Behold, this is the deſcription of the houſe.

‡ Ebr. law.

13 And theſe are the meaſures of the Altar, after the cubits, the cubite is a cubite, and an hand breadth, even the bottom ſhall be a cubite, and the breadth a cubite, and the border thereof by the edge thereof round about ſhall be a ſpan: and this ſhall be the height of the Altar.

14 And from the bottome which toucheth the ground to the lower piece ſhall be two cubits: and the breadth one cubite, and from the little piece to the great piece ſhall be foure cubits, and the breadth one cubite.

15 So the altar ſhall be foure cubites, and from the altar upwards ſhall be foure hornes.

16 And the altar ſhall be twelve cubits long, and twelve broad, and foure ſquare in the foure corners thereof.

17 And the frame ſhall be fourteen cubites long, and fourteen broad in the foure ſquare corners thereof, and the border about it ſhall be half a cubite, and the bottom thereof ſhall be a cubite about, and the ſteps thereof ſhall be turned toward the Eaſt.

18 ¶ And he ſaid unto me, Sonne of man, thus ſaith the Lord God, Theſe are the ordinances of the altar in the day when they ſhall make it to offer the burnt offering thereon, and to ſprinkle blood thereon.

19 And thou ſhalt give to the Prieſts, and to the Levites that be of the ſeed of Zadok, which approach unto me to miniſter unto me, ſaith the Lord, a young bullock for a ſin-offering.

20 And thou ſhalt take of the blood thereof, and put it on the foure horns of it, and on the foure corners of the frame, and upon the border round about: thus ſhalt thou cleanſe it, and reconcile it.

21 Thou ſhalt take the bullock alſo of the ſinne-offering, and burn it in the appointed place of the houſe without the Sanctuary.

22 But the ſecond day thou ſhalt offer an Hee goat without blemiſh for a ſinne offering, and they ſhall cleanſe the altar, as they did cleanſe it with the bullock.

23 When thou haſt made an end of cleanſing it, thou ſhalt offer a young bullock without blemiſh, and a ram out of the flock without blemiſh.

24 And thou ſhalt offer them before the Lord, and the Prieſts ſhall caſt ſalt upon them, and they ſhall offer them for a burnt offering unto the Lord.

25 Seven dayes ſhalt thou prepare every day an Hee goat for a ſinne-offring: they ſhall alſo prepare a young bullock and a ram out of the flock, without blemiſh.

26 Thus ſhall they ſeven dayes purifie the altar, and cleanſe it, and ‡ conſecrate it.

27 And when theſe dayes are expired, upon the eighth day, and ſo forth, the Prieſts ſhall make your burnt offerings upon the altar, and your peace offerings, and I will accept you, ſaith the Lord God.

Chap. XLIV.

He reproveth the people for their offence. 7 The uncircumciſed in heart, and in the fleſh. 9 Who are to be admitted to the ſervice of the Temple, and who to be refuſed.

THen he brought me toward the gate of the outward Sanctuary, which turneth toward the Eaſt, and it was ſhut.

2 Then ſaid the Lord unto me, This gate ſhall be [a] ſhut, and ſhall not be opened, and no man ſhall enter by it, becauſe the Lord God of Iſrael hath entred by it, and it ſhall be ſhut.

3 It appertaineth to the prince: the prince himſelf ſhall ſit in it to eat bread before the Lord: he ſhall enter by the way of the porch of that gate, and ſhall go out by the way of the ſame.

4 ¶ Then brought he me toward the North gate before the houſe: and when I looked, behold, the glory of the Lord filled the houſe of the Lord, and I fell upon my face.

5 And the Lord ſaid unto me, Sonne of man, ‡ marke well, and behold with thine eyes, and heare with thine eares, all that I ſay unto thee, concerning all the ordinances of the houſe of the Lord, and all the laws thereof, and marke well the entering in of the houſe, with every going forth of the Sanctuary.

6 And thou ſhalt ſay to the rebellious, even to the houſe of Iſrael, Thus ſaith the Lord God, O houſe of Iſrael, ye have enough of all your abominations,

7 Seeing that ye have brought into my Sanctuary [b] ſtrangers, uncircumciſed in heart, and uncircumciſed in fleſh, to be in my Sanctuary, to pollute mine houſe, when ye offer my bread, even fat and blood: and they have broken my covenant, becauſe of all your abominations.

8 For ye have not kept the [c] ordinances of mine holy things: but you your ſelves have ſet other to take the charge of my Sanctuary.

9 Thus ſaith the Lord God, No ſtranger uncircumciſed in heart, nor uncircumciſed in fleſh, ſhall enter into my Sanctuary, of any ſtranger that is among the children of Iſrael,

11 And they ſhall ſerve in my Sanctuary, and keep the gates of the houſe, and miniſter in the Houſe: they ſhall ſlay the burnt-offering and the ſacrifice for the people: and they ſhall ſtand before them to ſerve them.

12 Becauſe they ſerved before their idols, and cauſed the houſe of Iſrael to fall into iniquity, therefore have I lifted up mine hand againſt them, ſaith the Lord God, and they ſhall beare their iniquity, 13 And they ſhall not come neare unto me to do the office of the Prieſt unto me, neither ſhall they come neare unto any of mine holy things in the moſt holy place, but they ſhall beare their ſhame and their abominations, which they have committed.

14 And I will make them keepers of the watch of the Houſe, for all the ſervice thereof, and for all that ſhall be done therein.

15 But the Prieſts of the Levites, the ſonnes of Zadok, that [e] kept the charge of my Sanctuary, when the children of Iſrael went aſtray from me, they ſhall come neare to me to ſerve me, and they ſhall ſtand before me to offer me the fat and the blood, ſaith the Lord God.

17 And when they ſhall enter in at the gates of the inner court, they ſhall be clothed with linnen garments, and no wooll ſhall come upon them while they ſerve in the gates of the inner court, and within.

18 They ſhall have linnen bonets upon their heads, and ſhall have linnen breeches upon their loynes: they ſhall not gird themſelves in the ſweating places.

19 But when they go forth into the utter court, even to the utter court to the people, they ſhall put off their garments, wherein they miniſtred, and lay them in the holy chambers, and they ſhall put on other garments: for they ſhall not ſanctifie the people with their garments.

CHAP. XLV.

1 Out of the land of promiſe are there ſeparated foure portions, of which the firſt is given to the Prieſts and to the Temple, the ſecond to the Levites, the third to the citie, the forth to the Prince. 9 An exhortation unto the heads of Iſrael. 10 Of juſt weights and meaſures. 13 Of the firſt fruits, &c.

MOreover, when ye ſhall divide the land for inheritance, ye ſhall offer an oblation unto the Lord an [a] holy portion of the land, five and twenty thouſand reeds long, and ten thouſand broad: this ſhal be holy in all the borders thereof round about.

[a] Of all the land of Iſrael the Lord only requireth this portion for the Temple, and for the Prieſts, for the citie, and for the prince.

2 Of this there ſhall be for the Sanctuary five hundred in length, with five hundred in breadth, all ſquare round about, and fifty cubites round about for the ſuburbs thereof.

3 And of this meaſure ſhalt thou meaſure the length of five and twenty thouſand, ſand, and the breadth of ten thouſand: and it ſhall be the Sanctuary, and the moſt holy place.

4 The holy portion of the land ſhall be the Prieſts, which miniſter in the Sanctuary, which come neare to ſerve the Lord: and it ſhall be a place for their houſes, and an holy place for the Sanctuary.

5 And in the five and twenty thouſand of length, and the ten thouſand of breadth, ſhall the Levites that miniſter in the houſe, have their poſſeſſion for twenty chambers.

6 Alſo ye ſhall appoint the poſſeſſion of the city, five thouſand broad, and five and twenty thouſand long over againſt the oblation of the holy portion: it ſhall be for the whole houſe of Iſrael.

7 And a portion ſhall be for the prince on the one ſide, and on that ſide of the oblation of the holy portion, and of the poſſeſſion of the citie, even before the oblation of the holy portion, and before the poſſeſſion of the citie from the Weſt corner Weſtward, and from the Eaſt corner Eaſtward, and the length ſhall be by one of the portions from the Weſt border unto the Eaſt border.

8 In this land ſhall be his poſſeſſion in Iſrael: and my princes ſhall no more oppreſſe my people, and the reſt of the land ſhall they give to the houſe of Iſrael, according to their tribes.

9 Thus ſaith the Lord God, Let [b] it ſuffice you, O princes of Iſrael: leave off cruelty and oppreſſion, and execute judgement and juſtice: take away your exactions from my people, ſaith the Lord God.

10 Ye ſhall have juſt balances, and a true [c] Ephah, and a true Bath.

11 The Ephah and the Bath ſhall be equall: a Bath ſhall contain the tenth part of an Homer, and an Ephah the tenth part of an Homer: the equality thereof ſhall be after the Homer.

12 * And the ſhekel ſhall be twentie Gerahs, and twenty ſhekels, and [d] five and twenty ſhekels, and fifteen ſhekels ſhall be your Maneh.

13 ¶ This is the oblation that ye ſhall offer, the ſixt part of an Ephah of an Homer of wheate, and ye ſhall give the ſixt part of an Ephah of an Homer of barley.

14 Concerning the ordinance of the oyle, even of the Bath of oyl, ye ſhall offer the tenth part of a Bath out of the Cor (ten Baths are an Homer: for ten Baths fill an Homer.)

15 And one lambe of two hundreth ſheep out of the fat paſtures of Iſrael for a meat-offering, and for a burnt-offering and for peace-offerings, to make reconciliation for them, ſaith the Lord God.

16 All the people of the land ſhall give this oblation for the prince in Iſrael.

17 And it ſhall be the princes part to give burnt-offerings, and meat-offerings, and drink-offerings in the ſolemn feaſts and in the new Moones, and in the Sabbaths, and in all the high feaſts of the houſe of Iſrael: he ſhall prepare the ſin-offering, and the meat-offering, and the burnt-offering, and the peace-offerings to make reconciliation for the houſe of Iſrael.

18 ¶ Thus ſaith the Lord God, In the firſt moneth, in the firſt day of [e] the moneth, thou ſhalt take a young bullock without blemiſh, and cleanſe the Sanctuary.

19 And the Prieſt ſhall take of the blood of the ſinne-offering, and put it upon the poſts of the houſe, and upon the foure ‡ corners of the frame of the altar, and upon the poſts of the gate of the inner court.

20 And ſo ſhalt thou do the ſeventh day of the moneth, for every one that hath erred, and for him that is deceived: ſo ſhall you reconcile the houſe.

21 * In the firſt moneth, in the fourteenth day of the moneth, ye ſhall have the Paſſe-over, a feaſt of ſeven dayes, and ye ſhall eat unleavened bread.

22 And upon that day ſhall the Prince prepare for himſelf, and for all the people of the land, a bullock for a ſinne-offering.

23 And in the ſeven dayes of the feaſt he ſhall make a burnt-offering to the Lord, even of ſeven bullocks, and ſeven rams without blemiſh daily for ſeven dayes, and an Hee-goate daily for a ſinne-offering.

24 And he ſhall prepare a meat-offering of an Ephah for a bullock, an Ephah for a ram, and an [f] hin of oyl for an Ephah.

25 In the ſeventh month, in the fifteenth day of the month, ſhal he do the like in the feaſt for ſeven daies, according to the ſin-offering, according to the burnt-offering, and according to the meat-offering, and according to the oyl.

2 And the Prince ſhall enter by the way of the porch of that gate without, and ſhall ſtand by the poſt of the gate, and the Prieſt ſhall make his burnt-offering, and his peace-offerings, and he ſhall worſhip at the threſhold of the gate: after, he ſhall go forth, but the gate ſhall not be ſhut till the evening.

3 Likewiſe, the people of the land ſhall worſhip at the entry of this gate before the Lord on the Sabbaths, and in the new Moons.

4 And the burnt-offering that the Prince ſhall offer unto the Lord on the Sabbath day, ſhall be ſix lambs without blemiſh, and a ram without blemiſh.

5 And the meat-offering ſhall be an Ephah for a ram: and the meat-offering for the lambs [a] a gift of his hand, and an Hin of oyl to an Ephah.

6 And in the day of the new Moon it ſhall be a young bullock without blemiſh, and ſix lambs and a ram: they ſhall be without blemiſh.

7 And he ſhall prepare a meat-offring, even an Ephah for a bullock, and an Ephah for a ram, and for the lambes [b] according as his hand ſhall bring, and an Hin of oyl to an Ephah.

8 And when the Prince ſhall enter, he ſhall go in by the way of the porch of that gate, and he ſhall go forth by the way thereof.

9 But when the people of the land ſhall come before the Lord in the ſolemn feaſts, he that entreth in by the way of the North gate to worſhip, ſhall go out by the way of the South gate: and he that entreth by the way of the South gate, ſhall go forth by the way of the North gate: he ſhall not return by the way of the gate whereby he came in, but they ſhall go forth over againſt it.

10 And the Prince ſhall be in the mids of them: he ſhall go in when they go in, and when they go forth, they ſhall go forth together.

11 And in the feaſts, and in the ſolemnities the meat-offering ſhall be an Ephah to a bullock, and an Ephah to a ram, and to the lambs, the gift of his hand, and an Hin of oyl to an Ephah.

12 Now when the Prince ſhall make a free burnt-offering or peace-offerings freely unto the Lord, one ſhall then open him the gate, that turneth toward the Eaſt, and he ſhall make his burnt-offering and his peace-offerings, as he did on the Sabbath day: after, he ſhall go forth, and when he is gone forth, one ſhall ſhut the gate.

13 Thou ſhalt daily make a burnt-offering unto the Lord of a lambe of one year without blemiſh: thou ſhalt do it every morning.

14 And thou ſhalt prepare a meat-offering for it every morning, the ſixt part of an Ephah, and the third part of an Hin of oyl, to mingle with the fine floure: this meat-offering ſhall be continually by a perpetuall ordinance unto the Lord.

15 Thus ſhall they prepare the Lambe, and the meat-offering and the oyl every morning, for a continuall burnt-offering.

16 ¶ Thus ſaith the Lord God, If the prince give a gift of his inheritance unto any of his ſonnes, it ſhall be his ſonnes, and it ſhall be their poſſeſſion by inheritance.

17 But if he give a gift of his inheritance to one of his ſervants, then it ſhall be his to the [c] yeare of liberty: after, it ſhal return to the Prince, but his inheritance ſhall remain to his ſons for them.

18 Moreover, the Prince ſhal [d] not take of the peoples inheritance, nor thruſt them out of their poſſeſſion: but he ſhall cauſe his ſons to inherit of his own poſſeſſion, that my people be not ſcattered every man from his poſſeſſion.

19 ¶ After, he brought me through the entry, which was at the ſide of the gate, into the holy chambers of the Prieſts, which ſtood toward the North: and behold, there was a place at the Weſt ſide of them.

20 Then ſaid he unto me, This is the place where the Prieſts ſhall ſeeth the treſpaſſe-offering, and the ſin-offering, where they ſhall bake the meat-offering, that they ſhould not beare them into the utter court, [e] to ſanctifie the people.

21 Then he brought me forth into the utter court, and cauſed me to go by the foure corners of the court: and behold, in every corner of the court, there was a court.

22 In the foure corners of the court there were courts joyned of fourty cubites long, and thirty broad: theſe foure corners were of one meaſure.

23 And there went a wall about them, even about thoſe foure, and kitchins were made under the walls round about.

24 Then ſaid he unto me, This is the kitchin where the miniſters of the houſe ſhall ſeeth the ſacrifice of the people.

AFterward he brought me unto the doore of the houſe: and behold, [a] waters iſſued out from the threſhold of the houſe Eaſtward: for the fore-front of the houſe ſtood toward the Eaſt, and the waters ran down from under the right ſide of the houſe, at the South ſide of the Altar.

2 Then brought he me out toward the North gate, and led me about by the way without unto the utter gate, by the way that turneth Eaward: and behold, there came forth waters on the right ſide.

3 And when the man that had the line in his hand, went forth Eaſtward, he meaſured a thouſand cubites, and he brought me through the waters: the waters were to the ancles.

4 Again, he meaſured a thouſand, and brought me through the waters: the waters were to the knees: again, he meaſured a thouſand, and brought me through: the waters were to the loynes.

5 Afterward he meaſured a thouſand, and it was a [b] river, that I could not paſſe over: for the waters were riſen, and the waters did flow, as a river that could not be paſſed over.

6 And he ſaid unto me, Sonne of man, haſt thou ſeen this? Then he brought me, and cauſed me to return to the brink of the river.

7 Now when I returned, behold, at the brink of the river were very [c] many trees on the one ſide, and on the other.

8 Then ſaid he unto me, Theſe waters iſſue out toward the Eaſt countrey, and run down into the plain, and ſhall go into one [d] Sea: they ſhall run into another Sea, and the [e] waters ſhall be wholeſome.

9 And every thing that liveth, which moveth, whereſoever the rivers ſhall come, ſhall live, and there ſhall be a very great multitude of fiſh, becauſe theſe waters ſhall come thither: for they ſhall be wholeſome, and every thing ſhall live whither the river cometh.

10 And then the [f] fiſhers ſhall ſtand upon it, and from En-gedi even unto [g] Eneglaim, they ſhall ſpread out their nets: for their fiſh ſhall be according to their kindes, as the fiſh of [h] the main ſea, exceeding many.

11 But [i] the myrie places thereof, and the mariſes thereof, ſhall not be wholſome: they ſhall be made ſalt pits.

12 And by this river, upon the brink thereof, on this ſide, and on that ſide, ſhall grow all ‡ fruitfull trees, whoſe leaf ſhall not fade, neither ſhall the fruit thereof fail: it ſhall bring forth new fruit according to his months, becauſe their waters run out of the Sanctuary: and the fruit thereof ſhall be meat, and the leaf thereof ſhall be for ‡ medicine.

13 ¶ Thus ſaith the Lord God, This ſhall be the border, whereby ye ſhall inherit the land according to the twelve tribes * of Iſrael, Joſeph ſhall have two portions.

14 And ye ſhall inherit it, one as well as another: * concerning the which I lift up mine hand to give it unto your fathers, and this land ſhall fall unto you for inheritance.

16 Hamath, Berothah, Sibraim, which is between the border of Damaſcus, and the border of Hamath, and Hazar, Hatticon, which is by the coaſt of Hauran.

17 And the border from the Sea ſhall be Hazar, Enan, and the border of Damaſcus, and the reſidue of the North, Northward, and the border of Hamath: ſo ſhall be the North part.

18 But the Eaſt ſide ſhall ye meaſure from Hauran, and from Damaſcus, and from Gilead, and from the land of Iſrael by Jorden, and from the border unto the Eaſt ſea: and ſo ſhall be the Eaſt part.

19 And the South ſide ſhall be toward Teman from Tamar to the waters ‡ of Meriboth in Kadeſh, and the river to the main ſea: ſo ſhall be the South part toward Teman.

20 The Weſt part alſo ſhall be the great ſea from the border, till a man come over againſt Hamath: this ſhall be the Weſt part.

21 So ſhall ye divide this land unto you, according to the tribes of Iſrael.

22 And you ſhall divide it by lot for an inheritance unto you, and to the ſtrangers that dwell among you, which ſhall beget children among you, and they ſhall be unto you, as born in the countrey among the children of Iſrael: [l] they ſhall part inheritance with you, in the mids of the tribes of Iſrael.

DANIEL.

THE ARGUMENT.

THe great providence of God, and his ſingular mercie toward his Church are moſt lively heer ſet forth, who never leaveth his deſtitute, but now in their greateſt miſeries and afflictions giveth them Prophets, as Ezekiel, and Daniel, whom he adorned with ſuch graces of his holy Spirit, that Daniel above all other had moſt ſpeciall revelations of ſuch things as ſhould come to the Church, even from the time that they were in captivitie, to the laſt end of the world, and to the generall reſurrection, as of the four Monarchies and Empires of the world, to wit, of the Babylonians, Perſians, Grecians, and Romanes. Alſo, of the certain number of the times even unto Chriſt, when all ceremonies and ſacrifices ſhould ceaſe, becauſe he ſhould be the accompliſhment thereof: moreover, he ſheweth Chriſts office and the cauſe of his death, which was by his ſacrifice to take away ſins, and to bring everlaſting life. And as from the beginning, God ever exerciſed his people under the croſſe, ſo he teacheth here, that after that Chriſt is offered, he will ſtill leave this exerciſe to his Church untill the dead riſe again, and Chriſt gather his into his kingdome in the heavens.

CHAP. I.

1 The captivitie of Iehojakim King of Iudah. 4 The King chuſeth certain young men of the Iews to learn his law. 5 They have the Kings ordinarie appointed. 8 But they abſtain from it.

IN the [a] third year of the raigne of Jehojakim king of Judah, came Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel unto Jeruſalem & beſieged it.

2 And the Lord gave Jehojakim king of Judah into his hand, with part of the veſſels of the houſe of God, which he caried into the land of [b] Shinar, to the houſe of his god, and he brought the veſſels into his gods treaſurie.

3 And the king ſpake unto [c] Aſhpenaz the maſter of his [d] Eunuches, that he ſhould bring certain of the children of Iſrael, of the [e] kings ſeed, of the Princes:

4 Children in whom was no blemiſh, but well [f] favoured, and inſtruct in all wiſdome, and well ſeen in knowledge, and able to utter knowledge, and ſuch as were able to ſtand in the kings palace, and whom they might teach the [g] learning, and the tongue of the Caldeans.

5 And the King appointed them proviſion every day of a [h] portion of the kings meat, and of the wine, which he drank, ſo nouriſhing them [i] three year, that at the end thereof, they might [k] ſtand before the King.

this he is worthy praiſe, that he eſteemed learning, and knew that it was a neceſſarie m

[g] That they might forget their own religion and countrey faſhion much that he would not eat the meat that the king appointed him, but was content to l the knowledge of naturall things.

[h] That by ther good entertainment they m

[i] To the intent that in time they might both learn the manners of the Caldeans, and alſo their tongue.

[k]
well to ſerve at the table, as in other offices.

6 Now among theſe were certain of the children of Judah, Daniel, Hananiah, Miſhael and Azariah:

7 Unto whom the chief of the Eunuches [l] gave other names: for he called Daniel, Belteſhazzar, and Hananiah, Shadrach, and Miſhael, Meſhach, and Azariah, Abed-nego.

8 ¶ But Daniel had determined in his heart, that he would not [m] defile himſelfe with the portion of the Kings meat, nor with the wine which he drank: therefore he required the chief of the Eunuches that he might not defile himſelf.

9 (Now God had brought Daniel into favour, and tender love with the chief of the Eunuches.)

10 And the chief of the Eunuches ſaid unto Daniel, [n] I fear my lord the king, who hath appointed your meat and your drink: therefore if he ſee your faces worſe liking then the other children, which are of your ſort, then ſhall yee make me loſe mine head unto the king.

11 Then ſaid Daniel to Melzar, whom the chief of the Eunuches had ſet over Daniel, Hananiah, Miſhael, and Azariah, 12 Prove thy ſervants, I beſeech thee, [o] ten daies, and let them give us [p] pulſe to eat, and water to drinke.

13 Then let our countenances be looked upon before thee, and the countenances of the children that eat of the portion of the kings meat: and as thou ſeeſt, deal with thy ſervants.

14 So he conſented to them in this matter, and proved them ten dayes.

15 And at the end of ten dayes, their [q] countenances appeared fairer and in ‡ better liking then all the children, which did eat the portion of the kings meat.

16 Thus Melzar took away the portion of their meat, and the wine that they ſhould drink, and gave them pulſe.

17 As for theſe four children, God gave them knowledge, and underſtanding in all learning [r] and wiſedome: alſo he gave Daniel underſtanding of all [ſ] viſions and dreams.

18 Now when the time was [t] expired, that the King had appointed to bring them in, the chief of the Eunuches brought them before Nebuchad-nezzar.

19 And the King communed with them: and among them all was found none like Daniel, Hananiah, Miſhael, and Azariah: therefore ſtood they before the King.

20 And in all matters of wiſdome, and underſtanding that the king enquired of them, he found them ten times better then all the inchanters and Aſtrologians, that were in all his realm.

21 And Daniel was unto the [v] firſt year of king Cyrus.

CHAP. II.

1 The dream of Nebuchad-nezzar. 13 The King commandeth all the wiſe men of Babylon to be ſlain; becauſe they could not interpret his dream. 16 Daniel requireth time to ſolue the queſtion. 24 Daniel is brought unto the King, and ſheweth him his dream and the interpretation thereof. 44 Of the everlaſting kingdome of Chriſt.

AND in the ſecond [a] year of the reigne of Nebuchad-nezzar, Nebuchad-nezzar dreamed [b] dreames wherewith his ſpirit was [c] troubled, and his [d] ſleep was upon him.

2 Then the king commanded to call the inchanters, and the aſtrologians, and the ſorcerers, and the [e] Caldeans for to ſhew the king his dreams: ſo they came and ſtood before the king.

3 And the king ſaid unto them, I have dreamed a dream, and my ſpirit was troubled to know the dream.

4 Then ſpake the Caldeans to the king in the [f] Aramites language, O king, live for ever: ſhew thy ſervants the dream, and we ſhall ſhew the interpretation.

5 And the king anſwered and ſaid to the Caldeans, The thing is gone from me. If ye will not make me underſtand the dream with the interpretation thereof, ye [g] ſhall be drawn in pieces, and your houſes ſhall be made a jakes.

6 But if ye declare the dream and the interpretation thereof, ye ſhall receive of me gifts and rewards, and great honour: therefore ſhew me the dream and the interpretation thereof.

7 They anſwered again, and ſaid, Let the king ſhew [h] his ſervants the dream, and we will declare the interpretation thereof.

8 Then the king anſwered, and ſaid, I know certainly that ye would ‡ gaine the time, becauſe ye ſee the thing is gone from me.

9 But if ye will not declare me the dream, there is but one judgment for you: for ye have prepared lying and corrupt words to ſpeak before me till the time be changed: therefore tell me the dream that I may know if ye can declare me the interpretation thereof.

10 Then the Caldeans anſwered before the king, and ſaid, There is no man upon earth, that can declare the kings matter: yea, there is neither king nor prince, nor lord that asked ſuch things at an enchanter or aſtrologian or Caldean.

So that he onely
s a Prophet and ne of the other:
for by dreams and viſions God appeared to his Prophets, Numb, 12. 6.

Of the three years above mentioued, verſe 5.

[v] That is, he was eſteemed in Babylon as a Prophet, ſo long as that common wealth ſtood.

[a] The father and the ſon were both called by this name: ſo that this is meant of the ſonne when he reigned alone: for he reigned alſo after a ſort with his father.

[b] Not that he had many dreams, but becauſe many matters were contained in this dream.

[c] Becauſe it was ſo rare & ſtrange a dream, that he had not had the like.

[d] He was ſo heavie with ſleep, that he began to ſleep again. Some read, and his ſleep was broken from him.

[e] For all theſe Aſtrologers & ſorcerers called themſelves by this name of honour, as though all the wiſdome and knowledge of the countrey depended upon them, and that all other countries were void of the ſame.

[f] That is, in the Syrian tongue, which differed not much from the Caldean, ſave it ſeemed to be more eloquent, and therefore the learned uſed to ſpeak it: as the Iewiſh writers do to this day.

[g] This is a juſt reward of their arogancie (which vaunted of themſelves that they had the knowledg of all things) that they ſhould be proved fools, and that to their perpetuall ſhame and confuſion.

[h] Herein appeared their ignorance, that notwithſtanding their brags, yet they were not able to tell the dream, except he entred them into the matter, and therefore they would pretend knowledge where was but meer ignorance, and ſo as deluders of the people, they were worthie to die.

‡ Ebr. redeem the time.

11 For it is a rare thing that the king requireth, and there is none other that can declare it before the king, except the gods whoſe dwelling is not with fleſh.

12 For this cauſe the king was angry and in great fury, and commanded to deſtroy all the wiſe men of Babel.

13 ¶ And when ſentence was given, the wiſe men were ſlaine: and they [i] ſought Daniel and his fellows to be put to death.

14 Then Daniel anſwered with counſell and wiſedome to Arioch the kings ‡ chiefe ſteward, which was gone forth to put to death the wiſe men of Babel, 15 Yea, he anſwered and ſaid unto Arioch the kings captaine, Why is the ſentence ſo haſty from the king? Then Arioch declared the thing to Daniel.

16 So Daniel went and deſired the king that he would give him leaſure, and that he would ſhew the king the interpretation thereof.

17 ¶ Then Daniel went to his houſe, and ſhewed the matter to Hananiah, Miſhael, and Azariah his companions, 18 That they ſhould beſeech the God of heaven for grace in this ſecret, that Daniel and his fellows ſhould not periſh with the reſt of the wiſe men of Babel.

19 Then was the ſecret revealed unto Daniel in a viſion by night: therefore Daniel praiſed the God of heaven.

20 And Daniel anſwered and ſaid, *The Name of God be praiſed for ever and ever: for wiſedome and ſtrength are his,

21 And he changeth the times and ſeaſons: he taketh away kings: he ſetteth up kings: he giveth wiſdome unto the wiſe, and underſtanding to thoſe that underſtand.

22 He diſcovereth the deepe and ſecret things: he knoweth what is in the darkeneſſe, and the [k] light dwelleth with him.

13 I thank thee, and praiſe thee, O thou God of my [l] fathers, that thou haſt given me wiſdome and [m] ſtrength, and haſt ſhewed me now the thing that we deſired of thee: for thou haſt declared unto us the kings matter.

24 ¶ Therefore Daniel went unto Arioch, whom the king had ordained to deſtroy the wiſe men of Babel: he went and ſaid thus unto him, Deſtroy not [n] the wiſe men of Babel, but bring me before the king, and I will declare unto the king the interpretation.

25 Then Arioch brought Daniel before the king in all haſte, and ſaid thus unto him, I have found a man of the children of Judah that were brought captives, that wil declare unto the king the interpretation.

26 Then anſwered the king, and ſaid unto Daniel, whoſe name was Belteſhazzar, Art thou able to ſhew me the dream, which I have ſeene, and the interpretation thereof?

27 Daniel anſwered in the preſence of the king, and ſaid, The ſecret which the king hath demanded, can neither the wiſe, the Aſtrologians, the Inchanters, nor the Soothſayers declare unto the king:

28 But there is a God in [o] heaven that revealeth ſecrets, and ſheweth the king Nebuchad-nezzar what ſhall be in the latter daies. Thy dreame, and the things which thou haſt ſeene in thine head upon thy bed, is this.

29 O king, when thou waſt in thy bed, thoughts came into thy minde, what ſhould come to paſſe hereafter, and he that revealeth ſecrets, telleth thee, what ſhall come.

30 As [p] for me, this ſecret is not ſhewed me for any wiſdome that I have, more then any other living, but onely to ſhew the king the interpretation, and that thou mighteſt know the thoughts of thine heart.

31 O king, thou ſaweſt, and behold, there was a great image: this great image whoſe glory was ſo excellent, ſtood before thee, and the forme thereof was terrible.

32 This images head was of fine [q] gold, his breaſt and his armes of ſilver, his belly and his thighes of braſſe, 33 His legs of iron, and his feet were part of iron, and part of clay.

34 Thou beheldeſt it till a ſtone was cut without hands, which ſmote the image upon his feet, that were of iron and clay, and brake them to pieces.

35 Then was the iron, the clay, the braſſe, the ſilver, and the gold broken all together, and became like the chaffe of the ſummer flowers, and the wind caried them away, that no place was found for them: and the ſtone that ſmote the image, became a great mountaine, and filled the whole earth.

36 This is the dream, and we will declare before the king the interpretation thereof.

37 ¶ O King, thou art a king of kings: for the God of heaven hath given thee a kingdome, power, and ſtrength, and glory.

38 And in all places where the children of men dwell, the beaſts of the field, and the fowls of the heaven hath he given into thine hand, and hath made thee ruler over

[i] Which declareth that God would not have his ſervants joyned in the company of theſe ſorcerers and aſtrologers, whoſe arts were wicked, & therefore juſtly ought to die, though the King did it upon a rage, and no zeale.

‡ Or, the captaine of the guard.

* Pſal. 113. 2. and 115.18.

[k] He ſheweth that man hath neither wiſedome nor knowledge, but very darke blindneſſe and ignorance, of himſelfe: for it commeth onely of God, that man underſtandeth any thing.

[l] To whom thou madeſt thy promiſe, & who lived in thy feare: whereby hee excludeth all other gods.

[m] Meaning, power to interpret it.

[n] Whereby appeareth that many were ſlaine, as ver. 13. and the reſt at Daniels offer, were preſerved on condition: not that Daniel favoured their wicked profeſſion, but that he had reſpect to equity, becauſe the king proceeded according to his wicked affection, and not conſidering, if their ſcience were lawfull or no,

[o] He affirmeth that man by reaſon and art is not able to attaine to the cauſe of Gods ſecrets, but the underſtanding onely thereof muſt come of God: whereby he ſmiteth the King with a certaine feare and reverence of God, that he might be the more apt to receive the high myſteries, that ſhould be revealed.

[p] Becauſe he had ſaid, that God onely muſt reveale: the ſignification of this dreame, the King might have asked why Daniel did enterpriſe to interpret it, and therefore he ſheweth, that he was but Gods miniſter, and had no gifts, but ſuch as God had given him to ſet forth his glory.

[q] By gold, ſilver, braſſe, and iron, are meant the Caldean, Perſian, Macedonian, and Roman kingdome, which ſhould ſucceſſively rule all the world, till Chriſt (which is here called the ſtone) come himſelfe, and deſtroy the laſt: and this was to aſſure the Iewes, that their afflictions ſhould not end with the empire of the Caldeans, but that they ſhould patiently abide the comming of Meſſiah, which ſhould be at the end of this fourth monarchie.

over them all: thou art [r] this head of gold.

39 And after thee ſhall ariſe another kingdome, [ſ] inferiour to thee, of ſilver, and another [t] third kingdome ſhall be of braſſe, which ſhall beare rule over all the earth.

40 And the fourth kingdome ſhall be ſtrong as Iron: for as Iron breaketh in pieces, and ſubdueth all things, and as Iron bruiſeth all theſe things, ſo ſhall it break in [v] pieces, and bruiſe all.

41 Whereas thou ſaweſt the feet and toes, part of porters clay, and part of iron: the kingdome ſhall be [x] divided, but there ſhall be in it of the ſtrength of the iron, as thou ſaweſt the iron mixt with the clay, and earth.

42 And as the toes of the feet were part of iron, and part of clay, ſo ſhall the kingdome be partly ſtrong, and partly broken.

43 And whereas thou ſaweſt iron mixt with clay, and earth, they ſhall mingle themſelves with [y] the ſeed of men: but they ſhal not joyne one with another, as iron cannot be mixed with clay.

44 And in the daies of theſe kings, ſhall the God of heaven ſet up a kingdome, which [z] ſhall never be deſtroied: and this kingdome ſhall not be given to another people, but it ſhall breake and deſtroy all theſe kingdoms, and it ſhall ſtand for ever.

45 Whereas thou ſaweſt, that the [a] ſtone was cut out of the mountaine without hands, and that it brake in pieces the iron, the braſſe, the clay, the ſilver, and the gold: ſo the great God hath ſhewed the king, what ſhall come to paſſe hereafter, and the dreame is true, and the interpretation thereof is ſure.

46 ¶ Then the king Nebuchad-nezzar fell upon his face, and [b] bowed himſelfe unto Daniel, and commanded that they ſhould offer meat offerings, and ſweet odours unto him.

47 Alſo the king anſwered unto Daniel, and ſaid, I know of a truth that your [c] God is a God of gods, and the Lord of kings, and the revealer of ſecrets, ſeeing thou couldeſt open this ſecret.

48 So the king made Daniel a great man, and gave him many and great [d] gifts. He made him governour over the whole province of Babel, and chiefe of the rulers, and above all the wiſe men of Babel.

49 Then Daniel [e] made requeſt to the King, and he ſet Shadrach, Meſhach, and Abednego, over the charge of the province of Babel: but Daniel ſate in the [f] gate of the King.

CHAP. III.

1 The king ſetteth up a golden image. 8 Certaine are accuſed becauſe they deſpiſed the Kings commandement, and are put into a burning oven. 25 By beliefe in God they are delivered from the fire. 26 Nebuchad-nezzar confeſſeth the power of God after the ſight of the miracle.

NEbuchad-nezzar the King made [a] an image of gold, whoſe height was three ſcore cubites, and the breadth thereof ſixe cubites: hee ſet it up in the plaine of Dura, in the province of Babel.

2 Then Nebuchad-nezzar the king ſent forth to gather together the Nobles, the princes, and the dukes, the judges, the receivers, the counſellers, the officers, and all the governours of the provinces, that they ſhould come to the [b] dedication of the image, which Nebuchad-nezzar the [c] king had ſet up.

3 So the nobles, princes, and dukes, the judges, the receivers, the counſellers, the officers, and all the governours of the provinces were aſſembled unto the dedicating of the image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the king had ſet up: and they ſtood before the image, which Nebuchad-nezzar had ſet up.

4 Then an herald cried aloud, Be it known to you, O people, [d] nations, and languages,

5 That when ye heare the ſound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, ſackbut, pſaltery, dulcimer, and all inſtruments of muſick, ye fall down and worſhip the golden image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the king hath ſet up,

6 And whoſoever falleth not downe and worſhipeth, ſhall the ſame houre bee caſt into the midſt of an hot fiery fornace.

7 Therefore as ſoone as all the people heard the ſound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, ſackbut, pſaltery, and all inſtruments of muſicke, all the people, nations, and languages fell downe, and worſhiped the golden image that Nebuchad-nezzar the King had ſet up.

8 ¶ By reaſon whereof at that ſame time came men of the Caldeans, and grievouſly accuſed the Jewes:

9 For they ſpake and ſaid to the king Nebuchad-nezzar, O king, live for ever:

---

[r] Daniel leaveth out the kingdome of the Aſſyrians, which was before the Babylonians, both becauſe it was not a monarchie and generall empire, and alſo becauſe he would declare the things that were to come, to the comming of Chriſt, for the comfort of the elect among theſe wonderfull alterations: and he calleth the Babylonian kingdome the golden head, becauſe in reſpect of the other three, was the beſt, and yet was of it ſelfe wicked and cruell.

[ſ] Meaning, the Perſians which were not inferiour in dignity, power and riches, but were worſe touching ambition, crudelty, and all kinde of vice; ſhewing, that the world ſhould grow worſe and worſe, till it was reſtored by Chriſt.

[t] That is, of the Macedonians ſhall be of braſſe, not alluding to the hardneſſe thereof, but to the vileneſſe, in reſpect of ſilver.

[v] That is the Romane empire ſhall ſubdue all theſe other aforenamed, which after Alexander were divided into the Macedonians, Grecians, Syrans and Egyptians.

[x] They ſhall have civill warres and continuall diſcords amongſt themſelves.

[y] They ſhall by mariages and affinities thinke to make themſelves ſtrong: yet ſhall they never bee joyned in hearts.

[z] His purpoſe is to ſhew that all the kingdomes of the world are tranſitory, and that the kingdome of Chriſt ſhall onely remaine for ever.

[a] Meaning Chriſt, who was ſent of God, and not ſet up by man, whoſe kingdome at the beginning ſhould be ſmall, and without beauty to mans judgement, but ſhould at length grow and fill the whole earth, which he calleth a great mountain, as verſ. 35. And this kingdome, which is not onely referred to the perſon of Chriſt, but alſo to the whole body of his Church, and to every member thereof, ſhall be eternall: for the ſpirit that is in them, is life eternall. Rom. 8. 10.

[b] Though this humbling of the King ſeemed to deſerve commendation, yet becauſe he joyned Gods honour with the Prophets, it is to be reproved, and Daniel herein erred if he ſuffered it: but it is credible that Daniel admoniſhed him of his fault, and did not ſuffer it.

[c] This confeſſion was but a ſudden motion, as it was alſo in Pharaoh, Exod. 9. 27, 28. but his heart was not touched as appeared ſoone afterward.

[d] Not that the Prophet was deſirous of gifts or honour, but becauſe by this meanes he might relieve his poore brethren which were grievouſly oppreſſed in this their captivity, and alſo he received them, leſt he ſhould offend this cruell king, which willingly gave them.

[e] He did not this for their private profite, but that the whole Church, which was then there in affliction, might have ſome releaſe and eaſe by this benefit.

[f] Meaning, that either he was a judge, or that he had the whole authority, ſo that none could be admitted to the Kings preſence, but by him.

[a] Under pretence of religion, and holineſſe, in making an image to his idol Bel, he ſought his owne ambition and vain-glory: and this declareth that he was not touched with the true feare of God before, but that hee confeſſed him on a ſudden motion, as the wicked when they are overcome with the greatneſſe of his works. The Greek interpreters write, that this was done eighteene yeare after the dreame, and as may appeare the king feared leſt the Jewes by their religion ſhould have altered the ſtate of his common-wealth, and therefore he meant to bring all to one kinde of religion, and ſo rather ſought his owne quietneſſe, then Gods glory.

[b] Shewing, that the idole is not knowne for an idol ſo long as he is with the workman: but when the ceremonies and cuſtomes are received and uſed, and the conſent of the people is there, then of a block they thinke they have made a god.

[c] This was ſufficient with the wicked at all times to approve their religion, if the Kings authority were alleadged for the eſtabliſhing thereof, not conſidering in the meane ſeaſon what Gods word did permit.

[d] Theſe are the two dangerous weapons wherewith Satan uſeth to fight againſt the children of God, the conſent of the multitude, and the cruelty of the puniſhment: for though ſome feared God, yet the multitude which conſented to the wickedneſſe, aſtonied them: and here the King required not an inward conſent, but an outward geſture, that the Jewes might by little and little, learne to forget their true religion.

10 Thou, O king, haſt made a decree, that every man that ſhall hear the ſound of the cornet, trumpet, harp, ſackbut, pſaltery, and dulcimer, and all inſtruments of muſick, ſhall fall down and worſhip the golden image,

11 And whoſoever falleth not down, and worſhipeth, that he ſhould be caſt into the midſt of an hot fierie fornace:

12 There are certain Jews whom thou haſt ſet over the charge of the province of Babel, [e] Shadrach, Meſhach, and Abednego: theſe men, O king, have not regarded thy commandement, neither will they ſerve thy gods, nor worſhip the golden image, that thou haſt ſet up.

13 ¶ Then Nebuchad-nezzar in his anger and wrath, commanded that they ſhould bring Shadrach, Meſhach, and Abednego: ſo theſe men were brought before the king.

14 And Nebuchad-nezzar ſpake, and ſaid unto them, What diſorder? will not you, Shadrach, Meſhach, and Abednego ſerve my god, nor worſhip the golden image, that I have ſet up?

15 [f] Now therefore, are ye ready when ye hear the ſound of the cornet, trumpet, harp, ſackbut, pſaltery, and dulcimer, and all inſtruments of muſick, to fall down, and worſhip the image, which I have made? for if ye worſhip it not, ye ſhall be caſt immediately into the midſt of an hot fiery fornace: for who is that God, that can deliver you out of mine hands?

16 Shadrach, Meſhach, and Abednego anſwered, and ſaid to the king, O Nebuchad-nezzar, we [g] are not carefull to anſwere thee in this matter.

17 Behold, our God whom we ſerve, is [h] able to deliver us from the hot fiery fornace, and he will deliver us out of thine hand, O king.

18 But if not, be it known unto thee, O king, that we will not ſerve thy gods, nor worſhip the golden image, which thou haſt ſet up.

19 ¶ Then was Nebuchad-nezzar full of rage, and the forme of his viſage was changed againſt Shadrach, Meſhach, and Abednego: therefore he charged and commanded that they ſhould heat the fornace at once ſeven [i] times more then it was wont to be heat.

20 And he charged the moſt valiant men of warre that were in his armie, to bind Shadrach, Meſhach, and Abednego, and to caſt them into the hot fierie fornace.

21 So theſe men were bound in their coats, their hoſen, and their cloakes, with their other garments, and caſt into the midſt of the hot fiery fornace.

22 Therefore, becauſe the kings commandement was ſtrait, that the fornace ſhould be exceeding hote, the flame of the fire ſlew thoſe men that brought forth Shadrach, Meſhach, and Abednego.

23 And theſe three men, Shadrach, Meſhach, and Abednego fell down bound into the midſt of the hot fiery fornace.

24 ¶ Then Nebuchad-nezzar the king was aſtonied and roſe up in haſte, and ſpake, and ſaid unto his counſellors, Did not we caſt three men bound into the midſt of the fire? Who anſwered, and ſaid unto the king, It is true, O king.

25 And he anſwered, and ſaid, Loe, I ſee four men looſe, walking in the midſt of the fire, and they have no hurt, and the forme of the fourth is like the [k] Sonne of God.

26 Then the king Nebuchad-nezzar came neare to the mouth of the hote fiery fornace, and ſpake and ſaid, Shadrach, Meſhach, and Abednego, the ſervants of the high God, go forth, and come hither: ſo Shadrach, Meſhach, and Abednego [l] came forth of the midſt of the fire.

27 Then the nobles, princes, and dukes, and the kings counſellors came together to ſee theſe men, becauſe the fire had no power over their bodies: for not an hair of their head was burnt, neither were their coats changed, nor any ſmell of fire come upon them.

28 Wherefore Nebuchad-nezzar ſpake and ſaid, [m] Bleſſed be the God of Shadrach, Meſhach, and Abednego, who hath ſent his Angel, and delivered his ſervants, that put their truſt in him, and have changed the kings commandement, and yeelded their bodies rather then they would ſerve or worſhip any god, ſave their own God.

29 Therefore I make a decree, that every people, nation, and language, which ſpeak any [n] plaſphemy againſt the God of Shadrach, Meſhach, and Abednego, ſhall be drawn in pieces, and their houſes ſhall be made a jakes, becauſe there is no god that can deliver after this ſort.

30 Then the king promoted Shadrach, Meſhach, and Abednego, in the province of Babel.

31 Nebuchad-nezzar king, unto all people, nations and languages, that dwell in all the [o] world, Peace be multiplied unto you:

32 I thought it good to declare the ſignes and wonders, that the high God hath wrought toward me.

33 How

[e] It ſeemeth, that they named not Daniel, becauſe he was greatly in the Kings favor, thinking if theſe three had been deſtroyed, they might have had better occaſion to accuſe Daniel: and this declareth that this policy of erecting this image, was invented by the malicious flatterers, which ſought nothing but the deſtruction of the Iews, whom they accuſed of rebellion and ingratitude.

[f] Signifying, that he would receive them to grace, if they would now at the length obey his decree.

[g] For they ſhould have done injury to God, if they ſhould have doubted in this holy cauſe, and therefore they ſay, that they are reſolved to die for Gods cauſe.

[h] They ground on two points, firſt, on the power and providence of God over them, and ſecondly, on their cauſe, which was Gods glory, and the teſtifying of his true religion with their blood, and ſo make open confeſſion, that they will not ſo much as outwardly conſent to idolatry.

[i] This declareth that the more that tyrants rage, and the more witty they ſhew themſelves in inventing ſtrange and cruell puniſhments, the more is God glorified by his ſervants to whom he giveth patience and conſtancy to abide the cruelty of their puniſhment, for either he delivereth them from death, or elſe for this life giveth them a better.

[k] For the Angels were called the ſons of God, becauſe of their excellency: therefore the King called this Angel, whom God ſent to comfort his in theſe great torments, the Son of God.

[l] This commendeth their obedience unto God, that they would not for any fear depart out of this fornace, till the time appointed, as Noah remained in the Arke till the Lord called him forth.

[m] He was moved by the greatneſſe of the miracle to praiſe God, but his heart was not touched. And here we ſee that miracles are not ſufficient to convert men to God, but that doctrine muſt chiefly be adjoined, without the which there can be no faith.

[n] If this heathen King moved by Gods Spirit, would not ſee blaſphemy unpuniſhed, but made a law, and ſet a puniſhment to ſuch tranſgreſſors, much more ought all they that profeſſe religion, take order that ſuch impiety reign not, leſt according as their knowledge & charge is greater, ſo they ſuffer double puniſhment.

[o] Meaning, ſo far as his dominion extended.

33 How great are his ſignes, and how mighty are his wonders! [p] his kingdome is an everlaſting kingdome, and his dominion is from generation to generation.

CHAP. IV.

2 Another dream of Nebuchad-nezzar, which Daniel declareth. 29 The Prophet declareth how of a proud King he ſhould become as a beaſt. 31 After he confeſſeth the power of God, and is reſtored to his former dignitie.

I Nebuchad-nezzar being at [a] reſt in mine houſe, and flouriſhing in my palace,

2 Saw a [b] dreame, which made me afraid, and the thoughts upon my bed, and the viſions of mine head troubled me.

3 Therefore made I a decree, that they ſhould bring all the wiſe men of Babel before me, that they might declare unto me the interpretation of the dream.

4 So came the inchanters, the Aſtrologians, the Caldeans, and the ſoothſayers, to whom he told the dream, but [c] they could not ſhew me the interpretation thereof,

5 Till at the laſt Daniel came before me, (whoſe name was [d] Belteſhazzar, according to the name of my god, which hath the ſpirit of the holy gods in him) and before him I told the dream, ſaying,

6 O Belteſhazzar, [e] chief of the inchanters, becauſe I know that the ſpirit of the holy gods is in thee, and no ſecret troubleth thee, tell me the viſions of my dream, that I have ſeen, and the interpretation thereof.

7 Thus were the viſions of mine head in my bed: And behold, I ſaw a [f] tree in the mids of the earth, and the height thereof was great:

8 A great tree and ſtrong, and the height thereof reached unto heaven, and the ſight thereof to the ends of all the earth.

9 The boughes thereof were fair, and the fruit thereof much, and in it was meat for all: it made a ſhadow under it for the beaſts of the field, and the fowles of the heaven dwelt in the boughes thereof, and all fleſh fed of it.

10 I ſaw in the viſions of mine head upon my bed, and behold, [g] a watchman and an Holy one came down from heaven,

11 And cried aloud, and ſaid thus, Hew downe the tree, and break off his branches: ſhake off his leaves, and ſcatter his fruit, that the beaſts may flee from under it, and the fowles from his branches.

12 Nevertheleſſe, leave the ſtump of his roots in the earth, and with a band of iron and braſſe bind it among the graſſe of the field, and let it be wet with the dew of heaven, and let his portion be with the beaſts among the graſſe of the field.

13 [h] Let his heart be changed from mans nature, and let a beaſts heart be given unto him, and let ſeven times be paſſed over him.

14 [i] The ſentence is according to the decree of the watchmen, and according to the word of the Holy ones: the demand was anſwered, to the intent that living men may know that the moſt High hath power over the kingdome of men, and giveth it to whomſoever he will, and appointeth over it the moſt abject among men.

15 This is the dream, that I King Nebuchad-nezzar have ſeene: therefore thou, O Belteſhazzar, declare the interpretation thereof: for all the wiſemen of my kingdome are not able to ſhew me the interpretation: but thou art able, for the ſpirit of the holy gods is in thee.

16 ¶ Then Daniel (whoſe name was Belteſhazzar) held his [k] peace by the ſpace of one houre, and his thoughts troubled him, and the king ſpake, and ſaid, Belteſhazzar, let neither the dream, nor the interpretation thereof trouble thee. Belteſhazzar anſwered, and ſaid, My lord, the dream be to them that hate thee, and the interpretation thereof to thine enemies.

17 The tree that thou ſaweſt, which was great and mighty, whoſe height reached unto the heaven, and the ſight thereof through all the world,

18 Whoſe leaves were fair, and the fruit thereof much, and in it was meat for all, under the which the beaſts of the field dwelt, and upon whoſe branches the fowls of the heaven did ſit,

19 It is thou, O king, that art great and mighty: for thy greatneſſe is grown, and reacheth unto heaven, and thy dominions to the ends of the earth.

20 Whereas the King ſaw a watchman, and an holy One, that came down from heaven, and ſaid, Hew down the tree, and deſtroy it, yet leave the ſtump of the rootes thereof in the earth, and with a band of iron and braſſe binde it among the graſſe of the field, and let it be wet with the deaw of heaven, and let his portion bee with the beaſts of the field, [l] till ſeven times paſſe over him.

21 This is the interpretation, O King, and it is the decree of the moſt High,

---

[p] Read Chap. 2. 44.

[a] There was no trouble ỹ might cauſe me to dream and therefore it came onely of God.

[b] This was another dream beſides that which he ſaw of the four empires: for Daniel both declared what that dream was, and what it meant: and here he only expoundeth the dream.

[c] In that that he ſent abroad to others, whoſe ignorance in times paſt he had experimented, and left Daniel which was ever redy at hand: it declareth the nature of the ungodly, which never ſeek to ỹ ſervants of God, but for very neceſſitie, and then they ſpare no flatterings.

[d] This no doubt was a great grief to Daniel, not only to have his name changed, but to be called by the name of a vile idole, which thing Nebuchadnezzar did, to make him forget the true religion of God.

[e] Which alſo was a great grief to the Prophet, to be numbred among the ſorcerers, and men whoſe practiſes were wicked, and contrarie to Gods word,

[f] By the tree is ſignified the dignity of a King, whom God ordaineth to be a defence for all kind of men, and whoſe ſtate is profitable for mankinde.

[g] Meaning, the Angel of God, which neither eateth nor ſleepeth, but is ever ready to do Gods wil, & is not infected with mans corruption, but is ever holy: and in that ỹ he commandeth to cut down this tree, he knew that it ſhould not be cut down by man, but by God.

[h] Hereby he meaneth that Nebuchad-nezzar ſhould not onely for a time loſe his kingdome, but be like a beaſt.

[i] God hath decreed this judgement, & the whole army of heaven have, as it were ſubſcribed unto it, like as alſo they deſire the execution of his decree againſt all them ỹ lift up themſelves againſt God.

[k] He was troubled for the great judgment of God which he ſaw ordained againſt the king: and ſo the Prophets uſed on the one part, to denounce Gods judgements for the zeal thy bare to his glory: & on the other part, to have compaſſion upon man, and alſo to conſider, that they ſhould be ſubject to Gods judgemnts, if they did not regard them with pitie.

[l] Whereby he meaneth a long ſpace, as ſeven years. Some interpret ſeven months and others ſeven weeks, but it ſeemeth he means of years.

which is come upon my Lord the King.

22 That they ſhall drive thee from men, and thy dwelling ſhall be with the beaſts of the field: they ſhall make thee to eat graſſe as the [m] oxen, and they ſhall wet thee with the deaw of heaven: and ſeven times ſhall paſſe over thee, till thou know, that the [n] moſt High beareth rule over the kingdome of men, and giveth it to whomſoever he will.

23 Whereas they ſaid, that one ſhould leave the ſtump of the tree roots, thy kingdome ſhall remain unto thee: after that, thou ſhalt know that the heavens have the rule.

24 Wherefore, O King, let my counſell be acceptable unto thee, and [o] breake off thy ſinnes by righteouſneſſe, and thine iniquities by mercy toward the poore: loe, let there be an [p] healing of thine errour.

25 All theſe things ſhall come upon the king Nebuchad-nezzar.

26 ¶ At the end of twelve [q] months, he walked in the royall palace of Babel.

27 And the king ſpake, and ſaid, Is not this great Babel, that I have built for the houſe of the kingdome by the might of my power, and for the honour of my majeſtie?

28 While the word was in the kings mouth, a voice came down from heaven, ſaying, O king Nebuchad-nezzar, to thee be it ſpoken, Thy kingdome is departed from thee,

29 And they ſhall drive thee from men, and thy dwelliug ſhall be with the beaſts of the field: they ſhall make thee to eat graſſe, as the oxen, and ſeven times ſhall paſſe over thee, untill thou knoweſt, that the moſt High beareth rule over the kingdome of men, and giveth it unto whomſoever he will.

30 The very ſame houre was this thing fulfilled upon Nebuchad-nezzar, and he was driven from men, and did eate graſſe as the oxen, and his body was wet with the dew of heaven, till his haires were grown as Eagles feathers, and his nailes like birds clawes.

31 And at the end of theſe [r] daies, I Nebuchad-nezzar lift up mine eyes unto heaven, and mine underſtanding was reſtored unto me, and I gave thankes unto the moſt High, and I praiſed and honoured him, that liveth for ever, * whoſe power is an everlaſting power, and his kingdome is from generation to generation.

32 And all the inhabitants of the earth are reputed as nothing: and according to his [ſ] will he worketh in the army of heaven, and in the inhabitants of the earth, and none can ſtay his hand, nor ſay unto him, What doeſt thou?

33 At the ſame time was mine underſtanding reſtored unto me, and I returned to the honour of my kingdome: my glory and my beauty was reſtored unto me, and my counſellors [t] and my princes ſought unto me, and I was eſtabliſhed in my kingdome, and my glory was augmented toward me.

34 Now therefore, I Nebuchad-nezzar [v] praiſe, and extoll, and magnifie the King of heaven, whoſe workes are all truth, and his waies judgement, and thoſe that walke in pride, he is able to abaſe.

Chap. V.

5 Belſhazzar king of Babylon ſeeth an hand writing on the wall. 8 The ſoothſayers called of the King cannot expound the writing. 25 Daniel readeth it, and interpreteth it alſo. 30 The King is ſlain. 31 Darius enjoieth the kingdome.

King [a] Belſhazzar made a great feaſt to a thouſand of his princes, and dranke wine [b] before the thouſand.

2 And Belſhazzar ‡ whiles he taſted the wine, commanded to bring him the golden and ſilver veſſels, which his [c] father Nebuchad-nezzar had brought from the Temple in Jeruſalem, that the king and his princes, his wives, and his concubines might drink therein.

3 Then were brought the golden veſſels, that were taken out of the Temple of the Lords houſe at Jeruſalem, and the king and his princes, his wives, and his concubines, dranke in them.

4 They dranke wine, and praiſed the [d] gods of gold, and of ſilver, of braſſe, of iron, of wood, and of ſtone.

5 At the ſame houre appeared fingers of a mans hand, which wrote over [e] againſt the candleſtick upon the plaiſter of the wall of the kings palace, and the king ſaw the palme of the hand that wrote.

6 Then the kings countenance was changed, and his thoughts troubled him, ſo that the joints of his loines were looſed, and his [f] knees ſmote one againſt the other.

7 Wherefore the king cried loud, that they ſhould bring [g] the Aſtrologians, the Caldeans and the Soothſayers. And the king ſpake, and ſaid to the wiſe men of Babel, Whoſoever can read this writing, and declare me the Interpretation thereof, ſhall be clothed with purple, and ſhall have a chain of gold about his neck, and ſhall be the third ruler in the kingdome.

8 Then came all the kings wiſe men,

---

[m] Not that his ſhape or form was changed into a beaſt, but that he was either ſtriken mad, and ſo avoided mans company, or was caſt out for dis tyrannie, and ſo wandred among the beaſts, and ate herbes and graſſe.

[n] Daniel ſheweth the cauſe why God thus puniſhed him.

[o] Ceaſe from provoking God to anger any longer by thy ſins, that he may mitigate his puniſhment, if thou ſhew by thine upright life that thou haſt true faith and repentance.

[p] Suffer the errors of thy former life to be redreſſed.

[q] After that Daniel had declared this viſion: and this his pride, declareth that it is not in man to convert to God, except his Spirit moove him, ſeeing that theſe terrible threatnings could not move him to repent.

[r] When the terme of theſe ſeven years was accompliſhed.

* Chap. 7.14. Micah 4.17. Luke 1.33.

[ſ] He confeſſeth Gods will to be the rule of all juſtice, and a moſt perfect law wherby he governeth both man and Angels, and devils, ſo that none ought to murmure, or aske a reaſon of his doing, but onely to ſtand content therewith, and give him the glory.

[t] By whom it ſeemeth that he had been put from his kingdom before.

[v] He doth not only praiſe God for his deliverance, but alſo confeſſeth his fault, that God may only have the glory, and man the ſhame, and that he may be exalted, and man caſt down.

[a] Daniel reciteth this hiſtory of king Belſhazzar Evilmerodachs ſon, to ſhew Gods judgments againſt the wicked for the deliverance of his Church, and how the prophecy of Ieremiah was true, that they ſhould be delivered after ſeventie years.

[b] The Kings of ỹ Eaſt parts then uſed to ſit alone commonly, & diſdained that any ſhould ſit in their company: & now to ſhew his power and how little he ſet by his enemies which then beſieged Babylon, he made a ſolemne banquet, and uſed exceſſe in their company, which is meant heer by drinking wine: thus ỹ wicked are moſt diſſolute and negligent, when their deſtruction is at hand.

[c] Meaning his grandfather.

[d] In contempt of the true God they praiſed their idols not that they thought, that the gold or ſilver were gods, but ỹ there was a certain vertue and power in them to do them good, which is alſo the opinion of all idolaters.

[e] That it might the better be ſeen.

[f] So he that before contemned God, was moved by this ſight to tremble for fear of Gods judgments.

[g] Thus the wicked in their troubles ſeek many means, who draw them from God because they ſeek not to him who is the only comfort in all affliction.

but they could neither read the writing, nor ſhew the king the interpretation.

9 Then was king Belſhazzar greatly troubled, and his countenance was changed in him, and his princes were aſtonied.

10 Now the [h] Queene by reaſon of the talke of the king, and his princes, came into the banquet houſe, and the Queene ſpake, and ſaid, O king, live for ever: let not thy thoughts trouble thee, nor let thy countenance be changed.

11 There is a man in thy kingdome, in whom is the ſpirit of the holy gods, and in the daies of thy father, light and underſtanding and wiſdome, like the wiſdome of the gods, was found in him: whom the king Nebuchad-nezzar thy father, the king, I ſay, thy father, made chiefe of the [i] inchanters, aſtrologians, Caldeans, and ſoothſayers,

12 Becauſe a more excellent ſpirit, and knowledge, and underſtanding (for he did expound dreames, and declare hard ſentences, and diſſolved doubts) were found in him, even in Daniel, whom the king named Belteſhazzar: now let Daniel be called, and he will declare the interpration.

13 ¶ Then was Daniel brought before the king, and the King ſpake, and ſaid unto Daniel, Art thou that Daniel, which art of the children of the captivity of Judah, whom my father the king brought out of Jewrie?

14 Now, I have heard of thee, that [k] the ſpirit of the holy gods is in thee, and that light, and underſtanding, and excellent wiſdome is found in thee.

15 Now therefore, wiſe men, and aſtrologians have beene brought before mee, that they ſhould reade this writing, and ſhew me the interpretation thereof: but they could not declare the interpretation of the thing.

16 Then heard I of thee, that thou couldeſt ſhew interpretations, and diſſolve doubts: now if thou canſt read the writing, and ſhew me the interpretation thereof, thou ſhalt be clothed with purple, and ſhalt have a chaine of gold about thy necke, and ſhalt be the third ruler in the kingdome.

17 Then Daniel anſwered, and ſaid before the king, Keepe thy rewards to thy ſelfe, and give thy gifts to another: yet I will reade the writing unto the king, and ſhew him the interpretation.

18 O king, heare thou, The moſt high God gave unto [l] Nebuchad-nezzar thy father a kingdome, and majeſty, and honour, and glory.

19 And for the majeſty that he gave him, all people, nations, and languages trembled, and feared before him: he put to death whom hee would: hee ſmote whom hee would: whom hee would hee ſet up, and whom hee would he put downe.

20 But when his heart was puft up, and his mind hardened in pride, he was depoſed from his kingly throne, and they took his honour from him.

21 And he was driven from the ſonnes of men, and his heart was made like the beaſts, and his dwelling was with the wild aſſes: they fedde him with graſſe like oxen, and his body was wet with the deaw of heaven, till he knew, that the moſt high God bare rule over the kingdome of men, and that he appointeth over it, whomſoever he pleaſeth.

22 And thou his ſonne, O Belſhazzar, haſt not humbled thine heart, though thou kneweſt all theſe things, 23 But haſt lift thy ſelfe up againſt the Lord of heaven, and they have brought the veſſels of his Houſe before thee, and thou and thy princes, thy wives and thy concubines have drunke wine in them, and thou haſt praiſed the gods of ſilver and gold, of braſſe, iron, wood and ſtone, which neither ſee, neither heare, nor underſtand: and the God, in whoſe hand thy breath is, and all thy waies, him haſt thou not glorified.

24 [m] Then was the palme of the hand ſent from him, and hath written this writing,

25 And this is the writing, that hee hath written, [n] MENE, MENE, TEKEL, UPHARSIN.

26 This is the interpretation of the thing, MENE, God hath numbred thy kingdome, and hath finiſhed it.

27 TEKEL, Thou art weighed in the balance, and art found ‡ too light.

28 PERES, Thy kindgdome is divided, and given to the Medes and Perſians.

29 Then at the commandement of Belſhazzar they clothed Daniel with purple, and put a chaine of gold about his necke, and made a Proclamation concerning him, that he ſhould be the third ruler in the kingdome.

30 The ſame night was Balſhazzar the King of the Caldeans ſlaine.

31 And Darius [o] of the Medes tooke the kingdome, being threeſcore and two yeare old.

CHAP. VI.

1 Daniel is made ruler over the governours. 5 An act againſt Daniel. 16 He is put into a denne of lions by the commandement of the King. 23 He is delivered by faith in God. 24 Daniels accuſers are put unto the [h] To wit, his grandmother Nebuchad-nezzars wife, which for her age was not before at the feaſt, but came thither when ſhe heard of theſe ſtrange news.

[i] Read Chap. 4. 6. and this declareth, that both this name was odious unto him, and alſo that he did not uſe theſe vile practiſes, becauſe he was not among them when all were called.

[k] For the idolaters thought that the Angels had power as God, & therefore had them in like eſtimation, as they had God, thinking that the ſpirit of propheſie, and underſtanding came of them.

[l] Before he read the writing, he declareth to the king his great ingratitude toward God, who could not be moved to give him the glory, conſidering his wonderfull worke toward his grandfather, and ſo ſheweth, that he doth not ſinne of ignorance, but of malice.

[m] After that God had ſo long time deferred his anger, and patiently waited for thine amendment.

[n] This word is twiſe written for the certainetie of the thing: ſhewing that God had moſt ſurely counted: ſignifying alſo, that God hath appointed a terme for all kingdomes, and that a miſerable end ſhall come on all that raiſe themſelves againſt him.

[o] Cyrus his ſon in law gave him this title of honour, although Cyrus in effect had the dominion.

lions. 25 Darius by a decree magnifieth the God of Daniel.

IT pleaſed Darius to ſet over the kingdome [a] an hundred and twenty governours, which ſhould be over the whole kingdome,

2 And over theſe, three rulers (of whom Daniel was one) that the governours might give accounts unto them, and the king ſhould ‡ have no domage.

3 Now this Daniel [b] was preferred above the rulers and governours, becauſe the ſpirit was excellent in him, and the king thought to ſet him over the whole realme.

4 ¶ Wherefore the rulers and governours [c] ſought an occaſion againſt Daniel concerning the kingdome: but they could find none occaſion or fault: for he was ſo faithfull, that there was no blame nor fault found in him.

5 Then ſaid theſe men, We ſhall not find an occaſion againſt this Daniel, except we find it againſt him concerning the Law of his God.

6 Therefore the rulers and theſe governours went together to the king, and ſaid thus unto him, King Darius, live for ever.

7 All the rulers of the kingdome, the officers and governours, the counſellers and dukes have conſulted together to make a decree for the king, and to eſtabliſh a ſtatute, that whoſoever ſhall aske a petition of any god or man for thirtie daies, ſave of thee, O king, he ſhall be caſt into the denne of lions.

8 Now, O king, confirme the decree, and ſeale the writting, that it be not changed according to the law of the Medes and Perſians, which altereth not.

9 Wherefore king Darius [d] ſealed the writing and the decree.

10 ¶ Now when Daniel underſtood that he had ſealed the writing, he went into his houſe, and his [e] window being open in his chamber toward Jeruſalem, he kneeled upon his knees three times a day, and praied, and praiſed his God, as he did afore time.

11 Then theſe men aſſembled, and found Daniel praying, and making ſupplication unto his God.

12 So they came, and ſpake unto the king, concerning the kings decree, Haſt thou not ſealed the decree, that every man that ſhall make a requeſt to any god or man within thirtie daies, ſave to thee, O king, ſhall be caſt into the den of lions? The king anſwered and ſaid, The thing is true, according to the law of the Medes and Perſians, which altereth not.

13 Then anſwered they, and ſaid unto the king, This Daniel, which is of the children of the captivitie of Judah, regardeth not thee, O king, nor the decree, that thou haſt ſealed, but maketh his petition three times a day.

14 When the king heard theſe words, he was ſore diſpleaſed with himſelfe, and ſet his heart on Daniel to deliver him: and he laboured till the ſunne went down, to deliver him.

15 Then theſe men aſſembled unto the king, and ſaid unto the king, Underſtand, O king, that the law of the Medes and Perſians is, that no decree nor ſtatute which the king confirmeth, may be [f] altered.

16 ¶ Then the king commanded, and they brought Daniel, and caſt him into the denne of lions: now the king ſpake, and ſaid unto Daniel, Thy God, whom thou alway ſerveſt, even hee will deliver thee.

17 And a ſtone was brought, and laid upon the mouth of the den, and the king ſealed it with his own ſignet, and with the ſignet of his princes, that the purpoſe might not be changed, concerning Daniel.

18 Then the king went unto his palace, and remained faſting, neither were the inſtruments of muſick brought before him, and his ſleepe went from him.

19 ¶ Then the king roſe early in the morning, and went in all haſte unto the denne of lions.

20 And when hee came to the denne, hee cried with a lamentable voice unto Daniel: and the king ſpake, and ſaid unto Daniel, O Daniel, the ſervant of the living God, is not thy God, (whom thou alway ſerveſt) [g] able to deliver thee from the lions?

21 Then ſaid Daniel unto the king, O king, live for ever.

22 My God hath ſent his Angel, and hath ſhut the lions mouthes, that they have not hurt me: for my [h] juſtice was found out before him: and unto thee, O King, I have done [i] no hurt.

23 Then was the king exceeding glad for him, and commanded that they ſhould take Daniel out of the denne: ſo Daniel was brought out of the den, and no manner of hurt was found upon him, becauſe he [k] beleeved in his God.

24 And by the commandement of the king, theſe men which had accuſed Daniel, were brought, and were [l] caſt into the den of lions, even they, their children, and their wives: and the lions had the maſterie of them, and brake all their bones apieces, or ever they came at the ground of the denne.

[a] Reade Eſter Chap. 1. 1.

[b] This heathen King preferred Daniel a ſtranger to all his nobles & familiars, becauſe the graces of God were more excellent in him then in others.

[c] Thus the wicked cannot abide the graces of God in others, but ſeeke by all occaſions to deface them: therefore againſt ſuch aſſaults there is no better remedie thē to walke uprightly in the feare of God, and to have a good conſcience

[d] Herein is condemned the wickednes of the king who would be ſet up as a god, and paſſed not what wicked lawes he approved for the maintenance of the ſame.

[e] Becauſe hee would not by his ſilence ſhew that he conſented to this wicked decree, he ſet open his windowes toward Jeruſalem, when he praied: both to ſtirre up himſelfe with the remembrance of Gods promiſes to his people when they ſhould pray toward that Temple, and alſo that others might ſee that he would neither conſent in heart nor deed for theſe few daies, to any thing that was contrary to Gods glorie.

[f] Thus the wicked maintaine evill lawes by conſtancie & authoritie, which is oftimes either lightneſſe, or ſtubburneſſe, when as the innocents thereby periſh: and therefore governours neither ought to feare, nor be aſhamed to breake ſuch.

[g] This declareth that Darius was not touched with the true knowledg of God, becauſe he doubted of his power.

[h] My juſt cauſe and uprightneſſe in this thing wherein I was charged, is approved of God.

[i] For he did diſobey the Kings wicked commandement to obey God, and ſo did no injurie to the king, who ought to command nothing whereby God ſhould be diſhonoured.

[k] Becauſe he committed himſelfe wholly unto God whoſe cauſe he did defend, he was aſſured, that nothing but good could come unto him: wherein we ſee the power of faith, as Heb. 11. 33.

[l] This is a terrible example againſt al the wicked, which doe againſt their conſcience make cruel lawes to deſtroy the children of God, and alſo admoniſheth Princes how to puniſh ſuch, when their wickedneſſe is come to light: though not in every point, or with ſuch like circumſtances, yet to execute true juſtice upon them.

25 ¶ Afterward king Darius wrote, Unto all people, nations and languages, that dwell in all the world: Peace be multiplied unto you.

26 I make a decree, that in all the dominion of my kingdome, men tremble and feare [m] before the God of Daniel: for he is the [n] living God, and remaineth for ever, and his kingdome ſhall not periſh, and his dominion ſhallbe everlaſting:

27 He reſcueth and delivereth, and he worketh ſignes and wonders in heaven and in earth, who hath delivered Daniel from the power of the lions.

28 So this Daniel proſpered in the reigne of Darius, and in the reign of Cyrus of Perſia.

CHAP. VII.

3 A viſion of foure beaſts is ſhewed unto Daniel. 8 The ten hornes of the fourth beaſt. 27 Of the everlaſting kingdome of Chriſt.

IN the firſt yeare of Belſhazzar king of Babel, Daniel ſaw a dreame, and there were viſions in his head, upon his bed: [a] then he wrot the dreame, and declared the ſumme of the matter.

2 Daniel ſpake, and ſaid, I ſaw in my viſion by night, and behold, the foure winds of heaven ſtrove upon [b] the great ſea:

3 And foure great beaſts came up from the ſea, one diverſe from another.

4 The firſt was as a [c] lion, and had eagles wings: I beheld, til the wings thereof were pluckt off, and it was lifted up from the earth, and ſet upon his feet as a man, and a mans heart was given him.

5 And behold, another beaſt which was the ſecond, was like a [d] beare, and ſtood upon the [e] one ſide: and he had three ribs in his [f] mouth between his teeth, [g] and they ſaid thus unto him, Ariſe, and devoure much fleſh.

6 After this I beheld, and lo, there was another like a [h] leopard, which had upon his backe [i] foure wings of a fowle: the beaſt had alſo foure heads, and [k] dominion was given him.

7 After this, I ſaw in the viſions by night, and behold, the [l] fourth beaſt was fearefull and terrible and very ſtrong. It had [m] great iron teeth: it devoured and brake in pieces, and ſtamped [n] the reſidue under his feet: and it was unlike to the beaſts that were before it: for it had [o] ten hornes.

8 As I conſidered the hornes, behold, there came up among them another little [p] horne, before whom there were [q] three of the firſt hornes pluckt away: and behold, in this horne were [r] eies like the eies of a man, and a mouth ſpeaking preſumptuous things.

9 I beheld, till the [ſ] thrones were ſet up, and the [t] Ancient of daies did ſit, whoſe garment was white as ſnow, and the haire of his head like the pure wooll: his throne was like the fierie flame, and his wheeles as burning fire.

10 A fiery ſtreame iſſued, and came forth from before him: thouſand thouſands miniſtred unto him, and ten thouſand [v] thouſands ſtood before him: the judgement was ſet, and the [x] books opened.

11 Then I beheld, [y] becauſe of the voice of the preſumptuous words, which the horne ſpake: I beheld, even till the beaſt was ſlaine, and his body deſtroied, and given to the burning fire.

12 As [z] concerning the other beaſts, they had taken away their dominion: yet their lives were prolonged for a certaine time and ſeaſon.

13 ¶ As I beheld in viſions by night, behold, [a] one like the Son of man came in the clouds of heaven, and [b] approched unto the Ancient of daies, and they brought him before him.

14 And he gave him [c] dominion, and honor, and a kingdom, that all people, nations, and languages ſhould ſerve him: his dominion is an everlaſting dominion, which ſhall never be taken away: and his kingdome ſhall never be deſtroied.

15 ¶ I Daniel was [d] troubled in my Spirit, in the mids of my body, and the viſions of mine head made me afraid.

16 Therefore I came unto [e] one of them that ſtood by, and asked him the truth of all this: ſo hee told me, and ſhewed mee the interpretation of theſe things.

[m] This proveth not that Darius did worſhip God aright, or elſe was converted: for then he would have deſtroyed all ſuperſtition and idolatrie, and not onely given God the chiefe place, but alſo have ſet him up, and cauſed him to be honoured according to his word: but this was a certaine confeſſion of Gods power, whereunto he was compelled by this wonderfull miracle.

[n] Which hath not onely life in himſelfe, but is the onely fountaine of life, and quickneth all things, ſo that without him there is no life.

[a] Whereas the people of Iſrael looked for a continuall quietneſſe after theſe ſeventy yeares, as Jeremiah had declared, he ſheweth that this reſt ſhall not be a deliverance from al troubles, but a beginning, & therefore encouraged them to looke for a continuall affliction, till the Meſſiah be uttered and revealed, by whom they ſhould have a ſpirituall deliverance, and all the promiſes fulfilled: whereof they ſhould have a certaine token in the deſtruction of the Babylonicall kingdome.

[b] Which ſignified that there ſhould be horrible troubles & afflictions in all the corners of the world, and at ſundrie times.

[c] Meaning, the Aſſyrian and Caldea empire, which was moſt ſtrong and fierce in power, & muſt ſoone come to their authoritie, as though they had had wings to flie, yet their wings were pulled by the Perſians, and they went on their feet, and were made like other men, which is here meant by mans heart.

[d] Meaning the Perſians, which were barbarous and cruell.

[e] They were ſmall in the beginning, and were ſhut up in the mountaines, and had no bruite.

[f] That is, deſtroied many kingdomes, and was inſatiable.

[g] To wit, the Angels by Gods commandement, who by this meanes puniſhed the ingratitude of the world.

[h] Meaning, Alexander the King of Macedonie.

[i] That is, his four chief captaines; which had the Empire among them after his death. Seleucus had Aſia the great, Antigonus the leſſe, Caſſander, and after him, Antipater was king of Macedonia, and Prolemeus had Egypt.

[k] It was not of himſelfe, nor of his owne power, that he gate all theſe countries: for his armies contained but thirty thouſand men, and he overcame in one batteil Darius, which had ten hundred thouſand, when he was ſo heavie with ſleepe, that his eies were ſcarſe open, as the ſtories report: therefore this power was given him of God.

[l] That is, the Romane Empire, which was as a monſter, and could not be compared to any beaſt, becauſe the nature of none was able to expreſſe it.

[m] Signifying, the tyrannie and greedineſſe of the Romans.

[n] That which the Romans could not quietly enjoy in other countres, they would give it to other Kings and rulers, that at all times when they would they might take it againe: which liberalitie is here called, the ſtamping of the reſt under the feete.

[o] That is, ſundry and divers provinces which were governed by the Deputies and Proconſuls, whereof every one may be compared to a king.

[p] Which is meant of Julius Ceſar, Auguſtus, Tiberius, Caligula, Claudius, and Nero, &c. who were as kings, in effect, but becauſe they could not rule but by the conſent of the Senate, their power is compared to a little horne. For Mahomet came not of the Roman Empire, and the Pope hath no vocation of government: therefore this cannot be applied unto them: and alſo in this propheſie the Prophets purpoſe is chiefely to comfort the Iewes unto the revelation of Chriſt. Some take it for the whole body of Antichriſt.

[q] Meaning, a certaine portion of the ten hornes: that is, a part from the whole eſtate was pluckt away. For Auguſtus tooke from the Senate the libertie of chuſing the deputies to ſend into the provinces, and tooke the government of certaine countries to himſelfe.

[r] Theſe Romane Emperours at the firſt uſed a certaine humanitie and gentleneſſe, and were content that others, as the Conſuls and Senates, ſhould beare the name of dignitie, ſo that they might have the profit, and therefore in elections and Counſels would behave themſelves according as did other Senatours: yet againſt their enemies, and thoſe that would reſiſt them, they were fierce and cruell, which is heere meant by the proud mouth.

[ſ] Meaning, the places where God and his Angels ſhould come to judge theſe Monarchies, which judgement ſhould begin at the firſt comming of Chriſt.

[t] That is, God, which was before all times, and is heere deſcribed as mans nature is able to comprehend ſome portion of his glory.

[v] That is, an infinite number of Angels, which were ready to execute his Commandement.

[x] This is meant of the firſt comming of Chriſt, when as the will of God was plainely revealed by his Goſpel.

[y] Meaning, that he was aſtonied, when he ſaw theſe Emperours in ſuch dignitie and pride, and ſo ſuddenly deſtroied at the comming of Chriſt, when this forth Monarchie was ſubject to men of other nations.

[z] As the three former Monarchies had an end at the time that God appointed, although they flouriſhed for a time, ſo ſhall this fourth have, and they that patiently abide Gods appointment, ſhall enjoy the promiſes.

[a] Which is meant of Chriſt, who had not yet taken upon him mans nature, neither was the ſonne of David according to the fleſh, as hee was afterward: but appeared then in a figure, and that in the clouds: that is, being ſeparate from the common ſort of men by manifeſt ſignes of his divinitie.

[b] To wit, when he aſcended into the heavens, and his divine majeſtie appeared, and all power was given unto him in reſpect of that, that hee was our Mediatour.

[c] This is meant of the beginning of Chriſts kingdome, when God the Father gave unto him all dominion, as to the Mediatour, to the intent that he ſhould governe heere his Church in earth continually, till the time that he brought them to eternall life.

[d] Through the ſtrangeneſſe of the viſion.

[e] Meaning of the Angels, as verſe. 10.

17 Theſe great beaſts which are foure, are foure kings which ſhall ariſe out of the earth,

18 And they ſhall take the [f] kingdome of the Saints of the [g] moſt High, which ſhall poſſeſſe the kingdome for ever, even for ever and ever.

19 ¶ After this I would know the truth of the forth beaſt, which was ſo [h] unlike to all the others, very fearefull, whoſe teeth were of iron, and his nailes of braſſe: which devoured, brake in pieces, and ſtamped the [i] reſidue under his feet.

20 Alſo to know of the ten hornes that were in his head, and of the other which came up, before whom three fell, and of the horne that had eyes, and of the mouth that ſpake preſumptuous things, whoſe [k] look was more ſtout then his fellows.

21 I beheld, and the ſame [l] horne made battell againſt the Saints, yea, and prevailed againſt them,

22 Untill [m] the Ancient of daies came, and judgement was given to the Saints of the moſt high: and the time approached, that the Saints poſſeſſed the kingdome.

23 Then he ſaid, The fourth beaſt ſhall be the fourth kingdom in the earth, which ſhall be unlike to all the kingdomes, and ſhall devoure the whole earth, and ſhall tread it down and break it in pieces.

24 And the ten hornes out of this kingdome are ten kings that ſhall riſe: and another ſhall riſe after them, and he ſhall be unlike to the firſt, and he ſhall ſubdue [n] three kings,

25 And ſhall ſpeak words againſt [o] the moſt High, and ſhall conſume the Saints of the moſt High, and thinke that he may [p] change times and laws, and they ſhall be gvien into his hand, untill a [q] time, and times, and the dividing of time.

26 But the [r] judgement ſhall ſit, and they that take away his dominion, to conſume and deſtroy it unto the end.

27 And the [ſ] kingdome and dominion, and the greatneſſe of the kingdome under the whole heaven ſhall be given to the holy people of the moſt High, whoſe kingdome is an everlaſting kingdome, and all [t] powers ſhall ſerve and obey him.

28 Even this is the end of the matter, I Daniel had many [v] cogitations which troubled me, and my countenance changed in me: but I kept the matter in mine heart.

Chap VIII.

A viſion of a battell betweene a Ramme and a Goate. 20 The underſtanding of the viſion.

In the third yeare of the reigne of king Belſhazzar, a viſion appeared unto me, even unto me Daniel, [a] after that which appeared unto me at the firſt.

2 And I ſaw in a viſion, and when I ſaw it, I was in the palace of Suſhan, which is in the province [b] of Elam, and in a viſion me thought I was by the river of Ulai.

3 Then, I looked up and ſaw, and behold, there ſtood before the river a [c] ramme, which had two hornes: and theſe two hornes were high: but one was [d] higher then another, and the higheſt came up laſt.

4 And I ſaw the ramme puſhing againſt the Weſt, and againſt the North, and againſt the South: ſo that no [e] beaſts might ſtand before him, nor could deliver out of his hand, but he did what he liſted, and became great.

5 And as I conſidered, behold, [f] a goat came from the Weſt over the whole earth, and touched not the ground: and this goat had an [g] horne that appeared betweene his eyes.

6 And he came unto the ramme that had the two hornes, whom I had ſeene ſtanding by the river, and ranne unto him in his fierce rage.

7 And I ſaw him come unto the ram, and being moved againſt him, he [h] ſmote the ramme, and brake his two hornes: and there was no power in the ramme to ſtand againſt him, but he caſt him downe to the ground, and ſtamped upon him, and there was none that could deliver the ramme out of his power.

8 Therefore the goate waxed exceeding great, and when hee was at the ſtrongeſt, his great [i] horne was broken: and for it came up foure that [k] appeared toward the foure winds of the heaven.

9 And out of one of them came forth [l] a little horne, which waxed very great toward the [m] South, and toward the [n] Eaſt, and toward the [o] pleaſant land.

10 Yea, it grew up unto the [p] hoſte of heaven, and it caſt down ſome of the hoſte, and of the ſtars to the ground, and trode upon them,

Becauſe Abraham was appointed heire of all the world, Rom. 4. 13. and in him all the faithfull, therefore the kingdome thereof is theirs by right, which theſe foure beaſts or tyrants ſhould invade and uſurpe untill the world were reſtored by Chriſt: and this was to confirme them that were in troubles, that their afflictions ſhould have an end at length.

g That is, of the moſt high things, becauſe God hath choſen them out of this world, that they ſhould looke up to the heavens, whereon all their hope dependeth.

h For the other three Monarchies were governed by a king, and the Romane Empire by Conſuls: the Romanes changed their governours yearely, and the other Monarchies retained them for terme of life: alſo the Romans were the ſtrongeſt of all the other, and were never quiet among themſelves.

k This is meant of the fourth beaſt, which was more terrible then the other.

l Meaning, the Romane Emperours, who were moſt cruell againſt the Church of God both of the Iewes and of the Gentiles m Till God ſhewed his power in the perſon of Chriſt, and by the preaching of the Goſpel gave unto his ſome reſt, and ſo obtained a famous name in the world, and were called the Church of God, or the kingdom of God.

o That is, ſhall make wicked decrees and proclamations againſt Gods Word, and ſend throughout all their dominion, to deſtroy all that did profeſſe it.

p Theſe Emperours ſhall not conſider that they have their power of God, but think it is in their owne power to change Gods laws and mans, and as it were the order of nature, as appeareth by Octavius, Tyberius, Caligula, Nero, Domitianus, &c.

q God ſhall ſuffer them thus to rage againſt his Saints for a long time, which is meant by the time and times, but at length he will aſſwage theſe troubles, and ſhorten the times for his elects ſake, Mat. 24. 22. which is here meant by the dividing of time.

r God by his power ſhall reſtore things that were out of order, and ſo deſtroy this little horne, that it ſhall never riſe up againe.

ſ He ſheweth wherefore the beaſt ſhould be deſtroied, to wit, that his Church might have reſt and quietneſſe, which though they doe not fully enjoy here, yet they have it in hope, and by the preaching of the Goſpel enjoy the beginning thereof, which is meant, by theſe words, under the heaven: and therefore he here ſpeaketh of the beginning of Chriſts kingdome in this world, which kingdome the faithfull have by the participation that they have with Chriſt their head.

t That is, ſome of every ſort that beare rule.

c Which repreſenteth the kingdome of the Perſians and Medes, which were joyned together.

d Meaning, Cyrus, which after grew greater in power then Darius his uncle and father in law.

e That is, no kings or nations.

f Meaning, Alexander that came from Grecia, with great ſpeed and expedition.

g Though he came in the name of all Grecia, yet he bare the title and dignity of the general captain, ſo that the ſtrength was attributed to him, which is meant by this horne.

h Alexander overcame Darius in two ſundry battels, and ſo had the two kingdoms of the Medes and Perſians i Alexanders great power was broken, for when he had overcome all the Eaſt, he thought to returne toward Grecia to ſubdue them that there had rebelled, and ſo died by the way.

k That is, which were famous: for almoſt in the ſpace of fifteene yeare there were fifteene divers ſucceſſours before this Monarchie was divided to theſe foure, whereof Caſſander had Macedonia, Seleucus Syria, Antigonus Aſia the leſſe, and Ptolemeus Egypt.

l Which was Antiochus Epiphanes, who was of a ſervile and flattering nature, and alſo there were othe betweene him and the kingdome, and therefore is here called the little horne, becauſe neither princely conditions, not any other thing was in him, why he ſhould obtain this kingdome.

12 And [ſ] a time ſhall be given him over the daily ſacrifice for the iniquity: and it ſhall [t] caſt down the truth to the ground, and thus ſhall it doe, and proſper.

13 Then I heard one of the [v] Saints ſpeaking, and one of the Saints ſpake unto a certaine one, ſaying, How long ſhall endure the viſion of the daily ſacrifice, and the iniquity of the [x] deſolation to tread both the Sanctuary and the [y] army under foot?

14 And [z] he anſwered me, Unto the [a] evening and the morning, two thouſand and three hundred: then ſhall the Sanctuary be cleanſed.

15 ¶ Now when I Daniel had ſeene the viſion, and ſought for the meaning, behold, there ſtood before me [b] like the ſimilitude of a man.

16 And I heard a mans voice between the bankes of Ulai, which called, and ſaid, Gabriel, [c] make this man to underſtand the viſion.

17 So he came where I ſtood: and when he came, I was afraid, and fell upon my face: but he ſaid unto me, Underſtand, O ſon of man: for [d] in the laſt time ſhall be the viſion.

18 Now as he was ſpeaking unto me, I being aſleepe fell on my face to the ground: but he touched me, and ſet me up in my place.

19 And he ſaid, Behold, I will ſhew thee what ſhall be in the laſt [e] wrath: for in the end of the time appointed it ſhall come.

20 The ramme which thou ſaweſt having two hornes, are the kings of the Medes and Perſians.

21 And the goate is the king of Grecia, and the great horne that is betweene his eyes, is the firſt king.

22 And that that is broken, and foure ſtood up for it, are foure kingdoms, which ſhall ſtand up [f] of that nation, but not [g] in his ſtrength.

23 And in the end of their kingdome, when the rebellious ſhall be conſumed, a king of [h] fierce countenance, and underſtanding darke ſentences, ſhall ſtand up:

24 And his power ſhall be mighty, but not [i] in his ſtrength: and he ſhall deſtroy wonderfully, and ſhall proſper, and practiſe, and ſhall deſtroy the [k] mighty, and the holy people.

25 And through his [l] policie alſo, he ſhall cauſe craft to proſper in his hand, and he ſhall extoll himſelfe in his heart, and by [m] peace ſhall deſtroy many: he ſhall alſo ſtand up againſt the [n] Prince of princes, but he ſhall be broken downe [o] without hand.

26 And the viſion of the [p] evening and the morning, which is declared, is true: thererefore ſeale thou up the viſion, for it ſhall be after many daies.

27 And I Daniel was ſtricken and ſicke [q] certaine daies: but when I roſe up, I did the Kings buſineſſe, and I was aſtoniſhed at the viſion, but none underſtood it.

3 Daniel deſireth to have that performed of God, which he had promiſed concerning the returne of the people from their baniſhment in Babylon. 5 A true confeſſion. 20 Daniels prayer is heard. 21 Gabriel the Angel expoundeth unto him the viſion of the ſeventy weeks. 24 The anointing of Chriſt. 25 The building againe of Ieruſalem. 26 The death of Chriſt.

IN the firſt yeare of Darius the ſonne of [a] Ahaſhueroſh, of the ſeed of the Medes, which was made king over the [b] realme of the Caldeans,

3 And I turned my face unto the LORD God, and [d] ſought by praier and ſupplications, with faſting and ſackcloth and aſhes,

[r] He laboured to aboliſh all religion, and therefore caſt Gods ſervice out of his Temple, which God had choſen as a litle corner from all the reſt of the world to have his Name there truely called upon.

[ſ] He ſheweth that their ſins are the cauſe of all theſe horible afflictions: and yet comforteth them, in that he appointeth this tyrant a time, whom he would not ſuffer utterly to aboliſh his religion.

[t] This horne ſhall aboliſh for a time the true doctrine, and ſo corrupt Gods ſervice.

[v] Meaning, that he heard one of the Angels asking this queſtion of Chriſt, whom he calleth a certaine one, or a ſecret one, or a marveilous one.

[x] That is, the Iews ſins, which were the cauſe of this deſtruction.

[c] This power to command the Angel, declared that he was God.

[i] That is, not like Alexanders ſtrength.

[k] Both the Gentiles that dwell about him, and alſo the Iewes.

[l] Whatſoever he goeth about by his craft, he ſhall bring it to paſſe.

[m] That is, under pretence of peace: or as it were in ſport.

[n] Meaning, againſt God.

9 Yet compaſſion and forgiveneſſe is in the Lord our God, albeit we have rebelled againſt him:

10 For we have not obeyed the [h] voice of the Lord our God, to walke in his lawes, which he had laid before us by the miniſterie of his ſervants the Prophets.

11 Yea, all Iſrael have tranſgreſſed thy Law, and are turned backe, and have not heard thy voice: therefore the [i] curſe is powred upon us, and the oath that is written in the Law of Moſes the ſervant of God, becauſe we have ſinned againſt him.

12 And he hath confirmed his words, which he ſpake againſt us, and againſt our judges that ‡ judged us, by bringing upon us a great plague: for under the whole heaven hath not beene the like, as hath been brought upon Jeruſalem.

13 All this plague is come upon us, as it is written in the Law of Moſes: yet made we not our praier before the Lord our God, that we might turne from our iniquities, and underſtand thy truth.

14 Therefore hath the Lord ‡ made ready the plague, and brought it upon us: for the Lord our God is righteous in all his works which he doeth: for we would not heare his voice.

15 * And now, O Lord our God, that haſt brought thy people out of the land of Egypt with a mightie hand, and haſt gotten thee renowne, as appeareth this day, we have ſinned, we have done wickedly.

16 O Lord, according to all thy [k] righteouſneſſe, I beſeech thee, let thine anger and thy wrath be turned away from thy citie Jeruſalem thine holy Mountaine: for becauſe of our ſins, and for the iniquities of our fathers, Jeruſalem and thy people are a reproach to all that are about us.

17 Now therefore, O our God, heare the praier of thy ſervant, and his ſupplications, and cauſe thy face to [l] ſhine upon thy Sanctuarie, that lieth waſte, for the [m] Lords ſake.

18 O my God, incline thine eare and heare: open thine eies and behold our deſolations, and the citie whereupon thy Name is called: for we do not preſent our ſupplications before thee for our [n] owne righteouſneſſe, but for thy great tender mercies.

19 O Lord, heare, O Lord, forgive, O Lord [o] conſider, and do it: deferre not, for thine own ſake, O my God: for thy Name is called upon thy city, & upon thy people.

20 ¶ And whiles I was ſpeaking, and praying, and confeſſing my ſinne, and the ſinne of my people Iſrael, and did preſent my ſupplication before the Lord my God, for the holy Mountaine of my God,

21 Yea, while I was ſpeaking in praier, even the man * Gabriel, whom I had ſeene before in the viſion, came flying, and touched me about the time of the evening oblation:

22 And he enformed me, and talked with me, and ſaid, O Daniel, I am now come forth to give thee knowledge and underſtanding.

23 At the beginning of thy ſupplications the Commandement came forth, and I am come to ſhew thee, for thou art greatly beloved: therefore underſtand the matter, and conſider the viſion.

24 Seventie [p] weekes are determined upon [p] thy people, and upon thy holy citie, to finiſh the wickedneſſe, and to ſeal up the [r] ſinnes, and to reconcile the iniquitie, and to bring in everlaſting righteouſneſſe, and to ſeale up the viſion and propheſie, and to anoint the moſt Holy:

25 Know therefore and underſtand, that from [ſ] the going forth of the commandment to bring again the people, and to build Jeruſalem, unto Meſſiah the Prince, ſhall be ſeven [t] weekes, and [v] threeſcore and two weekes, and the ſtreet ſhall be built againe, and the wall even in a ‡ troublous time.

26 And after threeſcore and [x] two weekes, ſhall Meſſiah be ſlaine, and ſhall [y] have nothing, and the people of [z] the Prince that ſhall come, ſhall deſtroy the Citie and the Sanctuarie, and the end thereof ſhall be with a flood: and unto the end of the battell it ſhall be deſtroied by deſolations.

27 And he [a] ſhall confirme the covenant with many for one week: and in the mids of the week he ſhall cauſe the ſacrifice and the oblation to [b] ceaſe, [c] and for the overſpreading of the abominations, he ſhall make it deſolate, even untill the conſummation determined ſhall be powred upon the deſolate.

[g] He doth not excuſe the Kings becauſe of their authority, but praieth chiefly for them as the chiefe occaſions of theſe great plagues.

[h] He ſheweth that they rebell againſt God, which ſerve him not according to his commandement and word.

[i] As Deut.27.15. or the curſe confirmed by an oath.

‡ Or, governed us.

‡ Ebr. watched upon the evill.

[k] That is, according to all thy merciful promiſes and the performance thereof.

[m] That is, for thy Chriſts ſake, in whom thou wilt accept all our praiers.

[n] Declaring, that the godly flee only unto Gods mercies, and renounce their own works, when they ſeeke for remiſſion of their ſinnes.

[o] Thus he could not content himſelfe with any vehemencie of words: for he was ſo led with a fervent zeale, conſidering Gods promiſe made to the citie, in reſpect of his Church, & for the advancement of Gods glorie.

* *Chap.*8.16.

[p] He alludeth to Jeremias propheſie, who propheſied that their captivitie ſhould be ſeventie years: but now Gods mercie ſhould ſevenfold exceed his judgment, which ſhould be foure hundred and ninetie yeares, even to the comming of Chriſt, and ſo then it ſhould continue for ever,

[q] Meaning, Daniels nation, over whom he was carefull,

[r] To ſhew mercie, and to put ſinne out of remembrance.

[ſ] That is, from the time that Cyrus gave them leave to depart.

[t] Theſe weekes make fortie nine yeare, whereof 46. are referred to the time of the building of the Temple, and three to the laying of the foundation.

[v] Counting from the ſixt yeare of Darius, who gave the ſecond commandement for the building of the Temple, are 62. weekes, which make 439. yeares, which comprehend the time from this bulding of the Temple, unto the Baptiſme of Chriſt.

‡ Ebr. In ſtreits of time.

[x] In this laſt weeke of the ſeventie ſhall Chriſt come and preach, and ſuffer death.

[y] He ſhall ſeeme to have no beauty, nor to be of any eſtimation, as Iſaiah,53.2.

[z] Meaning, Titus Veſpaſianus ſon, who ſhould come and deſtroy both the Temple, and the people, without all hope of recoverie.

[a] By the preaching of the Goſpel he confirmed his promiſe, firſt to the Jewes, and after to the Gentiles.

[b] Chriſt accompliſhed this by his death and reſurrection.

[c] Meaning, that Jeruſalem and the Sanctuarie ſhould be utterly deſtroied for their rebellion againſt God, and their idolatry: or, as ſome read, that the plagues ſhal be ſo great, that they ſhall all be aſtonied at them.

CHAP. X.

There appeareth unto Daniel a man clothed in linnen. 11 which ſheweth him wherefore he is ſent.

IN the [a] third yeare of Cyrus King of Perſia, a thing was revealed unto [a] He noteth this third yeare, becauſe at this time the bulding of the Temple began to be hindered by Cambyſes, Cyrus ſonne, when the father made warre in Aſia minor againſt the Scythians, which was a diſcouraging to the godly, and a great feare to Daniel.

Daniel (whoſe name was called Belte-ſhazzar) and the word was true, but the time appointed was [b] long, and he underſtood the thing, and had underſtanding of the viſion.

2 At the ſame time I Daniel was in heavineſſe for three weekes of daies.

3 I ate no pleaſant bread, neither came fleſh, nor wine in my mouth, neither did I anoint my ſelfe at all, till three weeks of daies were fulfilled.

4 Then in the foure and twintieth day of the [c] firſt moneth, as I [d] was by the ſide of that great river, even Hiddekel,

5 And I lift up mine eies, and looked, and behold, there was a man [e] clothed in linnen, whoſe loines were girded with fine gold of * Uphaz:

6 His body alſo was like the Chryſolite, and his face (to looke upon) like the lightning, and his eies as lampes of fire, and his armes and his feet were like in colour to poliſhed braſſe, and the voice of his words was like the voice of a multitude.

7 And I Daniel alone ſaw the viſion: for the men that were with me, ſaw not the viſion: but a great feare fell upon them, ſo that they fled away and hid themſelves.

8 Therefore I was left alone, and ſaw this great viſion, and there remained no ſtrength in me: for [f] my ſtrength was turned in me into corruption, and I retained no power.

9 Yet heard I the voice of his words: and when I heard the voice of his words, I ſlept on my face: and my face was toward the ground.

10 And behold, an [g] hand touched me, which ſet me upon my knees, and upon the palmes of mine hands.

11 And he ſaid unto me, O Daniel, a man greatly beloved, underſtand the words that I ſpeake unto thee, and ſtand in thy place: for unto thee am I now ſent. And when he had ſaid this word unto me, I ſtood trembling.

12 Then ſaid he unto me, Feare not, Daniel: for from the firſt day that thou didſt ſet thine heart to underſtand, and to humble thy ſelfe before thy God, thy words were heard, and I am come for thy words.

13 But the [h] prince of the kingdome of Perſia withſtood me one and twentie daies: but loe, [i] Michael one of the chiefe princes, came to helpe me, and I remained there by the kings of Perſia.

14 Now I am come to ſhew thee what ſhall come to thy people in the latter daies: for yet the [k] viſion is for many daies.

15 And when he ſpake theſe words unto me, I ſet my face toward the ground, and held my tongue.

16 And behold, [l] one like the ſimilitude of the ſonnes of man touched my lips: then I opened my mouth, and ſpake, and ſaid unto him that ſtood before me, O my Lord, [m] by the viſion my ſorrowes are returned upon me, and I have retained no ſtrength.

17 For how can the ſervant of this my Lord talke with my Lord being ſuch one? for as for me, ſtraight way there remained no ſtrength in me, neither is there breath left in me.

18 Then there came againe, and touched me, one like the appearance of a man, and he ſtrengthened me, 19 And ſaid, O man, greatly beloved, feare not: [n] peace be unto thee: be ſtrong and of good courage. And when he had ſpoken unto me, I [o] was ſtrengthened, and ſaid, let my Lord ſpeake, for thou haſt ſtrengthened me.

20 Then ſaid he, Knoweſt thou wherefore I am come unto thee? but now will I returne to fight with the prince of Perſia: and when I am gone forth, loe, the [p] prince of Grecia ſhall come.

21 But I will ſhew thee that which is decreed in the Scripture of truth: [q] and there is none that holdeth with mee in theſe things, but Michael your Prince.

CHAP. XI.

A propheſie of the kingdomes which ſhould be enemies to the Church of God, as of Perſia, 3 Of Grecia, 5 Of Egypt, 28 Of Syria, 36 And of the Romanes.

ALſo I, in the firſt yeare of Darius of the Medes, even I [a] ſtood to encourage and to ſtrengthen him.

2 And now will I ſhew thee the truth, Behold, there ſhall ſtand up yet [b] three Kings in Perſia, and the fourth ſhall bee farre richer then they all: and by his ſtrength, and by his riches, he ſhall ſtirre up [c] all againſt the realme of Grecia.

3 But a [d] mightie King ſhall ſtand up, that ſhall rule with great dominion, and doe according to his pleaſure,

4 And when he ſhall ſtand up, [e] his kingdome ſhall be broken, [f] and ſhall be

---

[b] Which is to declare that the godly ſhould not haſten too much, but patiently to abide the iſſue of Gods promiſe.

[c] Called Abib, which containeth part of March, and part of April.

[d] Being caried by the Spirit of propheſie to have the ſight of this river Tygris.

[e] This was the Angel of God, which was ſent to aſſure Daniel in this propheſie that followeth.

* Jer. 10. 9.

[f] The word alſo ſignifieth, comelineſſe, or beautie, ſo that for feare he was like a dead man for deformitie.

[g] Which declareth, that when we are ſtricken downe with the majeſtie of God, we cannot riſe, except he alſo lift us up with his hand, which is his power.

[h] Meaning, Cambyſes, who reigned in his fathers abſence, and did not onely for this ſpace hinder the building of the Temple, but would have further raged, if God had not ſent me to reſiſt him, and therefore have I ſtaied for the profit of the Church.

[i] Though God could by one Angel deſtroy all the world, yet to aſſure his children of his love, he ſendeth forth double power, even Michael, that is, Chriſt Jeſus, the head of Angels.

[k] For though the Prophet Daniel ſhould end and ceaſe, yet his doctrine ſhould continue till the comming of Chriſt, for the comfort of his Church.

[l] This was the ſame Angel that ſpake with him before in the ſimilitude of a man.

[m] I was overcome with feare and ſorrow, when I ſaw the viſion.

[n] He declareth hereby, that God would be mercifull unto the peoble of Iſrael.

[o] Which declareth, that when God ſmiteth downe his children, he doth not immediately lift them up at once, (for now the Angel had touched him twiſe) but by little and little.

[p] Meaning, that he would not onely himſelfe bridle the rage of Cambyſes, but alſo the other Kings of Perſia, by Alexander the King of Macedonia.

[q] For this Angel was appointed for the defence of the Church under Chriſt, who is the head thereof.

[a] The Angel aſſureth Daniel, that God hath given him power to performe theſe things, ſeeing he appointed him to aſſiſt Darius, when he overcame the Caldeans.

[b] Whereof Cambyſes that now reigned was the firſt, the ſecond Smerdes, the third Darius the ſonne of Hyſtaſpes, and the fourth Xerxes, which all were enemies to the people of God, and ſtood againſt them.

[c] For he raiſed up all the Eaſt Countries for to fight againſt the Grecians: and albeit he had in his Armie nine hundred thouſand men, yet in foure battels he was diſcomfited and fled away with ſhame.

[d] That is, Alexander the great.

[e] For when his eſtate was moſt flouriſhing, he overcame himſelfe with drinke, and ſo fell into a diſeaſe, or as ſome write, was poiſoned by Caſſander.

divided toward [g] the foure windes of heaven, and not to his [h] poſteritie, nor according to his [i] dominion which he ruled: for his kingdome ſhall be pluckt up, even to be for others beſides [k] thoſe.

5 And the [l] king of the South ſhall be mightie, and one of [m] his princes, and ſhall prevaile againſt him, and beare rule: his dominion ſhall be a great dominion.

6 And in the end of the years they ſhal be joined together: for the kings [n] daughter of the South, ſhall come to the king of the North to make an agreement, but ſhe ſhall not retaine the power of [o] the arme, neither ſhall [p] he continue, nor his [q] arme: but ſhe ſhall be delivered to death, and they that brought her, and he [r] that begate her, and he that comforted her in theſe times.

7 But out of the bud of her [ſ] rootes ſhall one ſtand up in his ſtead, [t] which ſhall come with an armie, and ſhall enter into the fortreſſe of the king of the North, and doe with them as he liſt, and ſhall prevaile,

8 And ſhall alſo carie captives into Egypt their gods with their molten images, and with their precious veſſels of ſilver and of gold, and he ſhall continue [v] more yeares then the king of the North.

9 So the king of the South ſhall come into his kingdome, and ſhall returne into his owne land.

10 Wherefore his [x] ſonnes ſhall bee ſtirred up, and ſhall aſſemble a mightie great armie: and one [y] ſhall come, and overflow, and paſſe thorow: then ſhall he [z] returne, and be ſtirred up at his fortreſſe.

11 And the king of the South ſhall be angrie, and ſhall come forth, and fight with him, even with the king of the North: for he ſhall ſet forth a great [a] multitude, and the multitude ſhall be given into his hand.

12 Then the multitude ſhall be proud, and their heart ſhall be lifted up: for he ſhall caſt downe thouſands: but he ſhall not ſtill prevaile:

13 For the king of the North [b] ſhall returne, and ſhall ſet forth a greater multitude then afore, and ſhall come forth (after certaine years) with a mightie armie, and great riches.

14 And at the ſame time there ſhall [c] many ſtand up againſt the king of the South: alſo the rebellious children of thy [d] people ſhall exalt themſelves to eſtabliſh the viſion, but they ſhall fall.

15 So the king of the North ſhall come, and caſt up a mount, and take the ſtrong citie: and the armes of the South ſhall [e] not reſiſt, neither his choſen people, neither ſhall there be any ſtrength to withſtand.

16 But he that ſhall come, ſhall doe unto him as he liſt, and none ſhall ſtand againſt him: and he ſhall ſtand in the [f] pleaſant land, which by his hand ſhall be conſumed.

17 Againe, he ſhall [g] ſet his face to enter with the power of his whole kingdome, and his confederates with him: thus ſhall hee doe, and he ſhall give him the [h] daughter of women, to deſtroy [i] her: but [k] ſhe ſhall not ſtand on his ſide, neither be for him.

18 After this, ſhall he turne his face unto the [l] Iſles, and ſhall take many, but a prince [m] ſhall cauſe his ſhame to light upon him, beſide that he ſhall cauſe his owne ſhame to turne upon [n] himſelfe.

19 For he ſhall turne his face toward the forts of [o] his owne land: but he ſhall be overthrowne and fall, and be no more [p] found.

20 [q] Then ſhall ſtand up in his place in the glorie of the kingdome, one that ſhall raiſe taxes: but after few daies he ſhall be deſtroied, neither in [r] wrath, nor in battell.

21 And in his place ſhall ſtand up a [ſ] vile perſon, to whom they ſhall not give the honour of the kingdome: but he ſhall come in peaceably, and obtaine the kingdome by flatteries,

22 And the [t] armes ſhall bee overthrowne with a flood before him, and ſhall be broken, and alſo the Prince of the [v] covenant.

23 And after [x] the league made with him, he ſhall work deceitfully: for he ſhal come up, and overcome with a [y] ſmall people.

24 He ſhall enter into the quiet and plentifull province, and he ſhall doe that which his [z] fathers have not done, nor his fathers fathers, he ſhall divide among them the prey and the ſpoile, and the ſubſtance, yea, and he ſhall fore-caſt his deviſes againſt the ſtrong holds, even for a [a] time.

---

[g] After this his Monarchie was divided into foure: for Seleucus had Syria, Antigonus Aſia minor, Caſſander the kingdome of Macedonia, and Ptolomeus Egypt.

[h] Thus God revẽged Alexanders ambition and crueltie, in cauſing his poſteritie to be murthered, partly of the fathers chiefe friends, and partly one of another.

[i] None of theſe foure ſhall be able to be compared to the power of Alexander.

[k] That is, his poſteritie having no part thereof.

[m] That is, Antiochus the ſonne of Selencus. and one of Alexanders princes ſhall be more mightie: for hee ſhould have both Aſia and Syria.

[n] That is, Berenice the daughter of Prolomeus Philadelphus ſhall be given in mariage to Antiochus Theos, thinking by this affinitie, that Syria and Egypt ſhould have a continuall peace together.

[o] That force and ſtrength ſhall not continue: for ſoon after Berenice and her yong ſonne after her husbands death, was ſlaine of her ſtep ſonne Selencus Calinicus, the ſonne of Laodice, the lawfull wife of Antiochus, but put away for this womans ſake.

[p] Neither Prolemeus nor Antiochus.

[q] Some read, ſeed, meaning the child begotten of Berenice.

[r] Some read, ſhe that begate her, and thereby underſtand her nurſe, which brought her up: ſo that all they that were occaſion of this marriage, were deſtroied.

[ſ] Meaning, that Prolomeus Evergetes after the death of his father Philadelphus ſhould ſucceed in the Kingdome, being of the ſame ſtocke that Berenice was.

[t] To revenge his ſiſters death againſt Antiochus Calinicus King of Syria.

[v] For this Prolomens reigned ſixe and fortie yeares.

[x] Meaning, Seleucus and Antiochus the Great, the ſonnes of Calinicus, ſhall make warre againſt Prolemeus Philopater the ſonne of Philadelphus.

[y] For his elder brother Seleucus died, or was ſlaine whiles the warres were preparing,

[z] That is. Philopater when he ſhall ſee Antiochus to take great dominions from him in Syria, and alſo readie to invade Egypt.

[a] For Antiochus had ſixe thouſand horſemen and threeſcore thouſand footmen.

[c] For not onely Antiochus came againſt him, but alſo Philip king of Macedonia, and theſe two brought great power with them.

[d] For nnder Onias which falſly alledged that place of Iſaiah 19. 19. certaine of the Jewes retired with him into Egypt to fulfill this propheſie: alſo the Angel ſheweth tha all theſe trouble which are in the Church, are by the providence and counſell o God.

[e] The Egyptians were not able t reſiſt Stopas, Antiochus captaine,

[f] He ſheweth, tha he ſhall not onely afflict the Egyptians, but alſo the Jewes, and ſhal enter inter thei countrey, whereof he admoniſheth them before that they may know that all theſe things come by Gods providence,

[g] This was the ſecond battell tha Antiochus fough againſt Prolomen Epiphanes, [h] To wit, a beautifull woman, which was Cleopatra, Antiochu daughter.

[i] For he regarde not the life of hi daughter, in reſpect of the kingdome of Egypt.

[k] She ſhall not agree to his wicked counſell, b ſhall love her huſband as her dutie requireth, and n ſeeke his deſtruction.

[l] That is, towar Aſia, Grecia, and thoſe Iſles which are in the Sea, called Mediterraneum: for the Jews called all countrie Iſles: which were divided from them by Sea

[m] For whereas Antiochus was woont to contemne the Romans, and put their Ambaſſador to ſhame in all places, Attilius th Conſull, or Luciu Scipio put him t flight, and cauſe his ſhame to turn on his own head.

[n] By his wicke life, and obeying of fooliſh counſe

[o] For feare of th Romans he ſha flee to his holds.

[p] For when as under the pretenc of povertie he would have rob ed the Temple o Iupiter Dodoneus the country me ſlew him.

[q] That is, Seleucus ſhall ſuccee his father Antio chus.

[r] Not by forreigne enemies, or battell, but by treaſon.

[ſ] Which was Antiochus Epiphanes, who as is thought, was the occaſion of Seleucus his brothers death, an was of a vile, cruell and flattering nature, and defrauded his brothes ſonne of the kingdom and uſurped the kingdome without the conſent of the people.

[t] He ſheweth, th great forreign powers ſhall come to helpe the young ſonne of Selencus againſt his unc Antiochus, and yet ſhall be overthrowne.

[u] Meaning, Prolomeus Philometor, Phil paters ſonne, who was this childs coſen germane, and is here called the Prince of th covenant, becauſe he was the chiefe, and all other followed his conduct.

[x] For af the battell, Philometor and his uncle Autiochus made a leagne.

[y] For he came upo him at unawares, and when he ſuſpected his uncle Antiochus nothing.

[z] Meanin in Egypt.

[a] He will content himſelfe with the ſmall holds for a time, but ever labo by craft to attaine to the chiefeſt.

25 Alſo, he ſhall ſtir up his power and his courage againſt the king of the South with a great army, and the king of the South ſhall be ſtirred up to battell with a very great and mighty army: but he ſhall not [b] ſtand: for they ſhall forecaſt and practiſe againſt him.

26 Yea, they that feed of the portion of [c] his meate, ſhall deſtroy him: and his army [d] ſhall overflow: and many ſhall fall, and be ſlain.

27 And both theſe kings hearts ſhall be to do [e] miſchief, and they ſhall talke of deceit at one table, but it ſhall not avail: for [f] yet the end ſhall be at the time appointed.

28 Then ſhall he return into his land with great [g] ſubſtance: for his heart ſhall be againſt the holy covenant: ſo ſhall he do and return to his own land.

29 At the time appointed he ſhall return and come toward the South: but the laſt ſhall not be as the firſt:

30 For the ſhips [h] of Chittim ſhal come againſt him: therefore he ſhall be ſory and return, and fret againſt the holy covenant: ſo ſhall he do, he ſhall even return [i] and have intelligence with them that forſake the holy covenant.

31 And arms [k] ſhall ſtand on his part, and they ſhall polute the Sanctuary [l] of ſtrength, and ſhall take away the daily ſacrifice, and they ſhall ſet up the abominable deſolation.

31 And ſuch as wickedly [m] breake the covenant ſhall he cauſe to ſinne by flattery: but the people that do know their God, ſhall prevail and proſper.

33 And they that underſtand among [n] the people, ſhall inſtruct many: [o] yet they ſhall fall by ſword, and by flame, by captivity and by ſpoile many dayes.

34 Now when they ſhall fall, they ſhall be holpen with a [p] little help: but many ſhall cleave unto them [q] feignedly.

35 And ſome of them [r] of underſtanding ſhall fall to trie them, and to purge, and to make them white, till the time be out: for there is a time appointed.

36 And the [ſ] king ſhall do what him liſt: he ſhall exalt himſelf and magnifie himſelf againſt all, that is God, and ſhall ſpeake marveilous things againſt the God of gods, and ſhall proſper, till the wrath [t] be accompliſhed: for the determination is made:

37 Neither ſhall he regard the [v] God of his fathers, nor the deſires [x] of women, nor care for any God: for he ſhall magnifie himſelf above all.

38 But in his place ſhall he honour the [y] god Mauzzim, and the god whom his fathers knew not, ſhal he honour with [z] gold and with ſilver, and with precious ſtones, and pleaſant things.

39 Thus ſhall he do in [a] the holes of Mauzzim with a ſtrange god whom he ſhal acknowledge: he ſhall increaſe his glory, and ſhall cauſe them to rule over many, and ſhall divide the land for gain.

40 And at the end of time ſhall the king of the [b] South puſh at him, and the king of the North ſhall come againſt him like a whirlwinde with charets, and with horſmen, and with many ſhips, and he ſhall enter into the countries, and ſhall overflow and paſſe thorow.

41 He ſhall enter alſo into the [c] pleaſant land, and many countreys ſhall be overthrown: but theſe ſhall eſcape out of his hand, even Edom and Moab, and the chief of the children of Ammon.

42 He ſhall ſtretch forth his hands alſo upon the countries, and the land of Egypt ſhall not eſcape.

43 But he ſhall have power over the treaſures of gold and of ſilver, and over all the precious things of Egypt, and of the Lybians, and of the black Mores where he ſhall paſſe.

44 But the tydings out of the Eaſt, and the North ſhall [d] trouble him: therefore he ſhall go forth [e] with great wrath to deſtroy and root out many.

45 And he ſhall plant the tabernacles [f] of his palace between the ſeas in the glorious and holy mountain, yet he ſhall come to his end, and none ſhall help him.

[b] He ſhal be overcome with treaſon

[c] Signifying, his princes, and the chief about him.

[d] Declaring, that his ſouldiers ſhall braſt out, and venture their life to ſlay and to be ſlain for the ſafeguard of their Prince.

[e] The uncle and the nephew ſhall take truce, and banquet together, yet in their hearts they ſhall imagine miſchief one againſt another.

[f] Signifying, that it ſtandeth not in the counſell of men to bring things to paſſe, but in the providence of God, who ruleth the kings by a ſecret bridle, that they cannot do what they liſt themſelves.

[g] Which he ſhall take of the Jewes in ſpoiling of Jeruſalem and the Temple, and this is told them before, to move them to patience, knowing, that all things are done by Gods providence.

[h] That is, the Romane power ſhall come againſt him: for P. Popilius the Ambaſſadour appointed him to depart in the Romanes name, to which thing he obeyed, although with grief, and to revenge his rage, he came againſt the people of God the ſecond time.

[i] With the Iewes which ſhall forſake the covenant of the Lord: for firſt he was called againſt the Iewes by Iaſon the high Prieſt, and this ſecond time by Menelaus.

[k] A great faction of the wicked Iewes ſhall hold with Antiochus.

[l] So called, becauſe the power of God was nothing diminiſhed, although this tyrant ſet up in the Temple the image of Jupiter Olympius, and ſo began to corrupt the pure ſervice of God. [m] Meaning, ſuch as beare the name of Iewes: but indeed were nothing leſſe: for they ſold their ſouls, and betraied their brethren for gain. [n] They that remain conſtant among the people ſhall teach others by their example, and edifie many in the true religion. [o] Whereby he exhorteth the godly to conſtancie, although they ſhould periſh a thouſand times, and though their miſeries endure never ſo long. [p] As God will not leave his Church deſtitute, yet will he not deliver it all at once, but ſo help, as they may ſtill ſeem to fight under the croſſe, as he did in the time of the Maccabees, whereof he here propheſieth. [q] That is, there ſhall be even of this ſmall number, many hypocrites. [r] To wit, of them that feare God, and will loſe their life for the defence of true religion, ſignifying alſo, that the Church muſt continually be tried and purged, and ought to look for one perſecution after another: for God hath appointed the time, therefore we muſt obey. [ſ] Becauſe the Angels purpoſe is to ſhew the whole courſe of the perſecutions of the Iewes unto the coming of Chriſt, he now ſpeaketh of the Monarchy of the Romans, which he noteth by the name of a king, who were without all religion, and contemned the true God.

[t] So long the tyrants ſhall prevail as God hath appointed to puniſh his people, but he ſheweth it is but for a time.

[v] The Romanes ſhall obſerve no certain form of Religion as other nations, but ſhall change their gods at their pleaſure, yea contemn them, and preferre themſelves to their gods.

[x] Signifying, that they ſhould be without all humanity: for the love of women is taken for a ſingular or great love, as 2 Sam. 1. 26.

[y] That is, the God of power and riches: they ſhall eſteem their own power above all their gods, and worſhip it.

[z] Under pretence of worſhipping the gods, they ſhall enrich their citie with the moſt precious jewels of all the world, becauſe that hereby all men ſhould have them in admiration for their power and riches.

[a] Although in their hearts they had no religion, yet they did acknowledge the gods, and worſhipped them in their temples, leſt they ſhould have been deſpiſed as Atheiſts: but this was to increaſe their fame and riches: and when they gate any countrey, they ſo made others the rulers thereof, that the profit ever came to the Romanes.

[b] That is, both the Egyptians and Syrians ſhall at the length fight againſt the Romanes, but they ſhall be overcome.

[c] The Angel forewarneth the Iewes that when they ſhould ſee the Romanes invade them, and that the wicked ſhould eſcape their hands, that then they ſhould not thinke but that all this was done by Gods providence, foraſmuch as he warneth them of it ſo long afore, and therefore he would ſtill preſerve them. [d] Hearing that Craſſus was ſlain, and Antonius diſcomfited. [e] For Auguſtus overcame the Parthians, and recovered that which Antonius had loſt. [f] The Romanes after this reigned quietly through all countries, and from ſea to ſea, and in Iudea: but at length for their cruelty God ſhall deſtroy them.

CHAP. XII.

1 Of the deliverance of the Church by Chriſt.

AND at that [a] time ſhall Michael ſtand up, the great Prince, which ſtandeth for the children of thy people, and there ſhall be a time of trouble, ſuch as never was ſince there began to be a nation unto that ſame time: and at that time thy people ſhal be delivered, every one that ſhall be found written in the book,

[a] The Angel here noteth two things: firſt, that ẏ Church ſhall be in great affliction & trouble at Chriſts coming, and next, that God will ſend his Angel to deliver it, whom here he calleth Michael, meãing Chriſt, which is publiſhed by the preaching of the Goſpel.

2 And many [b] of them that ſleep in the duſt of the earth, ſhall awake, ſome to everlaſting life, and ſome to ſhame and perpetuall contempt.

3 And they that be [c] wiſe, ſhall ſhine as the brightneſſe of the firmament: and they that [d] turne many to righteouſneſſe, ſhall ſhine as the ſtarres for ever and ever.

4 But thou, O Daniel, [e] ſhut up the words, and ſeale the booke [f] till the end of the time: many ſhall run too and fro, and knowledge ſhall be increaſed.

5 ¶ Then I Daniel looked, and behold, there ſtood other two, the one on this ſide of the brinke of the [g] river, and the other on that ſide of the brink of the river.

6 And one ſaid unto the man clothed in linnen, which was upon the waters of the river, When ſhall be the end of theſe wonders?

7 And I heard the man clothed in linnen, which was upon the waters of the river, when he held up his [h] right hand, and his left hand unto heaven, and ſware by him that liveth for ever, that it ſhall tarie for a [i] time, two times and an half: and when he ſhall have accompliſhed [k] to ſcatter the power of the holy people, all theſe things ſhall be finiſhed.

8 Then I heard it, but I underſtood it not: then ſaid I, O my Lord, what ſhall be the end of theſe things?

9 And he ſaid, Go thy way, Daniel: for the words are cloſed up, and ſealed, till the end of the time.

10 Many ſhall be purified, made white, and tried: but the wicked ſhall do wickedly, and none of the wicked ſhall have underſtanding: but the wiſe ſhall underſtand.

11 And from the time that the [l] daily ſacrifice ſhalbe taken away, and the abominable deſolation ſet up, there [m] ſhall be a thouſand, two hundreth and ninetie daies.

12 Bleſſed is he that waiteth and commeth to the thouſand, three hundred and [n] five and thirtie daies.

13 But go [o] thou thy way till the end be: for thou ſhalt reſt and ſtand up in thy lot, at the end of the daies.

[b] Meaning, all ſhall riſe at the generall reſurrection, which thing he here nameth, becauſe the faithfull ſhould have ever their reſpect to that: for in the earth there ſhalbe no ſure comfort.

[c] Who have kept the true fear of God, and his religion.

[d] He chiefly meaneth the miniſters of Gods word, and next, all the faithful which inſtruct the ignorant, and bring them to the true knowledg of God.

[e] Though the moſt part deſpiſe this propheſie, yet keep thou it ſure, and eſteem it as a treaſure.

[f] Till the time that God hath appointed for the full revelation of theſe things: and then many ſhall run too and fro to ſearch the knowledge of theſe myſteries, which things they obtain now by the light of the Goſpell.

[g] Which was Tygris.

[h] Which was as it were a double oath, & did the more confirm ẏ thing.

[i] Meaning, a long time, a longer time, and at length a ſhort time: ſignifying, that their troubles ſhould have an end.

[k] When the Church ſhall be ſcattered and diminiſhed in ſuch ſort, as it ſhal ſeem to have no power.

[l] From the time that Chriſt by his ſacrifice ſhall take away the ſacrifice and ceremonies of the Law,

[m] Signifying, that the time ſhall be long of Chriſts ſecond comming, and yet the children of God ought not to be diſcouraged, though it be deferred.

[n] In this number he addeth a month and an half to the former number, ſignifying, that it is not in man to appoint the time of Chriſts comming, but that they are bleſſed that patiently abide his appearing.

[o] The Angel warneth the Prophet patiently to abide, till the time appointed come, ſignifying, that he ſhould depart this life, and riſe again with the Elect, when God had ſufficiently humbled and purged his Church.

HOSEA.

The Argument.

After that the ten Tribes had fallen away from God by the wicked and ſubtill counſell of Jeroboam the ſon of Nebat, and in ſtead of his true ſervice commanded by his word, worſhipped him according to their own fantaſies and traditions of men, giving themſelves to moſt vile idolatry and ſuperſtition, the Lord from time to time ſent them Prophets to call them to repentance: but they grew ever worſe and worſe, and ſtill abuſed Gods benefits. Therefore now when their proſperity was at the higheſt under Jeroboam the ſon of Joaſh, God ſent Hoſea and Amos to the Iſraelites (as he did at the ſame time Iſaiah and Micah to them of Judah) to condemn them of their ingratitude: and whereas they thought themſelves to be greatly in the favour of God, and to be his people, the Prophet calleth them baſtards, and children born in adultery: and therefore ſheweth them that God would take away their kingdome, and give them to the Aſſyrians to be led away captives. Thus Hoſea faithfully executed his office for the ſpace of ſeventy yeares, though they remained ſtill in their vices and wickedneſſe, and derided the Prophets, and contemned Gods judgements. And becauſe they ſhould neither be diſcouraged with threatnings onely, nor yet flatter themſelves by the ſweetneſſe of Gods promiſes, he ſetteth before them the two principall parts of the Law, which are the promiſe of ſalvation, and the doctrine of life: for the firſt part he directeth the faithfull to Meſſiah, by whom onely they ſhould have true deliverance: and for the ſecond, he uſeth threatnings and menaces to bring them from their wicked manners and vices, and this is the chief ſcope of all the Prophets, either by Gods promiſes to allure them to be godly, or elſe by threatnings of his judgments to feare them from vice: and albeit that the whole Law contain theſe two points, yet the Prophets moreover note peculiarly both the time of Gods judgements, and the manner.

Chap.

CHAP. I.

1 The time wherein Hoſea propheſied. 2 The idolatrie of the people. 10 The calling of the Gentiles. 11 Chriſt is the head of all people.

THe Word of the Lord that came unto Hoſea the ſonne of Beeri, in the daies of [a] Uzziah, Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah, [b] Kings of Judah, and in the daies of Jeroboam the ſonne of Joaſh King of Iſrael.

2 At the beginning the Lord ſpake by Hoſea, and the Lord ſaid unto Hoſea, Goe, take unto thee a wife [c] of fornications, and children of fornications: for the land hath committed great whoredome, departing from the Lord.

3 So he went, and tooke [d] Gomer, the daughter of Diblaim, which conceived and bare him a ſonne.

4 And the Lord ſaid unto him, Call his name [e] Izreel: for yet a little, and I will viſite the blood of Izreel, upon the [f] houſe of Jehu, and will cauſe to ceaſe the kingdome of the houſe of Iſrael.

5 And at that [g] day will I alſo breake the bow of Iſrael in the valley of Izreel.

6 She conceived yet againe, and bare a daughter, and God ſaid unto him, Call her name [h] Lo-ruhamah: for I will no more have pitie upon the houſe of Iſrael: but I will utterly [i] take them away.

7 Yet I will have mercie upon the houſe of Judah, and will [k] ſave them by the Lord their God, and will not ſave them by bow, nor by ſword, nor by battell, by horſes, nor by horſemen.

8 Now when ſhe had wained Lo-ruhamah, ſhee conceived, and bare a ſonne.

9 Then ſaid God, Call his name [l] Lo-ammi: for ye are not my people: therefore will I not be yours.

10 Yet the number of the [m] children of Iſrael ſhall be as the ſand of the ſea, which cannot be meaſured nor told: and in the place where it was ſaid unto them, Ye are not my people, it ſhall be ſaid unto them, Ye are the ſonnes of the living God.

11 Then ſhall the children of Judah, and the children of Iſrael be [n] gathered together, and appoint themſelves one head, and they ſhall come up out of the land: for great is the [o] day of Izreel.

CHAP. II.

1 The people is called to repentance. 5 He ſheweth their idolatrie, and threatneth them except they repent.

SAy unto your [a] brethren, Ammi, and to your ſiſters, Ruhamah,

2 Plead with your [b] mother: plead with her: for ſhe is not my wife, neither am I her huſband: but let her take away her fornications out of her ſight, and her adulteries [c] from betweene her breaſts,

3 [d] Leſt I ſtrip her naked, and ſet her as in the day that ſhe was [e] borne, and make her as a wilderneſſe, and leave her like a drie land, and ſlay her for thirſt.

4 And I will have no pitie upon her children: for they be the [f] children of fornications.

5 For their mother hath plaied the harlot: ſhe that conceived them, hath done ſhamefully: for ſhe ſaid, I will goe after my [g] lovers that give me my bread and my water, my wooll and my flaxe, mine oile and my drinke.

6 Therefore behold, I will [h] ſtop thy way with thornes, and make an hedge that ſhe ſhall not finde her paths.

7 Though ſhe follow after her lovers, yet ſhall ſhe not come at them: though ſhe ſeek them, yet ſhall ſhe not finde them: then ſhall ſhee ſay, [i] I will goe and returne to my firſt huſband: for at that time was I better then now.

8 Now ſhe did not know that I gave her [k] corne and wine, and oile, and multiplied her ſilver and gold, which they beſtowed upon Baal.

9 Therefore will I returne, and take away [l] my corne in the time thereof, and my wine in the ſeaſon thereof, and will recover my woll and my flaxe lent, to cover her ſhame.

10 And now will I diſcover [m] her lewdneſſe in the ſight of her lovers, and no man ſhall deliver her out of mine hand.

11 I will alſo cauſe all her mirth to ceaſe, her feaſt daies, her new Moones, and her Sabbaths, and all her ſolemne feaſts.

12 And I will deſtroy her vines and her figtrees, whereof ſhe hath ſaid, Theſe are my rewards that my lovers have given me: and I will make them as a forreſt, and the wilde beaſts ſhall eate them.

13 And I will viſite upon her the daies of [n] Baalim, wherein ſhe burnt incenſe to them: and ſhe decked her ſelfe with her [o] eare-rings and her jewels, and ſhe followed her lovers, and forgate me, ſaith the Lord.

14 Therefore behold, I will [p] allure her,

---

[a] Called alſo Azariah, who being a leper was depoſed from his kingdome.

[b] So that it may be gathered by the reign of theſe 4 kings, that he preached above 60. yeares.

[c] That is, one that of long time hath accuſtomed to play the harlot: not that the Prophet did this thing in effect, but he ſaw this in a viſion, or elſe was commanded by God, to ſet forth under this parable, or figure, the idolatrie of the Synagogue, and of the people her children.

[d] Gomer ſignifieth a conſumption or corruption, and Diblaim, cluſters of figs, declaring that they were all corrupt, like rotten figs.

[e] Meaning, that they ſhould be no more called Iſraelites, of the which name they boaſted, becauſe Iſrael did prevaile with God: but that they were as baſtards, and therefore ſhould be called Izreelites that is, ſcattered, people, alluding to Izreel, which was the chiefe citie of the ten tribes under Ahab, where Iehu ſhed ſo much blood, 2.King.10.8.11.

[f] I will be revenged upon Iehu for the blood that he ſhed in Izreel: for albeit God ſtirred him up to execute his judgements, yet he did them for his own ambition, and not for the glory of God, as the end declared: for he built up that idolatrie, which he had deſtroied.

[g] When the meaſure of their iniquitie is full, and I ſhall take vengeance and deſtroy all their policie and force.

[h] That is, not obtaining mercie; whereby he ſignifieth that Gods favour was departed from them.

[i] For the Iſraelites never returned after that they were taken captives by the Aſſyrians

[k] For after their captivitie he reſtored them miraculouſly by the meanes of Cyrus, Ezra 1.1.

[l] That is, not my people.

[m] Becauſe they thought that God could not have been true in his promiſe, except he had preſerved them, he declareth that though they were deſtroied, yet the true Iſraelites, which are the ſonnes of the promiſe, ſhould be without number, which ſtand both of the Jewes and the Gentiles, Rom.9.26.

[n] To wit, after the captivitie of Babylon, when the Jewes were reſtored, but chiefly this is referred to the time of Chriſt, who ſhould be the head both of the Iewes and Gentiles.

[o] The calamitie and deſtruction of Izreell ſhall be ſo great, that to reſtore them ſhall be as a miracle.

[a] Seeing, that I have promiſed you deliverance, it remaineth that you encourage one another to embrace the ſame, conſidering, that ye are my people, on whom I will have mercie.

[b] God ſheweth, that the fault was not in him, but in their Synagogue, and their idolatries, that he forſooke them, Iſa. 50,1.

[c] Meaning, that their idolatry was ſo great, that they were not aſhamed, but boaſted of it, Ezek.16.25.

[d] For though this people were as an harlot for their idolatries, yet he had left them with their apparell and dowrie, and certain ſignes of his favour, but if they continued ſtill, he would utterly deſtroy them.

[e] When I brought her out of Egypt, Ezek. 16 4. 39.

[f] That is, baſtards, and begotten in adulterie.

[g] Meaning, the idols which they ſerved, and by whom they thought they had wealth and abundance.

[h] I will puniſh thee, that then thou maieſt trie whether thine idoles can helpe thee, and bring thee into ſuch ſtraightneſſe, that thou ſhalt have no luſt to play the wanton.

[i] This he ſpeaketh of the faithful which are truely converted, and alſo ſheweth the uſe and profit of Gods rods.

[k] This declareth that Idolaters defraud God of his honour, when they attribute his benefits to their idols

[l] Signifying, that God will take away his benefis when man by his ingratitude doth abuſe them.

[m] That is, all her ſervice, ceremonies, and inventions, whereby ſhe worſhipped her idoles.

[n] I will puniſh her for her idolatrie.

[o] By ſhewing how harlots trim themſelves to pleaſe others, he declareth how the ſuperſtitious idolaters ſet a great part of their religion in decking themſelves on their holy daies.

[p] By my benefits in offering her grace and mercie, even in that place where ſhe ſhall thinke her ſelfe deſtitute of all helpe and comfort.

and bring her into the wilderneſſe, and ſpeake friendly unto her.

15 And I will give her her vineyards from thence, and the valley [q] of Achor for the doore of hope, and ſhe ſhall [r] ſing there as in the daies of her youth, and as in the daies when ſhe came up out of the land of Egypt.

16 And at that day, ſaith the Lord, thou ſhalt call me [ſ] Iſhi; and ſhalt call me no more [t] Baali.

17 For I will take away the names of Baalim out of her mouth, and they ſhall bee no more remembred by their [v] names.

18 And in that day will I make a covenant for them, with the [x] wilde beaſts, and with the fowles of the heaven, and with that that creepeth upon the earth: and I will breake the bow, and the ſword and the battell out of the earth, and will make them to ſleepe ſafely.

19 And I will marrie thee unto me for ever: yea, I will marrie thee unto me in righteouſneſſe, and in judgement, and in mercie, and in compaſſion.

20 I will even marrie thee unto me in [y] faithfulneſſe, and thou ſhalt know the Lord.

21 And in that day I will heare, ſaith the Lord, I will even heare [z] the heavens, and they ſhall heare the earth,

22 And the earth ſhall heare the corne, and the wine, and the oile, and they ſhall heare Izreel.

23 And I will ſow her unto me in the earth, and I will have mercie upon her, that was not pitied, and I will ſay to them which were not my people, * Thou art my people, And they ſhall ſay, Thou art my God.

* Rom.9.25. 1 Pet.2.10.

Chap. III.

1 The Iewes ſhall be caſt off for their idolatrie. 5 Afterward they ſhall returne to the Lord.

THen ſaid the Lord to me, [a] Goe yet, and love a woman (beloved of her huſband, and was an harlot) according to the love of the Lord toward the children of Iſrael: yet they looked to other gods, and [b] loved the wine bottles.

2 So [c] I bought her to me for fifteene pieces of ſilver, and for an Homer of barley, and an halfe Homer of barley.

3 And I ſaid unto her, Thou ſhalt abide with [d] me many daies: thou ſhalt not play the harlot, and thou ſhalt be to none other man, and I will be ſo unto thee.

4 For the children of Iſrael ſhall [e] remaine many daies without a King, and without a [f] Prince, and without an offering, and without an image, and without an Ephod, and without Teraphim.

5 Afterward ſhall the children of Iſrael convert, and ſeeke the Lord their God, and [g] David their King, and ſhall feare the Lord, and his goodneſſe in the latter daies.

Chap. IV.

A complaint againſt the people, and the Prieſts of Iſrael.

HEare the word of the Lord, ye children of Iſrael: for the Lord [a] hath a controverſie with the inhabitants of the land, becauſe there is no truth, nor mercy, nor knowledge of God in the land.

2 By ſwearing, and lying, and killing, and ſtealing, and whoring they breake out, and [b] blood toucheth blood.

3 Therefore ſhall the land mourne, and every one that dwelleth therein, ſhall be cut off, with the beaſts of the field, and with the fowles of the heaven, and alſo the fiſhes of the ſea ſhall be taken away.

4 Yet [c] let none rebuke, nor reprove another: for thy people are as they that rebuke the Prieſt:

5 Therefore ſhalt thou fall in the [d] day, and the Prophet ſhall fall with thee in the night, and I will deſtroy thy [e] mother.

6 My people are deſtroied for lacke of knowledge: becauſe [f] thou haſt refuſed knowledge, I will alſo refuſe thee, that thou ſhalt be no Prieſt to me: and ſeeing, [g] thou haſt forgotten the law of thy God, I will alſo forget thy children.

7 As they were [h] increaſed, ſo they ſinned againſt me: therefore will I change their glorie into ſhame.

8 [i] They eat up the ſins of my people, and lift up their mindes in their iniquitie.

9 And there ſhall be like people, like [k] Prieſt: for I will viſite their waies upon them, and reward them their deeds.

10 For they ſhall eate, and not have enough: they ſhall [l] commit adulterie, and ſhall not increaſe, becauſe they have left off to take heed to the Lord.

11 [m] Whoredome, and wine, and new wine take away their heart.

12 My [n] people aske counſell at their ſtockes, and their ſtaffe teacheth them: for the [o] ſpirit of fornications hath cauſed them to erre, and they have gone a whoring from under their God.

13 They ſacrifice upon the tops of the mountaines, and burne incenſe upon the hils under the okes, and the poplar tree, and the elme, becauſe the ſhadow thereof is good: therefore your daughters ſhall be [p] harlots, and your ſpouſes ſhall bee whores.

---

[q] Which was a plentifull valley, and wherein they had great comfort when they came out of the wilderneſſe, as Ioſh.7.26. and is called the doore of hope, becauſe it was a departing from death, and an entrie into life.

[r] Shee ſhall then praiſe God, as ſhe did when ſhe was dilivered out of Egypt.

[ſ] That is, mine husband, knowing that I am joined to thee by an inviolable covenant.

[t] That is, my maſter: which name was applied to their idoles.

[v] No idolatrie ſhall once come into their mouth but they ſhall ſerve me purely according to my word.

[x] Meaning, that he will ſo bleſſe them, that all creatures ſhall favour them.

[y] With a covenant that never ſhall be broken.

[z] Then ſhall the heaven deſire rain for the earth, which ſhall bring forth for the uſe of man.

[a] Herein the Prophet repreſenteth the perſon of God, which loved his Church before he called her, and did not withdraw the ſame when ſhe gave her ſelfe unto idoles.

[b] That is, gave themſelves wholly to pleaſures, and could not take up, as they that are given to drunkenneſſe.

[c] Yet I loved her, and payed a ſmall portion for her, leſt ſhe perceiving the greatneſſe of my love, ſhould have abuſed me, and not been under dutie: for fifteene pieces of ſilver were but half the price of a ſlave. Exod.21.32.

[d] I will trie thee a long time as in thy widow-hood, whether thou wilt be mine or no.

[e] Meaning, not onely all the time of their captivitie, but alſo unto Chriſt.

[f] That is, they ſhould neither have policie nor religion, and their idoles alſo wherein they put their confidence, ſhould be deſtroied.

[g] This is meant of Chriſts kingdome, which was promiſed unto David to be eternall, Pſal.72.17.

[a] Becauſe the people would not obey the admonitions of the Prophet, he citeth them before the judgement ſeate of God, againſt whom they chiefly offended, Iſa.7.13. Zech.12.10. Mich.6.1.2.

[b] In everie place appeareth a libertie to moſt hainous vices, ſo that one followeth in the necke of another.

[c] As though he would ſay, that it were in vaine to rebuke them: for no man can abide it: yea, they will ſpeake againſt the Prophets and Prieſts, whoſe office it is chiefly to rebuke them.

[d] Ye ſhall periſh all together: the one, becauſe he would not obey, and the other, becauſe he would not admoniſh.

[e] That is, the Synagogue, wherein thou boaſteſt.

[f] That is, the Prieſts ſhall be caſt off, becauſe that for lacke of knowledge they are not able to execute their charge, and inſtruct others, Deut.33.3. Malac.2.7.

[g] Meaning, the whole bodie of the people, which were wearie with hearing the word of God.

[h] The more I was beneficiall unto them.

[i] To wit, the Prieſts ſeeke to eate the peoples offerings, and flatter them in their ſinnes.

[k] Signifying, that as they have ſinned together, ſo ſhall they be puniſhed together.

[l] Shewing, that their wickedneſſe ſhall be puniſhed on all ſorts: for though they think by the multitude of wives to have many children, yet they ſhall be deceived of their hope.

[m] In giving themſelves to pleaſures, they become like bruit beaſts.

[n] Thus he ſpeaketh by deriſion in calling them his people, which now for their ſins they were not: for they ſought helpe of ſtocks and ſticks.

[o] They are caried away with a rage.

[p] Becauſe they take away Gods honour, and give it to idoles, therefore he will give them up to their luſts, that they ſhall diſhonour their owne bodies, Rom.1.28.

14 I will not [q] viſit your daughters when they are harlots, nor your ſpouſes, when they are whores: for they themſelves are ſeparated with harlots, and ſacrifice with whores: therefore the people that doth not underſtand, ſhall fall.

15 Though thou, Iſrael, play the harlot, yet [r] let not Judah ſinne: come not ye unto [ſ] Gilgal, neither go ye up to [t] Beth-aven, nor ſweare, the Lord liveth.

16 For Iſrael is rebellious as an unruly heifer. Now the Lord will feed them as a [v] lambe in a large place.

17 Ephraim is joyned to idols: let him alone.

18 Their drunkenneſſe ſtinketh: they have committed whordome: their rulers love to ſay with ſhame, [x] Bring ye.

19 The wind hath [y] bound them up in her wings, and they ſhall be aſhamed of their ſacrifices.

Chap. V.

1 Againſt the Prieſts and rulers of Iſrael. 13 The help of man is in vain.

O Ye Prieſts, heare this, and hearken ye, O houſe of Iſrael, and give ye eare, O houſe of the king: for judgement is toward you, becauſe ye have been a [a] ſnare on Mizpah, and a net ſpread upon Tabor.

2 Yet they were profound, to decline to [b] ſlaughter, though I have been a [c] rebuker of them all.

3 I know [d] Ephraim, and Iſrael is not hid from me: for now, O Ephraim, thou art become an harlot, and Iſrael is defiled.

4 They will not give their mindes to turn unto their God: for the ſpirit of fornication is in the midſt of them, and they have not known the Lord.

5 And the [e] pride of Iſrael doth teſtifie to his face: therefore ſhall Iſrael and Ephraim fall in their iniquity: Judah alſo ſhall fall with them.

6 They ſhall go with their ſheep, and with their bullocks to ſeek the Lord: but they ſhall not finde him, for he hath withdrawn himſelf from them.

7 They have tranſgreſſed againſt the Lord: for they have begotten [f] ſtrange children: now ſhall [g] a moneth devoure them with their portions.

8 Blow ye the trumpet in Gibeah, and the ſhaume in Ramah: cry out at Beth-aven, after thee, O [h] Benjamin.

9 Ephraim ſhall be deſolate in the day of rebuke: among the tribes of Iſrael have I cauſed to [i] know the truth.

10 The Princes of Judah were like them that [k] remove the bound, therefore will I powre out my wrath upon them like water.

11 Ephraim is oppreſſed, and broken in judgement, becauſe he willingly walked after the [l] commandment.

12 Therefore will I be unto Ephraim as a moth, and to the houſe of Judah as a rottenneſſe.

13 When Ephraim ſaw his ſickneſſe, and Judah his wound, then went Ephraim unto [m] Aſſhur, and ſent unto king [n] Jareb: yet could he not heale you, nor cure you of your wound.

14 For I will be unto Ephraim as a Lyon, and as a Lyons whelpe to the houſe of Judah: I, even I, will ſpoile, and go away: I will take away, and none ſhall reſcue it.

15 I will go, and return to my place, till they acknowledge their fault, and ſeek me: in their affliction they will ſeek me diligently.

Chap. VI.

1 Affliction cauſeth a man to turn to God. 9 The wickedneſſe of the Prieſts.

COme, and let us [a] return to the Lord: for he hath ſpoiled, and he will heale us: he hath wounded us, and he will binde us up.

2 After two dayes will [b] he revive us, and in the third day he will raiſe us up, and we ſhall live in his ſight.

3 Then ſhall we have knowledge, and endeavour our ſelves to know the Lord: his going forth is prepared as the morning, and he ſhall come unto us as the rain, and as the latter rain unto the earth.

4 O Ephraim, what ſhall I do unto thee? O Judah, how ſhall I entreat thee? for [c] your goodneſſe is as a morning cloud, and as the morning dew it goeth away.

5 Therefore have I [d] cut down by the Prophets: I have ſlain them by the words of my mouth, and thy [e] judgments were as the light that goeth forth.

6 For I deſired [f] mercy, and not ſacrifice, and the knowledge of God more then burnt-offerings.

7 But they [g] like men have tranſgreſſed the covenant: there have they treſpaſſed againſt me.

8 [h] Gilead is a citie of them that work iniquity, and is polluted with blood.

9 And as theeves wait for a man, ſo the company of Prieſts murther in the way by conſent: for they work miſchief.

10 I have

[q] I wil not correct your ſhame to bring you to amendment, but let you run headlong to your own damnation.

[r] God complaineth that Iudah is infected, and willeth them to learn by their example to return in time.

[ſ] For albeit the Lord had honoured this place in time paſt by his preſence, yet becauſe it was abuſed by their idolatry, he would not that his people ſhould reſort thither.

[t] He calleth Beth-el, that is, the houſe of God, Beth-aven, that is, the houſe of iniquity, becauſe of their abominations ſet up there, ſignifying, that no place is holy, where God is not purely worſhipped.

[v] God will ſo diſperſe them, that they ſhall not remain in any certain place.

[x] They are ſo impudent in receiving bribes, that they wil command men to bring them unto them.

[y] To cary them ſuddenly away.

[a] The Prieſts and Princes catched ỹ poore people in their ſnares, as the foulers did the birds in theſe two high mountaines.

[b] Notwithſtanding they ſeemed to be given altogether to holineſſe, and to ſacrifices, which here he calleth ſlaughter in contempt.

[c] Though I had admoniſhed them continually by my Prophets.

[d] They boaſted themſelves not only to be Iſraelites, but alſo Ephramites, becauſe their king Ieroboam came of that tribe.

[e] Meaning, their contemning of all admonitions.

[f] That is, their children are degenerate, ſo that there is no hope in them

[g] Their deſtruction is not far off.

[h] That is, all Iſrael comprehended under this part, ſignifying, that the Lords plagues ſhould purſue them from place to place, till they were deſtroyed.

[i] By the ſucceſſe they ſhall know that I have ſurely determined this.

[k] They have turned upſide down all political order, and all manner of religion.

[l] To wit, after king Ieroboams commandement, and did not rather follow God.

[m] In ſtead of ſeeking for remedy at Gods hand.

[n] Who was king of the Aſſyrians.

[a] He ſheweth the people how they ought to turn to the Lord, that he might cal back his plagues.

[b] Though he correct us from time to time, yet his help will not be far off, if we return to him.

[c] You ſeem to have a certain holines and repentance, but it is upon the ſudden, and as a morning cloud.

[d] I have ſtill labored by my Prophets, and as it were framed you to bring you to amendment, but all was in vain: for my word was not meat to feed them but a ſword to ſlay them.

[e] My doctrine which I taught thee, was moſt evident.

[f] He ſheweth to what ſcope his doctrine tended, that they ſhould joyne the obedience of God, and the love of their neighbour with outward ſacrifice.

[g] That is, like light and weake perſons.

[h] Which was the place where the Prieſts dwelt, and which ſhould have been beſt inſtructed in my word.

10 I have ſeen villany in the houſe of Iſrael: there is the whoredome of Ephraim: Iſrael is defiled.

11 Yea, Judah hath ſet a [i] plant for thee, whiles I would return the captivity of my people.

Chap. VII.

1 Of the vices and wantonneſſe of the people. 12 Of their puniſhment.

WHen I would have healed Iſrael, then the iniquity of Ephraim was diſcovered, and the wickedneſſe of Samaria: for they have dealt falſly: and [a] the thief cometh in, and the robber ſpoileth without.

2 And they conſider not in their hearts, that I remember all their wickedneſſe: now their own inventions have beſet them about: they are in my ſight.

3 They make the [b] king glad with their wickedneſſe, and the princes with their lies.

4 They are all adulterers, and as a very [c] oven heated by the baker, which ceaſeth from raiſing up, and from kneading the dough untill it be leavened.

5 This is the [d] day of our king: the Princes have made him ſick with flagons of wine: he ſtretcheth out his hand to ſcorners.

6 For they have made ready their heart like an oven whiles they lie in waite: their baker ſleepeth all the night: in the morning it burneth as a flame of fire.

7 They are all hot as an oven, and have [e] devoured their judges: all their kings are fallen: there is none among them that calleth unto me.

8 Ephraim hath [f] mixt himſelf among the people, Ephraim is as a cake on the hearth not turned.

9 Strangers have devoured his ſtrength, and he knoweth it not: yea, [g] gray haires are here and there upon him, yet he knoweth not.

10 And the pride of Iſrael teſtifieth to his face, and they do not return to the Lord their God, nor ſeek him for all this.

11 Ephraim alſo is like a Dove deceived, without [h] heart: they call to Egypt: they go to Aſſhur.

12 But when they ſhall go, I will ſpread my net upon them, and draw them down as the fowles of the heaven: I will chaſtiſe them as their [i] Congregation hath heard.

13 Wo unto them, for they have fled away from me: deſtruction ſhall be unto them, becauſe they have tranſgreſſed againſt me: though I have [k] redeemed them, yet they have ſpoken lies againſt me.

14 And they have not cried unto me with their hearts, [l] when they howled upon their beds: [m] they aſſembled themſelves for corn, and wine, and they rebell againſt me.

15 Though I have bound and ſtrengthened their arme, yet do they imagine miſchief againſt me.

16 They return, but not to the moſt High: they are like a deceitfull bow: their Princes ſhall fall by the ſword, for the rage [n] of their tongues: this ſhall be their deriſion in the land of Egypt.

Chap. VIII.

1 The deſtruction of Iudah and Iſrael, becauſe of their idolatry.

SEt the trumpet to thy [a] mouth: he ſhall come as an Eagle againſt the houſe of the Lord, becauſe they have tranſgreſſed my covenant, and treſpaſſed againſt my Law.

2 Iſrael ſhall [b] cry unto me, My God, we know thee.

3 Iſrael hath caſt off the thing that is good: the enemy ſhall purſue him.

4 They have ſet up a [c] king, but not by me: they have made Princes, and I knew it not: of their ſilver and their gold have they made them idols: therefore ſhall they be deſtroyed.

5 Thy calf, O Samaria, hath caſt thee off: mine anger is kindled againſt them: how long will they be without [d] innocency!

6 [e] For it came even from Iſrael: the workman made it, therefore it is not God: but the calf of Samaria ſhalbe broken in pieces.

7 For they have [f] ſown the winde, and they ſhall reap the whirlwinde, it hath no ſtalk: the bud ſhal bring forth no meale: if ſo be it bring forth, the ſtrangers ſhall devoure it.

8 Iſrael is devoured, now ſhall they be among the Gentiles as a veſſell, wherein is no pleaſure.

9 For they are gone up to Aſſhur: they are as a [g] wilde aſſe alone by himſelf: Ephraim hath hired lovers.

10 Yet though they have hired among the nations, now will I gather them, and they ſhall ſorrow a little, for the [h] burden of the king and the Princes.

11 Becauſe Ephraim hath made many altars to ſinne, his altars ſhall be to ſinne.

12 I have written to them the great things of my law, but they were counted as a [i] ſtrange thing.

---

[i] That is, doth imitate thine idolatry, and hath taken graffs of thy trees.

[a] Meaning, that there was no one kinde of vice among them, but that they were ſubject to all wickednes, both ſecret and open.

[b] They eſteem their wicked king Ieroboam above God, and ſeek but how to flatter and pleaſe him.

[c] He compareth the rage of the people to a burning oven which the baker heateth ſtill, till his dough be leavened and raiſed.

[d] They uſed all riot and exceſſe in their feaſts and ſolemnities, whereby their king was overcome with ſurfet, and brought into diſeaſes, and delighted in flatteries.

[e] By their occaſion God hath deprived them of all good rulers.

[f] That is, he counterfeiteth the religion of the Gentiles, yet is but as a cake baked on the one ſide, and raw on the other, that is, neither thorow hot, nor thorow cold, but partly a Iew, and partly a Gentile.

[g] Which are a token of his manifold afflictions.

[h] That is, without all judgement, as they that cannot tell whether it is better to cleave onely to God, or to ſeek the help of man.

[i] According to my curſes made to the whole congregation of Iſrael.

[k] That is, divers times redeemed them, & delivered them from death.

[l] When they were in affliction, and cried out for pain, they ſought not unto me for help.

[m] They onely ſeek their own commodity and wealth, & paſſe not for me their God.

[n] Becauſe they boaſt of their own ſtrength, and paſſe not what they ſpeak againſt me and my ſervants, Pſal. 73. 9.

[a] God encourageth the Prophet to ſignifie the ſpeedy coming of the enemy againſt Iſrael, which was once the people of God.

[b] They ſhall cry like hypocrites, but not from the heart, as their deeds declare.

[c] That is, Ieroboam, by whom they ſought their own libertie, and not to obey my will.

[d] That is, upright judgement, and godly life.

[e] Meaning, the calf was invented by themſelves, and of their fathers in the wilderneſſe.

[f] Shewing, that their religion hath but a ſhew, and in it ſelf is but vanitie.

[g] They never ceaſe, but run to and fro to ſeek help.

[h] That is, for the tribute which the king and the princes ſhall lay upon them: which meanes the Lord uſeth to bring them to repentance.

[i] Thus the idolaters count the word of God as ſtrange in reſpect of their own inventions.

13 They ſacrifice fleſh for the ſacrifices of mine offerings, and eat it: but the [k] Lord accepteth them not: now will he remember their iniquity, and viſite their ſins: they ſhall return to Egypt.

14 For Iſrael hath forgotten his maker, and buildeth Temples, and Judah hath increaſed ſtrong cities: but I will ſend a fire upon his cities, and it ſhall devour the palaces thereof.

Chap. IX.

Of the hunger and captivity of Iſrael.

Rejoyce not, O Iſrael, for joy, [a] as other people: for thou haſt gone a whoring from thy God: thou haſt loved [b] a reward upon every corne floore.

2 [c] The floore, and the winepreſſe ſhall not feed them, and the new wine ſhall faile in her.

3 They ſhall not dwell in the Lords land, but Ephraim will return to Egypt, and they will eat unclean things in Aſhur.

4 They ſhall not offer [d] wine to the Lord, neither ſhall their ſacrifices be pleaſant unto him: but they ſhall be unto them as the bread of mourners: all that eat thereof, ſhall be poluted: for their bread [e] for their ſoules ſhal not come into the houſe of the Lord.

5 What will ye doe [f] then in the ſolemne day, and in the day of the feaſt of the Lord?

6 For loe, they are gone from [g] deſtruction: but Egypt ſhall gather them up, and Memphis ſhall bury them: the nettle ſhall poſſeſſe the pleaſant places of their ſilver, and the thorne ſhall be in their tabernacles.

7 The dayes of viſitation are come: the dayes of recompence are come: Iſrael ſhall know it: [h] the Prophet is a foole: the ſpirituall man is mad, for the multitude of thine iniquity: therefore the hatred is great.

8 The watchman of Ephraim [i] ſhould be with my God: but the Prophet is the ſnare of a fowler in all his wayes, and hatred in the Houſe of his God.

9 They [k] are deeply ſet: they are corrupt as in the dayes of Gibeah: therefore he will remember their iniquity, he will viſite their ſinnes.

10 I found Iſrael like [l] grapes in the wilderneſſe: I ſaw your fathers as the firſt ripe in the figge tree at her firſt time, but they went to Baal-Peor, and ſeparated themſelves unto that ſhame, and their abominations were according to [m] their lovers.

11 Ephraim their glory ſhall flee away like a bird: from the birth [n] and from the womb, and from the conception.

[k] Saying, that they offer it to the Lord, but he accepteth no ſervice which he himſelf hath not appointed.

[a] For though all other people ſhould eſcape, yet thou ſhalt be puniſhed.

[b] Thou haſt committed idolatry in hope of reward, and to have thy barnes filled, Ier. 44.17. as an harlot that had rather live by playing the whore, then to be entertained of her own husband.

[c] Their outward things that thou ſeekeſt, ſhall be taken from thee.

[d] All theſe doings both touching policy and religion ſhall be rejected as things poluted.

[e] The meat-offering, which they offered for themſelves.

[f] When the Lord ſhall take away all the occaſions of ſerving him, which ſhall be the moſt grievous point of your captivity, when ye ſhall ſee your ſelves cut off from God.

[g] Though they think to eſcape by fleeing the deſtruction that is at hand, yet ſhall they be deſtroyed in the place whither they flee for ſuccour.

[h] Then they ſhall know that they were deluded by them who challenged to themſelves to be their Prophets and Spirituall men.

[i] The Prophets duty is to bring men to God, and not to be a ſnare to pull them from God.

[k] This people is ſo rooted in their wickedneſſe, that Gibeah, which was like to Sodom, was never more corrupt, Iudg 19.22.

[l] Meaning, that he ſo eſteemed them, and delighted in them.

[m] They were as abominable unto me, as their lovers, the idols.

[n] Signifying, that God would deſtroy their children by theſe ſundry meanes, and ſo conſume them by little and little.

12 Though they bring up their children, yet I will deprive them from being men: yea, woe to them, when I depart from them.

13 Ephraim, as I ſaw, is as a tree [o] in Tyrus planted in a cottage: but Ephraim ſhall bring forth his children to the murtherer.

14 O Lord, give them: what wilt thou give them? give them a [p] barren womb and dry breaſts.

15 All their wickednes is in [q] Gilgal, for there do I hate them: for the wickedneſſe of their inventions, I will caſt them out of mine Houſe: I will love them no more: all their princes are rebels.

6 Ephraim is ſmitten, their root is dried up: they can bring no fruit: yea, though they bring forth, yet will I ſlay even the deareſt of their body.

17 My God will caſt them away, becauſe they did not obey him: and they ſhall wander among the nations.

Chap. X.

1 Againſt Iſrael and his idols. 14 His deſtruction for the ſame.

Iſrael is an [a] empty vine, yet hath it brought forth fruit unto it ſelf, and according to the multitude of the fruit thereof he hath increaſed the altars: according to the [b] goodneſſe of their land they have made fair images.

2 Their heart is [c] divided: now ſhall they be found faulty: he ſhall break down their altars: he ſhall deſtroy their images.

3 For now they ſhall ſay, We have no [d] King, becauſe we feared not the Lord: and what ſhould a king do to us?

4 They have ſpoken words, ſwearing falſely in making [e] a covenant: thus [f] judgement groweth as wormewood in the furrows of the field.

5 The inhabitants of Samaria ſhall [g] fear becauſe of the calf of Beth-aven: for the people thereof ſhall mourn over it, and the [h] Chemarims thereof that rejoyced on it for the glory thereof, becauſe it is departed from it.

6 It ſhall be alſo brought to Aſhur, for a preſent unto king Jareb: Ephraim ſhall receive ſhame, and Iſrael ſhall be aſhamed of his own counſell.

7 Of Samaria, the king thereof is deſtroied, as the fome upon the water.

8 The high places alſo of [i] Aven ſhall be deſtroied: even the ſinne of Iſrael: the thorne and thiſtle ſhall grow upon their altars, and they ſhall ſay to the mountains, * Cover us, and to the hils, Fall upon us.

[o] As they kep tender plants i their houſes ir Tyrus, to preſerve them from the cold aire of the Sea, ſo was Ephraim at the firſt unto me, but now I will give him to the ſlaughter.

[p] The prophet ſeeing the great plagues of God toward Ephraim, prayeth to God to make them barren, rather then that this great ſlaughter ſhould come upon their children.

[q] The chief cauſe of their deſtruction is, that they commit idolatry, and corrupt my religion in Gilgal.

[a] Wherof though the grapes were gathered, yet ever as it gathered new ſtrength, it increaſed new wickedneſſe, ſo that the correction which ſhould have brought them to obedience, did but utter their ſtubbornneſſe.

[b] As they were rich, and had abundance.

[c] To wit, from God.

[d] The day ſhall come, that God ſhall take away their king, & then they ſhall feel the fruit of their ſins, and how they truſted in him in vain, 2 King. 17. 6, 7.

[e] In promiſing to be faithfull toward God.

[f] Thus their integrity and fidelity which they pretended, was nothing but bitternes and grief.

[g] When the calf ſhall be carried away.

[h] Chemarims were certain idolarrous prieſts, which did weare black apparell in their ſacrifices, and cried with a loud voice: which ſuperſtition Elijah derided, 1 Kings 18.27. read 2 Kin. 23.5.

[i] Thus he ſpeaketh in contempt of Beth-el, read chap. 4. 15.

* Iſa. 2. 19. Luke 23. 30. Revel. 6. 16. and 9. 6.

9 O Iſrael,

9 O Iſrael, thou haſt [k] ſinned from the dayes of Gibeah: there they [l] ſtood: the battell in Gibeah againſt the children of iniquity did not [m] touch them.

10 It is my deſire [n] that I ſhould chaſtiſe them, & the people ſhalbe gathered againſt them, when they ſhall gather themſelves in their two [o] furrows.

11 And Ephraim is as an heifer uſed to delight [p] in threſhing: but I will paſſe by her [q] faire neck: I will make Ephraim to ride: Judah ſhall plough, and Jaakob ſhall break his clods.

12 Sow to your ſelves in righteouſnes: reape after the meaſure of mercie: [r] break up your follow ground: for it is time to ſeek the Lord, till he come and rain righteouſneſſe upon you.

13 But you have plowed wickedneſſe: ye have reaped iniquity: you have eaten the fruit of lies: becauſe thou diddeſt truſt in thine own wayes, and in the multitude of thy ſtrong men,

14 Therefore ſhall a tumult ariſe among thy people, and all thy munitions ſhall be deſtroyed, as [ſ] Shalman deſtroyed Betharbel in the day of battell: the mother with the children was daſhed in pieces:

15 So ſhall Beth-el do unto you, becauſe of your malicious wickedneſſe: in a morning ſhall the king of Iſrael be deſtroyed.

CHAP. XI.

1 The benefits of the Lord toward Iſrael. 5 Their ingratitude againſt him.

When Iſrael [a] was a childe, then I loved him, and called my ſonne out of Egypt.

2 They called them, but they [b] went thus from them: they ſacrificed unto Baalim, and burnt incenſe to images.

3 I led Ephraim alſo, as one ſhould beare them in his arms: but they knew not that I healed them.

4 I led them with cords [c] of a man, even with bands of love, and I was to them, as he that taketh off the yoke from their jawes, and I laid the meate unto them.

5 He ſhall no more return into the land of Egypt: but Aſſhur ſhall be his [d] king, becauſe they refuſed to convert.

6 And the ſword ſhall fall on his cities, and ſhall conſume his barres, and devoure them, becauſe of their own counſels.

7 And my people are bent to rebellion againſt me: though [e] they called them to the moſt High: yet none at all would exalt him.

8 [f] How ſhall I give thee up, Ephraim? how ſhall I deliver thee, Iſrael? how ſhall I make thee as [g] Admah? how ſhall I ſet thee, as Zeboim? mine heart is turned within me: [h] my repentings are rowled together.

9 I will not execute the fierceneſſe of my wrath: I will not return to deſtroy Ephraim: for I am God, and not man, the holy One in the midſt of thee, and I will not [i] enter into the city.

10 They ſhall walke after the Lord: he ſhall roare like a Lion: when he ſhall roare, then the children of the Weſt ſhall feare:

11 [k] They ſhall feare as a Sparrow out of Egypt: and as a Dove out of the land of Aſſhur, And I will place them in their houſes, ſaith the Lord.

12 Ephraim compaſſeth me about with lies, and the houſe of Iſrael with deceit: but Judah yet ruleth with [l] God, and is faithfull with the Saints.

CHAP. XII.

He admoniſheth by Iaakobs example to truſt in God, and not in man.

Ephraim is fed [a] with the winde, and followeth after the Eaſt winde: he increaſeth daily lies and deſtruction, and they do make a covenant with Aſſhur, and [b] oyl is caried into Egypt.

2 The Lord hath alſo a controverſie with [c] Judah, and will viſit Jaakob, according to his wayes: according to his works, will he recompence him.

3 He took his brother by the heel in the wombe, and by his ſtrength he had [d] power with God,

4 And had [e] power over the Angel, and prevailed: he wept and prayed unto him: [f] He found him in Beth-el, and there he ſpake with us.

5 Yea, the Lord God of hoſts, the Lord is himſelf his memoriall.

6 Therefore turn thou to thy God: keep mercy and judgement, and hope ſtill in thy God:

7 He is [g] Canaan: the balances of deceit are in his hand: he loveth to oppreſſe.

8 And Ephraim ſaid, Notwithſtanding I am rich, I have found me out riches in all my labours: they ſhall finde none iniquity in me, [h] that were wickedneſſe.

9 Though I am the Lord thy God, from the land of Egypt, yet will I make thee to dwell in the tabernacles, as in [i] the dayes of the ſolemn feaſt.

10 I have alſo ſpoken by the Prophets, and I have multiplied viſions, and uſed ſimilitudes by the miniſtery of the Prophets.

11 Is there [k] iniquity in Gilead?

---

[k] In thoſe dayes waſt thou as wicked as the Gibeonites, as God there partly declared: for thy zeale could not be good in executing Gods judgments, ſeeing thine own deeds were as wicked as theirs.

[l] To wit, to fight, or the Iſraelites remained in that ſtubbornnes from that time.

[m] The Iſraelites were not moved by their example to ceaſe from their ſinnes.

[n] Becauſe they are ſo deſperate, I will delight to deſtroy them.

[o] That is, when they have gathered all their ſtrēgth together.

[p] Wherin is pleaſure, as in ploughing is labour and pain.

[q] I wil lay my yoke upon her fat neck.

[r] Reade Ier.4.4.

[ſ] That is, Shalmanazzar in the deſtruction of that city, ſpared neither kinde nor age.

[a] Whiles the Iſraelites were in Egypt, and did not provoke my wrath by their malice & ingratitude.

[b] They rebelled, and went a contrary way when the Prophets called them to repentance.

[c] That is, friendly: and not as beaſts or ſlaves.

[d] Seeing they contemn al this kindneſſe, they ſhall be led captive into Aſſyria.

[e] To wit, the Prophets.

[f] God conſidereth with himſelf, and that with a certain grief how to puniſh them.

[g] Which were two of the cities that were deſtroyed with Sodom, Deut.29.23.

[h] Meaning, tha his love where with he firſt love them, made hi between doubt & aſſurance what t do: and herein appeareth his father ly affection, tha his mercy towar his ſhall overcome his judgments, a he declareth in the next verſe.

[i] To conſume thee, but wil cauſe thee to yeeld, and ſo receive thee to mercy: and this is meant of the ſmall number who ſhall walk after the Lord.

[k] The Egyptians and Aſſyrians ſhall be afraid when the Lord maintaineth his people.

[l] Governeth their ſtate according to Gods word, and doth not degenerate.

[a] That is, flattereth himſelf with vain confidence.

[b] Meaning, preſents, to get friēdſhip.

[c] Which in theſe points was like to Ephraim, but not in idolatries.

[d] Seeing that God did thus prefer Iaakob their father, Iudahs ingratitude was the more to be abhorred.

[e] Read Gen.32.31

[f] God found Iaakob as he lay ſleeping in Beth-el, Gen. 28. 12. and ſo ſpake with him there, that the fruit of that ſpeech appertained to the whole body of the people, whereof we are.

[g] As for Ephraim he is more like the wicked Canaanits, then godly Abraham or Iaakob.

[h] Thus the wicked meaſure Gods favour, by outward proſperity, and like hypocrites cannot abide that any ſhould reprove their doings.

[i] Seeing thou wilt not acknowledge my benefits, I will bring thee again to dwell in tents, as in the feaſt of the Tabernacles, which thou doeſt now contemn.

[k] The people thought that no man durſt have ſpoken againſt Gilead, that holy place, and yet the Prophet ſaith, that all their religion was but vanity.

ſurely they are vanity: they ſacrifice bullocks in Gilgal, and their altars are as heaps in the furrows of the field.

12 [l] And Jaakob fled into the countrey of Aram, and Iſrael ſerved for a wife, and for a wife he kept ſheep.

13 And by a [m] Prophet the Lord brought Iſrael out of Egypt, and by a Prophet was he reſerved.

14 But Ephraim provoked him with high places: therefore ſhal his blood be powred upon him, and his reproch ſhall his Lord reward him.

[l] If you boaſt of your riches and nobility, ye ſeem to reproach your father who was a poore fugitive and ſervant.

[m] Meaning, Moſes, whereby appeareth, that whatſoever they have, it cometh of Gods free goodneſſe.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The abomination of Iſrael. 9 And the cauſe of their deſtruction.

WHen Ephraim ſpake, there was [a] trembling: he [b] exalted himſelf in Iſrael, but he hath ſinned in Baal, [c] and is dead.

2 And now they ſin more and more, and have made them molten images of their ſilver, and idols according to their own underſtanding: they were al the work of the craftſmen: they ſay one to another whiles they ſacrifice a [d] man, Let them kiſſe the calves.

3 Therefore they ſhall be as the morning cloud, and as the morning dew that paſſeth away, as the chaff that is driven with a whirlwinde out of the floore, and as the ſmoke that goeth out of the chimney.

4 Yet I am the Lord thy God [e] from the land of Egypt, and thou ſhalt know no God but me: for there is no Saviour beſide me.

5 I did know thee in the wilderneſſe, in the land of drought.

6 And in their paſtures, ſo were they filled: they were filled, and their heart was exalted, therefore have they forgotten me.

7 And I will be unto them as a very Lion, and as a Leopard in the way of Aſſhur.

8 I will meet them, as a beare that is robbed of her whelps, and I will breake the kall of their heart, and there I will devoure them like a Lion: the wilde beaſt ſhall teare them.

9 O Iſrael, one [f] hath deſtroyed thee, but in me is thine help.

10 [g] I am: where is thy king, that ſhould help thee in all thy cities? and thy judges, of whom thou ſayeſt, Give me a king, and princes?

11 I gave thee a king in mine anger, and I took him away in my wrath.

12 The iniquity of Ephraim is [h] bound up: his ſinne is hid.

13 The ſorrows of a travelling woman ſhall come upon him: he is an unwiſe ſon, elſe would he not ſtand ſtill at the time, even at the [i] breaking forth of the children.

14 I will redeem them from the power of the grave: I will deliver them from death: O [k] death, I will be thy death: O grave, I will be thy deſtruction: [l] repentance is hid from mine eyes.

15 Though he grew up among his brethren, an Eaſt winde ſhall come, even the winde of the Lord ſhall come up from the wilderneſſe, and dry up his veine, and his fountain ſhall be dried up: he ſhall ſpoile the treaſure of all pleaſant veſſels.

[a] He ſheweth the excellencie and authority that this tribe had above all the reſt.

[b] He made a king of his tribe.

[c] The Ephraimites are not farre from deſtruction, and have loſt their authority.

[d] The falſe prophets perſwaded the idolaters to offer their children after the example of Abraham, and he ſheweth how they would exhort one another to the ſame, and to kiſſe and worſhip theſe calves which were their idols.

[e] He calleth them to repentance, and reproveth their ingratitude.

[f] Thy deſtruction is certain, and my benefits toward thee declare that it cometh not of me: therefore thine own malice, idolatry, and vain confidence in men muſt needs be the cauſe thereof.

[g] I am all one, Iam. 1.17.

[h] It is ſurely laid up to be puniſhed, as Jer. 17.1.

[i] But would come out of the womb, that is, out of this danger wherein he is, and not tary to be ſtifled.

[k] Meaning, that no power ſhall reſiſt God, when he will deliver his: but even in death will he give them life.

[l] Becauſe they will not turn to me, I wil not change my purpoſe.

CHAP XIV.

1 The deſtruction of Samaria. 2 He exhorteth Iſrael to turn to God, who requireth praiſe and thanks.

SAmaria ſhall be deſolate, for ſhe hath rebelled againſt her God: they ſhall fall by the ſword: their infants ſhall be daſhed in pieces, and their women with child ſhall be ript.

2 O Iſrael, [a] return unto the Lord thy God: for thou haſt fallen by thine iniquity.

3 Take unto you words, and turn to the Lord, and ſay unto him, [b] Take away all iniquity, and receive us graciouſly: ſo will we render the calves of our [c] lips.

4 Aſſhur ſhall [d] not ſave us, neither will we ride upon horſes, neither will we ſay any more to the work of our hands, Ye are our gods: for in thee the fatherleſſe findeth mercy.

5 [e] I will heale their rebellion: I will love them freely, for mine anger is turned away from him.

6 I will be as the dew unto Iſrael: he ſhall grow as the lily, and faſten his roots as the trees of Lebanon.

7 His branches ſhall ſpread, and his beauty ſhall be as the olive-tree, and his ſmell as Lebanon.

8 They that dwell under his [f] ſhadow, ſhall return: they ſhall revive as the corn, and flouriſh as the vine: the ſent thereof ſhall be as the wine of Lebanon.

9 Ephraim ſhall ſay, What have I to do any more with idols? I [g] have heard him, and looked upon him: I am like a green firtree: upon me is thy fruit found.

10 Who is [h] wiſe, and he ſhall underſtand theſe things? and prudent, and he ſhall know them? for the wayes of the Lord are righteous, and the juſt ſhall walk in them: but the wicked ſhall fall therein.

[a] He exhorteth them to repentance, to avoid all theſe plagues, willing them to declare by words their obedience and repentance.

[b] He ſheweth the how they ought to confeſſe their ſinnes.

[c] Declaring that this is the true ſacrifice, that the faithfull can offer, even thanks and praiſe, Heb. 13.15.

[d] We will leave off all vain confidence and pride.

[e] He declareth how ready God is to receive them that do repent.

[f] Whoſoever joyn themſelves to this people, ſhall be bleſſed.

[g] God ſheweth how prompt he is to heare his, when they repent, and to offer himſelf as a protection, and ſafegard unto them, as a moſt ſufficient fruit and profit.

[h] Signifying, that the true wiſdome and knowledge conſiſteth in this, even to reſt upon God.

IOEL.

THE ARGUMENT.

THe Prophet Joel firſt rebuketh them of Judah, that being now puniſhed with a great plague of famine, remaineth ſtill obſtinate. Secondly, he threatneth greater plagues, becauſe they grew daily to a more hardneſſe of heart, and rebellion againſt God, notwithſtanding his puniſhments. Thirdly, he exhorteth them to repentance, ſhewing that it muſt be earneſt, and proceed from the heart, becauſe they had grievouſly offended God. And ſo doing, he promiſeth that God will be mercifull, and not forget his covenant that he made with their fathers: but will ſend his Chriſt, who ſhall gather the ſcattered ſheep, and reſtore them to life and liberty, though they ſeemed to be dead.

CHAP. I.

1 A propheſie againſt the Iewes. 2 He exhorteth the people to prayer and faſting, for the miſery that was at hand.

THe word of the Lord that came to Joel the ſon of Pethuel.

2 Heare ye this, O [a] Elders, & hearken ye, all inhabitants of the land, whether [b] ſuch a thing hath been in your dayes, or yet in the dayes of your fathers.

3 Tell your children of it, and let your children ſhew to their children, and their children to another generation.

4 That which is left of the palmer worm, hath the graſhopper eaten, and the reſidue of the graſhopper hath the canker-worm eaten, and the reſidue of the canker-worm hath the catterpiller eaten.

5 Awake ye [c] drunkards, and weep, and howle al ye drinkers of wine, becauſe of the new-wine: for it ſhall be pulled from your mouth.

6 Yea, [d] a nation cometh upon my land, mighty, and without number, whoſe teeth are like the teeth of a lion, and he hath the jawes of a great lion.

7 He maketh my vine waſte, and pilleth off the bark of my fig-tree: he maketh it bare, and caſteth it down: the branches thereof are made white.

8 Mourn like a virgin girded with ſackcloth for the [e] husband of her youth.

9 The meat-offring, and the drink-offering is [f] cut off from the Houſe of the Lord: the Prieſts the Lords miniſters mourn.

10 The field is waſted: the land mourneth: for the corn is deſtroyed: [g] the new wine is dried up, and the oyl is decaied.

11 Be ye aſhamed, O husbandmen: howle, O ye vine dreſſers, for the wheat, and for the barley, becauſe the harveſt of the field is periſhed.

12 The vine is dried up, and the fig-tree is decayed: the pomegranat tree, and the palm-tree, and apple-tree, even all the trees of the field are withered: ſurely the joy is withered away from the ſonnes of men.

13 [h] Gird your ſelves and lament, ye Prieſts: howle ye miniſters of the altar: come, and lie all night in ſackcloth, ye miniſters of my God: for the meat-offering, and the drink-offering is taken away from the houſe of your God.

14 Sanctifie you a faſt: call a ſolemn aſſembly: gather the Elders, and all the inhabitants of the land into the houſe of the Lord your God, and cry unto the Lord, 15 Alas: for the day, for the [i] day of the Lord is at hand, and it cometh as a deſtruction from the Almighty.

16 Is not the meat cut off before our eyes? and joy and gladneſſe from the houſe of our God?

17 The ſeed is rotten under their clods: the garners are deſtroyed: the barnes are broken down, for the corn is withered.

18 How did the beaſts mourn! the herds of cattell pine away, becauſe they have no paſture, and the flocks of ſheep are deſtroyed.

19 O Lord, to thee will I cry: for the fire hath devoured the paſtures of the wilderneſſe, and the flame hath burnt up all the trees of the field.

20 The beaſts of the field cry alſo unto thee: for the rivers of waters are dried up, and the [k] fire hath devoured the paſtures of the wilderneſſe.

CHAP. II.

He propheſieth of the coming and cruelty of their enemies. 13 An exhortation to move them to convert. 18 The love of God toward his people.

Blow

[a] Signifying, the Princes, the Prieſts and the Governours.

[b] He calleth the Iews to the conſideration of Gods judgements, who had now plagued the fruits of the ground for the ſpace of foure yeares, which was for their ſins, and to call them to repentance.

[c] Meaning, that the occaſion of their exceſſe and drunkenneſſe was taken away.

[d] This was another plague wherewith God had puniſhed them, when he ſtirred up the Aſſyrians againſt them.

[e] Mourn grievouſly as a woman which had loſt her husband, to whom ſhe hath been married in her youth.

[f] The tokens of Gods wrath did appear in his temple, inſomuch as Gods ſervice was left off.

[g] All comfort and ſubſtance for nouriſhment is taken away.

[h] He ſheweth that the onely meanes to avoid Gods wrath, and to have al things reſtored, is unfained repentance.

[i] We ſee by theſe great plagues, that utter deſtruction is at hand.

[k] That is, drought

BLow [a] the trumpet in Zion, and ſhout in mine holy mountain: let all the inhabitants of the land tremble: for the day of the Lord is come: for it is at hand.

2 A [b] day of darkneſſe, and of blackneſſe, a day of clouds and obſcurity, as the morning ſpread upon the mountaines, ſo is there a [c] great people, and a mighty: there was none like it from the beginning, neither ſhall be any more after it, unto the yeares of many generations.

3 A fire devoureth before him, and behinde him a flame burneth up: the land is as the garden of [d] Eden before him, and behinde him a deſolate wilderneſſe, ſo that nothing ſhall eſcape him.

4 The beholding of him is like the ſight of horſes, and like the horſmen, ſo ſhall they run:

5 Like the noiſe of charets in the tops of the mountaines ſhall they leap, like the noiſe of a flame of fire that devoureth the ſtubble, and as a mighty people prepared to the battell.

6 Before his face ſhall the people tremble: all faces [e] ſhall gather blackneſſe.

7 They ſhall run like ſtrong men, and go up to the wall like men of war, and every man ſhall go forward in his wayes, and they ſhall not ſtay in their pathes:

8 Neither ſhall one [f] thruſt another, but every one ſhall walk in his path: and when they fall upon the ſword, they ſhall not be wounded.

9 They ſhall run to and fro in the city: they ſhall run upon the wall: they ſhal climbe up upon the houſes, and enter in at the windows like the thief.

10 The earth ſhall tremble before him, the heavens ſhall ſhake, the [g] ſunne and the moon ſhall be dark, and the ſtars ſhall withdraw their ſhining,

11 And the Lord ſhall [h] utter his voice before his hoſt: for his hoſt is very great: for he is ſtrong that doth his word: * for the day of the Lord is great and very terrible, and who can abide it?

12 Therefore alſo now the Lord ſaith, Turn you unto me with all your heart, and with faſting, and with weeping, and with mourning,

13 And [i] rent your heart, and not your clothes: and turn unto the Lord your God, for he is gracious, and mercifull, ſlow to anger, and of great kindneſſe, and repenteth him of the evill.

14 Who knoweth, if he will [k] return and repent, and leave a bleſſing behinde him, even a meat-offering, and a drink-offering unto the Lord your God?

15 Blow the trumpet in Zion, ſanctifie a faſt, call a ſolemn aſſembly.

16 Gather the people: ſanctifie the congregation, gather the Elders: aſſemble the [l] children, and thoſe that ſuck the breaſt: let the bridegrome go forth of his chamber, and the bride out of her bride chamber.

17 Let the Prieſts, the miniſters of the Lord, weep between the porch and the altar, and let them ſay, Spare thy people, O Lord, and give not thine heritage into reproch, that the heathen ſhould rule over them. * Wherefore ſhould they ſay among the people, Where is their God?

18 Then will the Lord be [m] jealous over his land, and ſpare his people.

19 Yea, the Lord will anſwer, and ſay unto his people, Behold, I will ſend you corn, and wine, and oyl, and you ſhall be ſatisfied therewith: and I will no more make you a reproch among the heathen,

20 But I will remove far off from you the [n] Northern army, and I will drive him into a land, barren and deſolate, with his face toward the [o] Eaſt ſea, and his end to the utmoſt ſea, and his ſtinke ſhall come up, and his corruption ſhall aſcend, becauſe he hath exalted himſelf to do this.

21 Feare not, O land, but be glad, and rejoyce: for the Lord will do great things.

22 Be not afraid, ye beaſts of the field: for the paſtures of the wilderneſſe are green: for the tree beareth her fruit: the fig-tree and the vine do give their force.

23 Be glad then, ye children of Zion, and rejoyce in the Lord your God: for he hath given you the rain of [p] righteouſneſſe, * and he will cauſe to come down for you the rain, even the firſt rain, and the latter rain in the firſt moneth.

24 And the barnes ſhall be full of wheat, and the preſſes ſhall abound with wine and oyl,

25 And I will render you the yeares that the graſhopper hath eaten, the cankerworm, and the caterpiller, and the palmerworm, my great hoſt which I ſent among you.

26 So you ſhall eat and be ſatisfied, and praiſe the name of the Lord your God, that hath dealt marvellouſly with you: and my people ſhall never be aſhamed.

27 Ye ſhall alſo know, that I am in the mids of Iſrael, and that I am the Lord your God, and none other, and my people ſhall never be aſhamed.

[a] He ſheweth the great judgements of God which are at hand, except they repent.

[b] Of affliction and trouble.

[c] Meaning, the Aſſyrians.

[d] The enemy deſtroyeth our plentifull countrey whereſoever he cometh.

[e] They ſhall be pale and black for feare, as Nahum 2. 10.

[f] For none ſhall be able to reſiſt them.

[g] Reade verſes 2. 31. and Iſa. 13. 10. Ezek. 32. 7. chap. 3. 15. Mat. 24. 29

[h] The Lord ſhall ſtir up the Aſſyrians to execute his judgements.

* Ier. 30. 7. Amos 5. 18. Zeph. 1. 15.

[i] Mortifie your affections, and ſerve God with purenes of heart, and not with ceremonies.

[k] He ſpeaketh this to ſtir up their ſlothfulneſſe, and not that he doubted of Gods mercies, if they did repent. How God repenteth, reade Ier. 18. 8.

[l] That as all have ſinned, ſo all may ſhew forth ſignes of their repentace, that men ſeeing the children, which are not free from Gods wrath, might be the more lively touched with the conſideration of their own ſinnes.

* Pſal. 79. 10.

[m] If they repent he ſheweth that God will preſerve and defend them with a moſt ardent affection.

[n] That is, the Aſſyrians your enemies.

[o] Called the ſalt ſea: or Perſian ſea: meaning, that though his army was ſo great, that it filled all from this ſea to the ſea called Mediterraneum, yet he would ſcatter them.

[p] That is, ſuch as ſhould come by juſt meaſure, and as was wont to be ſent when God was reconciled with them.

* Levit. 26. 4. Deut. 11. 14.

28 And afterward will I powre [q] out my Spirit upon all fleſh: and your ſonnes and your daughters, ſhall propheſie: your old men ſhall dreame [r] dreames, and your young men ſhall ſee viſions.

29 And alſo upon the ſervants,and upon the maidens in thoſe dayes wil I powre my Spirit.

30 And I will ſhew [ſ] wonders in the heavens, and in the earth: blood and fire, and pillars of ſmoke.

31 The [t] Sunne ſhall be turned into darkneſſe, and the moon into blood,before the great and terrible day of the Lord come.

32 But whoſoever ſhall call [v] on the Name of the Lord, ſhall be ſaved: for in mount Zion, and in Jeruſalem ſhall be deliverance, as the Lord hath ſaid, and in the [x] remnant, whom the Lord ſhall call.

Chap. III.

Of the judgements of God againſt the enemies of his people.

For behold, in [a] thoſe dayes, and in that time when I ſhall bring again the captivity of Judah and Jeruſalem,

2 I will alſo gather all nations,and I wil bring them down into [b] the valley of Jehoſhaphat, and will plead with them there for my people,and for mine heritage Iſrael, whom they have ſcattered among the nations,and parted my land.

3 And they have caſt lots for my people, and have given the childe [c] for the harlot, and ſold the girle for wine, that they might drink.

4 Yea,and [d] what have you to do with me, O Tyrus and Zidon, and all the coaſts of Paleſtina? will ye render me [e] a recompence: and if ye recompence me, ſwiftly and ſpeedily will I render your recompence upon your head:

5 For ye have taken my ſilver and my gold, and have carried into your temples my goodly and pleaſant things.

6 The children alſo of Judah, and the children of Jeruſalem have you ſold unto the Grecians, that ye might ſend them far from their border.

7 Behold, I will raiſe them out of the place where ye have ſold them, and will render your reward upon your own head.

8 And I will ſell your ſons and your daughters into the hand of the children of Judah: and they [f] ſhall ſell them to the Sabeans,to a people far off: for the Lord hath ſpoken it.

9 Publiſh this among the Gentiles: prepare war, wake up the mighty men: let all the men of war draw neere and come up.

10 [g] Break your plowſhares into ſwords, and your ſithes into ſpeares: let the weake ſay, I am ſtrong.

11 Aſſemble your ſelves, and come all ye heathen,and gather your ſelves together round about: there ſhall the Lord caſt down thy mighty men.

12 Let the heathen be wakened and come up to the valley of Jehoſhaphat, for there wil I ſit to judge all the heathen round about.

13 Put in your [h] ſithes, for the harveſt is ripe: come, get you down: for the wine-preſſe is full: yea, the wine-preſſes run over, for their wickedneſſe is great.

14 O multitude, O multitude, come into the valley of threſhing: for the day of the Lord is neere in the valley of threſhing.

15 The Sunne and Moon ſhall be darkened,and the ſtars ſhall withdraw their light.

16 The Lord alſo ſhall roare out of Zion, and utter his voice from Jeruſalem, and the heavens and the earth ſhall ſhake, but the Lord will be the hope [i] of his people, and the ſtrength of the children of Iſrael.

17 So ſhall ye know that I am the Lord your God, dwelling in Zion, mine holy Mountain: then ſhall Jeruſalem be holy, and there ſhall no ſtrangers go [k] thorow her any more.

18 And in that day ſhall the mountaines [l] drop down new wine, and the hils ſhall flow with milk, and all the rivers of Judah ſhall run with waters, and a fountain ſhall come forth of the Houſe of the Lord, and ſhall water the valley of Shittim.

19 [m] Egypt ſhall be waſte, and Edom ſhall be a deſolate wildernes, for the injuries of the children of Judah, becauſe they have ſhed innocent blood in their land.

20 But Judah ſhall dwell for ever, and Jeruſalem from generation to generation.

21 For I will [n] cleanſe their blood, that I have not cleanſed, and the Lord will dwell in Zion.

AMOS.

[q] That is, in greater abundance & more generally then in time paſt: and this was fulfilled under Chriſt, when as Gods graces, and his Spirit under the Goſpel was abundantiy given to the Church, Iſa. 44. 3. Acts 2. 17. Iohn 7. 38, 39.

[r] As they had viſions and dreames in old time, ſo ſhall they now have clearer revelations.

[ſ] He warneth the faithfull what terrible things ſhould come, to the intent that they ſhould not look for continuall quietneſſe in this world, and yet in all theſe troubles he would preſerve them.

[t] The order of nature ſhall ſeem to be changed for the horrible afflictions that ſhal be in the world, Iſa. 13. 10. Ezek. 32. 7. Chap. 3. 15. Matth. 24. 29.

[v] Gods judgements are for the deſtruction of the infidels, and to move the godly to call upon the Name of God, who will give them ſalvation.

[x] Meaning hereby, the Gentiles, Rom. 10. 13.

[a] When I ſhall deliver my Church, which ſtandeth of the Jewes and of the Gentiles.

[b] It appeareth that he alludeth to that great victory of Iehoſhaphat, when as God without mans help deſtroied the enemies, 2 Chron. 20. 26. alſo he hath reſpect to this word Jehoſhaphat, which ſignifieth pleading, or judgement, becauſe God would judge the enemies of his Church, as he did there.

[c] That which the enemie gate for ỹ ſale of my people, he beſtowed upon harlots and drink.

[d] He taketh the cauſe of his Church in hand againſt the enemy, as though the injurie were done to himſelf.

[e] Have I done you wrong,that ye will render me the like?

[f] For afterward God ſold them by Nebuchad-nezzar, and Alexander the great, for the love he bare to his people, and thereby they were comforted as though the price had been theirs.

[g] When I ſhall execute my judgments againſt mine enemies, I will cauſe every one to be ready, & to prepare their weapons to deſtroy one another for my Church ſake.

[h] Thus he ſhall encourage the enemies when their wickednes is full ripe to deſtroy one another, which he calleth the valley of Gods judgments.

[i] God aſſureth his againſt al troubles, that when he deſtroyeth his enemies,his children ſhalbe delivered.

[k] The ſtrangers ſhall no more deſtroy his Church: which if they do,i is ỹ people, which by their ſins make the breach for the enemy.

[l] He promiſeth to his Church abundance of graces read Ezek. 47. 1 which ſhould water and comfor the moſt barren places, Amos 9. 13

[m] The malicious enemies ſhall have no part of this grace.

[n] He had ſuffere his Church hither to to lie in the filthineſſe, but no he promiſeth t cleanſe them, a to make them pu unto him.

AMOS.

THE ARGVMENT.

Among many other Prophets that God raiſed up to admoniſh the Iſraelites of his plagues, for their wickedneſſe and idolatry, he ſtirred up Amos, who was an herdman or ſhepherd of a poore town, and gave him both knowledge and conſtancy to reprove all eſtates and degrees, & to denounce Gods horrible judgements againſt them, except they did in time repent: ſhewing them, that if God ſpare not the other nations about them, who had lived, as it were, in ignorance of God in reſpect of them, but for their ſins will puniſh them, that they could look for nothing, but an horrible deſtruction, except they turned to the Lord by unfained repentance. And finally, he comforteth the godly with hope of the coming of the Meſſiah, by whom they ſhould have perfect deliverance and ſalvation.

CHAP. I.

1 The time of the propheſie of Amos. 3 The word of the Lord againſt Damaſcus, 6 The Philiſtims, Tyrus, Idumea and Ammon.

THE words of Amos, who was among the herdmen at [a] Tecoa, which he ſaw upon Iſrael, in the daies of Uzziah king of Judah, & in the daies of [b] Jeroboam the ſon of Joaſh king of Iſrael, two yeare before the [c] earthquake.

2 And he ſaid, The Lord ſhall roare from Zion, and utter his voice from Jeruſalem, and the dwelling places of the ſhepherds ſhall periſh, and the top of [d] Carmel ſhall wither.

3 ¶ Thus ſaith the Lord, For [e] three tranſgreſſions of Damaſcus, and for foure, I will not turn to it, becauſe they have [f] threſhed Gilead with threſhing inſtruments of iron:

4 Therefore will I ſend a fire into the houſe of Hazael, and it ſhall devoure the [g] palaces of Ben-hadad.

6 I will breake alſo the barres of Damaſcus, and cut off the inhabitant of Bikeath-aven: and him that holdeth the ſcepter out of Beth-eden, and the people of Aram ſhall go into captivity unto [h] Kir, ſaith the Lord.

6 Thus ſaith the Lord, For three tranſgreſſions of Azzah, and for foure, I will not turn to it, becauſe they [i] carried away priſoners the whole captivity to ſhut them up in Edom:

7 Therefore will I ſend a fire upon the walls of Azzah, and it ſhal devoure the palaces thereof:

8 And I will cut off the inhabitant from Aſhdod, and him that holdeth the ſcepter from Aſhkelon, and turn mine hand to Ekron, and the remnant of the Philiſtims ſhall periſh, ſaith the Lord God.

9 ¶ Thus ſaith the Lord, For three tranſgreſſions of Tyrus, and for foure, I will not turn to it, becauſe they ſhut the whole captivity in Edom, and have not remembred the [k] brotherly covenant:

10 Therefore will I ſend a fire upon the walls of Tyrus, and it ſhall devoure the palaces thereof.

11 ¶ Thus ſaith the Lord, For three tranſgreſſions of Edom, and for foure, I will not turn to it, becauſe he did purſue his brother with the ſword, and did ‡ caſt off all pitie, and his anger ſpoiled him evermore, and his wrath watched him [l] alway:

12 Therefore will I ſend a fire upon Teman, and it ſhall devoure the palaces of Bozrah.

13 ¶ Thus ſaith the Lord, For three tranſgreſſions of the children of Ammon, and for foure, I will not turn to it, becauſe they [m] have ript up the women with child of Gilead, that they might enlarge their border:

14 Therefore will I kindle a fire in the wall of Rabbah, and it ſhall devoure the palaces thereof, with ſhouting in the day of battell, and with a tempeſt in the day of the whirlwind,

15 And their king ſhall go into captivity,

---

[a] Which was a town ſix miles from Ieruſalem in Iudea, but he propheſied in Iſrael.

[b] In his dayes the kingdome of Iſrael did moſt flouriſh.

[c] Which, as Ioſephus writeth, was when Uzziah would have uſurped the Prieſts office, and therefore was ſmitten with the leproſie.

[d] Whatſoever is fruitfull and pleaſant in Iſrael ſhall ſhortly periſh.

[e] He ſheweth, firſt that all the people round about ſhould be deſtroyed for their manifold ſins: which are meant by three and foure, which make ſeven, becauſe the Iſraelites ſhould the more deeply conſider Gods judgements toward them.

[f] If the Syrians ſhall not be ſpared for committing this cruelty againſt one city, it is not poſſible that Iſrael ſhould eſcape puniſhment, which hath committed ſo many and grievous ſins againſt God and man.

[g] The antiquitie of their buildings ſhall not avoid my judgements, reade Ier. 49.27.

[h] Tiglath Pileſer led the Syrians captive, and brought them to Cyrene, which he calleth heere Kir.

[i] They joyned themſelves with the Edomites their enemies, which caried them away captives.

[k] For Eſau (of whom came the Edomites) & Iaakob were brethren: therefore they ought to have admoniſhed them of their brotherly friendſhip, and not to have provoked them to hatred.

‡ Ebr. corrupt his compaſſions.

[l] He was a continuall enemy unto him.

[m] He noteth the great cruelty of the Ammonites, that ſpared not the women, but moſt tyrannouſly tormented them, and yet the Ammonits came of Lot, who was of the houſhold of Abraham.

tivity, he and his princes together, ſaith the Lord.

CHAP. II.

Againſt Moab, Iudah, and Iſrael.

THus ſaith the Lord, For three tranſgreſſions of Moab, and for foure, I will not turn to it, becauſe it burnt the [a] bones of the king of Edom into lime:

2 Therefore will I ſend a fire upon Moab, and it ſhall devoure the palaces of Kerioth, and Moab ſhall die with tumult, with ſhouting, and with the ſound of a trumpet.

3 And I will cut off the judge out of the mids thereof, and will ſlay all the Princes thereof with him, ſaith the Lord.

4 ¶ Thus ſaith the Lord, For three tranſgreſſions of Judah, and for foure, [b] I will not turn to it, becauſe they have caſt away the Law of the Lord, and have not kept his commandements, and their lies cauſed them to erre, after the which their fathers have walked.

5 Therefore will I ſend a fire upon Judah, and it ſhall devoure the palaces of Jeruſalem.

6 ¶ Thus ſaith the Lord, for three tranſgreſſions of [c] Iſrael, and for foure, I will not turn to it, becauſe they ſold the righteous for ſilver, and the poore [d] for ſhooes.

7 They gape over the head of the poore, in the [e] duſt of the earth, and pervert the wayes of the meek: and a man and his father will go in to a maid to diſhonour mine holy name.

8 And they lie down upon clothes laid to pledge [f] by every altar: and they [g] drink the wine of the condemned in the houſe of their God.

9 Yet deſtroyed I the [h] Amorite before them, whoſe height was like the height of the cedars, and he was ſtrong as the oakes: notwithſtanding I deſtroyed his fruit from above, and his root from beneath.

10 Alſo I brought you up from the land of Egypt, and led you fortie yeares thorow the wilderneſſe, to poſſeſſe the land of the Amorite.

11 And I raiſed up of your ſonnes for Prophets, and [i] of your young men for Nazarites. Is it not even thus, O ye children of Iſrael, ſaith the Lord?

12 But ye gave the Nazarites wine to drink, and commanded the Prophets, ſaying, Propheſie not.

13 Behold, I am [k] preſſed under you as a cart is preſſed that is full of ſheaves.

14 Therefore the flight ſhall periſh from the [l] ſwift, and the ſtrong ſhall not ſtrengthen his force, neither ſhal the mighty ſave his life.

15 Nor he that handleth the bow, ſhall ſtand, and he that is ſwift of foot, ſhall not eſcape, neither ſhal he that rideth the horſe, ſave his life.

16 And he that is of a mighty courage among the ſtrong men, ſhall flee away naked in that day, ſaith the Lord.

CHAP. III.

He reproveth the houſe of Iſrael of ingratitude, 11 For the which God will puniſh them.

HEare this word that the Lord pronounceth againſt you, O children of Iſrael, even againſt the whole family which I brought up from the land of Egypt, ſaying,

2 You [a] onely have I known of all the families of the earth: therefore I will viſit you for all your iniquities.

3 Can two walk together except they be [b] agreed?

4 Will a [c] lyon roare in the foreſt, when he hath no prey? or will a lyons whelp crie out of his den, if he have taken nothing?

5 [d] Can a bird fall in a ſnare upon the earth, where no fowler is? or will he take up the [e] ſnare from the earth, and have taken nothing at all?

6 Or [f] ſhall a trumpet be blown in the city, and the people be not afraid? or ſhall there [g] be evill in a citie, and the Lord hath not done it?

7 Surely, the Lord God will do nothing, but he [h] revealeth his ſecret unto his ſervants the Prophets.

8 The lyon hath roared: who will not be afraid? the Lord God hath ſpoken: who can but [i] propheſie?

9 Proclaim in the palaces at [k] Aſhdod, and in the palaces in the land of Egypt, and ſay, Aſſemble your ſelves upon the mountaines of Samaria: ſo behold the great tumults in the mids thereof, and the oppreſſed in the mids thereof.

10 For they know not to do right, ſaith the Lord: they ſtore up violence, and robbery [l] in their palaces.

11 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, An adverſary ſhall come even round about the countrey, and ſhall bring down thy ſtrength from thee, and thy palaces ſhall be ſpoiled.

12 Thus ſaith the Lord, as the Shepherd taketh [m] out of the mouth of the lion two legs, or a piece of an eare: ſo ſhall the children of Iſrael be taken out that dwell in Samaria, in the corner of a bed, and in [n] Damaſcus, as in a couch.

13 Heare, and teſtifie in the houſe of Jaakob,

[a] For the Moabites were ſo cruel againſt the king of Edom, that they burnt his bones after that he was dead, which declared their barbarous rage, ſeeing they would revenge themſelves of the dead.

[b] Seeing the Gentiles that had not ſo far knowledge, were thus puniſhed, Iudah which was ſo fully inſtructed of the Lords will, might not think to eſcape.

[c] If he ſpare not Iudah, unto whom his promiſes were made, much more he will not ſpare this degenerate kingdome.

[d] They eſteemed moſt vile bribes more then mens lives.

[e] When they have ſpoiled him and thrown him to the ground, they gape for his life.

[f] Thinking by theſe ceremonies, that is, by ſacrificing, and being neare mine altar, they may excuſe all their other wickedneſſe.

[g] They ſpoile others, & offer thereof unto God, thinking that he will diſpenſe with them when he is made partaker of their iniquitie.

[h] The deſtraction of their enemies and his mercy toward them ſhould have cauſed their hearts to melt for love toward him.

[i] Ye contemned my benefits, and abuſed my graces, and craftily went about to ſtop the mouthes of my Prophets.

[k] You have wearied me with your ſins, Iſa.1.14.

[l] None ſhalbe de livered by any meanes.

[a] I have only choſen you to be mine among all other people: and yet you have forſaken me.

[b] Hereby the Prophet ſignifieth that he ſpeaketh not of himſelf, but as God guideth & moveth him, which is called the agreement between God and his Prophets.

[c] Will God threaten by his Prophets, except there be ſome great occaſion?

[d] Can any thing come without Gods providence?

[e] Shall his threatnings be in vain?

[f] Shall the Prophets threaten Gods judgments, and the people not be afraid?

[g] Doth any adverſity come without Gods appointmēt? Iſa.45.7.

[h] God dealeth not with the Iſraelits, as he doth with other people: for he ever warneth thē before of his plagues by his Prophets.

[i] Becauſe the people ever murmured againſt the Prophets, he ſheweth, that Gods ſpirit moved them ſo to ſpeak as they did.

[k] He calleth the ſtrangers, as, the Philiſtims and Egyptians, to be witneſſes of Gods judgments againſt the Iſraelites for their cruelty and oppreſſion.

[l] The fruit of their cruelty and theft appeareth by their great riches which they have in their houſes.

[m] When the Lion hath ſatiate his hunger, the ſhepherd findeth a leg, or a tip of an eare to ſhew that the ſheep have been wor.ed.

[n] Where they thought to have had a ſure hold, and to have been in ſafty.

Jaakob, ſaith the Lord God, the God of hoſts.

14 Surely in the day that I ſhall viſit the tranſgreſſions of Iſrael upon him, I will alſo viſit the altars of Beth-el, and the horns of the altar ſhall be broken off, and fal to the ground.

15 And I will ſmite the winter-houſe with the ſummer-houſe, and the houſes of ivory ſhall periſh, and the great houſes ſhall be conſumed, ſaith the Lord.

CHAP. IV.

Againſt the governours of Samaria.

HEare this word, ye [a] kine of Baſhan that are in the mountain of Samaria, which oppreſſe the poore, and deſtroy the needy, and they ſay to their maſter, [b] Bring, and let us drink.

2 The Lord God hath ſworn by his Holineſſe, that lo, the dayes ſhall come upon you, that he will take you away with [c] thornes, and your poſteritie with fiſh-hooks.

3 And ye ſhall go out at the breaches, every Kow forward: and ye ſhall caſt your ſelves out of the palace, ſaith the Lord.

4 Come to [d] Beth-el, and tranſgreſſe: to Gilgal, and multiply tranſgreſſion, and bring your ſacrifices in the morning, and your tithes after three [e] yeares,

5 And offer a thankſgiving [f] of leaven: publiſh and proclaim the free-offerings, for this [g] liketh you, O ye children of Iſrael, ſaith the Lord God.

6 And therefore have I given you [h] cleanneſſe of teeth in all your cities, and ſcarceneſſe of bread in all your palaces, yet have ye not returned unto me, ſaith the Lord.

7 And alſo I have with-holden the rain from you, when there were yet three [i] moneths to the harveſt, and I cauſed it to rain upon one citie, and have not cauſed it to rain upon another citie: one piece was rained upon, and the piece whereupon it rained not, withered.

8 So two or three cities wandred unto one citie to drink water, but they were [k] not ſatisfied: yet have ye not returned unto me, ſaith the Lord.

9 I have ſmitten you with blaſting, and mildew: your great gardens and your vineyards, and your fig-trees, and your olive trees did the palmer worm devoure: yet have ye not returned unto me, ſaith the Lord.

10 Peſtilence have I ſent among you, after the manner of [l] Egypt: your young men have I ſlain with the ſword, and have taken away your horſes: and I have made the ſtinke of your tents to come up even unto your noſtrils: yet have ye not returned unto me, ſaith the Lord.

11 I have overthrown you, as God overthrew Sodom and Gomorah: and ye were as a [m] fire brand pluckt out of the burning: yet have ye not returned unto me, ſaith the Lord.

12 Therefore, thus will I do unto thee, O Iſrael: and becauſe I will do this unto thee, prepare to [n] meet thy God, O Iſrael.

13 For lo, he that formeth the mountaines, and createth the winde, and declareth unto man what is his thought: which maketh the morning darkneſſe, and walketh upon the high places of the earth, the Lord God of hoſt is his Name.

CHAP. V.

A lamentation for the captivity of Iſrael.

HEare ye this word, which I lift up upon you, even a lamentation of the houſe of Iſrael.

2 The [a] virgin Iſrael is fallen, and ſhall no more riſe: ſhe is left upon her land, and there is none to raiſe her up.

3 For thus ſaith the Lord God, The citie which went out by a thouſand, ſhall leave an [b] hundreth: and that which went forth by an hundreth, ſhall leave ten to the houſe of Iſrael.

4 For thus ſaith the Lord unto the houſe of Iſrael, ſeek ye me, and ye ſhall live.

5 But ſeek not to Beth-el, nor enter into [c] Gilgal, and go not to Beer-ſheba: for Gigal ſhall go into captivity, and Beth-el ſhall come to nought.

6 Seek the Lord, and ye ſhall live, leſt he break out like fire in the houſe of Joſeph, and devoure it, and there be none to quench it in Beth-el.

7 They turn [d] judgement to wormwood, and leave off righteouſneſſe in the earth.

8 He [e] maketh Pleiades, and Orion, and he turneth the ſhadow of death into the morning, and he maketh the day dark as night: he calleth the waters of the ſea, and powreth them out upon the open earth: the Lord is his name.

9 He ſtrengtheneth the deſtroyer againſt the mighty: and the deſtroyer ſhall come againſt the fortreſſe.

10 They have hated him [f] that rebuked in the gate: and they abhorred him that ſpeaketh uprightly.

11 Foraſmuch then as your treading is upon the poore, and [g] ye take from him burdens of wheat, ye have built houſes of hewen ſtone, but ye ſhall not dwell in them: ye have planted pleaſant vineyards, but ye ſhall not drink wine of them.

12 For

[a] Thus he calleth the princes and governours, which being overwhelmed with the great abundance of Gods benefits, forgat God, and therfore he calleth them by the name of beaſts, and not of men.

[b] They encourage ſuch as have authority over the people, to powle them, ſo that they may have profit by it.

[c] He alludeth to fiſhers which catch fiſh by hooks and thorns.

[d] He ſpeaketh this in contempt of them which reſorted to theſe places, thinking that their great devotion and good intention had bin ſufficient to have bound God unto them.

[e] Reade Deut, 14. 28.

[f] As Levit. 7. 13.

[g] You onely delight in theſe outward ceremonies and have none other reſpect.

[h] That is, lack of bread and meat.

[i] I ſtaied the rain til the fruits of the earth were deſtroied with drought, and yet you would not conſider it, to return to me by repentance.

[k] They could not find water enough where they had heard ſay it had rained.

[l] As I plagued the Egyptians, Exod. 9. 10.

[m] You were almoſt all conſumed, and a few of you wonderfully preſerved, 2 Kings 14. 26.

[n] To turn to him by repentance.

[a] He ſo calleth them, becauſe they ſo boaſted of themſelves, or becauſe they were given to wantonneſſe and daintineſſe.

[b] Meaning, that the tenth part ſhould ſcarcely be ſaved.

[c] In theſe places they worſhipped new idols, which aforetime ſerved for the true honor of God: therefore he ſaith that theſe ſhall not ſave them

[d] In ſtead of judgment and equity, they execute cruelty and oppreſſion.

[e] He deſcribeth the power of God, Iob 9. 9.

[f] They hate the Prophets, which reprove them in the open aſſemblies.

[g] Ye take both his money and alſo his food wherwith he ſhould live.

12 For I know your manifold tranſgreſſions, and your mighty ſins, they afflict the juſt, they take rewards, and they oppreſſe the poore in the gate:

13 Therefore [h] the prudent ſhall keep ſilence in that time, for it is an evill time.

14 Seeke good, and not evill, that ye may live: and the Lord God of hoſts will be with you, as you have ſpoken.

15 Hate the evill, and love the good, and eſtabliſh judgement in the gate: it may be that the Lord God of hoſts will be mercifull unto the remnant of Joſeph.

16 Therefore the Lord God of hoſts, the Lord ſaith thus, Mourning ſhall be in all ſtreets: and they ſhall ſay in all the high wayes, Alas, alas: and they ſhall call the [i] husbandman to lamentation, and ſuch as can mourn, to mourning.

17 And in all the vines ſhall be lamentation: for I will paſſe through thee, ſaith the Lord.

18 Wo unto you, that [k] deſire the day of the Lord: what have you to do with it? the day of the Lord is darkneſſe and not light.

19 As if a man did flee from a lion, and a beare met him: or went into the houſe, and leaned his hand on the wall, and a ſerpent bit him.

20 Shall not the day of the Lord be darkneſſe, and not light? even darkneſſe and no light in it?

21 I hate and abhorre your feaſt dayes, and I will not ſmell in your ſolemn aſſemblies.

22 Though ye offer me burnt offerings and meate-offerings, [l] I will not accept them: neither will I regard the peace-offerings of your fat beaſts.

23 Take thou away from me the multitude of thy ſongs (for I will not heare the melody of thy viols)

24 And let judgement run down as [m] waters, and righteouſneſſe as a mighty river.

25 Have ye offered unto me ſacrifices and offerings in the wilderneſſe forty years, O houſe of Iſrael?

26 But you have born [n] Siccuth your king, and Chiun your images, and the ſtar of your gods, which ye made to your ſelves:

27 Therefore will I cauſe you to go into captivitie beyond Damaſcus, ſaith the Lord, whoſe Name is the God of hoſts.

CHAP. VI.

Againſt the Princes of Iſrael living in pleaſures.

WO to [a] them that are at eaſe in Zion, and truſt in the mountain of Samaria, [b] which were famous at the beginning of the nations: and the houſe of Iſrael came to them.

2 Go you unto Calneh, and ſee: and from thence go you to Hamath the great: then go down to Gath of the Philiſtims: be [c] they better then theſe kingdomes? or the border of their land greater then your border?

3 Ye that put far away the [d] evill day, and approach to the ſeat of iniquitie?

4 They lie upon beds of ivorie, and ſtretch themſelves upon their beds, and eat the lambes of the flock, and the calves out of the ſtall.

5 They ſing to the ſound of the viol: they invent to themſelves inſtruments of muſick, like [e] David.

6 They drink wine in bowles, and anoint themſelves with the chief ointments, but no man is [f] ſory for the affliction of Joſeph.

7 Therefore now ſhall they go captive with the firſt that go captive, and [g] the ſorrow of them that ſtretched themſelves is at hand.

8 [h] The Lord God hath ſworn by himſelf, ſaith the Lord God of hoſts, I abhorre [i] the excellencie of Jaakob, and hate his palaces: therefore will I deliver up the citie, with all that is therein.

9 And if there remain ten men in one houſe, they ſhall die.

10 And his uncle [k] ſhall take him up and burn him to carie out the bones out of the houſe, and ſhall ſay, unto him, that is by the [l] ſides of the houſe, Is there yet any with thee? And he ſhall ſay, None. Then ſhall he ſay, [m] Hold thy tongue: for we may not remember the Name of the Lord.

11 For behold, the Lord commandeth, and he will ſmite the great houſe with breaches, and the little houſe with clefts.

12 Shall horſes [n] run upon the rock? or will one plow there with oxen? for ye have turned judgement into gall, and the fruit of righteouſneſſe into [o] wormwood.

13 Ye rejoyce in a thing of nought: ye ſay, Have not we gotten us [p] horns by our own ſtrength?

14 But behold, I will raiſe up againſt you a nation, O houſe of Iſrael, ſaith the Lord God of hoſts: and they ſhall afflict you, from the entring in of [q] Hamath unto the river of the wilderneſſe.

[h] God will ſo plague them, that they ſhall not ſuffer the godly once to open their mouthes to admoniſh them of their faults.

[i] So that all degrees ſhall have matter of lamentation for the great plagues.

[q] From one co

THus hath the Lord God ſhewed unto me, and behold, he formed [a] graſhoppers in the beginning of the ſhooting up of the latter growth: and lo, it was in the latter growth: [b] after the kings mowing.

2 And when they had made an end of eating the graſſe of the land, then I ſaid, O Lord God, ſpare, I beſeech thee: who ſhall raiſe up Jaakob? for he is ſmall.

3 So the Lord [c] repented for this. It ſhall not be, ſaith the Lord.

4 ¶ Thus alſo hath the Lord God ſhewed unto me, and behold, the Lord God called to judgement by fire, [d] and it devoured the great deep, and did eat up a part.

5 Then ſaid I, O Lord God, ceaſe, I beſeech thee: who ſhall raiſe up Jaakob? for he is ſmall.

6 So the Lord repented for this. This alſo ſhall not be, ſaith the Lord God.

7 ¶ Thus again he ſhewed me, and behold, the Lord ſtood upon a wall made by line, [e] with a line in his hand.

8 And the Lord ſaid unto me, Amos, what ſeeſt thou? And I ſaid, A line. Then ſaid the Lord, Behold, I will ſet a line in the mids of my people Iſrael, and will paſſe by them no more.

9 And the high places of Izhak ſhall be deſolate, and the temples of Iſrael ſhall be deſtroyed: and I will riſe againſt the houſe of Jeroboam with the ſword.

10 ¶ [f] Then Amaziah the Prieſt of Beth-el ſent to Jeroboam king of Iſrael, ſaying, Amos hath conſpired againſt thee in the mids of the houſe of Iſrael: the land is not able to beare all his words:

11 For thus Amos ſaith, Jeroboam ſhall die by the ſword, and Iſrael ſhall be led away captive out of their own land.

12 Alſo [g] Amaziah ſaid unto Amos, O thou the Seer, go, flee thou away into the land of Judah, and there eat thy bread, and propheſie there.

13 But propheſie no more at Beth-el: for it is the kings chappel, and it is the kings court.

14 Then anſwered Amos, and ſaid to Amaziah, I was no [h] Prophet, neither was I a Prophets ſon, but I was an heardman, and a gatherer of wild figs.

15 And the Lord took me as I followed the flock, and the Lord ſaid unto me, Go, propheſie unto my people Iſrael.

16 Now therefore heare thou the word of the Lord, Thou ſayeſt, Propheſie not againſt Iſrael, and ſpeake nothing againſt the houſe of Izhak.

17 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord, [i] Thy wife ſhall be an harlot in the city, and thy ſonnes and thy daughters ſhall fall by the ſword, and thy land ſhall be divided by line, and thou ſhalt die in a polluted land, and Iſrael ſhall ſurely go into captivity forth of his land.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Againſt the rulers of Iſrael. 7 The Lord ſweareth. 11 The famine of the word of God.

THus hath the Lord God ſhewed unto me, and behold, a basket of ſummer fruit.

2 And he ſaid, Amos, what ſeeſt thou? & I ſaid, A basket of ſummer [a] fruit. Then ſaid the Lord unto me, The end is come upon my people of Iſrael, I will paſſe by them no more.

3 And the ſongs of the Temple ſhall be howlings in that day, ſaith the Lord God: many dead bodies ſhall be in every place: they ſhall caſt them forth with [b] ſilence.

4 Heare this, O ye that [c] ſwallow up the poore, that ye may make the needy of the land to faile,

5 Saying, When will the [d] new moneth be gone, that we may ſell corn? and the Sabbath, that we may ſet forth wheate, and make [e] the Ephah ſmall, and the ſhekel great, and falſifie the weights by deceit?

6 That we may buy the poore for ſilver, and the needy for ſhooes: yea, and ſell the refuſe of the wheat.

7 The Lord hath ſworn by the excellency of Jaakob, Surely I will never forget any of their works.

8 Shall not the land tremble for this, and every one mourn, that dwelleth therein? and it ſhall riſe up wholly as a flood, and it ſhall be caſt out, and [f] drowned as by the flood of Egypt.

9 And in that day ſaith the Lord God, I will even cauſe the [g] Sunne to go down at noon: and I will darken the earth in the cleare day.

10 And I will turn your feaſts into mourning, and all your ſongs into lamentation: and I will bring ſackcloth upon all loynes, and baldneſſe upon every head: and I will make it as the mourning of an onely ſonne, and the end thereof as a bitter day.

11 Behold, the dayes come, ſaith the Lord God, that I will ſend a famine in the land, not a famine of bread, nor a thirſt for water, but of hearing the word of the Lord.

12 And they ſhall wander from ſea to ſea, and from the North even unto the Eaſt ſhall they run to and fro to [a] To devoure the land: and he alludeth to the invading of the enemy.

[b] After the publick commandement for mowing was given: or as ſome reade, when the kings ſheep were ſhorne.

[c] That is, ſtayed this plague at my prayer.

[d] Meaning, that Gods indignation was inflamed againſt the ſtubbornneſſe of this people.

[e] Signifying, that this ſhould be the laſt meaſuring of the people, & that he would defer his judgemēts no longer.

[f] That is, when Amos had propheſied that the king ſhound be deſtroyed: for this wicked Prieſt more for hatred he bare to the Prophet, then for love toward the king, thought this accuſation ſufficient to condemn him, whereas none other could take place.

[g] When this inſtrument of Satan was not able to compaſſe his purpoſe by the king, he aſſayed by another practiſe: that was, to feare the Prophet, that he might depart, and not reprove their idolatry there openly, and ſo hinder his profit.

[h] Thus he ſheweth by his extraordinary vocation that God had given him a charge which he muſt needs execute.

[i] Thus God uſeth to approve the authority of his Prophets by his plagus and judgements againſt them, which were malicious enemies, Jer. 28. 12 and 29. 21, 25. as this day he doth againſt them that perſecute the miniſters of his Goſpel.

[a] Which ſignified the ripeneſſe of their ſins, and the readineſſe of Gods judgements.

[c] By ſtaying the ſale of food and neceſſary things which you have gotten into your own hands, and ſo cauſe the poore to ſpend quickly that little that they have, and at length for neceſſity to become your ſlaves.

[d] When the dearth was once come, they were ſo greedy of gain, that they thought the holy day to be an hinderance unto them.

[e] That is, the meaſure ſmall, and the price great.

[f] That is, the inhabitants of the land ſhalbe drowned, as Nilus drowneth many when it overfloweth.

[g] In the mids of their proſperity, I will ſend great affliction.

ſeek the [h] word of the Lord, and ſhall not find it.

13 In that day ſhall the faire virgins and the young men periſh for thirſt.

14 They that ſweare by the ſin [i] of Samaria, and that ſay, Thy God, O Dan, liveth, and the [k] manner of Beer-ſheba liveth, even they ſhall fall, and never riſe up again.

Chap. IX.

1 Threatnings againſt the Temple, 2 And againſt Iſrael. 11 The reſtoring of the Church.

I Saw the Lord ſtanding upon the [a] altar, and he ſaid, Smite the lintell of the doore, that the poſts may ſhake: and cut them in pieces, even the [b] heads of them all, and I will ſlay the laſt of them with the ſword: he that fleeth of them, ſhall not flee away: and he that eſcapeth of them, ſhall not be delivered.

2 Though they dig into the hell, thence ſhall mine hand take them: though they climbe up to heaven, thence will I bring them down.

3 And though they hide themſelves in the top of Carmel, I will ſearch and take them out thence: and though they be hid from my ſight in the bottom of the ſea, thence will I command the [c] ſerpent, and he ſhall bite them.

4 And though they go into captivity before their enemies, thence will I command the ſword, and it ſhall ſlay them: and I will ſet mine eyes upon them for evill, and not for good.

5 And the Lord God of hoſts ſhal touch the land, and it ſhall melt away, and all that dwell therein ſhall mourn, and it ſhall riſe up wholly like a flood, and ſhall be drowned as by the flood of Egypt.

6 He buildeth his [d] ſpheres in the heaven, and hath laid the foundation of his globe of elements in the earth: he calleth the waters of the ſea, and powreth them out upon the open earth: the Lord is his name.

7 Are ye not as the Ethiopians [e] unto me, O children of Iſrael, ſaith the Lord? have not I brought up Iſrael out of the land of Egypt? and the Philiſtims from [f] Caphtor, and Aram from Kir?

8 Behold, the eyes of the Lord God are upon the ſinfull kingdome, and I will deſtroy it cleane out of the earth. Nevertheleſſe, I wil not utterly [g] deſtroy the houſe of Jaakob, ſaith the Lord.

9 For lo, I will command and I will ſift the houſe of Iſrael among all nations, like as corn is ſifted in a ſieve: yet ſhall not the [h] leaſt ſtone fall upon the earth.

10 But all the ſinners of my people ſhall die by the ſword, which ſay, The evill ſhall not come, nor haſten for us.

11 In that day will I raiſe up the [i] Tabernacle of David, that is fallen down, and cloſe up the breaches thereof, and I will raiſe up his ruins, and I will build it, as in the dayes of old.

12 That they may poſſeſſe the remnant of [k] Edom, and of all the heathen, becauſe my name is called upon them, ſaith the Lord that doth this.

13 Behold, the dayes come, ſaith the Lord, that the plowman ſhall [l] touch the mower, and the treader of grapes him that ſoweth ſeed: and the mountaines ſhall [m] drop ſweet wine, and all the hils ſhall melt.

14 [n] And I will bring again the captivity of my people of Iſrael: and they ſhall build the waſt cities, and inhabit them, and they ſhall plant vineyards, and drink the wine thereof: they ſhall alſo make gardens, and eat the fruits of them.

15 And I will plant them upon their land, and they ſhall no more be pulled up again out of their land, which I have given them, ſaith the Lord thy God.

---

[h] Whereby he ſheweth that they ſhall not onely periſh in body, but alſo in ſoul, for lack of Gods word, which is the food thereof.

[i] For the idolaters did uſe to ſweare by their idoles, which here he calleth their ſinne, as the Papiſts yet do by theirs.

[k] That is, the common manner of worſhipping and the ſervice or religion there uſed.

[a] Which was at Ieruſalem: for he appeared not in the idolatrous places of Iſrael.

[b] Both the chief of them, and alſo the common people.

[c] He ſheweth that God will declare himſelf enemy unto them in all places, and that his elements and creatures ſhall be enemies to deſtroy them.

[d] He declareth by the wonderfull power of God, by the making of the heavens and the elements, that it is not poſſible for man to eſcape his judgements when he puniſheth.

[e] Am I more bou͂d to you then to the Ethiopians or Blackmores? yet have I beſtowed upon you greater benefits.

[f] Reade Ier. 47. 4.

[g] Though he deſtroy the rebellious multitude, yet he will ever reſerve the remnant of his Church to call upon his Name.

[h] Meaning, that none of his ſhould periſh in his wrath.

[i] I will ſend the Meſſiah promiſed, and reſtore by him the ſpirituall Iſrael, Acts 15. 16.

[k] Meaning, that the very enemies, as were the Edomites, and others, ſhould be joyned with the Iewes in one ſociety and body, whereof Chriſt ſhould be the head.

[l] Signifying, that there ſhal be great plenty of al things, ſo that when one kind of fruit is ripe, another ſhould follow, and every one in courſe, Levit. 26. 5.

[m] Reade Ioel. 3. 18.

[n] The accompliſhment hereof is under Chriſt, when they are planted in his Church, out of the which they can never be pulled, after they are once graffed therein.

OBADIAH.

The Argument.

THe Idumeans which came of Eſau, were mortall enemies alwayes to the Iſraelites, which came of Jaakob, and therefore did not onely vex them continually with ſundry kinds of cruelty, but alſo ſtirred up others to fight againſt them. Therefore when they were now in their greateſt proſperitie, and did moſt triumph againſt Iſrael, which was in great affliction and miſerie, God raiſed up his Prophet to comfort the Iſraelites, foraſmuch as God had now determined to deſtroy their adverſaries, which did ſo ſore vexe them, and to ſend them ſuch as ſhould deliver them, and ſet up the Kingdome of Meſsiah, which he had promiſed.

THe viſion of Obadiah. Thus ſaith the Lord God againſt Edom, [a] We have heard a rumor from the Lord, and an Ambaſſadour is ſent among the heathen: ariſe, and [b] let us riſe up againſt her to battell.

2 Behold, I have made thee ſmall among the heathen: thou art utterly deſpiſed.

3 The [c] pride of thine heart hath deceived thee: thou that dwelleſt in the clefts of the rockes, whoſe habitation is high, that ſaith in his heart, Who ſhall bring me downe to the ground?

4 Though thou exalt thy ſelfe as the eagle, and make thy neſt among the ſtars, thence will I bring thee downe, ſaith the Lord.

5 [d] Came theeves to thee or robbers by night? how waſt thou brought to ſilence? would they not have ſtoln, till they had enough? if the grape gatherers came to thee, would they not leave ſome grapes?

6 How are the things of Eſau ſought up, and his treaſures ſearched?

7 All the men of thy confederacie [e] have driven thee to the borders: the men that were at peace with thee, have deceived thee, and prevailed againſt thee: they that eate thy [f] bread, have laid a wound under thee: there is none underſtanding in him.

8 Shall not I in that day, ſaith the Lord, even deſtroy the wiſe men out of Edom, and underſtanding from the mount of Eſau?

9 And thy ſtrong men, O Teman, ſhall be afraid, becauſe everie one of the mount of Eſau ſhall be cut off by ſlaughter.

10 For thy crueltie againſt thy [g] brother Jaakob, ſhame ſhall cover thee, and thou ſhalt be cut off for ever.

11 When thou ſtoodeſt [h] on the other ſide, in the day that the ſtrangers caried away his ſubſtance, and ſtrangers entered into his gates, and caſt lots upon Jeruſalem, even thou waſt as one of them.

12 But thou ſhouldeſt not have beholden the day of thy brother, in the day that hee was made [i] a ſtranger, neither ſhouldeſt thou have rejoiced over the children of Judah, in the day of their deſtruction: thou ſhouldeſt not have ſpoken proudly in the day of affliction.

13 Thou ſhouldeſt not have entred into the gate of my people, in the day of their deſtruction, neither ſhouldeſt thou have once looked on their affliction in the day of their deſtruction, nor have laid hands on their ſubſtance in the day of their deſtruction.

14 Neither ſhouldeſt thou have ſtood in the croſſe waies to cut off them, that ſhould eſcape, neither ſhouldeſt thou have ſhut up the remnant thereof in the day of affliction.

15 For the day [k] of the Lord is neare, upon all the heathen: as thou haſt done, it ſhall be done to thee: thy reward ſhall returne upon thine head.

16 For as ye have [l] drunke upon mine holy Mountaine, ſo ſhall all the heathen drinke continually: yea, they ſhall drink and ſwallow up, and they ſhall bee [m] as though they had not beene.

17 But upon mount Zion ſhall be deliverance, and it ſhall bee holy, and the houſe of Jaakob ſhall poſſeſſe their poſſeſsions,

18 And the houſe of Jaakob ſhall bee [n] a fire, and the houſe of Joſeph a flame, and the houſe of Eſau as ſtubble, and they ſhall kindle in them and devoure them: and there ſhall be no remnant of the houſe of Eſau: for the Lord hath ſpoken it.

19 And they ſhall poſſeſſe the South ſide of the [o] mount of Eſau, and the plain of the Philiſtims: and they ſhall poſſeſſe the fields of Ephraim, and the fields of Samaria, and Benjamin ſhall have Gilead.

20 And the captivitie of this hoſte of the children of Iſrael, which were among the [p] Canaanites, ſhall poſſeſſe unto Zarephath, and the captivitie of Jeruſalem, which is in Sepharad, ſhall poſſeſſe the cities of the South, 21 And they [q] that ſhall ſave, ſhall come up to mount Zion to judge the mount of Eſau, and the kingdome ſhall be the Lords.

[a] God hath certainely revealed to his Prophets that he will raiſe up the heathen to deſtroy the Edomites, whereof the rumour is now publiſhed, Ier.49.14.

[b] Thus the heathen encourage themſelves to riſe againſt Edom.

[c] Which deſpiſeſt all others in reſpect of thy ſelfe, and yet art but an handfull in compariſon of others, and art ſhut up among the hils, as ſeparate from the reſt of the world.

[d] God will ſo deſtroy them, that he wil leave none, though theeves when they come, take but till they have enough, and they that gather grapes, ever leave ſome behinde them, Ier.49.9.

[e] They in whom thou didſt truſt, for to have helpe and friendſhip of them, ſhall bee thine enemies, & deſtroy thee,

[f] That is, thy familiar friends and gheſts have by ſecret practiſes deſtroied thee.

[g] Hee ſheweth the cauſe why the Edomites were ſo ſharpely puniſhed: to wit, becauſe they were enemies to his Church, whom now he comforteth by puniſhing their enemies.

[h] When Nebuchad-nezzar came againſt Jeruſalem, thou joinedſt with him, and hadſt part of the ſpoile, and ſo diddeſt rejoice, when my people, that is, thy brother, were afflicted, whereas thou ſhouldeſt have pitied and holpen thy brother,

[i] When the Lord deprived them of their former dignitie, and gave them to be caried into captivitie.

[k] When he will ſummon all the heathen, and ſend them to deſtroy thee.

[l] That is, rejoiced & triumphed

[m] The Edomites ſhall utterly be deſtroied, and yet in deſpite of all the enemies, I will reſerve my Church and reſtore it.

[n] God attributeeth this power, to conſume his enemies, to his Church, which power is onely proper to himſelf, as Iſa.10.17 Deut.4.24. Hebr.12.29.

[o] He deſcribeth, how the Church ſhall be enlarged and have great poſſeſsions, but this chiefly is accompliſhed under Chriſt. when as the faithfull are made heires and lords of all things by him which is their head,

[p] By the Canaanites the Iewes meane the Dutchmen: and by Zarephath, France: and by Sepharad Spaine.

[q] Meaning, that God will raiſe up in his Church ſuch as ſhall rule and governe for the defence of the ſame, and deſtruction of his enemies under Meſsiah, whom the Prophet calleth here the Lord and head of this kingdome.

JONAH

IONAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

WHen Ionah had long propheſied in Iſrael, and had little profited, God gave him expreſſe charge to goe and denounce his judgements againſt Nineveh the chiefe citie of the Aſſyrians, becauſe he had appointed, that they which were of the heathen, ſhould convert by the mighty power of his word, and that within three daies preaching, that Iſrael might ſee how horribly they had provoked Gods wrath, which for the ſpace of ſo many yeares, had not converted to the Lord for ſo many Prophets, and ſo diligent preaching. He propheſied under Joaſh, and Ieroboam, as 2 King. 14.25.

CHAP. I.

3 Ionah fled when he was ſent to preach, 4 A tempeſt ariſeth, and he is caſt into the ſea for his diſobedience.

THe word of the Lord came [a] alſo unto Jonah the ſon of Amittai, ſaying,

2 Ariſe, and goe to [b] Nineveh, that [c] great city, and cry againſt it: for their wickednes is come up before me.

3 But Jonah roſe up to [d] flee into Tarſhiſh from the preſence of the Lord, and went down to [e] Japho: and he found a ſhip going to Tarſhiſh: ſo he paid the fare thereof, and went downe into it, that he might goe with them unto Tarſhiſh from the [f] preſence of the Lord.

4 But the Lord ſent out a great wind into the ſea, and there was a mightie tempeſt in the ſea, ſo that the ſhip was like to be broken.

5 Then the mariners were afraid, and cried every man unto his god, and caſt the wares that were in the ſhip, into the ſea, to lighten it of them: but Jonah was gone downe [g] into the ſides of the ſhip, and he lay downe, and was faſt aſleepe.

6 So the ſhip-maſter came to him, and ſaid unto him, What meaneſt thou, O ſleeper? Ariſe, call upon thy [h] God, if ſo be that God will thinke upon us, that we periſh not.

7 And they ſaid every one to his fellow, Come, and let us caſt [i] lots, that we may know, for whoſe cauſe this evill is upon us. So they caſt lots, and the lot fell upon Jonah.

8 Then ſaid they unto him, Tell us, for whoſe cauſe this evill is upon us? what is thine occupation? and whence commeſt thou? which is thy countrey? and of what people art thou?

9 And he anſwered them, I am an Ebrew, and I feare the Lord God of heaven, which hath made the ſea, and the dry land.

10 Then were the men exceedingly afraid, and ſaid unto him, Why haſt thou done this? (for the men knew that he fled from the preſence of the Lord, becauſe he had told them)

11 Then ſaid they unto him, What ſhall we doe unto thee, that the ſea may be calme unto us? (for the ſea wrought and was troublous)

12 And he ſaid unto them, Take me, and caſt me into the ſea, ſo ſhall the ſea be calme unto you: for I know that for my ſake this great tempeſt is upon you.

13 Neverthelesſ, the men rowed to bring it to the land, but they could not: for the ſea wrought, and was troublous againſt them.

14 Wherefore they cried unto the Lord, and ſaid, [k] We beſeech thee, O Lord, we beſeech thee, let us not periſh for this mans life, and lay not upon us innocent blood: for thou, O Lord, haſt done, as it pleaſed thee.

15 So they took up Jonah, and caſt him into the ſea, and the ſea ceaſed from her raging.

16 Then the men [l] feared the Lord exceedingly, and offred a ſacrifice unto the Lord, and made vows.

17 Now the Lord had prepared a great fiſh to ſwallow up Jonah: and Jonah was in the [m] belly of the fiſh three daies, and three nights.

CHAP. II.

1 Ionah is in the fiſhes belly. 2 His prayer. 10 He is delivered.

THen Jonah praied unto the Lord his God [a] out of the fiſhes belly,

---

[a] After that he had preached a long time in Iſrael: and ſo Ezekiel, after that for a time he had propheſied in Iuda, he had viſions in Babylon, Ezek. 1.1.

[b] For ſeeing the great obſtination of the Iſraelites, he ſent his Prophet to the Gentiles, that they might provoke them to repentance, or at leaſt, make them inexcuſable: for Nineveh was the chiefe citie of the Aſſyrians.

[c] For as authours write, it contained in circuit about eight and forty mile, and had a thouſand and five hundred towers, and at this time there were an hundred and twenty thouſand children therein, Cha. 4.11.

[d] Whereby he declared his weakeneſſe, that would not promptly follow the Lords calling, but gave place to his own reaſon, which perſwaded him, that he ſhould nothing at all profit there, ſeeing he had done ſo ſmall good among his owne people, Chap. 4.2.

[e] Which was the haven, and port to take ſhipping thither, called alſo Joppe.

[f] From that vocation whereunto God had called him, and wherein he would have aſſiſted him.

[g] As one that would have caſt off this care and ſolicitud, by ſeeking reſt and quietneſſe.

[h] As they had called on their idols, which declareth, that idolaters have no ſtay nor certainty, but in their troubles ſeeke, they cannot tell to whom.

[i] Which declareth, that the matter was in great extremity and doubt, which thing was Gods motion in them, for the triall of the cauſe: and this may not be done but in matters of gteat importance.

[k] This declare that the very wic

[a] Being now ſwa

and ſeeing no re

was able to deliver him.

2 And ſaid, I cried in mine affliction unto the Lord, and he heard me : out of the belly [b] of hell cried I, and thou heardeſt my voice.

3 For thou hadſt caſt me into the bottome in the midſt of the ſea, and the floods compaſſed me about: all thy ſurges, and all thy waves paſſed over me.

4 Then I ſaid, I am [c] caſt away out of thy ſight : yet will I looke againe toward thine holy Temple.

5 The waters compaſſed me about unto the ſoule : the depth cloſed me round about, and the weeds were wrapt about my head.

6 I went down to the bottome of the mountaines : the earth with her barres was about me for ever, yet haſt thou brought up my [d] life from the pit, O Lord my God.

7 When my ſoule fainted within me, I remembred the Lord : and my prayer came unto thee, into thine holy Temple.

8 They that waite upon lying [e] vanities, forſake their owne [f] mercy.

9 But I will ſacrifice unto thee with the voice of thankſgiving, and will pay that that I have vowed : ſalvation is of the Lord.

10 And the Lord ſpake unto the fiſh, and it caſt out Jonah upon the dry land.

[b] For he was now in the fiſhes belly, as in a grave or place of darkneſſe.

[c] This declared what his praier was, and how he laboured between hope and deſpaire, conſidering the neglect of his vocation, and Gods judgements for the ſame : but yet in the end faith gat the victory.

[d] Thou haſt delivered me from the belly of thy fiſh, and all theſe dangers, as it were raiſing me from death to life.

[e] They that depend upon any thing ſave on God alone.

[f] They refuſe their owne felicity, and that goodneſſe which they ſhould elſe receive of God,

CHAP III.

1 Ionah is ſent againe to Nineveh. 5 The repentance of the King of Nineveh.

AND the word of the Lord came unto [a] Jonah the ſecond time, ſaying,

2 Ariſe, goe unto Nineveh that great city, and preach unto it the preaching which I bid thee.

3 So Jonah aroſe and went to Nineveh according to the word of the Lord: now Nineveh was a [b] great and excellent city of three daies journey.

4 And Jonah began to enter into the city a daies [c] journey, and he cried, and ſaid, Yet forty daies, and Nineveh ſhall be overthrowne.

5 So the people of Nineveh [d] beleeved God, and proclaimed a faſt, and put on ſackcloth, from the greateſt of them, even to the leaſt of them.

6 For word came unto the King of Nineveh, and he aroſe from his throne, and he laid his robe from him, and covered him with ſackcloth, and ſate in aſhes.

7 And he proclaimed and ſaid through Nineveh, (by the counſell of the King and his nobles) ſaying, Let neither man, nor [e] beaſt, bullock nor ſheep taſte any thing, neither feed, nor drinke water.

8 But let man and beaſt put on ſackcloth, and [f] cry mightily unto God : yea, let every man turne from his evill way, and from the wickedneſſe that is in their hands.

9 [g] Who can tell if God will turne, and repent and turne away from his fierce wrath, that we periſh not?

10 And God ſaw their [h] workes, that they turned from their evill waies : and [i] God repented of the evill that he ſaid that he would doe unto them, and he did it not.

[a] This is a great declaration of Gods mercy, that he receiveth him again, and ſendeth him forth as his Prophet, which had before ſhewed ſo great infirmity.

[b] Read chap, 1. 2.

[c] He went forward one day in the city, and preached, and ſo hee continued till the city was converted.

[d] For he declared that he was a Prophet ſent to them from God, to denounce his judgements againſt them.

[e] Not that the dumbe beaſts had ſinned, or could repent, but that by their example man might be aſtoniſhed, conſidering that for his ſin, the anger of God hanged over all creatures.

[f] He willed that the men ſhould earneſtly call unto God for mercy.

[g] For partly by the threarning of the Prophet, and partly by the motion of his conſcince bedoubted whether God would ſhew them mercy.

[h] That is, the fruits of their repentance, which did proceed of faith, which God had planted by the miniſtry of his Prophet.

[i] Read Ier. 18. 8.

CHAP. IV.

The great goodneſſe of God toward his creatures.

THerefore it diſpleaſed [a] Jonah exceedingly, and he was angry.

2 And he praied unto the Lord, and ſaid, I pray thee, O Lord, was not this my ſaying, when I was yet in my countrie? therefore I prevented it to flee unto [b] Tarſhiſh: for I knew that thou art a gracious God, and mercifull, ſlow to anger, and of great kindneſſe, and repenteſt thee of the evill.

3 Therefore now, O Lord, take, I beſeech thee, my life [c] from me : for it is better for me to die then to live.

4 Then ſaid the Lord, Doſt thou well to be [d] angry?

5 So Jonah went out of the city, and ſate on the Eaſt ſide of the city, and there made him a booth, and ſate under it in the ſhadow [e] till he might ſee what ſhould be done in the city.

6 And the Lord God prepared a [f] gourd, and made it to come up over Jonah, that it might be a ſhadow over his head, and deliver him from his griefe. So Jonah was exceeding glad of the gourd.

7 But God prepared a worme when the morning roſe the next day, and it ſmote the gourd, that it withered.

8 And when the ſun did ariſe, God prepared alſo a fervent Eaſt winde, and the ſun beat upon the head of Jonah, that he fainted, and wiſhed in his heart to die, and ſaid, It is better for me to die then to live.

9 And God ſaid unto Jonah, Doſt thou well to be angry for the gourd? And he ſaid, I do well to be [g] angry unto the death.

10 Then ſaid the Lord, Thou haſt had pitty on the gourd for the which thou haſt not laboured, neither madeſt it grow, which came up in a night, and periſhed in a night,

11 And ſhould [h] not I ſpare Nineveh that great city, wherein are ſixeſcore thouſand perſons, that [i] cannot diſcerne betweene their right hand, and their left hand, and alſo much cattell.

[a] Becauſe hereby he ſhould be taken as a falſe prophet, and ſo the Name of God, which he preached, ſhould be blaſphemed.

[b] Read chap 1. 3.

[c] Thus he praied of griefe, fearing leſt Gods Name by this forgivenes might be blaſphemed, as though he ſent his Prophets forth to denounce his judgements in vaine.

[d] Wilt thou be judge when I do things for my glory, and when I doe not?

[e] For he doubted as yet, whether God would ſhew them mercie or no: and therfore after fortie daies he departed out of the citie, looking what iſſue God would ſend.

[f] Which was a further meanes to cover him from the heat of the ſun, as he remained in his boothe.

[g] This declareth the great inconveniences whereinto Gods ſervants doe fall, when they give place to their owne affections, and doe not in all things willingly ſubmit themſelves to God.

[h] Thus God mercifully reproveth him, which would pitie himſelfe, and this gourd, and yet would reſtraine God to ſhew his compaſſion to ſo many thouſand people.

[i] Meaning, that they were children and infants.

MICAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

Micah the Prophet, of the tribe of Judah, ſerved in the worke of the Lord concerning Judah and Iſrael at the leaſt thirty yeares: at what time Iſaiah propheſied. Hee declareth the deſtruction, firſt of the one kingdome, and then of the other, becauſe of their manifold wickedneſſe, but chiefly for their idolatry. And to this end he noteth the wickedneſſe of the people, the cruelty of the princes and governours, and the permiſſion of falſe prophets, and the delighting in them. Then he ſetteth forth the comming of Chriſt, his kingdome, and the felicity thereof. This Prophet was not that Micah, which reſiſted Ahab and all his falſe prophets, as 1 King. 22.8. but another of the ſame name.

CHAP. I.

1 The deſtruction of Iudah and Iſrael becauſe of their idolatry.

THe word of the Lord, that came unto Micah the [a] Moraſhit in the daies of Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah Kings of Judah, which he ſaw concerning Samaria, and Jeruſalem.

2 Heare, [b] all yee people: hearken thou, O earth, and all that therein is, and let the Lord God be witneſſe againſt you, even the Lord from his holy Temple.

3 For behold, the Lord commeth out of his place, and will come [c] downe, and tread upon the high places of the earth.

4 And the mountaines ſhall melt under him (ſo ſhall the valleyes cleave) as waxe before the fire, and as the waters that are powred downward.

5 For the wickedneſſe of Jaakob is all this, and for the ſins of the houſe of Iſrael: what is the wickedneſſe of Jaakob? Is not [d] Samaria? and which are the [e] high places of Judah? Is not Jeruſalem?

6 Therefore I will make Samaria as an heape of the field, and for the planting of a vineyard, and I will cauſe the ſtones thereof to tumble downe into the valley, and I will diſcover the foundations thereof.

7 And all the graven images thereof ſhall bee broken, and all the [f] gifts thereof ſhall be burnt with the fire, and all the idols thereof will I deſtroy: for ſhe gathered it of the hire of an harlot, and they ſhall returne [g] to the wages of an harlot.

8 Therefore I will mourne and howle: I will goe without clothes, and naked: I will make lamentation like the dragons, and mourning as the oſtriches.

9 For her plagues are grievous: for it is come into Judah: the enemy is come unto the gate of my people, unto Jeruſalem.

10 Declare ye it not at [h] Gath, neither weep ye: for the houſe of [i] Aphrah rowle thy ſelfe in the duſt.

11 Thou that dwelleſt at [k] Shaphir, go together naked with ſhame: ſhe that dwelleth at Zaanan, ſhall not come forth in the mourning of Beth-ezel: the enemy ſhall [l] receive of you for his ſtanding.

12 For the inhabitant of Maroth waited for good, but evill came from the Lord unto the [m] gate of Jeruſalem.

13 O thou inhabitant of Lachiſh, bind the charet to the beaſts [n] of price: ſhe [o] is the beginning of the ſinne to the daughter of Zion: for the tranſgreſſions of Iſrael were found in thee.

14 Therefore ſhalt thou give preſents to Moreſheth [p] Gath: the houſes of Achzib ſhall be as a lie to the Kings of Iſrael.

15 Yet will I bring an [q] heire unto thee, O inhabitant of Mareſhah, hee ſhall come unto Adullam, [r] the glory of Iſrael.

16 Make thee bald: and ſhave thee for thy delicate children: enlarge thy baldneſſe as the Eagle, for they are gone into captivity from thee.

CHAP. II.

1 Threatnings againſt the wanton and dainty people. 6 They would teach the Prophets to preach.

WOe unto them that imagine iniquitie, and worke wickedneſſe upon their beds: [a] when the morning is light they practiſe it becauſe their hand † hath power.

---

[a] Borne in Mareſhah, a city of Iudah.

[b] Becauſe of the malice and obſtinacy of the people whom he had ſo oft exhorted to repentance, hee ſummoneth them to Gods judgements, taking all creatures and God himſelfe to witnes, that the preaching of his Prophets, which they have abuſed, ſhall be revenged.

[c] Meaning hereby, that God will come to judgement againſt the ſtrong cities and holds.

[d] Samaria, which ſhould have beene an example to all Iſrael of true religion and juſtice, was the puddle and ſtewes of all idolatry and corruption, and boaſted themſelves of their father Jaakob.

[e] That is, the idolatry & infection.

[f] Which they gathered by evill practiſes, and thought that their idols had enriched them therewith, for their ſervice done unto them.

[g] The gaine that came by their idols ſhall be conſumed as a thing of nought; for as the wages or riches of harlots are wickedly gotten, ſo are they vilely and ſpeedily ſpent.

[q] He propheſieth againſt hi own city, and becauſe it ſignified an heritage, he ſaith that God would ſend an heire t poſſeſſe it.

[r] For ſo they thought themſelves for the ſtrength of their citie.

2 And they covet fields, and take them by violence, and houſes, and take them away: ſo they oppreſſe a man and his houſe, even man and his heritage.

3 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, againſt this family have I deviſed a plague, whereout ye ſhall not pluck your necks, and ye ſhall not go ſo proudly, for this time is evill.

4 In that day ſhal they take up a parable againſt you, and lament with a dolefull lamentation, and ſay, [b] We be utterly waſted: he hath changed the portion of my people: how hath he taken it away to reſtore it unto me? he hath divided our fields.

5 Therefore thou ſhalt have none that ſhall caſt a cord by lot in [c] the congregation of the Lord.

6 [d] They that propheſied, propheſie ye not. [e] They ſhal not propheſie to them, neither ſhall they take ſhame.

7 O thou that art named of the houſe of Jaakob, is the Spirit of the Lord ſhortned? [f] are theſe his works? are not my words good unto him [g] that walketh uprightly?

8 But he that was [h] yeſterday my people, is riſen up on the other ſide, as againſt an enemy: they ſpoil the [i] beautifull garment from them that paſſe by peaceably, as though they returned from the war.

9 The women of my people have ye caſt out from their pleaſant houſes, & from their children have ye taken away [k] my glory continually.

10 Ariſe, and depart, for this is not your [l] reſt: becauſe it is polluted, it ſhall deſtroy you, even with a ſore deſtruction.

11 If a man [m] walk in the ſpirit, & would lie falſly, ſaying, [n] I will propheſie unto thee of wine, and of ſtrong drink, he ſhall even be the Prophet of this people.

12 I will ſurely [o] gather thee wholly, O Jaakob: I will ſurely gather the remnant of Iſrael: I will put them together as the ſheep of Bozrah, even as the flock in the mids of their fold: the cities ſhall be full of bruit of the men.

13 The [p] breaker up ſhall come up before them: they ſhall breake out, and paſſe by the gate, and go out by it, and their king ſhall go before them, and the Lord ſhall be [q] upon their heads.

[a] Aſſoon as they riſe, they execute their wicked devices of the night, and according to their power hurt others.

† Ebr. is in power.

[b] Thus the Iewes lament, & ſay, that there is no hope of reſtitution, ſeeing their poſſeſſions are divided among the enemies.

[c] Ye ſhall have no more lands to divide, as you had in times paſt, and as you uſed to meaſure them in the Iubile.

[d] Thus the people warn the Prophets that they ſpeake to them no more: for they cannot abide their threatnings.

[e] God ſaith that they ſhall not propheſie, nor receive no more of their rebukes or taunts.

[f] Are theſe your works according to his law?

[g] Do not the godly finde my words comfortable?

[h] That is, aforetime.

[i] The poore can have no commodity by them, but they ſpoile them as though they were enemies.

[k] That is, their ſubſtance, and living, which is Gods bleſſing, and as it were, part of his glory.

[l] Ieruſalem ſhall not be your ſafegard, but the cauſe of your deſtruction.

[m] That is, ſhew himſelf to be a prophet.

[n] He ſheweth what prophets they delight in, that is, in flatterers, which tell them pleaſant tales, and ſpeake of their commodities

[o] To deſtroy thee.

[p] The enemy ſhall breake their gates and walls, and lead them into Caldea.

[q] To drive them forward, and to help their enemies.

CHAP. III.

1 Againſt the tyranny of princes, and falſe Peophets.

AND I ſaid, Heare, I pray you, O heads of Jaakob, and ye princes of the houſe of Iſrael: ſhould not ye know [a] judgment?

2 But they hate the good, and love the evil: they pluck off their skins from them, and their fleſh from their bones;

3 And they eat alſo the [b] fleſh of my people, and flay off their skin from them, and they breake their bones, and chop them in pieces, as for the pot, and as fleſh within the caldron.

4 Then [c] ſhall they crie unto the Lord, but he will not heare them: he wil even hide his face from them at that time, becauſe they have done wickedly in their works.

5 Thus ſaith the Lord, Concerning the prophets that deceive my people, and [d] bite them with their teeth, and crie peace, but if a man put not into their mouthes, they prepare war againſt him,

6 Therefore [e] night ſhalbe unto you for a viſion, and darkneſſe ſhall be unto you for a divination, and the Sun ſhall go down over the prophets, and the day ſhall be dark over them.

7 Then ſhall the Seers be aſhamed, and the Soothſayers confounded: yea, they ſhall all [f] cover their lips, for they have none anſwer of God.

8 Yet notwithſtanding I am ful [g] of power by the Spirit of the Lord, and of judgment, and of ſtrength to declare unto Jaakob his tranſgreſſion, and to Iſrael his ſin.

9 Heare this, I pray you, ye heads of the houſe of Jaakob, and princes of the houſe of Iſrael: they abhorre judgement, and pervert all equity.

10 They build up Zion with [h] blood, and Jeruſalem with iniquity.

11 The heads thereof judge for rewards, and the prieſts thereof teach for hire, and the prophets thereof prophecie for money: yet will they [i] leane upon the Lord, and ſay, Is not the Lord among us? no evill can come upon us.

12 Therefore ſhall Zion for your ſake be [k] plowed as a field, and Jeruſalem ſhall be an heape, and the mountain of the houſe, as the high places of the forreſt.

[a] That thing which is juſt and lawfull, both to govern my people aright, and alſo to diſcharge your own conſcience?

[b] The prophet condemneth the wicked governours, not onely of covetouſnes, theft and murther, but compareth them to wolves, lyons, and moſt cruell beaſts.

[c] That is, when I ſhall viſit their wickedneſſe: for though I heare the godly before they cry, Iſa. 65. 24. yet I will not heare theſe though they cry, Iſa. 1. 15. and Ezek. 8. 18. Iam. 2. 12. 1 Pet. 3. 11, 12

[d] They devoure all their ſubſtance, and then flatter them, promiſing that al ſhal go wel: but if one reſtrain from their bellies, then they invent all wayes to miſchief.

[e] As you have loved to walk in darneſſe, and to propheſie lies, ſo God ſhall reward you with groſſe blindneſſe and ignorance, ſo that when all others ſhal ſee the bright beames of Gods graces, ye ſhall as blinde men grope as in the night.

[f] When God ſhall diſcover them to the world, they ſhal be afraid to ſpeak: for all ſhall know that they were but falſe prophets, and did belie the word of God.

[g] The Prophet being aſſured of his vocation by the Spirit of God, ſetteth himſelf alone againſt all the wicked, ſhewing how God, both gave him gifts, abilitie and knowledge, to diſcern between good and evil, and alſo conſtancy to reprove the ſinnes of the people, and not to flatter them

[h] They build them houſes by bribery, which he calleth blood and iniquity.

[i] They will ſay, that they are the people of God, and abuſe his name as a pretence to cloake their hypocriſie.

[k] Reade Ier. 26. 18.

CHAP. IV.

1 Of the kingdome of Chriſt, and felicity of his Church.

BUt in the [a] laſt dayes it ſhal come to paſſe, that the mountain of the houſe of the Lord ſhall be prepared in the top of the mountaines, and it ſhal be exalted above the [b] hills, and people ſhall flow unto it.

2 Yea, many nations ſhall come and ſay, Come, and let us go up to the mountain of the Lord, and to the houſe of the God of Jaakob, and he will [c] teach us his wayes, and we will walk in his pathes: for the law ſhall go forth of Zion, and the word of the Lord from Jeruſalem,

3 And he ſhall judge among many people, and [d] rebuke mighty nations afar off, and they ſhall breake their ſwords into mattocks,

[a] When Chriſt ſhal come, and the temple ſhall be deſtroyed.

[b] Reade Iſa. 2. 2.

[c] He ſheweth that there is no true Church but where as the people are taught by Gods pure word.

[d] By his corrections & threatnings he will bring the people into ſubjection, which are in the utmoſt corners of the world.

tocks, and their ſpeares into [e]ſithes: nation ſhall not lift up a ſword againſt nation, neither ſhall they [f] learn to fight any more.

4 But they ſhall ſit every man under his vine, and under his fig-tree, and none ſhall make them afraid: for the mouth of the Lord of hoſts hath ſpoken it.

5 For all people will walk [g] every one in the Name of his God, and we will walk in the name of the Lord our God, for ever and ever.

6 At the ſame day, ſaith the Lord, will I gather her that halteth, and I will gather her that is caſt out, and her that I have afflicted.

7 And I will make her that halted,[h] a remnant, and her that was caſt far off, a mighty nation: and the Lord ſhall reigne over them in mount Zion, from henceforth even for ever.

8 And thou, O [i] tower of the flock, the ſtrong hold of the daughter Zion, unto thee ſhall it come, even [k] the firſt dominion, and kingdome ſhall come to the daughter Jeruſalem.

9 Now why doſt thou cry out with lamentation? is [l] there no king in thee? is thy counſeller periſhed? for ſorrow hath taken thee as a woman in travail.

10 Sorrow and mourn, O daughter Zion, like a woman in travail: for now ſhalt thou go forth of the city, and dwell in the field, and ſhalt go into Babel, but there ſhalt thou be delivered: there the Lord ſhall redeem thee from the hand of thine enemies.

11 Now alſo many nations are gathered againſt thee, ſaying, Zion ſhall be condemned, and our eye ſhal looke upon Zion.

12 But they [m] know not the thoughts of the Lord: they underſtand not his counſell, for he ſhall gather them as the ſheaves in the barn.

13 Ariſe, and threſh,[n] O daughter Zion, for I will make thine horn iron, and I will make thine hoofs braſſe, and thou ſhalt breake in pieces many people: and I will conſecrate their riches unto the Lord, and their ſubſtance unto the ruler of the whole world.

Chap. V.

1 The deſtruction of Ieruſalem. 2 The excellency of Beth-lehem.

NOw aſſemble thy gariſons, O daughter of [a] gariſons: he hath laid ſiege againſt us: they ſhall ſmite the judge of Iſrael with a rod upon the cheek.

2 And thou Beth-lehem Ephrathah art [b] little to be among the thouſands of Judah, yet out of thee ſhal he come forth unto me, that ſhall be the ruler in Iſrael, whoſe [c] goings forth have been from the beginning, and from everlaſting.

3 Therefore will he give them up, untill the time that [d] ſhe which ſhall beare, ſhall travail, then the remnant of their brethren ſhall return unto the children of Iſrael.

4 And he ſhall [e] ſtand, and feed in the ſtrength of the Lord, and in the Majeſtie of the Name of the Lord his God, and they ſhall dwell ſtill: for now ſhall he be magnified unto the ends of the world.

5 And he [f] ſhall be our peace when Aſſhur ſhall come into our land: when he ſhall tread in our palaces, then ſhall we raiſe againſt him ſeven ſhepheards, and eight principall men.

6 And they ſhall deſtroy [g] Aſſhur with the ſword, and the land of Nimrod with their ſwords: thus ſhall he [h] deliver us from Aſſhur, when he cometh into our land, & when he ſhal tread without our borders.

7 And the [i] remnant of Jaakob ſhall be among many people, as a deaw from the Lord, and as the ſhowres upon the graſſe, that wayteth not for man, nor hopeth in the ſons of Adam.

8 And the remnant of Jaakob ſhal be among the Gentiles in the mids of many people, as the Lyon among the beaſts of the forreſt, and as the lyons whelp among the flocks of ſheep, who when he goeth thorow, treadeth down and teareth in pieces, and none can deliver.

9 Thine hand ſhall be lift up upon thine adverſaries, and all thine enemies ſhall be cut off.

10 And it ſhall come to paſſe in that day, ſaith the Lord, that I will cut off thine [k] horſes out of the mids of thee, and I wil deſtroy thy charets.

11 And I will cut off the cities of thy land, and overthrow all thy ſtrong holds.

12 And I will cut off thine inchanters out of thine hand: and thou ſhalt have no more ſooth-ſayers.

13 Thine idols alſo will I cut off, and thine images out of the mids of thee: and thou ſhalt no more worſhip the work of thine hands.

14 And I will pluck up thy groves out of the mids of thee: ſo will I deſtroy thine enemies.

15 And I will execute a vengeance in my wrath and indignation upon the heathen, [l] which they have not heard.

Chap. VI.

An exhortation to the dumbe creatures to heare the judgement againſt Iſrael being unkinde. 6 What manner of Sacrifices do pleaſe God.

HArken ye now what the Lord ſaith, Ariſe thou, and contend before the [a] mountaines, and let the hills heare thy voice.

---

[e] They ſhall abſtain from all evill doing, and exerciſe themſelves in godlineſſe and wel doing to others.

[f] Reade Iſa. 2.4.

[g] He ſheweth that the people of God ought to remain conſtant in their religion, albeit all the world ſhould give themſelves to their ſuperſtition and idolatry.

[h] I will cauſe that Iſrael, which is now as one lame and halting, and ſo almoſt deſtroyed, ſhall live again and grow into a great people.

[i] Meaning, Ieruſalem, where the Lords flock was gathered.

[k] The flouriſhing ſtate of the kingdome, as it was under David and Salomon, which thing was accompliſhed to the Church, by the coming of Chriſt.

[l] In the meane ſeaſon he ſheweth ẏ they ſhould endure great troubles and temptations when they ſaw themſelves neither to have king nor counſell.

[m] He ſheweth that the faithfull ought not to meaſure Gods judgements by the brags and threatnings of the wicked, but thereby are admoniſhed to lift up their hearts to God to cal for deliverance.

[n] God giveth his Church this victory ſo oft as he overcometh their enemies: but the accompliſhment hereof ſhall be at the laſt coming of Chriſt.

[a] He forewarneth them of the dangers that ſhal come before they enjoy theſe comforts ſhewing that foraſmuch as Ieruſalem was accuſtomed with her gariſons to trouble others, the Lord would now cauſe other gariſons to vex her, and that her rulers ſhould be ſmitten on the face moſt contemptuouſly.

[b] For ſo the Iewes divided their countrey, that for every thouſand there was a chief captain, and becauſe Beth-lehem was not able to make a thouſand, he calleth it little, but yet God will raiſe up his captain and governour therein: and thus it is not the leaſt by reaſon of this benefit, as Matth. 2. 6.

[c] He ſheweth that the coming of Chriſt and all his wayes were appointed of God from all eternitie.

[d] He compareth the Jewes to women with childe, who for a time ſhould have great ſorrowes, but at length they ſhould have a comfortable deliverance, John 16. 21.

[e] That is, Chriſts kingdome ſhall be ſtable and everlaſting, and his people as well the Gentiles as the Jewes ſhall dwell in ſafety.

[f] This Meſſiah ſhall be a ſufficient ſafegard for us, and though the enemy invade us for a time, yet ſhall God ſtir up many which ſhall be able to deliver us.

[g] Theſe whõ God ſhall raiſe up for the deliverance of his Church, ſhall deſtroy all the enemies therof, which are meant here by the Aſſyrians and Babylonians which were the chief at that time.

[h] By theſe governours wil God deliver us, when the enemie cometh into our land.

[i] This remnant, or Church which God ſhall deliver, ſhall onely depend on Gods power and defence, as doth the graſſe of the field, and not on the hope of man.

[k] I will deſtroy all things wherein thou puttreſt thy confidence, as thy vain confidence and idolatry, and ſo will help thee.

[l] It ſhall be ſo terrible that the like hath not been heard off.

[a] He taketh the hie mountaines and hard rocks to witnes againſt the obſtinacy of his people.

2 Heare ye, O mountaines, the Lords quarrell, and ye mighty foundations of the earth: for the Lord hath a quarrel againſt his people, and he will pleade with Iſrael.

3 O my people, what have I done unto thee? or wherein have I grieved thee? teſtifie againſt me.

4 Surely I [b] brought thee up out of the land of Egypt, and redeemed thee out of the houſe of ſervants, and I have ſent before thee Moſes, Aaron, and Miriam.

5 O my people, remember now what Balak king of Moab had deviſed, and what Baalam, the ſon of Beor anſwered him, from [c] Shittim unto Gilgal, that ye may know the [d] righteouſneſſe of the Lord.

6 Wherewith [e] ſhall I come before the Lord, and bow my ſelf before the high God? Shall I come before him with burnt-offerings, and with calves of a yeare old?

7 Will the Lord be pleaſed with thouſands of rams, or with ten thouſand rivers of oyle? ſhal I give my [f] firſt-born for my tranſgreſſion, even the fruit of my body, for the ſin of my ſoul?

8 He hath ſhewed thee, O man, what is good, and what the Lord requireth of thee: [g] ſurely to do juſtly, & to love mercy, and to humble thy ſelf to walk with thy God.

9 The Lords voice crieth unto the [h] city, and the man of wiſdome ſhall ſee thy name: Heare the rod, and who hath appointed it.

10 Are yet the treaſures of wickedneſſe in the houſe of the wicked, and the ſcant meaſure that is abominable?

11 Shall I juſtifie the wicked balances, and the bag of deceitfull weights?

12 For the rich men [i] thereof are full of cruelty, and the inhabitants thereof have ſpoken lies, and their tongue is deceitfull in their mouth.

13 Therefore alſo will I make thee ſick in ſmiting thee, and in making thee deſolate, becauſe of thy ſinnes.

14 Thou ſhalt eat and not be ſatiſfied, and [k] thy caſting down ſhall be in the mids of thee, and thou ſhalt [l] take hold, but ſhalt not deliver: and that which thou delivereſt, will I give up to the ſword.

15 Thou ſhalt ſow, but not reape: thou ſhalt tread the olives, but thou ſhalt not anoint thee with oyle, and make ſweet wine, but ſhalt not drink wine.

16 For the [m] ſtatutes of Omri are kept, and all the manner of the houſe of Ahab, and ye walk in their counſels, that I ſhould make thee waſt, and the inhabitants thereof an hiſſing: therefore ye ſhall beare the reproch of my people.

CHAP. VII.

1 A complaint for the ſmall number of the righteous. 4 The wickedneſſe of thoſe times. 14 The proſperity of the Church.

WO is me, for I am as [a] the ſummer gatherings, and as the grapes of the vintage: there is no cluſter to eate: my ſoul deſired the firſt ripe fruits.

2 The good man is periſhed out of the earth, and there is none righteous among men: [b] they all lie in wait for blood: every man hunteth his brother with a net.

3 To make good for the evill of their hands, the Prince asked, and the Judge judgeth for a reward: therefore the [c] great man he ſpeaketh out the corruption of his ſoul: ſo [d] they wrapt it up.

4 The beſt of them is as [e] a bryar, and the moſt righteous of them is ſharper then a thorne hedge: the day of [f] thy watchmen and thy viſitation cometh: then ſhall be their confuſion.

5 Truſt ye not in a friend, neither put ye confidence in a counſeller: keep the doores of thy mouth from her that lieth in thy boſome:

6 For the ſon revileth the father: the daughter riſeth up againſt her mother: the daughter in law againſt her mother in law, and a mans enemies are the men of his own houſe.

7 Therefore I [g] will look unto the Lord: I will wait for God my Saviour: my God will heare me.

8 Rejoyce not againſt me, [h] O mine enemy: though I fall, I ſhall ariſe: when I ſhall ſit in darkneſſe, the Lord ſhall be a light unto me.

9 I wil beare the wrath of the Lord, becauſe I have ſinned againſt him, untill he plead my cauſe, and execute judgement for me: then will he bring me forth to the light, and I ſhall ſee his righteouſneſſe.

10 Then ſhe that is mine enemy, ſhal look upon it, & ſhame ſhall cover her, which ſaid unto me, Where is the Lord thy God? Mine eyes ſhall behold her: now ſhall ſhe be troden down as the myre of the ſtreets.

11 This is [i] the day, that thy walles ſhall be built: this day ſhall drive far away [k] the decree.

12 In this day alſo they ſhall come unto thee from [l] Aſſhur, and from the ſtrong cities, and from the ſtrong holds even unto the river, & from ſea to ſea, and from mountain to mountain.

13 Notwithſtanding, the land ſhall be deſolate becauſe of them that dwell therein, and for the fruits of [m] their inventions.

14 [n] Feed thy people with thy rod, the flock of thine heritage (which dwell ſolitary in the wood) as in the mids of Carmel: let them feed in Baſhan and Gilead, as in old time.

15 [o] According to the dayes of thy comming out of the land of Egypt, will I ſhew unto him marveilous things.

---

[b] I have not hurt thee, but beſtowed infinite benefits upon thee.

[c] That is, remember my benefits from the beginning, how I delivered you from Balaams curſe, and alſo ſpared you from Shittim, which was in the plain of Moab, till I brought you into the land promiſed.

[d] That is, the truth of his promiſe, and his manifold benefits toward you.

[e] Thus the people by hypocriſie ask how to pleaſe God, and are content to offer ſacrifices, but will not change their lives.

[f] There is nothing ſo deare to man but the hypocrites will offer it unto God, if they think thereby to avoid his anger: but they will never be brought to mortifie their own affections, & to give themſelves willingly to ſerve God as he commandeth.

[g] The Prophet in few words calleth them to the obſervation of the ſecond table, to know if they will obey God aright or no, ſaying, that God hath preſcribed them to do this.

[h] Meaning, that when God ſpeaketh to any citie or nation, the godly will acknowledge his majeſtie, and conſider not the mortall man that bringeth the threatning, but God that ſendeth it.

[i] That is, of Ieruſalem.

[k] Thou ſhalt be conſumed with inward grief and evills.

[l] Meaning, that the city ſhould go about to ſave her men, as they that lay hold on that which they would preſerve.

[m] You have received all the corruption and idolatry, wherewith the ten tribes were infected under Omri, and Ahab his ſon: and to excuſe your doings, you alledg the kings authority by his ſtatutes, and alſo wiſdome and policy in ſo doing, but you ſhal not eſcape puniſhment, but as I have ſhewed you great favour, and taken you for my people, ſo ſhall your plagues be accordingly, Luk. 12.47.

[a] The Prophet taketh upon him the perſon of the earth which complaineth that all her fruits are gone, ſo that none is left: that is, that there is no godly man remaining: for all are givē to cruelty and deceit, ſo that none ſpareth his own brother.

[b] He ſheweth that the Prince, the judge, and the rich man are linked together, all to do evill, and to cloke the doings one of another.

[c] That is, the rich man that is able to give money, abſtaineth from no wickedneſſe nor injurie.

[d] These men agree amongthemſelves, and conſpire with one conſent to do evill.

[e] They that are of moſt eſtimation, & are counted moſt honeſt among thē, are but thorns & briers to prick.

[f] Meaning, of the Prophets and governours.

[g] The prophet ſheweth that the onely remedy for the godly in deſperate evils, is to flee unto God for ſuccour.

[h] This is ſpoken in the perſon of the Church, which calleth the malignant Church her enemy

[i] To wit, when God ſhall ſhew himſelf a deliverer of his Church, & a deſtroyer of his enemies.

[k] Meaning, the cruel empire of the Babylonians.

[l] When the Church ſhall be reſtored, they that were enemies afore ſhall come out of all the corners of the world unto her, ſo that neither holds, rivers, ſeas, nor mountaines ſhall be able to let them.

[m] Afore this grace appeare, he ſheweth how grievouſly the hypocrites themſelves ſhal be puniſhed, ſeeing that the earth it ſelf, which cannot ſin, ſhall be made waſte becauſe of their wickedneſſe.

[n] The Prophet prayeth to God to be mercifull unto his Church, when they ſhould be ſcattered abroad as in ſolitary places in Babylon, and to be beneficiall unto them as in time paſt.

[o] God promiſeth to be favourable to his people, as he had been aforetime.

16 The nations ſhall ſee, and be confounded for all their power: they ſhal [p] lay their hand upon their mouth: [q] their eares ſhall be deaf.

17 They ſhal [r] lick the duſt like a ſerpent: they ſhal move out of their holes like worms: they ſhall be afraid of the Lord our God, and ſhall feare becauſe of thee.

18 Who is a God like unto thee, that taketh away iniquity, and [ſ] paſſeth by the tranſgreſſion of the remnant of his heritage? He retaineth not his wrath for ever, becauſe mercy pleaſeth him.

19 He will turn again, and have compaſſion upon us: he will ſubdue our iniquities, and caſt all [t] their ſinnes into the bottome of the ſea.

20 Thou wilt perform thy [v] truth to Jaakob, and mercy to Abraham, as thou haſt ſworn unto our fathers in old time.

[p] They ſhall be as dumbe men, and dare brag no more.

[q] They ſhalbe aſtonied and afraid to heare men ſpeak leſt they ſhould heare of their deſtruction.

[r] They ſhall fal flat on the ground for feare.

[ſ] As though he would not ſee it, but winke at it.

[t] Meaning, of his elect.

[v] The Church is aſſured that God will declare in effect the truth of his mercifull promiſe which he had made of old to Abraham, and to all that ſhould apprehend the promiſe by faith.

NAHVM.

THE ARGUMENT.

As they of Nineveh ſhewed themſelves prompt and ready to receive the word of God at Jonahs preaching, and ſo turned to the Lord by repentance: ſo after a certain time, rather giving themſelves to worldly meanes to increaſe their dominion, then ſeeking to continue in the feare of God, and trade wherein they had begun, they caſt off the care of Religion, and ſo returned to their vomit, and provoked Gods juſt judgement againſt them, in afflicting his people. Therefore their city Nineveh was deſtroyed, and Meroch-baladan king of Babel (or as ſome think Nebuchad-nezzar) enjoyed the Empire of the Aſſyrians. But becauſe God hath continuall care of his Church, he ſtirreth up his Prophet to comfort the godly, ſhewing that the deſtruction of their enemies ſhould be for their conſolation. And as it ſeemeth, he propheſied about the time of Hezekiah, and not in the time of Manaſſeh his ſonne, as the Jewes write.

CHAP. I.

Of the deſtruction of the Aſſyrians, and of the deliverance of Iſrael.

The [a] burden of Nineveh. [b] The book of the viſion of Nahum the [c] Elkeſhite.

2 God is [d] jelous, and the Lord revengeth: the Lord revengeth: even the Lord [e] of anger, the Lord will take vengeance on his adverſaries, and he reſerveth wrath for his enemies

3 The [f] Lord is ſlow to anger, but he is great in power, and will not ſurely cleare the wicked: the Lord hath his way in the whirlwinde, & in the ſtorm, and the clouds are the duſt of his feet.

4 He rebuketh the ſea, and drieth it, and he drieth up all the rivers: Baſhan is waſted and Carmel, and the floure of Lebanon is waſted.

5 The mountaines tremble for him, and the hils melt, and the earth is burnt at his ſight, yea, the world, and all that dwell therein.

6 [g] Who can ſtand before his wrath? or who can abide in the fiercenes of his wrath? his wrath is powred out like fire, and the rocks are broken by him.

7 The Lord is good [h] and as a ſtrong hold in the day of trouble, and he knoweth them that truſt in him.

8 But paſſing over as with a flood, he will utterly deſtroy the [i] place thereof, and darkneſſe ſhall purſue his enemies.

9 What do ye [k] imagine againſt the Lord? he will make an utter deſtruction: affliction ſhall not riſe up the ſecond time.

10 For he ſhall come as unto [l] thorns folden one in another, and as unto drunkards in their drunkenneſſe: they ſhall be devoured as ſtubble fully dried.

11 There [m] cometh one out of thee that imagineth evil againſt the Lord, even a wicked counſeller.

12 Thus ſaith the Lord, Though they be [n] quiet, and alſo many, yet thus ſhal they be cut off when he ſhall paſſe by: though I have afflicted thee, I wil afflict thee no more

13 For now I will breake his yoke from thee, and will burſt thy bonds in ſunder.

14 And the Lord hath given a commandement concerning thee, that no more of thy name be [o] ſown: out of the houſe of thy gods will I cut off the graven and the molten image: I will make it thy grave for thee, for thou art vile.

15 [*] Behold, upon the mountaines the feet of him that declareth and publiſheth [p] peace: O Judah, keep thy ſolemn feaſts, perform thy vows: for the wicked ſhall no more paſſe thorow thee: he is utterly cut off.

[a] Reade Iſa. 13. 1.

[b] The viſion or revelation, which God commanded Nahum to write concerning the Ninevites.

[c] That is, born in a poore village in the tribe of Simeon.

[d] Meaning, of his glory.

[e] With his he is but angry for a time, but his anger never aſſwageth toward the reprobate, though for a time he defer it.

[f] Thus the wicked would make Gods mercy an occaſion to ſin, but the Prophet willeth them to conſider his force and juſtice.

[g] If al creatures be at Gods commandement, and none is able to reſiſt his wrath, ſhall man flatter himſelf, and thinke by any meanes to eſcape when he provoketh his God to anger?

[h] Leſt the faithful ſhould be diſcouraged by hearing the power of God, he ſheweth them that his mercies appertain unto them, and that he hath care over them.

[i] Signifying, that God will ſuddenly deſtroy Nineveh, and the Aſſyrians, in ſuch ſort, as they ſhall ly in perpetuall darkneſſe, and never recover their ſtrength again.

[k] He ſheweth that the enterpriſes of the Aſſyrians againſt Iudah and the Church were againſt God, and therefore he would ſo deſtroy them at once, ẏ he ſhould not need to return the ſecond time.

[l] Though the Aſſyrians think themſelves like thorns that prick on all ſides, yet the Lord wil ſet fire on thẽ, and as drunken men are not able to ſtand againſt any force, ſo they ſhall be nothing able to reſiſt him.

[m] Which may be underſtood either of Saneherib, or of the whole body of the people of Nineveh.

[n] Though they think themſelves in moſt ſafty, and of greateſt ſtrẽgth, yet when God ſhall paſſe by, he will deſtroy them: notwithſtanding, he comforteth his Church, and promiſeth to make an end of puniſhing them by the Aſſyrians.

[o] Meaning Saneherib, who ſhould have no more children, but be ſlain in the houſe of his gods, 2 Kings 19.36,37.

[*] Iſa. 52. 7. Rom. 10. 15.

[p] Which peace the Iewes ſhould enjoy by the death of Saneherib.

CHAP. II.

He deſcribeth the victories of the Caldeans againſt the Aſſyrians.

CHAP.

THe [a] deſtroyer is come before thy face: keep the munition: look to the way: make thy loines ſtrong: increaſe thy ſtrength mightily.

2 For the Lord hath [b] turned away the glory of Jaakob, as the glory of Iſrael: for the emptiers have emptied them out, and [c] marred their vine branches.

3 The ſhield of his mighty men is made red: [d] the valiant men are in ſcarlet: the charets ſhalbe as in the fire, and flames in the day of his preparation, and [e] the fir-trees ſhall tremble.

4 The charets ſhall rage in the ſtreets: they ſhall run to and fro in the high wayes: they ſhall ſeem like lamps: they ſhall ſhoot like the lightning.

5 [f] He ſhall remember his ſtrong men: they ſhall ſtumble as they go: they ſhall make haſte to the walls thereof, and the defence ſhalbe prepared.

6 The gates of the rivers ſhall be opened, and the palace ſhall melt.

7 And Huzzab the queen ſhall be led away captive, and her maids ſhall lead her as with the voyce of doves, ſmiting upon their breaſts.

8 But Nineveh is [g] of old like a poole of water: yet they ſhal flee away. Stand, ſtand, ſhall they cry: but none ſhall look back.

9 [h] Spoile ye the ſilver, ſpoile the gold: for there is none end of the ſtore, and glory of all the pleaſant veſſels.

10 [i] She is empty and void and waſt, and the heart melteth, and the knees ſmite together, and ſorrow is in all loynes, and the faces [k] of them all gather blackneſſe.

11 Where is the [l] dwelling of the lions, and the paſture of the lions whelps? where the lion and the lioneſſe walked, and the lions whelp, and none made them afraid?

12 The lion did teare in pieces enough for his whelps, and woried for his lioneſſe, and filled his holes with prey, and his dens with ſpoile.

13 Behold, I come unto thee, ſaith the Lord of hoſts, and I will burn her charets in the [m] ſmoke, and the ſword ſhall devoure thy young lions, and I will cut off thy ſpoil from the earth, and the voice of thy [n] meſſengers ſhal no more be heard.

CHAP. III.

1 Of the fall of Nineveh. 8 No power can eſcape the hand of God.

O Bloody city, it is all full of lies, and robbery, [a] the prey departeth not:

2 The noiſe of a whip, [b] and the noiſe of the moving of the wheeles, and the beating of the horſes, and the leaping of the charets.

3 The horſman lifteth up both the bright ſword, and the glittering ſpeare, and a multitude is ſlain, and the dead bodies are many: there is none end of their corpſes: they ſtumble upon their corpſes,

4 Becauſe of the multitude of the fornications of the [c] harlot that is beautifull, and is a miſtreſſe of witchcraft, and ſelleth the people through her whoredome, and the nations thorow her witchcrafts.

5 Behold, I come upon thee, ſaith the Lord of hoſts, and will diſcover thy skirts upon thy face, and will ſhew the nations thy filthineſſe, and the kingdomes thy ſhame.

6 And I will caſt filth upon thee, and make thee vile, and will ſet thee as a gazing ſtock.

7 And it ſhall come to paſſe, that al they that look upon thee, ſhall flee from thee, and ſay, Niniveh is deſtroyed, who wil have pitie upon her? where ſhall I ſeek comforters for thee?

8 Art thou better then [d] No, which was ful of people? that lay in the rivers, and had the waters round about it? whoſe ditch was the ſea, and her wall was from the ſea?

9 Ethiopia and Egypt were her ſtrength, and there was none end: Put and Lubim were ‡ her helpers.

10 Yet was ſhe caried away, and went into captivity: her yong children alſo were daſhed in pieces at the head of al the ſtreets: and they caſt lots for her noble men, and all her mighty men were bound in chaines.

11 Alſo thou ſhalt be drunken: thou ſhalt hide thy ſelf, and ſhalt ſeek help, becauſe of the enemy.

12 All thy ſtrong cities ſhall be like figtrees with the firſt ripe figs: for if they be ſhaken, they fall into the mouth of the eater.

13 Behold, thy people within thee are women: the gates of thy land ſhall be opened unto thine enemies, and the fire ſhall devoure thy barres.

14 Draw thee waters for the ſiege: fortifie thy ſtrong holds: go into the clay, and temper the morter: make ſtrong brick.

15 There ſhall the fire devoure thee: the ſword ſhal cut thee off: it ſhal eat thee up lik the [e] locuſts, though thou be multiplied lik the locuſts, and multiplied like the graſhopper.

16 Thou haſt multiplied thy merchants above the ſtars of heaven: the locuſt ſpoileth and flieth away.

17 Thy princes are as the graſhoppers, & thy captains as the great graſhoppers which remain in the hedges in the cold day: but when the ſun ariſeth, they flee away, and their place is not known where they are.

18 Thy [f] ſhepheards do ſleep, O king of Aſhur: thy ſtrong men lie down: thy people is ſcattered upon the mountaines, and no man gathereth them.

19 There is no healing of thy wound: thy plague is grievous: all that heare the bruit of thee, ſhall clap the hands over thee: for upon [g] whom hath not thy malice paſſed continually?

[a] That is, Nebuchad-nezzar is in areadineſſe to deſtroy the Aſſyrians: and the Prophet derideth the enterpriſes of the Aſſyrians which prepared to reſiſt him.

[b] Seeing God hath puniſhed his own people Iudah and Iſrael, he will now puniſh the enemies by whom he ſcourged them, reade Iſa. 10.12.

[c] Signifying, that the Iſraelites were utterly deſtroyed.

[d] Both to feare the enemie, and alſo that they themſelves ſhould not ſo ſoon eſpie blood one of another to diſcourage them.

[e] Meaning, their ſpeares ſhould ſhake and craſh together.

[f] Then the Aſſyrians ſhall ſeek by all meanes to gather their power, but all things ſhall fail them.

[g] The Aſſyrians will flatter themſelves, and ſay, that Nineveh is ſo ancient that it can never periſh, and is as a fiſh-poole, whoſe waters they that walk on the banks cannot touch, but they ſhall be ſcattered, and ſhall not look back, though men would call them.

[h] God commandeth the enemies to ſpoil Nineveh, and promiſeth them infinit riches and treaſures.

[i] That is, Nineveh, and the men thereof ſhall be after this ſort.

[k] Read Ioel 2.6.

[l] Meaning, Nineveh, whoſe inhabitants were cruell like the lions, and given to all oppreſſion, and ſpared no violence or tyranny to provide for their wives and children.

[m] That is, aſſoon as my wrath beginneth to kindle.

[n] Signifying the heralds, which were accuſtomed to proclaim war. Some reade, of thy gum teeth wherewith Nineveh was wont to bruiſe the bones of the poore.

[a] It never ceaſeth to ſpoile and rob.

[b] He ſheweth how the Caldeans ſhall haſte, and how couragious their horſes ſhall be in beating the ground, when they come againſt the Aſſyrians.

[c] He compareth Nineveh to an harlot, which by her beauty and ſubtilty entiſeth yong men and bringeth them to deſtruction.

[d] Meaning, Alexandria, which was in league with ſo many nations, and yet was now deſtroyed.

‡ Or, thine.

[e] Signifying, that Gods judgements ſhould ſuddenly deſtroy the Aſſyrians as theſe vermine are with rain or change of weather.

[f] Thy princes and counſellers.

[g] Meaning, that there was no people to whom the Aſſyrians had not done hurt.

HABAKKVK.

THE ARGUMENT.

THe Prophet complaineth unto God, conſidering the great felicity of the wicked, and the miſerable oppreſſion of the godly, which endure all kinde of affliction and cruelty, and yet can ſee none end. Therfore he had this revelation ſhewed him of God, that the Caldeans ſhould come and take them away captives, ſo that they could look for none end of their troubles as yet, becauſe of their ſtubbornnes and rebellion againſt the Lord. And leſt the godly ſhould deſpaire, ſeeing this horrible confuſion, he comforteth them by this, that God will puniſh the Caldeans their enemies, when their pride and cruelty ſhall be at height: wherefore he exhorteth the faithfull to patience by his own example, and ſheweth them a form of prayer, wherewith they ſhould comfort themſelves.

CHAP. I.

2 A complaint againſt the wicked that perſecute the juſt.

THe burden which Habakkuk the Prophet did ſee.

2 O Lord, how long ſhal I crie, and thou wilt not hear! even cry out unto thee [a] for violence, and thou wilt not helpe!

3 Why doſt thou ſhew me iniquitie, and cauſe me to behold ſorrow? for ſpoiling, and violence are before me: and there are that raiſe up ſtrife and contention.

4 Therefore the Law is diſſolved, and judgement doth never goe forth: for the wicked doth [b] compas about the righteous: therefore [c] wrong judgement proceedeth.

5 Behold among the heathen, and regard and wonder, and marvell: for I will worke a work in your daies: [d] ye will not beleeve it, though it be told you.

6 For loe, I raiſe up the Caldeans, that bitter and furious nation, which ſhall goe upon the breadth of the land to poſſeſſe the dwelling places that are not theirs.

7 They are terrible and fearefull: [e] their judgement and their dignitie ſhall proceed of themſelves.

8 Their horſes alſo are ſwifter then the leopards, and are more fierce then the woolves in the *evening: and their horſmen are many: and their horſmen ſhal come from far: they ſhall flee as the eagle haſting to meat.

9 They come all to ſpoile: before their faces ſhall be an [f] Eaſt winde, and they ſhall gather the captivity, [g] as the ſand.

10 And they ſhall mock the kings, and the princes ſhall be a ſcorn unto them: they ſhall deride every ſtrong hold: for they ſhall gather [h] duſt, and take it.

11 Then ſhall they [i] take a courage, and tranſgreſſe and do wickedly, imputing this their power unto their god.

12 Art not thou of old, O Lord my God, mine Holy one? we ſhall [k] not dy: O Lord, thou haſt ordained them for judgement, and O God, thou haſt eſtabliſhed them for correction.

13 Thou art of pure eyes, and canſt not ſee evill: thou canſt not behold wickednes: wherefore doſt thou look upon the tranſgreſſors, and holdeſt thy tongue when the wicked devoureth the man, that is more righteous then he?

14 And makeſt men as the [l] fiſhes of the ſea, and as the creeping things, that have no ruler over them?

15 They take up all with the angle: they catch it in their net, and gather it in their yarne, whereof they rejoyce and are glad.

16 Therefore they ſacrifice unto their [m] net, and burn incenſe unto their yarn, becauſe by them their portion is fat, and their meat plenteous.

17 Shall they therefore ſtretch out their net and not ſpare continually to ſlay [n] the nations?

CHAP. II.

2 A viſion, 5 Againſt pride, covetouſneſſe, drunkenneſſe, and idolatrie.

I Will ſtand upon my [a] watch, and ſet me upon the tower, and will look and ſee what he would ſay unto me, and what I ſhal anſwer to him that rebuketh me.

2 And the Lord anſwered me, and ſaid, Write the viſion, and make it plaine upon tables, that he may run [b] that readeth it.

3 For the viſion is yet for an appointed time, but at the [c] laſt it ſhall ſpeake, and not lie: though it tarie, waite: for it ſhall ſurely come, and ſhall not ſtay.

4 Behold, [d] he that lifteth up himſelf, his minde is not upright in him, but the juſt ſhal live by his faith:

5 Yea, indeed the proud man is as [e] he

[a] The Prophet complaineth unto God, & bewaileth that among the Jewes is left none equity or brotherly love: but in ſtead hereof reigneth cruelty, theft, contention, and ſtrife.

[b] To ſuppres him, if any ſhould ſhew himſelf zealous of Gods cauſe.

[c] Becauſe the judges which ſhould redreſſe this exceſſe, are as evill as the reſt.

[d] As in times paſt you would not beleeve Gods word, ſo ſhall ye not now beleeve ẏ ſtrange plagues which are at hand.

[e] They themſelves ſhall be your judges in this cauſe, and none ſhal have authority over them to controll them.

* Zeph. 3.3.

[f] For the Jewes moſt feared this winde, becauſe it deſtroyed their fruits.

[g] They ſhall be ſo many in number.

[h] They ſhall caſt up mounts againſt it.

[i] The prophet comforteth the faithfull, that God will alſo deſtroy the Babylonians, becauſe they ſhall abuſe this victory, and become proud and inſolent, attributing the praiſe hereof to their idols.

[k] He aſſureth the godly of Gods protection, ſhewing that the enemy can do no more then God hath appointed, & alſo that their ſins required ſuch a ſharp rod.

[l] So that the great devoureth the ſmall, and the Caldeans deſtroy all the world.

[m] Meaning, that the enemies flatter themſelves, and glory in their own force, power and wit.

[n] Meaning, that they ſhould not.

[a] I will renounce mine own judgement, and onely depend on God, to be inſtructed what I ſhal anſwer them that abuſe my preaching, and to be armed againſt all temptations.

[b] Write it in great letters, that he that runneth may reade it.

[c] Which contained the deſtruction of the enemy, and the comfort of the Church: which thing though God execute not according to mans haſty affection, yet the iſſue of both is certain at his time appointed.

[d] To truſt in himſelf, or in any worldly thing is never to be quiet: for the onely reſt is to ſtay upon God by faith, Rom.1.17. Gal.3.11. Hebr.10.38.

[e] He compareth the proud, and covetous man to a drunkard that is without reaſon and ſenſe, whom God wil puniſh and make him a laughing ſtock to al the world: and this he ſpeaketh for the comfort of the godly, and againſt the Caldeans.

that tranſgreſſeth by wine: therefore ſhall he not endure, becauſe he hath enlarged his deſire as the hell, and is as death, and cannot be ſatisfied, but gathereth unto him all nations, and heapeth unto him all people.

6 Shall not all theſe take up a parable againſt him, and a tanting proverb againſt him, and ſay, Ho, he that increaſeth that which is not his? [f] how long? and he that ladeth himſelf with thick clay?

7 Shall [g] they not riſe up ſuddenly, that ſhall bite thee? and awake, that ſhall ſtirre thee? and thou ſhalt be their prey?

8 Becauſe thou haſt ſpoiled many nations, al the remnant of the people ſhal ſpoile thee, becauſe of mens blood, and for the wrong done in the land, in the city, and unto all that dwell therein.

9 Ho, he that coveteth an evill coveteouſnes to his houſe, that he may ſet his neſt on high to eſcape from the power of evill.

10 Thou [h] haſt conſulted ſhame to thine own houſe, by deſtroying many people, and haſt ſinned againſt thine own ſoul.

11 For the [i] ſtone ſhall cry out of the wall, and the beame out of the timber ſhall anſwer it.

12 Wo unto him that buildeth a town with blood, & erecteth a city by iniquitie.

13 Behold, is it not of the [k] Lord of hoſts that the people ſhal labour in the very fire? the people ſhall even weary themſelves for very vanity.

14 For the earth ſhall [l] be filled with the knowledge of the glory of the Lord, as the waters cover the ſea.

15 Wo unto him that giveth his neghbour [m] drink: thou joyneſt thine heate, and makeſt him drunken alſo, that thou mayeſt ſee their privities.

16 Thou art filled with ſhame [n] for glory: drink thou alſo, and be made naked: the cup of the Lords right hand ſhall be turned unto thee, and ſhamefull ſpewing ſhalbe for thy glory.

17 For the [o] cruelty of Lebanon ſhall cover thee: ſo ſhall the ſpoile of the beaſts, which made them afraid becauſe of mens blood, and for the wrong done in the land, in the city, and unto all that dwel therein.

18 What profiteth the [p] image? for the maker thereof hath made it an image, and a teacher of lies, though he that made it, truſt therein, when he maketh dumbe idols.

19 Wo unto him that ſaith to the wood, Awake, and to the dumbe ſtone, Riſe up, it ſhal teach thee: [q] behold, it is laid over with gold and ſilver: and there is no breath in it.

20 But the Lord is in his holy Temple: let all the earth keep ſilence before him.

CHAP. III.

2 A prayer for the faithfull.

A Prayer of Habakkuk the Prophet for the [a] ignorances.

2 [b] O Lord, I have heard thy voyce, and was afraid: O Lord, revive thy [c] work in the mids of the people, in the mids of the yeares make it known: in wrath remember mercy.

3 God cometh from [d] Teman, and the Holy one from mount Paran, Selah. His glory covereth the heavens, and the earth is full of his praiſe,

4 And his brightneſſe was as the light: [e] he had horns coming out of his hands, and there was the hiding of his power.

5 Before him went the peſtilence, and burning coales went out before his feet.

6 He ſtood and meaſured the earth: he beheld and diſſolved the nations, and the everlaſting mountaines were broken, and the ancient hills did bow: his [f] wayes are everlaſting.

7 [g] For his iniquity I ſaw the tents of Cuſhan, and the curtaines of the land of Midian did tremble.

8 Was the Lord angry againſt the [h] rivers? or was thine anger againſt the floods? or was thy wrath againſt the ſea, that thou didſt ride [i] upon thine horſes? thy charets brought ſalvation.

9 Thy [k] bow was manifeſtly reveiled, and the [l] oathes of the tribes were a ſure word, Selah: thou [m] didſt cleave the earth with rivers.

10 The mountaines ſaw thee, and they trembled: the ſtreame of the water [n] paſſed by: the deep made a noiſe, and lift up his hand on high.

11 The [o] ſun and moon ſtood ſtill in their habitation: [p] at the light of thine arrowes they went, and at the bright ſhining of thy ſpeares.

12 Thou trodeſt down the land in anger, and didſt threſh the heathen in diſpleaſure.

13 Thou wenteſt forth for the ſalvation of thy people, even for ſalvation with thine [q] Annointed: thou haſt wounded the head of the houſe of the wicked, and diſcoveredſt the foundations unto the [r] neck, Selah.

14 Thou didſt [s] ſtrike thorow with his own ſtaves the heads of his villages: they came out as a whirlwind to ſcatter me: the rejoycing was as to devoure the poore ſecretly.

15 Thou didſt walk in the ſea with thine horſes upon the heape of great waters.

16 When I [t] heard, my belly trembled: my lips ſhooke at the voice: rottenneſſe entred into my bones, and I trembled in my ſelf, that I might reſt in [v] the day of trouble:

[f] Signifying, that all the world ſhall wiſh the deſtruction of tyrants, and that by their oppreſſion and coveteouſneſſe, they heape but upon themſelves more heavy burdens: for the more they get, the more are they troubled.

[g] That is, the Medes and Perſians, that ſhould deſtroy the Babylonians.

[h] Signifying, that the covetous man is the ruine of his own houſe, when as he thinketh to enrich it by cruelty and oppreſſion.

[i] The ſtones of the houſe ſhall cry, and ſay, that they are built of blood, and the wood ſhall anſwer, and ſay the ſame of it ſelf.

[k] Meaning, that God will not defer his vengeance long, but will come and deſtroy al their labours, as though they were conſumed with fire.

[l] In the deſtruction of the Babylonians his glory ſhall appeare through all the world.

[m] He reprocheth thus the king of Babylon, who as he was drunken with covetouſneſſe and cruelty, ſo he provoked others to the ſame, and inflamed them by his rage, and ſo in the end brought them to ſhame.

[n] Whereas thou thoughteſt to have glory of theſe thy doings, they ſhall turn to thy ſhame, for thou ſhalt drink of the ſame cup with others in thy turn.

[o] Becauſe the Babylonians were cruell, not onely againſt other nations, but alſo againſt the people of God, which is meant by Lebanon, and the beaſts therein, he ſheweth that the like cruelty ſhall be executed againſt them.

[p] He ſheweth that the Babylonians gods could nothing availe them: for they were but blocks and ſtones, reade Jer. 10. 8.

[q] If thou wilt conſider what it is, and how that it hath neither breath nor life, but is a dead thing.

[a] The prophet inſtructeth his people to pray unto God, not onely for their great ſins, but alſo for ſuch as they had committed of ignorance.

[b] Thus the people were afraid, when they heard Gods threatnings, and prayed.

[c] That is, the ſtate of thy Church which is now ready to periſh before it come to half a perfect age, which ſhould be under Chriſt.

[d] Teman and Paran were neere Sinai where the law was given: whereby is ſignified, that his deliverance was as preſent now, as it was then

[e] Whereby is meant, a power that was joyned with his brightneſſe, which was hid to the reſt of the world, but was revealed in mount Sinai to his people, Pſal. 31. 16.

[f] Signifying, that God hath wonderfull meanes, and ever had a marveilous power when he would deliver his Church.

[g] The iniquity of the king of Syria in vexing thy people, was made manifeſt by thy judgment, to the comfort of thy Church, Judg. 3. 10. and alſo of the Midianites, which deſtroyed themſelves Iudg. 7. 22.

[h] Meaning, that God was not angry with the waters, but that by this meanes he would deſtroy his enemies and deliver his Church.

[i] And ſo didſt uſe all the elements as inſtruments for the deſtruction of thine enemies.

[k] That is, thy power.

[l] For he had not onely made a covenant with Abraham, but renewed it with his poſterity.

[m] Reade Num. 20. 11.

[n] He alludeth to the red ſea, and Iordē, which gave paſſage to Gods people, and ſhewed ſignes of their obedience, as it were by lifting up of their hands.

[o] As appeareth, Ioſh. 10. 12.

[p] According to thy commandment the ſun was directed by the weapons of thy people, that fought in thy cauſe as though it durſt not go forward.

[q] Signifying, that there is no ſalvation, but by Chriſt.

[r] From the top to the toe thou haſt deſtroyed the enemies.

[s] God deſtroyed his enemies both great and ſmal with their own weapons, though they were never ſo fierce againſt his Church.

[t] He returneth to that which he ſpake in the ſecond verſe, and ſheweth how he was afraid of Gods judgements.

[v] He ſheweth that the faithfull can never have true reſt, except they feel before the weight of Gods judgements.

for when he cometh up [x] unto the people, he ſhall deſtroy them.

17 For the figtree ſhal not flouriſh, neither ſhal fruit be in the vines: the labour of the Olive ſhall faile, and the fields ſhall yeeld no meat: the ſheep ſhalbe cut off from the fold, and there ſhalbe no bullock in the ſtals.

18 But I will rejoyce in the Lord: I will joy [y] in the God of my ſalvation.

19 The Lord God is my ſtrength: he will make my feet like Hindes feet, and he will make me to walk upon mine high places. [z] To the chief ſinger on Neginothai.

[x] That is, the enemy: but the godly ſhall be quiet, knowing that al things ſhall turn to good unto them.

[y] He declareth wherein ſtandeth the comfort and joy of the faithful, though they ſee never ſo great afflictions prepared.

[z] The chief ſinger upon the inſtruments of muſick ſhall have occaſion to praiſe God for this great deliverance of his Church.

ZEPHANIAH.

THE ARGVMENT.

SEeing the great rebellion of the people, and that there was now no hope of amendment, he denounceth the great judgement of God, which was at hand, ſhewing that their countrey ſhould be utterly deſtroyed, and they caried away captives by the Babylonians. Yet for the comfort of the faithfull, he propheci-ed of Gods vengeance againſt their enemies, as the Philiſtims, Moabites, Aſſyrians, and others, to aſſure them that God had a continuall care over them. And as the wicked ſhould be puniſhed for their ſinnes and tranſgreſſions: ſo he exhorteth the godly to patience, and to truſt to finde mercy by reaſon of the free promiſe of God made unto Abraham: therefore quietly to abide till God ſhew them the effect of that grace, whereby in the end they ſhould be gathered unto him, and counted as his people and children.

CHAP. I.

Threatnings againſt Iudah and Ieruſalem, becauſe of their idolatry.

THe word of the Lord, which came unto Zephaniah the ſon of Cuſhi, the ſon of Gedaliah, the ſon of Amariah, the ſon of Hizkiah, in the dayes of * Joſiah, the ſon of * Amon king of Judah.

2 I will ſurely deſtroy all things from off the land, ſaith the Lord.

3 I will deſtroy man and beaſt: I will deſtroy the [a] fowles of the heaven, and the fiſhes of the ſea, and ruines ſhall be to the wicked, and I will cut off man from off the land, ſaith the Lord.

4 I will alſo ſtretch out mine hand upon Judah, and upon all the inhabitants of Jeruſalem, and I will cut off the remnant of Baal from this place, and the name of the [b] Chemarims with the Prieſts,

5 And them that worſhip the hoſt of heaven upon the houſe tops, and them that worſhip and ſweare by the Lord, and ſware by [c] Malcham,

6 And them that are turned back from the Lord, and thoſe that have not ſought the Lord nor inquired for him.

7 Be ſtill at the preſence of the Lord God, for the day of the Lord is at hand: for the Lord hath prepared a ſacrifice, and hath ſanctified his gueſts.

8 And it ſhall be in the day of the Lords ſacrifice, that I will viſit the princes and the kings children, and all ſuch as are clothed with [d] ſtrange apparell.

9 In the ſame day alſo will I viſit al thoſe that [e] daunce upon the threſholds ſo proudly, which fill their maſters houſes by cruelty and deceit.

10 And in that day, ſaith the Lord, there ſhall be a noiſe, and crie from the [f] fiſh-gate, and an howling from the ſecond gate, and a great deſtruction from the hills.

11 Howle ye inhabitants of the [g] low place: for the company of the merchants is deſtroyed: all they that beare ſilver, are cut off.

12 And at that time will I ſearch Jeruſalem with [h] lights, and viſit the men that are froſen [i] in their dregs, and ſay in their hearts, The Lord will neither do good nor do evill.

13 Therefore their goods ſhall be ſpoyled, and their houſes waſt: * they ſhall alſo build houſes, but not inhabit them, and they ſhal plant vineyards, but not drink the wine thereof.

14 The great day of the Lord is neere: it is neere, and haſteth greatly, even the voice of the day of the Lord: the [k] ſtrong man ſhall crie there bitterly.

15 * That day is a day of wrath, a day of trouble and heavineſſe, a day of deſtruction and deſolation, a day of obſcurity and darkneſſe, a day of clouds and blackneſſe,

16 A day of the trumpet and alarm againſt the ſtrong cities, and againſt the high towers.

17 And I will bring diſtreſſe upon men, that they ſhall walk like blind men, becauſe they have ſinned againſt the Lord, and their blood ſhall be powred out as duſt, and their fleſh as the dung.

18 * Neither their ſilver nor their gold ſhall be able to deliver them in the day of the Lords wrath, but the * whole land ſhall be devoured by the fire of his jelouſie: for he

CHAP. II.

1 He moveth to return to God, 5 Propheſying deſtruction againſt the Philiſtims, Moabites and others.

GAther [a] your ſelves, even gather you, O nation not worthy to be beloved,

2 Before the decree come forth, and ye be as chaff that paſſeth in a day, and before the fierce wrath of the Lord come upon you, and before the day of the Lords anger come upon you.

3 Seek ye the Lord all the meek of the earth, which [b] have wrought his judgment: ſeek righteouſneſſe, ſeek lowlineſſe, if ſo be that ye may be hid in the day of the Lords wrath.

4 For [c] Azzah ſhall be forſaken, and Aſhkelon deſolate: they ſhall drive out Aſhdod at the noon day, and Ekron ſhal be rooted up.

5 Wo unto the inhabitants of the Sea [d] coaſt: the nation of the Cherethims, the word of the Lord is againſt you: O Canaan, the land of the Philiſtims, I wil even deſtroy thee without an inhabitant.

6 And the ſea coaſt ſhal be dwellings and cottages for ſhepheards and ſheepfolds.

7 And that coaſt ſhall be for the [e] remnant of the houſe of Judah to feed thereupon: in the houſes of Aſhkelon ſhall they lodge toward night: for the Lord their God ſhall viſit them, and turn away their captivity.

8 I have heard the reproch of Moab, and the rebukes of the children of Ammon, wherby they upbraided my people, & [f] magnified themſelves againſt their borders.

9 Therefore, as I live, ſaith the Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, Surely Moab ſhall be as Sodom, and the children of Ammon as Gomorah, even the breeding of nettles and ſalt pits, and a perpetuall deſolation: the reſidue of my folk ſhall ſpoil them, and the remnant of my people ſhall poſſeſſe them.

10 This ſhall they have for their pride, becauſe they have reproched, and magnified themſelvns againſt the Lord of hoſts people.

11 The Lord will be terrible unto them: [g] for he will conſume all the gods of the earth, & every man ſhall worſhip him from his place, even all the Iſles of the heathen.

12 Ye Morians alſo ſhall be ſlain by my ſword with them.

13 And he will ſtretch out his hand againſt the north, and deſtroy Aſſhur, and will make Nineveh deſolate, and waſte like a wilderneſſe.

14 And flocks ſhall lie in the mids of her, and all the beaſts of the nations, and the [h] pelicane, and the ‡ owle ſhall abide in the upper poſts of it: the voice of birds ſhall ſing in the windows, and deſolations ſhall be upon the poſts: for the cedars are uncovered.

15 This is the [i] rejoycing city that dwelt careleſſe, that ſaid in her heart, I am, and there is none beſides me: how is ſhe made waſte, and the lodging of the beaſts! every one that paſſeth by her, ſhall hiſſe, and wag his hand.

5 The [c] juſt Lord is in the mids thereof: he will do none iniquity: every morning doth he bring his judgement to light, he faileth not: but the wicked will not learn to be aſhamed.

6 I have [d] cut off the nations: their towers are deſolate: I have made their ſtreets waſte, that none ſhall paſſe by: their cities are deſtroyed without man and without inhabitant.

7 I ſaid, Surely thou wilt feare me: thou wilt receive inſtruction: ſo their dwelling ſhould not be deſtroyed howſoever I viſited them, but [e] they roſe early and corrupted all their works.

8 Therefore [f] waite ye upon me, ſaith the Lord, untill the day that I riſe up to the prey: for I am determined to gather the nations, and that I will aſſemble the kingdomes to poure upon them mine indignation, even all my fierce wrath: for all the earth ſhall be devoured with the fire of my jelouſie.

20 At that time I wil bring you again, and then will I gather you: for I will give you a name and praiſe among all the people of the earth, when I turn back your captivity before your eyes, ſaith the Lord.

[p] I will deliver the Church which now is afflicted, as Micah 4. 6.

HAGGAI.

THE ARGVMENT.

WHen the time of the ſeventy yeares captivity prophecied by Jeremiah, was expired, God raiſed up Haggai, Zechariah, and Malachi to comfort the Jewes, and to exhort them to the building of the Temple, which was a figure of the ſpirituall Temple and Church of God, whoſe perfection and excellency ſtood in Chriſt. And becauſe that all were given to their own pleaſures and commodities, he declareth that that plague of famine, which God then ſent among them, was a juſt reward of their ingratitude, in that they contemned Gods honour, who had delivered them. Yet he comforteth them, if they will return to the Lord, with the promiſe of greater felicity, foraſmuch as the Lord will finiſh the work that he hath begun, and ſend Chriſt whom he had promiſed, and by whom they ſhould attain to perfect joy and glory.

CHAP. I.

1 The time of the prophecie of Haggai. 8 An exhortation to build the Temple again.

IN the ſecond yeare of king [a] Darius, in the ſixt month, the firſt day of the moneth, cam the word of the Lord (by the miniſtery of the Prophet Haggai) unto [b] Zerubbabel the ſon of Shealtiel, a prince of Judah, and to Jehoſhua the ſon of Jehozadak the high Prieſt, ſaying,

2 Thus ſpeaketh the Lord of hoſts, ſaying, This people ſay, The time is not yet come, that [c] the Lords houſe ſhould be builded.

3 Then came the word of the Lord by the miniſtery of the Prophet Haggai, ſaying,

4 Is it time for your ſelues to dwel in your [d] ſieled houſes, and this Houſe lie waſte?

5 Now therefore thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, Conſider your own wayes in your hearts.

6 [e] Ye have ſown much, and bring in little: ye eat, but ye have not enough: ye drink, but ye are not filled: ye clothe you, but ye be not warm: and he that earneth wages, putteth the wages into a broken bag.

7 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, Conſider your own wayes in your hearts.

8 Go [f] up to the mountain and bring wood, and build this houſe, and [g] I will be favourable in it, and I will [h] be glorified, ſaith the Lord.

9 Ye looked for much, and lo, it came to little: & when ye brought it home, I did blow [i] upon it. And why, ſaith the Lord of hoſts? Becauſe of mine Houſe that is waſt, and ye run every man to his own houſe.

10 Therefore the heaven over you ſtayed it ſelf from dew, and the earth ſtayed her fruit.

11 And I called for a drought upon the land, and upon the mountaines, and upon the corn, and upon the wine, and upon the oyl, upon al that the ground bringeth forth:

both

[a] Who was the ſon of Hyſtaſpis, and the third king of the Perſians, as ſome think.

[b] Becauſe the building of the temple began to ceaſe, by reaſon that the people were diſcouraged by their enemies, and if theſe two notable men had need to be ſtirred up, and admoniſhed of their duties, what ſhal we think of other governours, whoſe doings are either againſt God, or very cold in his cauſe?

[c] Not that they condemned the building thereof, but they preferred policy & private profit to religion, being content with ſmall beginnings.

[d] Shewing, ÿ they ſought not onely their neceſſities, but their very pleſures before Gods honour.

[e] Conſider the plagues of God upon you for preferring your policies to his religion, and becauſe ye ſeek not him firſt of all.

[f] Meaning, that they ſhould leave off their own commodities and go forward in the building of Gods Temple, and in the ſetting forth of his religion.

[g] That is, I will heare your prayers according to my promiſe, 1 Kings 8. 21, 29.

[h] That is, my glory ſhall be ſet forth by you.

[i] And ſo bring it to nothing.

both upon men and upon cattell, and upon all the labour of the hands.

12 When Zerubbabel the ſon of Shealtiel, and Jehoſhua the ſon of Jehozadak the high Prieſt with all the remnant of the people, heard the [k] voice of the Lord their God, and the words of the Prophet Haggai (as the Lord their God had ſent him) then the people did feare before the Lord.

13 Then ſpake Haggai the Lords meſſenger in the Lords meſſage unto the people, ſaying, I am with you, ſaith the Lord.

14 And the Lord ſtirred up [l] the ſpirit of Zerubbabel, the ſon of Shealtiel, a prince of Judah, and the ſpirit of Jehoſhua the ſon of Jehozadak the high Prieſt, and the ſpirit of all the remnant of the people, and they came, and did the work in the houſe of the Lord of hoſts their God.

CHAP. II.

He ſheweth that the glory of the ſecond Temple ſhall exceede the firſt.

IN the foure and twenty day of the ſixt moneth, in the ſecond yeare of king Darius,

2 In the ſeventh moneth, in the one and twentieth day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord by the miniſtery of the Prophet Haggai, ſaying,

3 Speake now to Zerubbabel the ſon of Shealtiel prince of Judah, and to Jehoſhua the ſon of Jehozadak the high Prieſt, and to the reſidue of the people, ſaying,

4 Who is left among you, that ſaw this [a] Houſe in her firſt glory, and how do you ſee it now? is it not in your eyes, in compariſon of it as nothing?

5 Yet now be of good courage, O Zerubbabel, ſaith the Lord, and be of good comfort, O Jehoſhua, ſon of Jehozadak the high Prieſt: and be ſtrong, all ye people of the land, ſaith the Lord, and [b] do it: for I am with you, ſaith the Lord of hoſts,

6 According to the word that I covenanted with you, when ye came out of Egypt: ſo my Spirit ſhall remain among you: feare ye not,

7 For thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, [c] Yet a little while, and I will ſhake the heavens and the earth, and the ſea, and the dry land:

8 And I will move all nations, and [d] the deſire of all nations ſhall come, and I will fill this houſe with glory, ſaith the Lord of hoſts.

9 The [e] ſilver is mine, and the gold is mine, ſaith the Lord of hoſts.

10 The glory of this laſt houſe ſhall be greater then the firſt, ſaith the Lord of hoſts: and in this place will I give [f] peace, ſaith the Lord of hoſts.

11 ¶ In the foure and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, in the ſecond yeare of Darius, came the word of the Lord unto the Prophet Haggai, ſaying,

12 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, Aske now the Prieſts concerning the Law, and ſay, 13 If one beare [g] holy fleſh in the skirt of his garment, and with his skirt do touch the bread, or the pottage, or the wine, or oyle, or any meat, ſhal it be holy? And the Prieſts anſwered, and ſaid, No.

14 Then ſaid Haggai, If a polluted perſon touch any of theſe, ſhall it be unclean? And the Prieſts anſwered, and ſaid, It ſhall be unclean.

15 Then anſwered Haggai, and ſaid, So is this people, and ſo is this nation before me, ſaith the Lord: and ſo are all the works of their hands, and that which they offer here, is unclean.

16 And now, I pray you conſider in your minds, from this [h] day, and afore, even afore a ſtone was laid upon a ſtone in the Temple of the Lord:

17 [i] Before theſe things were, when one came to an heape of twenty meaſures, there were but ten: when one came to the wine-preſſe for to draw out fifty veſſels out of the preſſe, there were but twenty.

18 I ſmote you with blaſting, and with mildeaw, and with haile, in al the labours of your hands: yet you turned not to me, ſaith the Lord.

19 Conſider, I pray you, in your minds, from [k] this day, and afore from the foure and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, even from the day that the foundation of the Lords Temple was laid: conſider it in your minds.

20 Is the [l] ſeed yet in the barn? as yet the vine, and the fig-tree, and the pomegranate, and the olive tree hath not brought forth: from this day will I bleſſe you.

21 And again the word of the Lord came unto Haggai in the foure and twentieth day of the moneth, ſaying,

22 Speak unto Zerubbabel the prince of Judah, and ſay, I [m] will ſhake the heavens and the earth,

23 And I will overthrow the throne of kingdomes, and I will deſtroy the ſtrength of the [n] kingdomes of the heathen, and I will overthrow the charets, and thoſe that ride in them, and the horſe and the riders ſhall come down, every one by the ſword of his brother.

24 In that day, ſaith the Lord of hoſts, will I take thee, O Zerubbabel my ſervant, the ſonne of Shealtiel, ſaith the Lord, and will make thee as a [o] ſignet: for I have choſen thee, ſaith the Lord of hoſts.

[k] This declared that God was the authour of the doctrine, and that he was but the miniſter, as Exod. 14. 31 Judg. 7. 20. Acts 15. 28.

[l] Which declareth that men are unapt and dull to ſerve the Lord, neither can they obey his word or his meſſengers, before God reform their hearts and give them new ſpirits, John 6. 44.

[a] For the people according, as Iſa. 32. 11. and Ezek. 41. 1. had prophecied, thought this temple ſhould have been more excellent then Salomons temple which was deſtroyed by the Babylonians, but the Prophets meãt the ſpirituall temple, the Church of Chriſt.

[b] That is, go forward in building the temple.

[c] He exhorteth them to patience. though they ſee not as yet this temple ſo glorious as the Prophets had declared: for this ſhould be accompliſhed in Chriſt, by whom all things ſhould be renewed.

[d] Meaning Chriſt, whom all ought to look for & deſire, or by deſire, he may ſignifie al precious things, as riches and ſuch like.

[e] Therefore when his time cometh, he can make al the treaſures of the world to ſerve his purpoſe: but the glory of this ſecond temple doth not ſtand in material things, neither can be built.

[f] Meaning all ſpirituall bleſſings & felicitie purchaſed by Chriſt, Phil. 4. 7.

[g] That is, the fleſh of the ſacrifices, whereby he ſignifieth that ẏ thing which of it ſelf is good cannot make another thing ſo, and therefore they ought not to juſtifie themſelves by their ſacrifices and ceremonies: but contrary, he that is unclean and not pure of heart, doth corrupt thoſe things and make them deteſtable unto God, which elſe are good and godly.

[h] Conſider how God did plague you with famine afore you began to build the temple.

[i] That is, before the building was begun.

[k] From the time they began to build the temple, he promiſed that God would bleſſe them: and albeit as yet the fruit was not come forth, yet in the gathering they ſhould have plenty.

[l] He exhorteth them to patience and to abide till the harveſt came, and then they ſhould ſee Gods bleſſings.

[m] I will make a change and renew all things in Chriſt, of whom Zerubbabel here is a figure.

[n] Hereby he ſheweth that there ſhall be no let nor hinderance when God will make this wonderfull reſtitution of his Church.

[o] Signifying, that his dignity ſhould be moſt excellent, which thing was accompliſhed in Chriſt.

ZECHARIAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

Two moneths after that Haggai had begun to propheſie, Zechariah was alſo ſent of the Lord to help him in the labour, and to confirm the ſame doctrine. Firſt therefore he putteth them in remembrance, for what cauſe God had ſo ſore puniſhed their fathers: and yet comforteth them, if they will repent unfainedly, and not abuſe this great benefit of God in their deliverance, which was a figure of that true deliverance, that all the faithfull ſhould have from death and ſin by Chriſt. But becauſe they ſtill remained in their wickednes, and coldneſſe to ſet forth Gods glory, and were not yet made better by their long baniſhment, he rebuketh them moſt ſharply: yet for the comfort of the repentant, he ever mixeth the promiſe of grace, that they might by this meanes be prepared to receive Chriſt, in whom all ſhould be ſanctified to the Lord.

CHAP. I.

2 He exhorteth the people to return to the Lord, and to eſchew the wickedneſſe of their fathers. 16 He ſignifieth the reſtitution of Ieruſalem and the Temple.

IN the eight moneth of the ſecond yeare of [a] Darius, came the word of the Lord unto [b] Zechariah the ſon of Berechiah, the ſon of Iddo, the Prophet, ſaying,

2 The Lord hath been [c] ſore diſpleaſed with your fathers.

3 Therefore ſay thou unto them, Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, [d] Turn ye unto me, ſaith the Lord of hoſts, and I wil turn unto you, ſaith the Lord of hoſts.

4 Be ye not as your fathers, unto whom the former * Prophets have cried, ſaying, Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, Turn you now from your evill wayes, and from your wicked works: but they would not heare, nor hearken unto me, ſaith the Lord.

5 Your fathers, where [e] are they? and do the Prophets live for ever?

6 But did not my words and my ſtatutes, which I commanded by my ſervants the Prophets, take hold of [f] your fathers? and [g] they returned, and ſaid, As the Lord of hoſts hath determined to do unto us, according to our own wayes, and according to our works, ſo hath he dealt with us.

7 Upon the foure and twentieth day of the eleventh moneth, which is the moneth [h] Shebat, in the ſecond yeare of Darius, came the word of the Lord unto Zechariah the ſon of Berechiah, the ſon of Iddo the Prophet, ſaying,

8 I [i] ſaw by night, and behold [k] a man riding upon a red horſe, & he ſtood among the myrrhe trees, that were in a bottome, and behinde him were there [l] red horſes ſpeckled and white.

9 Then ſaid I, O my Lord, what are theſe? And the Angel that talked with me, ſaid unto me, I will ſhew thee what theſe be.

10 And the man that ſtood among the myrrthe trees, anſwered, and ſaid, Theſe are they whom the Lord hath ſent to go thorow the world.

11 And they anſwered the Angel of the Lord, that ſtood among the myrrhe trees, and ſaid, we have gone throw the world: and behold, all the world ſitteth ſtill, and is at reſt.

12 Then the [m] Angel of the Lord anſwered and ſaid, O Lord of hoſts, how long wilt thou be unmercifull to Jeruſalem, and to the cities of Judah, with whom thou haſt been diſpleaſed now theſe threeſcore and ten yeares?

13 And the Lord anſwered the Angel that talked with me, with good words and comfortable words.

14 So the Angel that communed with me, ſaid unto me, Cry thou, and ſpeake, Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, I am [n] jelous over Jeruſalem and Zion with a great zeale,

15 And am greatly angry againſt the careleſſe heathen: for I was angry but [o] a little, and they helped forward the affliction.

16 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord, I will return unto Jeruſalem with tender mercie: mine houſe ſhall be builded in it, ſaith the Lord of hoſts, and a line [p] ſhall be ſtretched upon Jeruſalem.

17 Crie yet and ſpeake, Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, My cities ſhall yet [q] be broken with plenty: the Lord ſhall yet comfort Zion, and ſhall yet chuſe Jeruſalem.

---

[a] Who was the ſon of Hyſtaſpis.

[b] This was not that Zechariah whereof is mention, 2 Chron. 24. 20. but had the ſame name, and is called the ſon of Berechiah, as he was, becauſe he came of thoſe progenitors, as of Iojada or Berechiah and Iddo.

[c] He ſpeaketh this to feare them with Gods judgements that they ſhould not provoke him as their fathers had done, whom he ſo geievouſly puniſhed.

[d] Let your fruits declare that you are Gods people, and that he hath wrought in you by his ſpirit and mortified you: for elſe man hath no power to return to God, but God muſt convert him, as Ier. 31. 18 Lament. 5. 21. Iſa. 21. 8. and 31. 6. and 45. 21.

* Ier. 3. 12. Ezek. 18. 30. Hoſe. 14. 2. Ioel 2. 12.

[e] Though your fathers be dead, yet Gods judgements in puniſhing them ought ſtill to be before your eyes: and though the Prophets be dead, yet their doctrine remaineth for ever, 2 Pet. 1. 15.

[f] Seeing ye ſaw the force of my doctrine in puniſhing your fathers why do not ye feare the threatnings contained in the ſame, and declared by my Prophets?

[g] As men aſtoniſhed with my judgements, and not that they were touched with true repentance.

[h] Which containeth part of Ianuary and part of February.

[i] This viſion ſignifieth the reſtauration of the Church, but as yet it ſhould not appeare to mans eyes which is here meant by the night, by the bottom, & by the mirrhe trees which are ſo black, and give a darke ſhadow: yet he compareth God to a king, who hath his poſts and meſſengers abroad, by whom he ſtill worketh his purpoſe, & bringeth his matters to paſſe.

[k] Who was the chief among the reſt of the horſ-men.

[l] Theſe ſignified the divers offices of Gods Angels by whom God ſometime puniſheth, and ſometime comforteth, and bringeth forth his works in divers ſorts.

[m] That is, Chriſt the Mediatour prayed for the ſalvation of his Church, which was now troubled when all the countreys about them were at reſt.

[n] Though for a time God deferre his help and comfort from his Church, yet this declareth that he loveth them ſtill moſt dearely, as a moſt mercifull father his children, or an husband his wife, and when it is expedient for them his help is ever ready.

[o] In deſtroying the reprobate I ſhewed my ſelf but a little angry toward my Church but the enemy would have deſtroyed them alſo, and conſidered not the end of my chaſtiſements.

[p] To meaſure out the buildings.

[q] The abundance ſhall be ſo great, that the places of ſtore ſhall not be able to contain theſe bleſſings that God will ſend, but ſhall even breake for fulneſſe.

18 Then lift I up mine eyes and ſaw, and behold, [r] four hornes:

19 And I ſaid unto the Angel that talked with me, What be theſe? And he anſwered me, Theſe are the hornes which have ſcattered Judah, Iſrael, and Jeruſalem.

20 And the Lord ſhewed me four [ſ] carpenters.

21 Then ſaid I, What come theſe to do? And he anſwered, and ſaid, Theſe are the hornes, which have ſcattered Judah, ſo that a man durſt not lift up his head: but theſe are come to fray them, and to caſt out the hornes of the Gentiles, which lift up their horne over the land of Judah, to ſcatter it.

[r] Which ſignified all the enemies of the Church, Eaſt, Weſt, North, South.

[ſ] Theſe Carpenters or Smithes are Gods inſtruments, which with their mallets and hammers break theſe hard and ſtrong hornes which would overthrow the Church, and declare that none enemies horne is ſo ſtrong, but God hath an hammer to break it in pieces.

CHAP. II.

The reſtoring of Ieruſalem and Iudah.

I Lift up mine eyes again and looked, and behold, a [a] man with a meaſuring line in his hand.

2 Then ſaid I, Whither goeſt thou? And he ſaid unto me, To meaſure Jeruſalem, that I may ſee what is the breadth thereof, and what is the length thereof.

3 And behold, the Angel that talked with me, went forth: and another Angel went out to meet him,

4 And ſaid unto him, Run, ſpeak to this [b] yong man, and ſay, [c] Jeruſalem ſhall be inhabited without wals, for the multitude of men and cattell therein:

5 For I, ſaith the Lord, will be unto her a wall of [d] fire round about, and will [e] be the glory in the mids of her.

6 Ho, ho, come [f] forth, and flee from the land of the North, ſaith the Lord: for I have ſcattered you into the foure [g] winds of the heaven, ſaith the Lord.

7 [h] Save thy ſelf, O Zion, that dwelleſt with the daughter of Babel,

8 For thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, After this [i] glory hath he ſent me unto the nations, which ſpoiled you: for he that toucheth you, toucheth the [k] apple of his eye,

9 For behold, I will lift up mine hand [l] upon them: and [m] they ſhall be a ſpoile to thoſe that ſerved them, and ye ſhall know that the Lord of hoſts hath [n] ſent me.

10 Rejoyce, and be glad, O daughter Zion: for loe, I come, and will dwell in the mids of thee, ſaith the Lord.

11 And many nations ſhal be joyned to the Lord in that day, and ſhall be my people: and I will dwell in the mids of thee, and thou ſhalt know that the Lord of hoſts hath ſent me unto thee.

12 And the Lord ſhall inherite Iudah his portion in the holy land, and ſhall chuſe Ieruſalem again.

13 Let all fleſh be ſtill before the Lord, for he is raiſed up out of his holy place.

[a] That is, ye Angel who was Chriſt: for in reſpect of his office he is oft times called an Angel, but in reſpect of his eternall eſſence, is God, & ſo called.

[b] Meaning himſelf Zechariah.

[c] Signifying, the ſpirituall Ieruſalem and Church under Chriſt, which ſhould be extended by the Goſpel through all the world, and ſhould need no materiall wals, nor truſt in any worldly ſtrength, but ſhould be ſafely preſerved, and dwell in peace among all their enemies.

[d] To defend my Church, to fear ye enemies, and to deſtroy them if they approch neer.

[e] In me they ſhal have their full felicitie, and glory.

[f] He calleth to them which partly for fear, and partly for their own eaſe, remained ſtill in captivitie, and ſo preferred their own private commodities to the benefits of God promiſed in his Church.

[g] As it was I that ſcattered you, ſo have I power to reſtore you.

[h] By flying from Babylon and comming to the Church.

[i] Seeing that God hath begun to ſhew his grace among you by delivering you, he continueth the ſame ſtill toward you, and therefore ſendeth me his Angel, and his Chriſt to defend you from your enemies, that they ſhall not hurt you, neither by the way nor at home.

[k] Ye are ſo dear unto God, that he can no more ſuffer your enemies to hurt you, then a man can abide to be thruſt in the eye, pſal. 17.8.

[l] Vpon the heathen your enemies.

[m] They ſhall be your ſervants as you have been theirs.

[n] This muſt neceſſarily be underſtood of Chriſt, who being God equall with his Father, was ſent as he was Mediatour to dwel in his Church, and to governe them.

CHAP. III.

A propheſie of Chriſt and of his kingdom.

And he ſhewed me Iehoſhua the high Prieſt, [a] ſtanding before the Angel of the Lord, and [b] Satan ſtood at his right hand to reſiſt him.

2 And the [c] Lord ſaid unto Satan, The Lord reprove thee, O Satan: even the Lord that hath choſen Ieruſalem, reprove thee. Is not this a [d] brand taken out of the fire?

3 Now Iehoſhua was clothed with filthy garments, and ſtood before the Angel.

4 And he anſwered and ſpake unto thoſe that ſtood before him, ſaying, Take away the [e] filthy garments from him. And unto him he ſaid, Behold, I have [f] cauſed thine iniquitie to depart from thee, and I wil clothe thee with change of raiment.

5 And I ſaid, Let them [g] ſet a fair diademe upon his head. So they ſet a fair diademe upon his head, and clothed him with garments, and the Angel of the Lord ſtood by.

6 And the Angel of the Lord teſtified unto Jehoſhua, ſaying,

7 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, If thou wilt walk in my wayes, and keep my watch, thou ſhalt alſo [h] judge mine houſe, and ſhalt alſo keep my [i] courts, and I will give thee place among [k] theſe that ſtand by.

8 Hear now, O Jehoſhua the high Prieſt, thou and thy fellows that ſit before thee: for they [l] are monſtrous perſons: but behold, I will bring forth the [m] Branch my ſervant.

9 For loe, the [n] ſtone that I have laid before Jehoſhua: upon one ſtone ſhall be ſeven eyes: behold, I will [o] cut out the graving thereof, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, and I will take [p] away the iniquitie of this land in one day.

10 In that day ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, ſhall ye call every man his neighbour under the [q] vine, and under the fig tree.

[a] He prayed to Chriſt the Mediator for the ſtate of the Church.

[b] Which declareth that the faithfull have not only war with fleſh and blood, but with Satan himſelf, and ſpirituall wickedneſſes. Eph. 6.12.

[c] That is, Chriſt ſpeaketh to God as the Mediatour of his Church, that he would rebuke Satan: and here he ſheweth himſelf to be the continuall preſerver of his Church.

[d] Meaning, that Jehoſhua was wonderfully preſerved in the captivitie, and now Satan ſought to afflict and trouble him when he was doing his office.

[e] In reſpect of the glorious garments and precious ſtones that the Prieſts did wear before the captivitie: and by this contemptible ſtate the Prophet ſignifieth that theſe ſmall beginnings ſhould be made excellent, when Chriſt ſhall make the full reſtitution of his Church.

[f] He ſheweth of what apparell he ſpeaketh, which is when our filthy ſins are taken away and we are clad with Gods mercies, which is meant of the ſpiritual reſtitution.

[g] The Prophet prayeth that beſides the raiment, the Prieſt might alſo have tire for his head accordingly, that is, that the dignitie of the Prieſthood might be perfect: and this was fulfilled in Chriſt, who was both Prieſt and King: and here all ſuch are condemned that can content themſelves with any mean reformation in religion, ſeeing the Prophet deſireth the perfection, and obtaineth it.

[h] That is, have rule and governement in my Church, as thy predeceſſors have had.

[i] Whereby he meaneth to have the whole charge and miniſtery of the Church.

[k] That is, the Angels who repreſented the whole number of the faithfull: ſignifying, that all the godly ſhould willingly receive him.

[l] Becauſe they follow my word, they are contemned in the world, and eſteemed as monſters, Iſa. 8.18.

[m] That is Chriſt, who did ſo humble himſelf, that not only he became the ſervant of God, but alſo the ſervant of men: and therefore in him they ſhould have comfort, although in the world they were contemned, Iſa. 11.1. Iere. 23.5. and 33.14,15.

[n] He ſheweth that the miniſters cannot build, before God lay the firſt ſtone, which is Chriſt, who is full of eyes, both becauſe he giveth light unto all others, and that all ought to ſeek light at him, Chap. 4.10.

[o] That is, I will make it perfect in all points, as a thing wrought by the hand of God.

[p] Though I have puniſhed this land for a time, yet I will even now be pacified, and viſite their ſins no more.

[q] Ye ſhall then live in peace and quietneſſe, that is, in the kingdom of Chriſt, Iſa. 2.2. Micah. 4.4. Hag. 2.10.

CHAP. IV.

The viſion of the golden Candleſticke, and the Expoſition thereof.

And the Angel that talked with me, came again and waked me, as a man that is raiſed out of his ſleep,

2 And ſaid unto me, What ſeeſt thou? And I ſaid, I have looked, and behold, a [a] candleſtick al of gold with a bowl upon the top of it, and his ſeven lamps therein, and ſeven

[a] Which was ever in the mids of the Temple. ſignifying that the graces of Gods Spirit ſhould ſhine there in moſt abundance, and in all perfection.

[b] pipes to the lamps, which were upon the top thereof,

3 And two olive trees over it, one upon the right ſide of the bowle, and the other upon the left ſide thereof.

4 So I anſwered, and ſpake to the Angel that talked with me, ſaying, What are theſe my Lord?

5 Then the Angel that talked with me, anſwered, and ſaid unto me, Knoweſt thou not what theſe be? And I ſaid, No, my Lord.

6 Then he anſwered and ſpake unto me, ſaying, This is the word of the Lord unto [c] Zerubbabel, ſaying, Neither by [d] an armie nor ſtrength, but by my ſpirit, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes.

7 Who art thou, O [e] great mountain, before Zerubbabel? thou ſhalt be a plain, and [f] he ſhall bring forth the head ſtone thereof, with ſhoutings, crying, Grace, grace unto it.

8 Moreover, the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying,

9 The hands of Zerubbabel have laid the foundations of this houſe: his hands ſhal alſo finiſh it, and [g] thou ſhalt know that the Lord of hoſtes hath ſent me unto you.

10 For who hath deſpiſed the day of the [h] ſmall things? but they ſhall rejoyce, and ſhall ſee the ſtone of [i] tin in the hand of Zerubbabel: [k] theſe ſeven are the eyes of the Lord, which go thorow the whole world.

11 Then anſwered I, and ſaid unto him, What are theſe two olive trees upon the right and upon the left ſide thereof?

12 And I ſpake moreover, and ſaid unto him, What be theſe two olive branches, which thorow the two golden pipes empty themſelves into the gold?

13 And he anſwered me, and ſaid, Knoweſt thou not what theſe be? And I ſaid, No, my Lord.

14 Then ſaid he, Theſe are the two [l] olive branches, that ſtand with the ruler of the whole earth.

[b] Which conveyed the oyle that dropped from the trees into the lamps, ſo that the light never failed, and this viſion was to confirme the faithfull, that God had ſufficient power in himſelf to continue his graces, & to bring his promiſe to paſſe, though he had no help of man.

[c] Who was a figure of Chriſt, and therefore this doctrine was directed to all the Church, who are his body and members.

[d] He ſheweth that Gods power only is ſufficient to preſerve his Church, though he uſe not mans help thereunto.

[e] He compareth the power of the adverſaries to a great mountain, who thought the Iews nothing in reſpect of them, & would have hindred Zerubbabel, who repreſented Chriſt, whom the enemies dayly labour to let, in the building of his ſpirituall Temple, but all in vain.

[f] Though the enemies thinke to ſtay this building, yet Zerubbabel ſhall lay the higheſt ſtone thereof, and bring it to perfection, ſo that all the godly ſhall rejoyce, and pray unto God that he would continue his grace and favour toward the Temple.

[g] Meaning, the Prophet, that I am Chriſt ſent of my Father for the building and preſervation of my ſpirituall Temple.

[h] Signifying, that all were diſcouraged at the ſmall & poor beginnings of the Temple.

[i] Whereby he ſignifieth the plummet and line, that is, that Zerubbabel which repreſented Chriſt, ſhould go forward with his building, to the joy and comfort of the godly, though the world be againſt him, and though his for a while be diſcouraged, becauſe they ſee not things pleaſant to the eye.

[k] That is, God hath ſeven eyes: meaning, a continuall providence, ſo that neither Satan nor any power in the world can go about to bring any thing to paſſe to hinder his worke, chap. 3. 9.

[l] Which were ever green and full of oyle, ſo that ſtill they powred forth oyle into the lamps: ſignifying that God will continually maintain and preſerve his Church, and endue it ſtill with abundance and perfection of graces.

CHAP. V.

1 The viſion of the flying booke, ſignifying the curſe of theeves, and ſuch as abuſe the Name of God. 6 By the viſion of the meaſure is ſignified the bringing of Iudahs afflictions into Babylon.

THen I turned me, and lifted up mine eyes and looked, and behold, a flying book.

2 And he ſaid unto me, What ſeeſt thou? And I anſwered, I ſee a flying [a] booke: the length thereof is twentie cubites, and the breadth thereof ten cubites.

3 Then ſaid he unto me, This is the curſe that goeth forth over the whole earth: for every one that [b] ſtealeth, ſhal be cut off aſwell on this [c] ſide, as on that: and every one that [d] ſweareth, ſhall be cut off aſwell on this ſide, as on that.

4 I will bring it forth, ſaith the Lord of hoſts, and it ſhall enter into the houſe of the thief, and into the houſe of him, that falſely ſweareth by my Name: and it ſhall remain in the mids of his houſe, and ſhall conſume it, with the timber thereof, and the ſtones thereof.

5 Then the Angel that talked with me, went forth, and ſaid unto me, Lift up now thine eyes, and ſee what is this that goeth forth.

6 And I ſaid, What is it? And he ſaid, This is an [e] Ephah that goeth forth. He ſaid moreover, This is the [f] ſight of them through all the earth.

7 And behold, there was lift up a [g] talent of lead: and this is a [h] woman that ſitteth in the mids of the Ephah.

8 And he ſaid, This is [i] wickedneſſe, and he caſt it into the mids of the Ephah, and he caſt the weight of lead upon the mouth thereof.

9 Then lift I up mine eyes, and looked, and behold, there came out two [k] women, and the wind was in their wings (for they had wings like the wings of a ſtorke) and they lift up the Ephah between the earth and the heaven.

10 Then ſaid I to the Angel that talked with me, Whither do theſe bear the Ephah?

11 And he ſaid unto me, [l] To build it an houſe in the land of Shinar, and it ſhall be eſtabliſhed and ſet there upon her own place.

[a] Becauſe the Iews had provoked Gods plagues by contemning his word, & caſting off all judgement and equitie, he ſheweth that Gods curſes written in this book had juſtly light both on them, and their fathers: but now if they would repent, God would ſend the ſame among the Caldeans their former enemies.

[b] That is, uſeth any injurie toward his neighbour.

[c] Meaning, whereſoever he be in the world.

[d] He that tranſgreſſeth the firſt Table, and ſerveth not God aright, but abuſeth Gods Name.

[e] Which was a meaſure, in drie things, containing about ten pottels.

[f] That is, all the wickedneſſe of the ungodly is in Gods ſight, which he keepeth in a meaſure, and can ſhut it or open it at his pleaſure.

[g] To cover the meaſure.

[h] Which repreſenteth iniquitie, as in the next verſe.

[i] Signifying, that Satan ſhould not have ſuch power againſt the Iews to tempt them, as he had in time paſt, but that God would ſhut up iniquitie in a meaſur, as in a priſon.

[k] Which declared that God would execute his judgements by the means of weak and infirme means.

[l] To remove the iniquity and afflictions that came for the ſame from Judah, to place it for ever in Babylon.

CHAP. VI.

By the charets he deſcribeth the four monarchies.

AGain, I turned and lift up mine eyes, and looked: and behold, there came four [a] charets out from between two [b] mountains, and the mountains were mountains of braſſe.

2 In the firſt charet were [c] red horſes, and in the ſecond charet [d] black horſes,

3 And in the third charet [e] white horſes, and in the fourth charet, horſes of [f] divers colours, and reddiſh.

4 Then I anſwered, and ſaid unto the Angel that talked with me, What are theſe, my Lord?

5 And the Angel anſwered, and ſaid unto me, Theſe are the [g] four ſpirits of the heaven, which go forth from ſtanding with the Lord of all the earth.

6 That with the black horſe went forth into the land of the North, and the white went out after them, and they of divers colours

[a] By charets here, as by horſes afore, he meaneth the ſwift meſſengers of God, to execute and declare his will.

[b] By the braſen mountains he meaneth the eternall counſel and providence of God, whereby he hath from before all eternitie decreed what ſhall come to paſſe, and that which neither Satan nor all the world can alter.

[c] Which ſignified the great crueltie and perſecutions that the Church had endured under divers enemies.

[d] Signifying, that they had endured great afflictions under the Babylonians.

[e] Theſe repreſented their ſtate under the Perſians, which reſtored them to libertie.

[f] Which ſignified that God would ſometime give his Church reſt, and powre his plagues upon their enemies, as he did in deſtroying Niniveh & Babylon, & other their enemies.

[g] Meaning, all the actions, and motions of Gods Spirit, which according to his unchangeable counſel he cauſeth to appear through al yͤ world.

lours went forth toward the [h] South countrey.

7 And the [i] reddiſh went out, and required to go, and paſſe through the world, and he ſaid, Go paſſe through the world. So they went through out the world.

8 Then cried he upon me, and ſpake unto me, ſaying, Behold, theſe that go toward the North countrey, have pacified my [k] ſpirit in the North countrey.

9 And the word of the Lord came unto me, ſaying,

10 Take of them of the captivitie, even of Heldai, and of Tobijah, and Jedajah, which are come from Babel, and come thou the ſame day, and go unto the houſe [l] of Joſhia, the ſon of Zephaniah.

11 Take even ſilver, and gold, and make crowns, and ſet them upon the [m] head of Jehoſhua, the ſonne of Jehozadak the high Prieſt,

12 And ſpeak unto him, ſaying, Thus ſpeaketh the Lord of hoſtes, and ſaith, Behold the man whoſe name is the [n] Branch, and he ſhall grow up [o] out of his place, and he ſhall [p] build the Temple of the Lord,

13 Even he ſhall build the Temple of the Lord, and he ſhall bear the [q] glory, and ſhall ſit and rule upon his throne, and he ſhall be a Prieſt upon his throne, and the counſell of peace ſhall be between them [r] both.

14 And the crowns ſhall be to [ſ] Helem, and to Tobijah, and to Jedajah, and to [t] Hen the ſon of Zephaniah, for a [v] memoriall in the temple of the Lord.

15 And they that are [x] far off, ſhall come and build in the Temple of the Lord, and ye ſhall know, that the Lord of hoſts hath ſent me unto you. And this ſhall come to paſſe, if ye will [y] obey the voice of the Lord your God.

Chap. VII.

9 The true faſting. 11 The rebellion of the people is the cauſe of their affliction.

And in the fourth year of King Darius, the word of the Lord came unto Zechariah in the fourth day of the ninth moneth, even in [a] Chiſleu,

2 For [b] they had ſent unto the Houſe of God Sharezer, and Regem-melech, and their men to pray before the Lord,

3 And to ſpeak unto the Prieſts, which were in the houſe of the Lord of hoſts, and to the Prophets, ſaying, Should I [c] weep in the fiſt moneth, and [d] ſeparate my ſelf as I have done theſe ſo many [e] years?

4 Then came the word of the Lord of hoſts unto me, ſaying,

5 Speak unto all the people of the land, and to the [f] Prieſts, and ſay, When ye faſted, and mourned in the fiſt and ſeventh month, even theſe ſeventie years, did ye faſt unto me? [g] do I approve it?

6 And when ye did eat, and when ye did drink, did ye not eat [h] for your ſelves, and drink for your ſelves?

7 Should ye not hear the words, which the Lord [i] hath cryed by the miniſterie of the former Prophets when Ieruſalem was inhabited, and in proſperitie, and the cities thereof round about her, when the South and the plain was inhabited?

8 And the word of the Lord came unto Zechariah, ſaying,

9 Thus ſpeaketh the Lord of hoſts, ſaying, [k] Execute true judgement, and ſhew mercy and compaſſion, every man to his brother,

10 And oppreſſe not the widow, nor the fatherleſſe, the ſtranger nor the poore, and let none of you imagine evill againſt his brother in your heart.

11 But they refuſed to hearken, and [l] pulled away the ſhoulder, and ſtopped their eares, that they ſhould not hear.

12 Yea, they made their hearts as an Adamant ſtone, leſt they ſhould hear the Law, and the words which the Lord of hoſts ſent in his [m] Spirit by the miniſterie of the former Prophets: therefore came a great wrath from the Lord of hoſtes.

13 Therefore it is come to paſſe, that as he cryed, and they would not hear, ſo they cryed, and I would not hear, ſayeth the Lord of hoſts.

14 But I ſcattered them among all the nations, whom they knew not: thus the land was deſolate [n] after them, that no man paſſed thorow nor returned: for they layed the pleaſant land [o] waſte.

Chap. VIII.

2 Of the return of the people unto Ieruſalem, and of the mercie of God toward them. 16 Of good workes. 20 The calling of the Gentiles.

Again, the word of the Lord of hoſtes came to me, ſaying,

2 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, I was [a] jelous for Zion with great jelouſie, and I was jelous for her with great wrath.

3 Thus ſaith the Lord, I will return unto Zion, and will dwel in the mids of Ieruſalem: and Ieruſalem ſhall be called a citie of trueth, and the mountain of the Lord of hoſts, the holy Mountain.

4 Thus ſayeth the Lord of hoſtes, There ſhall yet old [c] men and old women dwel in the ſtreets of Ieruſalem, and every man with his ſtaffe in his hand for very age,

5 And the ſtreets of the citie ſhall be full

[h] That is, toward Egypt, and other countreyes there about.

[i] That is, they of divers colours, which aske leave, to ſignifie that Satan hath no power to hurt or afflict till God give it him, Iob 1.12.

[k] By puniſhing the Caldeans, mine anger ceaſed, and you were delivered.

[l] To receive of him and the other three, money to make the two crowns: which were men of great authoritie among the Iews, and doubted of the reſtitution of the kingdom, and of the Prieſthood, & hurt others by their example.

[m] Becauſe this could not be attributed to any one according to the Law, therefore it followeth that Iehoſhua muſt repreſent the Meſſiah, who was both Prieſt and King.

[n] Meaning Chriſt, of whom Iehoſhua was the figure: for in Greek they were both called Ieſus.

[o] That is, of himſelf without the helpe of man.

[p] Which declareth that none could build this Temple, whereof Haggai ſpeaketh, but onely Chriſt: and therefore it was ſpirituall, and not materiall, Hagg.2.10.

[q] Whereof Iehoſhua had but a ſhadow.

[r] The two offices of the kingdom and Prieſthood ſhall be ſo joyned together, that they ſhall be no more diſſevered.

[ſ] Who was alſo called Heldai.

[t] He was alſo called Ioſhia.

[v] That they may acknowledge their infirmitie, which looked that all things ſhould have been reſtored incontinently: and of this their infidelity theſe two crowns ſhall remain as tokens, Act.1.6.

[x] That is, the Gentiles by the preaching of the Goſpel ſhall help toward the building of this Spirituall Temple.

[y] If ye will beleeve and remain in the obedience of faith.

[a] Which contained part of November, and part of December.

[b] That is, the reſt of the people that remained yet in Chaldea, ſent to the Church at Ieruſalem, for the reſolution of theſe queſtions, becauſe theſe feaſts were conſented upon by the agreement of the whole Church, the one in the month that the Temple was deſtroyed, and the other when Gedaliah was ſlain, Ier. 41.2.

[c] By weeping and mourning, appear what exerciſes they uſed in their faſting.

[d] That is, prepare my ſelf with all devotion to this faſt.

[e] Which was now ſince the time the Temple was deſtroyed.

[f] For there were both of the people and of the Prieſts, which doubted as touching this controverſie, beſides them that yet remained in Chaldea, and reaſoned of it, as one of the chief points of their religion.

[g] For they thought they had deſerved toward God, becauſe of this faſt, which they invented of themſelves: and though faſting of it ſelf be good, yet becauſe they thought it a ſervice toward God, and truſted therein, it is heer reproved.

[h] Did ye not eat, and drinke for your own commoditie and neceſſitie? and ſo likewiſe ye did abſtain according to your own fantaſies, and not after the preſcript of my Law.

[i] Hereby he condemneth their hypocriſie, which thought by their faſting to pleaſe God, and by ſuch things as they invented, and in the mean ſeaſon would not ſerve him as he had commanded.

[k] He ſheweth that they did not faſt with a ſincere heart, but for hypocriſie, and that it was not done of a pure religion, becauſe that they lacked theſe offices of charitie, which ſhould have declared that they were godly, Matth.23.23.

[l] And would not cary the Lords burden, which was ſweet and eaſie, but would bear their own, which was heavie and grievous to the fleſh, thinking to merite thereby: which ſimilitude is taken of oxen, which ſhrink at the yoke. Nehem.9.29.

[m] Which declareth that they rebelled not onely againſt the Prophets, but againſt the Spirit of God, that ſpake in them.

[n] That is, after they were caried captive.

[o] By their ſins, whereby they provoked God to anger.

[a] I loved my citie with a ſingular love, ſo yͤ I could not abide that any ſhould do her any injurie.

[b] Becauſe ſhe ſhall be faithfull and loyall toward me her huſband.

[c] Though their enemies did greatly moleſt and trouble them, yet God would come and dwell among them, and ſo preſerve them ſo long as nature would ſuffer them to live, and increaſe their children in great abundance.

of boyes and girles, playing in the ſtreets thereof.

6 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, Though it be [d] unpoſſible in the eyes of the remnant of this people in theſe dayes, ſhould it therefore be unpoſſible in my ſight, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes?

7 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, Behold, I will deliver my people from the Eaſt countrey, and from the Weſt countrey:

8 And I will bring them, and they ſhall [e] dwell in the mids of Jeruſalem, and they ſhall be my people, and I will be their God in trueth, and in righteouſneſſe.

9 Thus ſayeth the Lord of hoſtes, Let your [f] hands be ſtrong, ye that hear in theſe dayes theſe words by the mouth of the Prophets, which were in the day, that the foundation of the houſe of the Lord of hoſtes was laid, that the Temple might be builded.

10 For before theſe dayes there was no hire for [g] man, nor any hire for beaſt, neither was there any peace to him that went out or came in becauſe of the affliction: for I ſet all men, every one againſt his neighbour.

11 But now, I will not intreat the reſidue of this people as a foretime, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes.

12 For the ſeed ſhall be proſperous: the vine ſhall give her fruit, and the ground ſhal give her increaſe, and the heavens ſhall give their deaw, and I will cauſe the remnant of this people to poſſeſſe all theſe things.

13 And it ſhall come to paſſe, that as ye were a curſe among the heathen, O houſe of Judah, and houſe of Iſrael, ſo will I deliver you, and ye ſhall be a bleſſiug: fear not, but let your hands be ſtrong:

14 For thus ſaith the Lord of Hoſtes, as I thought to puniſh [h] you, when your fathers provoked me unto wrath, ſaith the Lord of hoſts, and repented not,

15 So again have I determined in theſe dayes [i] to do well unto Jeruſalem, and to the houſe of Judah: fear ye not.

16 Theſe are the things that ye ſhall do, Speak ye every man the truth unto his neighbour: execute judgement truely and uprightly in your gates,

17 And let none of you imagine evil in your hearts againſt his neighbour, and love no falſe oath: for all theſe are the things that I hate, ſaith the Lord.

18 And the word of the Lord of hoſtes came unto me, ſaying,

19 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, The faſt of the fourth month, and the faſt of the fift, and the faſt of the ſeventh, and the faſt of the [k] tenth, ſhall be to the houſe of Judah joy and gladneſſe, and proſperous high feaſts: therefore love the trueth and peace.

20 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, that there ſhall yet come [l] people, and the inhabitants of great cities,

21 And they that dwell in one citie, ſhal go to another, ſaying, * Up, let us go and pray before the Lord, and ſeek the Lord of hoſtes: I will go alſo.

22 Yea, great people, and mighty nations ſhall come to ſeek the Lord of hoſts in Jeruſalem, and to pray before the Lord.

23 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, In thoſe dayes ſhall ten men take hold out of all languages of the nations, even take hold of the ſkirt of him that is a Jew, and ſay, we will go with you: for we have heard, that God is with you.

CHAP. IX.

1 The threatning of the Gentiles. 9 The comming of Chriſt.

THe burden of the word of the Lord in the land of [a] Hadrach: and Damaſcus ſhall be his [b] reſt: when the [c] eyes of man, even of all the tribes of Iſrael ſhall be toward the Lord.

2 And Hamath alſo ſhall border [d] thereby: Tyrus alſo and Zidon, though they be [e] very wiſe.

3 For Tyrus did build her ſelf a ſtrong hold, and heaped up ſilver as the duſt, and gold as the myre of the ſtreets.

4 Behold, the Lord will ſpoile her, and he will ſmite her [f] power in the Sea, and ſhe ſhall be devoured with fire.

5 Aſhkelon ſhall ſee it, and fear, and Azzah alſo ſhal be very ſorowfull, and Ekron: for her countenance ſhall be aſhamed, and the King ſhall periſh from Azzah, and Aſhkelon ſhall not be inhabited.

6 And the [g] ſtranger ſhall dwell in Aſhdod, and I will cut off the pride of the Philiſtims.

7 And I will take away his blood out of his mouth, and his abominations from between his [h] teeth: but he that remaineth, even he ſhall be for our God, and he ſhalbe as a Prince in Judah, but [i] Ekron ſhall be as a Jebuſite.

8 And I will camp about [k] mine houſe againſt the armie, againſt him that paſſeth by, and againſt him that returneth, and no oppreſſour ſhall come upon them any more: for now [l] have I ſeen with mine eyes.

9 Rejoyce greatly, O daughter Zion, ſhout for joy, O daughter Jeruſalem, behold, thy king commeth unto thee: [m] he is juſt and ſaved himſelf, poor & riding upon an [n] aſſe, and upon a colt the foale of an aſſe.

14 And the Lord ſhall be ſeene over them, and his arrow ſhall goe forth as the lightning: and the Lord God ſhal blowe the trumpet, and ſhall come forth with the whirlewindes of the South.

15 The Lord of hoſtes ſhall defend them, and they ſhall devoure them, [z] and ſubdue them with ſling ſtones, and they ſhal drink, and make a noyſe as thorow wine, and they ſhall be filled like bowles, and as the hornes of the altar.

16 And the Lord their God ſhall deliver them in that day as the flocke of his people: for they ſhall be as the [a] ſtones of the crowne lifted up upon his land:

17 For how great is his goodneſſe! and how great is his beautie! corne ſhall make the young men cheerefull, and new wine the maides.

CHAP X.

1 The vanitie of idolatrie. 3 The Lord promiſeth to viſite and comfort the houſe of Iſrael.

Aſke you of the [a] Lord raine in the time of the latter raine: ſo ſhall the Lord make white cloudes, and give you ſhowres of rain, and to every one graſſe in the field.

2 Surely [b] the idoles have ſpoken vanitie, and the ſoothſayers have ſeene a lye, and the dreamers have told a vaine thing: they comfort in vaine: therefore [c] they went away as ſheepe: they were troubled, becauſe there was no ſhepherd.

3 My wrath was kindled againſt the ſhepherds, and I did viſite the [d] goates: but the Lord of hoſtes will viſite his flocke the houſe of Judah, and will make them as [e] his beautifull horſe in the battell.

4 Out [f] of him ſhall the corner come forth: out of him the naile, out of him the bowe of battell, and out of him every [g] appointer of tribute alſo.

5 And they ſhall be as the mightie men, which tread downe their enemies in the mire of the ſtreets in the battell, and they ſhall fight, becauſe the Lord is with them, and the riders on horſes ſhall be confounded.

6 And I will ſtrengthen the houſe of Judah, and I will preſerve the houſe [h] of Joſeph, and I will bring them again, for I pitie them: and they ſhall be as though I had not caſt them off: for I am the Lord their God, and will heare them.

7 And they of Ephraim ſhall be as a giant, & their heart ſhall reioyce as thorow wine: yea, their children ſhall ſee it, and be glad: and their heart ſhall reioyce in the Lord.

8 I will [i] hiſſe for them, and gather them, for I have redeemed them: and they ſhall increaſe, as they have increaſed.

9 And I will [k] ſow them among the people, and they ſhall remember me in farre countreyes: and they ſhall live with their children and [l] turne againe.

10 I will bring them againe alſo out of the land of Egypt, and gather them out of Aſſhur: and I will bring them into the land of Gilead, and Lebanon, and place ſhall not be found for them.

11 And he [m] ſhall goe into the ſea with affliction, and ſhall ſmite the waves in the ſea, and all the depthes of the river ſhall drie up: and the pride of Aſſhur ſhall be caſt down, and the ſcepter of Egypt ſhall depart away.

12 And I will ſtrengthen them in the Lord, & they ſhall walke in his Name, ſayth the Lord.

CHAP XI.

1 The deſtruction of the Temple. 4 The care of the faithfull is committed to Chriſt. 7 A grivous viſion againſt Ieruſalem and Iudah.

Open thy doores, O [a] Lebanon, and the fire ſhall devoure thy cedars.

2 Howle, [b] firre trees: for the cedar is fallen, becauſe all the mighty are deſtoyed: howle ye, O oakes of Baſhan, for the [c] defenced forreſt is cut downe.

2 There is the voyce of the howling of the ſhepherds, for their [d] glory is deſtroyed: the voyce of the roaring of lyons whelpes, for the pride of Jorden is deſtroyed.

4 Thus ſaith the Lord my God, Feed the ſheepe of the [e] ſlaughter.

5 They that poſſeſſe them, ſlay them [f] & ſin not: and they that ſel them, ſay, [g] Bleſſed be the Lord, for I am rich, and their owne ſhepherds ſpare them not.

6 Surely I will no more ſpare thoſe that dwell in the land, ſayth the Lord: but loe, [h] I will deliver the men every one into his neighbours hand, and into the hand of [p] That is, from the red ſea, to the ſea called Syriacum: & by theſe places which the Iewes knew, he meaneth an infinite ſpace and compaſſe over the whole world.

[q] That is, from Euphrates.

[r] Meaning, Ieruſalem, or the Church which is ſaved by the blood of Chriſt, whereof the blood of the ſacrifices was a figure, and is here called the covenant of the Church, becauſe God made it with his Church, and left it with them for the love that he bare unto them.

[ſ] God ſheweth that he will deliver his Church out of all dangers, ſeeme they never ſo great.

[t] That is, into the holy land where the citie and the Temple are, where God will defend you.

[u] Meaning, the faithfull, which ſeemed to be in danger of their enemies on every ſide, and yet lived in hope that God would reſtore them to liberty.

[x] That is, double benefits, and proſperity, in reſpect of that which your fathers enjoyed from Davids time to the captivitie.

[y] I will make Judah and Ephriam, that is, my whole Church, victorious againſt all enemies, which he here meaneth by the Grecians.

[z] He promiſeth that the Iewes ſhall deſtroy their enemies and have abundance and exceſſe of all things, as there is abundance on the altar when the ſacrifice is offered: which things are not to move them to intemperancie, but to ſobrietie, and a thankfull remembrance of Gods great liberalitie.

[a] The faithfull ſhall be preſerved, and reverenced of all, that the very enemies ſhall be compelled to eſteeme them: for Gods glory ſhall ſhine in them, as Joſephus declareth of Alexander the great when he met Iadi the high Prieſt.

[a] The Prophet reproveth the Iewes becauſe by their owne infidelitie they put back Gods graces promiſed, and ſo famine came by Gods juſt judgement: therefore to avoid this plague he willeth them to turne to God, and to pray in faith to him, and ſo he will give them abundance.

[b] He calleth to remembrance Gods puniſhments in times paſt, becauſe they truſted not in him, but in their idoles and ſorcerers, who ever deceived them.

[c] That is, the Iewes went into captivity.

[d] Meaning, the cruel governors, which did oppreſſe the poore ſheepe: Ezek. 34. 16.17.

[e] He will be mercifull to his Church, and cheriſh them as a King or Prince doeth his beſt horſe, which ſhall be for his owne uſe in the warre.

[f] Out of Judah ſhall the chieſe governour proceed, who ſhall be as a corner to uphold the building, and as a naile to faſten it together.

[g] Over their enemies.

[h] That is, the tenne tribes, which ſhould be gathered under Chriſt, to the reſt of the Church.

[i] Whereby he declareth the power of God, who needeth no great preparation, when he will deliver his: for with a becke or hiſſe he can call them from all places ſuddenly.

[k] Though they ſhall yet be ſcattered and ſeeme to be loſt, yet it ſhall be profitable unto them: for there they ſhall come to the knowledge of my Name, which was accompliſhed under the Goſpel among whom it was firſt preached.

[l] Not that they ſhould return into their countrey, but be gathered and joyned in one faith, by the doctrine of the Goſpel.

[m] He alludeth to the deliverance of the people out of Egypt, whereas the Angel ſmote the floods and rivers.

[a] Becauſe the Iews thought themſelves ſo ſtrong by reaſon of this mountaine, that no enemie could come to hurt them the prophet ſheweth, that when God ſendeth the enemies, it ſhall ſhew it ſelfe ready to receive them.

[b] Shewing that if the ſtrong men were deſtroied, the weaker were not able to reſiſt.

[c] Seeing that Lebanon was deſtroyed, which was the ſtrongeſt munition, the weaker places could not think to hold out.

[d] That is, the renoume of Judah and Iſrael ſhould periſh.

[e] Which beeing now deſtinate to be ſlain, were delivered as out of the lions mouth.

[f] Their governours deſtroy them without any remorſe of conſcience, or yet thinking that they doe evill.

[g] He noteth the hypocrites, which ever have the Name of God in their mouthes, though in their life and doings they denie God, attributing their gaine to Gods bleſſings, which commeth of the ſpoyle of their brethren.

[h] I will cauſe one to deſtroy another.

his[i] King: and they ſhall ſmite the land, and out of their hands I will not deliver them.

7 For I fed the ſheep of ſlaughter, even the [k]poore of the flock, and I took unto me[l] two ſtaves: the one I called Beautie, and the other I called Bands, and I fed the ſheep.

8 [m] Three ſhepherds alſo I cut off in one moneth, and my ſoule lothed [n] them, and their ſoule abhorred me.

9 Then ſaid I, I will not feed you: that that dieth, let it die: and that that periſheth, let it periſh: and let the remnant eat, every one the fleſh of his neighbour.

10 And I took my ſtaffe, even Beauty, and brake it, that I might diſanul my covenant, which I had made with all people.

11 And it was broken in that day: and ſo the[o] poor of the ſheep that waited upon me knew that it was the word of the Lord.

12 And I ſaid unto them, If ye think it good, give me my [p] wages: and if no, leave off: ſo they weighed for my wages thirtie pieces of ſilver.

13 And the Lord ſaid unto me, Caſt it unto the [q] potter: a goodly price, that I was valued at of them. And I took the thirtie pieces of ſilver, and caſt them to the potter in the houſe of the Lord.

14 Then brake I mine other ſtaffe, even the Bands, that I might diſſolve the brotherhood betweene Judah and Iſrael.

15 And the Lord ſaid unto me, Take to thee yet the [r] inſtruments of a fooliſh ſhepherd.

16 For loe, I will raiſe up a ſhepherd in the land, which ſhall not look for the thing that is loſt, nor ſeek the tender lambes, nor heale that that is hurt, nor feed that that [ſ] ſtandeth up: but he ſhall eat the fleſh of the fat, and teare their clawes in pieces.

17 O idole ſhepherd that leaveth the flock: the ſword ſhallbe upon his [t] arme, and upon his right eye. His arme ſhall be cleane dried up, and his right eye ſhall be utterly darkened.

CHAP. XII.

Of the deſtruction and building againe of Ieruſalem.

THe burden of the word of the Lord upon [a] Iſrael, ſaith the Lord, which ſpread the heavens, and laid the foundation of the earth, and formed the ſpirit of man within him.

2 Behold, I will make Jeruſalem a[b] cup of poyſon unto all the people round about: and alſo with Judah will he be, in the ſiege againſt Jeruſalem.

3 And in that day I will make Jeruſalem an heavie ſtone for all people: all that lift it up, ſhall be torne, though all the people of the earth be gathered together againſt it.

4 In that day, ſaith the Lord, will I ſmite every horſe with aſtoniſhment, and his rider with madneſſe, and I will open mine eyes upon the houſe of Judah, and will ſmite every horſe of the people with blindneſſe.

5 And the Princes of Judah ſhall ſay in their hearts, The [c] inhabitants of Jeruſalem ſhallbe my ſtrength in the Lord of hoſtes their God.

6 In that day will I make the princes of Judah like coles of fire among the wood, & like a firebrand in the ſheafe, and they ſhall devoure all the people round about on the right hand and on the left: and Jeruſalem ſhall be inhabited againe in her owne place, even in Jeruſalem.

7 The Lord alſo ſhall preſerve the [d] tents of Judah, as afore time: Therefore the glorie of the houſe of David ſhall not boaſt, nor the glory of the inhabitants of Jeruſalem againſt Judah.

8 In that day ſhall the Lord defend the inhabitants of Jeruſalem, & he that is feeble among them, in that day ſhal be as David: & the houſe of David ſhallbe as Gods houſe, and as the Angel of the Lord before them.

9 And in that day will I ſeek to deſtroy al the nations that come againſt Jeruſalem.

10 And I will powre upon the houſe of David, and upon the inhabitants of Jeruſalem the Spirit of[e] grace and of compaſſion, and they ſhall look upon me, whom they have[f] peirced, and they ſhall lament for [g] him, as one mourneth for his onely ſonne, and be ſorie for him as one is ſorie for his firſt borne.

11 In that day ſhall there be a great mourning in Jeruſalem, as the[h] mourning of [i] Hadadrimmon in the valley of Megiddon.

12 And the[k] land ſhall bewaile, every family [l] apart: the familie of the [m] houſe of David apart, and their wives apart: the familie of the houſe of Nathan apart, and their wives apart:

13 The family of the houſe of Levi apart, and their wives apart: the familie [n] of Shemei apart, and their wives apart:

14 All the families that [o] remaine, every familie apart, and their wives apart.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Of the fountaine of grace. 2 Of the clean riddance of idolatrie. 3 The zeale of the godly againſt falſe prophets.

IN that day there [a] ſhall be a fountain opened to the houſe of David, and to the inhabitants of Jeruſalem, for ſinne and for uncleanneſſe.

2 And in that day, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, I will cut off the [b] names of the idols out of the land: and they ſhall no more be remembred: and I wil cauſe the[c] prophets, & the uncleane ſpirit to depart out of the land.

3 And when any ſhall yet [d] propheſie,

---

[i] Their governours ſhal execute cruelty over them.

[k] That is, the ſmall remnant whom he thought worthy to ſhew mercy unto.

[l] God ſheweth his great benefits toward his people to convince them of greater ingratitud, which would neither be ruled by his moſt beautifull order of governement, neither continue in the bands of brotherly unities, and therefote he breaketh both the one and the other, Some read, for Bands, Deſtroyers, but in the 14. verſe the firſt reading is confirmed.

[m] Wherby he ſheweth his care & diligence, ỹ he would ſuffer them to have no evill rulers becauſe they ſhould conſider his great love.

[n] Meaning the people, becauſe they would not acknowledge theſe great benefits of God.

[o] He ſheweth that the leaſt part ever profit by Gods judgements.

[p] Beſides their ingratitude God accuſeth them of malice & wickedneſſe, which did not onely forger his benefits, but eſteemed them as things of nought.

[q] Shewing, that it was to little to pay his wages which could ſcare ſuffice to make a few tiles for to cover the Temple.

[r] Signifying, that they ſhould have a certain kind of regiment, and outward ſhew of goverment: but in effect it ſhould be nothing: for they ſhould be wolves, and devouring beaſts in ſtead of ſhepherds.

[ſ] And is in health and ſound.

[t] By the arme he ſignifieth ſtrength, as he doth wiſedome and judgement by the eye: that is, the plange of God ſhall take away both thy ſtrength and judgement.

[a] That is, the ten tribes, which neglected Gods benefite in delivering their brethren, and had rather remaine in captivity, then to returne home, when God called them.

[b] Ieruſalem ſhall be defended againſt all her enemies: ſo ſhall God defend all Judah, and ſhall deſtroy the enemies.

[c] Every captaine that had many under him afore, ſhal now think that the ſmall power of Ieruſalem ſhall be ſufficient to defend them againſt all enemies, becauſe the Lord is among them.

[d] The people which are now as it were diſperſed by the fields, and lie open to their enemies, ſhall be no leſſe preſerved by my power, then if they were under their Kings, (which is meant by the houſe of David) or in their defenced cities.

[e] They ſhall have the feeling of my grace by faith, and know that I have compaſſion on them.

[f] That is, whom they have continually vexed with their obſtinacie, and grieved my ſpirit, Iohn 19.37 where it is referred to Chriſts bodie, which here is referred to the Spirit of God.

[g] They ſhall turne to God by true repentance, whom before they had ſo grievouſly offended by their ingratitude.

[h] They ſhall lament and repent exceedingly for their offences againſt God.

[i] Which was the name of a towne and place neere to Megiddo, where Ioſiah was ſlaine. 2.Chron, 35,22.

[k] That is, in al places where the Iewes ſhall remain.

[l] Signifying that this mourning or repentance ſhould not be a vaine ceremonie: but every one touched with his owne griefe ſhal lament.

[m] Under theſe certaine families he containeth all the tribes, and ſheweth that both the Kings and the Prieſtes had by their ſinnes prierced Chriſt.

[n] Called alſo Simeon.

[o] To wit, which were elect by grace, and preſerved from the common deſtruction.

[a] He ſheweth what ſhall be the fruit of their repentance, to wit, remiſſion of ſins, by the blood of Chriſt, which ſhal be a continuall running fountaine and purge them from all uncleanneſſe.

[b] He promiſeth that God will alſo purge them from al ſuperſtition, and that their religion ſhall be pure.

[c] Meaning the falſe prophets and teachers, who are the corrupters of all religion, whom the Prophet here calleth uncleane ſpirits.

[d] That is, when they ſhall propheſie lies, and make God, who is the author of truth, a cloke thereunto.

his father and his mother that begate him, ſhall ſay unto him, Thou ſhalt not live, for thou ſpeakeſt lies in the Name of the Lord: and his father and his mother that begate him, [e] ſhall thruſt him through, when he propheſieth.

4 And in that day ſhall the prophets be [f] aſhamed every one of his viſion, when he hath propheſied: neither ſhall they weare a rough garment to deceive.

5 But he ſhall ſay, I am no [g] Prophet: I am an husbandman: for man taught me to be an herdman from my youth up.

6 And one ſhall ſay unto him, What are theſe [h] wounds in thine hands? Then ſhall he anſwere, Thus was I wounded in the houſe of my friends.

7 ¶ Ariſe, O ſword, upon my [i] ſhepherd, and upon the man, that is my fellow, ſayth the Lord of hoſtes: ſmite the ſhepherd and the ſheep ſhall be ſcattered: and I will turne mine hand upon the little ones.

8 And in all the land, ſaith the Lord, [k] two parts therein ſhall be cut off, and die: but the third ſhall be left therein.

9 And I will bring that third part thorow the fire, and will fine them as the ſilver is fined, and will trie them as gold is tried: they ſhall call on my Name, and I wil heare them: I will ſay, It is my people, and they ſhall ſay, the Lord is my God.

e He ſheweth what zeale the godly ſhall have under the kingdome of Chriſt. Deut. 13.6.9

f God ſhall make them aſhamed of their errors & lies and bring them to repentance: and they ſhall no more weare Prophets apparrell to make their doctrine ſeeme more holy.

g They ſhall confeſſe their former ignorance, and be content to labour for their living.

h Hereby he ſheweth, that though their parents and friends dealt more gently with them and put them not to death, yet they would ſo puniſh their children that became falſe prophets, that the markes and ſignes ſhould remain for ever.

i The Prophet warneth the Iewes, that before this great comfort ſhould come under Chriſt, ther ſhould be an horrible diſſipation among the people: for their governours & paſtours ſhould be deſtroyed, and the people ſhould be as ſcattered ſheep: and the Evangeliſt applyeth this to Chriſt, becauſe he was the head of all Paſtours, Matth. 26.31.

k The greateſt part ſhall have no portion of theſe bleſſings, and yet they that ſhall enioy them, ſhall be tried with great afflictions, ſo that it ſhall be knowen that onely Gods power and his mercies doe preſerve them.

CHAP. XIV.

8 Of the doctrine that ſhall proceed out of the Church, and of the reſtauration thereof.

Behold, the day of the Lord commeth, and thy ſpoyle ſhall be [a] devided in the middes of thee,

2 For I will gather all nations againſt Jeruſalem to battell, and the citie ſhall be taken, aud the houſes ſpoyled, and the women defiled, and halfe of the citie ſhall goe into captivity, and the reſidue of the people ſhall not be cut off from the citie.

3 Then ſhall the Lord goe forth, and fight againſt thoſe nations, as when he [b] fought in the day of battell:

4 And his feet ſhall ſtand in that day upon the [c] mount of olives, which is before Jeruſalem on the Eaſt ſide, and the mount of olives ſhall cleave in the mids thereof: toward the Eaſt and toward the Weſt there ſhall be a very great [d] valley, and halfe of the mountaine ſhall remove toward the North, and halfe of the mountaine toward the South.

5 And ye ſhal flee unto the [e] valley of the mountaines: for the valley of the mountaines ſhall reach unto Azal: yea, ye ſhall flee like as ye fled from the [f] earthquake in the dayes of Uzziah King of Judah: and the Lord [g] my God ſhall come, and all the Saints with thee.

6 And in that day ſhall there be no cleare light, but dark.

7 And there ſhall be a day (it is knowen to the Lord) [h] neither day nor night, but about the evening time it ſhall be light.

8 And in that day ſhall there [i] waters of life goe out from Jeruſalem, halfe of them toward the Eaſt Sea, and halfe of them toward the uttermoſt Sea, and ſhall be, both in ſummer and winter.

9 And the Lord ſhall be King over all the earth: in that day ſhall there be one [k] Lord, and his name ſhall be one.

10 All the land ſhall be turned [l] as a plaine from Geba to Rimmon, toward the South of Jeruſalem, and it ſhall be lifted up, and inhabited in her place, from Benjamins gate unto the place of the firſt gate, unto the corner gate, and from the towre of Hananiel, unto the kings winepreſſes.

11 And men ſhall dwell in it, and there ſhall be no more deſtruction, but Jeruſalem ſhall be ſafely inhabited.

12 And this ſhall be the plague, wherewith the Lord will ſmite all people, that have fought againſt Jeruſalem: their fleſh ſhall conſume away, though they ſtand upon their feet, and their eyes ſhall conſume in their holes, and their tongue ſhall conſume in their mouth.

13 But in that day [m] a great tumult of the Lord ſhall be among them, and every one ſhall take [n] the hand of his neighbour, and his hand ſhall riſe up againſt the hand of his neighbour,

14 And Judah ſhall fight againſt Jeruſalem, and the arme of all the heathen ſhall be gathered round about, with [o] gold and ſilver, and great abundance of apparell.

15 Yet this ſhall be the plague of the horſe, of the mule, of the camell and of the aſſe, and of all the beaſts that be in theſe tents as this [p] plague.

16 But it ſhall come to paſſe that every one that is left of all the nations, which came againſt Jeruſalem, ſhall goe up from yeare to yeare to worſhip the King the Lord of hoſtes, and to keep the feaſt of Tabernacles.

17 And who ſo will not come up of all the families of the earth unto Jeruſalem to worſhip the King the Lord of hoſts, even upon them ſhall come no rain.

18 And if the familie of [q] Egypt goe not up, and come not, it ſhall not rain upon them. This ſhal be the plague wherewith the Lord wil ſmite all the heathen, that com not up to keep the feaſt of Tabernacles.

19 This ſhall be the puniſhment of Egypt, and the puniſhment of all the nations a He armeth the godly againſt the great tentations that ſhould come before they enioied this proſperous eſtate, promiſed under Chriſt, that when theſe dangers ſhould come, they might know that they were warned of them before.

b As your fathers and you have had experience, both at the red Sea, and at all other times.

c By this manner of ſpeech the prophet ſheweth Gods power and care over his Church, & how he will as it were by miracle ſave it.

d So ỷ out of al the parts of the world, they ſhall ſee Ieruſalem, which was before hid with this mountaine: and this he meaneth of the ſpirituall Ieruſalem, the Church.

e He ſpeaketh of the hypocrites, which could not abide Gods preſence but ſhould flee into al places, where they might hide them among the mountaines.

f Read Amos 1.1.

g Becauſe they did not credit the Prophets words, he turneth to God and comforteth himſelfe in that that he knew that theſe things ſhould come, and ſaith, Thou, O God, with thine Angels wilt come to performe this great thing.

h Signifying, that there ſhould be great troubles in the Church, and that the time hereof is in the Lords handes, yet at length (which is here meant by the evening) God would ſend comfort.

i That is, the ſpirituall graces of God, which ſhould ever continue in moſt abundance.

k All idolatrie and ſuperſtition ſhall be aboliſhed, and there ſhall be one God, one faith, & one religion.

l This new Ieruſalem ſhall be ſeen through all the world, and ſhall excell the firſt in excellencie, wealth, and greatneſſe.

m God will not onely raiſe up warre witthout, but ſedition at home to trie them n To hurt, and oppreſſe him.

o The enemies are rich, and therefore ſhall not come for a prey, bnt to deſtroy and ſhed blood.

p As the men ſhould be deſtroyed, verſe 12.

q By the Egyptians, which were greateſt enemies to true religion, he meaneth all the Gentiles.

that come not up to keep the feaſt of Tabernacles.

20 In that day there ſhall be written upon the [r] bridles of the horſes, The holineſſe unto the Lord, and the [ſ] pots in the Lords houſe ſhall be like the bowles before the altar.

21 Yea, every pot in Jeruſalem and Judah ſhall be holy unto the Lord of hoſtes, and all they that ſacrifice, ſhall come and take of them, and ſeeth therein: and in that day there ſhall be no more the [t] Canaanite in the houſe of the Lord of hoſtes.

[r] Signifying, that to what ſervice they were put now (whether to labour, or to ſerve in warre) they were now holy, becauſe the Lord had ſanctified them.

[ſ] As precious the one as the other, becauſe they ſhall be ſanctified.

[t] But all ſhall be pure and cleane, and thereſhall neither be hypocrite, nor any that ſhall corrupt the true ſervice of God.

MALACHI.

The Argument.

This Prophet was one of the three, which God raiſed up for the comfort of his Church after the captivitie, and after him there was no more untill John Baptiſt was ſent, which was either a token of Gods wrath, or an admonition that they ſhould with more fervent deſires look for the comming of Meſſiah. He confirmeth the ſame doctrine, that the two former doe, but chiefely he reproveth the Prieſts for their covetouſneſſe, and for that they ſerved God after their owne fantaſies, and not according to the preſcript of his word. He alſo noteth certain peculiar ſinnes, which were then among them, as marrying of Idolatrous and many wives, murmurings againſt God, impatiencie, and ſuch like. Notwithſtanding, for the comfort of the godly, he declareth that God would not forget his promiſe made unto their fathers, but would ſend Chriſt his meſſenger, in whom the covenant ſhould be accompliſhed, whoſe comming ſhould be terrible to the wicked, and bring all conſolation and joy unto the godly.

Chap. I.

A complaint againſt Iſrael, and chiefly the Prieſts.

The [a] burden of the word of the Lord to Iſrael by the miniſterie of Malachi.

2 I have loved you, ſaith the Lord: yet ye ſay, [b] Wherin haſt thou loved us? Was not Eſau Jaakobs brother, ſaith the Lord? yet I loved Jaakob,

3 And I [c] hated Eſau, and made his mountains waſte, and his heritage a wilderneſſe for dragons.

4 Though Edom ſay, We are impoveriſhed, but we will returne and build the deſolate places, yet ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, They ſhall build, but I will deſtroy it, and they ſhall call them, The border of wickedneſſe, and the people, with whom the Lord is angry for ever.

5 And your eies ſhall ſee it, and ye ſhall ſay, The Lord will be magnified upon the border of Iſrael.

6 A ſonne honoureth his father, and a ſervant his maſter. If then I be a father, where is mine honour? and If I be a maſter, where is my feare, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes unto you, [d] O Prieſts, that deſpiſe my Name? and ye ſay, [e] Wherein have we deſpiſed thy Name?

7 Ye offer [f] uncleane bread upon mine altar, and you ſay, Wherein have we polluted thee? In that ye ſay, The table of the Lord is not [g] to be regarded.

8 And if ye offer the blind for ſacrifice, it is not [h] evill: and if ye offer the lame and ſick, it is not evill: offer it now unto thy prince: will he be content with thee, or accept thy perſon, ſaith the Lord of hoſts?

9 And now, I pray you, [i] pray before God, that he may have mercie upon us: this hath beene by your meanes: will he regard your [k] perſons, ſaith the Lord of hoſts?

10 Who is there even among you, [l] that would ſhut the doores, and kindle not fire on mine altar in vain? I have no pleaſure in you, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, neither will I accept an offering at your hand.

11 For from the riſing of the ſun unto the goingdown of the ſame, my Name is [m] great among the Gentiles, and in every place incenſe ſhall be offred unto my Name and a pure offering: for my Name is great among the heathen, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes.

12 But ye have polluted it, in that ye ſay, The table of the Lord is [n] polluted, and the fruit thereof, even his meate is not to be regarded.

13 Ye ſaid alſo, Behold, it is a [o] wearineſſe,

[a] Read Iſa. 13. 1.

[b] Which declareth their great ingratitud that did not acknowledge this love, which was ſo evident in that he choſe Abraham from out of all the world, and next, choſe Jaakob the yonger brother, of whom they came, and left Eſau the elder.

[c] For beſides that the ſignes of my hatred appeared even when he was made ſervant unto his yonger brother, being yet in his mothers belly, and alſo afterward in that he was put from his birthright, yet even now before your eyes the ſignes hereof are evident in that his countrey lyeth waſt, and he ſhall never returne to inhabite it, whereas ye my people, whom the enemie hated more then them, are by my grace and love toward you delivered, read Rom. 9. 13.

[d] Beſides the reſt of the people he condemneth the Prieſts chiefly, becauſe they ſhould have reproved others for their hypocriſie, and obſtinacy againſt God, and not have hardened them by their example to greater evils.

[e] He noteth their groſſe hypocriſie, which would not ſee their faults but moſt impudently covered them, and ſo were blind guides.

[f] Ye receive al manner offerings for your owne greedineſſe, and doe not examine whether they be according to my Law or no.

[g] Not that they ſaid thus, but by their doings they declared no leſſe.

[h] You make it no fault: whereby he condemneth them that think it ſufficent to ſerve God, partly, as he hath commanded, and partly, after mans fantaſie, and ſo come not to that pureneſſe of religion, which he requireth, and therefore in reproch he ſheweth them that a mortall man would not be content to be ſo ſerved.

[i] He derideth the Prieſts, who bare the people in hand that they prayed for them, and ſheweth that they were the occaſion, that theſe evils came upon the people.

[k] Wil God conſider your office and ſtate, ſeeing you are ſo covetous and wicked?

[l] Becauſe the Levites, who kept the doores did not trie whether the ſacrifices that came in, were according to the Law, God wiſheth that they would rather ſhut the doores, then to receive ſuch as were not perfite.

[m] God ſheweth that their ingratitude, and neglect of his true ſervice ſhall be the cauſe of the calling of the Gentiles: and here the Prophet that was under the Law framed his words to the capacitie of the people, and by the altar and ſacrifice he meaneth the ſpirituall ſervice of God which ſhould be under the Goſpel, when an end ſhould be made to al theſe legal ceremonies by Chriſts only ſacrifice.

[n] Both the Prieſts and the people were infected with this errour, that they paſſed not what they offred: for they thought that God was as well content with the leane as with the fat: but in the meane ſeaſon they ſhewed not that obedience to God, which he required, and ſo committed both impiety, and alſo ſhewed their contempt of God, and covetouſneſſe.

[o] The Prieſts and people were both weary with ſerving God, and paſſed not what manner of ſacrifice and ſervice they gave to God, for that which was leaſt profitable, was thought good enough for the Lord.

neſſe,and ye have ſnuffed at it,ſaith the Lord of hoſts, and ye offered that which was torn,and the lame and the ſick: thus ye offered an offering: ſhould I accept this of your hand, ſaith the Lord?

14 But curſed be the deceiver,which hath in his flock [p] a male,and voweth and ſacrificeth unto the Lord a corrupt thing:for I am a great king,ſaith the Lord of hoſts,and my Name is terrible among the heathen.

Chap. II.

Threatnings againſt the Prieſts, being ſeducers of the people.

ANd now,O ye [a] Prieſts,this commandement is for you.

2 If ye will not heare it,nor conſider it in your heart,to give glory [b] unto my name, ſaith the Lord of hoſts, I will even ſend a curſe upon you, and will curſe your [c] bleſſings: yea,I have curſed them already, becauſe ye do not conſider it in your heart.

3 Behold, I will corrupt [d] your ſeed,and caſt dung upon your faces,even the [e] dung of your ſolemn feaſts,and you ſhall be like unto it.

4 And ye ſhall know,that I have [f] ſent this commandment unto you, that my covenant, which I made with Levi, might ſtand, ſaith the Lord of hoſts.

5 My [g] covenant was with him of life and peace,and I [h] gave him feare,and he feared me,and was afraid before [i] my Name.

6 The law of [k] truth was in his mouth,and there was no iniquity found in his lips: he walked with me in peace and equity, and did turn many away from iniquity:

7 For the Prieſts [l] lips ſhould preſerve knowledge, and they ſhould ſeek the law at his mouth: for he is the [m] meſſenger of the Lord of hoſts.

8 But ye are gone out of the way: ye have cauſed many to fall by the law: ye have broken the covenant of Levi,ſaith the Lord of hoſts.

9 Therefore have I alſo made you to be deſpiſed,and vile before all the people, becauſe ye kept not my wayes, but have been partiall in the law.

10 Have we not all one [n] father? hath not one God made us? why do we tranſgreſſe every one againſt his brother, and breake the covenant of [o] our fathers?

11 Judah hath tranſgreſſed, and an abomination is committed in Iſrael and in Jeruſalem: for Judah hath defiled the holineſſe of the Lord, which he loved,and hath married the [p] daughter of a ſtrange god.

12 The Lord will cut off the man that doth this: both the maſter & the ſervant out of the Tabernacle of Jaakob, and him that [q] offereth an offering unto the Lord of hoſts.

13 And this have ye done again,and [r] covered the altar of the Lord with teares,with weeping and with mourning: becauſe the offering is no more regarded, neither received acceptably at your hands.

14 Yet ye ſay, [s] Wherein? Becauſe the Lord hath been witneſſe between thee and the wife of thy youth, againſt whom thou haſt tranſgreſſed: yet is ſhe thy [t] companion, and the wife of thy [v] covenant.

15 And did not [x] he make one? yet had he [y] abundance of ſpirit: and wherefore one? becauſe he ſought a godly [z] ſeed: therefore keep your ſelves in your [a] ſpirit,and let none treſpaſſe againſt the wife of his youth.

16 If thou hateſt her, [b] put her away,ſaith the Lord God of Iſrael, yet he covereth [c] the injurie under his garment, ſaith the Lord of hoſts: therefore keep your ſelves in your ſpirit, and tranſgreſſe not.

17 Ye have [d] wearied the Lord with your words: yet ye ſay, Wherein have we wearied him? When ye ſay, every one that [e] doth evill,is good in the ſight of the Lord, and he delighteth in them. Or where is the God of [f] judgement?

Chap. III.

1 Of the meſſenger of the Lord Iohn Baptiſt, and of Chriſts office.

BEhold, I will ſend my [a] meſſenger, and he ſhall prepare the way before me: and [b] the Lord whom ye ſeek, ſhall ſpeedily come to his Temple: even the [c] meſſenger of the covenant whom ye deſire: behold, he ſhall come, ſaith the Lord of hoſts.

2 But who [d] may abide the day of his coming? and who ſhall endure, when he appeareth? for he is like a purging fire, and like fullers ſope.

3 And he ſhall ſit down to try and fine the ſilver: he ſhall even fine the ſons [e] of Levi and purifie them as gold and ſilver, that they may bring offerings unto the Lord in righteouſneſſe.

4 Then ſhall the offrings of Judah and Jeruſalem be acceptable unto the Lord,as in old time and in the yeares afore.

5 And I will come neere to you to judgement, and I will be a ſwift witneſſe againſt the ſoothſayers, and againſt the adulterers, and againſt falſe ſwearers, and againſt thoſe that wrongfully keep back the hirelings wages, and vex the widow, and the fatherleſſe, and oppreſſe the ſtranger, and feare not me, ſaith the Lord of hoſts.

---

[p] That is, hath ability to ſerve the Lord according to his word, and yet will ſerve him according to his covetous minde.

[a] He ſpeaketh unto them chiefly, but under them he containeth the people alſo.

[b] To ſerve me according to my word.

[c] That is, the abundance of Gods benefits.

[d] Your ſeed ſown ſhall come to no profit.

[e] You boaſt of your holineſſe,ſacrifices and feaſts,but they ſhall turn to your ſhame, and be as vile as dung.

[f] The Prieſts objected againſt the Prophet that he could not reprove them, but he muſt ſpeake againſt the Prieſthood, and the office eſtabliſhed of God by promiſe, but he ſheweth that the office is nothing ſlandered when theſe villaines and dung are called by their own names.

[g] He ſheweth what were the two conditions of the covenant made with the tribe of Levi: on Gods part, that he would give them long life and felicity, and on their part,that they ſhould faithfully ſerve him according to his word.

[h] I preſcribed Levi a certain law to ſerve me.

[i] He ſerved me and ſet forth my glory with all humilitie and ſubmiſſion.

[k] He ſheweth that the Prieſts ought to have knowledg to inſtruct other in the word of the Lord.

[l] He is as the treaſure houſe of Gods word, and ought to give to every one according to their neceſſity,and not to reſerve it for himſelf.

[m] Shewing, that whoſoever doeth not declare Gods will,is not his meſſenger and Prieſt.

[n] The Prophet accuſeth the ingratitude of the Iewes toward God and man: for ſeeing they were all born of one father Abraham, and God had elected them to be his holy people, they ought neither to offend God nor their brethren.

[o] Whereby they had bound themſelves to God to be an holy people.

[p] They have joyned themſelves in marriage with them that are of another religion.

[q] That is, the Prieſts.

[r] Ye cauſe the people to lament, becauſe that God doth not regard their ſacrifices, ſo that they ſeem to ſacrifice in vain.

[s] This is another fault, whereof he accuſeth them, that is, that they brake the laws of marriage.

[t] As the one half of thy ſelf.

[v] She that was joyned to thee by a ſolemn covenant, and by the invocation of Gods name

[x] Did not God make man and woman as one fleſh and not many?

[y] By his power & vertue he could have made many women for one man.

[z] Such as ſhould be born in lawfull and moderate marriage, wherein is no exceſſe of luſts.

[a] Contain your ſelves within your bounds,and be ſober in minde, and bridle your affections.

[b] Not that he doth allow divorcemēt, but of the two faults he ſheweth, which is the leſſe.

[c] He thinketh it ſufficient to keep his wife ſtill,albeit he take others, and ſo as it were covereth his fault.

[d] Ye murmured againſt God,becauſe he heard not you aſſoon as ye called.

[e] In thinking that God favoured the wicked, and had not reſpect to them that ſerve him.

[f] Thus they blaſphemed God in condemning his power and juſtice,becauſe he judged not according to their fantaſies.

[a] This is meant of Iohn Baptiſt, as Chriſt expoundeth it, Luke 7.27.

[b] Meaning, Meſſiah,as Pſal.40.1,7. Dan.9.17,25.

[c] That is,Chriſt by whom the covenant was made and ratified,who is called the Angel or meſſenger of the covenant, becauſe he reconcileth us to his Father: and is Lord or King becauſe he hath the government of his Church.

[d] He ſheweth that the hypocrites, which wiſh ſo much for the Lords coming, wil not abide when he draweth neere: for he will conſume them, and purge his and make them cleane.

[e] He beginneth at the Prieſts, that they might be lights and ſhine unto others.

6 For I am the Lord: I change not, and ye ſons of Jaakob[f] are not conſumed.

7 From the dayes of your fathers, ye are gone away from mine ordinances, and have not kept them: [g] return unto me, and I will return unto you, ſaith the Lord of hoſts: but he ſaid, Wherein ſhall we return?

8 Will a [h] man ſpoyle his gods? yet have ye ſpoyled me: but ye ſay, Wherein have we ſpoyled thee? In [i] tythes, and offerings.

9 Ye are curſed with a curſe: for ye have ſpoyled me, even this whole nation.

10 Bring ye all the tythes into the ſtore-houſe, that there may be meat in mine houſe, and prove me now herewith, ſaith the Lord of hoſts, if I will not open the windows of heaven unto you, and powre you out a bleſſing[k] without meaſure.

11 And I will rebuke the [l] devourer for your ſakes, and he ſhall not deſtroy the fruit of your ground, neither ſhall your vine be barren in the field, ſaith the Lord of hoſts.

12 And all nations ſhall call you bleſſed: for ye ſhall be a pleaſant land, ſaith the Lord of hoſts.

13 Your words have been ſtout[m] againſt me, ſaith the Lord: yet ye ſay, What have we ſpoken againſt thee?

14 Ye have ſaid, It is in vain to ſerve God: and what profit is it that we have kept his commandment, and that we walked humbly before the Lord of hoſts?

15 Therefore we count the proud bleſſed: even they that work wickedneſſe are ſet up, and they that tempt God, yea, they are [n] delivered.

16 [o] Then ſpake they that feared the Lord, every one to his neighbour, and the Lord hearkened and heard it, and a [p] book of remembrance was written before him for them that feared the Lord, and that thought upon his Name.

17 And they ſhall be to me, ſaith the Lord of hoſts, in that day [q] that I ſhall do this, for a flock, and I will [r] ſpare them, as a man ſpareth his own ſon that ſerveth him.

18 Then ſhall you return, and diſcerne between the righteous and wicked, between him that ſerveth God, and him that ſerveth him not.

CHAP. IV.

The day of the Lord, before the which Elijah ſhould come.

FOr behold, the day cometh that ſhall [a] burn as an oven, and all the proud, yea, and all that do wickedly, ſhall be ſtubble, and the day that cometh, ſhal burn them up, ſaith the Lord of hoſts, and ſhall leave them neither root nor branch.

2 But unto you that feare my name, ſhall the [b] ſun of righteouſneſſe ariſe, and health ſhall be under his wings, and ye ſhall [c] go forth, and grow up as fat calves.

3 And ye ſhall tread down the wicked: for they ſhal be duſt under the ſoles of your feet in the day that I ſhall do this, ſaith the Lord of hoſts.

4 [d] Remember the Law of Moſes my ſervant, which I commanded unto him in Horeb for all Iſrael, with the ſtatutes and judgements.

5 Behold, I will ſend you [e] Elijah the Prophet before the coming of the great and [f] fearfull day of the Lord.

6 And he ſhall [g] turn the heart of the fathers to the children, and the heart of the children to their fathers, leſt I come [h] and ſmite the earth with a curſe.

The end of the Prophets.

---

[f] They murmured againſt God becauſe they ſaw not his help ever preſent to defend them: and therefore he accuſeth them of ingratitude, and ſheweth that, in that they are not daily conſumed, it is a token that he doth ſtill defend them: and ſo his mercy toward them never changeth.

[g] Read Zech. 1. 3.

[h] There are none of the heathen ſo barbarous, that wil defraude their gods of their honour, or deale deceitfully with thẽ.

[i] Whereby the ſervice of God ſhould have been maintained, and the Prieſts and the poore relieved.

[k] Not having reſpect how much ye need, but I will give you in all abundance: ſo that ye ſhall lack place to put my bleſſings in.

[l] Meaning, the caterpillar, and whatſoever deſtroyeth corn and fruits.

[m] The Prophet condemneth them of double blaſphemy againſt God: firſt, in that they ſaid, that God had no reſpect to them that ſerved him, & next, that the wicked were more in his favour then the godly.

[n] They are not onely preferred to honour, but alſo delivered from dangers.

[o] After theſe admonitions of the Prophet, ſome were lively touched, and incouraged others to feare God.

[p] Both becauſe the thing was ſtrange that ſome turned to God in that great and univerſall corruption, and alſo that this might be an example of Gods mercies to al penitent ſinners.

[q] When I ſhall reſtore my Church according to my promiſe, they ſhall be as mine own proper goods.

[r] That is, forgive their ſinnes, and govern them with my Spirit.

[a] He prophecieth of Gods judgements againſt the wicked, who would not receive Chriſt, when as God ſhould ſend him for the reſtauration of his Church.

[b] Meaning, Chriſt who with his wings, or beames of his grace ſhould lighten and comfort his Church, Epheſ. 5. 14. and he is called the ſunne of righteouſneſſe becauſe in himſelf he hath all perfection, and alſo the juſtice of the Father dwelleth in him, whereby he regenerateth us into righteouſneſſe, cleanſeth us from the filth of this world, and reformeth us to the image of God.

[c] Ye ſhall be ſet at libertie and increaſe in the joy of the Spirit, 2. Cor. 3. 17.

[d] Becauſe the time was come that the Iews ſhould be deſtitute of Prophets untill the time of Chriſt, becauſe they ſhould with more fervẽt minds deſire his comming, the Prophet exhorteth them to exerciſe themſelves diligently in ſtudying the Law of Moſes in the meane ſeaſon, whereby they might continue in the true religion, and alſo be armed againſt all tentations.

[e] This Chriſt expoundeth of Iohn Baptiſt, Matth. 11. 13. 14. who both for his zeale, and reſtoring of religion, is aptly compared to Elijah.

[f] Which as it is true for the wicked, ſo doeth it waken the godly, and call them to repentance.

[g] He ſheweth wherein Iohns office ſhould ſtand: in the turning of men to God, and joyning of the father, and children in one unitie of faith: ſo that the father ſhall turne to the religion of his ſon which is converted unto Chriſt, and the ſonne ſhall embrace the faith of the true fathers, Abraham, Izhak, and Iaakob.

[h] The ſecond point of his office was to denounce Gods judgements againſt them that would not receive Chriſt.

THE PRINTER TO THE DILIGENT READER.

Deare Chriſtian Reader, to the intent thou mighteſt the better enjoy the benefit of theſe notes or expoſitions upon the new Teſtament: I thought it not amiſſe to declare unto thee the uſe of the ſame. And firſt, foraſmuch as the quotations or citing of places of the Scriptures in the margent which direct to other places, containing like phraſe or ſenſe, have been ſo placed, that none without great labour could finde out the texts alledged, I have made this mark *, and have ſet it as well in the margent, as in the text, ſo that thou mayeſt eaſily find that which thou deſireſt. For example, in the firſt word of the firſt Chapter of Matthew is placed this mark *, look out the like mark in the margent, and there thou ſhalt find, Luke 3. 23. which place agreeth to this of Matthew, and ſo likewiſe thou ſhalt find in the reſidue. But if many quotations belong to one place, word or ſentence, the firſt is onely marked and thoſe that follow unmarked appertain to the ſame.

The Notes that are directed by figures of Arithmatick, as [1]. [2]. [3]. [4], &c. throughout the Evangeliſts and Acts, declare the effect or ſum of the doctrine contained between one of the ſaid figures, and the next that followeth: as for example, from the figure [1]. in the firſt line and firſt word of Matthew unto the figure [2]. in the 18. verſe of the ſame Chapter, the doctrine there gathered is ſet down in the margent in this ſort, [1] Ieſus came of Abraham of the tribe of Iuda, and of the ſtock of David, as God promiſed.

And in the Epiſtles in like ſort they declare the method and art which the Apoſtles uſe, and how every argument or reaſon dependeth one upon another: theſe figures are begun again at the beginning of every Chapter. Laſtly, the notes which go by order of the letters of the Alphabet placed in the text with the like anſwering unto them in the margent, ſerve to expound and lighten the dark words and phraſes immediately following them. As in the firſt line and ſecond word, the letter [a], being referred unto [a], directly againſt him in the margent, ſheweth that this word, Book, ſignifieth A rehearſall, as the Hebrews uſe to ſpeake: as Gen. 5. 1. The book of the generations. Theſe letters begin at the beginning of every Chapter, continuing unto [z]. and ſo beginning again with [a], if there be ſo many notes that they do exceed in number the letters of an Alphabet. This have I faithfully done for thy commoditie, reape thou the fruit, and give the praiſe to God.

THE DESCRIPTION OF THE HOLY land, containing the places mentioned in the foure Evangeliſts, with other places about the Sea coaſts, wherein may be ſeen the wayes and journeys of CHRIST and his Apoſtles in Iudea, Samaria, and Galile: for into theſe three parts this land is divided.

CHAP. II.

The Wiſemen, who are the firſt fruits of the Gentiles, worſhip Chriſt. 14 Ioſeph fleeth into Egypt with Ieſus, and his mother. 16 Herod ſlaieth the children.

WHen * [1] Jeſus then was born at Beth-leem in [a] Judea, in the dayes of Herod the king, behold, there came [b] Wiſemen from the Eaſt to Jeruſalem,

2 Saying, Where is that king of the Jewes that is born? for we have ſeen his ſtarre in the Eaſt, and are come to worſhip him.

3 When king Herod heard this, he was [c] troubled, and all Jeruſalem with him,

4 And gathering together all the [d] chief Prieſts, and [e] Scribes of the people, he asked of them, where Chriſt ſhould be born.

5 And they ſaid unto him, At Beth-leem in Judea: for ſo it is written by the Prophet,

6 * And thou Beth-leem in the land of Juda, art not the [f] leaſt among the Princes of Juda: For out of thee ſhall come the Governour that [g] ſhall feed my people Iſrael.

7 Then Herod privily called the Wiſemen, and diligently enquired of them the time of the ſtar that appeared,

8 And ſent them to Beth-leem, ſaying, Go, and ſearch diligently for the Babe: and when ye have found him, bring me word again, that I may come alſo and worſhip him.

9 ¶ So when they had heard the king, they departed: and lo, the ſtar which they had ſeen in the Eaſt, went before them, till it came and ſtood over the place where the Babe was.

10 And when they ſaw the ſtar, they rejoyced with an exceeding great joy,

11 And went into the houſe, and found the Babe with Mary his mother, and [h] fell down, and worſhipped him, and opened their [i] treaſures, and preſented unto him gifts, even gold, and frankincenſe, and myrrhe.

12 And after they were [k] warned of God in a dreame, that they ſhould not go again to Herod, they returned into their countrey another way.

13 ¶ [2] After their departure, behold, the Angel of the Lord appeareth to Joſeph in a dreame, ſaying, Ariſe, and take the Babe and his mother, and flee into Egypt, and be there till I bring thee word: for Herod will ſeek the Babe to deſtroy him.

14 So he aroſe, and took the Babe and his mother by night, and departed into Egypt,

15 And was there unto the death of Herod, that that might be fulfilled, which is ſpoken of the Lord by the * Prophet, ſaying, Out of Egypt have I called my Sonne.

16 ¶ Then Herod, ſeeing that he was mocked of the Wiſemen, was exceeding wroth, and ſent forth, aad ſlew all the male children that were in Beth-leem, and in all the coaſts thereof, from two yeare old and under, according to the time which he had diligently ſearched out of the Wiſemen.

17 Then was that fulfilled which is ſpoken [l] by the Prophet Jeremias, ſaying, 18 * In Rhama was [m] a voice heard, mourning, and weeping, and great howling: [n] Rachel weeping for her children, and would not be comforted, becauſe they were not.

19 [3] And when Herod was dead, behold, an Angel of the Lord appeareth in a dreame to Joſeph in Egypt, 20 Saying, Ariſe, and take the Babe and his mother, and go into the land of Iſrael: for they are dead which ſought the Babes life.

21 Then he aroſe up, and took the Babe and his mother, and came into the land of Iſrael.

22 But when he heard that Archelaus did reigne in Judea, in ſtead of his father Herod, he was afraid to go thither: yet after he was warned of God in a dreame, he turned aſide into the parts of Galile, 23 And went and dwelt in a city called Nazareth, that it might be fulfilled which was ſpoken by the Prophets, which was, That he ſhould be called a Nazarite.

* Luke 2. 6.

[3] Chriſt is brought up in Nazareth, after the death of the tyrant, by Gods providence: that by the very name of the place it might plainly appeare to the world, that he is the Lords true Nazarite.

[a] Not when Ioſeph went to dwell at Nazareth, but a great while after, about the ſpace of five and twenty yeares: for in the thirtieth yeare of his age was Ieſus baptized of Iohn: therefore by thoſe dayes is meant, at that time that Ieſus remained as yet an inhabitant of the town of Nazareth.

[1] John, who through his ſingular holineſſe and rare auſterneſſe of life, cauſed all men to caſt their eyes upon him, prepareth the way, for Chriſt, following faſt on at his heels, as the Prophet Eſay foretold, and delivereth the ſum of the Goſpel, which in ſhort ſpace after ſhould be delivered more fully.

[c] The word in the Greeke tongue, ſignifieth a changing of our mindes and hearts from evill to better.

3 For this is he of whom it is ſpoken by the prophet Eſaias, ſaying, *The voice of him that crieth in the wilderneſſe, Prepare ye the way of the Lord: [e] make his paths ſtraight.

4 *And this John had his garment of camels hair, and a girdle of a ſkinne about his loyns: his meat was alſo [f] locuſts and wilde hony.

5 *Then went out to him [g] Hieruſalem and all Judea, and all the region round about Jordan.

6 And they were baptized of him in Jordan, [h] confeſſing their ſinnes.

7 [2] Now when he ſaw many of the Phariſees, and of the Sadduces come to his baptiſme, he ſaid unto them, *O generations of vipers, who hath forewarned you to flee from the anger to come?

8 [3] Bring forth therefore fruit worthy amendment of life.

9 [4] And [i] think not to ſay [k] with your ſelves, *We have Abraham to our father: for I ſay unto you, that God is able even of theſe ſtones to raiſe up Children unto Abraham.

10 And now alſo is the axe put to the root of the trees: *therefore every tree which bringeth not forth good fruit, is hewen downe, and caſt into the fire.

11 * [5] In deed I baptize you with water to [l] amendment of life, but he that commeth after me, is mightier then I, whoſe ſhoes I am not worthy to beare: he will baptize you with the holy Ghoſt, and with fire, 12 [6] Which hath his fanne in his hand, and will [m] make cleane his floore, and gather his wheat into his garner, but will burne up the chaffe with unquenchable fire.

13 ¶ * [7] Then came Jeſus from Galilee, to Jordan unto John, to be baptized of him.

14 But John earneſtly put him back, ſaying, I have need to be baptized of thee, and comeſt thou to me?

15 Then Jeſus anſwering, ſaid to him, Let be now: for thus it becometh us to fulfill [n] all righteouſneſſe. So he ſuffered him.

16 And Jeſus when he was baptized, came ſtraight out of the water. And lo, the heavens were opened unto [o] him, and Iohn ſaw the ſpirit of God deſcending like a dove, and lighting upon him.

17 [8] And lo, a voice came from heaven, ſaying, *This is my beloved Sonne, in whom I am [p] well pleaſed.

4 But he anſwering, ſaid, It is written, *Man ſhall not live by bread onely, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God.

8 Again the Devill took him up into an exceeding high mountain, and ſhewed him all the kingdomes of the world, and the glory of them,

[i] He ſpeaketh of the judgement of God, and of the difference of ſinnes, and therefore applieth his words to the form of civill judgements, which were then uſed.

[k] Of that judgement which was ruled by three men, who had the hearing and deciding of money matters, and ſuch other ſmall cauſes.

[l] By that judgement which ſtood of three and twenty Judges, who had the hearing and deciding of weighty affaires, and matters of life and death: as the higheſt Judges of all were to the number of ſeventy and one, which had the hearing of moſt weighty affaires, as the matter of an whole Tribe, or of an high Prieſt, or of a falſe prophet.

[m] VVhereas we reade here, Hell, it is in the Text it ſelf, Gehenna, which is an Hebrew word made of two, and is as much to ſay, as the valley of Hinnon, which otherwiſe the Hebrews called Topheth: it was a place where the Iſraelites were wont moſt cruelly to ſacrifice their children to falſe gods, whereupon it was taken for a place appointed to torment the reprobates in. Ierem. 7. 31.

[n] The Iewes uſed foure kinds of puniſhments, before their government was taken away by Herod, hanging, beheading, ſtoning, and burning: this is it that Chriſt ſhot at, becauſe burning was the greateſt puniſhment, therefore in that he maketh mention of a judgement, a Councell, and a fire, he ſheweth that ſome ſinnes are worſe then other ſome, but yet they are all ſuch, that we muſt give an account for them, and ſhall be puniſhed for them.

[6] The covetous Phariſes taught, that God was appeaſed by the ſacrifices appointed in the Law, which they themſelves devoured. But Chriſt on the contrary ſide denieth, that God accepteth any mans offering, unleſſe he maketh ſatisfaction to his brother whom he hath offended: and ſaith moreover, that theſe ſtubborne and ſtiffenecked deſpiſers of their brethren, ſhall never eſcape the wrath and curſe of God, before they have made full ſatisfaction to their brethren.

[o] He applyeth all this ſpeech, to the ſtate of his time, when as there was an Altar ſtanding in Hieruſalem: and therefore they are very fooliſh, that gather hereupon, that we muſt build Altars, and uſe ſacrifices: but they are more fooles, which drew that to Purgatorie, which is ſpoken of peace-making and atonement one with another. * Luke 12. 58.

[7] He is taken for an adulterer before God whatſoever he be, that coveteth a woman: and therefore we muſt keepe our eyes chaſte, and all the members we have, yea, and we muſt eſchew all occaſions, which might moove us to evill, how deare ſoever it coſt us. * Exod. 20. 14. Rom, 13. 9. * Chap. 18. 8, 9. Marke 9. 47.

[u] From an evil conſcience, or from the devil.

[9] He ſheweth cleane contrary to the doctrine of the Scribes, that the ſumme of the ſecond Table muſt be ſo underſtood, that we may in no wiſe render evill for evill, but rather ſuffer double injurie, and do well to them that are our deadly enemies. * Exod. 21. 24. Levit. 24. 20. Deut. 19. 21. * Luke 6. 29. Rom. 12. 17. 1 Cor. 6. 7. * Deut. 15. 8. * Levit. 19. 8.

[10] A double reaſon: the one is taken of the relatives, The children muſt be like their father: the other is taken of compariſons, The children of God muſt be better then the children of this world. * Luke 6. 35.

[x] They that were the tolle-maſters, and had the overſight of tributes and cuſtom: a kinde of men that the Iewes hated to death, both becauſe they ſerved the Romanes in thoſe offices, (whoſe yokefull bondage they could hardly away withall) and alſo, becauſe theſe tolle-maſters are for the moſt part given to covetouſneſſe.

[1] Ambition maketh almes vain.

15 * The Land of Zabulon, and the land of Nepthalim by the way of the [e] ſea, beyond Jordan, [f] Galilee of the Gentiles:

16 The people which ſat in darkneſſe, ſaw great light: and to them that ſat in the region, and ſhadow of death, light is riſen up.

17 * From that time Jeſus began to preach, and to ſay, Amend your lives, for the kingdome of heaven is at [g] hand.

18 ¶ [3] And Jeſus walking by the ſea of Galilee, ſaw two brethren, Simon, which is called Peter, and Andrew his brother, caſting a net into the Sea (for they were fiſhers)

19 * And he ſaid unto them, Follow me, and I will make you fiſhers of men.

20 And they ſtraightway leaving the nets, followed him.

21 And when he was gone forth from thence, he ſaw other two brethren, James the ſonne of Zebedeus, and John his brother in a ſhippe with Zebedeus their father, mending their nets, and he called them.

22 And they without tarrying, leaving the ſhip, and their father, followed him.

23 So [4] Jeſus went about all Galilee, teaching in [h] their [i] Synagogues, and preaching the Goſpel of the [k] kingdome, and healing [l] every ſickneſſe, and every [m] diſeaſe among the people.

24 And his fame ſpread abroad through all Syria: and they brought unto him all ſicke people, that were taken with divers diſeaſes and [n] torments, and them that were poſſeſſed with devils, and thoſe which were [o] lunatike, and thoſe that had the [p] Palſie: and he healed them.

25 And there followed him great multitudes out of Galilee, and Decapolis, and Jeruſalem, and Judea, and from beyond Jordan.

Mark* 1. 15.

[g] Is come to you.

3 Chriſt thinking by time, that he ſhould at length depart from us, even at the beginning of his preaching, getteth him diſciples after an heavenly ſort, men indeed poore, and utterly unlearned, and therefore ſuch as might be leaſt ſuſpected witneſſes of the truth of thoſe things they heard and ſaw..

* Mark 1. 16. 1. Cor. 1. 27.

4 Chriſt aſſureth the hearts of the beleevers of his ſpirituall and ſaving vertue, by healing the diſeaſes of the body.

[i] Synagogues, that is, the Iewes churches.

[k] Of Meſsias.

[l] Diſeaſes of all kindes, but not every one: that is, as we ſay, ſome of every one.

[m] The word ſignifieth properly, the weakneſſe of the ſtomack, but here it is taken for thoſe diſeaſes which make men faint and weare away, that have them.

[n] The word ſignifieth properly, the ſtone wherewith gold is tryed, and by a borrowed kinde of ſpeech is applyed to all kinde of examination by torture, when as by rough dealing and torments, we go about to draw out the truth of men, which otherwiſe they would not confeſſe: and in this place it is taken for thoſe diſeaſes which put ſick men to great woe. [o] VVhich at every full Moon, or other changes of the Moon, are ſhrewdly troubled and diſeaſed. [p] VVeak and feeble men, who have the parts of their body looſed, and ſo weakened, that they are neither able to gather them up together, nor put them out as they would

Chap. V.

1 Who are bleſſed. 13 The Apoſtles are the ſalt and light of the world. 14 The citie ſet on an hill. 15 The candle. 16 Good works. 19 The fulfilling of Chriſts Commandments. 21 What killing is. 23 Reconciliation is ſet before ſacrifice. 27 Adultery. 29 The plucking out of the eye. 30 Cutting off the hand. 31 The bill of divorcement. 33 Not to ſwear. 43 To love our enemies. 48 Perfectneſſe.

AND when he ſaw the multitude, he went up into a mountain: and when he was ſet, his diſciples came to him,

2 [1] And he opened his mouth, and taught them, ſaying,

1 Chriſt teacheth that the greateſt joy and felicitie is not in the commodities, and pleaſures of this life, but is laid up in heaven for them that willingly reſt in the good will & pleaſure of God, and endeavour to profit all men, although they be cruelly vexed and troubled of the worldlings, becauſe they will not faſhion themſelves to their manners.

3 * Bleſſed are the [a] poore in [b] ſpirit, for theirs is the kingdome of heaven.

4 *Bleſſed are they that mourn: for they ſhall be comforted.

5 *Bleſſed are the meek: for they ſhall inherit the earth.

6 * Bleſſed are they which hunger and thirſt for righteouſneſſe: for they ſhall be filled.

7 Bleſſed are the mercifull: for they ſhall obtain mercie.

8 Bleſſed are the * [c] pure in heart: for they ſhall ſee God.

9 Bleſſed are the peace-makers: for they ſhall be called the children of God.

10 Bleſſed are they * which ſuffer perſecution for righteouſneſſe ſake: for theirs is the kingdome of heaven.

11 *Bleſſed ſhall ye be when men revile you, and perſecute you, and ſay all manner of evil againſt you for my ſake, falſly.

12 Rejoyce and be glad, for great is your reward in heaven: for ſo perſecuted they the Prophets which were before you.

13 *Ye [2] are the ſalt of the [d] earth: but if the ſalt have loſt his ſavour, wherewith ſhall it be [e] ſalted? It is thenceforth good for nothing, but to be caſt out, and to be troden under foot of men.

14 Ye are the [f] light of the world. A citie that is ſet on an hill, cannot be hidde.

15 *Neither do men light a candle, and put it under a buſhell, but on a candleſticke, and it giveth light unto all that are in the houſe.

16 *Let your light ſo ſhine before men, that they may ſee your good works, and glorifie your Father which is in heaven.

17 [3] Think not that I am come to deſtroy the Law, or the Prophets. I am not come to deſtroy them, but to [g] fulfill them.

18 * For truely I ſay unto you, Till heaven and earth periſh, one jot or one title of the Law ſhall not eſcape, till all things be fulfilled.

19 * [4] Whoſoever therefore ſhall break one of theſe leaſt commandements, and teach men ſo, he ſhall be called the [h] leaſt in the kingdome of heaven: but whoſoever ſhall obſerve and teach them, the ſame ſhall bee called great in the kingdome of heaven.

20 For I ſay unto you, Except your righteouſneſſe * exceed the righteouſneſſe of the Scribes and Phariſes, ye ſhall not enter into the kingdome of heaven.

21 [5] Ye have heard that it was ſaid unto them of the old time, * Thou ſhalt not kill:

30 Alſo if thy right hand make thee to offend, cut it off, and caſt it from thee: for better it is for thee, that one of thy members periſh, then that thy whole body ſhould be caſt into hell.

1 Almes. 5 Prayers. 14. Forgiving our brother. 16 Faſting. 19 Our treaſure. 20 We muſt ſuccour the poore. 24 God and riches. 25 Carefull ſeeking for meat and drink, and apparell, forbidden. 33 The kingdome of God and his righteouſneſſe.

TAke heed that ye give not your [1] almes before men, to be ſeen of them, or elſe ye ſhall have no [a] reward of your Father which is in heaven.

[1] Ambition maketh almes vain.

2 * Therefore when thou giveſt thine almes, thou ſhalt not make a trumpet to be blown before thee, as the [b] hypocrites doe in the Synagogues and in the ſtreets, to be praiſed of men. Verely I ſay unto you, they have their reward.

3 But when thou doeſt thine almes, let not thy left hand know what thy right hand doeth,

4 That thine almes may be in ſecret, and thy Father that ſeeth in ſecret, he will reward thee openly.

5 [2] And when thou prayeſt, be not as the hypocrites: for they love to ſtand, and pray in the Synagogues, and in the corners of the ſtreets, becauſe they would be ſeen of men. Verely I ſay unto you, they have their reward.

6 But when thou prayeſt, enter into thy chamber: and when thou haſt ſhut thy doore, pray unto thy father which is in ſecret, and thy father which ſeeth in ſecret, ſhall reward thee openly.

7 Alſo when ye pray uſe no [c] vain repetitions as the heathen: for they think to be heard for their much babling.

8 Be ye not like them therefore: for your Father knoweth whereof ye have need, before ye ask of him.

9 [3] After this manner therefore pray ye, * Our Father which art in heaven, hallowed be thy name.

10 Thy kingdome come. Thy will be done even in earth, as it is in heaven.

11 Give us this day our [d] daily bread.

12 And forgive us our debts, as we alſo forgive our debters.

13 And leade us not into temptation, but deliver us * from [e] evill: for thine is the kingdome, and the power, and the glory for ever. Amen.

14 * [4] For if yee doe forgiue men their treſpaſſes, your heavenly Father will alſo forgive you.

15 But if ye do not forgive men their treſpaſſes, no more will your Father forgive you your treſpaſſes.

16 [5] Moreover, when ye faſt, look not ſowre as the hypocrites: for they [f] diſſigure their faces, that they might ſeem unto men to faſt. Verely I ſay unto you, that they have their reward.

17 But when thou faſteſt, anoint thine head, and waſh thy face,

18 That thou ſeem not unto men to faſt, but unto thy Father which is in ſecret: and thy father which ſeeth in ſecret, will reward thee openly.

19 ¶ [6] Lay not up treaſures for your ſelves upon the earth, where the moth and canker corrupt, and where theeves digge through and ſteale:

20 * But lay up treaſures for your ſelves in heaven, where neither the moth nor canker corrupteth, and where theeves neither digge thorow nor ſteale.

21 For where your treaſure is, there will your hearts be alſo.

22 ¶ * [7] The light of the body is the eye: if then thine [g] eye be ſingle, the whole body ſhall be light.

23 But if thine eye be wicked, then all thy bodie ſhall be dark. Wherefore if the light that is in thee, be darkeneſſe, how great is that darkeneſſe?

24 * [8] No man can ſerve [h] two maſters: for either he ſhall hate the one, and love the other, or elſe he ſhall leane to the one, and deſpiſe the other. Ye cannot ſerve God and [i] riches.

25 * [9] Therefore I ſay unto you, Be not carefull for your life, what ye ſhall eat, or what ye ſhall drink: nor yet for your body, what ye ſhall put on. Is not the life more worth then meat? and the body then raiment?

26 Behold the fowles of the [k] heaven: for they ſow not, neither reape, nor carie into the barnes: yet your heavenly Father feedeth them. Are ye not much better then they?

27 Which of you by [l] taking care is able to adde one cubite unto his ſtature?

28 And why care ye for raiment? Learne how the lillies of the field do grow: they [m] are not wearied, neither ſpin:

29 Yet I ſay unto you, that even Solomon in all his glorie was not arayed like one of theſe.

30 Wherefore if God ſo clothe the graſſe of the field which is to day, and to morrow is caſt into the oven, ſhall he not do much more unto you, O ye of little faith?

31 Therefore take no thought, ſaying, What ſhall wee eate? or what ſhall we drink? or wherewith ſhall we be clothed?

32 (For after all theſe things ſeek the Gentiles) for your heavenly Father knoweth, that ye have need of all theſe things.

33 But ſeeke ye firſt the kingdome of God, and his righteouſneſſe, and all theſe things ſhall be miniſtred unto you.

34 Care not then for the morrow: for the morrow ſhall care for it ſelf: the day hath enough with his own grief.

12 Now when Jeſus heard it, he ſaid unto them, The whole need not a Phyſician, but they that are ſick.

20 (And behold, a woman which was diſeaſed with an iſſue of blood twelve yeares, came behinde him, and touched the hemme of his garment.

21 For ſhe ſaid in her ſelf, If I may touch but his garment onely, I ſhall be whole.

22 Then Jeſus turned him about, and ſeeing her, did ſay, Daughter, be of good comfort: thy faith hath made thee whole. And the woman was made whole at that ſame moment.)

23 [5] Now when Jeſus came into the rulers houſe, and ſaw the [h] minſtrels and the multitude making noiſe,

26 And this bruite went throughout all that land.

27 [6] And as Jeſus departed thence, two blinde men followed him, crying, and ſaying, O ſonne of David have mercy upon us.

[6] By healing theſe two blinde, Chriſt ſheweth that he is the light of the world.

28 And when he was come into the houſe, the blinde came to him: and Jeſus ſaid unto them, Beleeve ye that I am able to do this? And they ſaid unto him, Yea, Lord.

29 Then touched he their eyes, ſaying, According to your faith be it unto you.

30 And their eyes were opened, and Jeſus gave them great charge, ſaying, See that no man know it.

31 But when they were departed, they ſpread abroad his fame throughout all that land.

18 And ye ſhall be brought to the governours and kings for my ſake, in witneſſe to them, and to the Gentiles.

19 * But when they deliver you up, take no thought how or what ye ſhall ſpeake: for it ſhall be given you in that houre, what ye ſhall ſay.

20 For it is not ye that ſpeak, but the ſpirit of your Father which ſpeaketh in you.

7 [2] And as they departed, Jeſus began to ſpeake vnto the multitude of John, What went ye out into the wilderneſſe to ſee? a reed ſhaken with the winde?

[2] What agreement and what difference is betwixt the miniſtery of the Prophets, the preaching of John, and the full light of the Goſpel, which Chriſt hath brought.

8 But what went ye out to ſee? A man clothed in ſoft raiment? Behold, they that weare ſoft clothing, are in Kings houſes.

9 But what went ye out to ſee? A Prophet? Yea, I ſay unto you, and more then a Prophet.

22 But I ſay unto you, It ſhall be eaſier for Tyrus and Sidon at the day of judgement then for you.

23 And thou, Capernaum, which art lifted up unto heaven, ſhalt be brought down to hell: for if the great works, which have been done in thee, had been done among them of Sodom, they had remained to this day.

Chap. XII.

1 The diſciples pluck the eares of corn. 6 Mercie, ſacrifice. 10 The withered hand is healed. 12 We muſt do good on the Sabbath. 22 The poſſeſſed is holpen. 25 A kingdome divided. 31 Sinne, blaſphemie. 33 The good or evil tree. 34 Vipers. 41 The Ninevites. 42 The queen of Saba. 48 The true mother and brethren of Chriſt.

AT [1] * that time Jeſus went on a Sabbath day through the corn, and his diſciples were an hungred, and began to pluck the eares of corn, and to eat.

[1] Of the true ſanctifying of the Sabbath, and the abrogating of it.

 Mark 2. 23. Luke 6. 1.*

2 And when the Phariſees ſaw it, they ſaid unto him, Behold, thy diſciples do that * which is not lawfull to do upon the Sabbath.

 Deut. 23. 25.*

3 But he ſaid unto them, * Have ye not reade what David did when he was an hungred, and they that were with him?

 1 Sam. 21. 6.*

4 How he entred into the houſe of God, and did eat the [a] ſhewbread, which was not lawfull for him to eat, neither for them which were with him, but onely for the * Prieſts?

5 Or have ye not read in the Law, how that on the Sabbath dayes the Prieſts in the Temple * [b] break the Sabbath, and are blameleſſe?

6 But I ſay unto you, that here is one greater then the Temple.

7 Wherefore if ye knew what this is, * I will have mercie, and not ſacrifice, ye would not have condemned the innocents.

8 For the Son of man is Lord, even of the Sabbath.

9 * [2] And he departed thence, and went into their Synagogue:

10 And behold, there was a man which had his hand dried up. And they asked him, ſaying, Is it lawfull to heale upon a Sabbath day? that they might accuſe him.

11 And he ſaid unto them, What man ſhall there be among you, that hath a ſheep, and if it fall on a Sabbath day into a pit, doth he not take it and lift it out?

12 How much more then is a man better then a ſheep? therefore it is lawfull to do well on the Sabbath day.

13 Then ſaid he to the man, Stretch forth thine hand. And he ſtretched it forth, and it was made whole as the other.

14 [3] Then the Phariſees went out and conſulted againſt him, how they might deſtroy him.

15 But when Jeſus knew it, he departed thence: and great multitudes followed him, and he healed them all,

16 And charged them in threatning wiſe, that they ſhould not make him known,

17 That it might be fulfilled, which was ſpoken by Eſaias the Prophet, ſaying,

18 * Behold my ſervant whom I have choſen, my beloved in whom my ſoul delighteth: I will put my ſpirit on him, and he ſhall ſhew [c] judgement to the Gentiles.

19 He ſhall not ſtrive, nor crie, neither ſhall any man heare his voice in the ſtreets.

20 A bruiſed reed ſhall he not breake, and ſmoaking flaxe ſhall he not quench, till he [d] bring forth judgement unto victorie.

21 And in his Name ſhall the Gentiles truſt.

22 ¶ * [4] Then was brought to him one poſſeſſed with a devill, both blind, and dumb, and he healed him, ſo that he which was blind and dumbe, both ſpake and ſaw.

23 And all the people were amazed, and ſaid, Is not this that ſonne of David?

24 But when the Phariſes heard it, they ſaid, * This man caſteth the devils no otherwiſe out, but through Beelzebub the prince of devils.

25 [5] But Jeſus knew their thoughts, and ſaid to them, every kingdome divided againſt it ſelfe, is brought to nought: and every citie or houſe, divided againſt it ſelf, ſhall not ſtand.

26 So if Satan caſt out Satan, he is divided againſt himſelfe: how ſhall then his kingdome endure?

27 Alſo if I through Beelzebub caſt out devils, by whom doe your children caſt them out? Therefore they ſhall be your judges.

28 But if I caſt out devils by the Spirit of God, then is the kingdome of God come unto you.

29 Elſe how can a man enter into a ſtrong mans houſe and ſpoile his goods, except he firſt binde the ſtrong man, and then ſpoile his houſe.

30 Hee that is not with mee, is againſt me: and he that gathereth not with me, ſcattereth.

31 * Wherefore I ſay unto you, every ſinne and blaſphemy ſhall be forgiven unto men: but the blaſphemy againſt the holy Ghoſt ſhall not be forgiven unto men.

32 And whoſoever ſhall ſpeak a word againſt the Sonne of man, it ſhall be forgiven him: [6] but whoſoever ſhall ſpeak againſt the holy Ghoſt, it ſhall not be forgiven him, neither in this world, nor in the world to come. +

Hebrews 6. 4.

33 Either make the tree good, and his fruit good: or elſe make the tree evill, and his fruit evill: for the tree is known by the fruit.

34 [7] O generations of vipers, how can you ſpeak good things, when ye are evil? For of the * abundance of the heart the mouth ſpeaketh.

35 A good man out of the good treaſure of his heart bringeth forth good things: and an evill man out of an evill treaſure bringeth forth evil things.

36 But I ſay unto you, that of every [e] idle word that men ſhall ſpeak, they ſhall give accompt thereof at the day of judgement.

37 For by thy words thou ſhalt be juſtified, and by thy words thou ſhalt be condemned.

38 ¶ [8] * Then anſwered certaine of the Scribes and of the Phariſees, ſaying, Maſter, we would ſee a ſigne of thee.

THe * ſame day went Jeſus out of the houſe, and ſate by the ſea ſide.

[1] Chriſt ſheweth, in putting forth this parable of the ſower, that the ſeed of life which is ſowne in the world, commeth not on ſo well in one as in another, and the reaſon is, for that men, for the moſt part, either doe not receive it, or ſuffer it not to ripen.

2 [1] And great multitudes reſorted unto him, ſo that he went into a ſhip, and ſate down: and the whole multitude ſtood on the ſhore.

3 Then he ſpake many things to them in parables, ſaying, Behold, a ſower went forth to ſow.

4 And as he ſowed, ſome fell by the way ſide, and the fowles came and devoured them up.

5 And ſome fell upon ſtony ground, where they had not much earth, and anon they ſprung up, becauſe they had no depth of earth.

6 And when the ſunne was up, they were parched, and for lack of rooting, withered away.

7 And ſome fell among thorns, and the thorns ſprung up, and choked them.

8 Some again fell in good ground, and brought forth fruit, one corne an hundreth fold, ſome ſixtie fold, & another thirty fold.

9 He that hath eares to heare, let him heare.

10 ¶ Then the diſciples came, and ſaid to him, Why ſpeakeſt thou to them in parables?

[3] The conditiō of the Church under, and ſince Chriſt, is better then it was in the time of the fathers under the Law.

* Luke 10.24.

16 [3] But bleſſed are your eies, for they ſee: and your eares, for they heare.

17 * For verely, I ſay unto you, that many Prophets, and righteous men have deſired to ſee thoſe things which yee ſee, and have not ſeene them, and to heare thoſe things, which ye heare, and have not heard them.

* Marke 4.15. Luke 8.11.

18 ¶ * Heare ye therefore the parable of the ſower.

[a] Though there bee mention made of the heart, yet this ſowing is referred to hearing, without underſtanding. For whether the ſeed be received in the heart or no, yet hee that ſoweth, ſoweth to the heart.

19 Whenſoever any man heareth the word of that kingdome, and underſtandeth it not, that evil one cometh and catcheth away that which was ſowen in his [a] heart: and this is he which hath received the ſeed by the way ſide.

20 And he that received ſeed in the ſtonie ground, is he which heareth the word, and incontinently with joy receiveth it,

21 Yet hath he no root in himſelfe, and dureth but a ſeaſon: for as ſoone as tribulation or perſecution commeth becauſe of the word, by and by he is offended.

22 And he that received the ſeed among thornes, is he that heareth the word: but the care of this world, and the deceitfulnes of riches choke the word, and he is made unfruitfull.

23 But he that received the ſeed in the good ground, is he that heareth the word, and underſtandeth it, which alſo beareth fruit, and bringeth forth, ſome an hundred fold, ſome ſixtie fold, and ſome thirty fold.

4 Chriſt ſheweth in an other parable of the evil ſeed mixt with the good, that the Church ſhall never be free and quit from offences, both in doctrine and manners, untill the day appointed for the reſtoring of all things do come, & therefore the faithfull have to arm themſelves with patience and conſtancie.

24 ¶ [4] Another parable put he forth unto them, ſaying, The kingdome of heaven is like unto a man which ſowed good ſeed in his field.

25 But while men ſlept, there came his enemie, and ſowed tares among the wheat, and went his way.

26 And when the blade was ſprung up, and brought forth fruit, then appeared the tares alſo.

27 Then came the ſervants of the houſeholder, and ſaid unto him, Maſter, ſowedſt not thou good ſeed in thy field? from whence then hath it tares?

28 And he ſaid to them, ſome envious man hath done this. Then the ſervants ſaid unto him, Wilt thou then that we goe and gather them up?

29 But he ſaid, Nay, leſt while ye goe about to gather the tares, ye pluck up alſo with them the wheat.

30 Let both grow together untill the harveſt, and in time of harveſt I will ſay to the reapers, Gather ye firſt the tares, and binde them in ſheaves to burn them: but gather the wheate into my barne.

* Marke 4. 30. Luke 13. 19.
5 God beginneth his kingdome with very ſmall beginnings, to the end that by the growing on of it, beſide the expectation and hope of all men, his mighty power & working may be the more ſet forth.

31 ¶ * [5] Another parable he put forth unto them, ſaying, The kingdome of heaven is like unto a graine of muſtard ſeed, which a man taketh and ſoweth in his field:

32 Which indeed is the leaſt of all ſeeds: but when it is grown, it is the greateſt among herbs, and it is a tree, ſo that the birds of heaven come and build in the branches thereof.

* Luke 13. 21.

33 ¶ * Another parable ſpake he to them, The kingdome of heaven is like unto leaven, which a woman taketh and hideth in three pecks of meale, till all be leavened.

* Marke 4. 33. 34.

34 ¶ * All theſe things ſpake Jeſus unto the multitude in parables, and without parables ſpake he not to them,

* Pſal. 78. 2.

35 That it might be fulfilled, which was ſpoken by the Prophet, ſaying, * I will open my mouth in parables, and will utter the things which have been kept ſecret from the foundation of the world.

36 Then ſent Jeſus the multitude away, and went into the houſe. And his diſciples came unto him, ſaying, Declare unto us the parable of the tares of that field.

6 He expoundeth the former parable of the good and evill ſeed.

37 [6] Then anſwered he, and ſaid to them, He that ſoweth the good ſeed, is the Sonne of man.

38 And the field is the world, and the good ſeed are the children of the kingdome, and the tares are the children of that wicked one.

* Ioel 3. 13. Revel. 14. 15.

39 And the enemie that ſoweth them, is the devill, * and the harveſt is the end of the world, and the reapers be the Angels.

40 As then the tares are gathered and burned in the fire, ſo ſhall it be in the end of this world.

41 The Sonne of man ſhall ſend forth his Angels, and they ſhall gather out of his kingdome all things that offend, and them which do iniquitie, 42 And ſhall caſt them into a fornace of fire. There ſhall be wailing and gnaſhing of teeth.

* Dan. 12. 3.

43 * Then ſhall the juſt men ſhine as the ſunne in the kingdome of their Father. He that hath eares to heare, let him heare.

7 Few men underſtand how great the riches of the kingdome of heaven are, and no man can be partaker of them, but he that redeemeth them with the los of all his goods.

44 ¶ [7] Again, the kingdome of heaven is like unto a treaſure hid in the field, which when a man hath found, he hideth it, and for joy thereof departeth, and ſelleth all that he hath, and buyeth that field.

45 ¶ Again, the kingdome of heaven is like to a merchant man, that ſeeketh good pearles, 46 Who having found a pearle of great price, went and ſold all that he had, and bought it.

8 There are many in the Church, which notwithſtanding are not of the Church, and therefore at legth ſhall be caſt out: but the full and perfect clenſing of them is deferred to the laſt day.

47 ¶ [8] Again, the kingdome of heaven is like unto a draw-net caſt into the ſea, that gathereth of all kinds of things,

48 Which, when it is full, men draw to land, and ſit and gather the good into veſſels, and caſt the bad away.

49 So ſhall it be at the end of the world. The Angels ſhall goe forth, and ſever the bad from among the juſt,

50 And ſhall caſt them into a furnace of fire: there ſhall be wailing, and gnaſhing of teeth.

9 They ought to be diligent, which have not onely to be wiſe for themſelves, but to diſpence the wiſedome of God to other.

51 ¶ [9] Jeſus ſaid unto them, Underſtand ye all theſe things? They ſaid unto him, Yea, Lord.

52 Then ſaid he unto them, Therefore every Scribe which is taught unto the kingdome of heaven, is like unto an houſeholder, which bringeth forth out of his treaſure things both new and old.

53 ¶ And it came to paſſe, that when Jeſus had ended theſe parables, he departed thence,

* Iohn 6. 42.

58 And he did not many great works there,for their unbeliefs ſake.

[b] There were three Herods: the firſt of them was Antipaters ſonne, who is alſo called Aſcalonius, in whoſe reigne Chriſt was born, and he it was that cauſed the children to be ſlain. The ſecond was called Antipas, Magnus his ſonne, whoſe mothers name was Malthaca or Martaca, & this was called Tetrarch, by reaſon of enlarging his dominion, when Archelaus was baniſhed to Vienne in France. The third was Agrippa, Magnus his nephew by Ariſtobulus, and he it was that ſlew Iames.

At * [1] that time Herod the Tetrarch heard of the fame of Jeſus,

2 And ſaid unto his ſervants, This is that John Baptiſt, he is riſen again from the dead, and therefore great [a] works are wrought by him.

3 * For Herod had taken John, and bound him, and put him in priſon for Herodias ſake, his brother Philips wife.

4 For John ſaid unto him, It is not * lawfull for thee to have her.

5 And when he would have put him to death, he feared the multitude, becauſe they counted him as a * Prophet.

6 But when Herods birth-day was kept, the daughter of Herodias daunced before them, and pleaſed [b] Herod.

7 Wherefore he promiſed with an oath, that he would give her whatſoever ſhe would aſk.

8 And ſhe being before inſtructed of her mother, ſaid, Give me here John Baptiſts head in a platter.

9 And the king was ſory: nevertheles becauſe of the oath, and them that ſate with him at the table, he commanded it to be given her.

10 And ſent, and beheaded John in the priſon.

11 And his head was brought in a platter, and given to the maid, and ſhe brought it unto her mother.

12 And his diſciples came, and tooke up the body, and buried it, and went, and told Jeſus.

* Marke 6. 23. Luke 9. 10.

14 [2] And Jeſus went forth and ſaw a great multitude, and was moved with compaſſion toward them, and he healed their ſick.

15 ¶ And when even was come, * his diſciples came to him, ſaying, This is a deſert place, and the time is already paſt: let the multitude depart, that they may go into the townes, and buy them victuales.

16 But Jeſus ſaid to them, They have no need to go away: give ye them to eat.

17 Then ſaid they unto him, We have here but five loaves and two fiſhes.

18 And he ſaid, Bring them hither to me.

19 And he commanded the multitude to ſit down on the graſſe, and tooke the five loaves and the two fiſhes, and looked up to heaven, and bleſſed, and brake; and gave the loaves to his diſciples, and the diſciples to the multitude.

20 And they did all eat, and were ſuffiſed, and they took up of the fragments that remained, twelve baskets full.

21 And they that had eaten, were about five thouſand men, beſide women and little children.

22 ¶ And ſtraightway Jeſus compelled his diſciples to enter into a ſhip, and to go over before him, while he ſent the multitude away.

23 And aſſoone as he had ſent the multitude away, he went up into a mountain alone to pray: and * when the evening was come, he was there alone.

* Marke 6. 45. 46. 47. Iohn 6. 16. 17. 18.

[3] We muſt ſaile evē through mighty tempeſts, and Chriſt will never forſake us, ſo that we go whither he hath commanded us.

[c] By the fourth watch is meant the time neere to day breaking: for in old time they divided the night into foure watches, in which they ſcouted.

[d] A ſpirit, as it is here taken, is that which a man imagineth to himſelfe vainly in his minde, perſwading himſelf that he ſeeth ſomething, and ſeeth nothing.

[4] By faith we treade under our feet even the tēpeſts themſelves, but yet by the vertue of Chriſt, which helpeth that vertue, which he of his mercy hath given.

24 [3] And the ſhip was now in the mids of the ſea, and was toſſed with waves: for it was a contrary winde.

25 And in the [c] fourth watch of the night, Jeſus went unto them, walking on the ſea.

26 And when his diſciples ſaw him walking on the ſea, they were troubled, ſaying, It is a [d] ſpirit, and cryed out for feare.

27 But ſtraightway Jeſus ſpake unto them, ſaying, Be of good comfort, it is I: be not afraid.

28 [4] Then Peter anſwered him, and ſaid, Maſter, if it be thou, bid me come unto thee on the water.

29 And he ſaid, Come. And when Peter was come down out of the ſhip, he walked on the water, to go to Jeſus.

30 But when he ſaw a mighty wind, he was afraid: and as he began to ſink, he cryed, ſaying, Maſter, ſave me.

31 So immediatly Jeſus ſtretched forth his hand, and caught him, and ſaid unto him, O thou of little faith, wherefore didſt thou doubt?

32 And aſſoone as they were come into the ſhip, the winde ceaſed.

33 Then they that were in the ſhip, came and worſhipped him, ſaying, Of a truth thou art the Sonne of God.

34 ¶ * And when they were come over, they came into the land of [e] Gennezaret.

35 [5] And when the men of that place knew him, they ſent out into all that countrey round about, and brought unto him, all that were ſick,

36 And beſought him that they might touch the hem of his garment onely: and as many as touched it were made whole.

Chap. XV.

3 The commandements and traditions of men. 12 Offence. 13 The plant which is rooted up. 14 Blinde leading the blind. 18 The heart. 22 The woman of Canaan. 26 The childrens bread: whelps. 28 Faith. 32 Foure thouſand men fed. 36 Thankſgiving.

THen [1] came to Jeſus the Scribes and Phariſes, which were of Jeruſalem, ſaying,

2 * Why do thy diſciples tranſgreſſe the tradition of the Elders? for they [a] waſh not their hands when they eat bread.

3 [2] But he anſwered and ſaid unto them, Why do ye alſo tranſgreſſe the commandement of God by your tradition?

4 * For God hath commanded, ſaying, [b] Honour thy father and mother: * and he that curſeth father or mother, let him die the death.

5 But ye ſay, [c] whoſoever ſhall ſay to father or mother, By the gift that is offered by me, thou mayeſt have profit,

6 Though he honour not his father or his mother, ſhall be free: thus have ye made the commandment of God of no [d] authoritie by your tradition.

7 [3] O hypocrites, Eſaias propheſied well of you, ſaying,

8 * This people draw neere unto me with their mouth, and honoureth me with the lips, but their heart is farre off from me.

9 But in vain they worſhip me, teaching for doctrines mens precepts.

10 [4] Then he called the multitude unto him, and ſaid to them, Heare & underſtand.

11 * That which goeth into the mouth, defileth not the man, but that which commeth out of the mouth, that defileth the man.

12 ¶ Then came his diſciples & ſaid unto him, Perceiveſt thou not, that the Phariſes are offended in hearing this ſaying?

13 But he anſwered and ſaid, * every plant which mine heavenly Father hath not planted, ſhall be rooted up.

14 Let them alone, they be the * blinde leaders of the blinde: and if the blind leade the blinde, both ſhall fall into the ditch.

15 ¶ * Then anſwered Peter, and ſaid to him, Declare unto us this parable.

16 Then ſaid Jeſus, Are ye yet without underſtanding?

17 Perceive ye not yet, that whatſoever entreth into the mouth, goeth into the belly, and is caſt out into the draught?

18 But thoſe things which proceed out of the mouth, come from the heart, and they defile the man.

19 For out of the heart * come evil thoughts, murders, adulteries, fornications, thefts, falſe teſtimonies, ſlanders.

20 Theſe are the things, which defile the man: but to eat with unwaſhen hands, defileth not the man.

21 * And Jeſus went thence, and departed into the [e] coaſts of Tyrus and Sidon.

22 And behold, a woman a [f] Canaanite came out of the ſame coaſts, and cried, ſaying unto him, Have mercie on me, O Lord, the ſonne of David: my daughter is miſerably vexed with a devill.

23 [5] But he anſwered her not a word. Then came to him his diſciples, and beſought him, ſaying, Send her away, for ſhe crieth after us.

24 But he anſwered, and ſaid, I am not ſent but unto the * loſt ſheep of the [g] houſe of Iſrael.

25 Yet ſhe came, and worſhipped him, ſaying, Lord, help me.

26 And he anſwered, and ſaid, it is not good to take the childrens bread, and to caſt it to whelps.

27 But ſhe ſaid, Trueth, Lord: yet indeed the whelps eat of the crummes, which fall from their maſters table.

28 Then Jeſus anſwered, and ſaid unto her, O woman, great is thy faith: be it to thee, as thou deſireſt. And her daughter was made whole at that houre.

29 ¶ [6] So Jeſus * went away from thence, and came neere unto the ſea of Galile, and went up into a mountain and ſat down there.

30 And great multitudes came unto him, * having with them, halt, blinde, dumbe, [h] maimed, and many other, and caſt them down at Jeſus feet, and he healed them.

31 Inſomuch that the multitude wondered, to ſee the dumb ſpeake, the maimed whole, the halt to go, and the blinde to ſee: and they glorified the God of Iſrael.

32 * [7] Then Jeſus called his diſciples unto him, and ſaid, I have compaſſion on this multitude, becauſe they have [i] continued with me already three dayes, and have nothing to eat: and I will not let them depart faſting, leſt they faint in the way.

33 And his diſciples ſaid unto him, Whence ſhould we gett ſo much bread in the wilderneſſe, as ſhould ſuffice ſo great a multitude!

34 And Jeſus ſaid unto them, how many loaves have ye? And they ſaid, Seven, and a few little fiſhes.

35 Then he commanded the multitude to [k] ſit down on the ground,

36 And took the ſeaven loaves, and the fiſhes, and gave thanks, and brake them, and gave to his diſciples, and the diſciples to the multitude.

37 And they did all eat, and were ſufficed: and they took up of the fragments that remained, ſeven [l] baskets full.

38 And they that had eaten, were foure thouſand men, beſide women, and little children.

39 Then Ieſus ſent away the multitude, and took ſhip, and came into the parts of Magdala.

4 The ſigne of Ionas. 6 The leaven of the Phariſees. 12 For their doctrine. 13 The peoples opinion of Chriſt. 17 Faith cometh of God. 18 The rock. 19 The keyes. 21 Chriſt foreſheweth his death. 24 The forſaking of ones ſelf, and the croſſe. 25 To looſe the life.

THen [1] * came the Phariſees and Sadduces, and did [a] tempt him, deſiring him to ſhew them a ſigne from heaven.

2 But he anſwered, and ſaid unto them, When it is evening, ye ſay, Fair weather: for the skie is red.

3 * And in the morning, ye ſay, To day ſhall be a tempeſt: for the skie is red and lowring. O hypocrites, ye can diſcern the [b] face of the skie, and can ye not diſcern the ſignes of the times?

4 * The wicked generation, and adulterous ſeeketh a ſigne, but there ſhall no ſigne be given it, but [c] that ſigne of the Prophet * Jonas: ſo he left them, and departed.

5 ¶ [2] And when his diſciples were come to the other ſide, they had * forgotten to take bread with them.

6 Then Jeſus ſayd unto them, Take heed and beware of the leaven of the Phariſees and Sadduces.

7 And they reaſoned among themſelves, ſaying, It is becauſe we have brought no bread:

8 But Jeſus [d] knowing it, ſaid unto them, O ye of little faith, why reaſon ye thus among your ſelves, becauſe ye have brought no bread?

9 Do ye not yet perceive, neither remember the [e] five loaves, when there were * five thouſand men, and how many baskets took ye up?

10 Neither the ſeven loaves when there were * foure thouſand men, and how many baskets took ye up?

11 Why [f] perceive ye not that I [g] ſaid not unto you concerning bread, that ye ſhould beware of the leaven of the Phariſees and Sadduces?

12 Then underſtood they that he had not ſaid that they ſhould beware of the leaven of bread, but of the doctrine of the Phariſees, and Sadduces.

13 ¶ * [3] Now when Jeſus came into the coaſts of [h] Ceſarea Philippi, he asked his diſciples, ſaying, Whom do men ſay that I, the Son of man am?

14 And they ſaid, Some ſay, [i] John Baptiſt: and ſome, Elias: and others, Jeremias, or one of the Prophets.

15 He ſaid unto them, But whom ſay ye that I am?

16 Then Simon Peter anſwered, and ſaid, * Thou art that Chriſt, the Sonne of the living God.

17 [4] And Jeſus anſwered, and ſaid to him, Bleſſed art thou Simon thou ſon of Jonas: for [k] fleſh and blood hath not revealed it unto thee, but my Father which is in heaven.

18 [5] And I ſay alſo unto thee, that thou art * [l] Peter, and upon this rock I will build my Church: and the [m] gates of hell ſhall not overcome it.

19 [6] And I * will give unto thee the [n] keyes of the kingdome of heaven, and whatſoever thou ſhalt [o] bind upon earth, ſhall be bound in heaven: and whatſoever thou ſhalt looſe on earth, ſhall be looſed in heaven.

20 [7] Then he charged his diſciples, that they ſhould tell no man that he was Jeſus that Chriſt.

21 ¶ [8] From that time forth Jeſus began to ſhew unto his diſciples, that he muſt go unto Hieruſalem, and ſuffer many things of the [p] Elders, and of the high Prieſts, and Scribes, and be ſlain, and be raiſed again the third day.

22 Then Peter [q] took him aſide, and began to rebuke him, ſaying, Maſter, pittie thy ſelf: this ſhall not be unto thee.

23 [9] Then he turned back, and ſaid unto Peter, Get thee behinde me, [r] Satan: thou art an offence unto me, becauſe thou [ſ] underſtandeſt not the things that are of God, but the things that are of men.

24 [10] Jeſus then ſaid to his diſciples, * If any man will follow me, let him forſake himſelf, and take up his croſſe, and follow me.

25 For * whoſoever will ſave his life, ſhall looſe it: and whoſoever ſhall looſe his life for my ſake, ſhall [t] finde it.

26 * For what ſhall it profit a man though he ſhould winne the whole world, if he loſe his own ſoul? or what ſhall a man give for recompence of his ſoul?

27 For the Sonne of man ſhall come [u] in the glory of his Father, with his Angels, and * then ſhall he give to every man according to his deeds.

28 * Verely I ſay unto you, There be ſome of them that ſtand here, which ſhall not taſte of death, till they have ſeen the Son of man come in his [x] kingdome.

[1] The wicked which otherwiſe are at defiance one with another, agree well together againſt Chriſt, but doe what they can, Chriſt beareth away the victorie, and triumpheth over them.

THen [1] came to Jeſus the Scribes and Phariſes, which were of Jeruſalem, ſaying,

2 * Why do thy diſciples tranſgreſſe the tradition of the Elders? for they [a] waſh not their hands when they eat bread.

3 [2] But he anſwered and ſaid unto them, Why do ye alſo tranſgreſſe the commandement of God by your tradition?

4 * For God hath commanded, ſaying, [b] Honour thy father and mother: * and he that curſeth father or mother, let him die the death.

5 But ye ſay, [c] whoſoever ſhall ſay to father or mother, By the gift that is offered by me, thou mayeſt have profit,

6 Though he honour not his father or his mother, ſhall be free: thus have ye made the commandment of God of no [d] authoritie by your tradition.

7 [3] O hypocrites, Eſaias propheſied well of you, ſaying,

8 * This people draw neere unto me with their mouth, and honoureth me with the lips, but their heart is farre off from me.

9 But in vain they worſhip me, teaching for doctrines mens precepts.

10 [4] Then he called the multitude unto him, and ſaid to them, Heare & underſtand.

11 * That which goeth into the mouth, defileth not the man, but that which commeth out of the mouth, that defileth the man.

12 ¶ Then came his diſciples & ſaid unto him, Perceiveſt thou not, that the Phariſes are offended in hearing this ſaying?

13 But he anſwered and ſaid, * every plant which mine heavenly Father hath not planted, ſhall be rooted up.

14 Let them alone, they be the * blinde leaders of the blinde: and if the blind leade the blinde, both ſhall fall into the ditch.

15 ¶ * Then anſwered Peter, and ſaid to him, Declare unto us this parable.

16 Then ſaid Jeſus, Are ye yet without underſtanding?

17 Perceive ye not yet, that whatſoever entreth into the mouth, goeth into the belly, and is caſt out into the draught?

27 But ſhe ſaid, Trueth, Lord: yet indeed the whelps eat of the crummes, which fall from their maſters table.

28 Then Jeſus anſwered, and ſaid unto her, O woman, great is thy faith: be it to thee, as thou deſireſt. And her daughter was made whole at that houre.

29 ¶ [6] So Jeſus * went away from thence, and came neere unto the ſea of Galile, and went up into a mountain and ſat down there.

33 And his diſciples ſaid unto him, Whence ſhould we gett ſo much bread in the wilderneſſe, as ſhould ſuffice ſo great a multitude!

THen [1] * came the Phariſees and Sadduces, and did [a] tempt him, deſiring him to ſhew them a ſigne from heaven.

2 But he anſwered, and ſaid unto them, When it is evening, ye ſay, Fair weather: for the ſkie is red.

3 * And in the morning, ye ſay, To day ſhall be a tempeſt: for the ſkie is red and lowring. O hypocrites, ye can diſcern the [b] face of the ſkie, and can ye not diſcern the ſignes of the times?

6 Then Jeſus ſayd unto them, Take heed and beware of the leaven of the Phariſees and Sadduces.

7 And they reaſoned among themſelves, ſaying, It is becauſe we have brought no bread:

8 But Jeſus [d] knowing it, ſaid unto them, O ye of little faith, why reaſon ye thus among your ſelves, becauſe ye have brought no bread?

9 Do ye not yet perceive, neither remember the [e] five loaves, when there were * five thouſand men, and how many baskets took ye up?

10 Neither the ſeven loaves when there were * foure thouſand men, and how many baskets took ye up?

11 Why [f] perceive ye not that I [g] ſaid not unto you concerning bread, that ye ſhould beware of the leaven of the Phariſees and Sadduces?

13 ¶ * [3] Now when Jeſus came into the coaſts of [h] Ceſarea Philippi, he asked his diſciples, ſaying, Whom do men ſay that I, the Son of man am?

14 And they ſaid, Some ſay, [i] John Baptiſt: and ſome, Elias: and others, Jeremias, or one of the Prophets.

15 He ſaid unto them, But whom ſay ye that I am?

16 Then Simon Peter anſwered, and ſaid, * Thou art that Chriſt, the Sonne of the living God.

17 [4] And Jeſus anſwered, and ſaid to him, Bleſſed art thou Simon thou ſon of Jonas: for [k] fleſh and blood hath not revealed it unto thee, but my Father which is in heaven.

1 The greateſt in the Kingdome of God. 5 To receive a little childe. 6 To give offence. 7 Offences. 9 The pulling out of the eye. 10 The Angels. 12 The loſt ſheep. 15 The telling of one his fault. 17 Excommunication. 21 We muſt alwayes pardon the brother that repenteth. 23 The parable of the King that taketh an account of his ſervants.

The *ſame time the diſciples came unto Jeſus, ſaying, Who is the greateſt in the kingdome of heaven?

2 [1] And Jeſus called a [a] little childe unto him, and ſet him in the mids of them,

3 And ſaid, Verely I ſay unto you, except ye be *[b] converted, and become as little children, ye ſhall not enter into the kingdome of heaven.

4 Whoſoever therefore ſhall humble himſelf as this little childe, the ſame is the greateſt in the kingdome of heaven.

5 And whoſoever ſhall receive one ſuch little childe in my name, receiveth me,

* Mark 9. 34. Luke 9. 46.

[1] Humbleneſſe of minde is the right way to preeminence.

[a] A childe in yeares.

* Chap. 19. 14. 1. Cor. 14. 20.

[b] A kinde of ſpeech taken from the Hebrews, and it is as much as, repent.

6 * [2] But whoſoever ſhall offend one of theſe little ones which beleeve in me, it were better for him, that a milſtone were hanged about his neck, and that he were drowned in the depth of the ſea.

7 [3] Wo be unto the world becauſe of offences: for it muſt needs be that [c] offences ſhall come, but wo be to that man, by whom the offence cometh.

8 * Wherefore, if thy hand or thy foot cauſe thee to [d] offend, cut them off, and caſt them from thee: it is better for thee to enter into life, halt, or maymed, then having two hands, or two feet, to be caſt into everlaſting fire.

9 And if thine eye cauſe thee to offend, pluck it out, and caſt it from thee: it is better for thee to enter into life with one eye, then having two eyes to be caſt into hell fire.

10 [4] See that ye deſpiſe not one of theſe little ones: for I ſay unto you, that in heaven their * Angels alwayes behold the face of my Father which is in heaven.

11 For the * Son of man is come to ſave that which was loſt.

12 How think yee? * If a man have an hundred ſheep, and one of them be gone aſtray, doth he not leave ninetie and nine, and go into the mountaines, and ſeek that which is gone aſtray?

13 And if ſo be that he finde it, verely I ſay unto you, he rejoyceth more of that ſheep, then of the ninetie and nine which went not aſtray:

14 So it is not the will of your Father which is in heaven, that one of theſe little ones ſhould periſh.

15 ¶ * [5] Moreover, if thy brother treſpaſſe againſt [e] thee, go and tell him his fault between thee and him alone: if he heare thee, thou haſt wonne thy brother:

16 But if he heare thee not, take yet with thee one or two, that by the * [f] mouth of two or three witneſſes every word may be [g] confirmed.

17 [6] And if he [h] refuſe to heare them, tell it unto the [i] Church: and if he refuſe to heare the Church alſo, let him be unto thee as [k] an heathen man, and a Publicane.

18 Verely I ſay unto you, * Whatſoever ye bind on earth, ſhall be bound in heaven: and * whatſoever ye looſe on earth, ſhall be looſed in heaven.

19 Again, verely I ſay unto you, that if two of you ſhall [l] agree in earth upon any thing, whatſoever they ſhall deſire, it ſhall be given them of my Father which is in heaven.

22 Jeſus ſaid unto him, I ſay not unto thee, Unto ſeven times, but, Unto ſeventie times ſeven times:

23 Therefore is the kingdome of heaven likened unto a certain King, which would take an account of his ſervants:

24 And when he had begun to reckon, one was brought unto him, which owed him [m] ten thouſand talents.

25 And becauſe he had nothing to pay, his lord commanded him to be ſold, and his wife, and his children, and all that he had, and the debt to be payed.

26 The ſervant therefore fell down, and [n] worſhipped him, ſaying, Lord, [o] refrain thine anger toward me, and I will pay thee all.

27 Then that ſervants Lord had compaſſion, and looſed him, and forgave him the debt.

28 But when the ſervant was departed, he found one of his fellow ſervants, which owed him an hundred pence, and he laid hands on him, and thratled him, ſaying, Pay me that thou oweſt.

29 Then his fellow ſervant fell down at his feet, and beſought him, ſaying, Refrain thine anger towards me, and I will pay thee all.

30 Yet he would not, but went, and caſt him into priſon, till he ſhould pay the debt.

31 And when his other fellow ſeruants ſaw what was done, they were very ſorry, and came, and declared unto their Lord all that was done.

32 Then his Lord called him unto him, and ſaid to him, O evil ſervant, I forgave thee all that debt, becauſe thou prayedſt me:

33 Oughteſt thou not alſo to have had pitie on thy fellow ſervant, even as I had pity on thee?

34 So his Lord was wroth, and delivered him to the tormentors, till he ſhould pay all that was due unto him.

35 So likewiſe ſhall mine heavenly Father do unto you, except ye forgive from your hearts, each one to his brother their treſpaſſes.

2 And great multitudes followed him, and he healed them there.

3 ¶ [1] Then came unto him the Phariſees, tempting him, and ſaying to him, Is it lawfull for a man [b] to put away his wife upon every occaſion.

4 And he anſwered and ſaid unto them, Have ye not read, * that he which made them at the beginning, made them male and female,

5 And ſaid, * For this cauſe ſhall a man leave father and mother, and cleave unto his wife, and they which were [d] two ſhall be one fleſh:

6 Wherefore they are no more twain, but one fleſh. Let not man therefore put aſunder that, which God hath [e] coupled together.

7 [2] They ſaid to him, Why did then, * Moſes command to give a bill of divorcement, and to put her away?

8 He ſaid unto them, Moſes, [f] becauſe of the hardneſſe of your heart, [g] ſuffered you to put away your wives: but from the beginning it was not ſo.

9 I ſay therefore unto you, * that whoſoever ſhall put away his wife, except it be [h] for whoredome, and marry another, committeth adultery: and whoſoever marrieth her which is divorced, doth commit adulterie.

10 Then ſaid his diſciples to him, If the [i] matter be ſo between man and wife, it is not good to marry.

11 [3] But he ſaid unto them, All men cannot [k] receive this thing, ſave they to whom it is given.

12 For there are ſome [l] Eunuches, which were ſo born of their mothers belly: and there be ſome Eunuches which be gelded by men: and there be ſome Eunuches, which have [m] gelded themſelves for the kingdome of heaven. He that is able to receive this, let him receive it.

13 ¶ [4] * Then were brought unto him little children, that he ſhould put his hands on them, & pray: & his diſciples rebuked them.

14 But Jeſus ſaid, Suffer the little children, and forbid them not to come to me: for of ſuch is the kingdome of heaven.

15 And when he had put his hands on them, he departed thence.

16 ¶ [5] * And behold, one came and ſaid unto him, Good Maſter, what good thing ſhall I do, that I may have eternall life?

17 And he ſaid unto him, why calleſt thou me good? there is none good but one, even God: but if thou wilt enter into life, keep the commandments.

18 He ſaid to him, Which? And Jeſus ſaid, * Theſe, Thou ſhalt not kill: Thou ſhalt not commit adultery: Thou ſhalt not ſteal: Thou ſhalt not bear falſe witneſſe:

19 Honour thy father and mother: and, Thou ſhalt love thy neighbour as thy ſelf.

20 The young man ſaid unto him, I have obſerved all theſe things from my youth: what lack I yet?

21 Jeſus ſaid unto him, If [n] thou wilt be perfit, go ſell that thou haſt, and give it to the poore, and thou ſhalt have treaſure in heaven, and come, and follow me.

22 And when the young man heard that ſaying, he went away ſorrowfull: for he had great poſſeſſions.

23 [6] Then Jeſus ſaid unto his diſciples, Verely I ſay unto you, that a rich man ſhall hardly enter into the kingdome of heaven.

24 And again, I ſay unto you, It is [o] eaſier for a [p] Camel to go thorow the eye of an needle, then for a rich man to enter into the kingdome of God.

25 And when his diſciples heard it, they were exceedingly amazed, ſaying, Who then can be ſaved?

26 And Jeſus beheld them, and ſaid unto them, With men this is unpoſſible, but with God all things are poſſible.

27 ¶ * Then anſwered Peter, and ſaid to him, Behold, we have forſaken all, & followed thee: what therefore ſhall we have?

28 [7] And Jeſus ſaid unto them, Verely I ſay unto you, that when the Son of man ſhall ſit in the throne of his majeſty, ye which followed me in the [q] regeneration, * ſhall ſit upon twelve thrones and judge the twelve tribes of Iſrael.

29 And whoſoever ſhall forſake houſes, or brethren, or ſiſter, or father, or mother, or wife, or children, or lands, for my Name ſake, he ſhall receive an hundred fold more, and ſhall inherit everlaſting life.

30 [8] * But many that are firſt, ſhall be laſt, and the laſt ſhall be firſt.

[b] The city of Sion. An Hebrew kind of ſpeech, commonly uſed in the Lamentations of Ieremie.

6 So the diſciples went, and did as Jeſus had commanded them,

7 And brought the aſſe and the colt, and put on them their [c] clothes, and ſet him [d] thereon.

8 And a great multitude ſpread their garments in the way: and other cut down branches from the trees, and ſtrewed them in the way.

9 Moreover, the people that went before, and they alſo that followed, cried, ſaying, [e] Hoſanna to the Sonne of David, [f] Bleſſed be he that commeth in the name of the Lord, Hoſanna thou which art in the higheſt heavens.

10 * And when he was come into Hieruſalem, [g] all the citie was moved, ſaying, Who is this?

11 And the people ſaid, This is Jeſus that Prophet of Nazareth in Galile.

12 ¶ And Jeſus went into the Temple of God, and caſt out all them * that ſold and bought in the Temple, and overthrew the tables of the money changers, and the ſeats of them that ſold doves, 13 And ſaid to them, It is written, * My houſe ſhall be called the houſe of prayer: but * ye have made it a denne of theeves.

14 * Then the blind and the halt came to him in the Temple, and he healed them.

15 [2] But when the chief Prieſts and Scribes ſaw the marvailes that he did, and the children crying in the Temple, and ſaying, Hoſanna to the Sonne of David, they diſdained,

16 And ſaid unto him, Heareſt thou what theſe ſay? And Jeſus ſaid unto them, Yea: read ye never, * By the mouth of babes and ſucklings thou haſt [h] made perfect the praiſe?

17 ¶ [3] So he left them, and went out of the city into Bethania, and lodged there.

18 [4] And * in the morning, as he returned into the city, he was hungry,

19 And ſeeing a fig tree in the way, he came to it, and found nothing thereon, but leaves onely, and ſaid to it, Never fruit grow on thee henceforwards. And anon the figge tree withered.

20 And when his diſciples ſaw it, they marveiled, ſaying, How ſoon is the fig tree withered?

21 [5] And Jeſus anſwered and ſaid unto them, * Verily I ſay unto you, if ye have faith, and [i] doubt not, ye ſhall not onely do that, which I have done to the fig tree, but alſo if ye ſay unto this monntain, Take thy ſelfe away, and caſt thy ſelf into the ſea, it ſhall be done.

22 * And whatſoever ye ſhall ask in prayer, if ye beleeve, ye ſhall receive it.

23 ¶ * [6] And when he was come into the Temple, the chiefe Prieſts, and the Elders of the people came unto him, as he was teaching, and ſaid, By what [k] authoritie doeſt thou theſe things? and who gave thee this authoritie?

24 Then Jeſus anſwered and ſaid unto them, I alſo will ask of you [l] a certaine thing, which if you tell me, I likewiſe will tell you by what authoritie I do theſe things.

25 The [m] baptiſme of John, whence was it? from [n] heaven, or of men? Then they [o] reaſoned among themſelves, ſaying, If we ſhall ſay, From heaven, he will ſay unto us, Why did ye not then beleeve him?

26 And if we ſay, Of men, we feare the multitude, * for all hold John as a Prophet.

27 Then they anſwered Jeſus, and ſaid, We cannot tell. And he ſaid unto them, Neither tell I you by what authority I doe theſe things.

28 ¶ [7] But what think ye? A certain man had two ſonnes, and came to the elder, and ſaid, Sonne, go and work to day in my vineyard.

29 But he anſwered, and ſaid, I will not: yet afterward he repented himſelfe, and went.

30 Then came he to the ſecond, and ſaid likewiſe. And he anſwered, and ſaid, I will, Sir: yet he went not.

31 Whether of them twaine did the will of the father? They ſaid unto him, The firſt. Jeſus ſaid unto them, Verely I ſay unto you, that the Publicanes and the harlots [p] go before you into the kingdome of God.

32 For John came unto you in the [q] way of righteouſneſſe, and ye beleeved him not: but the Publicanes, and the harlots beleeved him, and ye, though he ſaw it, were not moved with repentance afterward, that ye might beleeve him.

33 ¶ [8] Heare another parable, There was a certain houſholder, * which planted a vineyard, and hedged it round about, and made a wine preſſe therein, and built [r] a towre, and let it out to huſbandmen, and went into a ſtrange countrey.

34 And when the time of the fruit drew neere, he ſent his ſervants to the huſbandmen to receive the fruits thereof.

35 And the huſbandmen took his ſervants, and beat one, and killed another, and ſtoned another.

36 Again he ſent other ſervants, mo then the firſt: and they did the like unto them.

37 But laſt of all he ſent unto them his own ſonne, ſaying, They will reverence my ſonne.

38 But when the huſbandmen ſaw the ſonne, they ſaid among themſelves, * This is the heire: come, let us kill him, and let us [ſ] take his inheritance.

39 So they took him, and caſt him out of the vineyard, and ſlew him.

43 Therefore I ſay unto you, The kingdome of God ſhall be taken from you, and ſhall be given to a nation, which ſhall bring forth the [a] fruits thereof.

44 * And whoſoever ſhall fall on this ſtone, he ſhall be broken: but on whomſoever it ſhall fall, it will [b] daſh him in pieces.

Chap. XXII.

2 The parable of the mariage. 9 The calling of the Gentiles. 11 The wedding garment, faith. 16 Of Ceſars tribute. 23 They queſtion with Chriſt touching the reſurrection. 32 God is of the living. 36 The greateſt commandement. 37 To love God. 39 To love our neighbour. 42 Ieſus reaſoneth with the Phariſes touching the Meſſias.

THen * [1] Jeſus anſwered, and ſpake unto them again in parables, ſaying,

2 The kingdome of heaven is like unto a certain King which married his ſonne,

3 And ſent forth his ſervants, to call them that were bid to the wedding, but they would not come.

4 Again he ſent forth other ſervants, ſaying, Tell them which are bidden, Behold, I have prepared my dinner: mine oxen and my fatlings are [a] killed, and all things are ready: come unto the marriage.

5 But they made light of it, and went their wayes, one to his farme, and another about his merchandiſe.

6 And the remnant took his ſervants, and intreated them ſharply, and ſlew them.

7 [2] But when the king heard it, he was wroth, and ſent forth his warriours, and deſtroyed thoſe murtherers, and burnt up their citie.

8 Then ſaid he to his ſervants, Truely the [b] wedding is prepared: but they which were bidden, were not worthy.

9 [3] Go ye therefore out into the high wayes, and as many as ye find, bid them to the marriage.

10 So theſe ſervants went out into the high wayes, and gathered together all that ever they found, both good and [c] bad: ſo the wedding was furniſhed with gueſts.

11 [4] Then the King came in to ſee the gueſts, and ſaw there a man which had not on a wedding garment.

12 And he ſaid unto him, Friend, how cameſt thou in hither, & haſt not on a wedding garment? And he was [d] ſpeechleſſe.

13 Then ſaid the King to the [e] ſervants, Binde him hand and foot: take him away, & caſt him into utter darkneſſe: *there ſhall be weeping and gnaſhing of teeth.

14 * For many are called, but few choſen.

15 ¶ * Then went the Phariſees and took counſell how they might [f] tangle him in talk.

16 And they ſent unto him their diſciples with the [g] Herodians, ſaying, Maſter, we know that thou art true, and teacheſt the way of God [h] truely, neither careſt for any man: for thou conſidereſt not the [i] perſon of men.

17 [5] Tell us therefore, how thinkeſt thou? Is it lawfull to give [k] tribute unto Ceſar or not?

18 But Jeſus perceived their wickedneſſe, and ſaid, Why tempt ye me, ye hypocrites?

19 Shew me the tribute money, And they brought him a [l] peny.

20 And he ſaid unto them, Whoſe is this image and ſuperſcription?

21 And they ſaid unto him, Ceſars. Then ſaid he unto them, * Give therefore to Ceſar, the things which are Ceſars, and give unto God, thoſe things which are Gods.

22 And when they heard it, they marveiled, and left him, and went their way.

23 ¶ [6] * The ſame day the Sadduces came to him (which ſay that there is no reſurrection) and asked him,

24 Saying, Maſter, * Moſes ſaid, If a man die, having no [m] children, his brother ſhall marry his wife by the right of alliance, and raiſe up ſeed unto his brother.

25 Now there were with us ſeven brethren, and the firſt married a wife, and deceaſed, and having no iſſue, left his wife unto his brother.

26 Likewiſe alſo the ſecond, and the third, unto the ſeventh.

27 And laſt of all the woman died alſo.

28 Therefore in the reſurrection, whoſe wife ſhall ſhe be of the ſeven? for all had her.

29 Then Jeſus anſwered, and ſaid unto them, Ye are deceived, not knowing the Scriptures, nor the power of God.

30 For in the reſurrection they neither marrie wives, nor wives are beſtowed in marriage, but are as the [n] Angels of God in heaven.

* Luke 11.39.

26 Thou blinde Phariſee, cleanſe firſt the inſide of the cup and platter, that the outſide of them may be clean alſo.

27 Wo be to you, Scribes and Phariſees, hypocrites: for ye are like unto whited tombes, which appear beautifull outward, but are within full of dead mens bones, and of all filthineſſe.

28 So are ye alſo: for outward ye appear righteous unto men, but within ye are full of hypocriſie and iniquitie.

29 ¶ [9] Wo be unto you, Scribes and Phariſees, hypocrites: for ye build the tombes of the Prophets, and garniſh the ſepulchres of the righteous,

2 The deſtruction of the Temple. 4 The ſignes of Chriſts coming. 12 Iniquitie. 23 Falſe Chriſts. 29 The ſignes of the end of the world. 31 The Angels. 32 The figge tree. 37 The dayes of Noe. 42 We muſt watch. 45 The ſervant.

AND * Jeſus went out, and departed from the Temple, and his diſciples came to him, to ſhew him the building of the Temple.

* Mark 13.1. Luke 21.5,6.

[1] The deſtruction of the citie, and eſpecially of the Temple is foretold
* Luke 19.44.

3 And as he ſate upon the mount of Olives, his diſciples came unto him apart, ſaying, Tell us when theſe things ſhall be, and what ſigne ſhall be of thy coming, and of the end of the world.

4 [2] And Jeſus anſwered, and ſaid unto them, * Take heed that no man deceive you,

[2] The Church ſhall have a continuall conflict with infinite miſeries & offences, and that more is, with falſe prophets, untill ẏ day of victorie and triumph cometh.
* Epheſ. 5.6. Coloſſ. 2.18.

5 For many ſhal come in my Name, ſaying, I am Chriſt, and ſhall deceive many.

[a] That is, when thoſe things are fulfilled, yet the end ſhall not come.

7 For nation ſhall riſe againſt nation, and realm againſt realme, and there ſhall be famine, and peſtilence, and earthquakes in [b] divers places.

[b] Every where.

8 All theſe are but the beginning of [c] ſorrowes.

10 And then ſhall many be offended, and ſhall betray one another, and ſhall hate one another.

11 And many falſe prophets ſhall ariſe, and ſhall deceive many.

12 And becauſe iniquitie ſhall be increaſed, the love of many ſhall be cold.

13 * [3] But he that endureth to the end, he ſhall be ſaved.

* 2. Theſſ. 3.13. 2. Tim. 2,5.

[3] The Goſpel ſhall be ſpread abroad, rage the world and the devill never ſo much: and they which do conſtantly beleeve, ſhall be ſaved.

14 And this [d] Goſpel of the kingdome ſhal be preached through the whole [e] world, for a witneſſe unto all nations, and then ſhall the end come.

15 ¶ [4] When ye * therefore ſhall ſee the [f] Abomination of deſolation ſpoken of by * Daniel the Prophet, ſet in the holy place, (let him that readeth conſider it)

[4] The kingdome of Chriſt ſhall not be aboliſhed when the citie of Hieruſalem is utterly deſtroyed, but ſhall be ſtretched out even to the ends of the world.
* Mark 13.14. Luke 21.20.

[f] The abomination of deſolation, that is to ſay, which all men deteſt, and cannot abide, by reaſon of the foule and ſhamefull filthineſſe of it: and he ſpeaketh of the idoles that were ſet up in the Temples or as others think, he meant the marring of the doctrine of the Church.
* Dan. 9.27.

16 Then let them which be in Judea, flee into the mountaines.

17 Let him which is on the houſe top, not come down to fetch any thing out of his houſe.

18 And he that is in the field, let not him return back to fetch his [g] clothes.

[g] This betokeneth the great fear that ſhall be.

19 And wo ſhall be to them that are with childe, and to them that give ſuck in thoſe dayes.

20 But pray that your flight be not in the winter, neither on the *[h] Sabbath day.

21 For then ſhall be great tribulation, ſuch as was not from the beginning of the world to this time, nor ſhall be.

22 And except [i] thoſe dayes ſhould be ſhortned, there ſhould no [k] fleſh be ſaved: but for the elects ſake thoſe dayes ſhall be ſhortned.

23 * Then if any ſhall ſay unto you, Lo, here is Chriſt, or there, beleeve it not.

24 For there ſhall ariſe falſe Chriſts, and falſe Prophets, and [l] ſhall ſhew great ſignes and wonders, ſo that if it were poſſible, they ſhould deceive the very elect.

25 Behold, I have told you before.

26 Wherefore if they ſhall ſay unto you, Behold, he is in the deſart, go not forth: Behold, he is in the ſecret places, beleeve it not.

27 For as the lightning cometh out of the Eaſt, and is ſeen into the Weſt, ſo ſhall alſo the coming of the Sonne of man be.

28 * [5] For whereſoever a dead [m] carkeis is, thither will the Eagles be gathered together.

29 * [6] And immediately after the tribulations of thoſe dayes, ſhall the ſunne be darkened, and the moon ſhall not give her light, and the ſtarres ſhall fall from heaven, and the powers of heaven ſhall be ſhaken.

30 And then ſhall appeare the [n] ſigne of the Sonne of man in heaven: and then ſhall all the [o] kinreds of the earth [p] mourn, * and they ſhall ſee the Sonne of man [q] come in the cloudes of heaven with power and great glory.

31 * And he ſhall ſend his Angels with a great ſound of a trumpet, and they ſhall gather together his elect from the [r] foure windes, and from the one end of the heavens unto the other.

32 [7] Now learn the parable of the fig tree: when her bough is yet [ſ] tender, and it putteth forth leaves, ye know that Summer is neere.

33 So likewiſe ye, when ye ſee all theſe things, know that the kingdome of God is neere, even, at the doores.

34 Verely I ſay unto you, this [t] generation ſhall not paſſe, till all theſe things be done.

35 * [8] Heaven and earth ſhall paſſe away: but my words ſhall not paſſe away.

36 [9] But of that day and houre knoweth no man, no not the Angels of heaven, but my Father onely.

37 But as the dayes of Noe were, ſo likewiſe ſhall the coming of the Sonne of man be.

38 * For as in the dayes before the flood, they did [v] eat and drink, marrie, and give in marriage, unto the day that Noe entred into the Ark, 39 And knew nothing till the flood came, and took them all away: ſo ſhall alſo the coming of the Sonne of man be.

40 [10] * Then two ſhall be in the field: the one ſhall he received, and the other ſhall be refuſed.

41 [x] Two women ſhall be grinding at the mill: the one ſhall be received, and the other ſhall be refuſed.

42 [11] * Watch therefore: for ye know not what houre your maſter will come.

43 * Of this be ſure, that if the good man of the houſe knew at what watch the thief would come, he would ſurely watch, and not ſuffer his houſe to be digged through.

44 Therefore be ye alſo ready: for in the houre that ye think not, will the Sonne of man come.

45 * Who then is a faithfull ſervant and wiſe, whom his maſter hath made ruler over his houſhold, to give them meat in ſeaſon?

46 Bleſſed is that ſervant, whom his maſter when he cometh, ſhall finde ſo doing.

47 Verely I ſay unto you, he ſhall make him ruler over all his goods.

1 The Virgins looking for the bridegrome. 13 We muſt watch. 14 The talents delivered unto the ſervants. 24 The evill ſervant. 30 After what ſort the laſt judgement ſhall be. 41 The curſed.

THen [1] the kingdome of heaven ſhall be likened unto tenne virgins, which took their lamps, and [a] went forth to meet the bridegrome:

2 And five of them were wiſe, and five fooliſh.

3 The fooliſh took their lamps, but took none oyl with them.

4 But the wiſe took oyl in their veſſels with their lamps.

5 Now while the bridegrome taried long, all [b] ſlumbered and ſlept.

15 And unto one he gave five talents, and to another two, to another one, to every man after his own [c]ability, and ſtraightway went from home.

19 But after a long ſeaſon, the maſter of thoſe ſervants came, and reckoned with them.

20 Then came he that had received five talents, and brought other five talents, ſaying, Maſter, thou deliveredſt unto me five talents: behold, I have gained with them other five talents.

Chap. XXVI.

3 The conſultation of the Prieſts againſt Chriſt. 6 His feet are anointed. 15 Judas ſelleth him. 26 The inſtitution of the Supper. 34 And 36 Peters deniall. 38 Chriſt is heavie. 47 He is betrayed with a kiſſe. 56 He is lead to Caiaphas. 64 He confeſſeth himſelf to be Chriſt. 67 They ſpit at him.

And *[1] it came to paſſe, when Jeſus had finiſhed all theſe ſayings, he ſaid unto his diſciples,

2 [2] Ye know that after two dayes is the Paſſeover, and the Son of man ſhall be delivered to be crucified.

3 * Then aſſembled together the chief Prieſts, and the Scribes, and the elders of the people into the hall of the high Prieſt called Caiaphas,

4 And conſulted together that they might take Jeſus by ſubtiltie and kill him.

5 But they ſaid, Not on the [a] feaſt day, leſt any uproare be among the people.

6 ¶ *[3] And when Jeſus was in Bethania, in the houſe of Simon the leper,

7 [b] There came unto him a woman, which had a [c] box of very coſtly ointment, & poured it on his head, as he ſat at the table.

8 And when his [d] diſciples ſaw it, they had indignation, ſaying, What needed this [e] waſte?

9 For this ointment might have been ſold for much, and been given to the poore.

10 [4] And Jeſus knowing it, ſaid unto them, Why trouble ye the woman? for ſhe hath wrought a good work upon me.

11 *[5] For ye have the poore alwayes with you, but me ſhall ye not have alwaies.

12 For [f] in that ſhe poured this ointment on my body, ſhe did it to bury me.

13 Verely I ſay unto you, Whereſoever this Goſpel ſhall be preached throughout all the world, there ſhall alſo this that ſhe hath done, be ſpoken of for a memoriall of her.

14 ¶ * Then one of the twelve, called Judas Iſcariot, went unto the chief Prieſts, 15 And ſaid, What will ye give me, and I will deliver him unto you? And they appointed unto him thirtie pieces of ſilver.

16 And from that time he ſought opportunity to betray him.

17 ¶ *[6] Now [g] on the firſt day of the feaſt of unleavened bread, the diſciples came to Jeſus, ſaying unto him, Where wilt thou that we prepare for thee to eat the Paſſeover.

18 And he ſaid, Go ye into the citie to ſuch a man, and ſay to him, The Maſter ſaith, My time is at hand: I will keep the Paſſeover at thine houſe with my diſciples.

19 And the diſciples did as Jeſus had given them charge, and made ready the Paſſeover.

20 * So when the even was come, he [h] ſat down with the twelve.

21 And as they did eat, he ſaid, * Verely I ſay unto you, that one of you ſhall betray me.

22 And they were exceeding ſorrowfull, and began every one of them to ſay unto him, Is it I, Maſter?

23 And he anſwered, and ſaid, * He that [i] dippeth his hand with me in the diſh, he ſhall betray me.

24 Surely the Sonne of man goeth his way, as it is written of him: but wo be to that man, by whom the Son of man is betrayed: it had been good for that man, if he had never been born.

25 Then Judas [k] which betrayed him, anſwered and ſaid, Is it I, Maſter? He ſaid unto him, Thou haſt ſaid it.

26 ¶ [7] * And as they did eat, Jeſus took the bread, and when he had [l] bleſſed, he brake it, and gave it to the diſciples, and ſaid, Take, eat: [m] This is my body.

27 Alſo he took the cup, and when he had given thanks, he gave it them, ſaying, Drink ye [n] all of it.

28 [o] For this is my blood of the [p] new Teſtament, that is ſhed for many, for the remiſſion of ſinnes.

29 I ſay unto you, that I will not drink henceforth of this fruit of the vine untill that day, when I ſhall drink it new with you in my Fathers kingdome.

30 And when they had ſung [q] a Pſalme, they went out into the mount of Olives.

31 ¶ *[8] Then ſaid Jeſus unto them, All ye ſhall be offended by me this night: for it is written, I * will ſmite the ſhepheard, and the ſheep of the flock ſhall be ſcattered.

32 But * after I am riſen again, I will go before you into Galilee.

2 God himſelf and not men appointed the time that Chriſt ſhould be crucified in.

* Iohn 11.47.

[a] By this word Feaſt, is meant the whole feaſt of unleavened bread: the firſt and eight day whereof, were ſo holy, that they might do no manner of work therein, though the whole company of the Sanhedrin determined otherwiſe: And yet it came to paſſe through Gods providence, that Chriſt ſuffered at that time, to the end that all the people of Iſrael might be witneſſes of his everlaſting ſacrifice.

* Mark 14.3. Iohn 11. 2.

3 By this ſudden work of a ſinfull woman, Chriſt giveth the gueſts to underſtand of his death and buriall which was nigh, the ſavour whereof ſhall bring life to all ſinners which flee unto him. But Iudas taketh an occaſion hereby to accompliſh his wicked purpoſe & counſell.

[b] For theſe things were done before Chriſt came to Hieruſalem: and yet ſome think that the Evangeliſts recite two hiſtories.

[c] Theſe boxes were of alabaſter, which in old time men made hollow to put in ointments: for ſome write that alablaſter keepeth ointment very well without corruption, Plinie book 13. ch. 1.

[d] This is a figure called Synecdoche: for it is ſaid but of Iudas, that he was moved thereat. Iohn 12. 14.

[e] Unprofitable ſpending.

4 We ought not raſhly to condemn that which is not orderly done. * Deut. 11.15.

5 Chriſt who was once anointed in his own perſon, muſt alwayes be anointed in the poore.

[f] In that ſhe poured this ointment upon my body, ſhe did it to bury me. * Mark 14. 10.

* Mark 14. 12. Luke 22.7.

6 Chriſt verely purpoſing to bring us into our countrey out of hand, and ſo to abrogate the figure of the Law, fulfilleth the Law, neglecting the contrary tradition and cuſtome of the Iewes: and therewithall ſheweth that all things ſhall ſo come to paſſe by the miniſtery of men, that the ſecret counſell of God ſhall govern them.

[g] This was the fourteenth day of the firſt moneth: and the firſt day of unleavened bread ſhould have been the fifteenth, but becauſe this dayes evening (which after the manner of the Romanes was referred to the day before) did belong by the Iewes manner to the day following, therefore it is called the firſt day of unleavened bread.

* Luke 22.14.

[h] Becauſe the Law appointed them to be ſhod, and have their ſtaves in their hands, as though they were in haſte, thereby it is to be gathered, that they ſate not down when they did eat the Paſſeover, but ſtood, for otherwiſe when they went to meat, they put off their ſhoes: therefore he ſpeaketh here in this place, not of the Paſſeover, but of the Supper which was celebrated after that the Paſſeover was ſolemnly done.

* Mark 14. 18. Iohn 13. 21.

* Pſal. 41. 9.

[i] That is to ſay, whom I vouchſafed to come to my table, alluding to the place, Pſal. 41. 10. which is not ſo to be underſtood as though at the ſelf ſame inſtant that the Lord ſpake theſe words, Iudas had had his hand in the diſh (for that had been an undoubted token) but it is meant of his tabling and eating with him.

[k] VVhoſe head was about nothing elſe but to betary him

7 Chriſt minding forthwith to fulfill the promiſes of the old covenant, inſtituteth a new covenant with new ſignes.

* 1 Cor. 11.24.

[l] Mark ſaith, Had given thanks: and therefore bleſsing is not a conſecrating, with a coniuring kinde of murmuring and force of words and yet the bread and the wine are changed, not in nature, but in qualitie, for they become undoubted tokens of the body and blood of Chriſt, not of their own nature or force of words, but by Chriſt his inſtitution, which muſt be recited, and laid forth, that faith may finde what to lay hold on, both in the word and in the elements.

[m] This is a figurative ſpeech, which is called Metonymia: that is to ſay, the putting of one name for another: ſo calling the bread his body, which is the ſigne and ſacrament of his body. & yet notwithſtanding, it is ſo a figurative and changed kind of ſpeach, that the faithfull do receive Chriſt in deede with all his gifts (though by a ſpirituall meanes) and become one with him.

[n] Therefore they which took away the cup from the people, did againſt Chriſt his inſtitution.

[o] To wit, This cup or wine, is my blood ſacramentally, as Luke 22.10.

[p] Or, the covenant, that is to ſay, whereby the new league and covenant is made: for in making of leagues, they uſed pouring of wine and ſhedding of blood.

[q] VVhen they had made an end of their ſolemn ſinging, which ſome think was ſix pſalmes, beginning at the 112. to the 117.

8 Chriſt being more carefull of his diſciples then of himſelf, forewarneth them of their flight, and putteth them in better comfort. * Mar. 14.27. Iohn 16. 32. and 18. 8. * Zech. 13. 7. * Mark 14. 18. and 16. 7.

33 But Peter anſwered, and ſaid unto him, Though that all men ſhould be offended by thee, yet will I never be offended.

34 * Jeſus ſaid unto him, Verely I ſay unto thee, that this night, before the cock crow, thou ſhalt deny me thrice.

35 Peter ſaid unto him, Though I ſhould die with thee, I will in no caſe denie thee. Likewiſe alſo ſaid all the diſciples.

36 ¶ * [9] Then went Jeſus with them into a place which is called Gethſemane, and ſaid unto his diſciples, Sit ye here, while I go, and pray yonder.

37 And he took unto him Peter, and the two ſonnes of Zebedeus, and began to waxe ſorrowfull, and [r] grievouſly troubled.

38 [10] Then ſaid Jeſus unto them, My ſoul is very heavie, even unto the death: tarie ye here, and watch with me.

39 So he went a little further, and fell on his face, and prayed, ſaying, O my Father, if it be poſſible, [s] let this [t] cup paſſe from me: nevertheleſſe, not as I will, but as thou wilt.

40 [11] After, he came unto the diſciples, and found them aſleep, and ſaid to Peter, What? could ye not watch with me one houre?

41 Watch, and pray, that ye enter not into temptation: the ſpirit indeed is ready, but the fleſh is weak.

42 Again he went away the ſecond time, and prayed, ſaying, O my Father, if this cup cannot paſſe away from me, but that I muſt drink it, thy will be done.

43 And he came, and found them aſleep again, for their eyes were heavie.

44 So he left them, and went away again, and prayed the third time, ſaying the ſame words.

45 Then came he to his diſciples, and ſaid unto them, Sleep henceforth, and take your reſt: behold, the houre is at hand, and the Sonne of man is given into the hands of ſinners.

46 [12] Riſe, let us go: behold, he is at hand that betrayeth me.

47 * And while he yet ſpake, lo, Judas one of the twelve came, and with him a great multitude with ſwords and ſtaves, [v] from he high Prieſts and Elders of the people.

48 Now he that betrayed him, had given them a token, ſaying, Whomſoever I ſhall kiſſe, that is he, lay hold on him.

49 And forthwith he came to Jeſus, and ſaid, God ſave thee, Maſter, and kiſſed him.

50 [13] Then Jeſus ſaid unto him, *Friend, wherefore art thou come? Then came they and laid hands on Jeſus, and took him.

51 And behold, one of them which were with Jeſus, ſtretched out his hand, and drew his ſword, and ſtroke a ſervant of the high Prieſt, and ſmote off his eare.

52 [14] Then ſaid Jeſus unto him, Put up thy ſword into his place: *for all that [y] take the ſword, ſhall periſh with the ſword.

53 [15] Either thinkeſt thou, that I cannot now pray unto my Father, and he will give me moe then twelve legions of Angels?

54 [z] How then ſhould the * Scriptures be fulfilled, which ſay, that it muſt be ſo?

55 The ſame houre ſaid Jeſus to the multitude, Ye be come out as it were againſt a thieſe, with ſwords and ſtaves to take me: I ſat daily teaching in the Temple among you, and ye took me not.

56 But all this was done, that the Scriptures of the Prophets might be fulfilled. * Then all the diſciples forſooke him and fled.

57 ¶ * [16] And they took Jeſus, and led him to [a] Caiaphas the high Prieſt, where the Scribes and the Elders were aſſembled.

58 And Peter followed him afarre off unto the high Prieſts [b] hall, and went in, and ſate with the ſervants to ſee the end.

59 Now * the chief Prieſts and the Elders, and all the whole Councel ſought falſe witneſſe againſt Jeſus, to put him to death.

60 But they found none, and though many falſe witneſſes came, yet found they none: but at the laſt came two falſe witneſſes,

61 And ſaid, This man ſaid, * I can deſtroy the Temple of God, and build it in three dayes.

62 Then the chief Prieſts aroſe, and ſaid to him, Anſwereſt thou nothing? [c] What is the matter that theſe men witneſſe againſt thee?

63 But Jeſus held his peace. Then the chief Prieſt anſwered, and ſaid to him, I charge thee ſweare unto us by the living God, to tell us, If thou be that Chriſt the Sonne of God, or no.

64 * Jeſus ſaid to him, Thou haſt ſaid it: nevertheleſſe I ſay unto you, [d] hereafter ſhall ye ſee the Sonne of man, ſitting [e] at the right hand of the power of God, and come in the [f] cloudes of the heaven.

65 Then the high Prieſt [g] rent his cloths, ſaying, He hath blaſphemed, what have we any more neede of witneſſes? behold, now ye have heard his blaſphemie.

66 What think ye? They anſwered, and ſaid, He is guilty of death.

67 * Then ſpat they in his face, and buffeted him, and other ſmote him with rods, 68 Saying, Prophecie to us, O Chriſt, Who is he that ſmote thee?

9 Chriſt having regard to the weakneſſe of his diſciples, leaving all the reſt in ſafetie, taketh with him but three to be witneſſes of his anguiſh, and goeth of purpoſe into the place appointed to betray him in.

[r] The word which he uſeth, ſignifieth great ſorrow, and marvelous & deadly grief: which thing, as it betokeneth the truth of mans nature, which ſhunneth death, as a thing that entred in againſt nature, ſo it ſheweth that though Chriſt were void of ſinne, yet he ſuſtained this horrible puniſhment becauſe he felt the wrath of God kindled againſt us for ſinnes, which he revenged and puniſhed in his perſon.

10 Chriſt a true man going about to ſuffer the puniſhment which was due unto us, for forſaking of God, is forſaken of his own: he hath a terrible conflict wͭ the horror & feare of the curſe of God: out of which he eſcaping as cõquerour, cauſeth us not to be any more afraid of death.

When * the morning was come, all the chief Prieſts, and the Elders of the people took counſell againſt Jeſus, to put him to death,

3 ¶ [1] Then when Judas which betrayed him, ſaw that he was condemned, he repented himſelf, and brought again the thirtie pieces of ſilver to the chief Prieſts and Elders,

5 And when he had caſt down the ſilver pieces, in the Temple, he [a] departed, and went, * and hanged himſelf.

12 And when he was accuſed of the chief Prieſts and Elders, he anſwered nothing.

13 Then ſaid Pilate unto him, Heareſt thou not how many things they lay againſt thee?

14 But he anſwered him not to one word, in ſo much that the governour marveiled greatly.

15 [3] Now at the feaſt, the governour was wont to deliver unto the people a priſoner whom they would.

16 And they had then a notable priſoner, called Barabbas.

17 When they were then gathered together, Pilate ſaid unto them, Whether will ye that I let looſe unto you Barabbas, or Jeſus which is called Chriſt?

18 (For he knew well that for envie they had delivered him.

19 Alſo when he was ſet down upon the judgement ſeate, his wife ſent to him, ſaying, Have thou nothing to do with that juſt man: for I have ſuffered many things this day in a dreame by reaſon of him.)

21 Then the governour anſwered, and ſaid unto them, Whether of the twain will ye that I let looſe unto you? And they ſaid, Barabbas.

22 Pilate ſaid unto them, What ſhall I doe then with Jeſus, which is called Chriſt? They all ſaid to him, Let him be crucified.

23 Then ſaid the governour, But what evil hath he done? Then they cried the more, ſaying, Let him be crucified.

24 [4] When Pilate ſaw that he availed nothing, but that more tumult was made, he took water and [g] waſhed his hands before the multitude, ſaying, I am innocent of the [h] blood of this juſt man: look you to it.

15 Chriſt is buried not privily, or by ſtealth, but by the governours conſent, by a famous man in a place not farre diſtant, in a new ſepulchre, ſo that it cannot be doubted of his death.

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 The women go to the ſepulchre. 2 The Angel. 9 The women ſee Chriſt. 18 He ſendeth his Apoſtles to preach.

NOw * in [1] the [a] end of the Sabbath, when the firſt day of the week [b] began to dawn, Mary Magdalene, and the other Mary came to ſee the ſepulchre,

2 And behold, there was a great earthquake: for the angel of the Lord deſcended from heaven, and came and rolled back the ſtone from the doore, and ſat upon it.

3 And his [c] countenance was like lightning, and his raiment white as ſnow.

4 And for feare of him the keepers were aſtoniſhed, and became as dead men.

5 But the Angel anſwered, and ſaid to the women, Feare [d] ye not: for I know that ye ſeek Jeſus which was crucified:

6 He is not here, for he is riſen, as he ſaid: come, ſee the place where the Lord was laid,

7 And go quickly, and tell his diſciples, that he is riſen from the dead: and behold, he goeth before you into Galile: there ye ſhall ſee him: lo, I have told you.

8 So they departed quickly from the ſepulchre, with feare and great joy, and did runne to bring his diſciples word.

9 [2] And as they went to tell his diſciples, behold, Jeſus alſo met them, ſaying, God ſave you. And they came, and took him by the feet, and worſhipped him.

10 Then ſaid Jeſus unto them, Be not afraid. Go, and tell my brethren, that they go into Galile, and there ſhall they ſee me.

d The word (Ye) is ſpoken with force to confirm the women, now that the ſouldiers were afraid.

2 Chriſt appeareth himſelf after his reſurrection, and ſending the women to his diſciples, ſheweth that he hath not forgotten them.

11 ¶ [3] Now when they were gone, behold, ſome of the watch came into the city, and ſhewed unto the high Prieſts all the things that were done.

12 And they gathered them together with the Elders, and took counſell, and gave large money unto the ſouldiers, 13 Saying, Say, His diſciples came by night and ſtole him away while we ſlept.

14 And if this matter [e] come before the governour to be heard, we will perſwade him, and ſo uſe the matter that you ſhall not need to care.

15 So they took the money, and did as they were taught: and this ſaying is noyſed among the Jewes unto this day.

16 ¶ [4] Then the eleven diſciples went into Galile, into a mountain where Jeſus had appointed them.

17 And when they ſaw him, they worſhipped him: but ſome doubted.

18 And Jeſus came, and ſpake unto them, ſaying, * All power is given unto me, in heaven, and in earth.

19 * [5] Go therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them [f] in the Name of the Father, and the Sonne, and the holy Ghoſt, [e] The Evangeliſt his meaning was to expreſſe the condition of the baſeſt ſervant.

8 Truth it is, I have [f] baptized you with water: but he will baptize you with the holy Ghoſt.

9 ¶ * [4] And it came to paſſe in thoſe dayes, that Jeſus came from Nazareth, a citie of Galilee, and was baptized of John in Jordan.

10 [5] And aſſoon as [g] he was come out of the water, John ſaw the heavens cloven in twain, and the holy Ghoſt deſcending upon him like a dove.

11 Then there was a voice from heaven, ſaying, Thou art my beloved Son, in whom I am [h] well pleaſed.

12 * [6] And immediately the ſpirit [i] driveth him into the wilderneſſe.

13 And he was there in the wilderneſſe fourtie dayes, and was tempted of Satan: he was alſo with the wilde beaſts, and the Angels miniſtred unto him.

14 ¶ * [7] Now after that John was committed to priſon, Jeſus came into Galilee, preaching the Goſpel of the kingdome of God,

15 And ſaying, The time is fulfilled, and the kingdome of God is at hand: repent and beleeve the Goſpel.

16 ¶ * [8] And as he walked by the ſea of Galilee, he ſaw Simon, and Andrew his brother, caſting a net into the ſea, (for they were fiſhers,)

17 Then Jeſus ſaid unto them, Follow me, and I will make you to be fiſhers of men.

18 And ſtraightway they forſook their nets, and followed him.

19 [9] And when he had gone a little further thence, he ſaw James the ſonne of Zebedeus, and John his brother, as they were in the ſhip, mending their nets.

20 And anon he called them: and they left their father Zebedeus in the ſhip with his hired ſervants, and went their way after him.

21 ¶ So * they entred into [k] Capernaum, and ſtraightway on the Sabbath day he entred into the Synagogue, and taught.

22 And they were aſtonied at his doctrine, * for he taught them, as one that had authoritie, and not as the Scribes.

23 ¶ [10] And there was in their Synagogue, a man [l] in whom was an unclean ſpirit, and he cried out,

24 Saying, Ah, what have we to do with thee, O [m] Jeſus of Nazareth? Art thou come to deſtroy us? I know thee what thou art, even that [n] Holy one of God.

25 And Jeſus rebuked him, ſaying, Hold thy peace, and come out of him.

26 And the unclean ſpirit [o] tare him, and cryed with a loud voice, and came out of him.

27 And they were all amazed, ſo that they demanded one [p] of another, ſaying, What thing is this? what new doctrine is this? for he [q] commandeth even the foule ſpirits with authoritie, and they obey him.

28 And immediately his fame ſpread abroad throughout all the region [r] bordering on Galilee.

29 ¶ * [11] And aſſoon as they were come out of the Synagogue, they entred into the houſe of Simon and Andrew, with James and John.

30 And Simons wives mother lay ſick of a fever, and anon they told him of her.

31 And he came & took her by the hand, and lifted her up, and the fever forſook her by and by, and ſhe miniſtred unto them.

32 And when even was come, at what time the ſun ſetteth, they brought unto him all that were diſeaſed, and them that were poſſeſſed with devils.

33 And the whole citie was gathered together at the doore.

34 And he healed many that were ſick of divers diſeaſes: and he caſt out many devils, and [ſ] ſuffered not the devils to ſay that they knew him.

35 And in the morning very early before day, Ieſus aroſe and went out into a ſolitarie place, and there prayed.

36 And Simon, and they that were with him, followed carefully after him.

37 And when they had found him, they ſaid unto him, All men ſeek for thee.

38 Then he ſaid unto them, Let us go into the [t] next townes, that I may preach there alſo: for I came out for that purpoſe.

39 And he preached in their Synagogues throughout all Galilee, and caſt the devils out.

40 ¶ * [12] And there came a leper to him, beſeeching him, and kneeled down unto him, and ſaid to him, If thou wilt, thou canſt make me clean.

41 And Jeſus had compaſſion, and put forth his hand, and touched him, and ſaid to him, I will: be thou clean.

42 And aſſoon as he had ſpoken, immediately the leproſie departed from him, and he was made clean.

43 And after he had given him a ſtrait commandement, he ſent him away forthwith,

44 [13] And ſaid unto him, See thou ſay nothing to any man, but get thee hence, and ſhew thy ſelf to the [v] * Prieſt, and offer for thy cleanſing thoſe things, which Moſes commanded for a teſtimoniall unto them.

45 But when he was departed, * he began to tell many things, and to publiſh the matter: ſo that Jeſus could no more openly enter into the citie, but was without in deſart places: and they came to him from every quarter.

3. And 4. One ſick of the palſie, having his ſinnes forgiven him, is healed. 14 Matthew is called. 19 Faſtings and afflictions are foretold. 23 The diſciples pluck the eares of corn. 26 The ſhew-bread.

After *[1] a few daies, he entred into Capernaum again, and it was noiſed that he was in the [a] houſe.

2 And anon, many gathered together, in ſo much that the [b] places about the doore could not receive any more: and he preached the word unto them.

3 And there came unto him, that brought one ſick of the palſie, born of foure men.

4 And becauſe they could not come neare unto him for the multitude, they uncovered the roof of the houſe where he was: and when they had broken it open, they [c] let down the [d] bed, wherein the ſick of the palſie lay.

5 Now when Jeſus ſaw their faith, he ſaid to the ſick of the palſie, Sonne, thy ſins are forgiven thee.

6 And there were certain of the Scribes ſitting there, and [e] reaſoning in their hearts,

7 Why doth this man ſpeak ſuch blaſphemies? * Who can forgive ſins, but God onely?

8 And immediately when Jeſus perceived in his ſpirit, that thus they reaſoned with themſelves, he ſaid unto them, Why reaſon ye theſe things in your hearts?

9 Whether is it eaſier to ſay to the ſick of the Palſie, thy ſinnes are forgiven thee? or to ſay, Ariſe, take up thy bed, and walk?

10 But that ye may know, that the Son of man hath authority in earth to forgive ſinnes, (he ſaid unto the ſick of the palſie)

11 I ſay unto thee, Ariſe, and take up thy bed, and get thee hence into thine own houſe.

12 And by and by he aroſe, and took up his bed, and went forth before them all, inſomuch that they were all [f] amazed, and glorifyed God, ſaying, We never ſaw ſuch a thing.

13 ¶ [2] Then he went forth again toward the ſea, and all the people reſorted unto him, and he taught them.

14 * And as Jeſus paſſed by, he ſaw [g] Levi the ſonne of Alpheus ſit at the receipt of cuſtome, and ſaid unto him, Follow me. And he aroſe and followed him.

15 ¶ And it came to paſſe, as Jeſus ſate at table in his houſe, many Publicanes and ſinners ſate at table with Jeſus, and his Diſciples: for there were many that followed him.

16 And when the Scribes and Phariſees ſaw him eat with the Publicanes and ſinners, they ſaid unto his Diſciples, How is it that he eateth and drinketh with Publicanes and ſinners?

17 Now when Jeſus heard it, he ſaid unto them, The whole have no need of a Phyſician, but the ſick. * I came not to call the righteous, but the ſinners to repentance.

18 *[3] And the Diſciples of John, and the Phariſees did faſt, and came and ſaid unto him, Why do the Diſciples of John, and of the Phariſees faſt, and thy diſciples faſt not?

19 And Jeſus ſaid unto them, Can the children of the marriage chamber faſt, whiles the bridegrome is with them? as long as they have the bridegrome with them, they cannot faſt.

20 But the dayes will come, when the bridegrome ſhall be taken from them, and then ſhall they faſt in thoſe dayes.

21 Alſo no man ſoweth a piece of new cloth in an old garment: for elſe the new piece that filled it up, taketh away ſomewhat from the old, and the breach is worſe.

22 Likewiſe no man putteth new wine into old veſſels: for els the new wine breaketh the veſſels, and the wine runneth out, and the veſſels are loſt: but new wine muſt be put into new veſſels.

23 ¶ *[4] And it came to paſſe as he went through the corn on the [h] Sabbath day, that his Diſciples, as they went on their way, began to pluck the eares of corn.

24 And the Phariſees ſaid unto him, Behold, why do they on the Sabbath day that which is not lawfull?

25 And he ſaid to them, Have ye never read what * David did when he had need, and was an hungred, both he, and they that were with him?

26 How he went into the houſe of God, in the dayes of [i] Abiathar the high Prieſt, and did eat the ſhew-bread, which was not lawfull to eat, but for the * Prieſts, and gave alſo to them which were with him?

27 And he ſaid to them, The Sabbath was made for man, and not man for the Sabbath.

28 Wherefore the Son of man is Lord, even of the [k] Sabbath.

6 ¶ [2] And the Phariſees departed, and ſtraightway gathered a councell with the [e] Herodians againſt him, that they might deſtroy him.

8 And from Jeruſalem, and from Idumea, and [f] beyond Jordan: and they that dwelled about Tyrus and Sydon, when they had heard what great things he did, came unto him in great number.

23 But he called them unto him, and ſaid unto them in parables, How can Satan drive out Satan?

24 For if a kingdome be divided againſt it ſelf, that kingdome cannot ſtand.

25 Or if a houſe be divided againſt it ſelf, that houſe cannot continue.

26 So if [o] Satan make inſurrection againſt himſelf, and be divided, he cannot endure, but is at an end.

27 No man can enter into a ſtrong mans houſe, and take away his goods, except he firſt binde the ſtrong man, and then ſpoil his houſe.

5 And alwaies both night and day he cried in the mountains, and in the graves, and ſtrook himſelf with ſtones.

6 And when he ſaw Jeſus afarre off, he ran, and worſhipped him,

7 And cried with a loud voyce, and ſaid, What have I to do with thee, Jeſus the Sonne of the moſt high God? I [c] will that thou ſware to me by God, that thou torment me not.

8 (For he ſaid unto him, Come out of the man, thou unclean ſpirit.)

9 And he asked him, What is thy name? and he anſwered,ſaying,My name is Legion: for we are many.

10 And he [d] prayed him inſtantly, that he would not ſend them away out of the countrey.

11 Now there was there in the [e] mountains,a great herd of ſwine, feeding.

12 And all the devils beſought him, ſaying, Send us into the ſwine, that we may enter into them.

14 And the ſwineherds fled, and told it in the citie, and in the countrey, and they came out to ſee what it was that was done.

15 And they came to Jeſus,and ſaw him that had been poſſeſſed with the devil, and had the Legion, ſit both clothed, and in his right minde: and they were afraid.

16 And they that ſaw it,told them,what was done to him that was poſſeſſed with the devill, and concerning the ſwine.

17 Then they began to pray him, that he would depart from their coaſts.

18 And when he was come into the ſhip, he that had been poſſeſſed with the devill, prayed him that he might be with him.

20 So he departed,and began to publiſh in Decapolis, what great things Jeſus had done unto him: and all men did marveil.

31 And his diſciples ſaid unto him,Thou ſeeſt the multitude throng thee, and ſayeſt thou,Who did touch me?

32 And he looked round about to ſee her that had done that.

33 And the woman feared and trembled: for ſhe knew what was done in her, and ſhe came and fell down before him, and told him the whole truth.

49 And when they ſaw him walking upon the ſea, they ſuppoſed it had been a ſpirit, and cried out.

50 For they all ſaw him, and were ſore afraid: but anon he talked with them, and ſaid unto them, Be ye of good comfort: it is I, be not afraid.

51 Then he went up unto them into the ſhip, and the winde ceaſed, and they were [y] much more amaſed in themſelves, and marvelled.

52 For they had not [z] conſidered the matter of the loaves, becauſe their hearts were hardned.

[y] They were ſo far from leaving to be amazed, when they knew that it was no ſpirit, that they were much more aſtoniſhed then ever they were before, when they ſaw the winde and the ſeas obey his commandements.

56 And whitherſoever he entred into townes, or cities, or villages, they laid their ſick in the ſtreets, and prayed him that they might touch at the leaſt the edge of his garment. And as many as touched [a] him, were made whole.

2 The Apoſtles are found fault with for eating with unwaſhen hands. 4 The Phariſes traditions about waſhings. Hypocrites. 8 Mans traditions more ſet by then Gods. 10 Parents muſt be honoured. 14 The things that do indeed defile a man. 25 The woman of Chanaan. 32 The deafe dumbe man is healed.

THen * [1] gathered unto him the Phariſes, and certain of the Scribes which came from Hieruſalem.

* Matth. 15. 2.

[1] None do more reſiſt the wiſdome of God, then they that ſhould be wiſeſt, and that upon a zeale of their own traditions: for men do not pleaſe themſelves more in any thing then in ſuperſtitiō, that is to ſay, in a worſhip of God fondly deviſed of themſelves.

2 And when they ſaw ſome of his diſciples [a] eat meat with [b] common hands, (that is to ſay, unwaſhen) they complained.

3 (For the Phariſes, and all the Jewes, except they waſh their hands oft, eat not, [c] holding the tradition of the Elders.

4 And when they come from the [d] market, except they waſh, they eat not: and many other things there be, which they have taken upon them to obſerve, as the waſhing of cups, and [e] pots, and of braſen veſſels, and of beds.)

5 Then asked him the Phariſees and Scribes, Why [f] walk not thy diſciples according to the tradition of the Elders, but eat meat with unwaſhen hands?

6 [2] Then he anſwered and ſaid unto them, Surely * Eſay hath propheſied well of you, hypocrites, as it is written, This people honoureth me with their lips, but their heart is farre away from me.

[a] VVord for word, eat bread: a kind of ſpeech which the Hebrewes uſe, taking bread for all kind of food.

7 [3] But they worſhip me in vain, teaching for doctrines the commandements of men.

8 [4] For ye lay the commandement of God apart, and obſerve the tradition of men, as the waſhing of pots and of cups, and many other ſuchlike things ye doe.

9 [5] And he ſaid unto them, Well, ye reiect the commandement of God, that ye may obſerve your owne tradition.

10 For Moſes ſaid, * Honour thy father and thy mother: and * Whoſoever ſhall ſpeak evill of father or mother, let him [g] die the death.

11 But ye ſay, If a man ſay to father or mother, Corban, that is, By the gift that is offered by me, thou maieſt have profit, he ſhall be free.

12 So ye ſuffer him no more to doe any thing for his father, or his mother, 13 Making the word of God of none authoritie, by your tradition which ye have ordained: and ye doe many ſuch like things.

14 * Then he called the whole multitude unto him, and ſaid unto them, Hearken you all unto me, and underſtand.

15 There is nothing without a man, that can defile him, when it entreth into him: but the things which proceed out of him, are they which defile the man.

16 If any have eares to heare, let him heare.

17 And when he came into an houſe, away from the people, his diſciples asked him concerning the parable.

18 And he ſaid unto them, What? are ye without underſtanding alſo? Doe ye not know that whatſoever thing from without entreth into a man, cannot defile him, 19 Becauſe it entreth not into his heart, but into the belly, and goeth out into the draught, which is the [h] purging of all meats?

20 Then he ſaid, That which commeth out of man, that defileth man.

21 * For from within, even out of the heart of men proceed evill thoughts, adulteries, fornications, murthers,

22 Thefts, [i] covetouſneſſe, wickedneſſe, deceit, uncleanneſſe, a [k] wicked eye, backbiting, pride, fooliſhneſſe.

23 All theſe evill things come from within, and defile a man.

24 ¶ * [6] And from thence he aroſe, and went into the [l] borders of Tyrus and Sidon, and entred into an houſe, and would that no man ſhould have knowen: but he could not be hid,

25 For a certain woman, whoſe little daughter had an unclean ſpirit, heard of him, and came, and fell at his feet,

26 (And the woman was a [m] Greeke, a [n] Sirophenissian by nation) and ſhe beſought him that he would caſt out the devill out of her daughter.

27 But Jesus ſaid unto her, Let the children firſt be fedde: for it is not good to take the childrens bread, and to caſt it unto [o] whelps.

28 Then ſhe anſwered, and ſaid unto him, [p] Trueth Lord, yet indeede the whelps eate under the table of the childrens crummes.

29 Then he ſaid unto her, For this ſaying, goe thy way: the devill is gone out of thy daughter.

30 And when ſhe was come home to her houſe, ſhe found the devill departed, and her daughter lying on the bed.

31 ¶ [7] And he departed againe from the coaſts of Tyrus and Sidon, and came unto the ſea of Galile, through the middes of the coaſts of [q] Decapolis.

32 And they brought unto him one that was deafe, and ſtammered in his ſpeach, and prayed him to put his hand upon him.

33 Then he tooke him aſide from the multitude, and put his fingers in his eares, and did ſpit, and touched his tongue.

34 And looking up to heaven, he ſighed, and ſaid unto him, Ephphatha, that is, Be opened.

25 And ſtraightway his eares were opened, and the ſtring of his tongue was looſed, and he ſpake plain.

36 And he commanded them that they ſhould tell no man: but how much ſoever he forbade them, the more a great deale they publiſhed it,

37 And were beyond meaſure aſtonied, ſaying, * He hath done all things well: he maketh both the deafe to heare, and the dumbe to ſpeake.

15 And ſtraightway all the people, when they beheld him, were amazed, and ran to him, and ſaluted him.

17 And one of the company anſwered, and ſaid, Maſter, I have brought my ſonne unto thee, which hath a dumbe ſpirit:

f Vexeth him inwardly, as the colike uſeth to doe.

18 And whereſoever he taketh him, he [f] teareth him, and he fometh, and gnaſheth his teeth, and pineth away: and I ſpake to thy Diſciples, that they ſhould caſt him out, and they could not.

19 Then he anſwered him, and ſaid, O faithleſſe generation, how long now ſhall I be with you! how long now ſhall I ſuffer you! Bring him unto me.

g So ſoone as Ieſus had looked upon the boy that was brought unto him, the devill began to rage after his manner.

20 So they brought him unto him: and aſſoon as the ſpirit [g] ſaw him, he tare him, and he fell down on the ground, wallowing and foming.

21 Then he asked his father, How long time is it ſince he hath been thus? And he ſaid, Of a childe, 22 And oft times he caſteth him into the fire, and into the water to deſtroy him: but if thou canſt do any thing, help us, and have compaſſion upon us.

h There is nothing but Chriſt can, and will doe it, for them that beleeve in him.

45 Likewiſe, If thy foot cauſe thee to offend, cut it off: it is better for thee to go halt into life, then having two feet to be caſt into hell, into the fire that never ſhall be quenched,

46 Where their worm dieth not, and the fire never goeth out.

47 And if thine eye cauſe thee to offend, pluck it out: it is better for thee to go into the kingdome of God with one eye, then having two eyes to be caſt into hell fire,

48 Where the worm dieth not, and the fire never goeth out.

11 We muſt be ſeaſoned and powdred by God, both that we may be acceptable ſacrifices unto him, and alſo, that we being knit together, may ſeaſon one another.
n That is, ſhall be conſecrate to God being ſeaſoned with the incorruptible word.
* Levit. 2. 13.
* Matth. 5. 13. Luke 14. 34.

49 [11] For every man ſhall be [n] ſalted with fire: and * every ſacrifice ſhall be ſalted with ſalt.

50 Salt is good: but if the ſalt be unſavourie, wherewith ſhall it be ſeaſoned? have ſalt in your ſelves, and have peace one with another.

Chap. X.

9 The wife onely for fornication is to be put away. 13 Little children are brought to Chriſt. 17 A rich man asketh Ieſus how he may poſſeſſe eternall life. 28 The Apoſtles forſook all things for Chriſts ſake. 33 Chriſt foreſheweth his death. 35 Zebedeus his ſonnes requeſt. 46 Blinde Bartimeus healed.

* Matth. 19. 1.
a That is to ſay, departed and went from thence: for in the Hebrew tongue, ſitting and dwelling are all one, and ſo are riſing and going forth.

And * he [a] aroſe from thence, and went into the coaſts of Judea by the farre ſide of Jordan, and the people reſorted unto him again, and as he was wont, he taught them again.

2 Then the Phariſees came and asked him, if it were lawfull for a man to put away his wife, and tempted him.

* Deut. 24. 1.

3 And he anſwered, and ſaid unto them, What did * Moſes command you?

4 And they ſaid, Moſes ſuffered to write a bill of divorcement, and to put her away.

1 God did never allow thoſe divorces which the Law did tolerate.
b Look Matth. 19. For Moſes gave them no commandment to put away their wives, but rather made a good proviſo for the wives againſt the ſtubborne hardneſſe of their husbands.

5 [1] Then Jeſus anſwered, and ſaid unto them, For the hardneſſe of your heart he wrote this [b] precept unto you.

* Gen. 1. 27. Matth. 19. 4.

6 But at the beginning of the creation * God made them male and female:

7 * For this cauſe ſhall man leave his father and mother, and cleave unto his wife,

8 And they twain ſhall be one fleſh: ſo that they are no more twain, but one fleſh.

9 * Therefore, what God hath coupled together, let no man ſeparate.

10 And in the houſe his Diſciples asked him again of that matter.

* Gen. 2. 24. 1. Cor. 6. 16. Epheſ. 5. 31.
* 1. Cor. 7. 10.
* Matth. 5. 32. and 19. 9. Luke 16. 18.
c VVhom he putteth away, for he is an adulterer by keeping company with another.

11 And he ſaid unto them, * Whoſoever ſhall put away his wife and marrie another, committeth adultery [c] againſt her.

12 And if a woman put away her husband, and be married to another, ſhe committeth adultery.

* Matth. 19. 13. Luke 18. 15.
2 God of his goodneſſe comprehendeth in the Covenant not onely the fathers, but the children alſo: and therefore he bleſſeth them.

13 ¶ *[2] Then they brought little children to him, that he ſhould touch them, and his diſciples rebuked thoſe that brought them.

14 But when Jeſus ſaw it, he was diſpleaſed, and ſaid to them, Suffer the little children to come unto me, and forbid them not: for of ſuch is the kingdome of God.

3 We muſt in malice become children, if we will enter into the kingdome of heaven.

15 Verely I ſay unto you, Whoſoever ſhall not receive the kingdome of God [3] as a little childe, he ſhall not enter therein.

16 And he took them up in his arms, & put his hands upon them, and bleſſed them,

4 Two things are chiefly to be eſchewed of them which earneſtly ſeek eternall life: that is to ſay, an opinion of their merits, or deſervings, which is not onely underſtood, but condemned by the due conſideration of the Law: and the love of riches, which turneth aſide many from that race wherein they ran with a good courage.
* Matth. 19. 16. Luke 18. 18.
* Exod. 20. 13.
d Neither by force nor deceit, nor any other means whatſoever.

17 ¶ [4] And when he was gone out on the way, there came one * running, and kneeled to him, and asked him, Good maſter, what ſhall I do that I may poſſeſſe eternall life?

18 Jeſus ſaid to him, Why calleſt thou me good? there is none good but one, even God.

19 Thou knoweſt the commandments, * Thou ſhalt not commit adultery. Thou ſhalt not kill. Thou ſhalt not ſteal. Thou ſhalt not beare falſe witneſſe. Thou ſhalt [d] hurt no man. Honour thy father & mother.

20 Then he anſwered, and ſaid to him, Maſter, all theſe things have I obſerved from my youth.

21 And Jeſus looked upon him, and loved him, and ſaid unto him, One thing is lacking unto thee. Go and ſell all that thou haſt, and give to the poore, and thou ſhalt have treaſure in heaven, and come, follow me, and take up the croſſe.

22 But he was ſad at that ſaying, and went away ſorrowfull: for he had great poſſeſſions.

23 And Jeſus looked round about, and ſaid unto his Diſciples, How hardly do they that have riches enter into the kingdome of God!

24 And his Diſciples were afraid at his words. But Jeſus anſwered again, and ſaid unto them, Children, how hard is it for them that truſt in riches, to enter into the kingdome of God!

25 It is eaſier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle, then for a rich man to enter into the kingdome of God.

26 And they were much more aſtonied, ſaying with themſelves, Who then can be ſaved?

27 But Jeſus looked upon them, and ſaid, With men it is impoſſible, but not with God: for with God all things are poſſible.

* Matth. 19.27. Luke 18.28.
[5] To neglect all things in compariſon of Chriſt is a ſure way to eternall life, ſo that we fall not away by the way.

28 ¶* [5] Then Peter began to ſay unto him, Lo, we have forſaken all, and have followed thee.

29 Jeſus anſwered, and ſaid, Verely I ſay unto you, there is no man that hath forſaken houſe, or brethren, or ſiſters, or father, or mother, or wife, or children, or lands, for my ſake and the Goſpels,

30 But he ſhall receive an [e] hundred fold, now at this preſent, houſes, and brethren, and ſiſters, and mothers, and children, and lands [f] with perſecutions, and in the world to come, eternall life.

31 * But many that are firſt, ſhall be laſt, and the laſt, firſt.

32 ¶* [6] And they were in the way, going up to Jeruſalem, and Jeſus went before them, and they were troubled, and as they followed, they were afraid, and Jeſus took the twelve again, and began to tell them what things ſhould come unto him,

[e] An hundred fold as much, if we look to the true uſe and commodities of this life, ſo that we meaſure them after the will of God, and not after the wealth it ſelf, & our greedy deſire.
[f] Even in the mids of perſecution.
* Matth. 19.30. Luke 13.30.
* Matth. 20.17. Luke 18.31.
[6] The Diſciples are again prepared to patience, not to be overcome, by the foretelling unto them of his death, which was at hand, and therewithall of life, which ſhould moſt certainly follow.

33 Saying, Behold, we go up to Jeruſalem, and the Son of man ſhall be delivered unto the high Prieſts, and to the Scribes, and they ſhall condemn him to death, and ſhall deliver him to the Gentiles.

34 And they ſhall mock him, and ſcourge him, and ſpit upon him, and kill him: but the third day he ſhall riſe again.

35 ¶* [7] Then James and John the ſons of Zebedeus came unto him, ſaying, Maſter, [g] we would that thou ſhouldeſt do for us that we deſire.

* Matth. 20.20.
[7] We muſt firſt ſtrive, before we triumph.
[g] VVe pray thee.

36 And he ſaid unto them, What would ye that I ſhould do for you?

37 And they ſaid unto him, Grant unto us, that we may ſit, one at thy right hand, and the other at thy left hand in thy glory.

38 But Jeſus ſaid unto them, Ye know not what ye ask, Can ye drink of the cup that I ſhall drink of, and be baptized with the baptiſme that I ſhall be baptized with?

39 And they ſaid unto him, We can. But Jeſus ſaid unto them, Ye ſhall drink indeed of the cup that I ſhall drink of, and be baptized with the baptiſme wherewith I ſhall be baptized:

40 But to ſit at my right hand and at my left, is not mine to give, but it ſhall be given to them for whom it is prepared.

41 And when the ten heard that, they began to diſdain at James and John.

42 [8] But Jeſus called them unto him, and ſaid to them, * Ye know that [h] they which are princes among the Gentiles, have domination over them, and they that be great among them, exerciſe authoritie over them:

[8] The Magiſtrates according to Gods appointment rule over their ſubiects: but the Paſtors are not called to rule, but to ſerve according to the example of the Son of God himſelf, who went before them, for ſo much as he alſo was a Miniſter of his Fathers will,
* Luke 22.25.
[h] They to whom it is decreed and appointed.

43 But it ſhall not be ſo among you: but whoſoever will be great among you, ſhall be your ſervant.

44 And whoſoever will be chief of you, ſhall be the ſervant of all.

45 For even the Son of man came not to be ſerved, but to ſerve, and to give his life for the ranſome of many.

46 ¶* [9] Then they came to Jericho: and as he went out of Jericho with his Diſciples, and a great multitude, Bartimeus the ſonne of Timeus, a blinde man, ſate by the wayes ſide, begging.

* Matth. 20.29. Luke 18.35.
[9] Chriſt onely, being called upon by faith, healeth our blindneſſe,

47 And when hee heard that it was Jeſus of Nazareth, he began to cry, and to ſay, Jeſus the Sonne of David, have mercie on me.

48 And many rebuked him, becauſe he ſhould hold his peace: but he cried much more, O Son of David, have mercie on me.

49 Then Jeſus ſtood ſtill, and commanded him to be called, and they called the blinde, ſaying unto him, Be of good comfort: ariſe, he calleth thee.

50 So he threw away his cloak, and aroſe, and came to Jeſus.

51 And Jeſus anſwered, and ſaid unto him, What wilt thou that I do unto thee? And the blinde ſaid unto him, Lord, that I may receive ſight.

52 Then Jeſus ſaid unto him, Go thy way: thy faith hath ſaved thee. And by and by he received his ſight, and followed Jeſus in the way.

Chap. XI.

1 Chriſt entreth into Ieruſalem riding on an aſſe. 13 The fruitleſſe figge tree is curſed. 15 Sellers and buyers are caſt out of the Temple. 23 The force of faith. 24 Faith in prayer. 25 The brothers offences muſt be pardoned. 27 The Prieſts ask by what authoritie he wrought thoſe things that he did. 30 Whence Iohns baptiſme was.

* Matth. 21.1. Luke 18.29.
[1] A lively image of the ſpirituall kingdome of Chriſt on earth.

AND * [1] when they came neare to Jeruſalem, to Bethphage, and Bethania unto the mount of Olives, he ſent forth two of his diſciples,

2 And ſaid unto them, Go your wayes into that town that is over againſt you, and aſſoon as ye ſhall enter into it, ye ſhall finde a colt tied, whereon never man ſate: looſe him, and bring him.

3 And if any man ſay unto you, Why do ye this? Say that the Lord hath need of him, and ſtraightway he will ſend him hither.

4 And they went their way, and found a colt tied by the doore without, in a place where two wayes met, & they looſed him.

5 Then certain of them that ſtood there ſaid unto them, What do ye looſing the colt?

6 And they ſaid unto them, as Jeſus had commanded them: So they let them go.

7 ¶ * And they brought the colt to Jeſus, and caſt their garments on him, and he ſate upon him.

* Iohn 12. 14.

8 And many ſpread their garments in the way: other cut down branches off the trees, and ſtrawed them in the way.

9 And they that went before, and they that followed, cried, ſaying, Hoſanna: [a]bleſſed be he that commeth in the Name of the Lord.

[a] VVell be it to him that cometh to us from God, or that is ſent of God.

10 [b] Bleſſed be the kingdome that cometh in the Name of the Lord of our father David: Hoſanna, O thou which art in the higheſt heavens.

[b] Happie and proſperous.

11 * So Jeſus entred into Hieruſalem, and into the Temple: and when he had looked about on all things, and now it was evening, he went forth unto Bethania with the twelve.

* Matth. 21. 10. Luke 19. 45.

12 *And on the morrow when they were come out from Bethania, he was hungry.

* Matth. 21. 19.

13 [2] And ſeeing a figge tree afarre off, that had leaves, he went to ſee if he might finde any thing thereon: but when he came unto it, he found nothing but leaves: for the time of figs was not yet.

[2] An example of that vengeance which hangeth over the heades of hypocrites.

14 Then Jeſus anſwered, and ſaid to it, Never man eat fruit of thee hereafter while the world ſtandeth: and his diſciples heard it.

15 ¶ [3] And they came to Hieruſalem, and Jeſus went into the Temple, and began to caſt out them that ſold and bought in the Temple, and overthrew the tables of the money changers, and the ſeats of them that ſold Doves.

[3] Chriſt ſheweth indeed that he is the true King and high Prieſt, and therefore the revenger of the divine ſervice of the Temple.

16 Neither would he ſuffer that any man ſhould carie a [c] veſſell through the Temple.

[c] That is, any prophane inſtrument of which thoſe fellowes had a number, that made the court of the Temple a market place.

17 And he taught, ſaying unto them, Is it not written, * Mine houſe ſhall be [d] called the houſe of prayer unto all nations? * but you have made it a den of theeves.

* Iſa. 56. 7.
[d] Shall openly be ſo accounted & taken.
* Ierem. 7. 11.

18 And the Scribes and high Prieſts heard it, and ſought how to deſtroy him: for they feared him, becauſe the whole multitude was aſtonied at his doctrine.

19 But when even was come, Ieſus went out of the city.

20 ¶ * [4] And in the morning as they journeyed together, they ſaw the fig tree dried up from the roots.

* Matth. 21, 19.
[4] The force of faith is exceeding great, and charitie is ever joyned with it.

21 Then Peter remembred, and ſaid unto him, Maſter, behold, the figge tree which thou curſedſt, is withered.

22 And Jeſus anſwered, and ſaid unto them, Have [e] the faith of God.

[e] The faith of God is that aſſured faith and truſt which we have in him.

23 For verely I ſay unto you, that whoſoever ſhall ſay unto this mountain, Be thou taken away, and caſt into the ſea, and ſhall not waver in his heart, but ſhall beleeve that thoſe things which he ſaith, ſhall come to paſſe, whatſoever he ſaith, ſhall be done to him.

24 * Therefore I ſay unto you, Whatſoever ye deſire when ye pray, beleeve that [f] ye ſhall have it, & it ſhall be done unto you.

* Matth. 7. 7. Luke 11. 9.
[f] VVord for word, that you receive it, ſpeaking in the time that now is, to ſhew the certaintie of the thing, and the performance in deed.

25 * But when [g] ye ſhall ſtand, and pray, forgive, if ye have any thing againſt any man, that your Father alſo which is in heaven, may forgive you your treſpaſſes.

* Matth. 6 14.
[g] VVhen you ſhall appeare before the altar.

26 For if ye will not forgive, your Father, which is in heaven, will not pardon you your treſpaſſes.

27 ¶ * [5] Then they came again to Hieruſalem: and as he walked in the Temple, there came to him the high Prieſts, and the Scribes, and the Elders,

* Matth. 21. 23. Luke 20. 1.
[5] The Goſpel hath been aſſaulted long time ſince, under the pretence of an ordinary ſucceſſion.

28 And ſaid unto him, By what authoritie doeſt thou theſe things? and who gave thee this authoritie, that thou ſhouldeſt do theſe things?

29 Then Jeſus anſwered, and ſaid unto them, I will alſo ask of you a certain thing, and anſwer ye me, and I will tell you by what authoritie I do theſe things.

30 The baptiſme of John, was it from heaven, or of men? anſwer me.

31 And they thought with themſelves, ſaying, If we ſhall ſay, from heaven, he will ſay, Why then did ye not beleeve him?

32 [6] But if we ſay, Of men, we feare the people: for all men counted John, that he was a Prophet indeed.

[6] A reward of an evill conſcience to be afraid of thoſe, of whom they ſhould and might have been feared.

33 Then they anſwered, and ſaid unto Jeſus, We cannot tell. And Jeſus anſwered, and ſaid unto them, Neither will I tell you by what authoritie I do theſe things.

Chap. XII.

1 Of the vineyard. 10 Chriſt the ſtone refuſed of the Iewes. 13 Of tribute to be given to Ceſar. 18 The Sadduces denying the reſurrection. 28 The firſt commandement. 31 To love God and thy neighbour, is better then ſacrifices. 36 Chriſt Davids ſonne. 38 To beware of the Scribes and Phariſes. 42 The poore widow.

And [1] he began to ſpeake unto them in [a] parables, * A certain man planted a vineyard, and compaſſed it with an hedge, and digged a pit for the winepreſſe, and built a tower in it, and let it out to huſbandmen, and went into a ſtrange countrey.

[1] The calling of God is not tied either to place, perſon, or time without exception.
[a] This word parable which the Evangeliſts uſe, doth not onely ſignifie a comparing of things together, but alſo darke ſpeeches and allegories.
* Eſai. 5. 1. Ierem. 2. 2. Matth. 21. 33. Luke 20. 9.

2 [b] And at the time, he ſent to the huſbandmen a ſervant, that he might receive of the huſbandmen of the fruit of the vineyard.

[b] VVhen the fruits of the ground uſe to be gathered.

3 But they took him, and beat him, and ſent him away emptie.

4 And again he ſent unto them another ſervant, and at him they caſt ſtones, and brake his head, and ſent him away ſhamefully handled.

5 And again he ſent another, and him they ſlew, and many other, beating ſome, and killing ſome.

6 Yet had he one ſonne, his deare beloved: him alſo he ſent the laſt unto them, ſaying, They will reverence my ſonne.

7 But the huſbandmen ſaid among themſelves, This is the heire: come, let us kill him, and the inheritance ſhall be ours.

8 So they took him, and killed him, and caſt him out of the vineyard.

9 What ſhall then the Lord of the vineyard do? He will come and deſtroy theſe huſbandmen, and give the vineyard to others.

10 Have ye not reade ſo much as this Scripture? *The ſtone which the builders did refuſe, is made the head of the corner.

*Pſal. 118. 22. Iſai. 28. 16. Matth 21. 42. Acts 4. 11. Rom 9. 33. 1 Pet. 2. 8.

11 This was done of the Lord, and it is marvellous in our eyes.

12 Then they went [c] about to take him, but they feared the people: for they perceived that he ſpake that parable againſt them: therefore they left him, and went their way.

[c] They were greedy and very deſirous.

13 ¶ * [2] And they ſent unto him certain of the Phariſes, and of the Herodians that they might take him in his talk.

*Matth. 22. 15. Luke 20. 20.

2 The Goſpel joyneth the authoritie of the Magiſtrate with the ſervice of God.

14 And when they came, they ſaid unto him, Maſter, we know that thou art true, and careſt for no man: for thou [d] conſidereſt not the perſon of men, but teacheſt the [e] way of God truly, Is it lawfull to give tribute to Ceſar, or not?

[d] Thou doeſt not ſo iudge by outward appearance, that the truth is thereby darkened any whit at all.

[e] The way whereby we come to God.

15 Should we give it, or ſhould we not give it? but he knew their hypocriſie, and ſaid unto them, Why tempt ye me? Bring me a peny, that I may ſee it.

16 So they brought it, and he ſaid unto them, Whoſe is this image and ſuperſcription? and they ſaid unto him, Ceſars.

17 Then Jeſus anſwered, and ſaid unto them, *Give unto Ceſar the things that are Ceſars, and to God, thoſe that are Gods: and they marvelled at him.

*Rom. 13. 7.

18 ¶ [3] *Then came the Sadduces unto him, (which ſay there is no reſurrection) and they asked him, ſaying,

3 The reſurrection of the body is avouched againſt the fooliſh ignorance and malice of the Sadduces.

* Matth. 22. 23. Luke 20. 27.

19 Maſter, *Moſes wrote unto us, If any mans brother die, and leave his wife, and leave no children, that his brother ſhould take his wife, and raiſe up ſeed unto his brother.

* Deut. 25. 5. Matth. 22. 24.

20 There were ſeven brethren, and the firſt took a wife, and when he died, left no iſſue.

21 Then the ſecond took her, and he died, neither did he yet leave iſſue, and the third likewiſe:

22 So thoſe ſeven had her, and left no iſſue: laſt of all the wife died alſo.

23 In the reſurrection then, when they ſhall riſe again, whoſe wife ſhall ſhe be of them? for ſeven had her to wife.

24 Then Jeſus anſwered, and ſaid unto them, Are ye not therefore deceived, becauſe ye know not the Scriptures, neither the power of God?

25 For when they ſhall riſe again from the dead, neither men marrie, nor wives are married, but are as the Angels which are in heaven.

26 And as touching the dead, that they ſhall riſe again, have ye not reade in the book of Moſes, how in the buſh God ſpake unto him, ſaying, I *am the God of Abraham, and the God of Iſaac, and the God of Jacob?

* Exod. 3. 6. Matth. 22. 32.

27 God is not the God of the dead, but the God of the living. Ye are therefore greatly deceived.

28 ¶ * [4] Then came one of the Scribes that had heard them diſputing together, and preceiving that he had anſwered them well, he asked him, Which is the firſt commandement of all?

* Matth. 22. 35.

4 Sacrifices and outward worſhip never pleaſed God, unleſſe ſuch neceſſary duties as we owe to God & our neighbours went afore.

29 Jeſus anſwered him, The firſt of all the Commandements is, * Heare, Iſrael, The Lord our God is the onely Lord.

* Deut. 6. 4.

30 Thou ſhalt therefore love the Lord thy God with all thine heart, & with all thy ſoul, & with all thy minde, and with all thy ſtrength: this is the firſt commandement.

31 And the ſecond is like, that is, * Thou ſhalt love thy neighbour as thy ſelf. There is none other commandement greater then theſe.

* Levit. 19. 18. Matth. 22. 39. Rom. 13. 9. Gal. 5. 14. Iames 2. 8.

32 Then that Scribe ſaid unto him, Well, Maſter, thou haſt ſaid the truth, that there is one God, and there is none but he.

33 And to love him with all the heart, and with all the underſtanding, and with all the ſoul, and with all the ſtrength, and to love his neighbour as himſelf, is more then all the whole burnt-offerings and ſacrifices.

34 Then when Jeſus ſaw that he anſwered diſcretly, he ſaid unto him, Thou art not farre from the kingdome of God. And no man after that durſt ask him any queſtion.

35 ¶ * [5] And Jeſus anſwered, and ſaid teaching in the Temple, How ſay the Scribes that Chriſt is the Son of David?

* Matth. 22. 41. Luke 20. 41.

5 Chriſt proveth his Godhead even out of David himſelf, of whom he came according to the fleſh.

36 For David himſelf ſaid by [f] the holy Ghoſt, * The Lord ſaid to my Lord, Sit at my right hand, till I make thine enemies thy footſtoole.

[f] VVord for word, in the holy Ghoſt, & there is a great force in this kind of ſpeech, whereby is meant, that it was not ſ much David, as the holy Ghoſt that ſpake, who did in a manner poſſeſſe David.

* Pſal. 110. 1.

37 Then David himſelf calleth him Lord: by what meanes is he then his ſon? and much people heard him gladly.

38 * [6] Moreover he ſaid unto them in [g] his doctrine, Beware of the Scribes, which love to go in [h] long robes, and love ſalutations in the markets,

* Matth. 23. 6. Luke 11. 43. and 20. 47.

6 The manners of Miniſters are no raſhly to be followed as an example.

[g] VVhiles he taught them.

[h] The word is ſtole, which is a kin of womans garment long even down t the heeles, and is taken generally, for any garment ma for comlineſſe, but this place it ſeemet to ſignifie that fringed garment mentioned in Deut. 22. 11.

39 And the chiefe ſeats in the Synagogues, and the firſt roomes at feaſts, 40 Which * devoure widowes houſes, even under a colour of long prayers. Theſe ſhall receive the greater damnation.

41 [7] * And as Jeſus ſat over againſt the treaſurie, he beheld how the people caſt [i] money into the treaſurie, and many rich men caſt in much.

42 And there came a certain poore widow, and ſhe threw in two mites, which make a quadrin.

43 Then he called unto him his diſciples, and ſaid unto them, Verily I ſay unto you, that this poore widow hath caſt more in, then all they which have caſt into the treaſurie, 44 For they all did caſt in of their ſuperfluitie: but ſhe of her povertie did caſt in all that ſhe had, even all her living.

Chap. XIII.

1 Of the deſtruction of Ieruſalem. 9 Perſecution for the Goſpel. 10 The Goſpel muſt be preached to all nations. 26 Of Chriſts coming to judgement. 33 We muſt watch and pray.

ANd * [1] as he went out of the Temple, one of his diſciples ſaid unto him, Maſter, ſee what manner ſtones, and what manner buildings are heere.

2 * Then Jeſus anſwered and ſaid unto him, Seeſt thou theſe great buildings? there ſhall not be left one ſtone upon a ſtone, that ſhall not be throwen down.

3 And as he ſat on the mount of Olives, over againſt the Temple, Peter, and James, and John, and Andrew asked him ſecretly,

4 Tell us, when ſhall theſe things be? and what ſhall be the ſigne when all theſe things ſhall be fulfilled?

5 And Jeſus anſwered them, & began to ſay, * Take heed leſt any man deceive you.

6 For many ſhall come in my name, ſaying, I am Chriſt, and ſhall deceive many.

7 Furthermore, when ye ſhall heare of warres, and rumours of warres, be ye not troubled: for ſuch things muſt needs be: but the end ſhall not be yet.

8 For nation ſhall riſe againſt nation, and kingdome againſt kingdome, and there ſhall be earthquakes in divers quarters, and there ſhall be famine and troubles: theſe are the beginnings of ſorrowes.

9 But take ye heed to your ſelves: for they ſhall deliver you up to the Councels, and to the Synagogues: ye ſhall be beaten, and brought before rulers and kings for my ſake, for a [a] teſtimoniall unto them.

10 And the Goſpel muſt firſt be publiſhed among all nations.

11 * But when they lead you, and deliver you up, [b] be not carefull before hand, neither [c] ſtudie what ye ſhall ſay: but what is given you at the ſame time, that ſpeake: for it is not ye that ſpeake, but the holy Ghoſt.

12 Yea, and the brother ſhall deliver the brother to death, and the father the ſonne, and the children ſhall riſe againſt their parents, and ſhall cauſe them to die,

13 And ye ſhall be hated of all men [d] for my Names ſake: but whoſoever ſhall endure to the end, he ſhall be ſaved.

14 * Moreover, when ye ſhall ſee the abomination of the deſolation (ſpoken of by * Daniel the Prophet) [e] ſet where it ought not, (let him that readeth, conſider it) then let them that be in Judea, flee into the mountaines,

15 And let him that is upon the houſe, not come down into the houſe, neither enter therein, to fetch any thing out of his houſe.

16 And let him that is in the field, not turn back again to take his garment.

17 Then wo ſhall be to them that are with childe, and to them that give ſuck in thoſe dayes.

18 Pray therefore that your flight be not in the winter.

19 For [f] in thoſe dayes ſhall be ſuch tribulation, as was not from the beginning of the creation which God created unto this time, neither ſhall be.

20 And except that the Lord had ſhortened thoſe dayes, no fleſh ſhould be ſaved: but for the elects ſake, which he hath choſen, he hath ſhortened thoſe dayes.

21 Then * if any man ſay to you, Lo, here is Chriſt, or lo, he is there, beleeve it not.

22 For falſe Chriſts ſhall riſe, & falſe prophets, and ſhall ſhew ſignes and wonders, to deceive, if it were poſſible, the very elect.

23 But take ye heed: behold, I have ſhewed you all things before.

24 ¶ Moreover in thoſe dayes, after that tribulation, * the ſunne ſhall wax darke, and the moon ſhall not give her light,

25 And the ſtarres of heaven ſhall fall: and the powers which are in heaven, ſhall ſhake.

26 And then ſhall they ſee the Sonne of man coming in the cloudes, with great power and glory.

27 * And he ſhall then ſend his Angels, and ſhall gather together his elect from the foure windes, and from the utmoſt part of the earth to the utmoſt part of heaven.

28 Now learn a parable of the figtree, When her bough is yet tender, and it bringeth forth leaves, ye know that ſummer is neere.

29 So in like manner, when ye ſee theſe things come to paſſe, know that the kingdome of God is neere, even at the doores.

30 Verely I ſay unto you, that this generation ſhall not paſſe, till all theſe things be done.

CHAP. XIV.

1 The Prieſts conſpiracie againſt Chriſt. 3 The woman powring oyle on Chriſts head. 12 The preparing of the Paſſeover. 22 The inſtitution of the Supper. 41 Chriſt delivered into the hands of men. 43 Iudas betrayeth him with a kiſſe. 53 Chriſt is before Caiaphas. 66 Peters deniall.

AND *[1] two dayes after followed the feaſt of the Paſſeover, and of unleavened bread: and the high Prieſts, and Scribes ſought how they might take him by craft, and put him to death.

* Matth. 26. 2. Luke 22. 1.

[1] By the will of God, againſt the councell of men, it came to paſſe yͭ Chriſt ſhould be put to death upon the ſolemn day of the Paſſeover, that in all reſpects the truth might agree to the figure.

2 But they ſaid, Not in the feaſt day, leſt there be any tumult among the people.

3 * And when he was in Bethania, in the houſe of Simon the leper, as he ſat at table, there came a woman having a box of oyntment of ſpikenard, very coſtly, and ſhe brake the box, and powred it on his head.

* Matth. 26. 6. Iohn 12. 2.

4 [2] Therefore ſome diſdained among themſelves, and ſaid, To what end is this waſt of oyntment?

[2] Raſh judgements are fruſtrate before God.

5 For it might have been ſold for more then [a] three hundred pence, and been given unto the poore, and they murmured againſt her.

[a] VVhich is about ſix pounds Engliſh.

6 But Jeſus ſaid, Let her alone: why trouble ye her? ſhe hath wrought a good worke on me.

7 [3] For ye have the poore with you alwayes, and when ye will ye may do them good, but me ye ſhall not have alwayes.

[3] Chriſt ſuffered himſelf to be anointed once or twice for certain conſiderations: but his will is to be daily anointed in the poore.

8 [4] She hath done that ſhe could: ſhe came aforehand to anoint my body to the burying.

[4] This woman by the ſecret inſtinct of the ſpirit, anointing Chriſt, ſetteth before mens eyes, his death and buriall, which were at hand.

9 Verely I ſay unto you, whereſoever this Goſpel ſhall be preached throughout the whole world, this alſo that ſhe hath done, ſhall be ſpoken of in remembrance of her.

10 ¶ *[5] Then Judas Iſcariot, one of the twelve, went away unto the high Prieſts, to betray him unto them.

* Matth. 26. 14. Luke 22. 4.

[5] Covetouſneſſe cloaked with a zeale of charitie, is an occaſion to betray and crucifie Chriſt.

11 And when they heard it, they were glad, and promiſed that they would give him money: therefore he ſought how he might conveniently betray him.

12 ¶ *[6] Now the firſt day of unleavened bread,[b] when [c] they ſacrificed the [d] Paſſeover, his Diſciples ſaid unto him, Where wilt thou that we go and prepare, that thou mayeſt eat the Paſſeover?

* Matth. 26. 17. Luke 22. 8.

[6] Chriſt being made ſubject to yͤ Law for us, doeth celebrate yͤ Paſſeover according to the Law: and therewithall by a miracle ſheweth, that notwithſtanding he in yͤ fleſh ſhall ſtraightway ſuffer, yet that hee is God.

[b] That is, upon which day, and at the evening of the ſame day, which was the beginning of the fifteenth, Looke Matth. 26. 17.

[c] They uſed to ſacrifice.

[d] This is ſpoken thus, by the figure Metonymia, which is uſuall in Sacraments, and by the Paſſeover is meant the Paſchall lambe.

13 Then he ſent forth two of his diſciples, and ſaid unto them, Go ye into the citie, and there ſhall a man meet you, bearing a pitcher of water: follow him.

14 And whitherſoever he goeth in, ſay ye to the goodman of the houſe, the Maſter ſaith, Where is the lodging where I ſhall eat the Paſſeover with my Diſciples?

15 And he will ſhew you an [e] upper chamber which is large, trimmed and prepared, there make it ready for us.

[e] The Greeke word ſignifieth, that part of the houſe that is higheſt from the ground, to what uſe ſoever it be put, but becauſe they uſed to ſup in that part of the houſe, they called it a ſupping chamber.

16 So his diſciples went forth, and came to the city, and found as he had ſaid unto them, and made ready the Paſſeover.

17 ¶ And at Even he came with the twelve.

18 * [7] And as they ſat at table and did eat, Jeſus ſaid, Verely I ſay unto you, that one of you ſhall betray me, which eateth with me.

* Pſal. 41. 10. Matth. 26. 20, 23. Luke 22. 14. Iohn 13. 18, 21.

[7] The figure of the law which is by and by to be fulfilled, is abrogated: & in place thereof are put figures of the new covenant anſwerable unto them, which ſhall continue to the worlds end.

19 Then they began to be ſorrowfull, and to ſay to him one by one, Is it I? and another, Is it I?

20 And he anſwered and ſaid unto them, It is one of the twelve that [f] dippeth with me in the platter.

[f] That uſeth to eat meat with me.

21 Truly the Sonne of man goeth his way, as it is written of him: * but wo be to that man, by whom the Sonne of man is betrayed: it had been good for that man, if he had never been born.

* Acts 1. 16.

23 Alſo he took the cup, and when he had given thanks, gave it to them: and they all drank of it.

24 And he ſaid unto them, This is my blood of that new Teſtament, which is ſhed for many.

25 Verily I ſay unto you, I will drink no more of the fruit of the vine untill that day, that I drink it new in the Kingdome of God.

26 And when they had ſung a Pſalme, they went out to the mount of Olives.

* Iohn 16. 23.

27 ¶ *[8] Then Jeſus ſaid unto them, All ye ſhall be offended by me this night: for it is written, * I will ſmite the Shepheard, and the ſheep ſhall be ſcattered.

* Chap. 16. 7.

29 [9] And Peter ſaid unto him, Although all

[9] Here is ſet forth in an excellent perſon, a moſt ſorrowfull example mans raſhneſſe weakneſſe.

all men ſhould be offended at thee, yet would not I.

30 Then Jeſus ſaid unto him, Verely I ſay unto thee, this day, even in this night, before the Cock crow twice, thou ſhalt deny me thrice.

31 But he ſaid [g] more earneſtly, If I ſhould die with thee, I will not denie thee: likewiſe alſo ſaid they all.

32 ¶ * [10] After, they came into a place named Gethſemane: then he ſaid to his Diſciples, Sit ye here, till I have prayed.

33 And he took with him, Peter, and James, and John, and he began to be troubled, and in great heavineſſe, 34 And ſaid unto them, My ſoul is very heavie, even unto the death: tary here, and watch.

35 So he went forward a little, and fell down on the ground, and prayed, that if it were poſſible, that houre might paſſe from him.

36 And he ſaid, [h] Abba, Father, all things are poſſible unto thee: take away this cup from me: nevertheleſſe not that I will, but that thou wilt, be done.

37 [11] Then he came, and found them ſleeping, and ſaid to Peter, Simon, ſleepeſt thou? couldeſt not thou watch one houre?

38 ¶ Watch ye, and pray, that ye enter not into temptation: the ſpirit indeed is ready, but the fleſh is weak.

39 And again he went away, and prayed, and ſpake the ſame words.

40 And he returned, and found them aſleep again: for their eyes were heauy: neither knew they what they ſhould anſwer him.

41 And he came the third time, and ſaid unto them, Sleep henceforth, and take your reſt: it is enough: the houre is come: Behold, the Son of man is delivered into the hands of ſinners.

42 Riſe up: let us go: lo, he that betrayeth me, is at hand.

43 * [12] And immediately while he yet ſpake, came Judas that was one of the twelve, and with him a great multitude with ſwords and ſtaves from the high Prieſts, and Scribes, and Elders.

44 And he that betrayed him, had given them a token, ſaying, Whomſoever I ſhall kiſſe, he it is: take him and leade him away [i] ſafely.

45 And aſſoon as he was come, he went ſtraightway to him, and ſaid, Hail Maſter, and kiſſed him.

46 Then they laid their hands on him, and took him.

47 And [k] one of them that ſtood by, drew out a ſword, and ſmote a ſervant of the high Prieſt, and cut off his eare.

48 And Jeſus anſwered and ſaid to them, Ye be come out as againſt a thief with ſwords and with ſtaves, to take me.

49 I was daily with you teaching in the Temple, and ye took me not: but this is done that the Scriptures ſhould be fulfilled.

50 Then they [l] all forſook him, and fled.

51 [13] And there followed him a certain young man, clothed in [m] linnen upon his bare body, and the young men caught him.

52 But he left his linnen cloth, and fled from them naked.

53 * So they led Jeſus away to the high Prieſt, and to him came [n] together all the high Prieſts, and the Elders, & the Scribes.

54 And Peter followed him afarre off even unto the hall of the high Prieſt, and ſate with the ſervants, and warmed himſelf at the fire.

55 [14] And the * high Prieſts, and all the Councill ſought for witneſſe againſt Jeſus, to put him to death, but found none.

56 For many bare falſe witneſſe againſt him, but their witneſſe agreed not together.

57 Then there aroſe certaine, and bare falſe witneſſe againſt him, ſaying,

58 We heard him ſay, * I will deſtroy this Temple made with hands, and within three daies I will build another, made without hands.

59 But their witneſſe yet agreed not together.

60 Then the high Prieſt ſtood up amongſt them, and asked Jeſus, ſaying, Anſwereſt thou nothing? What is the matter that theſe beare witneſſe againſt thee?

61 But he held his peace, and anſwered nothing. Again the high Prieſt asked him, and ſaid unto him, Art thou that Chriſt the Sonne of the [o] Bleſſed?

62 And Jeſus ſaid, I am he, * and ye ſhall ſee the Sonne of man ſit at the right hand of the power of God, and come in the clouds of heaven.

63 Then the high Prieſt rent his clothes, and ſaid, What have we any more need of witneſſes?

64 Ye have heard the blaſphemie: what think ye? And they all condemned him to be worthy of death.

65 [15] And ſome began to ſpit at him, and to cover his face, and to beat him with fiſts, and to ſay unto him, Propheſie. And the ſergeants ſmote him with their rods.

66 * [16] And as Peter was beneath in the hall, there came one of the maides of the high Prieſt.

67 And when ſhe ſaw Peter warming himſelf, ſhe looked on him, and ſaid, Thou waſt alſo with Jeſus of Nazareth.

68 But he denied it, ſaying, I know him not, neither wote I what thou ſayeſt. Then he went out into the porch, and the Cock crew.

G 69 * Then

[g] That doubling of words ſetteth out more plainly Peters vehement affirmation.

* Matth. 26.36. Luke 22. 39.

[10] Chriſt ſuffering for us, in that fleſh which he took upon him for our ſakes, the moſt horrible terrours of the curſe of God, receiveth the cup at his fathers hands, which he, being iuſt, doth ſtraightway drink off for the uniuſt.

[h] This doubling of the word, was uſed in thoſe dayes when their languages were ſo mixed together: for this word, Abba, is a Syrian word.

[11] An horrible example of ſluggiſhneſſe of men, even in the diſciples whom Chriſt had choſen.

* Matth. 26.47. Luke 22. 47. Iohn 18. 3.

[12] As men did willingly ſpoil God their Creator of his praiſe, in forſaking and betraying him: ſo Chriſt willingly going about to make ſatisfaction for this ruine, is forſaken of his own, and betrayed by one of his familiars, as a thief, that the puniſhment might be agreeable to the ſin, and we who are very traytors, forſakers, and ſacrilegers, might be delivered out of the devils ſnare.

[i] So diligently, that he eſcape not out of your hands.

[k] That is, Peter.

[13] Under pretence of godlineſſe, all things are lawfull to ſuch as do violence againſt Chriſt.

[m] VVhich he caſt about him, when he hearing that ſturre in the night, ſuddenly ran forth: whereby we may underſtand with how great licentiouſneſſe theſe villaines violently ſet upon him.

* Matth. 26, 57. Luke 22. 54. Iohn 18, 24.

[n] The higheſt Councell was aſſembled, becauſe Chriſt was accuſed as a blaſphemer, and a falſe prophet: for as for the other crime of treaſon, it was forged againſt him by the Prieſts, to enforce Pilate by that meanes to condemne him.

[14] Chriſt, who was ſo innocent that he could not be oppreſſed, no not by falſe witneſſes, is at length, for confeſſing God to be his father, condemned of impiety before the high Prieſts: that we, who denied God, and were indeed wicked, might be quit before God.

* Matth 26. 59.

* Iohn 2. 19.

[o] Of God who is moſt worthy of all praiſe.

* Matth. 24. 39.

[15] Chriſt ſuffering all kind of reproch for our ſakes, getteth everlaſting glory to them that beleeve in him.

* Matth. 26. 69. Luke 22. 55. Iohn 18. 25.

[16] An heauy example of the frailneſſe of man, together with a moſt comfortable example of the mercie of God, who giveth the ſpirit of repentance and faith to his elect.

69 * Then [p] a maid ſaw him againe, and began to ſay to them that ſtood by, This is one of them.

70 But he denied it againe: and anon after, they that ſtood by, ſaid againe to Peter, Surely thou art one of them: for thou art of Galile, and thy ſpeach is like.

71 And he began to curſe and ſweare, ſaying, I know not this man of whom ye ſpeak.

72 *Then the ſecond time the cock crew, and Peter remembred the word that Ieſus had ſaid unto him, Before the cock crow twiſe, thou ſhalt denie me thriſe, and weighing that with himſelfe, he wept.

CHAP. XV.

1 Of the things that Chriſt ſuffered under Pilate. 11 Barabbas is preferred before Chriſt. 15 Pilate delivereth Chriſt to be crucified. 17 Hee is crowned with thornes. 19 They ſpit on him and mocke him. 21 Simon of Cyrene carieth Chriſts croſſe. 27 Chriſt is crucified betweene two theeves. 29 He is railed at. 37 He giveth up the ghoſt. 43 Ioſeph burieth him.

AND * [1] anon in the dawning, the high Prieſts, held a Councill with the Elders, and the Scribes, and the whole Councill, and bound Ieſus, and led him away, and [a] delivered him to Pilate.

2 Then Pilate asked him, Art thou the King of the Iewes? And he anſwered, and ſaid unto him, Thou ſayeſt it.

3 And the high Prieſts accuſed him of many things.

4 * Wherefore Pilate asked him againe, ſaying, Anſwereſt thou nothing? behold how many things they witnes againſt thee.

5 But Jeſus anſwered no more at all, ſo that Pilate marveiled.

6 Now at the feaſt, Pilate [b] did deliver a priſoner unto them, whomſoever they would deſire.

7 Then there was one named Barabbas, which was bound with his fellowes, that had made inſurrection, who in the inſurrection had committed murther.

8 And the people cried aloud, and began to deſire that he would doe as he had ever done unto them.

9 Then Pilate anſwered them, and ſaid, Wil ye that I let looſe unto you the King of the Iewes?

10 For hee knew that the high Prieſts had delivered him of envie.

11 But the high Prieſts had moved the people to deſire that he would rather deliver Barabbas unto them.

12 And Pilate anſwered, and ſaid againe unto them, What will ye then that I doe with him, whom ye call the King of the Iewes?

13 And they cryed againe, Crucifie him.

14 Then Pilate ſaid unto them, But what evill hath he done? and they cried the more fervently, Crucifie him.

15 So Pilate willing to content the people, looſed them Barabbas, and delivered Ieſus, when he had ſcourged him, that hee might be crucified.

16 Then the ſouldiers led him away into the hall, which is the common hall, and called together the whole band,

17 [2] And clad him with purple, and platted a crowne of thornes, and put it about his head.

18 And began to ſalute him, ſaying, Haile, King of the Iewes.

19 And they ſmote him on the head with a reede, and ſpat upon him, and bowed the knees, and did him reverence.

20 And when they had mocked him, they tooke the purple off him, and put his owne clothes on him, and ledde him out to crucifie him.

21 * And they [3] compelled one that paſſed by, called Simon of Cyrene (which came out of the countrey, and was father of Alexander and Rufus) to beare his croſſe.

22 *[4] And they brought him to a place named Golgotha, which is by interpretation, the place of dead mens ſculles.

23 And they gave him to drinke wine mingled with mirrhe: but he received it not.

24 *[5] And when they had crucified him, they parted his garments, caſting lots for them what every man ſhould have.

25 And it was the third houre, when they crucified him.

26 And the title of his cauſe was written aboue, THAT KING OF THE IEVVES.

27 They crucified alſo with him two theeves, the one on the right hand, and the other on his left.

28 Thus the Scripture was fulfilled, which ſaith, * And hee was counted among the wicked,

29 And they that went by, railed on him, wagging their heads, and ſaying, * Hey, thou that deſtroyeſt the Temple, and buildeſt it in three dayes,

30 Save they ſelfe, and come downe from the croſſe.

31 Likewiſe alſo even the high Prieſts mocking, ſaid among themſelves with the Scribes, He ſaved other men, himſelfe hee cannot ſave, 32 Let Chriſt the King of Iſrael now come downe from the Croſſe, that we may ſee and beleeve. They alſo that were crucified with him, reviled him.

33 ¶ Now when the ſixt houre was come, [6] darkeneſſe aroſe over [c] all the land untill the ninth houre.

34 And at the [7] ninth houre, Ieſus cried

* Matth. 26.71. Luke 22.58.

[p] If we compare the Euangeliſts diligemly together, we ſhall perceive that Peter was knowen of many through the maidens report: yea, and in Luke when the ſecond deniall is ſpoken of, there is a man ſervant mentioned, and not a maid.

* Matth. 26. 75. iohn. 13.38.

* Matth. 27.1. Luke 22.66. iohn. 18. 19.

[1] Chriſt being bound before the judgement ſeat of an earthly Iudge, in open aſſembly is condemned as guiltie unto the death of the croſſe, not for his owne ſinnes, (as appeareth by the Iudges own words) but for all ours, that wee moſt guilty creatures being delivered from the guiltineſſe of our ſinnes, might be quitted before the judgement ſeat of God, even in open aſſembly of the Angels.

[a] It was not lawfull for them to put any man to death, for all cauſes of life and death were taken away from them, firſt by Hered the great, and afterward by the Romanes, about fortie yeares before the deſtruction of the Temple, and therefore they deliver Ieſus to Pilate.

* Matth. 27. 12. Luke.23.3. iohn 18. 35.

[2] Chriſt going about to take away the ſinnes of men, who went about to uſurpe the throne of God himſelfe, is condemned as one that hunted after the kingdome, and mocked with a falſe ſhew of a kingdome, that wee on the other ſide, who ſhall indeed be eternal kings, might receive the crowne of glory at Gods owne hand.

* Matth. 27. 32. luke.23.26.

[3] The rage of the wicked hath no meaſure, but in the meane ſeaſon, even the weakneſſe of Chriſt, being in paine under the heavie burden of the croſſe, doeth manifeſtly ſhewe that a lamb is led to be ſacrificed.

* Matth. 27.33. luke 23.33. iohn 19. 17.

[4] Chriſt is led out of the walles of the earthly Hieruſalem, into a foule place of dead mens carkaſes, as a man moſt unclean, not touching himſelf, but touching our ſinnes, which were laid upon him, to the end that we being made cleane by his blood, might be brought into the heavenly Sanctuarie.

* Luke 23.34.

[5] Chriſt hangeth naked upon the croſſe, and as the wickedeſt caitife that ever was, moſt vilely reproved: that we being clothed with his righreouſneſſe, and bleſſed with his curſes, and ſanctified by his onely oblation, may be taken up nto heaven

* Eſai 53. 12.

* Iohn 2. 19.

[6] How angry God was againſt our ſinnes, which he puniſhed in our ſuretie, his ſonne, it appeareth by this horrible darkneſſe.

[c] By this word Land, he meaneth Paleſtina: ſo that the ſtrangeneſſe of the wonder, is ſo much the more ſet forth in that, that at the feaſt of the Paſſeover, & in the full moone, when the Sunne ſhined over all the reſt of the world, and at mid day, that corner of the world, wherein ſo wicked an acte was committed, was overcoverd with moſt groſſe darkneſſe.

[7] Chriſt ſtriving mightily with Satan, with ſinne, and with death, all three armed with the horrible curſe of God, grievouſly tormented in body hanging upon the croſſe, and in ſoule plunged in ye depth of hell, yet he riddeth himſelfe, crying with a mighty voyce: and notwithſtanding the wound which he received of death, in that he died, yet by ſmiting, both things above, and things beneath, by renting of the vaile of the Temple, and by the Teſtimony wrung out of them which murdered him, he ſheweth evidently unto the reſt of his enemies which are as yet obſtinate, and mocke at him, that hee ſhallbee knowen out of hand to be conquerour and Lord of all.

with a loud voice, ſaying, Eloi, Eloi, lamma-ſabachthani? which is by interpretation, My God, my God, why haſt thou forſaken me?

35 And ſome of them that ſtood by, when they heard it, ſaid, Behold, he calleth Elias.

36 And one ranne and filled a *ſpunge full of vineger, and put it on a reede, & gave him to drink, ſaying, Let him alone: let us ſee if Elias will come, and take him down.

37 And Jeſus cryed with a loud voice, and gave up the Ghoſt.

38 And the vail of the Temple was rent in twain, from the top to the bottome.

39 Now when the Centurion, which ſtood over againſt him, ſaw that he thus crying gave up the ghoſt, he ſaid, Truely this man was the Sonne of God.

40 ¶ [8] There were alſo women, which beheld afarre off, among whom was Mary Magdalene, and Mary the mother of James the leſſe, and of Joſes, and Salome,

8 Chriſt to the great ſhame of men which forſook the Lord, choſe women for his witneſſes, which beheld all this whole action.

41 Which alſo when he was in Galilee, *followed him, and miniſtred unto him, and many other women which came up with him unto Jeruſalem.

42 *And now when the night was come (becauſe it was the day of preparation that is before the Sabbath)

43 *Joſeph of Arimathea, an [d] honourable counſeller, which alſo looked for the kingdome of God, came, and went in [e] boldly unto Pilate, and asked the body of Jeſus.

* Luke 23. 50. Iohn 19. 38.

d A man of great authoritie, of the Councell of the Sanhedrin, or elſe taken into counſell by Pilate.

e If we conſider what danger Ioſeph caſt himſelf into, we ſhall perceive how bold he was.

44 And Pilate marvelled, if he were already dead, and called unto him the Centurion, and asked of him whether he had been any while dead.

45 And when he knew the truth of the Centurion, he gave the body to Joſeph:

46 Who bought a linnen cloth, and took him down, and wrapped him in the linnen cloth, and laid him in a tombe that was hewen out of a rock, and rolled a ſtone unto the doore of the ſepulchre:

47 And Mary Magdalene, and Mary Joſes mother, beheld where he ſhould be laid.

THE HOLY GOSPEL OF IESVS CHRIST, ACCORDING TO St. LUKE.

Chap. I.

1 Lukes preface. 5 Zacharias and Elizabeth. 15 What an one Iohn ſhould be. 20 Zacharias ſtricken dumbe, for his incredulitie. 26 The Angel ſaluteth Mary, and foretelleth Chriſts nativitie. 39 Mary viſiteth Elizabeth. 46 Maries ſong. 68 The ſong of Zacharias, ſhewiug that the promiſed Chriſt is come. 76 The office of Iohn.

Foraſmuch as [1] many have [a] taken in hand to ſet forth the ſtory of thoſe things, whereof we are fully perſwaded,

2 · [b] As they have delivered them unto us, which from the beginning ſaw them their ſelves, and were miniſters of the word,

3 It ſeemed good alſo to me ([c] moſt noble Theophilus) aſſoon as I had ſearched out perfectly all things [d] from the beginning, to write unto thee thereof from point to point,

4 That thou mighteſt [e] acknowledge the certaintie of thoſe things, whereof thou haſt been inſtructed.

5 In [2] the [f] time of [g] Herod King of Judea, there was a certain Prieſt named Zacharias, of the * [h] courſe of Abia: and his wife was of the daughters of Aaron, and her name was Elizabeth.

6 Both were [i] juſt before God, and [k] walked in all the [l] commandments and ordinances of the Lord, [m] without reproof.

7 And they had no childe, becauſe that Elizabeth was barren: and both were well ſtricken in age,

8 And it came to paſſe, as he executed the Prieſts office before God, as his courſe came in order,

9 * According to the cuſtome of the Prieſts office, his lot was to burn incenſe, when he went into the [n] Temple of the Lord.

10 And the whole multitude of the people were without in prayer, * while the incenſe was burning.

11 Then appeared unto him an Angel of the Lord ſtanding at the right ſide of the altar of incenſe.

12 And when Zacharias ſaw him, he was troubled, and fear fell upon him.

13 But the Angel ſaid unto him, Fear not, Zacharias: for thy prayer is heard, and thy wife ſhall bear thee a ſonne, and thou ſhalt call his name John.

14 And thou ſhalt have joy and gladneſſe, and many ſhall rejoyce at his birth.

15 For he ſhall be great in the [o] ſight of the Lord, and ſhall neither drink wine, nor [p] ſtrong drink: and he ſhall be filled with the holy Ghoſt, even from his mothers wombe.

16 * And many of the children of Iſrael ſhall he [q] turn to the Lord their God.

17 * For he ſhall go before [r] him, [ſ] in the ſpirit and power of Elias, to turn the [t] hearts of the fathers to the children, and the diſobedient to the [v] wiſdome of the juſt men, to make ready a people prepared for the Lord.

18 Then Zacharias ſaid unto the Angel, Whereby ſhall I know this? for I am an old man, and my wife is of a great age.

19 And the Angel anſwered, and ſaid unto him, I am Gabriel [x] that ſtand in the preſence of God, and am ſent to ſpeak unto thee, & to ſhew thee theſe good tidings.

20 And behold, thou ſhalt be dumbe, and not be able to ſpeak, untill the day that theſe things be done, becauſe thou beleevedſt not my words, which ſhall be fulfilled in their ſeaſon.

21 Now the people waited for Zacharias, and marveiled that he taried ſo long in the Temple.

22 And when he came out, he could not ſpeak unto them: then they perceived that he had ſeen a viſion in the Temple: for he made ſignes unto them, and remained dumbe.

23 And it came to paſſe, when the dayes of his office were fulfilled, that he departed to his own houſe.

24 And after thoſe dayes, his wife Elizabeth conceived, and hid her ſelf five moneths, ſaying,

25 Thus hath the Lord dealt with me,

[1] Luke commendeth the witneſſes that ſaw this hiſtorie.

[a] Many took it in hand, but did not perform: Luke wrote his Goſpel before Matthew and Mark.

[b] Luke was not an eye-witneſſe, and therefore it was not he, to whom the Lord apeared, when Cleopas ſaw him: and he was taught not onely by Paul, but by others of the Apoſtles alſo.

[c] That is, moſt mighty, & therefore Theophilus was a very honourable man, and in place of great dignitie.

[d] Luke began his Goſpel a great deal further off, then the other did.

[e] Have fuller knowledge of thoſe things, which before thou kneweſt but meanly.

[2] Iohn who was another Elias, and appointed to be the herault of Chriſt, coming of the ſtocke of Aaron, and of two famous and blameleſſe parents, hath ſhewed in his conception, which was againſt the courſe of nature, a double miracle, to the end, that men ſhould be more readily ſtirred up to the hearing of his preaching, according to the forewarning of the Prophets.

[f] VVord for word, in the dayes: ſo ſpeak the Hebrewes, giving us to underſtand, how ſhort and frail a thing the power of princes is.

* 1 Chron. 24. 1.

[h] For the poſteritie of Aaron was divided into courſes

[i] The true mark of righteouſneſſe is, to be liked and allowed of in the iudgement of God.

[k] Lived, ſo ſpeak the Hebrews; for our life is as a way, wherein we muſt walk, untill we come to the mark.

[l] In all the morall and ceremoniall law.

[m] VVhom no man could iuſtly reprove: now ſo it is, that the fruits of iuſtification are ſet forth here, and not the cauſe, which is faith onely, and nothing elſe.

* Exod. 30. 7.

[n] The Temple was one, and the court another, for Zacharias went out of the court, or outward room, where all the people were, and therefore are ſaid to be without, in the Temple.

* Levit. 16. 17.

[o] So ſpeak the Hebrews, when is ſignified a rare kinde of excellency: ſo it is ſaid of Nimrod, Gen. 10. 9. He was a valiant hunter before God.

[p] Any drink that may make drunken.

* Malac. 4.5.

[q] Shall be a means to bring many to repentance, and turn themſelves to the Lord, from whom they fell.

* Matth. 11.14.

[r] As they uſe to go before kings, and when you ſee them, you know the king is not farre off.

[ſ] This is ſpoken by the figure Metonymia, taking the Spirit, for the gift of the Spirit, as you would ſay, the cauſe, for that which cometh of the cauſe.

[t] By the figure Synecdoche, he ſheweth that he ſhall take away all kindes of enmities, which uſe to breed great troubles and turmoiles amongſt men.

[v] VViſdome and goodneſſe are two of the chiefeſt cauſes, which make men to reverence and honour their fathers.

[x] That appear, for ſo the Hebrews uſe this word (to ſtand) meaning, that they are ready to do his commandment.

in the dayes wherein he looked on me, to take from me my rebuke among men.

26 ¶ [3] And in the ſixt moneth, the Angel Gabriel was ſent from God unto a citie of Galile, named Nazareth, 27 * To a virgin affianced to a man whoſe name was Ioſeph, of the [y] houſe of David, and the virgins name was Mary.

28 And the Angel went in unto her, and ſaid, Haile thou that art [z] freely beloved: the Lord is with thee: [a] bleſſed art thou among women.

29 And when ſhe ſaw him, ſhe was [b] troubled at his ſaying, and thought what manner of ſalutation that ſhould be.

30 Then the Angel ſaid unto her, Feare not, Marie: for thou haſt found [c] favour with God.

31 * For loe, thou ſhalt conceive in thy wombe, and beare a ſonne, * and ſhalt call his name IESVS, 32 He ſhall be great, and ſhall be [d] called the Sonne of the moſt High, and the Lord God ſhall give unto him the throne of his father David.

33 * And he ſhall reigne over the houſe of Jacob for ever, and of his kingdome ſhall be none end.

34 Then ſaid Mary unto the Angel, [e] How ſhall this be, ſeeing [f] I know not man?

35 And the Angel anſwered, and ſaid unto her, The holy Ghoſt [g] ſhall come upon thee, and the power of the moſt High ſhall overſhadow thee: therefore alſo that [h] holy thing which ſhall be borne of thee, ſhall be [i] called the Sonne of God.

36 And behold, thy [k] couſin Elizabeth, ſhe hath alſo conceived a ſonne in her olde age: and this is her [l] ſixt moneth, which was called barren.

37 For with God ſhall nothing be unpoſſible.

38 Then Mary ſaid, Behold the ſervant of the Lord: be it unto me according to thy word. So the Angel departed from her.

39 ¶ [4] And Mary aroſe in thoſe dayes, and went into the [m] hill countrey with haſte to a [n] citie of Iuda.

40 And entred into the houſe of Zacharias, and ſaluted Elizabeth.

41 And it came to paſſe, as Elizabeth, heard the ſalutation of Mary, the babe [o] ſprang in her belly, and Elizabeth was filled with the holy Ghoſt.

42 And ſhe cried with a loud voyce, and ſaid, Bleſſed art thou among women, becauſe [p] the fruit of thy wombe is bleſſed.

[3] The Angel ſerving the Lord which ſhould bee borne, is ſent to the virgin Mary, in whom the Sonne of the moſt High, promiſed to David, is conceived by the vertue of the holy Goſt.

* Matth. 1.18.

[y] As much is to be ſaid of Mary, otherwiſe Chriſt had not been of the ſtocke, nor the ſonne of David.

[z] It might be rendred word for word, full of favour and grace, and he ſheweth ſtraight after, laying out plainely unto us, what that favour is, in that he ſaith, the Lord is with thee.

[a] Of God.

[c] So ſpake the Hebrewes, ſaying that men have found favour, which are in favour.

* Eſa. 7. 14.

* Chap. 2.21. mat. 1.21.

* Dan. 7. 14. 27. mich. 4. 7.

[e] The greatneſſe of the matter cauſeth the virgin to aske this queſtion, not that ſhe diſtruſteth any whit at all, for ſhe asketh onely of the manner of the conceiving, ſo that it is plaine, ſhe beleeved all the reſt.

[f] So ſpeake the Hebrewes, ſignifying by this modeſt kind of ſpeach, the company of man and wife together, and this is the meaning of it: how ſhall this be, for ſeeing I ſhall be Chriſt his mother, I am very ſure, I ſhall not know any man: for the godly virgin had learned by the Prophets, that the Meſſias ſhould be borne of a virgin.

[g] That is, the holy Ghoſt ſhall cauſe thee to conceive by his mightie power.

[h] That pure thing and voide of all ſpot of uncleannes: for he that was to take away ſinne, muſt needs be void of ſinne.

[i] Declared and ſhewed to the world to be the Sonne of God.

[k] Though Elizabeth were of the tribe of Levi, yet ſhe might be Maries couſin: for whereas it was forbidden by the Law, for maidens to be married to men of other tribes, this could not let, but that the Levites might take them wives out of any Tribe: for the Levites had no portion allotted them, when the land was divided among the people.

[4] Elizabeth being great with child of Iohn, and Mary with Chriſt, by the inſpiration of the holy Ghoſt, doe recioyce each for other.

[m] VVhich is on the South ſide of Hieruſalem.

[n] That is to ſay, Hebron: which was in times paſt called Caritharbe: which was one of the townes that were given to the Levites, in the Tribe of Iuda, and is ſaid to be in the mountaines of Iuda, Ioſh. 14. 15. and 21. 11.

[o] This was no ordinarie nor uſuall kind of moving.

43 And whence commeth this to me, that the mother of my Lord ſhould come to me?

44 For loe, aſſoone as the voice of thy ſalutation ſounded in mine eares, the babe ſprang in my belly for joy.

45 And bleſſed is ſhe that beleeved: for thoſe things ſhal be performed, which were told her from the Lord.

46 [5] Then Mary ſaid, My ſoule magnifieth the Lord,

47 And my ſpirit reioyceh in God my Saviour.

48 For he hath [q] looked on the [r] poore degree of his ſervant: for behold, from henceforth ſhall all ages call me bleſſed,

49 Becauſe he that is mighty, hath done for me great things, and holy is his Name.

50 And his mercie is from generation to generation on them [ſ] that feare him.

51 * He hath ſhewed ſtrength with his [t] arme: * he hath [v] ſcattered the proud in the [x] imagination of their hearts.

52 * He hath [y] put downe the mighty from their ſeates, and exalted them of [z] low degree.

53 * He hath filled the [a] hungry with good things, and ſent away the rich empty.

54 [b] * He hath upholden Iſrael his ſervant to be mindfull of his mercie, 55 (* As he hath [c] ſpoken to our fathers, to wit, to Abraham, and his ſeed) for ever.

56 ¶ And Mary abode with her about three moneths: after, ſhe returned to her owne houſe.

57 ¶ [6] Now Elizabeths time was fulfilled, that ſhe ſhould be delivered, and ſhe brought forth a ſonne.

58 And her neighbours and couſins heard tell how the Lord had ſhewed his great mercie upon her, and they * reioyed with her.

59 And it was ſo that on the eight day they came to circumciſe the babe, and called him Zacharias after the name of his father.

60 But his mother anſwered, and ſaid, Not ſo, but he ſhall be called Iohn.

61 And they ſaid unto her, There is none of thy kinred, that is named with this name.

62 Then they made ſignes to his father, how, he would have him called.

63 So he asked for writing tables, and wrote, ſaying, His name is Iohn, and they marveiled all.

64 And his mouth was opened immediately, and his tongue, † and he ſpake and praiſed God.

65 Then feare came on all them that dwelt neere unto them, and all [d] theſe words were noiſed abroad throughout all the hill countrey of Iudea.

66 And all they that heard them, [e] layd them up in their hearts, ſaying, What

Chap. II.

1 Auguſtus Ceſar taxeth all the world. 7 Chriſt is born. 13 The Angels ſong. 21 Chriſt is circumciſed. 22 Mary purified. 28 Simeon taketh Chriſt in his armes. 29 His ſong. 36 Anna the Propheteſſe. 40 The child Chriſt. 46 Ieſus diſputeth with the doctours.

ANd [1] it came to paſſe in thoſe dayes, that there came a decree from Auguſtus Ceſar, that all the [a] world ſhould be [b] taxed.

2 (This firſt taxing was made when Cyrenius was governour of Syria.)

3 Therefore went all to be taxed,every man to his own citie.

4 And Joſeph alſo went up from Galile out of a citie called Nazareth,into Judea, unto the [c] citie of * David, which is called Bethlehem (becauſe he was of the houſe and linage of David,)

5 To be taxed with Mary that was given him to wife, which was with childe.

6 ¶ And ſo it was, that while they were there, the dayes were accompliſhed that ſhe ſhould be delivered.

7 And ſhe brought forth her firſt begotten ſonne,and wrapped him in ſwadling clothes,and laid him in a cratch, becauſe there was no roome for them in the Inne.

8 ¶ [2] And there were in the ſame countrey ſhepherds, [d] abiding in the field, and keeping watch by night over their flock.

9 And lo, the Angel of the Lord [e] came upon them,and the glory of the Lord ſhone about them, and they were ſore afraid.

10 Then the Angel ſaid unto them, Be not afraid: for behold, I bring you glad tidings of great joy, that ſhall be to all people, 11 That is,that unto you is born this day in the city of David, a Saviour, which is Chriſt the Lord.

12 And this ſhall be a ſigne unto you, Ye ſhal find the babe ſwadled,&laid in a cratch

13 And ſtraightway there was with the Angel [f] a multitude of heavenly ſouldiers, prayſing God, and ſaying, 14 Glory be to God in the high heavens, and peace in earth,and towards men [g] good will.

15 And it came to paſſe, when the Angels were gone away from them into heaven, that the ſhepherds ſaid one to another, Let us go then unto Beth-leem,and ſee this thing that is come to paſſe, which the Lord hath ſhewed unto us.

16 So they came with haſte,and found both Mary and Joſeph, and the babe laid in the cratch.

17 And when they had ſeen it, they publiſhed abroad the thing, that was told them of that childe.

18 And all that heard it, wondered at the things that were told them of the ſhepherds.

19 But Mary kept all thoſe ſayings, and pondred them in her heart.

20 And the ſhepherds returned glorifying and prayſing God, for all that they had heard and ſeen, as it was ſpoken unto them.

21 ¶ * [3] And when the eight dayes were accompliſhed, that they would circumciſe the childe, his name was called * Jeſus, which was named of the Angel, before he was conceived in the wombe.

22 * [4] And

1 Chriſt the ſonne of God, taking upon him the form of a ſervant, & making himſelf of no reputatiō, is poorely born in a ſtable: and by the meanes of Auguſtus the mightieſt prince in the world, (thinking nothing leſſe) hath his cradle prepared in Bethleem, as the Prophets forewarned.

c VVhich David was born, & brought up in.

2 The Angels thēſelves declare to poore ſhepherds (nothing regarding the pride of yͤ mighty) the Godhead and office of the childe lying in the crib.

a So farre as the empire of the Romanes did ſtretch. b That is. the inhabitants of every citie ſhould have their names taken, and their goods rated at a certain value, that the Emperour might underſtand how rich every countrey, citie, family, and houſe was.

22 *[4] And when the dayes of[h] her purification after the Law of Moſes were accompliſhed, they brought him to Jeruſalem, to preſent him to the Lord,

23 (As it is written in the Law of the Lord, * Every man childe that firſt openeth the wombe, ſhall be called holy to the Lord.)

24 And to give an oblation, * as it is commanded in the Law of the Lord, a paire of turtle doves, or two young pigeons.

25 [5] And behold, there was a man in Hieruſalem, whoſe name was Simeon: this man was juſt, and feared God, and waited for the conſolation of Iſrael, and the [i] holy Ghoſt was upon him.

26 And it was declared to him from God by the holy Ghoſt, that he ſhould not ſee death, before he had ſeen that Anointed of the Lord.

27 And he came by the motion of the Spirit into the Temple, and when the [k] parents brought in the babe Jeſus, to do for him after the cuſtome of the Law,

28 Then he took him in his armes, and praiſed God, and ſaid,

29 Lord, now [l] letteſt thou thy ſervant depart in peace, according to thy [m] word,

30 For [n] mine eyes have ſeen thy [o] ſalvation,

31 Which thou haſt prepared [p] before the face of all people,

32 A light to be revealed unto the Gentiles, and the glory of thy people Iſrael.

33 And Joſeph and his mother marvelled at thoſe things, which were ſpoken touching him.

34 And Simeon bleſſed them, and ſaid unto Mary his mother, Behold, this childe is [q] appointed for the *[r] fall and riſing again of many in Iſrael, and for a [ſ] ſigne which ſhall be ſpoken againſt, 35 (Yea, and a ſword ſhall [t] pierce through thy ſoul) that the thoughts of many hearts may be opened.

36 [6] And there was a Propheteſſe, one Anna the daughter of Phanuel, of the Tribe of Aſer, which was of a great age, after ſhe had lived with an husband ſeven yeares from her virginitie:

37 And ſhe was a widow about foureſcore and foure yeares, and went not out of the Temple, but ſerved God with faſtings and prayers, night and day.

38 She then comming at the ſame inſtant upon them, confeſſed likewiſe the Lord, and ſpake of him to all that looked for redemption in Jeruſalem.

39 And when they had performed all things according to the Law of the Lord, they returned into Galile to their own citie Nazareth.

40 And the child grew, & waxed ſtrong in Spirit, [v] and was filled with wiſdome, and the grace of God was with him.

41 ¶ [7] Now his parents went to Jeruſalem every yeare, * at the feaſt of the Paſſeover.

42 And when he was twelve yeare old, and they were come up to Jeruſalem, after the cuſtome of the feaſt,

43 And had finiſhed the dayes thereof, as they returned, the child Jeſus remained in Jeruſalem, and Joſeph knew not, nor his mother:

44 But they ſuppoſing that he had been in the company, went a dayes journey, and ſought him among their kinsfolke, and acquaintance.

45 And when they found him not, they turned back to Jeruſalem, and ſought him.

46 And it came to paſſe three dayes after, that they found him in the Temple, ſitting in the middes of the doctours, both hearing them, and asking them queſtions:

47 And all that heard him, were aſtonied at his underſtanding and anſwers.

48 [8] So when they ſaw him, they were amazed, and his mother ſaid unto him, Sonne, why haſt thou thus dealt with us? behold, thy father and I have ſought thee with very heavie hearts.

49 Then ſaid he unto them, How is it that ye ſought me? knew ye not that I muſt goe about my fathers buſineſſe?

50 But they underſtood not the word that he ſpake to them.

51 [9] Then he went down with them, and came to Nazareth, and was ſubject to them: and his mother kept all theſe ſayings in her heart.

52 And Jeſus increaſed in wiſdome, and ſtature, and in favour with God and man.

2 (* When [a] Annas and Caiaphas were the high Prieſts) the word of God came unto John the ſonne of Zacharias in the wilderneſſe.

3 * And he came into all the coaſts about Jordan, preaching the baptiſme of repentance for the remiſſion of ſinnes, [9] Chriſt very man is made like unto us in al things, except ſinne.

[1] Iohn cometh at the time foretold of the Prophets, & layeth the foundation of the Goſpel which is exhibited unto us, ſetting forth the true obſerving of the law, and free mercy in Chriſt, which cometh after him, uſing alſo baptiſme the effectuall ſigne both of regeneration, & alſo of forgiveneſſe of ſins.

12 Then came there Publicanes alſo to be baptized, and ſaid unto him, Maſter, what ſhall we do?

[b] Require no more then that ſumme, that is appointed for the tribute money.

13 And he ſaid unto them, Require no more then that which is [b] appointed unto you.

14 The ſouldiers likewiſe demaunded of him, ſaying, And what ſhall we do? And he ſaid unto them, Do violence to no man, neither accuſe any falſely, and be content with your [c] wages.

2 If we will rightly, & fruitfully receive the Sacramēts, we muſt neither reſt in the ſignes, neither in him that miniſtereth the ſignes, but lifr up our eyes to Chriſt, who is the authour of the Sacraments and the giver of that which is repreſented by the Sacraments.

3 The Goſpel is the fanne of the world.

17 [3] Whoſe fanne is in his hand, and he will make clean his floore, and will gather the wheat into his garner, but the chaffe will he burn up with fire that never ſhall be quenched.

CHAP. IV.

2 Of Chriſts temptation, and faſting. 16 He teacheth in Nazareth to the great admiration of all. 24 A Prophet that teacheth in his own countrey is contemned. 33 One poſſeſſed of the devill is cured. 38 Peters mother in law healed. 40 and divers ſick perſons are reſtored to health. 41 The devils acknowledge Chriſt.

1 Chriſt being caried away (as it were out of the world) into the deſert, after the faſt of fourty dayes, and the overcoming of Satan thrice, coming as it were ſuddenly from heaven, beginneth his office.

AND [1] Jeſus full of the holy Ghoſt returned from Jordan, and was ledde

led by that Spirit into the wilderneſſe,

2 *And was there fourtie dayes tempted of the devil, and in thoſe dayes he did eat nothing: but when they were ended, he afterward was hungry.

3 [2] Then the devil ſaid unto him, If thou be the ſonne of God, command this ſtone that it be made bread.

4 But Jeſus anſwered him, ſaying, It is written, * That man ſhall not live by bread onely, but by every word of God.

5 Then the devil took him up into an high mountain, and ſhewed him all the kingdomes of the world, in the twinkling of an eye.

6 And the devill ſaid unto him, All this [a] power will I give thee, and the glory of thoſe kingdoms: for that is [b] delivered unto me: and to whomſoever I will, I give it.

7 If thou therefore wilt worſhip me, they ſhall be all [c] thine.

8 But Jeſus anſwered him, and ſaid, Hence from me, Satan: for it is written, * Thou ſhalt worſhip the Lord thy God, and him alone thou ſhalt ſerve.

9 Then he brought him to Jeruſalem, and ſet him on a pinacle of the Temple, and ſaid unto him, If thou be the Sonne of God, caſt thy ſelf down from hence,

10 For it is written, * That he will give his Angels charge over thee to keep thee:

11 And with their hands they ſhall lift thee up, leſt at any time thou ſhouldeſt daſh thy foot againſt a ſtone.

12 And Jeſus anſwered, and ſaid unto him, It is ſaid, * Thou ſhalt not tempt the Lord thy God.

13 And when the devill had ended all the temptation, he departed from him for a little ſeaſon.

14 ¶ And Jeſus returned by the power of the Spirit into Galile: and there went a fame of him throughout all the region round about.

15 For he taught in their Synagogues, and was honoured of all men.

16 * [3] And he came to Nazareth where he had been brought up, and (as his cuſtom was) went into the Synagogue on the Sabbath day, and ſtood up to read.

17 And there was delivered unto him the book of the Prophet Eſaias: and when he had [d] opened the book, he found the place, where it was written,

18 * The Spirit of the Lord is upon me, becauſe he hath anointed me, that I ſhould preach the Goſpel to the poore: he hath ſent me, that I ſhould heale the broken hearted, that I ſhould preach deliverance to the captives, and recovering of ſight to the blinde, that I ſhould ſet at libertie them that are bruiſed:

19 And that I ſhould preach the acceptable yeare of the Lord.

20 And he cloſed the book, and gave it again to the miniſter, and ſat down: and the eyes of all that were in the Synagogue were faſtened on him.

21 Then he began to ſay unto them, This day is the Scripture fulfilled in your eares.

22 [4] And all [e] bare him witneſſe, and [f] wondered at the [g] gracious words, which proceeded out of his mouth, and ſaid, Is not this Joſephs ſonne?

23 Then he ſaid unto them, Ye will ſurely ſay unto me this proverb, Phyſician, heale thy ſelf: whatſoever we have heard done in Capernaum, do it here likewiſe in thine own countrey.

24 And he ſaid, Verely I ſay unto you, * No Prophet is accepted in his own countrey.

25 But I tell you of a truth, many widows were in Iſrael in the dayes of * Elias, when heaven was ſhut three yeares and ſix moneths, when great famine was throughout all the [h] land:

26 But unto none of them was Elias ſent, ſave into Sarepta, a city of Sidon, unto a certain widow.

27 Alſo many lepers were in Iſrael, in the time of * Elizeus the Prophet: yet none of them was made cleane, ſaving Naaman the Syrian.

28 [5] Then all that were in the Synagogue, when they heard it, were filled with wrath,

29 And roſe up, and thruſt him out of the city, and led him unto the edge of the hill, whereon their citie was built, to caſt him down headlong.

30 But he paſſed through the middes of them, and went his way.

31 ¶ * And came down into Capernaum a citie of Galilee, and there taught them on the Sabbath dayes.

32 * And they were aſtonied at his doctrine: for his word was with authoritie.

33 * And in the Synagogue there was a man which had a ſpirit of an unclean devill, which cried with a loud voice, 34 [6] Saying, Oh, what have we to do with thee, thou Jeſus of Nazareth? art thou come to deſtroy us? I know who thou art, even the holy One of God.

35 And Jeſus rebuked him, ſaying, Hold thy peace, and come out of him. Then the devill throwing him in the mids of them, came out of him, and hurt him nothing at all.

36 So feare came on them all, and they ſpake among themſelves, ſaying, What thing is this? for with authority and power he commandeth the foule ſpirits, and they come out?

[4] Familiarity cauſeth Chriſt to be contemned, and therefore he oftentimes goeth to ſtrangers.

[e] Approved thoſe things which he ſpake, with common conſent and voice: for this word, witneſſe, ſignifieth in this place, & many other, to allow and approve a thing with open confeſſion.

[f] Not onely the doctours, but alſo the common people were preſent at this conference of the Scriptures: and beſides that, their mother tongue was uſed, for elſe how could the people have wondred? Paul appointed the ſame order in the Church at Corinth, as 1 Cor. 14.

37 And the fame of him ſpread abroad thorowout all the places of the countrey round about.

* *Matt.*8.14. Marke 1.30.
7 In that, that Chriſt healeth the diſeaſes of the body with his word onely, he proveth that he is God Almighty, ſent for mans ſalvation.

38 ¶ * 7 And he roſe up, and came out of the Synagogue, and entred into Simons houſe. And Simons wives mother was taken with a great fever, and they required him for her.

39 Then he ſtood over her, and rebuked the fever, and it left her, and immediatly ſhe aroſe, and miniſtred unto them.

40 Now at the ſun ſetting, all they that had ſick folks of diverſe diſeaſes, brought them unto him, and he laid his hands on every one of them, and healed them.

* *Marke*1.35.
8 Satan, who is a continuall enemie to the truth, ought not to be heard, no not then, when hee ſpeaketh the trueth.

41 * 8 And devils alſo came out of many, crying, and ſaying, Thou art that Chriſt that Sonne of God: but he rebuked them, and ſuffered them not to ſay, that they knew him to be that Chriſt.

9 No colour of zeale ought to hinder us in the race of our vocation.

42 9 And when it was day, hee departed, and went forth into a deſert place, and the people ſought him, & came to him, & kept him that he ſhould not depart from them.

43 But hee ſaid unto them, Surely I muſt alſo preach the kingdome of God to other cities: for therefore am I ſent.

44 And he preached in the Synagogues of Galile.

CHAP. V.

1 Chriſt teacheth out of the ſhippe. 6 Of the draught of fiſh. 12 The Leper. 16 Chriſt prayeth in the deſert. 18 One ſick of the palſie. 27 Levi the Publicane. 34 The faſtings and afflictions of the Apoſtles after Chriſts aſcenſion. 36. 37. 38. Faint hearted and weake diſciples are likened to old botels and worn garments.

1 Chriſt advertiſeeth the foure diſciples, which he had taken unto him, of the office of the Apoſtleſhip, which ſhould hereafter be committed unto them.
* Matth. 4.18. Marke 1.16.
a Did, as it were, lie upon him, ſo deſirous they were both to ſee him and heare him, and therefore he taught them out of a ſhip.

THen 1 * it came to paſſe, as the people a preaſſed upon him to heare the word of God, that he ſtood by the lake of Gennesaret,

2 And ſaw two ſhippes ſtand by the lakes ſide, but the fiſher men were gone out of them, and were waſhing their nets.

3 And he entred into one of the ſhippes, which was Simons, and required him that he would thruſt off a little from the land: and he ſate down, and taught the people out of the ſhippe.

4 ¶ Now when he had left ſpeaking, he ſaid unto Simon, Launch out into the deep, and let down your nets to make a draught.

b The word ſignifieth him that hath rule over any thing.

5 Then Simon anſwered, and ſaid unto him, b Maſter, we have traveiled ſore all night, and have taken nothing: neverthelesse at thy word I will let down the net.

6 And when they had ſo done, they encloſed a great multitude of fiſhes, ſo that their net brake.

7 And they beckned to their partners, which were in the other ſhip, that they ſhould come & help them, who came then, and filled both the ſhips, that they did ſink.

8 Now when Simon Peter ſaw it, he fell down at Jeſus knees, ſaying, Lord, goe from me: for I am a ſinfull man.

9 For he was utterly aſtonied, and all that were with him, for the draught of fiſhes which they tooke.

10 And ſo was alſo James and John the ſons of Zebedeus, which were companions with Simon. Then Jeſus ſaid unto Simon, Feare not: from henceforth thou ſhalt catch men.

11 And when they had brought the ſhips to land, they forſook all, and followed him.

* Matt. 8.2. Marke 1.40.
2 Chriſt by healing the leper with his onely touch, and ſending him to the Prieſt, witneſſeth that it is he, thorow whom, and by whom, apprehended by faith, all wee which are uncleane, according to the Law, by the witneſſe of God himſelfe, are pronounced to be pure and cleane.

12 ¶ * 2 Now it came to paſſe, as he was in a certaine citie, behold, there was a man full of leproſie, and when he ſaw Jeſus, ~~he fell~~ on his face, and beſought him, ſaying, Lord, if thou wilt, thou canſt make me cleane.

13 So he ſtretched forth his hand, and touched him, ſaying, I will, be thou cleane. And immediatly the leproſie departed from him

* *Levit.*14.4.

14 And he commanded him that he ſhould tell it no man: but goe, ſaith hee, and ſhew thy ſelfe to the Prieſt, and offer for thy cleanſing, as * Moſes hath commanded, for a witneſſe unto them.

3 Chriſt had rather to be famous by his doctrine then by miracles and therefore he departeth from them that ſeeke him as a Phyſician of the body, and not as the authour of ſalvation.

15 3 But ſo much more went there a fame abroad of him, and great multitudes came together to heare, and to bee healed of him of their infirmities.

16 But he kept himſelfe apart in the wilderneſſe, and prayed.

4 Chriſt in healing him that was ſicke of the palſie, ſheweth the cauſe of all diſeaſes, and the remedie.

17 ¶ 4 And it came to paſſe on a certaine day, as he was teaching, that the Phariſes and doctors of the Law ſate by, which were come out of every town of Galile, and Judea, and Hieruſalem, and the power of the Lord c was in him to heale them.

c The mighty power of Chriſts Godhead, ſhewed it ſelfe in him at that time.
* Matth. 9.2. Marke 2.3.

18 * Then behold, men brought a man lying in a bed, which was taken with a palſie, and they ſought meanes to bring him in, and to lay him before him.

19 And when they could not find by what way they might bring him in, becauſe of the preaſſe, they went up on the houſe, and let him down through the tiling, bed and all, in the mids before Jeſus.

20 And when he ſaw their faith, he ſaid unto him, Man, thy ſinnes are forgiven thee.

21 Then the Scribes and the Phariſes began to reaſon, ſaying, Who is this that ſpeaketh blaſphemies? who can forgive ſinnes, but God onely?

22 But when Jeſus perceived their reaſoning, he anſwered and ſaid unto them, What reaſon ye in your hearts?

23 Whether is it eaſier to ſay, Thy ſinnes are forgiven thee, or to ſay, Riſe and walke?

24 But that ye may know that the Sonne of man hath authoritie to forgive ſinnes in earth, (he ſayd unto the ſick of the palſie) I ſay to thee, Ariſe: take up thy bed and go to thine houſe.

25 And immediatly he roſe up before them, & tooke up his bed whereon he lay, & departed to his owne houſe, praiſing God.

26 And they were all amazed, and praiſed God, and were filled with feare, ſaying, Doubtleſſe, we have ſeene ſtrange things to day.

* Matth.9.9. Marke 2.14.

[5] The Church is a company of ſinners, through the grace of Chriſt repentant, which banquet with him, to the great ofence of the proud and envious worldlings.

27 ¶*[5] And after that, he went forth, and ſaw a Publicane named Levi, ſitting at the receipt of cuſtome, and ſaid unto him, follow me.

28 And he left all, roſe up, and followed him.

29 Then Levi made him a great feaſt in his owne houſe, where there was a great company of Publicanes, and of other that ſate at table with them.

30 But they that were Scribes and Phariſes among them, murmured againſt his diſciples, ſaying, Why eate ye and drinke ye with Publicanes and ſinners?

31 Then Ieſus anſwered, and ſayd unto them, They that are whole, neede not the Phyſician, but they that are ſick.

* 1 Tim.1.15.

32 *I came not to call the righteous, but ſinners to repentance.

* Matth.9.14. Marke 2.18.

[6] It is the point of hipocrites and ignorant men to put an holineſſe in faſting, and in things indifferent.

[7] Lawes generally made without any conſideration of circumſtances, for faſting, and other things of like ſort, are not onely tyrannous, but very hurtfull in the Church,

33 ¶*[6] Then they ſaid unto him, Why doe the diſciples of Iohn faſt often, and pray, and the diſciples of the Phariſes alſo, but thine eate and drink?

34 [7] And he ſaid unto them, Can ye make the children of the wedding chamber to faſt, as long as the bridegrom is with them?

35 But the dayes will come, even when the bridegrome ſhall be taken away from them: then ſhall they faſt in thoſe dayes.

36 Againe he ſpake alſo unto them a parable, No man putteth a piece of a new garment into an old veſture: for then the new renteth it, and the piece taken out of the new, agreeth not with the old.

37 Alſo no man powreth new wine into old veſſels: for then the new wine will breake the veſſels, and it will runne out, and the veſſels will periſh:

38 But new wine muſt be powred into new veſſels: ſo both are preſerved.

39 Alſo no man that drinketh olde wine, ſtraight way deſireth new: for he ſaith, The old is more profitable.

CHAP. VI.

1 The Diſciples pull the eares of corne on the Sabbath. 6 Of him that had a withered hand. 13 The election of the Apoſtles. 20 The bleſſings and curſes. 27 We muſt love our enemies. 46 With what fruit the word of God is to be heard.

* Matth.12.1. Mark.2.23.

[1] Chriſt ſheweth againſt the ſuperſtitious, who ſtick in every trifle, that the Law of the very Sabbath was not given to bee kept without exception: much leſſe that the ſalvation of man ſhould conſiſt in the outward keeping of it.

AND *[1] it came to paſſe on a ſecond ſolemne Sabbath, that he went thorow the corne fields, and his Diſciples [a] plucked the eares of corne, and did eate and rubbe them in their hands.

2 And certaine of the Phariſes ſaid unto them, Why doe ye that which is not lawfull to doe on the Sabbath dayes?

* 1 Sam.21.6.

3 Then Ieſus anſwered them, and ſaid, * Have ye not read this, that David did when he himſelfe was an hungred, and they which were with him,

* Exod.29.33. Levit.8.31 & 24.9.

4 How he went into the houſe of God, and took, and ate the Shewbread, and gave alſo to them which were with him, which was not lawfull to eate, but for the *Prieſts onely?

5 And he ſaid unto them, The Sonne of man is Lord alſo of the Sabbath day.

* Matth. 12.19. Marke 3.1.

[2] Charitie is the rule of all ceremonies.

6 ¶*[2] It came to paſſe alſo on another Sabbath, that he entred into the Synagogne, and taught, and there was a man, whoſe right hand was dried up,

7 And the Scribes and Phariſes watched him, whether he would heale on the Sabbath day, that they might finde an accuſation againſt him.

8 But he knew their thoughts, and ſaid to the man which had the withered hand, Ariſe, and ſtand up in the middes. And he aroſe, and ſtood up.

9 Then ſaid Ieſus unto them, I will aske you a queſtion. Whether is it lawfull on the Sabbath dayes to doe good, or to doe evill? to ſave life, or to [b] deſtroy?

[b] VVho ſo helpeth not his neighbour, when he can, he killeth him.

10 And he beheld them all in compaſſe, and ſaid unto the man, Stretch forth thine hand. And he did ſo, and his hand was reſtored againe as whole as the other.

11 Then they were filled full of madneſſe, and comuned one with another, what they might doe to Jeſus.

[3] In that that Chriſt uſeth earneſt and long prayer in chuſing twelve of his owne company, to the office of the Apoſtleſhip, he ſheweth how religiouſly we ought to behave our ſelves in the choiſe of Eccleſiaſticall perſons.

* Chap.9.1. Matth.10.1. Marke 13.3. and 6.7.

12 ¶ [3] And it came to paſſe in thoſe dayes, that he went into a mountaine to pray, and ſpent the night in prayer to God.

13 And when it was day, * he called his Diſciples, and of them he choſe twelve which alſo he called Apoſtles.

14 (Simon whom he named alſo Peter, and Andrew his brother, Iames and Iohn, Philip and Bartlemew:

15 Matthew and Thomas: Iames the ſon of Alpheus, and Simon called Zelous:

16 Judas Iames brother, and Judas Iſcariot, which alſo was the traitour.)

17 Then he came downe with them, and ſtood in a plain place with the companie of his Diſciples, and a great multitude of people out of all Judea, and Hieruſalem, and from the [c] Sea coaſt of Tirus and Sidon, which came to heare him, and to be healed of their diſeaſes:

[c] From all the Sea coaſt, which is called, Syrophenicia.

* Matth.5.3.

[4] Chriſt teacheth againſt all Philoſophers, and eſpecially the Epicures, that the chiefeſt felicitie of man is laid up in no place here in earth, but in heaven, and that perſecution for righteouſnes ſake, is the right way unto it.

18 And they that were vexed with foule ſpirits, and they were healed.

19 And the whole multitude ſought to touch him: for there went vertue out of him, and healed them all.

20 ¶*[4] And he lifted up his eyes upon his Diſciples, and ſaid, Bleſſed be ye poore: for

---

[a] Epiphanius noteth well in his treatiſe, where he confuteth Ebion, that the time when the Diſciples plucked the eares of corne, was in the feaſt of unleavened bread. Now whereas in thoſe feaſts, which were kept many daies together, as the feaſt of Tabernacles, and the Paſſeover, their firſt day, and the laſt were of like ſolemnitie, Levit. 23. Luke fitly calleth the laſt day, the ſecond Sabbath, though Theoph. underſtandeth it of any other of them, that followed the firſt.

for yours is the Kingdome of God.

21 *Bleſſed are ye that hunger now: for ye ſhall be ſatisfied: *bleſſed are ye that weep now: for ye ſhall laugh.

22 *Bleſſed are ye when men hate you, and when they [d] ſeparate you, and revile you, and put out your name as evil for the Sonne of mans ſake.

23 Rejoyce ye in that day, and [e] be glad: for behold, your reward is great in heaven: for after this manner their fathers did to the Prophets.

24 *But woe be to you that are rich: for ye haue [f] received your conſolation.

25 *Wo be to you that are full: for ye ſhall hunger. Wo be to you that now laugh: for ye ſhall waile and weep.

26 Wo be to you when all men ſpeak well of you: for ſo did their Fathers to the falſe Prophets.

27 ¶ *[5] But I ſay unto you which hear, Love your enemies: do well to them which hate you.

28 Bleſſe them that curſe you, and pray for them which hurt you.

29 *And unto him that ſmiteth thee on the one cheek, offer alſo the other: *and him that taketh away thy cloak, forbid not to take thy coat alſo.

30 Give to every man that asketh of thee: and of him that taketh away the things that be thine, aske them not again.

31 *And as ye would that men ſhould do to you, ſo do ye to them likewiſe.

32 *For if ye love them which love you, [g] what thank ſhall ye have? for even ſinners love thoſe that love them.

33 And if ye do good for them which do good for you, what thank ſhall ye have? for even the ſinners do the ſame.

34 *And if ye lend to them of whom ye hope to receive, what thank ſhall ye have? for even the ſinners lend to ſinners, to receive the like.

35 Wherefore love ye your enemies, and do good, and lend, [h] looking for nothing again, and your reward ſhall be great, and ye ſhall be children of *the moſt High: for he is kinde to the unkinde, and to the evil.

36 Be ye therefore mercifull, as your Father alſo is mercifull.

37 ¶ *[6] Judge not, and ye ſhall not be judged: condemn not, and ye ſhall not be condemned: [i] forgive, and ye ſhall be forgiven.

38 Give, and it ſhall be given unto you: *a good meaſure, [k] preſſed down, ſhaken together and running over ſhall men give into your boſome: for with what meaſure ye mete, with the ſame ſhall men mete to you again.

39 [7] And he ſpake a parable unto them, *Can the blinde lead the blinde? ſhall they not both fall into the ditch?

40 *The diſciple is not above his Maſter: but whoſoever will be a perfect diſciple, ſhall be as his Maſter.

41 ¶ *[8] And why ſeeſt thou a mote in thy brotheas eye, and conſidereſt not the beam that is in thine own eye?

42 Either how canſt thou ſay to thy brother, Brother, let me pull out the mote that is in thine eye, when thou ſeeſt not the beame that is in thine own eye? Hypocrite, caſt out the beame out of thine own eye firſt, and then ſhalt thou ſee perfectly to pull out the mote that is in thy brothers eye.

43 ¶ *[9] For it is not a good tree that bringeth forth evil fruit: neither an evil tree, that bringeth forth good fruit.

44 *For every tree is known by his own fruit: *for neither of thornes gather men figs, nor of buſhes gather they grapes.

45 A good man out of the good treaſure of his heart bringeth forth good, and an evil man out of the evil treaſure of his heart bringeth forth evil: for of the abundance of the heart his mouth ſpeaketh.

46 ¶ *But why call ye me Lord, Lord, and do not the things that I ſpeak?

47 [10] Whoſoever cometh to me, and heareth my words, and doth the ſame, I will ſhew you to whom he is like:

48 He is like a man which built an houſe, and digged deep, and laid the foundation on a rock: and when the waters aroſe, the flood beat upon that houſe, and could not ſhake it: for it was grounded upon a rock.

49 But he that heareth and doth not, is like a man that built an houſe upon the earth without foundation, againſt which the flood did beat, and it fell by and by: and the fall of that houſe was great.

4 So they came to Jeſus, and beſought him inſtantly, ſaying, that he was worthy that he ſhould doe this for him:

5 For he loveth, ſaid they, our nation, and he hath built us a Synagogue.

[1] Chriſt admoniſheth the Jewes, by ſetting before them the example of the Centurion, that for their obſtinacie and rebelliõ he will go to the Gentiles.

when he was now not farre from the houſe, the Centurion ſent friends to him, ſaying unto him, Lord, trouble not thy ſelf: for I am not worthy that thou ſhouldeſt enter under my roof:

7 Wherefore I thought not my ſelf worthy to come unto thee: but ſay the word, and my ſervant ſhall be whole:

8 For I likewiſe am a man ſet under authoritie, and have under me ſouldiers, and I ſay unto one, Go, and he goeth: and to another, Come, and he cometh: and to my ſervant, Do this, and he doth it.

9 When Jeſus heard theſe things, he marvelled at him, and turned him, and ſaid to the people that followed him, I ſay unto you, I have not found ſo great faith, no not in Iſrael.

10 And when they that were ſent, turned back to the houſe, they found the ſervant that was ſick, whole.

11 [2] And it came to paſſe the day after, that he went into a city called [a] Nain, and many of his diſciples went with him, and a great multitude.

12 Now when he came neere to the gate of the citie, behold, there was a dead man carried out, who was the onely begotten ſonne of his mother, which was a widow, and much people of the citie was with her.

13 And when the Lord ſaw her, he had compaſſion on her, and ſaid unto her, weep not.

14 And he went and touched the coffin (and they that bare him, ſtood ſtill) and he ſaid, Young man, I ſay unto thee, Ariſe.

15 And he that was dead, ſat up, and began to ſpeake, and he delivered him to his mother.

16 Then there came a feare on them all, and they glorified God, ſaying, A great Prophet is riſen among us, and God hath viſited his people.

17 And this rumor of him went forth throughout all Judea, and thoughout all the region round about.

18 [3] And the diſciples of John ſhewed him of all theſe things.

19 So John called unto him two certain men of his diſciples, and ſent them to Jeſus, ſaying, Art thou he that ſhould come, or ſhall we wait for another?

20 And when the men were come unto him, they ſaid, John Baptiſt hath ſent us unto thee, ſaying, Art thou he that ſhould come, or ſhall we wait for another?

21 And [b] at that time he cured many of their ſickneſſes, and plagues, and of evill ſpirits, and unto many blinde men he gave ſight freely.

22 And Jeſus anſwered, and ſaid unto them, Go your wayes, and ſhew John what things ye have ſeen and heard: that the blind ſee, the halt go, the lepers are cleanſed, the deaf heare, the dead are raiſed, and the poore receive the Goſpel.

23 And bleſſed is he, that ſhall not be offended in me.

24 [4] And when the meſſengers of John were departed, he began to ſpeake unto the people, of John, What went ye out into the wilderneſſe to ſee? A reed ſhaken with the winde?

25 But what went ye out to ſee? A man clothed in ſoft raiment? behold, they which are gorgeouſly apparelled, and live delicately, are in kings courts.

26 But what went ye forth to ſee? A Prophet? yea, I ſay to you, and greater then a Prophet.

27 This is he of whom it is written, * Behold, I ſend my meſſenger before thy face, which ſhall prepare thy way before thee,

28 For I ſay unto you, there is no greater Prophet then John, among them that are begotten of women: neverthleſſe, he that is the leaſt in the kingdome of God, is greater then he.

29 Then all the people that heard, and the Publicanes [c] juſtified God, being baptized with the baptiſme of John.

30 But the Phariſes and the expounders of the Law deſpiſed the counſel of God [d] againſt themſelves, and were not baptized of him.

31 * [5] And the Lord ſaid, Whereunto ſhall I liken the men of this generation? and what thing are they like unto?

32 They are like unto little children ſitting in the market place, and crying one to another, and ſaying, We have piped unto you, and ye have not danced: we have mourned to you, and ye have not wept.

33 For John Baptiſt came neither eating bread, nor drinking wine: and ye ſay, He hath the devill.

34 The Sonne of man is come, and eateth and drinketh: and ye ſay, Behold, a man which is a glutton, and a drinker of wine, a friend of Publicanes and ſinners:

35 But wiſdome is juſtified of all her children.

36 ¶ [6] And one of the Phariſes deſired him that he would eat with him: and he went into the Phariſes houſe, and ſat down at table.

37 And behold, a woman in the citie, which was a ſinner, when ſhe knew that Jeſus ſat at table in the Phariſes houſe, ſhe brought a box of oyntment:

38 * And ſhe ſtood at his feet behind him weeping, and began to waſh his feet with teares, and did wipe them with the haires of her head, and kiſſed his feet, and anointed them with the oyntment.

40 [8] And Jeſus anſwered, and ſaid unto him, Simon, I have ſomewhat to ſay unto thee. And he ſaid, Maſter, ſay on.

41 There was a certain lender which had two debters: the one ought five hundred pence, and the other fifty:

42 When they had nothing to pay, he forgave them both: Which of them therefore, tell me, will love him moſt?

43 Simon anſwered, and ſaid, I ſuppoſe that he, to whom he forgave moſt. And he ſaid unto him, Thou haſt truly judged.

44 Then he turned to the woman, and ſaid unto Simon, Seeſt thou this woman? I entred into thine houſe, and thou gaveſt me no water to my feet: but ſhe hath waſhed my feet with teares, and wiped them with the haires of her head.

45 Thou gaveſt me no kiſſe: but ſhe, ſince the time I came in, hath not ceaſed to kiſſe my feet.

46 Mine head with oyle thou didſt not anoint: but ſhe hath anointed my feet with ointment.

47 Wherefore I ſay unto thee, Many ſinnes are forgiven her: [f] for ſhe loved much. To whom a little is forgiven, he doth love a little.

48 And he ſaid unto her, Thy ſinnes are forgiven thee.

49 And they that ſate at table with him, began to ſay within themſelves, Who is this that even forgiveth ſinnes?

50 And he ſaid to the woman, Thy faith hath ſaved thee: [g] go in peace.

CHAP. VIII.

2 Women that miniſter unto Chriſt of their ſubſtance. 4 The Parable of the ſower. 16 The candle. 19 Chriſts mother and brethren. 22 He rebuketh the windes. 26 Of Legion. 37 The Gadarens reject Chriſt. 41 Iairus daughter healed. 43 The woman delivered from the iſſue of blood. 52 Weeping for the dead.

And it came to paſſe afterward, that he himſelf went through every city and town, preaching and publiſhing the kingdome of God, & the twelue were with him,

2 And certain women, which were healed of evil ſpirits, and infirmities, as * Marie which was called Magdalene, out of whom went ſeven devils.

3 And Joanna the wife of Chuza, Herods ſteward, and Suſanna, and many other which miniſtred unto him of their ſubſtance.

4 * [1] Now when much people were gathered together, and were come unto him out of all cities, he ſpake by a parable.

5 A ſower went out to ſow his ſeed, and as he ſowed, ſome fell by the wayes ſide, and it was troden under feet, and the fowles of heaven devoured it up.

6 And ſome fell on the ſtones, and when it was ſprung up, it withered away, becauſe it lacked moiſtneſſe.

7 And ſome fell among thornes, and the thornes ſprang up with it, and choked it.

8 And ſome fell on good ground, and ſprang up, and bare fruit, an hundreth fold. And as he ſaid theſe things, he cryed, He that hath eares to heare, let him heare.

9 Then his diſciples asked him, demanding what parable that was.

10 And he ſaid, Unto you it is given to know the [a] ſecrets of the kingdome of God, but to other in parables, that when * they ſee, they ſhould not ſee, and when they heare, they ſhould not underſtand.

11 * The parable is this, The ſeed is the word of God.

12 And they that are beſide the way, are they that heare: afterward cometh the devill, and taketh away the word out of their hearts, leſt they ſhould beleeve, and be ſaved.

13 But they that are on the ſtones, are they which when they have heard, receive the word with joy, but they have no roots: which for a while beleeve, but in the time of temptation go away.

14 And that which fell among thornes, are they which have heard, and after [b] their departure are choaked with cares, and with riches, and voluptuous living, and [c] bring forth no fruit.

15 But that which fell in good ground, are they which with an [d] honeſt and good heart heare the word, [e] and keep it, and bring forth fruit with patience.

16 ¶ * [2] No man when he hath lighted a candle covereth it under a veſſel, neither putteth it under the bedde, but ſetteth it on a candleſtick, that they that enter in, may ſee the light.

17 * For nothing is ſecret, that ſhall not be evident: neither any thing hid, that ſhall not be known, and come to light.

18 [3] Take [f] heed therefore how ye heare: for * whoſoever hath, to him ſhall be given: and whoſoever hath not, from him ſhall be taken even that [g] which it ſeemeth that he hath.

19 ¶ * [4] Then came to him his Mother and his brethren, and could not come neere to him for the preaſſe.

20 And it was told him by certain which ſaid, Thy mother and thy brethren ſtand without, and would ſee thee.

21 But he anſwered, and ſaid unto them, My mother and my brethren are theſe which heare the word of God and do it.

[7] Raſhneſſe is the fellow of pride.

[e] The Phariſee reſpecteth the Law which holdeth them defiled that touch the defiled.

[8] To love Chriſt, is a ſure and perpetuall witneſſe of remiſſion of ſins.

[f] That is, ſaith Theophilact, ſhe hath ſhewed her faith abundantly: & Baſil in his Sermon of Baptiſme ſaith, He that oweth much, hath much forgiven him, that he may love much more: and therefore Chriſts ſaying is ſo plain by the ſimilitude, that it is a wonder to ſee the enemies of the truth, draw and rack this place ſo fondly, to eſtabliſh their meritorious works: for the greater ſumme a man hath forgiven him, the more he loveth him that hath been ſo gratious to him: And this woman ſheweth by duties of love, how great the benefit was ſhe had received: and therefore the charity that is here ſpoken of, is not to be taken for ye cauſe, but as a ſigne: for Chriſt ſaith not as the Phariſees did, that ſhe was a ſinner, but beareth her witneſſe that the ſinnes of her life paſt are forgiven her.

[g] He confirmeth the benefit which he had beſtowed, with a bleſſing.

[d] VVhich ſeeketh not onely to ſeem ſuch a one, but is ſo indeed: ſo that this word, Honeſt, reſpecteth the outward life, & the word Good, is referred to the good gifts of the minde.

[4] There is no knot of fleſh and blood among mē ſo nigh and ſtraight, as the band which is between Chriſt, and them who imbrace him with a true faith.

22 ¶ * [5] And it came to paſſe on a certain day, that he went into a ſhip with his diſciples, and he ſaid unto them, Let us go over unto the other ſide of the lake. And they launched forth.

23 And as they ſailed, he [h] fell aſleep, and there came down a ſtorm of winde on the lake, and [i] they were filled with water, and were in jeopardie.

24 Then they went to him, and awoke him, ſaying, Maſter, Maſter, we periſh. And he aroſe, and rebuked the winde, and the waves of water: and they ceaſed, and it was calme.

25 Then he ſaid unto them, Where is your faith? and they feared, and wondred among themſelves, ſaying, Who is this that commandeth both the windes and water, and they obey him!

26 ¶ * So they ſailed unto the region of the Gadarens, which is over againſt Galile.

27 [6] And as he went out to land, there met him a certain man out of the city, which had devils long time, and he ware no garment, neither abode in houſe, but in the graves.

28 And when he ſaw Jeſus, he cried out, and fell down before him, and with a loud voice ſaid, What have I to do with thee, Jeſus the Sonne of God the moſt High? I beſeech thee torment me not.

29 For he commanded the foul ſpirit to come out of the man: (for oft times he had caught him: therefore he was bound with chaines, and kept in fetters: but he brake the bands, [k] and was carried of the devill into wilderneſſes.)

30 Then Jeſus asked him, ſaying, What is thy name? and he ſaid, Legion, becauſe many devils were entred into him.

31 And they beſought him, that hee would not command them to go out into the deep.

32 And there was there by, an herd of many ſwine, feeding on an hill: & the devils beſought him, that he would ſuffer them to enter into them. So he ſuffered them, 33 Then went the devils out of the man, and entred into the ſwine: and the herd was carried with violence from a ſteep down place into the lake, and was choked.

34 When the herdmen ſaw what was done, they fled: & when they were departed, they told it in the city, and in the countrey.

35 Then they came out to ſee what was done, and came to Jeſus, and found the man out of whom the devils were departed, ſitting at the feet of Jeſus, clothed, and in his right minde: and they were afraid.

36 They alſo which ſaw it, told them by what meanes he that was poſſeſſed with the devill was healed.

37 Then the whole multitude of the countrey about the Gadarens, beſought him that he would depart from them: for they were taken with a great feare: and he went into the ſhip, and returned.

38 Then the man out of whom the devils were departed, beſought him that he might be with him: but Jeſus ſent him away, ſaying, 39 Return into thine own houſe, and ſhew what great things God hath done to thee. So he went his way, and preached [l] throughout all the citie, what great things Jeſus had done unto him.

40 ¶ And it came to paſſe, when Jeſus was come again, that the people [m] received him: for they all waited for him.

41 ¶ * [7] And behold, there came a man named Jairus, & he was the ruler of the Synagogue, who fel down at Jeſus feet, and beſought him that he would come into his houſe.

42 For he had but a daughter onely, about twelve yeares of age, and ſhe lay a dying (& as he went, the people thronged him

43 And a woman having an iſſue of blood twelve yeares long, which had ſpent all her [n] ſubſtance upon phyſicians, and could not be helped by any:

44 When ſhe came behinde him, ſhe touched the hemme of his garment, and immediately her iſſue of blood ſtanched.

45 Then Jeſus ſaid, Who is it that hath touched me? When every man denied, Peter ſaid, & they that were with him, Maſter, the multitude thruſt thee, & tread on thee, and ſayeſt thou, Who hath touched me?

46 And Jeſus ſaid, Some one hath touched me: for I perceive that vertue is gone out of me.

47 When the woman ſaw that ſhe was not hid, ſhe came trembling, and fell down before him, and told him before all the people, for what cauſe ſhe had touched him, and how ſhe was healed immediatly.

48 And he ſaid unto her, Daughter, be of good comfort: thy faith hath ſaved thee: go in peace.)

49 While he yet ſpake, there came one from the ruler of the Synagogues houſe, which ſaid to him, Thy daughter is dead: diſeaſe not the Maſter.

50 When Jeſus heard it, he anſwered him, ſaying, Feare not: beleeve onely, and ſhe ſhall be ſaved.

51 And when he went into the houſe, he ſuffered no man to go in with him, ſave Peter, and James, and John, and the father and mother of the maid.

52 And all wept, and [o] ſorrowed for her: but he ſaid, Weep not: for ſhe is not dead, but ſleepeth.

53 And they laughed him to ſcorn, knowing that ſhe was dead.

* Matth. 8. 23. Marke 4. 36.

[5] It is expedient for us ſometime to come into extreme danger, as though Chriſt paſſed not for us, that we may have a better triall, both of his power, and alſo of our weakeneſſe.

[h] Jeſus fell a ſleep. & it appeareth that he was very faſt a ſleep, becauſe they called him twiſe before he awoke.

[i] Not the diſciples, but the ſhip.

* Matth. 8. 28. Marke 5. 1.

[6] Chriſt ſheweth by caſting out a Legion of devils, by his word onely, that his heavenly vertue was appointed to deliver men from the ſlavery of the devill: but fooliſh men will not, for the moſt part, redeem this ſo excellent grace freely offered unto them, with the leaſt loſſe of their pelting pelf.

[k] By force and violence, as a horſe when he is ſpurred.

[l] To wit, the city of the Gadarens: and though Marke ſay that he preached it in Decapolis, they diſſent not: for Plinie recordeth, lib. 5. cap. 18. that Gadara is a town of Decapolis: ſo that Decapolis was partly on this ſide Iordan, and partly on the other ſide.

[m] The multitude was glad he was come again, and rejoyced greatly.

* Matth. 9. 18. Marke 5. 22.

[7] Chriſt ſheweth by a double miracle, that he is Lord both of life and death.

[n] All that ſhe had to live upon.

[o] The word ſignifieth to beat and ſtrike, and is transferred to the mournings and lamentations that are at burials, at which times men uſe ſuch kinde of behaviour.

54 So he thruſt them all out, and tooke her by the hand, and cried, ſaying, Maid, ariſe.

55 And her ſpirit came againe, and ſhe [p] roſe ſtraightway: and he commanded to give her meat.

[p] The corps was layd out, and the wench received life, and roſe out of the bed, that all the world might ſee, ſhe was not only reſtored to life, but alſo void of all ſickneſſe.

56 Then her parents were aſtonied: but he commanded them that they ſhould tell no man what was done.

1 The twelve Apoſtles are ſent forth at the onely commandement of Chriſt, and furniſhed with the power of the holy Ghoſt: both that none of the Iſraelites might pretend ignorance, and alſo that they might be better prepared to their generall ambaſſie.

2 *And he ſent them forth to preach the kingdome of God, and to cure the ſick.

4 And whatſoever houſe ye enter into, there [a] abide, and thence depart.

[a] VVhen you depart out of any city, depart from thence, where you firſt tooke up your lodging: ſo that in few words, the Lord forbiddeth them to change their lodgings; for the publiſhing of this Goſpel, was as it were a thorow paſſage, that none of Iudea might pretend ignorance as though he had not heard that Chriſt was come.

5 And how many ſoever will not receive you, when ye goe out of that citie, * ſhake off the very duſt from your feet for a teſtimony againſt them.

6 And they went out, and went through every towne preaching the Goſpel, and healing every where.

7 ¶ *[2] Now Herod the Tetrarch heard of all that was done by him: and he [b] doubted becauſe that it was ſaid of ſome, that John was riſen againe from the dead:

* Mat. 14.1. marke 6. 14.

2 So ſoone as the world heareth tidings of the Goſpel, it is devided into divers opinions, and the tyrants eſpecially are afraid.

8 And of ſome, that Elias had appeared: and of ſome, that one of the old Prophets was riſen againe.

9 Then Herod ſaid, John have I beheaded: who then is this of whom I heare ſuch things? and he deſired to ſee him.

10 ¶ *[3] And when the Apoſtles returned, they tolde him what great things they had done. * Then he tooke them to him, and went aſide into a [c] ſolitarie place, neere to the city called Bethſaida.

3 They ſhall lacke nothing that follow Chriſt, no not in the wilderneſſe.

* Matth. 14. 13. marke 6. 32.

[c] The word ſignifieth a deſert: note this was not in the towne Bethſaida, but part of the fields belonging to the towne.

11 But when the people knew it, they followed him: and he received them, and ſpake unto them of the kingdome of God, and healed them that had need to be healed.

12 * And when the day began to weare away, the twelve came, and ſaid unto him, Send the people away, that they may goe into the townes and villages round about, and lodge, and get meat: for we are heere in a deſert place.

* Matth. 14 15. marke 6. 35. iohn 6. 5.

13 But he ſaid unto them, Give ye them to eate. And they ſaid, We have no more but five loaves and two fiſhes, [d] except we ſhould goe and buy meat for all this people.

[d] This is unperfe ly ſpoken, and ther fore we muſt derſtand ſome thi as this, we can give them to ea unleſſe we goe a buy, &c.

14 For they were about five thouſand men. Then he ſaid to his diſciples, Cauſe them to ſit downe by fifties in a company.

15 And they did ſo, and cauſed all to ſit downe.

16 Then he tooke the five loaves, and the two fiſhes, and looked up to heaven, and [e] bleſſed them, and brake, and gave to the diſciples, to ſet before the people.

[e] He gave Go thanks for theſe lo and fiſhes, and wit all prayed him feede this ſo great multitude with ſmall a quantit and to be ſhort, th this whole ban might be to the glo of God.

17 So they did all eate, and were ſatiſfied: and there was taken up of that remained to them, twelve baskets full of broken meat.

18 ¶ *[4] And it came to paſſe, as he was [f] alone praying, his diſciples were with him: and he asked them, ſaying, Whom ſay the people that I am?

[f] Alone from th people.

19 They anſwered, and ſaid, Iohn Baptiſt: and others ſay, Elias: and ſome ſay, that one of the old Prophets is riſen againe.

20 And he ſaid unto them, But whom ſay ye that I am? Peter anſwered, and ſaid, That Chriſt of God.

21 And he warned and commanded them, that they ſhould tell that to no man,

22 [5] Saying, * The Sonne of man muſt ſuffer many things, and be reproved of the Elders, and of the high Prieſts and Scribes, and be ſlaine, and the third day riſe againe.

* Matth. 17. 2. marke 9.2.

6 Leſt the diſciples of Chriſt ſhould be offended at the debaſing himſelfe in his fleſh, he teacheth them that it is voluntary, ſhewing therewithall for a ſpace, the brightnes of his glory.

29 And as he prayed, the faſhion of his countenance was changed, and his garment was white and gliſtered.

30 And behold, two men talked with him, which were Moſes and Elias:

31 Which appeared in glory, and told of his [h] departing, which he ſhould accompliſh at Hieruſalem.

32 But Peter and they that were with him, were heavie with ſleepe: and when they awoke, they ſaw his glory, and the two men ſtanding with him.

33 And it came to paſſe, as they departed from him, Peter ſaid unto Jeſus, Maſter, it is good for us to be here: let us therefore make three Tabernacles, one for thee, and one for Moſes, and one for Elias, and wiſt not what he ſaid.

34 Whiles he thus ſpake, there came a cloud and overſhadowed them, & they feared when they were entring into the cloud.

* 2 Pet.1.17.

35 * And there came a voice out of the cloud, ſaying, This is that my beloved Son, heare him.

36 And when the voice was paſt, Jeſus was found alone: and they kept it cloſe, and tolde no man in [i] thoſe dayes any of thoſe things which they had ſeene.

[i] Untill Chriſt was riſen againe from the dead.

7 Chriſt is offended with nothing ſo much as with incredulitie, although he beare with it for a time.

* *Matth.*17.14. Marke 9.17.

37 ¶ [7] And it came to paſſe on the next day, as they came down from the mountaine, much people met him.

38 * And behold, a man of the company cried out, ſaying, Maſter, I beſeech thee, behold my ſonne: for he is all that I have.

39 And loe, a ſpirit taketh him, and ſuddenly he cryeth, and he teareth him, that he fometh, and hardly departeth from him, when he hath [k] bruiſed him.

[k] As it fareth in the falling ſickneſſe.

40 Now I have beſought thy Diſciples to caſt him out, but they could not.

41 Then Jeſus anſwered, and ſaid, O generation faithleſſe, and crooked, how long now ſhal I be with you, and ſuffer you? bring thy ſonne hither.

42 And whiles he was yet comming, the devill rent him, and tare him: and Jeſus rebuked the uncleane ſpirit, and healed the child, and delivered him to his father.

8 We have no cauſe to promiſe our ſelves reſt and quietneſſe in this world, ſeeing that they themſelves which ſeemed to fawn upon Chriſt, doe ſhortly after crucifie him.

43 ¶ [8] And they were all amaſed at the mighty power of God: and while they all wondred at all things, which Jeſus did, hee ſaid unto his diſciples, [l] Give diligent eare unto them, and when you have once heard them, ſee that you keepe them.

* *Matth.*17,22. Marke 9.31.

44 [l] Marke theſe words diligently: * for it ſhall come to paſſe, that the Son of man ſhall be delivered into the hands of men.

45 But they underſtood not that word: for it was hid from them, ſo that they could not perceive it: and they feared to aske him of that word.

* *Matth.*18.1. *Marke.*9.35.

9 The end of ambition is ignominie: but the end of modeſt obedience is glory.

46 ¶ * [9] Then there aroſe a diſputation among them, which of them ſhould be the greateſt.

47 When Jeſus ſaw the thoughts of their hearts, he tooke a little child, and ſet him by him,

48 And ſaid unto them, Whoſoever receiveth this little child in my Name, receiveth me: and whoſoever ſhall receive mee, receiveth him that ſent me: for he that is leaſt among you all, he ſhall be great.

* Marke 9.38.

10 Extraordinary things, are neither raſhly to be allowed, nor condemned.

49 ¶ * [10] And John anſwered and ſayd, Maſter, wee ſaw one caſting out devils in thy Name, and we forbade him, becauſe he followeth thee not with us.

50 Then Jeſus ſaid unto him, Forbid ye him not: for he that is not againſt us, is with us.

11 Chriſt goeth willingly to death.

51 ¶ [11] And it came to paſſe, when the dayes were accompliſhed, that he ſhould be received up, he [m] ſetled himſelfe fully to goe to Hieruſalem,

[m] Word for word, he hardened his face: that is, he reſolved with himſelfe to die, and therefore ventured upon his iourney, and caſt away all feare of death, and went on.

52 And ſent meſſengers before him: and they went and entred into a town of the Samaritans, to prepare him lodging.

53 But they would not receive him, becauſe his behaviour was as though hee would goe to Hieruſalem.

12 We muſt take heede of the immoderateneſſe of zeale and fond imitation, even in good cauſes, that whatſoever we doe, we doe it to Gods glory, and the profit of our neighbour.

* *2 King.*1.10. 12,13.

54 [12] And when his diſciples, Iames and Iohn ſaw it, they ſaid, Lord, wilt thou that we command, that fire come down from heaven, and conſume them, even as * Elias did?

55 But Ieſus turned about, and rebuked them, and ſaid, Yee know not of what [n] ſpirit yee are.

[n] So ſpeake the Hebrews, that is, you know not what will, minde, and counſell you are of: ſo the gifts of God are called the ſpirit, becauſe they are given of Gods Spirit, and ſo are they that are contrary to them which proceed of the wicked ſpirit of covetouſneſſe, of pride, and madneſſe.

56 For the Sonne of man is not come to deſtroy mens lives, but to ſave them. Then they went to another town.

13 Such as follow Chriſt, muſt prepare themſelves to ſuffer all diſcommodities.

* *Matth.*8.19.

57 ¶ [13] And it came to paſſe, that as they went in the way, * a certain man ſaid unto him, I wil follow thee, Lord, whitherſoever thou goeſt.

58 And Ieſus ſaid unto him, The foxes have holes, and the birds of the heaven neſts, but the Sonne of man hath not whereon to lay his head.

14 The calling of God ought to be preferred, without all controverſie, before all duties that we owe to man.

59 [14] But he ſaid unto another, Follow me. And the ſame ſaid, Lord, ſuffer me firſt to go and bury my father.

60 And Ieſus ſaid unto him, Let the dead bury [o] their dead: but goe thou, and preach the kingdome of God.

[o] Who notwithſtanding that they live in this fraile life of man, yet are ſtrangers from the true life, which is everlaſting and heavenly.

15 Such as follow Chriſt, muſt at once renounce all worldly cares.

61 [15] Then another ſaid, I will follow thee, Lord: but let mee firſt goe bid them farewel, which are at mine houſe.

62 And Ieſus ſaid unto him, No man that putteth his hand to the plough, and looketh back, is apt to the kingdom of God.

CHAP. X.

1 The ſeventie diſciples. 10 The unthankfull cities charged with impietie. 17 The diſciples returning home, are warned to be humble. 30 Who is our neighbour. 38 Of Martha and her ſiſter Mary.

* *Matth.*10.1.

1 The ſeventie are ſent as the ſecond forewarners of the comming of Chriſt.

After * [1] theſe things, the Lord appointed other ſeventie alſo, and ſent them, two and two before him, into every citie and place, whither he himſelf ſhould come.

* *Matth.*9.37.

* *Matth.*10.16.

2 The faithfull miniſters of the word are in this world, as lambes among wolves: but if they be diligent to doe their dutie, he that ſent them, will alſo preſerve them.

2 And he ſaid unto them, * The harveſt is great, but the labourers are few: pray therefore the Lord of the harveſt to ſend forth labourers into his harveſt.

3 * [2] Goe your wayes: behold, I ſend you forth as lambes among wolves.

4 Beare no bagge, neither ſcrip, nor ſhooes, and ſalute * no [a] man by the way.

5 * And into whatſoever houſe ye enter, firſt ſay, Peace be to this houſe.

6 And if the [b] Sonne of peace be there, your peace ſhall reſt upon him: if not, it ſhall turne to you againe.

7 And in that houſe [c] tary ſtill, eating & drinking ſuch things as by them ſhall be ſet before you: * for the labourer is worthy of his wages. Goe not from houſe to houſe.

8 * But into whatſoever citie ye ſhall enter, if they receive you, [d] eate ſuch things as are ſet before you,

9 And heale the ſick that are there, and ſay unto them, The kingdome of God is come neere unto you.

10 [3] But into whatſoever city ye ſhall enter, if they will not receive you, goe your ways out into the ſtreets of the ſame, & ſay,

11 Even the very * duſt which cleaveth on us of your citie, we wipe off againſt you: notwithſtanding know this, that the kingdome of God was come neere unto you.

12 For I ſay unto you, that it ſhall be eaſier in that day for them of Sodom, then for that citie.

13 * Woe be to thee, Chorazin: woe be to thee, Bethſaida: for if the miracles had been done in Tyrus and Sidon, which have been done in you, they had a great while agone repented, ſitting in ſackcloth and aſhes.

14 Therefore it ſhall be eaſier for Tyrus, and Sidon, at the ju[illegible]ent, then for you.

15 And thou, Caperna[illegible]ich art exalted to heaven, ſhalt be thruſt down to hell.

16 ¶ * He that heareth you, heareth me: and he that deſpiſeth you, deſpiſeth me: and he that deſpiſeth me, deſpiſeth him that ſent me.

17 ¶ [4] And the ſeventie turned again with joy, ſaying, Lord, even the devils are ſubdued to us [e] through thy Name.

18 And he ſaid unto them, I ſaw Satan like lightning, [f] fall down from heaven.

19 Behold, I give unto you power to tread on Serpents, and Scorpions, and over all the power of the enemie, and nothing ſhall [g] hurt you.

20 Neverthelesse, in this reioyce not, that the ſpirits are ſubdued unto you: but rather rejoyce, becauſe your names are written in heaven.

21 ¶ [5] That ſame houre rejoyced Jeſus in the ſpirit, and ſayd, I confeſſe unto thee, Father, Lord of heaven and earth, that thou haſt hidde theſe things from the [h] wiſe and underſtanding, and haſt revealed them to babes: even ſo, Father, becauſe it ſo pleaſed thee. †

22 [6] All things are given me of my Father: and no man knoweth who the Sonne is, but the Father: neither who the Father is, ſave the Sonne, and he to whom the Sonne will reveale him.

23 ¶ [7] And he turned to his diſciples, and ſaid ſecretly, * Bleſſed are the eyes, which ſee that ye ſee.

24 For I tell you that many Prophets and Kings have deſired to ſee thoſe things, which ye ſee, and have not ſeene them: and to heare thoſe things, which yee heare, and have not heard them.

25 ¶ * [8] Then behold, [i] a certain Lawyer ſtood up, and tempted him, ſaying, Maſter, what ſhall I doe to inherite eternal life?

26 And he ſaid unto him, What is written in the Law? how readeſt thou?

27 And he anſwered, and ſaid, * Thou ſhalt love the Lord thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy ſoule, and with all thy ſtrength, and with all thy thought, * and thy neighbour as thy ſelfe.

28 Then he ſayd unto him, Thou haſt anſwered right: this doe, and thou ſhalt live.

29 [9] But he willing [k] to juſtifie himſelfe, ſayd unto Jeſus, Who is then my neighbour?

30 And Jeſus anſwered, and ſ[illegible] certaine man went down from Hieruſalem to Jericho, and fell among theeves, and they robbed him of his raiment, and wounded him, and depatted, leaving him halfe dead.

31 Now ſo it fell out, that there came down a certain Prieſt that ſame way, and when he ſaw him, he paſſed by on [illegible] other ſide.

32 And likewiſe alſo a Levite, when he was come neere to the place, went and looked on him, and paſſed by on the other ſide.

33 Then a certain Samaritane, as he journeyed, came neere unto him, and when he ſaw him, he had compaſſion on him,

34 And went to him, and bound up his wounds, and powred in oyle and wine, and put him on his own beaſt, and brought him to an Inne, & made proviſion for him.

35 And on the morow when he departed, he tooke out two pence, and gave them to the hoſt, and ſaid unto him, Take care of him, and whatſoever thou ſpendeſt more, when I come again, I wil recompenſe thee.

36 Which now of theſe three thinkeſt thou, was neighbour unto him that fell among the theeves?

37 And he ſaid, He that ſhewed mercy on him. Then ſaid Jeſus unto him, Goe, and doe thou likewiſe.

38 ¶ [10] Now it came to paſſe, as they went, that he entred into a certain town, and a certain woman named Martha, received him into her houſe.

* 2. King.4.29.

[a] This is ſpoken after the manner of a figure, which men uſe when they put down more in words then is meant: uſuall among the Hebrewes, when they command a thing to bee done ſpeedily without delay, as 2 King. 4. 29. for otherwiſe courteous and gentle ſalutations are points of Chriſtian duties: as for this calling, it was but for a ſeaſon.

* Matth. 10. 12. marke 6.10.

[b] So ſpeake the Hebrewes: that is, he that favoureth the doctrine of peace and imbraceth it.

[c] Take up your lodging in that houſe, which ye firſt enter into, that is, be not carefull for commodious lodging, as men doe which purpoſe to tarie long in a place: for here is not inſtituted that ſolemne preaching of the Goſpel, which was uſed afterward, when the Churches were ſetled: but theſe are ſent abroad to all the coaſts of Iudea, to give them to underſtand, that the laſt Iubile is at hand.

* Deut.24.14. Matth.10.10. 1.Tim.5.18.

* Matth.10.11.

[d] Content your ſelves with that meat that is ſet before you.

* Matth 11.21.

* Matth.10.40. Iohn.13.20.

[4] Neither the gift of miracles, neither what elſe ſoever excellent gift, but onely our election giveth us occaſion of true joy. And the only publiſhing of the Goſpel is the deſtruction of Satan.

[e] For Chriſts diſciples uſed no abſolute authoritie, but wrought ſuch miracles as they did, by calling upon Chriſts Name.

[f] Paul placeth the devill and his angels, in the ayre, as Epheſ. 6.12. and he is ſaid to be caſt down from thence by force, when his power is aboliſhed by the voice of the Goſpel.

[g] Shall doe you wrong.

[5] The Church is contemptible, if we behold the outward face of it, but the wiſdome of God is not ſo marveilous in any thing, as in it.

[h] Of this world.

† Then he turned to his diſciples, and ſaid, Is read in ſome copies.

[6] Whoſoever ſeeketh the Father without the Son wandreth out of the way.

[7] The difference of the old Teſtament and the new, conſiſteth in the meaſure of revelation.

* Matth.22.35. Marke 12.28.

[8] Faith doeth not take away, but eſtabliſheth the doctrine of the Law.

* Levit.19.18.

[9] Al they are comprehended in the name of our neighbour, by the Law, whomſoever we may helpe.

[k] That is, to vouch his righteouſnes, or ſhew that he was iuſt, that is, voide of all faults: and Iames 5. uſeth the word of iuſtification in this ſenſe.

[10] Chriſt careth not to be entertained delicately, but to bee heard diligently, that is it, which he eſpecially requireth.

39 And ſhe had a ſiſter called Mary, which ſate at Jeſus feet, and heard his preaching.

40 But Martha was cumbred about much ſerving, & came unto him, and ſaid, Maſter, doeſt thou not care that my ſiſter hath left me to ſerve alone? bid her therefore that ſhe help me.

41 And Jeſus anſwered, and ſaid unto her, Martha, Martha, thou careſt, and art troubled about many things:

42 But one thing is needfull, Mary hath choſen the good part, which ſhall not be taken away from her.

CHAP. XI.

1 He teacheth his Apoſtles to pray. 14 The dumbe devill driven out. 27 A woman of the companie lifteth up her voice. 29 The Iewes require ſignes. 37 He being feaſted of the Phariſee, reproveth the outward ſhew of holineſſe.

AND ſo it was, that as he was praying in a certain place, when he ceaſed, one of his diſciples ſaid unto him, Lord, teach us to pray, as John alſo taught his diſciples.

2 * And he ſaid unto them, When ye pray, ſay, [1] Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy Name: Thy kingdome come: Let thy will be done, even in earth, as it is in heaven:

*Matth. 6 9.

1 A form of true prayer.

our daily bread give us [a] for the day:

4 And forgive us our ſinnes: for even we forgive every man that is indebted to us: And lead us not into temptation: but deliver us from evil.

5 ¶ [2] Moreover he ſaid unto them, Which of you ſhall have a friend, and ſhall go to him at midnight, and ſay unto him, iend, lend me three loaves?

a That is, as much as is needfull for this day, whereby we are not debarred to have an honeſt care for the maintenance of our lives, but that carping care, which killeth a number of men, is cut off and reſtrained.

2 We muſt pray with faith.

6 For a friend of mine is come out of the way to me, and I have nothing to ſet before him:

7 And he within ſhould anſwer, and ſay, Trouble me not: the doore is now ſhut, and my children are with me in bed: I cannot riſe and give them to thee.

8 I ſay unto you, Though he would not riſe and give him, becauſe he is his friend, yet doubtleſſe becauſe of his [b] importunitie, he would riſe, and give him as many as he needed.

b Word for word, impudencie: but that impudencie which is ſpoken of here, is not to be found fault withall, but is very commendable before God, for he liketh well of ſuch importunitie.

9 * And I ſay unto you, Aſk, and it ſhall be given you: ſeek, and ye ſhall finde: knock, and it ſhall be opened unto you.

10 * For every one that asketh, receiveth: and he that ſeeketh, findeth: and to him that knocketh, it ſhall be opened.

* Matthew 7.7. and 21.22. Mark 11.24. Iohn 14.13. and 16. 23. Iames 1. 5.
* Matth. 7. 1.

11 * If a ſonne ſhall ask bread of any of you that is a father, will he give him a ſtone? or if he ask a fiſh, will he for a fiſh give him a ſerpent?

* Matth. 7. 9.

12 Or if he ask an egge, will he give him a ſcorpion?

13 If ye then which are evill, can give good gifts unto your children, how much more ſhall your heavenly Father give the holy Ghoſt to them that deſire him?

14 ¶ * Then he caſt out a devill which was dumbe: and when the devill was gone out, the dumbe ſpake, and the people wondered.

* Matth. 9.32. and 12,22.

15 [3] But ſome of them ſaid, * He caſteth out devils through Beelzebub the chief of the devils.

16 And others tempted him, ſeeking of him a ſigne from heaven.

3 An example of horrible blindneſſe, and ſuch as cannot be healed, when as upon an evil conſcience, & pretended malice, the power of God is blaſphemed.

* Matth. 9.34. and 12. 24. Mark 3. 22.

17 [4] But he knew their thoughts, and ſaid unto them, * Every kingdome divided againſt it ſelf, ſhall be deſolate, and an houſe divided againſt an houſe, falleth.

18 So if Satan alſo be divided againſt himſelf, how ſhall his kingdome ſtand, becauſe ye ſay that I caſt out devils [c] through Beelzebub?

4 The true way to know the true Chriſt from the falſe, is this, that the true Chriſt hath no accord or agreement with Satan. And it remaineth that after we know him, we acknowledge him.

* Matth 12. 25. Mark 3. 24.

c By the name and power of Beelzebub.

19 If I through Beelzebub caſt out devils, by whom do your children caſt them out? Therefore ſhall they be your judges.

10 But if I by the [d] finger of God caſt out devils, doubtleſſe the kingdome of God is come unto you.

d That is, by the power of God: ſo it is ſaid, Exod. 8.19.

21 When a ſtrong man armed keepeth his [e] palace, the things that he poſſeſſeth, are in peace.

e The word ſignifieth properly an open and void room before an houſe, and ſo by tranſlation is taken for Noble mens houſes.

22 But when a ſtronger then he, cometh upon him, and overcometh him: he taketh from him all his armour wherein he truſted, and divideth his ſpoiles.

23 [5] He that is not with me, is againſt me: and he that gathereth not with me, ſcattereth.

24 * [6] When the unc one out of a man, he e places, ſeeking r ndeth none, he ſai n unto mine houſe, wh out.

5 Againſt indifferent men, and ſuch as love to have a mean, which ſeek meanes to reconcile Chriſt and Satan together.

* Matth. 12. 43.

6 He that doth not continue, is in worſe caſe, then he that never begun.

25 And when he cometh, he findeth it ſwept and garniſhed.

26 Then goeth he, and taketh to him ſeven other ſpirits worſe then himſelf: and they enter in, and dwell there: * ſo the laſt ſtate of that man is worſe then the firſt.

* Hebr. 6.4. 2. Pet. 2. 20.

27 ¶ [7] And it came to paſſe as he ſaid theſe things, a certain woman of the company lifted up her voice, and ſaid unto him, Bleſſed is the wombe that bare thee, and the paps which thou haſt ſucked.

7 Chriſt ſeeketh not praiſe in himſelf, but in our ſalvation.

28 But he ſaid, Yea, rather bleſſed are they that heare the word of God, & keep it.

29 ¶ * [8] And when the people were gathered thick together, he began to ſay, This is a wicked generation: They ſeek a ſigne, and there ſhall no ſigne be given them, but the ſigne of * Jonas the Prophet.

* Matth. 12.38,39

8 They that are fond deſirers of miracles, inſtead of miracles, ſhall receive puniſhment.

* Ionas 1.12.

30 For as Jonas was a ſigne to the Ninevites: So alſo ſhall the Son of man be to this generation.

31 * The Queen of the South ſhall riſe in judgement, with the men of this generation,

* 1. King. 10. 1. 2 Chron. 9.1

tion, and ſhall condemn them: for ſhe came from the utmoſt parts of the earth to hear the wiſdome of Solomon, and behold, a greater then Solomon is here.

32 The men of Nineveh ſhall riſe in judgement with this generation, and ſhall condemne it: for they *repented at the preaching of Jonas: and behold, a greater then Jonas is here.

33 ¶ *[9] No man when he hath lighted a candle, putteth it in a privie place, neither under a buſhell, but on a candleſtick, that they which come in, may ſee the light.

34 * The light of the bodie is the eye: therefore when thine eye is ſingle, then is thy whole body light: but if thine eye be evil, then thy body is dark.

35 Take heed therefore, that the light which is in thee, be not darkneſſe.

36 If therefore thy whole body ſhall be light, having no part dark, then ſhall all be light, even as when a candle doth light thee with the brightneſſe.

37 ¶[10] And as he ſpake, a certain Phariſee beſought him to dine with him: and he went in, and ſate down at table.

38 And when the Phariſee ſaw it, he marvelled that he had not firſt waſhed before dinner.

39 * And the Lord ſaid to him, Indeed ye Phariſees make clean the outſide of the cup, and of the platter: but the inward part is full of ravening and wickedneſſe.

40 Ye fooles, did not he that made that which is without, make that which is within alſo?

41 Therefore, give almes [f] of thoſe things which you have, and behold, all things ſhall be clean unto you.

42 [11] But wo be to you, Phariſees: for ye [g] tithe the mint and the rue, and [h] all manner herbs, and paſſe over [i] judgement, and the love of God: theſe ought ye to have done, and not to have left the other undone.

43 *[12] Wo be to you, Phariſees: for ye love the uppermoſt ſeats in the Synagogues, and greetings in the markets.

44 [13] Wo be to you, Scribes and Phariſes, hypocrites: *for ye are as graves which appear not, and the men that walk over them, perceive not.

45 ¶ [14] Then anſwered one of the Lawyers, and ſaid unto him, Maſter, thus ſaying thou putteſt us to rebuke alſo.

46 And he ſaid, Wo be to you alſo, ye Lawyers: * for ye lade men with burdens grievous to be born, and ye your ſelves touch not the burdens with one of your fingers.

47 [15] Wo be to you: * for ye build the ſepulchres of the Prophets, and your fathers killed them.

48 Truely [k] ye bear witneſſe, and allow the deeds of your fathers: for they killed them, and ye build their ſepulchres.

49 Therefore ſaid the wiſdome of God, I will ſend them Prophets and Apoſtles, and of them they ſhall ſlay, and [l] perſecute away,

50 That the blood of all the Prophets, [m] ſhed from the foundation of the world, may be required of this generation,

51 From the blood of * Abel unto the blood of * Zacharias, which was ſlain between the altar and the Temple: verely I ſay unto you, it ſhall be required of this generation.

52 [16] Wo be to you, Lawyers: for ye have [n] taken away the key of knowledge: ye entred not in your ſelves, and them that came in, ye forbad.

53 [17] And as he ſaid theſe things unto them, the Scribes and Phariſees began to urge him ſore, and to [o] provoke him to ſpeak of many things, 54 Laying wait for him, and ſeeking to catch ſome thing of his mouth, whereby they might accuſe him.

CHAP. XII.

1 The leaven of the Phariſees. 5 Who is to be feared. 8 To confeſſe Chriſt. 17 The parable of the rich man, whoſe land was very fertile. 22 Not to care for earthly things, 31 But to ſeek the kingdome of God. 39 The thief in the night. 51 Debate for the Goſpels ſake.

IN *[1] the mean time, there gathered together [a] an innumerable multitude of people, ſo that they trode one another: and he began to ſay unto his diſciples firſt, Take heed to your ſelves of the leaven of the Phariſees, which is hypocriſie.

2 *For there is nothing covered, that ſhall not be revealed, neither hid, that ſhall not be knowen.

3 Wherefore whatſoever ye have ſpoken in darkneſſe, it ſhall be heard in the light: and that which ye have ſpoken in the eare, in ſecret places, ſhall be preached on the houſes.

4 *[2] And I ſay unto you, my friends, be not afraid of them that kill the body, and after that are not able to do any more.

5 But I will [b] forwarn you, whom ye ſhall fear: fear him, which after he hath killed hath power to caſt into hell: yea, I ſay unto you, him fear.

6 Are not five ſparrowes bought for two farthings, and yet not one of them is forgotten before God?

7 *Yea, and all the hairs of your head are numbered: fear not therefore: ye are more of value then many ſparrows.

ſhall confeſſe me before men, him ſhall the Sonne of man confeſſe alſo before the Angels of God.

9 But he that ſhall denie me before men, ſhall be denied before the Angels of God.

10 * And whoſoever ſhall ſpeak a word againſt the Sonne of man, it ſhall be forgiven him: but unto him, that ſhall blaſpheme the holy Ghoſt, it ſhall not be forgiven.

11 *[4]And when they ſhall bring you into the Synagogues, and unto the rulers and Princes, take no thought how, or what thing ye ſhall anſwere, or what ye ſhall ſpeak.

13 [5] And one of the company ſaid unto him, Maſter, bid my brother devide the inheritance with me.

14 And he ſaid unto him, Man, who made me a iudge, or a divider over you?

15 Wherefore he ſaid unto them, Take heed, and beware of [c] covetouſnes: for though a man have abundance, yet his life [d] ſtandeth not in his riches.

16 [6] And he put forth a parable unto them, ſaying, The[e]ground of a certaine rich man brought forth fruits plenteouſly.

17 Therefore he [f] thought with himſelf, ſaying, What ſhall I doe, becauſe I have no roome, where I may lay up my fruits?

18 And he ſaid, This will I doe, I will pull downe my barnes, and build greater, and therein will I gather all my fruits, and goods.

19 And I will ſay to my ſoule, Soule, thou haſt much goods laid up for many yeares: live at eaſe, eate, drinke, and [g] take thy paſtime.

20 But God ſaid unto him, O foole, this night will they fetch away thy ſoule from thee: then whoſe ſhall thoſe things be which thou haſt provided?

21 So is he that gathereth riches [h] to himſelfe, and is not rich in God.

22 [7] And he ſpake unto his diſciples, Therfore I ſay unto you, * Take no thought for your life, what ye ſhall eate: neither for your body, what ye ſhall put on.

* Matth.10.19. Marke 13.11.

4 It is a great and hard conflict to confeſſe the trueth, yet he that can doe all things, and is almighty, will not be wanting to the weakeſt, which ſtrive and contend in his appointed time.

5 Chriſt would not for three cauſes be a iudge to divide an inheritance. Firſt, for that he would not foſter up and cheriſh the fleſhly opinion that the Iewes had of Meſſias: Secondly, for that he would diſtinguiſh ẏ civil governance, from the Eccleſiaſticall: Thirdly, to teach us to beware of them which abuſe the ſhew of the Goſpel, and alſo the name of miniſters, to their owne private commodities.

c By covetouſneſſe is meant that greedie deſire to get, commonly with other mens hurt.

d God is the authour and preſerver of mans life, goods are not.

6 There are none more mad, then rich men, which hang upon their riches.

29 Therefore aske not what ye ſhall eate, or what ye ſhall drink, neither [i] hang you in ſuſpenſe.

30 For al ſuch things the people of the world ſeeke for: and your Father knoweth that ye have need of theſe things.

32 [9] Feare not, little flock: for it is your Fathers pleaſure, to give you the kingdome.

33 ¶*[10] Sel that ye have, and [k] give almes: make you bags, which waxe not old, a treaſure that can never faile in heaven, where no thiefe commeth, neither moth corrupteth.

37 Bleſſed are thoſe ſervants, whom the Lord when he commeth ſhall find waking: verely I ſay unto you, he will gird himſelfe about, and make them to ſit downe at table, and will come forth, and ſerve them.

38 And if he come in the ſecond watch, or come in the third watch, and ſhall find them ſo, bleſſed are thoſe ſervants.

39 * Now underſtand this, that if the good man of the houſe had knowen at what houre the thiefe would have come, he would have watched, and would not have ſuffered his houſe to be digged through.

40 [12] Be ye alſo prepared therefore: for the Sonne of man will come at an houre when ye thinke not.

41 Then Peter ſaid unto him: Maſter, telleſt thou this parable unto us, or even to all?

42 And the Lord ſaid, Who is a faithfull ſteward and wiſe, whom the maſter ſhall make ruler over his houſhold, to give them their [l] portion of meat in ſeaſon?

43 Bleſſed is that ſervant, whom his maſter when he commeth, ſhall find ſo doing.

44 Of a trueth I ſay unto you, that he will make him ruler over all that he hath:

45 But if that ſervant ſay in his heart, My maſter doth deferre his comming, and ſhal begin to ſmit the ſervants, and maidens, and to eat, and drinke, and to be drunken,

46 The maſter of that ſervant will come

i A Metaphore taken of things that hang in the ayre, for they that are carefull for this worldly life, and hang upon the arme of man, have alwayes wanering and doubtful mindes, ſwaying ſometimes that way, and ſometimes that way.

k This is the figure Metonymia, for by this word, Almes, is meant that compaſſion, and friendlyneſſe of an heart, that tendreth the miſerie and poore eſtate of a man and ſheweth forth it ſelfe by ſome gift, and hath the name given it in the Greeke tong. of mercy and compaſſion: and therefore he is ſaid to give almes who parteth with ſome thing to another, and giveth to the poore, ſhewing thereby that he pitieth their poore eſtate.

Chap. XIII.

1 Of the Galileans, 4 And thoſe that were ſlaine under Siloam. 6 The fig tree that bare no fruit. 11 The woman vexed with the ſpirit of infirmitie, that is, with a diſeaſe brought on her by Satan, is healed, 19 The parable of the graine of muſtard ſeed. 21 Of leaven. 23 How few ſhall be ſaved. 32 Herode that fox.

There [1] were certaine men preſent at the ſame ſeaſon, that ſhewed him of the Galileans, whoſe blood [a] Pilate had mingled with their ſacrifices.

2 We muſt not reioyce at the juſt puniſhment of others but rather be inſtructed thereby to repentance.

2 And Jeſus anſwered, and ſaid unto them, Suppoſe ye, that theſe Galileans were greater ſinners then all the other Galileans, becauſe they have ſuffered ſuch things?

3 I tell you, nay: but except ye amend your lives, ye ſhall likewiſe periſh.

4 Or thinke you that thoſe eighteene, vpon whom the tower in [b] Siloam fell, and ſlew them, were ſinners above all men that dwell in Ieruſalem?

5 I tell you, nay: but except ye amend your lives, ye ſhall all likewiſe periſh.

6 ¶ [2] He ſpake alſo this parable, A certaine man had a figge tree planted in his vineyard: and he came and ſought fruit thereon, and found none.

7 Then ſaid he to the dreſſer of his vineyard, Behold, theſe three years have I come and ſought fruit of this fig tree, and find none: cut it downe: why keepeth it alſo the ground [c] barren?

8 And he anſwered, and ſaid unto him, Lord, let it alone this yeare alſo, till I dig round about it, and dung it.

9 And if it beare fruit, well: if not, then after thou ſhalt cut it downe.

10 ¶ [3] And he taught in one of the Synagogues on the Sabbath day.

11 And behold, there was a woman which had a [d] ſpirit of infirmitie eighteene yeares, and was bowed together, and could not lift up her ſelfe in any wiſe.

12 When Jeſus ſaw her, he called her to him, and ſaid to her, Woman, thou art [e] looſed from thy diſeaſe.

13 And he laid his hands on her, and immediatly ſhe was made ſtraight againe, and glorified God.

14 [4] And the [f] ruler of the Sinagogue anſwered with indignation, becauſe that Jeſus healed on the Sabath day, and ſaid unto the people, There are ſix dayes in which men ought to worke: in them therefore come and be healed, and not on the Sabbath day.

15 Then anſwered him the Lord, and ſaid, Hipocrite, doth not each one of you on the Sabath day looſe his oxe or his aſſe from the ſtall, and leade him away to the water?

16 And ought not this daughter of Abraham, whom Satan had bound, lo eighteene yeares, be looſed from this bond on the Sabbath day?

17 And when he ſaid theſe things, all his aduerſaries were aſhamed: but all the people rejoyced at all the exellent things, that were done by him.

18 ¶ * Then ſaid hee, What is the kingdome of God like? or whereto ſhall I compare it?

19 [5] It is like a graine of muſtard ſeede, which

4 And they held their peace. Then he took him, and healed him, and let him goe,

6 And they could not anſwer him again to thoſe things.

2 The reward of pride is ignominy: and the reward of true modeſtie is glory.

7 ¶ [2] He ſpake alſo a parable to the gueſts, when he marked how they choſe out the chief roomes, and ſaid unto them,

8 When thou ſhalt be bidden of any man to a wedding, ſet not thy ſelf down in the chiefeſt place, leſt a more honourable man then thou, be bidden of him.

13 But when thou makeſt a feaſt, call the poore, the maimed, the lame, & the blind,

14 And thou ſhalt be bleſſed, becauſe they cannot recompenſe thee: for thou ſhalt be recompenſed at the reſurrection of the juſt.

15 ¶ Now when one of them that ſate at table heard theſe things, he ſaid unto him, Bleſſed is he that eateth bread in the kingdome of God.

* Matth. 22. 2. Revel. 19. 9.

18 [4] But they all with [b] one minde began to make excuſe: The firſt ſaid unto him, I have bought a Farm, and I muſt needs go out & ſee it: I pray thee have me excuſed.

[4] The moſt part, even of them, to whom God hath revealed himſelf, are ſo mad, that ſuch helps as they have received of God, they willingly turn into lets and hinderances.

[b] As of ſet purpoſe, and a thing agreed upon before: for though they alledge ſeverall cauſes, yet all of them agree in this, that they have their excuſes, that they may not come to Supper.

19 And another ſaid, I have bought five yoke of oxen, and I go to proove them: I pray thee have me excuſed.

20 And another ſaid, I have married a wife, and therefore I cannot come.

21 So that ſervant returned, and ſhewed his maſter theſe things. Then was the good man of the houſe angry, and ſaid to his ſervant, Go out quickly into the [c] ſtreets and lanes of the city, and bring in hither the poore, and the maimed, and the halt, and the blinde.

[c] VVide and broad quarters.

22 And the ſervant ſaid, Lord, it is done as thou haſt commanded, and yet there is roome.

23 Then the maſter ſaid to the ſervant, Go out into the high wayes, and hedges, and compell them to come in, that mine houſe may be filled.

24 For I ſay unto you, that none of thoſe men which were bidden, ſhall taſte of my ſupper.

25 [5] Now there went great multitudes with him, and he turned & ſaid unto them,

CHAP. XV.

4 The parable of the loſt ſheep, 8 Of the groat, 11 And of the prodigall ſonne.

THen ‡ reſorted unto [1] him [a] all the Publicanes and ſinners to heare him.

‡ Or, drew neere.

[1] We muſt not deſpaire of them, which have gone out of the way, but according to the example of Chriſt, we muſt take great paines about them.

[a] Some Publicanes and ſinners came to Chriſt from all quarters.

2 Therefore the Phariſes and Scribes murmured, ſaying, He receiveth ſinners, and eateth with them.

3 Then ſpake he this parable to them, ſaying,

4 * What man of you having an hundreth ſheep, if he loſe one of them, doth not leave nintie and nine in the wildernes, & go after that which is loſt, untill he find it?

* Matth. 18. 12.

5 And when he hath found it, he layeth it on his ſhoulders with joy.

6 And when he cometh home, he calleth together his friends, and neighbours, ſaying unto them, Rejoyce with me: for I have found my ſheep which was loſt.

7 I ſay unto you, that likewiſe joy ſhall be in heaven for one ſinner that converteth, more then for ninetie and nine juſt men, which need none amendment of life.

8 Either what woman having ten groats, if ſhe loſe one groat, doth not light a candle, and ſweep the houſe, and ſeek diligently till ſhe finde it?

9 And when ſhe hath found it, ſhe calleth her friends, and neighbours, ſaying, Rejoyce with me: for I have found the groat which I had loſt.

10 Likewiſe I ſay unto you, there is joy in the preſence of the Angels of God, for one ſinner that converteth.

11 ¶ [2] He ſaid moreover, A certain man had two ſonnes,

[2] Men by their voluntary falling from God, having ſpoyled thēſelves of the benefits which they received of him, caſt themſelves headlong into infinite calamities: but God of his ſingular goodneſſe, offering himſelf freely to them, whom he called to repentance, through yͤ greatneſſe of their miſerie, wherwith they were tamed, doth not onely gently receive them, but alſo enricheth them with farre greater gifts, & bleſſeth them with the chiefeſt bliſſe.

12 And the younger of them ſaid to his father, Father, give me the portion of the goods that falleth to me. So he divided unto them his ſubſtance.

13 So not many dayes after, when the yonger ſonne had gathered all together, he took his journey into a farre countrey, and there he waſted his goods with riotous living.

14 Now when he had ſpent all, there aroſe a great dearth throughout that land, and he began to be in neceſſitie.

15 Then he went and clave to a citizen of that countrey, and he ſent him to his farm, to feed ſwine.

16 And he would faine have filled his belly with the husks, that the ſwine ate: but no man gave them him.

17 [3] Then he came to himſelf, and ſaid, How many hired ſervants at my fathers have bread enough, and I die for hunger?

[3] The beginning of repentance is yͤ acknowledging of yͤ mercie of God, which ſtirreth us to hope well.

18 I will riſe and go to my father, and ſay unto him, Father, I have ſinned againſt [b] heaven, and before thee,

[b] Againſt God, becauſe he is ſaid to dwell in heaven.

19 And am no more worthy to be called thy ſonne: make me as one of thy hired ſervants.

20 So he aroſe and came to his father, and when he was yet a great way off, his father

him, and had compaſſion, and ranne and fell on his neck, and kiſſed him.

21 [4] And the ſon ſaid unto him, Father, I have ſinned againſt heaven, and before thee, and am no more worthy to be called thy ſonne.

[4] In the true repentance there is a feeling of our ſinnes joyned with ſorow and ſhame, from whence ſpringeth a confeſſion, after which followeth forgiveneſſe.

22 Then the father ſaid to his ſervants, Bring forth the beſt robe, and put it on him, and put a ring on his hand, and ſhooes on his feet,

23 And bring the fat calfe, and kill him, and let us eate, and be merrie:

24 For this my ſonne was dead, and is alive again: and he was loſt, but he is found. And they began to be merrie.

25 [5] Now the elder brother was in the field, and when he came and drew neere to the houſe, he heard melodie and dancing.

[5] Such as truely feare God, deſire to have all men to be their fellowes.

26 And called one of his ſervants, and asked what thoſe things meant.

27 And he ſayd unto him, Thy brother is come, and thy father hath killed the fat Calfe, becauſe he hath received him ſafe and ſound.

28 Then he was angry, and would not goe in: therefore came his father out and intreated him.

29 But he anſwered, and ſayd to his father, Loe, theſe many yeares have I done thee ſervice, neither brake I at any time thy commandement, and yet thou never gaveſt me a Kidde, that I might make merrie with my friends.

30 But when this thy ſonne was come, which hath devoured thy goods with harlots, thou haſt for his ſake killed the fat calf.

31 And he ſaid unto him, Sonne, thou art ever with me, and all that I have, is thine.

It was meet that we ſhould make merrie, and be glad: for this thy brother was dead, and is alive againe: and he was loſt, but he is found.

CHAP. XVI.

1 The parable of the ſteward accuſed to his maſter. 13 To ſerve two maſters. 16 The Law and the Prophets. 19 Of Dives and Lazarus.

AND he ſaid alſo unto his Diſciples, [1] There was a certain rich man, which had a ſteward, and he was accuſed unto him, that he waſted his goods.

[1] Seeing that men oftentimes purchaſe friendſhip to themſelves, by other mens coſts, it is ſhame for us, if with a free and liberall beſtowing of the goods which the Lord hath given us, to that purpoſe we doe not pleaſe him; nor procure the good wil of our neighbours, ſeeing that by this only meanes, riches, which are often times occaſions of ſinne, are turned to another end and purpoſe.

2 And he called him, and ſayd unto him, How is it that I heare this of thee? Give an accounts of thy ſtewardſhip: for thou mayeſt be no longer ſteward.

3 Then the ſteward ſaid within himſelfe, What ſhall I doe? for my maſter taketh away from me the ſtewardſhip: I cannot dig, and to beg I am aſhamed.

4 I know what I will doe, that when I am put out of the ſtewardſhip, they may receive me into their houſes.

5 Then called he unto him every one of his maſters debtors, and ſaid unto the firſt, How much oweſt thou unto my maſter?

6 And he ſaid, An hundreth meaſures of oyle. And he ſaid unto him, Take thy writing, and ſit down quickly, and write fiftie.

7 Then ſaid he to another, How much oweſt thou? and he ſaid, An hundred meaſures of wheat. Then he ſaid to him, Take thy writing, and write fourescore.

8 And the Lord commended [a] the uniuſt ſteward, becauſe he had don wiſely. Wherefore the [b] children of this world are in their generation wiſer then the children of light.

9 And I ſay unto you, Make you friends with the riches of [c] iniquitie, that when ye ſhall want, they may receive you into everlaſting [d] habitations.

10 [2] He that is faithfull in the leaſt, he is alſo faithfull in much: and he that is unjuſt in the leaſt, is unjuſt alſo in much.

11 If then ye have not been faithfull in the wicked riches, who will truſt you in the [e] true treaſure?

12 And if ye have not been faithfull in [f] another mans goods, who ſhall give you that which is yours?

13 * [3] No ſervant can ſerve two maſters: for either he ſhall hate the one, and love the other: or elſe he ſhall leane to the one, and deſpiſe the other. Ye cannot ſerve God and riches.

14 Al theſe things heard the Phariſes alſo which were covetous, & they ſcoffed at him

15 [4] Then he ſaid unto them, Ye are they which juſtifie your ſelves before men: but God knoweth your hearts: for that which is highly eſteemed among men, is abomination in the ſight of God.

16 * [5] The Law and the Prophets endured untill Iohn: and ſince that time the kingdom of God is preached, and every man preſſeth into it.

17 *Now it is more eaſie that heaven and earth ſhould paſſe away, then that one title of the Law ſhould fall.

18 ¶ * Whoſoever putteth away his wife, and marrieth another, committeth adulterie: and whoſoever marrieth her that is [g] put away from her husband, committeth adulterie.

19 ¶ [6] There was a certain rich man, which was clothed in [h] purple and fine linnen, and fared wel and delicately every day.

20 Alſo there was a certaine begger named Lazarus, which was layd at his gate full of ſores, 21 And deſired to be refreſhed with the crumbes that fell from the rich mans table: yea, and the dogs came and licked his ſores.

22 And it was ſo that the begger died, and was caried by the Angels into Abra-

[a] This parable doth not approove the ſtewards naughty dealing, for it was very theft: but parables are ſet forth, to ſhew a thing covertly, and as it were, under a figure to repreſent the trueth, though it agree not thorowly with the matter it ſelfe: ſo that Chriſt meaneth by this parable, to teach us, that worldly men are more heedie in the affaires of this world, then the children of God are careful for everlaſting life.

[b] Men that are given to this preſent life, contrary to whom the children of light are ſet. S. Paul calleth thoſe ſpirituall, and the other carnall.

[c] This is not ſpoken of goods that are evil gotten, for God will have our bountifulneſſe to the poore, proceede and come from a good fountaine: but he calleth theſe riches of iniquitie, which men uſe naughtily.

[d] To wit, the poore Chriſtians: for they are the inheritours of theſe Tabernacles. Theo.

[2] We ought to take heed, that for abuſing our earthly function and dutie we be not deprived of heavenly gifts: for how can they uſe ſpirituall gifts aright, who abuſe worldly things?

[e] That is, heavenly and true riches: which are contrary to worldly and fletting ſubſtance.

[f] In wordly goods, which are called other mens, becauſe they are committed to our credit.

* Mat. 6.24.

[3] No man can love God and riches together.

[4] Our ſinnes are not hidden to God, although they be hidden to men, yea although they be hidden to them, whoſe ſinnes they are.

* Matth. 11.12.

[5] The Phariſes deſpiſed the excellencie of the new Covenant, in reſpect of the old, being ignorant of the perfect righteouſneſſe of the Law, and how falſe expounders they were of the Law, Chriſt declareth by the ſeventh Commandement.

* Matth. 5.18.

* Mat. 5.32. and 19.9. 1 Cor. 7.11.

[g] They that gather by this place, that a man cannot be married again after that he hath put away his wife for adultery, while ſhe liveth, reaſon fondly: for Chriſt ſpeaketh of thoſe divorces, which the Iewes uſed, of which ſort we cannot take the divorcement for adultery, for adulterers were put to death by the Law. [6] The end of the povertie and miſerie of the godly ſhall be everlaſting joy: as the end of the riotouſneſſe and cruell pride of the rich ſhall be everlaſting miſerie, without all hope of mercy.

[h] Very gorgeouſly and ſumptuouſly, for purple garments were coſtly, and this fine linnen, which was a kinde of linnen that came out of Achaia, was as deare as gold.

hams boſome. The rich man alſo dyed, and was buried.

23 And being in hell in torments, [i]he lift up his eyes, and ſaw Abraham a farre off, and Lazarus in his boſome.

24 Then he cryed, and ſaid, Father Abraham, have mercie on me, and ſend Lazarus, that he may dip the tip of his finger in water, and cool my tongue: for I am tormented in this flame.

25 But Abraham ſaid, Sonne, remember that thou in thy life time receivedſt thy pleaſures, and likewiſe Lazarus pains: now therefore is he comforted, and thou art tormented.

26 Beſides all this, between you and us there is a great gulf ſet, ſo that they which would go from hence to you, cannot: neither can they come from thence to us.

27 [7]Then he ſaid, I pray thee therefore, father, that thou wouldeſt ſend him to my fathers houſe, 28 (For I have five brethren) that he may teſtifie unto them, leſt they alſo come into this place of torment.

29 Abraham ſaid unto him, They have Moſes and the Prophets: let them heare them.

30 And he ſaid, Nay, father Abraham: but if one come to them from the dead, they will amend their lives.

31 Then he ſaid unto him, If they hear not Moſes and the Prophets, neither will they be perſwaded, though one riſe from the dead again.

Chap. XVII.

1 Offences. 3 We muſt forgive him that treſpaſſeth againſt us. 10 We are unprofitable ſervants. 11 Of the ten lepers. 20 Of the coming of the kingdome of heaven. 33 Falſe Chriſts. 36 After what manner Chriſts coming ſhall be.

THen ſaid he to his diſciples, *[1] It cannot be avoided, but that offences will come, but woe be to him by whom they come.

2 It is better for him that a great milſtone were hanged about his neck, and that he were caſt into the ſea, then that he ſhould offend one of theſe little ones.

3 ¶[2] Take heed to your ſelves: if thy brother treſpaſſe againſt thee, rebuke him: and if he repent, forgive him.

4 * And though he ſinne againſt thee ſeven times in a day, and ſeven times in a day turn again to thee, ſaying, It repenteth me, thou ſhalt forgive him.

5 ¶[3] And the Apoſtles ſaid unto the Lord, Increaſe our faith.

6 And the Lord ſaid, * If ye had faith, as much as is [a] a grain of muſtard ſeed, and ſhould ſay unto this mulbery tree, Pluck thy ſelf up by the roots, and plant thy ſelf in the ſea, it ſhould even obey you.

7 ¶[4] Who is it alſo of you, that having a ſervant plowing, or feeding cattell, would ſay unto him by and by, when he were come from the field, Go, and ſit down at table?

8 And would not rather ſay to him, Dreſſe wherewith I may ſup, and gird thy ſelf, and ſerve me till I have eaten and drunken, and afterward eat thou, and drink thou?

9 Doth he thank that ſervant, becauſe he did that which was commanded unto him? I trow not.

10 [5] So likewiſe ye when ye have done all thoſe things, which are commanded you, ſay, We are unprofitable ſervants: we have done that which was our dutie to do.

11 ¶[6] And ſo it was when he went to Jeruſalem, that he paſſed thorow the mids of Samaria, and Galilee.

12 And as he entred into a certain town, there met him ten men that were lepers, which ſtood a farre off.

13 And they lift up their voices, and ſaid, Jeſus, Maſter, have mercie on us.

14 And when he ſaw them, he ſaid unto them, * Go, ſhew your ſelves unto the Prieſts. And it came to paſſe, that as they went, they were cleanſed.

15 Then one of them, when he ſaw that he was healed, turned back, and with a loud voice praiſed God,

16 And fell down on his face at his feet, and gave him thanks: and he was a Samaritane.

17 And Jeſus anſwered, and ſaid, Are there not ten cleanſed? but where are the nine?

18 There is none found that returned to give God praiſe, ſave this ſtranger.

19 And he ſaid unto him, Ariſe, go thy way, thy faith hath ſaved thee.

20 ¶[7] And when he was demanded of the Phariſees, when the Kingdome of God ſhould come, he anſwered them, and ſaid, The kingdome of God cometh not with [b] obſervation.

21 Neither ſhall men ſay, Lo here, or lo there: for behold, the Kingdome of God is [c] within you.

22 [8] And he ſaid unto the diſciples, The dayes will come, when ye ſhall deſire to ſee [d] one of the dayes of the Son of man, and ye ſhall not ſee it.

23 *[9] Then they ſhall ſay to you, Behold here, or behold there: but go not thither, neither follow them.

24 For as the lightning that lighteneth out of the one part under heaven, ſhineth unto the other part under heaven, ſo ſhall the Sonne of man be in his day.

25 But firſt he muſt ſuffer many things, and be reproved of this generation.

26 * [10] And as it was in the dayes of Noe,

[i] Heavenly and ſpirituall things are expreſſed and ſet forth under colours, and reſemblances fit for our ſenſes.

[7] Seeing that we have a moſt ſure rule to live by, laid forth unto us in the word of God, raſhly and vainly do men ſeek for other revelations.

* Matth. 18.7. Mark 9.42.

[1] The Church is of neceſſitie ſubject to offences, but the Lord will not ſuffer them unpuniſhed, if any of the leaſt be offended.

[2] Our reprehenſions muſt be juſt. & proceed of love and charitie.

* Matth. 18.21.

[3] God will never be utterly lacking to the godly (although he be not ſo perfectly with them, as they would) even in thoſe difficulties, which cannot be overcome by mans reaſon.

* Matth. 17.20.

[a] If you had no more faith, but the quantitie of the grain of muſtard ſeed.

[4] Seeing that God may challenge unto himſelf of right, both us and all that is ours, he can be debtour unto us for nothing, although we labour manfully even unto death,

[5] The moſt perfect keeping of the Law which we can performe, deſerveth no reward.

[6] Chriſt doth well even unto ſuch as will be unthankfull, but the benefits of God profit them onely to ſalvation, which are thankfull.

* Levit. 14.2.

[7] The kingdome of God is not marked of many, although it be moſt preſent before their eyes: becauſe they fondly perſwade themſelves, that it is joyned with ourward pompe.

[b] VVith any outward pompe and ſhew of maieſtie, to be known by: for there were otherwiſe many plain and evident tokens whereby men might have underſtood, that Chriſt was the Meſſias, whoſe kingdome was ſo long looked for: but he ſpeaketh in this place of thoſe ſignes which the Phariſees dreamed of, which looked for an earthly kingdome of Meſſias.

[c] You look about for Meſſias, as though he were abſent, but he is amongſt you in the midſt of you.

[8] We often times neglect thoſe things when they be preſent, which we afterward deſire when they are gone, but in vain.

[d] The time will come, that you ſhall ſeek for the Sonne of man with great ſorrow of heart, and ſhall not finde him.

* Matth 24.23. Mark 13.21.

[9] Chriſt forewarneth us, that falſe Chriſts ſhall come. and that his glory ſhall ſuddenly be ſpread farre and wide thorow the world, after that the ignominie of the croſſe is put out and extinguiſhed.

* Gen. 7.5. Matth. 24.38. 1 Pet. 3.20.

Noe, ſo ſhall it be in the dayes of the Sonne of man.

27 They ate, they dranke, they married wives, and gave in marriage unto the day that Noe went into the Arke: and the flood came, and deſtroyed them all.

28 * Likewiſe alſo, as it was in the dayes of Lot: they ate, they dranke, they bought, they ſold, they planted, they built.

* Gen.19.24.

29 But in the day that Lot went out of Sodome, it rained fire and brimſtone from heaven, and deſtroyed them all.

30 After theſe enſamples ſhall it bee in the day when the Son of man is revealed.

31 [11] At that day he that is upon the houſe, and his ſtuffe in the houſe, let him not come down to take it out: and he that is in the field, likewiſe, let him not turn back to that he left behind.

32 * Remember Lots wife.

33 * Whoſoever will ſeek to ſave his ſoule, ſhall loſe it: and whoſoever ſhall loſe it, ſhall [e] get it life.

34 * I tell you, in that night there ſhall be two in one bed: the one ſhall be received, and the other ſhalt be left.

[11] We muſt take good heed, that neither diſtruſt, nor the enticements of this world, nor any reſpect of friendſhip hinder us the leaſt that may be.

* Chap.9.24. Matth.10 39. Marke.8.35. Iohn.12.25.

35 Two women ſhall be grinding together, the one ſhall be taken, and the other ſhall be left.

CHAP. XVIII.

2 The parable of the unrighteous judge and the widow. 10 Of the Phariſe and the Publicane. 15 Children are of the Kingdome of heaven. 22 To ſell all and give to the poore. 28 The Apoſtles forſake all. 31 Chriſt fortelleth his death. 35 The blind man receiveth ſight.

AND [1] he ſpake alſo a parable unto them, to this end, that they * ought alwayes to pray, and not to [a] wax faint,

2 [b] Saying, There was a judge in a certain citie, which feared not God, neither reverenced man.

3 And there was a widow in that citie, which came unto him, ſaying, Doe me juſtice againſt mine adverſary.

4 And he would not of a long time: but afterward he ſaid with himſelfe, Though I feare not God, nor reverence man,

5 Yet becauſe this widow troubleth me, I will doe her right, leſt at the laſt ſhe come and [c] make me weary.

6 And the Lord ſaid, Heare what the unrigteous judge ſaith.

7 Now ſhall not God avenge his elect, which cry day and night unto him, yea, though [d] he ſuffer long for them.

[1] God will have us to continue in prayer, not to wearie us, but to exerciſe us, therefore we muſt ſo ſtrive with impatience, that long delay cauſe us not to breake off the courſe of our prayers.

* Rom.12.12. 1 Theſſ.5.17.

[a] Yeeld to afflictions and adverſities, as they doe which are out of heart.

[b] He doeth not compare things that are equall together, but the leſſe with the greater: If a man get his right at a moſt unrighteous judges hands, much more ſhall the prayers of the godly prevaile before God.

[c] VVord for word, beat me down with her blows, and it is a Metaphore taken of wreſtlers, which beat their adverſaries with their fiſts or clubs: ſo doe they that are importunate, beate the judges eares with their crying out, even as it were with blowes.

[d] Though he ſeeme ſlowe in revenging the iniuries done to his.

8 I tell you he will avenge them quickly: but when the Sonne of man commeth, ſhall he find faith on the earth?

9 ¶ [2] He ſpake alſo this parable unto certaine which truſted in themſelves that they were juſt, and deſpiſed other.

10 Two men went up into the Temple to pray: the one a Phariſe, and the other a Publicane.

11 [3] The Phariſe ſtood and prayed thus with himſelfe, O God, I thanke thee, that I am not as other men, extortioners, unjuſt, adulterers, or even as this Publicane.

12 I faſt twiſe in the weeke: I give tithe of all that ever I poſſeſſe.

13 But the Publicane ſtanding [e] afarre off, would not lift up ſo much as his eyes to heaven, but ſmote his breaſt, ſaying, O God, be mercifull to me a ſinner.

[2] Two things eſpecially make our prayers void and of none effect: confidence of our own righteouſhes, and the contempt of other: and an humble heart is contrary to both theſe.

[3] Although we confeſſe that whatſoever we have, we have it of God, yet are we deſpiſed of God, as proud and arrogant, if we put never ſo little truſt in our own works before God.

[e] Farre from the Phariſe in a lower place.

14 I tell you, this man departed to his houſe juſtified rather then the other: * for every man that exalteth himſelfe ſhall be brought low, and he that humbleth himſelfe ſhall be exalted.

* Chap.14.11. Matth.23.12.

15 ¶ * [f] They brought unto him alſo babes that he ſhould touch them. [4] And when his diſciples ſaw it, they rebukd them.

16 [5] But Ieſus [g] called them unto him, and ſaid, ſuffer the babes to come unto me, and forbid them not: for of ſuch is the kingdome of God.

17 [6] Verely I ſay unto you, whoſoever receiveth not the kingdome of God as a babe, he ſhall not enter therein.

18 * Then a certain ruler asked him, ſaying, Good Maſter, what ought I to doe, to inherit eternall life?

19 And Ieſus ſaid unto him, Why calleſt thou me good? none is good, ſave one, even God.

20 Thou knoweſt the commandments, * Thou ſhalt not commit adultery: Thou ſhalt not kill: Thou ſhalt not ſteale: Thou ſhalt not beare falſe witneſſe: Honour thy father and thy mother.

* Matth.19.13. Marke 10.13.

[f] The children were tender and yong, in that they were brought, which appeareth more evidently in that, that they were infants: which is to be marked againſt them that are enemies to the baptizing of children.

[4] To judge or thinke of Chriſt after the reaſon of our the fleſh, is the cauſe of infinite corruptions.

[5] The children alſo of the faitfull are comprehended in the free covenant of God.

[g] Them that caried the children, whom the diſciples drove away.

* Exod.20.13.

21 [7] And he ſaid, All theſe have I kept from my youth.

[7] The intiſement of riches carieth away many from the right way.

22 Now when Ieſus heard that, he ſaid unto him, Yet lackeſt thou one thing. Sell all that ever thou haſt, and diſtribute unto the poore, and thou ſhalt have treaſure in heaven, and come follow me.

23 But when he heard thoſe things, he was very heavy: for he was marveilous rich.

24 [8] And when Jeſus ſaw him very ſorowfull, he ſayd, With what difficultie ſhall they that have riches, enter into the Kingdome of God!

[8] To be both rich and godly, is a ſingular gift of God.

25 Surely it is eaſier for a Camell to goe through a needles eye, then for a rich man to enter into the kingdome of God.

26 Then ſayd they that heard it, And who then can be ſaved?

27 And he ſaid, the things which are unpoſſible with men, are poſſible with God.

9 They become the richeſt of all, which refuſe not to bee poore for Chriſts ſake.

29 [9] And he ſaid unto them, Verely I ſay unto you, there is no man that hath left houſe, or parents, or brethren, or wife, or children for the kingdome of Gods ſake, 30 Which ſhall not receive much more in this world, and in the world to come life everlaſting.

* Matth.20.17. Marke 10.32.

10 As ſure and certaine as perſecution is, ſo ſure is the glory which remaineth for the conquerours.

31 ¶ *[10] Then Jeſus took unto him the twelve, and ſaid unto them, Behold, we go up to Jeruſalem, and all things ſhall be fulfilled to the Sonne of man, that are written by the Prophets.

32 For he ſhall be delivered unto the Gentiles, and ſhall be mocked, and ſhall be ſpitefully intreated, and ſhall be ſpitted on.

33 And when they have ſcourged him, they will put him to death: but the third day he ſhall riſe again.

h Hereby we ſee how ignorant the diſciples were.

34 But they underſtood [h] none of theſe things, and this ſaying was hid from them, neither perceived they the things, which were ſpoken.

* Matth. 20.29. Marke 10. 46.

11 Chriſt ſheweth by a viſible miracle, that he is the light of the world.

35 ¶ *[11] And it came to paſſe, that as he was come neare unto Jericho, a certain blinde man ſate by the way ſide, begging.

36 And when he heard the people paſſe by, he asked what it meant.

37 And they ſaid unto him, that Jeſus of Nazareth paſſed by.

38 Then he cryed, ſaying, Jeſus the Son of David, have mercie on me.

12 The more ſtops and lets that Satan layeth in our way, even by them which profeſſe Chriſts Name, ſo much the more ought we to goe forward.

39 [12] And they which went before rebuked him that he ſhould hold his peace, but he cryed much more, O Son of David, have mercy on me.

40 And Jeſus ſtood ſtill, and commanded him to be brought unto him. And when he was come neere, he asked him, 41 Saying, what wilt thou that I do unto thee? And he ſaid, Lord, that I may receive my ſight.

42 And Jeſus ſaid unto him, Receive thy ſight: thy faith hath ſaved thee.

43 Then immediately he received his ſight, and followed him, praiſing God: and all the people, when they ſaw this, gave praiſe to God.

2 Zaccheus the publicane. 13 Ten pieces of money delivered to ſervants to occupie withall. 29 Ieſus entreth into Ieruſalem. 41 He foretelleth the deſtruction of the citie with tears. 45 He caſteth the ſellers out of the Temple.

1 Chriſt preventeth them with his grace eſpecially, which ſeemed to be furtheſt from it.

a The overſeer and head of the Publicanes, which were there together: for the Publicanes were divided into companies as we may gather by many places of Cicero his Orations.

NOw [1] when Jeſus entred and paſſed thorow Jericho,

2 Behold, there was a man named Zaccheus, which was the [a] chief receiver of the tribute, and he was rich.

3 And he ſought to ſee Jeſus, who he ſhould be, and could not for the preaſſe, becauſe he was of a low ſtature.

4 Wherefore he ran before and climbed up into a wilde figg-tree, that he might ſee him: for he ſhould come that way.

5 And when Jeſus came to the place, he looked up, and ſaw him, and ſaid unto him, Zaccheus, come down at once: for to day I muſt abide at thine houſe.

6 Then he came down haſtily, and received him joyfully.

2 The world forſaketh the grace of God, and yet is unwilling that it ſhould be beſtowed upon other.

7 [2] And when they all ſaw it, they murmured, ſaying, that he was gone in to lodge with a ſinfull man.

3 The example of true repentance, is knowen by the effect.

b By falſely accuſing any man: and this agreeth moſ fitly to the maſte of the cuſtomers perſon: for commonl they have this trad among them, whe they rob and ſpoyl the common weale, they have nothing i their mouthes, bu the profit of the common weale, and under that colour the play the theeves, inſomuch that if me reproove & goe abou to redreſſe their robberie, and ſpoyling they cry out, the common weale is hindred.

8 [3] And Zaccheus ſtood forth, and ſaid unto the Lord, Behold, Lord, the half of my goods I give to the poore: and if I have taken from any man by [b] forged cavillation, I reſtore him foure fold.

c Beloved of God, one that walketh i the ſteps of Abrahams faith: and we gather that ſalvatio came to that houſe becauſe they received the bleſſing a Abraham had, fo all of the houſhol were circumciſed.

9 Then Jeſus ſaid to him, This day is ſalvation come unto this houſe, foraſmuch as he is alſo become the [c] ſon of Abraham.

10 * For the Son of man is come to ſeek, and to ſave that which was loſt.

11 [4] And whiles they heard theſe things, he continued and ſpake a parable, becauſe he was neare to Jeruſalem, and becauſe alſo they thought that the Kingdome of God ſhould ſhortly appeare.

* Matth 25.14.

12 He ſaid therefore, * A certain Noble man went into a farre countrey, to receive for himſelf a kingdome, and ſo to come again.

5 There are thre ſorts of men in th Church: the on ſort fall from Chriſt, whom the ſee not: the other, which accordi to their vocation beſtow the gift which they hav received of God to his glory wit great paines an diligēce: the thir live idlely, and do no good As for th firſt, yͤ Lord, whe he commeth, wi juſtly puniſh them in his time: the other he will bleſſ according to th paines which they have taken: and a for the ſlouthful and idle perſou hee will puniſ them as the firſt.

13 [5] And he called his ten ſervants, and delivered them ten pieces of money, and ſaid unto them, Occupie till I come.

14 Now his citizens hated him, and ſent an ambaſſage after him, ſaying, We will not have this man to reigne over us.

15 And it came to paſſe, when he was come again, and had received his kingdome, that he commanded the ſervants to be called to him, to whom he gave his money, that he might know what every man had gained.

d This was a piec of money which th Grecians uſed, an was in value abo an hundred pen which is about te crownes.

16 Then came the firſt, ſaying, Lord, [d] thy piece hath increaſed ten pieces.

17 And he ſaid unto him, Well, good ſervant: becauſe thou haſt been faithfull in a very little thing, take thou authoritie over ten cities.

18 And the ſecond came, ſaying, Lord, thy piece hath increaſed five pieces.

19 And to the ſame he ſaid, Be thou alſo ruler over five cities.

6 Againſt the which ſpend thei life idely in deliberating, and o thewiſe, in contemplation.

20 [6] So the other came, and ſaid, Lord, behold thy piece, which I have laid up in a napkin:

21 For I feared thee, becauſe thou art a ſtrait man: thou takeſt up, that thou laieſt not down, and reapeſt that thou didſt not ſow.

22 Then he ſaid unto him, Of thine own mouth will I Judge thee, O evil ſervant, Thou kneweſt that I am a ſtraight man, taking up that I layed not down, and reaping that I did not ſow.

23 Wherefore then gaveſt not thou my money into the [e] banck, that at my coming I might have required it with vantage?

[e] To the bankers and changers.

24 And he ſaid to them that ſtood by, Take from him that piece, and give it to him that hath ten pieces.

25 (And they ſaid unto him, Lord, he hath ten pieces.)

26 * For I ſay unto you, that unto all them that have, it ſhall be given, and from him that hath not, even that he hath ſhall be taken from him.

28 ¶ And when he had thus ſpoken, [f] he went forth before, aſcending up to Jeruſalem.

[f] The diſciples ſtaggered and ſtayed at the matter, but Chriſt goeth on boldly, though death were before his eyes.

29 * [7] And it came to paſſe, when he was come neere to Bethphage, and Bethania, beſides the mount which is called the mount of Olives, he ſent two of his diſciples,

30 Saying, Goe ye to the town which is before you, wherein, aſſoon as ye are come, ye ſhall find a colt tied, whereon never man ſate: looſe him, and bring him hither.

31 And if any man ask you, why ye looſe him, thus ſhall ye ſay unto him, Becauſe the Lord hath need of him.

32 So they that were ſent, went their way, and found it as he had ſaid unto them.

33 And as they were looſing the Colt, the owners thereof ſaid unto them, Why looſe ye the Colt?

34 And they ſaid, The Lord hath need of him.

37 And when he was now come neere to the going down of the mount of Olives, the whole multitude of the diſciples began to rejoyce, and to praiſe God with a loud voice, for all the great works that they had ſeen, 38 Saying, Bleſſed be the king that commeth in the Name of the Lord: peace in heaven, and glory in the higheſt places.

39 [8] Then ſome of the Phariſees of the company ſaid unto him, Maſter, rebuke thy diſciples.

8 When they linger which ought to be the chiefeſt Preachers and ſetters forth of the kingdome of God he will raiſe up other extraordinarily in deſpight of them.

40 But he anſwered, and ſaid unto them, I tell you, that if theſe ſhould hold their peace, the ſtones would crie.

[k] The fit and commodious time is called the day of this Citie.

43 For the dayes ſhall come upon thee, that thine enemies ſhall caſt a trench about thee, and compaſſe thee round, and keep thee in on every ſide,

44 And ſhall make thee even with the ground, and thy children which are in thee, and they ſhall not leave in thee a ſtone upon a ſtone, becauſe thou kneweſt not [m] that ſeaſon of thy viſitation.

[m] That is, this very inſtant, wherein God viſited thee.

45 ¶ * [10] He went alſo into the Temple, and began to caſt out them that ſold therein, and them that bought.

CHAP. XX.

4 From whence Iohns Baptiſme was. 9 The wickedneſſe of the Prieſts is noted by the parable of the vineyard and the husbandmen. 21 To give tribute to Ceſar. 27 He convinceth the Sadduces denying the reſurrection. 41 How Chriſt is the Sonne of David.

AND * [1] it came to paſſe, that on one of thoſe dayes, as he taught the people in the Temple, and preached the Goſpel, the high Prieſts and the Scribes came upon him with the Elders,

* Matth. 21. 23. Marke 11. 27.

1 The Phariſes being overcome w^t^ the truth of Chriſts doctrine, move a queſtion about his outward calling, and are overcome by the witneſſe of their own conſcience.

2 And ſpake unto him, ſaying, Tell us, by what authoritie thou doeſt theſe things, or who is he that hath given thee this authoritie?

3 And he anſwered, and ſaid unto them, I alſo will ask you one thing: tell me therefore:

4 The baptiſme of John, was it from heaven, or of men?

5 And they reaſoned within themſelves, ſaying, If we ſhall ſay, From heaven, he will ſay, Why then beleeved ye him not?

6 But if we ſhall ſay, of men, all the people will ſtone us: for they be perſwaded that John was a Prophet.

7 Therefore they anſwered, that they could not tell whence it was.

8 Then Jeſus ſaid unto them, Neither tell I you, by what authoritie I do theſe things.

9 ¶ * [2] Then began he to ſpeak to the people this parable, A certain man planted a vineyard, and let it forth to huſbandmen: and went into a ſtrange countrey, for a great time.

* Matth. 21. 33. Marke 12. 1. Iſai. 5. 1. Ier. 2. 21.

2 It is no new thing to have them the chiefeſt enemies of Chriſt and his ſervants, which are converſant in the very Sanctuary of Gods holy place, but at length they ſhall nor eſcape unpuniſhed.

10 And at the time convenient he ſent a ſervant to the huſbandmen, that they ſhould ſhould give him of the fruit of the vineyard: but the huſbandmen did beat him, and ſent him away emptie.

11 Again he ſent yet another ſervant: and they did beate him, and foule intreated him, and ſent him away emptie.

12 Moreover he ſent the third, and him they wounded, and caſt out.

13 Then ſaid the Lord of the vineyard, What ſhall I do? I will ſend my beloved ſonne: it may be that they will do reverence, when they ſee him.

14 But when the huſbandmen ſaw him, they reaſoned with themſelves, ſaying, This is the heire: come, let us kill him, that the inheritance may be ours.

15 So they caſt him out of the vineyard, and killed him. What ſhall the Lord of the vineyard therefore do unto them?

16 He will come and deſtroy theſe huſbandmen, and will give out his vineyard to others. But when they heard it, they ſaid, God forbid.

17 ¶ And he beheld them, and ſaid, What meaneth this then that is written, * The ſtone that the builders refuſed, that is made the head of the corner?

* Pſal. 118.22. Iſai. 28. 16. Acts 4. 11. Rom. 9. 33. 1 Pet. 2. 8.

18 Whoſoever ſhall fall upon that ſtone, ſhall be broken: and on whomſoever it ſhall fall, it will grinde him to powder.

19 Then the high Prieſts, and the Scribes the ſame houre went about to lay hands on him: (but they feared the people) for they perceived that he had ſpoken this parable againſt them.

20 * [3] And they [a] watched him, and ſent forth [b] ſpies, which ſhould faine themſelves juſt men, [c] to take him in his talk, and to deliver him unto the power and [d] authoritie of the governour.

21 And they asked him, ſaying, Maſter, we know that thou ſayeſt, and teacheſt right, neither doſt thou accept [e] mans perſon, but teacheſt the way of God truly.

22 Is it lawfull for us to give Ceſar tribute or no?

23 But he perceived their [f] craftineſſe, and ſaid unto them, Why tempt ye me?

24 Shew me a peny. Whoſe image and ſuperſcription hath it? They anſwered, and ſaid, Ceſars.

25 Then he ſaid unto them, * Give then unto Ceſar the things which are Ceſars, and to God thoſe which are Gods.

* Matth. 22. 16. Marke 12. 13.

3 The laſt refuge that falſe prophets have to deſtroy the true Prophets, is to lay ſedition and treaſon to their charge.

[a] A fit time to take him in.

[b] Whom they had deceitfully hired.

[c] That they might take ſome hold in his talke, and thereby forge ſome falſe accuſation againſt him.

[d] To put him to death.

[e] Thou art not mooved by favour of any man: and by perſon he meaneth outward circumſtances, which if a man have reſpect unto, he will not judge alike of them that are indeed alike.

[f] Craftineſſe is a certain diligence & wittineſſe to do evil, gotten by much uſe and great practiſe in matters.

* Rom. 13.7.

26 And they could not reproove his ſaying before the people: but they marvelled at his anſwer, and held their peace.

27 * [4] Then came to him certain of the Sadduces (which denie that there is any reſurrection) and they asked him,

28 Saying, Maſter, * Moſes wrote unto us, If any mans brother die having a wife, and he die without children, that his brother ſhould take his wife, and raiſe up ſeed unto his brother.

* Matth. 22. 23. Marke 12. 18.

4 The reſurrection of the fleſh is avouched againſt the Sadduces.

* Deut. 25. 5.

29 Now there were ſeven brethren, and the firſt took a wife, and he died without children.

30 And the ſecond took the wife, and he died childleſſe.

31 Then the third took her: and ſo likewiſe the ſeven died, and left no children.

32 And laſt of all the woman died alſo.

33 Therefore at the reſurrection, whoſe wife of them ſhall ſhe be? for ſeven had her to wife.

34 Then Jeſus anſwered, and ſaid unto them, The [g] children of this world marrie wives, and are married.

35 But they which ſhall be counted worthy to enjoy that world, and the reſurrection from the dead, neither marrie wives, neither are married.

36 For they can die no more, foraſmuch as they are equall unto the Angels, and are the ſonnes of God, ſince they are the [h] children of the reſurrection.

37 And that the dead ſhall riſe again, even * Moſes ſhewed it beſides the buſh, when he ſaid, The Lord is the God of Abraham, and the God of Iſaac, & the God of Jacob.

38 For he is not the God of the dead, but of them which live: for all [i] live unto him.

39 Then certain of the Scribes anſwered, and ſaid, Maſter, thou haſt well ſaid.

40 And after that, durſt they not aske him any thing at all.

[g] They are called here in this place, the children of this world, which live in this world: and not they, that wholly are given to the world, as before Chap. 16. 8. which are contrary to the children of light.

[h] That is, men partakers of the reſurrection: for as we ſay truly that they ſhall live in deed, which ſhall enjoy everlaſting bliſſe, ſo do they riſe indeed, which riſe to life, though if this word reſurrection be taken generally, it belongeth alſo to the wicked, which ſhall riſe to condemnation, which is not properly life, but death.

* Exod. 3. 6.

[i] That is, before him: a notable ſaying, the godly do not die, though they die here on earth.

41 * [5] Then ſaid he unto them, How ſay they that Chriſt is Davids ſonne?

42 And David himſelf ſaith in the book of the Pſalmes, * The Lord ſaid unto my Lord, Sit at my right hand,

45 ¶ Then in the audience of all the people he ſaid unto his diſciples,

46 * [6] Beware of the Scribes, which willingly go in long robes, and love ſalutations in the markets, and the higheſt ſeats in the aſſemblies, and the chief roomes at feaſts:

Chap. XXI.

1 The widows liberalitie above her riches. 5 Of the time of the deſtruction of the Temple, 19 And Ieruſalem. 25 The ſignes going before the laſt judgement.

And * [1] as he beheld, he ſaw the rich men, which caſt their gifts into the treaſurie.

2 And he ſaw alſo a certain poore widow, which caſt in thither two mites:

* Marke 12. 41.

1 The poore may exceed in bountie, and liberalitie, even the richeſt, according to Gods judgement.

3 And he ſaid, Of a truth I ſay unto you, that this poore widow hath caſt in more then they all.

4 For they all have of their ſuperfluity caſt into the offerings of God: but ſhe of her penurie hath caſt in all the living that ſhe had.

[2] The deſtruction of the Temple is foretold, that that true ſpirituall building may be built up whoſe head builders muſt, and ought, to be circumſpect.

[a] Theſe were things that were hanged upon walls and pillars.

6 Are theſe the things that ye look upon? the dayes will come wherein a ſtone ſhall not be left upon a ſtone, that ſhall not be thrown down.

7 Then they asked him, ſaying, Maſter, but when ſhall theſe things be? and what ſigne ſhall there be when theſe things ſhall come to paſſe?

8 * And he ſaid, Take heed, that ye be not deceived: for many will come [b] in my Name, ſaying, I am Chriſt, & the time draweth neere: follow ye not them therefore.

9 [3] And when ye heare of warres and ſeditions, be not afraid: for theſe things muſt firſt come, but the end followeth not by and by.

[3] The true Temple of God is built up even in ÿ midſt of incredible tumults, and moſt ſharpe miſeries, through invincible patience, ſo that the end thereof cannot be but moſt happie.

10 Then ſaid he unto them, Nation ſhall riſe againſt nation, and kingdome againſt kingdome,

* Matth. 24. 7. Marke 13. 8.

12 But before all theſe, they ſhall lay their hands on you, and preſecute you, delivering you up to the aſſemblies, and into priſons, and bring you before kings and rulers for my Names ſake.

13 And this ſhall turn to you, for [c] a teſtimoniall.

[c] This ſhall be the end of your troubles and afflictions, they ſhall be witneſſes both before God and man, as wel of the treacherous & cruell dealing of your enemies, as alſo of your conſtance: A noble ſaying, that the afflictions of the godly and holy men pertain to the witneſſe of the truth.

15 For I will give you a mouth, and wiſdome, where againſt all your adverſaries ſhall not be able to ſpeak nor reſiſt.

16 Yea, yee ſhall be betrayed alſo of your parents, and of your brethren, and kinſmen, and friends, and ſome of you ſhall they put to death.

21 Then let them which are in Judea, flee to the mountaines: and let them which are in the mids thereof, depart out: & let not them that are in the countrey, enter therein.

22 For theſe be the dayes of vengeance, to fulfill all things that are written.

23 But woe be to them that be with childe, and to them that give ſuck in thoſe dayes: for there ſhall be great diſtreſſe in this land, and [e] wrath over this people.

[e] By wrath thoſe things are meant, which God ſendeth when he is diſpleaſed.

24 And they ſhall fall on the [f] edge of the ſword, and ſhall be led captives into all nations, and Jeruſalem ſhall be troden under foot of the Gentiles, untill the time of the Gentiles be fulfilled.

[f] Word for word, mouth: for the Hebrews call the edge of a ſword, the mouth, becauſe the edge biteth.

26 [5] And mens hearts ſhall fail them for feare, and for looking after thoſe things which ſhall come on the world: for the powers of heaven ſhall be ſhaken:

[5] After divers tẽpeſts, the Lord will at the length plainly appeare to deliver his Church

30 When they now ſhoot forth, ye ſeeing them, know of your own ſelves, that ſummer is then neere.

31 So likewiſe ye, when ye ſee theſe things come to paſſe, know ye that the kingdome of God is neere.

32 Verily I ſay unto you, This age ſhall not paſſe, till all theſe things be done:

33 Heaven and earth ſhall paſſe away, but my words ſhall not paſſe away.

34 * Take heed to your ſelves, leſt at any time your hearts be oppreſſed with ſurfetting and drunkenneſſe, and cares of this life, and leſt that day come on you at unawares.

36 Watch therefore, and pray continually, that ye may be counted worthy to eſcape all theſe things that ſhall come to paſſe, and that ye may [i] ſtand before the Sonne of man.

[i] You may ſo appeare, that you will abide the countenance and ſentence of the Iudge without feare.

37 ¶ Now in the day time he taught in the Temple, and at night he went out, and abode in the mount that is called the mount of Olives.

38 And all the people came in the morning to him, to heare him in the Temple.

CHAP. XXII.

3 Iudas ſelleth Chriſt. 7 The Apoſtles prepare the Paſſeover. 24 They ſtrive who ſhall be chiefeſt. 31 Satan deſireth them. 35 Chriſt ſheweth that they wanted nothing. 42 He prayeth in the mount. 44 He ſweateth blood. 50 Malchus eare cut off and healed. 57. 58. 60. Peter denieth Chriſt thrice. 63 Chriſt is mocked and ſtrooken. 69 He confeſſeth himſelf to be the Sonne of God.

NOw* the [1] feaſt of unleavened bread drew neere, which is called the Paſſeover.

2 And the high Prieſts and Scribes ſought how they might kill him: for they feared the people.

3 * [2] Then entred Satan into Judas, who was called Iſcariot, and was of the number of the twelve.

4 And he went his way, and communed with the high Prieſts and [a] captaines, how he might betray him to them.

5 So they were glad, and agreed to give him money.

6 And he conſented, and ſought opportunitie to betray him unto them, when the people were [b] away.

7 ¶ * [3] Then came the day of unleavened bread, when the Paſſeover [c] muſt be ſacrificed.

8 And he ſent Peter and John, ſaying, Go and prepare us the [d] Paſſeover, that we may eate it.

9 And they ſaid unto him, Where wilt thou that we prepare it?

10 Then he ſaid unto them, Behold, when ye be entred into the city, there ſhall a man meet you, bearing a pitcher of water: follow him into the houſe that he entreth in,

11 And ſay unto the good man of the houſe, The Maſter ſayth unto thee, where is the lodging where I ſhall eate my Paſſeover with my diſciples?

12 Then he ſhall ſhew you a great high chamber trimmed: there make it ready.

13 So they went, and found as he had ſaid unto them, & made ready the Paſſeover.

14 * [4] And when the [e] houre was come, he ſat down, and the twelve Apoſtles with him.

15 Then he ſaid unto them, I have earneſtly deſired to eat this Paſſeover with you, before I [f] ſuffer.

16 For I ſay unto you, Henceforth I will not eate of it any more, untill it be fulfilled in the kingdome of God.

17 And he took the cup, and gave thanks, and ſaid, Take this, and divide it among you.

18 For I ſay unto you, I will not drinke of the fruit of the vine, untill the kingdome of God be come.

19 * [5] And he tooke bread, and when he had given thanks, he brake it, and gave to them, ſaying, This is my body, which is given for you: doe this in remembance of me.

20 Likewiſe alſo after ſupper he took the cup, ſaying, This [g] cup is [h] that new Teſtament in my blood, which is ſhed for you.

[5] Chriſt eſtabliſheth his new Covenant, and his communicating with us with new ſignes

[g] Here is a double Metonymia: for firſt, the veſſel is taken for that which is contained in the veſſell, as the cup, for the wine which is within the cup. Then the wine is called the Covenant or Teſtament, whereas indeed it is but the ſigne of the Teſtament, or rather of the blood of Chriſt whereby the Teſtament was made: neither is it a vain ſigne, although it be not all one with the thing that it repreſenteth.

22 [7] And truly the Sonne of man goeth as it is appointed: but woe be to that man, by whom he is betrayed.

23 Then they began to enquire among themſelves, which of them it ſhould be, that ſhould do that.

24 ¶ * [8] And there aroſe alſo a ſtrife among them, which of them ſhould ſeem to be the greateſt.

25 But he ſaid unto them, The Kings of the Gentiles reigne over them, and they that beare rule over them, are called [k] bountifull.

26 But ye ſhall not be ſo: but let the greateſt among you be as the leaſt: and the chiefeſt as he that ſerveth.

27 For who is greater, he that ſitteth at table, or he that ſerveth? Is not he that ſitteth at table? And I am among you as he that ſerveth.

28 [9] And ye are they which have continued with me in my temptations.

29 Therefore I appoint unto you a kingdome, as my father hath appointed unto me,

33 * [12] And he ſaid unto him, Lord, I am ready to go with thee into priſon, and to death.

34 But he ſaid, I tell thee, Peter, the cock ſhall not crow this day, before thou haſt thrice denied that thou kneweſt me.

35 ¶ And he ſaid unto them, * When I ſent you without bag, and ſcrip, and ſhooes, lacked ye any thing? And they ſaid, Nothing.

36 [m] Then he ſaid to them, But now he that hath a bag, let him take it, and likewiſe a ſcrip: and he that hath none, let him ſell his coat, and buy a ſword,

37 For I ſay unto you, That yet the ſame which is written, muſt be performed in me, *Even with the wicked was he numbred: for doubtleſſe thoſe things which are written of me, have an end.

47 ¶ * [16] And while he yet ſpake, behold, a company, and he that was called Judas one of the twelve, went before them, and came neare unto Jeſus to kiſſe him.

48 And Jeſus ſaid unto him, Judas, betrayeſt thou the Son of man with a kiſſe?

49 [17] Now when they which were about him, ſaw what would follow, they ſaid unto him, Lord, ſhall we ſmite with the ſword?

50 And one of them ſmote a ſervant of the high Prieſt, and ſtrook off his eare.

51 Then Jeſus anſwered, and ſaid, Suffer them thus farre: and he touched his eare, and healed him.

52 [18] Then Jeſus ſaid unto the high Prieſts, and captains of the Temple, and the Elders which were come to him, Be ye come out as unto a thief with ſwords and ſtaves?

54 ¶ * Then took they him, and led him, and brought him to the high Prieſts houſe. [19] And Peter followed a farre off.

55 * And when they had kindled a fire in the mids of the hall, and were ſet down together, Peter alſo ſat down among them.

56 And a cectain maid beheld him as he ſate by the fire, and having well looked on him, ſaid, This man was alſo with him.

57 But he denied him, ſaying, Woman, I know him not.

58 And after a little while, another man ſaw him, and ſaid, Thou art alſo of them. But Peter ſaid, Man, I am not.

59 And about the ſpace of an houre after, a certain other affirmed, ſaying, Verely, even this man was with him: for he is alſo a Galilean.

60 And Peter ſaid, Man, I know not what thou ſayeſt. And immediately while he yet ſpake, the cock crew.

61 Then the Lord turned back, and looked upon Peter: and Peter remembred the word of the Lord, how he had ſaid unto him, * before the cock crow, thou ſhalt deny me thrice.

62 And Peter went out, and wept bitterly.

63 ¶ [20] * And the men that held Jeſus, mocked him, and ſtrooke him.

65 And many other things blaſphemouſly ſpake they againſt him.

66 * [21] And aſſoon as it was day, the Elders of the people, and the high Prieſts, and the Scribes came together, and led him into their councill,

CHAP. XXIII.

1 He is accuſed before Pilate. 7 He is ſent to Herod, 11 He is mocked. 24 Pilate yeeldeth him up to the Iewes requeſt. 27 The women bewail him. 33 He is crucified. 39 One of the theeves revileth him. 43 The other is ſaved by faith 45 He dieth. 53 He is buried.

THen [1] the whole multitude of them aroſe, and led him unto Pilate.

2 And they began to accuſe him, ſaying, We have found this man [a] perverting the nation, * and forbidding to pay tribute to Ceſar, ſaying, That he is Chriſt, a King.

3 * And Pilate asked him, ſaying, Art thou the King of the Jewes? And he anſwered him, and ſaid, Thou ſayeſt it.

4 Then ſaid Pilate to the high Prieſts, and to the people, I finde no fault in this man.

5 But they were the more fierce, ſaying, He moveth the people, teaching throughout all Judea, beginning at Galilee, even to this place.

6 [2] Now when Pilate heard of Galilee, he asked whether the man were a Galilean.

7 And when he knew that he was of [b] Herods juriſdiction, he ſent him to Herod, which was alſo at Jeruſalem in thoſe dayes.

8 And when Herod ſaw Jeſus, he was exceedingly glad: for he was deſirous to ſee him of a long ſeaſon, becauſe he had heard many things of him, and truſted to have ſeen ſome ſigne done by him.

9 Then queſtioned he with him of many things: but he anſwered him nothing.

[b] This was Herod Antipas the Tetrarch, in the time of whoſe governance, which was almoſt the ſpace of 22. yeares, Iohn the Baptiſt preached, and was put to death, and Ieſus Chriſt alſo died and roſe again, and the Apoſtles began to preach, and divers things were done at Ieruſalem almoſt ſeven yeares after Chriſts death. This Herod was ſent into baniſhment to Lyons, about the ſecond yeare of Caius Ceſar.

10 The high Prieſts alſo and the Scribes ſtood forth, and accuſed him vehemently.

e Accompanied with his nobles and ſouldiers which followed him from Galilee.

11 And Herod with his [e]men of warre, deſpiſed him, and mocked him, and arayed him in white, and ſent him again to Pilate.

13 ¶[4] Then Pilate called together the high Prieſts, and the [d]rulers, & the people,

14 * And ſaid unto them, Ye have brought this man unto me, as one that perverted the people: and behold, I have examined him before you, and have found no fault in this man, of thoſe things whereof ye accuſe him.

15 No, nor yet Herod: for I ſent you to him: and lo, nothing worthy of death is done of him.

5 The wiſdome of the fleſh, of two evils chuſeth the leſſe, but God curſeth ſuch counſels.

16 [5] I will therefore chaſtiſe him, and let him looſe.

17 (For of neceſſitie he muſt have let one looſe unto them at the feaſt)

18 Then all the multitude cried at once, ſaying, Away with him, and deliver unto us Barabbas:

19 Which for a certain inſurrection made in the citie, and murther, was caſt into priſon.

20 Then Pilate ſpake again to them, willing to let Jeſus looſe.

21 But they cried, ſaying, Crucifie, crucifie him.

6 Chriſt is quit the third time, before he was condemned once, that it might appeare, how that our ſins were condemned in him.

22 [6] And he ſaid unto them the third time, But what evil hath he done? I finde no cauſe of death in him: I will therefore chaſtiſe him, and let him looſe.

23 But they were inſtant with loud voices, and required that he might be crucified: and the voices of them, and of the high Prieſts prevailed.

24 So Pilate gave ſentence, that it ſhould be as they required.

25 And he let looſe unto them him that for inſurrection and murther was caſt into priſon, whom they deſired, and delivered Jeſus to do with him what they would.

named Joſeph, which was a counſeller, a good man and a juſt:

51 (He did not conſent to the counſell, and deed of them) which was of Arimathea, a citie of the Jewes: who alſo himſelf waited for the kingdome of God.

52 He went unto Pilate, and asked the body of Jeſus,

53 And took it downe: and wrapped it in a linnen cloth, and laid it in a tombe hewen out of a rock, wherein was never man yet laid.

54 And that day was the Preparation, and the Sabbath [k]drew on.

55 [18] And the women alſo that followed after, which came with him from Galilee, beheld the ſepulchre, and how his body was laid.

56 And they returned, and prepared odours, and oyntments, and reſted the Sabbath day according to the commandment.

k Word for word, dawning, as new beginning, for the light of the former day drew toward the going downe, and that was the day of preparation for the feaſt, which was to be kept the day following.

18 Chriſt being ſet upon by the devill, and all his inſtruments, and being even in deaths mouth, ſetteth weake women in his fore-ward, minding ſtraight-way to triumph over thoſe terrible enemies, without any great endeavour.

Chap. XXIV

1 The women came to the ſepulchre. 9 They report that which they heard of the Angels unto the Apoſtles. 13 Chriſt doth accompany two going to Emmaus. 27 He expoundeth the Scriptures unto them. 39 He offereth himſelf to his Apoſtles to be handled. 49 He promiſeth the holy Ghoſt. 51 He is carried up into heaven.

Now the *[1] firſt day of the week [a]early in the morning, they came to the ſepulchre, and brought the odours, which they had prepared, and certain women with them.

2 And they found the ſtone rolled away from the ſepulchre,

3 And went in, but found not the body of the Lord Jeſus.

4 And it came to paſſe, that as they were amazed thereat, behold, two men ſuddenly ſtood by them in ſhining veſtures.

5 And as they were afraid, and bowed down their faces to the earth, they ſaid to them, Why ſeek ye him that liveth among the dead?

6 He is not heere, but is riſen: remember * how he ſpake unto you, when he was yet in Galilee,

7 Saying, that the Sonne of man muſt be delivered into the hands of ſinfull men, and be crucifyed, and the third day riſe again.

8 And they remembred his words,

9 [2] And returned from the Sepulchre, and told all theſe things unto the Eleven, and to all the remnant.

10 Now it was Mary Magdalene, and Joanna, and Mary the mother of James, and other women with them, which told theſe things unto the Apoſtles.

11 But their words ſeemed unto them, as a fained thing, neither beleeved they them.

12 *[3] Then aroſe Peter, and ran unto the Sepulchre, and [b] looked in, and ſaw the linnen clothes laid by themſelves, and departed, wondring in himſelf at that which was come to paſſe.

13 ¶*[4] And behold, two of them went that ſame day to a town which was from Jeruſalem about threeſcore furlongs, called Emmaus.

14 And they talked together of all theſe things that were done.

15 And it came to paſſe, as they communed together, and reaſoned, that Jeſus himſelf drew neere, and went with them.

16 [c] But their eyes were holden, that they could not know him.

17 And he ſaid unto them, What manner of communications are theſe that ye have one to another as ye walk and are ſad?

18 And [d] the one (named Cleopas) anſwered, and ſaid unto him, Art thou onely a ſtranger in Jeruſalem, and haſt not known the things that are come to paſſe therein in theſe daies?

19 And he ſaid unto them, What things? And they ſaid unto him, Of Jeſus of Nazareth which was a Prophet, mighty in deed and in word before God, and all the people.

20 [5] And how the high Prieſts, and our rulers delivered him to be condemned to death, and have crucifyed him.

21 But we truſted that it had been he that ſhould have delivered Iſrael: and as touching all theſe things, to day is the third day, that they were done.

22 Yea, and certain women among us made us aſtonied, which came early unto the ſepulchre,

23 And when they found not his body, they came, ſaying, that they had alſo ſeen a viſion of Angels, which ſaid, that he was alive.

24 Therefore certain of them which were with us, went to the ſepulchre, and found it euen ſo as the women ſaid, but him they ſaw not.

25 Then he ſaid unto them, O fools and ſlow of heart to beleeve all that the Prophets have ſpoken.

26 Ought not Chriſt to have ſuffered theſe things, and to enter into his glory?

27 And he began at Moſes, and at all the Prophets, and interpreted unto them all the Scriptures the things which were written of him.

28 And they drew neere unto the towne which they went to, but he made as though he would have gone further.

29 But they conſtrained him, ſaying, Abide with us: for it is towards night, and the day is far ſpent. So he went in to tarrie with them.

30 And it came to paſſe, as he ſate at table with them: he tooke the bread, and bleſſed, and brake it, and gave it to them.

31 Then their eyes were opened, and 6 The Lord himſelf ſheweth by certain and neceſſarie ſignes, that he was riſen again, and that in the ſame body which he took upon him.

g Divers and doubtfull thoughts which fall oft into mens heads, when any ſtrange thing falleth out, whereof there is no great likelihood.

36 ¶ * 6 And as they ſpake theſe things, Jeſus himſelf ſtood in the mids of them, and ſaid unto them, Peace be to you.

37 But they were abaſhed and afraid, ſuppoſing that they had ſeen a ſpirit.

38 Then he ſaid unto them, Why are ye troubled? and wherefore do [g] doubts ariſe in your hearts?

39 Behold mine hands and my feet: for it is I my ſelf, handle me, and ſee: for a ſpirit hath not fleſh and bones, as ye ſee me have.

40 And when he had thus ſpoken, he ſhewed them his hands and feet.

41 And while they yet beleeved not for joy, and wondered, he ſaid unto them, Have ye here any meat?

42 And they gave him a piece of a broiled fiſh, and of an hony combe:

43 And he took it, and did eat before them.

44 7 And he ſaid unto them, Theſe are the words, which I ſpake unto you, while I was yet with you, that all muſt be fulfilled which are written of me in the Law of Moſes, and in the Prophets, & in the Pſalmes.

7 The preaching of the Goſpel, which was promiſed to the Prophets, and performed in his time, is committed unto the Apoſtles: the ſumme whereof is, Repentance & remiſſion of ſinnes.

45 Then opened he their underſtanding, that they might underſtand the Scriptures, 46 And ſaid unto them, Thus it is written, and thus it behoved Chriſt to ſuffer, and to riſe again from the dead the third day.

47 And that repentance, and remiſſion of ſinnes ſhould be preached in his Name among all nations, [h] beginning at Jeruſalem.

48 Now ye are witneſſes of theſe things.

THE HOLY GOSPEL OF IESVS CHRIST, ACCORDING TO St. IOHN.

CHAP. I.

1 That Word begotten of God before all worlds, 2 And which was ever with the Father, 14 Is made man. 6. 7 For what end Iohn was ſent from God. 16 His preaching of Chriſts office. 19. 20 The record that hee bare given out unto the Prieſts. 40 The calling of Andrew, 42 of Peter, 43 Philip, 45 and Nathanael.

IN[1] the[a] beginning [b] was[c] that Word, and that Word was[d] with God, and that[e] Word was God.

2 This ſame was in the beginning with God.

3 *[2] All[f] things were made by it, and [g] without it [h] was made nothing that was made.

4 [i] In it[k] was life, and that life was[l] the light of men.

5 [3] And that light ſhineth in the darkneſſe, and the darkneſſe[m] comprehended it not.

6 ¶ *[4] There was a man ſent from God, whoſe name was Iohn.

7 This ſame came for a witneſſe, to beare witneſſe of that light, that all men [n] through him might beleeve.

8 Hee was not[o] that light, but was ſent to beare witneſſe of that light.

9 [5] This was[p] that true light, which lighteth every man that commeth into the world.

10 [q]He was in the world, and the world was * made by him: and the world knew him not.

11 He came [r] unto his owne, and his owne received him not.

12 [6]But as many as received him, to them he gave [ſ] prerogative to be the ſons of God, even to them that beleeve in his Name.

13 Which are born not of blood, nor of the[t] will of the fleſh, nor of the will of man, but of God.

14 *[7] And that Word was made[v] fleſh, and[x] dwelt among us, (and we * ſaw the [y] glorie thereof, [z] as the glorie of the onely begotten Sonne of the Father) [a] full of grace and truth.

15 ¶ [8] Iohn bare witneſſe of him, and cryed, ſaying, This was he of whom I ſaid, Hee that commeth[b] after me, was[c] before me: for he was better then I.

16 *[9] And of his fulneſſe have all we received: and[d] grace for grace:

17 For the Law was given by Moſes, but grace and truth came by Ieſus Chriſt.

18 [10]* No man hath ſeene God at any time: that onely begotten Sonne, which is in the[e] boſome of the Father, he hath[f] declared him.

19 ¶ [11] Then this is the record of Iohn, when the Iewes ſent Prieſts and Levites from Hieruſalem, to aſke him, Who art thou?

20 And he[g] confeſſed and[h] denyed not, and ſaid plainely, I* am not that Chriſt.

21 And they aſked him, What then? Art thou Elias? And he ſaid, [i]I am not. Art thou[k] that Prophet? And he anſwered, No.

22 Then ſaid they unto him, Who art thou, that we may give an anſwer to them that ſent us? What ſayeſt thou of thy ſelfe?

---

[1] The Son of God is of one, and the ſelfe ſame eternitie or everlaſtingneſſe, and of one and the ſelfe ſame eſſence or nature with the Father.

[a] From the beginning, as the Evangeliſt ſaith. 1 Epiſtle 1. 1. as though he ſaid, that the Word began not then to have his being, when God began to make all that was made: for the Word was even then when all things that were made, began to be made, and therefore he was before the beginning of all things.

[b] He had his being.

[c] This word That, pointeth out unto us a peculiar and choiſe thing above all other, and putteth a difference be tweene this Word, which is the Sonne of God, and the Lawes of God, which otherwiſe are alſo called the word of God.

[d] This word With, pointeth out the diſtinction of perſons unto us.

[e] This word (Word) is the firſt in order in the ſentence, and is that which the learned call (Subiectum) and this word (God) is the latter in order, and the ſame which the learned call (Prædicatum)

* Col. 1.16.

[2] The Sonne of God declareth that ſame his everlaſting Godhead, both by the creating of all things, and alſo by the preſerving of thẽ, and eſpecially, by the excellent gifts of reaſon and underſtanding, wherewith he hath beautified man above all other creatures.

[f] Paul expoundeth this place Col. 1.15. and 16. verſes.

[g] That is, as the Father did worke, ſo did the Sonne worke with him: for, he was fellow worker with him.

[h] Of all thoſe things which were made, nothing was made without him.

[i] That is, by him: and it is ſpoken after the maner of the Hebrewes, meaning thereby that by his force and working power, all life commeth to the world.

[k] To wit, even then, when all things are made by him: for elſe he would have ſaid, Life is in him, and not life was.

[l] That force of reaſon and underſtanding, which is kindled in our minds to acknowledge him, the authour of ſo great a benefit.

[3] The light of men is turned into darkeneſſe, but yet ſo, that there is cleareneſ enough to make them without excuſe.

[m] They could not perceive nor reach unto it, to receive any light of it, no, they did not ſo much as acknowledge him.

* Matth. 3. 1. marke 1 4. luke 3. 2.

[4] There is another more full manifeſtation of the Sonne of God, to the conſideration whereof men are in good time ſtirred up, even by Iohns voice, who is, as it were, the herault of Chriſt.

[n] Through Iohn.

[o] That light which we ſpake of, to wit, Chriſt, who onely can lighten our darkneſſe.

[5] When as the Son of God ſaw, that men did not acknowledge him by his works, although they were endued with underſtanding (which he had given to them all) he exhibited himſelfe unto his people, to be ſeene of them with their corporall eyes: yet neither did they ſo acknowledge him, nor receive him.

[p] Who onely and properly deſerveth to be called the light, for he ſhineth of himſelſe, and borroweth light of none.

[q] The perſon of the Word, was made manifeſt even at that time when the world was made.

* Hebr. 11.3.

[r] The Word ſhewed himſelfe againe, when hee came in the fleſh.

[6] The Sonne being ſhut out of the moſt of his people, and acknowledged but of a few, doeth regenerate them by his owne vertue and power, and receiveth them into that honour which is common to all the children of God, that is, to be the ſonnes of God.

[ſ] Hee vouchſafed to give them this prerogative, to take them to be his children.

[t] Of that groſſe and corupt nature of man which is throughout the Scriptures, ſet as enemie to the ſpirit.

* Matth. 1.16.

[7] That Sonne who is God from everlaſting tooke upon him mans nature, that one and the ſelfe ſame might be both God and man, which manifeſtly appeared to many witneſſes ẏ ſaw him, amongſt whom he was converſant, and unto whom by ſure and undoubted arguments he ſhewed both his natures.

[u] That is, man: ſo that the part is taken for the whole by the figure Synecdoche: for he tooke upon him all our whole nature, that is to ſay, a true body, and a true ſoule.

[x] For a ſeaſon, and when that was ended, he went up into heaven: for the word which he uſeth is taken from tents: and yet notwithſtanding his abſence from us in body is not ſuch, but that he is alwayes perſent with us, though not in fleſh, yet by the vertue of his ſpirit.

* Matt. 17. 2. 2 Pet. 1.17.

[y] The glory which hee ſpeaketh of here is that manifeſtation of Chriſt his maieſtie, which was, as it were laid open before our eyes when the Son of God appeared in the fleſh.

[z] This word (as) doeth not in this place betoken a likelineſſe, but the truth of the matter, for his meaning is this, that we ſaw ſuch a glory, as beſeemed and was meet for the true and only begotten Sonne of God, who is Lord and King over all the whole world.

[a] He was not onely a partaker of grace, and trueth, but was full of the very ſubſtance of grace and trueth.

[8] Iohn is a faithfull witneſſe of the excellencie of Chriſt.

[b] That is, He before whom I am ſent to prepare him the way: ſo that theſe words are referred to the time of his calling, and not of his age, for Iohn was ſixe moneths older then hee.

[c] This ſentence hath in it a turning of the reaſon, as we call it, as who ſhould ſay, a ſetting of that firſt, which ſhould be laſt, and that laſt which ſhould be firſt: for in plaine ſpeech this it is, Hee that commeth after me, is better then I am, for he was before me. The like kinde of turning the reaſon we find in Luke, 7.47. Many ſinnes are forgiven her, becauſe ſhee loved much, which is thus much to ſay, Shee loved much, becauſe many ſinnes are forgiven her.

* Coloſ. 1.10. and 2.9.

[9] Chriſt is the moſt plentifull fountaine of all goodneſſe, but then hee powred out his gifts moſt bountifully, when as hee exhibited and ſhewed himſelfe to the world.

[d] That is, grace upon grace, as a man would ſay, graces heaped one upon another.

[10] The true knowlege of God proceedeth onely from Ieſus Chriſt.

* 1 Tim. 6.16. 1 Iohn 4.12.

[e] Who is neereſt to his father, not onely in reſpect of his love towards him but by the bond of nature, and for that union or oneneſſe that is betweene them, whereby the Father and the Sonne are one.

[f] Reveiled him and ſhewed him unto us; whereas before hee was hid under the ſhadowes of the Law, ſo that the quickneſſe of the ſight of our minds was not able to perceive him: for whoſoever ſeeth him, ſeeth the Father alſo.

[11] Iohn is neither the Meſſias, nor like to any of the other Prophets, but is the herault of Chriſt who is now preſent.

[g] He did acknowledge him, and ſpake of him plainely and openly.

[h] This rehearſing of the one and the ſelfe ſame thing, though in divers words, is uſed much of the Hebrewes, and it hath great force, for they uſe to ſpeake one thing twiſe, to ſet it out more certainly and plainely.

* Actes 13. 25.

[i] The Iewes thought that Elias ſhould come againe before the dayes of Meſſias, and they tooke the ground of that their opinion out of Malac. 4. 5. which place is to be underſtood of Iohn. Matth. 11. 14. And yet Iohn denieth that he is Elias, anſwering them indeed according as they meant.

[k] They enquire of ſome great Prophet, and not of Chriſt, for Iohn denyed before that he is Chriſt, for they thought that ſome great Prophet ſhould be ſent like unto Moſes, wreſting to that purpoſe that place of Deut. 18. 15. which is to be underſtood of all the company of the Prophets and miniſters, which have beene, and ſhall be to the end, and eſpecially of Chriſt who is the head of all Prophets.

23 He ſaid, I am* the voice of him that cryeth in the wilderneſſe, Make ſtraight the way of the Lord, as ſaid the Prophet Eſaias.

24 [12] Now they which were ſent, were of the Phariſees.

25 And they asked him, and ſaid unto him, [l] Why baptizeſt thou then, if thou be not that Chriſt, neither Elias, nor that Prophet?

26 Iohn anſwerd them, ſaying, I baptize with water: but there is one [m] among you, whom ye know not:

37 * He it is that commeth after mee, which was before me, whoſe ſhooe latchet I am not worthy to unlooſe.

28 Theſe things were done in Bethabara beyond Iordan, where Iohn did Baptize.

29 ¶ [13] The next day Iohn ſeeth Ieſus comming unto him, and ſaith, Behold [n] that Lambe of God, which [o] taketh away the [p] ſinne of the world.

30 This is he of whom I ſaid, After me commeth a man, which was before me: for he was better then I,

31 And [q] I know him not: but becauſe he ſhould be declared to Iſrael, therefore am I come, baptizing whith water.

32 [14] So Iohn bare record, ſaying, I beheld * that Spirit come down from heaven, like a dove, and it abode upon him,

33 And I knew him not: but he that ſent me to baptize with water, hee ſaid unto me, upon whom thou ſhalt ſee the Spirit come downe, and tarie ſtill on him, that is he which baptizeth with the holy Ghoſt.

34 And I ſaw, and bare record that this is [r] that Sonne of God.

35 ¶ [15] The next day Iohn ſtood againe, and two of his diſciples:

36 [16] And he beheld Ieſus walking by, and ſaid, Behold that Lambe of God.

37 [17] And the two diſciples heard him ſpeak, and followed Ieſus.

38 Then Ieſus turned about, and ſaw them follow, and ſaid unto them, What ſeeke ye? And they ſaid unto him, Rabbi, (which is to ſay by interpretation, Maſter) [ſ] where dwelleſt thou?

39 He ſaid unto them, Come, and ſee. They came and ſaw where he dwelt, and abode with him that day: for it was about the [t] tenth houre.

40 Andrew, Simon Peters brother, was one of the two which had heard it of Iohn, and that followed him.

41 The ſame found his brother Simon firſt, and ſaid unto him, We have found that Meſſias, which is by interpration, that [v] Chriſt.

42 And he brought him to Ieſus, And Ieſus beheld him, and ſaid, Thou art Simon the ſonne of Iona: thou ſhalt be called Cephas, which is by interpretation, a ſtone.

43 ¶ The day following, Ieſus would goe into Galile, and found Philip, and ſaid unto him, Follow me.

44 Now Philip was of Bethſaida, the citie of Andrew and Peter.

45 [18] Philip found Nathanael, and ſaid unto him, We have found him of whom * Moſes did write in the Law, and the* Prophets, Ieſus that ſonne of Ioſeph, that was of Nazareth.

46 [19] Then Nathanael ſaid unto him, Can there any good thing come out of Nazereth? Philip ſaid to him, Come, and ſee.

47 [20] Ieſus ſaw Nathanael comming to him, and ſaid of him, Behold indeed an Iſraelite, in whom is no guile.

48 [21] Nathanael ſaid unto him, Whence kneweſt thou me? Ieſus anſwered, and ſaid unto him, Before that Philip called thee, when thou waſt under the figge tree, I ſaw thee.

49 Nathanael anſwered, and ſaid unto him, Rabbi, thou art that Sonne of God: thou art that King of Iſrael.

50 Ieſus anſwered and ſaid unto him, Becauſe I ſaid unto thee, I ſaw thee under the figtree, beleeveſt thou? thou ſhalt ſee greater things then theſe.

51 And he ſaid unto him, Verely, verely I ſay unto you, hereafter ſhall ye ſee heaven open, and the Angels of God * [x] aſcending, and deſcending upon that Sonne of man.

CHAP. II.

1 Chriſt turneth water into wine, 11 Which was the beginning of his miracles. 12 He goeth downe to Capernaum, 13 From thence he goeth up to Hieruſalem, 15 And caſteth the marchandiſe out of the Temple. 19 He foretelleth that the Temple, that is, his body ſhall be deſtroyed of the Iewes. 23 Many beleeve in him, ſeeing the miracles which hee did.

AND [1] the [a] third day, was there a marriage in Cana a towne of Galile, and the mother of Ieſus was there.

2 And Ieſus was called alſo, and his diſciples unto the marriage.

3 [2] Now when the wine failed, the mother of Ieſus ſaid unto him, They have no wine.

4 Ieſus ſaid unto her, Woman, what have I to doe with thee? mine [b] houre is not yet come.

5 His mother ſaid unto the ſervants, Whatſoever he ſaith vnto you, doe it.

6 And there were ſet there, ſix [c] waterpots of ſtone, after the maner of the purifying of the Iewes, conteining two or three [d] firkins a piece.

8 Then he ſaid unto them, Draw out now, and beare unto the governour of the feaſt. So they bare it.

9 Now when the governour of the feaſt had taſted the water that was made wine, (for he knew not whence it was, but the ſervants, which drew the water, knew) the governour of the feaſt called the bridegrome,

10 And ſaid unto him, All men at the beginning ſet forth good wine, and when men have [e] well drunk, then that which is worſe: but thou haſt kept back the good wine untill now.

11 This beginning of miracles did Jeſus in Cana, a town of Galile, and ſhewed forth his glory: and his diſciples beleeved on him.

12 After that, he went down into Capernaum, he and his mother, and his [f] brethren, and his diſciples: but they continued not many dayes there:

13 [3] For the Jewes Paſſeover was at hand. Therefore Jeſus went up to Jeruſalem.

14 [4] And he found in the Temple thoſe that ſold oxen, and ſheep, and doves, and changers of money, ſitting there.

15 Then he made a ſcourge of ſmall cords, and drave them all out of the Temple with the ſheep & oxen, and poured out the changers money, and overthrew the tables,

CHAP. III.

1 Chriſt teacheth Nicodemus the very principles of Chriſtian religion. 14 The ſerpent in the wilderneſſe. 23 Iohn Baptizeth, 27 And teacheth his, that he is not Chriſt.

THere [1] was now a man of the Phariſes, named Nicodemus, a [a] ruler of the Jewes.

2 This man came to Jeſus by night, and ſaid unto him, Rabbi, we know that thou art a [b] teacher come from God: for no man could do theſe miracles that thou doeſt, [c] except God were with him.

3 [2] Jeſus anſwered, and ſaid unto him, Verely, verely I ſay unto thee, Except a man be born again, he cannot [d] ſee the [e] kingdome of God.

4 Nicodemus ſaid unto him, How [f] can a man be borne which is old? can he enter into his mothers wombe againe, and be born?

5 Jeſus anſwered, Verely, verely I ſay unto thee, except that a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdome of God.

6 That which is born of the fleſh, is [g] fleſh: and that which is born of the Spirit, is ſpirit.

7 Marvell not that I ſaid unto thee, Ye muſt be born again.

8 The winde bloweth where it [h] liſteth, and thou heareſt the ſound thereof, but canſt not tell whence it cometh, and whither it goeth: ſo is every man that is born of the Spirit.

9 [3] Nicodemus anſwered, and ſaid unto him, How can theſe things be?

10 Jeſus anſwered, and ſaid unto him, Art thou a teacher of Iſrael, and knoweſt not theſe things?

11 Verely, verely I ſay unto thee, We ſpeake that we know, & teſtifie that we have ſeen: but ye receive not our [i] witneſſe.

12 If when I tell you earthly things, ye beleeve not, how ſhould ye beleeve, if I ſhall tell you of heavenly things?

13 For no [k] man [l] aſcendeth up to heaven, but he that hath deſcended from heaven, [m] that Son of man which [n] is in heaven.

14 * And as Moſes lift up the ſerpent in the wilderneſſe, ſo muſt that Son of man be lift up, 15 That whoſoever beleeveth in him, ſhould not periſh, but have eternall life.

16 * [5] For God ſo loved the world, that he hath given his onely begotten Sonne,

[1] There are none ſometimes more unlearned then the learned: but as well the learned as the unlearned muſt deſire wiſdome of Chriſt onely.

[b] We know that thou art ſent from God to teach us.

[c] But he in whom ſome part of the excellencie of God appeareth. And if Nicodemus had known Chriſt aright, he would not onely have ſaid that God was with him, but in him, as Paul doth, 2 Cor. 1. 19.

[2] The beginning of Chriſtianitie conſiſteth in this, that we know our ſelves not onely to be corrupt in part, but to be wholly dead in ſinne: ſo, ẏ our nature hath need to be created a new, as touching the qualities thereof: which can be done by no other vertue, but by the divine and heavenly, whereby we were firſt created.

[d] That is, go in, or enter, as he expoundeth himſelf afterward, verſ. 5.

[f] How can I that am old be born again? for he anſwereth as if Chriſt his words belonged to none but to him.

[g] That is, fleſhly, to wit, wholly unclean, and under the wrath of God: and therefore this word (Fleſh) ſignifieth the corrupt nature of man: contrary to which is the (Spirit) that is, the man ingrafted into Chriſt through the grace of the holy Ghoſt, whoſe nature is everlaſting & immortall, though the ſtrife of the fleſh remaineth.

[h] With free & wandring blaſts as it liſteth.

[3] The ſecret myſterie of our regeneration which cānot be comprehended by mans capacitie, is perceived by faith, and that in Chriſt onely, becauſe that he is both God on earth & man in heaven, that is to ſay, in ſuch ſort man, that he is God alſo, and therefore almighty: and in ſuch ſort God, that he is man alſo, and therefore his power is manifeſt unto us.

[i] You handle doubtfull things, and ſuch as you have no certain authour for, and yet men beleeve you: but I teach thoſe things that are of a truth and well known, and you beleeve me not. [k] Onely Chriſt can teach us heavenly things, for no man aſcendeth, &c. [l] That is, hath any ſpirituall light and underſtanding, or ever had, but onely that Son of God, which came down to us. [m] Whereas he is ſaid to have come down from heaven, that muſt be underſtood of his Godhead, and of the manner of his conception: for Chriſt his birth upon the earth was heavenly and not earthly for, he was conceived by the holy Ghoſt. [n] That which is proper to the divinitie of Chriſt, is here ſpoken of whole Chriſt, to give us to underſtand that he is but one perſon wherein two natures are united, and this kind of ſpeech men call, the communicating of proprieties. * Num. 21. 9. Chap. 12. 32. * 1 Iohn 4. 9. [5] Nothing elſe but the free love of the Father, is the beginning of our ſalvation, and Chriſt is he in whom our righteouſneſſe and ſalvation is reſident: and faith is the inſtrument or meane whereby we apprehend it, & life everlaſting is that which is ſet before us to apprehend.

that whoſoever beleeveth [o] in him, ſhould not periſh, but have everlaſting life.

17 * [6] For God ſent not his Sonne into the world, that he ſhould [p] condemn the world, but that the [q] world through him might be ſaved.

18 He that beleeveth in him, is not condemned: but he that beleeveth not, is condemned already, becauſe he hath not beleeved in the Name of that onely begotten Sonne of God.

19 * [7] And this is the [r] condemnation, that that light came into the world, & men loved darkneſſe rather then that light, becauſe their deeds were evill.

20 For every man that evill doth, hateth the light, neither cometh to light, leſt his deeds ſhould be reprooved.

21 But he that [ſ] doth truth, cometh to the light, that his deeds might be made manifeſt, that they are wrought [t] according to God.

22 ¶ After theſe things, came Jeſus and his diſciples into the land of Judea, and there tarried with them, and * baptized.

27 John anſwered and ſaid, A man [v] can receive nothing, except it be given him from heaven.

28 Ye your ſelves are my witneſſes, that * I ſaid, I am not that Chriſt, but that I am ſent before him.

29 He that hath the bride, is the bridegrome: but the friend of the bridegrome which ſtandeth and heareth him, rejoyceth greatly, becauſe of the bridegromes voice. This my joy therefore is fulfilled.

6 Ieſus being wearie, asketh drink of the woman of Samaria. 21 He teacheth the true worſhip. 26 He confeſſeth that he is the Meſſias. 32 His meat. 39 The Samaritanes beleeve in him. 46 He healeth the Rulers ſonne.

2 (Though Jeſus himſelf baptized not, but his diſciples)

3 He left Judea, and departed again into Galile.

4 And he muſt needs go thorow Samaria.

5 [2] Then came he to a citie of Samaria called Sychar, neere unto the poſſeſſion that * Jacob gave to his ſonne Joſeph.

6 And there was Jacobs Well. Jeſus then wearied in the journey, ſate [a] thus on the Well: it was about the [b] ſixt houre.

7 There came a woman of Samaria to draw water. Jeſus ſaid unto her, Give me drink.

8 For his diſciples were gone away into the citie, to buy meat.

9 Then ſaid the woman of Samaria unto him, How is it, that thou being a Jew, askeſt drink of me, which am a woman of Samaria? for the Jews [c] meddle not with the Samaritanes.

10 Jeſus anſwered and ſaid unto her, If thou kneweſt that [d] gift of God, and who it is that ſaith to thee, Give me drink, thou wouldeſt have asked of him, and he would have given thee [e] water of life.

11 The woman ſaid unto him, Sir, thou haſt nothing to draw with, and the Well is deep: from whence then haſt thou that water of life?

12 Art thou greater then our father Jacob, which gave us the well, & he himſelf drank thereof, and his ſonnes, and his cattell?

13 Jeſus anſwered, and ſaid unto her, Whoſoever drinketh of this water, ſhall thirſt again:

14 But whoſoever drinketh of the water that I ſhall give him, ſhall never be more a thirſt: but the water that I ſhall give him, ſhall be in him a well of water, ſpringing up into everlaſting life.

15 The woman ſaid unto him, Sir, give me of that water, that I may not thirſt, neither come hither to draw.

16 Jeſus ſaid unto her, Go, call thine husband, and come hither.

17 The woman auſwered, and ſaid, I have no husband. Jeſus ſaid unto her, Thou haſt well ſaid, I have no husband.

19 The woman ſaid unto him, Sir, I ſee that thou art a Prophet.

20 [3] Our fathers worſhipped in this [f] mountaine, and ye ſay, that in * Jeruſalem is the place where men ought to worſhip.

21 Jeſus ſaid unto her, Woman, beleeve me, the houre commeth, when yee ſhall neither in this mountaine, nor at Hieruſalem worſhip the Father.

22 Yee worſhip that which ye * know not: we worſhip that which we know: for ſalvation is of the Jewes.

23 But the houre commeth, and now is, when the true worſhippers ſhall worſhip the Father in [g] ſpirit, and trueth: for the Father requireth even ſuch to worſhip him.

24 * God is a [h] ſpirit, and they that worſhip him, muſt worſhip him in ſpirit and trueth.

25 The woman ſaid unto him, I know well that Meſſias ſhall come which is called Chriſt: when he is come, he will tell us all things.

26 Jeſus ſaid unto her, I am he, that ſpeak unto thee.

27 ¶ And upon that, came his Diſciples, and marvailed that he talked with a woman: yet no man ſaid unto him, What askeſt thou? or why talkeſt thou with her?

28 The woman then left her water-pot, and went her way into the citie, and ſaid to the men,

29 Come, ſee a man, which hath told me all things that ever I did: is not he that Chriſt?

30 Then they went out of the city, and came unto him.

31 ¶ In the meane while, the Diſciples prayed him, ſaying, Maſter, eate.

32 [4] But he ſaid unto them, I have meat to eate that ye know not of.

33 Then ſaid the Diſciples between themſelves, Hath any man brought him meat?

34 Jeſus ſaid unto them, My meat is, that I may doe the will of him that ſent me, and finiſh his worke.

35 [5] Say not yee, There are yet foure moneths, and then commeth harveſt? Behold, I ſay unto you, Lift up your eyes, and lock on the regious: * for they are white already unto harveſt.

36 [6] And he that reapeth, receiveth reward, and gathereth fruit unto life eternall, that both he that ſoweth, and he that reapeth, might rejoyce together.

37 For herein is the [i] ſaying true, that one ſoweth, and another reapeth.

38 I ſent you to reap that, whereon ye beſtowed no labour: other men laboured, and ye are entred into their labours.

39 [7] Now many of the Samaritanes of that citie beleeved in him, for the ſaying of the woman which teſtified, He hath told me all things that ever I did.

40 Then when the Samaritanes were come unto him, they beſought him, that he would tarrie with them: and he abode there two dayes.

41 And many moe beleeved becauſe of his own word.

42 And they ſaid unto the woman, Now we beleeve, not becauſe of thy ſaying: for we have heard him our ſelves, and know that this is in deed that Chriſt the Saviour of the world.

43 ¶ [8] So two dayes after he departed thence, and went into [k] Galile.

44 For Jeſus himſelfe had * teſtified, that a Prophet hath none honour in his own countrey.

45 Then when he was come into Galile, the Galileans received him, which had ſeen all the things that he did at Hieruſalem at the feaſt: for they went alſo unto the feaſt.

46 [9] And Ieſus came againe into * Cana a town of Galile, where he had made of water, wine. And there was a certaine [l] ruler, whoſe ſonne was ſick at Capernaum.

47 When he heard that Jeſus was come out of Judea into Galile, he went unto him, and beſought him that he would goe down, and heale his ſonne: for he was even ready to die.

48 Then ſaid Jeſus unto him, Except ye ſee ſignes and wonders, ye wil not beleeve.

49 The ruler ſaid unto him, Sir, goe down before my ſonne die.

50 Jeſus ſaid unto him, Goe thy way, thy ſon liveth: and the man beleeved the word that Jeſus had ſpoken unto him, and went his way.

51 And as he was now going down, his ſervants met him, ſaying, Thy ſonne liveth.

52 Then inquired he of them the houre when he beganne to amend. And they ſaid unto him, Yeſterday the ſeventh houre the fever left him.

53 Then the father knew, that it was the ſame houre in the which Jeſus had ſaid unto him, Thy ſonne liveth. And he beleeved, and all his houſhold.

54 This ſecond miracle did Jeſus againe, after he was come out of Judea into Galile.

place of the ſheepe, a[a] poole called in Ebrew [b] Betheſda, having five porches:

3 In the which lay a great multitude of ſick folk, of blinde, halt, and withered, wayting for the moving of the water.

4 For an Angel went down at a certaine ſeaſon into the poole, and troubled the water: whoſoever then firſt, after the ſtirring of the water, ſtepped in, was made whole of whatſoever diſeaſe he had.

5 And a certaine man was there, which had been diſeaſed eight and thirtie yeares.

6 When Jeſus ſaw him lie, and knew that he now long time had been diſeaſed, he ſaid unto him, Wilt thou be made whole?

7 The ſick man anſwered him, Sir, I have no man, when the water is troubled, to put me into the poole: but while I am comming, another ſteppeth down before me.

8 Jeſus ſayd unto him, Riſe: take up thy bed, and walke.

9 And immediatly the man was made whole, and tooke up his bed, and walked: and the ſame day was the Sabbath.

10 [2] The Iewes therefore ſaid to him that was made whole, It is the Sabbath day: * it is not lawfull for thee to cary thy bed.

11 He anſwered them, He that made me whole, he ſaid unto me, Take up thy bed, and walke.

12 Then asked they him, What man is that which ſaid unto thee, Take up thy bed, and walke?

13 And he that was healed, knew not who it was: for Jeſus had conveyed himſelfe away from the multitude that was in that place.

14 And after that, Jeſus found him in the Temple, and ſaid unto him, Behold, thou art made whole: ſinne no more, leſt a worſe thing come unto thee.

15 ¶ The man departed and tolde the Iewes that it was Jeſus, which had made him whole.

16 And therefore the Jewes did perſecute Jeſus, and ſought to ſlay him, becauſe he had done theſe things on the Sabbath day.

17 [3] But Jeſus anſwered them, my Father worketh hitherto, and I worke.

18 * Therefore the Jewes ſought the more to kill him: not onely becauſe he had broken the Sabbath, but ſaid alſo that God was [c] his Father, and made himſelfe equall with God.

19 Then anſwered Jeſus, and ſaid unto them, Verely, verely I ſay unto you, The Sonne can doe nothing [d] of himſelfe, ſave that he [e] ſeeth the Father doe: for whatſoever things he doeth, the ſame things doeth the Sonne [f] in like maner.

20 For the Father loveth the Sonne, and ſheweth him all things, whatſoever he himſelfe doeth, and he will ſhew him greater works then theſe, that ye ſhould marveile.

21 [4] For likewiſe as the Father raiſeth up the dead, and quickneth them, ſo the Sonne quickneth whom he will.

25 [6] Verely, verely I ſay unto you, the houre ſhall come, and now is, when the dead ſhall heare the voice of the Sonne of God: and they that heare it, ſhall live.

26 For as the Father hath life in himſelfe, ſo likewiſe hath he given to the Sonne to have life in himſelfe.

27 And hath given him [i] power alſo to execute judgement, in that he is [k] the Sonne of man.

CHAP. VI.

5 Five thouſand are fed with five loaves and two fiſhes. 11 Chriſt goeth apart from the people. 17 As his diſciples were rowing, 19 He commeth to them walking on the water. 26 He reaſoneth of the true, 27 And everlaſting 35 Bread of life. 41. 52 The Iewes murmure, 60 And many of the diſciples 66 Depart from him. 69 The Apoſtles confeſſe him to be the Sonne of God.

AFter theſe things, Jeſus went his way [a] over the ſea of Galile, which is Tiberias.

[a] Not that hee cut ouer the lake of Tiberias, but by reaſon of the large creekes, by ſailing made his iourney the ſhorter: therefore he is ſaid to haue gone ouer the ſea, when as he paſſed ouer from one ſide of the creeke to the other.

2 And a great multitude followed him, becauſe they ſaw his miracles, which he did on them that were diſeaſed.

3 Then Jeſus went up into a mountaine, and there he ſate with his diſciples.

4 Now the Paſſeover, a * feaſt of the Jewes was neere.

* Leuit.23.7. Deut.16.1.

5 * [1] Then Jeſus lift up his eyes, and ſeeing that a great multitude came unto him, he ſayd unto Philip, Whence ſhall we buy bread, that theſe might eate?

* Mat.14.16. Marke 6.37. Luk.9.13.

[1] They that follow Chriſt, doe ſometime hunger, but they are never deſtitute of helpe.

6 (And this he ſayd to proove him: for he himſelfe knew what he would doe.)

7 Philip anſwered him, two hundreth peniworth of bread is not ſufficient for them, that every one of them may take a little.

8 Then ſaid unto him one of his diſciples, Andrew, Simon Peters brother,

9 There is a little boy here, which hath five barley loaves, and two fiſhes: but what are they among ſo many?

10 And Jeſus ſaid, Make the people ſit down. (Now there was much graſſe in that place.) Then the men ſate down, in number, about five thouſand.

11 And Jeſus took the bread, and gave thanks, and gave to the diſciples, & the diſciples to them that were ſet down: and likewiſe of the fiſhes as much as they would.

12 And when they were ſatisfied, he ſaid unto his diſciples, Gather up the broken meat which remaineth, that nothing be loſt.

13 Then they gathered it together, and filled twelve baskets with the broken meat of the five barley loaves, which remained unto them that had eaten.

14 Then the men, when they had ſeene the miracle that Jeſus did, ſaid, This is of a trueth that Prophet that ſhould come into the world.

15 [2] When Jeſus therefore perceived that they would come, and take him to make him a King, he departed againe into a mountaine himſelfe alone.

[2] Chriſt is not only not delighted, but alſo greatly offended with a prepoſterous worſhip.

16 ¶ [3] When even was now come, his diſciples went down unto the ſea,

17 * And entred into a ſhip, and went over the ſea, [b] towards Capernaum: and now it was dark, and Jeſus was not come to them.

[3] The godly are often in perill and danger, but Chriſt commeth to them in time, even in the mids of the tempeſts & bringeth them to the haven.

* Matt.14.25. Mark 6.47.

[b] In Mark 6.45. they are willed to goe before to Bethſaida, for Bethſaida was in the way to Capernaum.

18 And the Sea aroſe with a great winde that blew.

19 And when they had rowed about five and twentie, or thirtie furlongs, they ſaw Jeſus walking on the ſea, and drawing neere unto the ſhip: ſo they were afraid.

20 But he ſayd unto them, It is I: be not afraid.

21 Then [c] willingly they received him into the ſhip, and the ſhip was by and by at the land, whither they went.

[c] They were afraid at the firſt, but when they knew his voice they became new men, and tooke him willingly into the ſhip, whom they ſhunned and fled from before.

22 ¶ The day following, the people which ſtood on the other ſide of the ſea, ſaw that there was none other ſhip there, ſave that one, whereinto his diſciples were entred, and that Jeſus went not with his diſciples in the ſhip, but that his diſciples were gone alone,

23 And that there came other ſhips from Tiberias neere unto the place where they ate the bread, after the Lord had given thanks.

24 Now when the people ſaw that Jeſus was not there, neither his diſciples, they alſo took ſhipping, and came to Capernaum, ſeeking for Jeſus.

25 And when they had found him on the other ſide of the ſea, they ſaid unto him, Rabbi, when cameſt thou hither?

26 [4] Jeſus anſwered them, and ſaid, Verely, verely I ſay unto you, Ye ſeek me not becauſe yee ſaw the miracles, but becauſe ye ate of the loaves, and were filled.

[4] They that ſeek the kingdome of heaven, lacke nothing: notwithſtanding, the Goſpel is not the food of the bellie, but of the minde.

27 [d] Labour not for the meat which periſheth, but for the meat that endureth unto everlaſting life, which the Sonne of man ſhall give unto you: for him hath * God the Father [e] ſealed.

[d] Beſtow your labour and paine.

* Chap.1.32. Matt. 3. 17. and 17.3.

[e] That is, whom God the Father hath diſtinguiſhed from all other men by planting his own vertue in him, as though he had ſealed him with his ſeale, that he might be a lively paterne and repreſenter of him: and that more is, inſtalled him to this office, to reconcile us men to God, and bring us to everlaſting life, which is only proper to Chriſt.

28 Then ſaid they unto him, What ſhall we doe, that wee might work the [f] works of God?

[f] Which pleaſe God: for they thinke that everlaſting life hangeth upon the condition of fulfilling the Law: therefore Chriſt calleth them back to faith.

29 [5] Jeſus anſwered, and ſayd unto them, *[g] This is the work of God, that ye beleeve in him, whom he hath ſent.

[5] Men torment themſelves in vaine, when they goe about to pleaſe God without faith.

30 [6] They ſayd therefore unto him, What ſigne ſheweſt thou then, that we may ſee it, and beleeve thee? what doeſt thou worke?

31 Our fathers did eate Manna in the deſart, as it is * written, He gave them bread from heaven to eate.

32 [7] Then Ieſus ſayd unto them, Verely, verely I ſay unto you, Moſes gave you not [h] that bread from heaven, but my Father giveth you that true bread from heaven.

33 For the bread of God is he which commeth down from heaven, and giveth life unto the world.

34 Then they ſaid unto him, Lord, evermore give us this bread.

35 And Ieſus ſaid unto them, I am that bread of [i] life: he that commeth to me, ſhall not hunger, and he that beleeveth in me, ſhall never thirſt.

36 But I ſaid unto you, that ye alſo have ſeen me, and beleeve not.

37 [8] All that the Father giveth me, ſhall come to me: and him that commeth to me, I caſt not away.

38 For I came down from heaven, not to doe mine [k] own will, but his will which hath ſent me.

39 And this is the Fathers will which hath ſent me, that of all which he hath given me, I ſhould looſe nothing, but ſhould raiſe it up again at the laſt day.

40 And this is the will of him that ſent me, that every man which [l] ſeeth the Sonne, and beleeveth in him, ſhould have everlaſting life: and I will raiſe him up at the laſt day.

41 [9] The Jewes then murmured at him, becauſe he ſaid, I am that bread, which is come down from heaven.

42 And they ſaid, * Is not this Ieſus that ſon of Ioſeph, whoſe father and mother we know? how then ſaith he, I came down from heaven?

43 Ieſus then anſwered, and ſaid unto them, Murmure not among your ſelves.

44 No man can come to me, except the Father which hath ſent me, draw him: and I will raiſe him up at the laſt day.

45 It is written in the * [m] Prophets, And they ſhall be all [n] taught of God. Every man therefore that hath heard, and hath learned of the Father, commeth unto me, 46 * Not that any man hath ſeen the Father, [o] ſave he which is of God, he hath ſeene the Father.

47 Verely, verely I ſay unto you, He that beleeveth in me, hath everlaſting life.

48 [10] I am that bread of life.

49 * Your fathers did eate Manna in the wilderneſſe, and are dead,

50 [p] This is that bread, which commeth down from heaven, that he which eateth of it, ſhould not die.

51 [11] I am that [q] living bread, which came down from heaven: if any man [r] eate of this bread, he ſhall live for ever: and the bread that I will give, is my fleſh, which I will give for the life of the world.

52 [12] Then the Jewes ſtrove among themſelves, ſaying, How can this man give us his fleſh to eate?

53 Then Jeſus ſaid unto them, Verely, verely I ſay unto you, Except ye eat the fleſh of the Sonne of man, and drinke his blood, ye have [ſ] no life in you.

54 Whoſoever * eateth my fleſh, and drinketh my blood, hath eternall life, and I will raiſe him up at the laſt day.

55 For my fleſh is meat indeed, and my blood is drinke indeed.

56 He that eateth my fleſh, and drinketh my blood, dwelleth in me, and I in him.

57 As [t] that living Father hath ſent me, ſo live I by the [v] Father and he that eateth me, even he ſhall live by me.

58 This is that bread which came down from heaven: not as your fathers have eaten Manna, and are dead. He that eateth of this bread, ſhall live for ever.

59 Theſe things ſpake he in the Synagogue, as he taught in Capernaum.

60 [13] Many therefore of his diſciples (when they heard this) ſayd, This is an hard ſaying: who can heare it?

61 But Jeſus knowing in himſelfe, that his diſciples murmured at this, ſaid unto them, doth this offend you?

62 What then if ye ſhould ſee that Son of man aſcend up, * where he was before?

63 [14] It is the [x] Spirit that quickeneth: the fleſh profiteth nothing: the words that I ſpeake unto you, are ſpirit and life.

64 But there are ſome of you that beleeve not: for Jeſus knew from the beginning, which they were that beleeved not, and who ſhould betray him.

65 And he ſaid, Therefore ſaid I unto you, that no man can come unto me, except it be given unto him of my Father.

66 [15] From that time, many of his diſciples went back, and walked no more with him.

67 Then ſaid Jeſus unto the twelve, Will ye alſo go away?

68 Then Simon Peter anſwered him, Maſter, to whom ſhall we go? thou haſt the words of eternall life:

Chap. VII.

2 Chriſt, after his couſins were gone up to the feaſt of Tabernacles, 10 Goeth thither privily. 12 The peoples ſundrie opinions of him, 14 Hee teacheth in the Temple. 32 The Prieſts command to take him. 41 Strife among the multitude about him, 47 And betweene the Phariſes and the officers that were ſent to take him, 50 And Nicodemus.

After theſe things, Jeſus walked in Galile, and would not walke in Judea: for the Jewes ſought to kill him.

2 Now the Jewes* [a] feaſt of the Tabernacles was at hand.

3 [1] His brethren therefore ſayd unto him, Depart hence, and goe into Judea, that thy diſciples may ſee thy works that thou doeſt.

4 For there is no man that doeth any thing ſecretly, and he himſelſe ſeeketh to be famous. If thou doeſt theſe things, ſhew thy ſelfe to the world.

5 For as yet his [b] brethren beleeved not in him.

6 [2] Then Jeſus ſaid unto them, My time is not yet come: but your time is alway ready.

7 The world cannot hate you: but me it hateth, becauſe I teſtifie of it, that the works thereof are evill.

8 Goe ye up unto this feaſt: I will not goe up yet unto this feaſt: * for my time is not yet fulfilled.

9 ¶ Theſe things he ſayd unto them, and abode ſtill in Galile.

10 [3] But aſſoone as his brethren were gone up, then went he alſo up unto the feaſt, not openly, but as it were privily.

11 Then the Jewes ſought him at the feaſt, and ſaid, Where is he?

12 And much murmuring was there of him among the people. Some ſayd, Hee is a good man: other ſayd, Nay: but he deceiveth the people.

13 Howbeit no man ſpake [c] openly of him for feare of the Jewes.

14 [4] Now when the [d] halfe of the feaſt was done, Jeſus went up into the Temple and taught.

15 And the Jewes marveiled, ſaying, How knoweth this man the Scriptures, ſeeing that he never learned!

16 [5] Jeſus anſwered them, and ſayd, My doctrine is not mine, but his that ſent me.

17 If any man wil do his will, he ſhall know of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or whether I ſpeak of my ſelſe.

18 [6] He that ſpeaketh of himſelfe, ſeeketh his own glory: but he that ſeeketh his glory that ſent him, the ſame is true, and no unrighteouſneſſe is in him.

19 * [7] Did not Moſes give you a Law, and yet none of you keepeth the * Law? Why goe ye about to kill me?

20 The people anſwered and ſaid, Thou haſt a devill: who goeth about to kill thee?

21 [8] Jeſus anſwered, and ſayd to them, I have done one work, and ye all marvell.

22 * Moſes therefore gave unto you circumciſion, (not becauſe it is of Moſes, but of the * fathers) and yee on the Sabbath day circumciſe a man.

23 If a man on the Sabbath receive circumciſion, that the [f] Law of Moſes ſhould not be broken, be ye angry with me, becauſe I have made a man every whit whole on the Sabbath day?

24 * [9] Judge not [g] according to the appearance, but Judge righteous judgement.

25 ¶ [10] Then ſaid ſome of them of Hieruſalem, Is not this hee, whom they goe about to kill?

26 And behold, he ſpeaketh openly, and they ſay nothing to him: doe the rulers know indeed, that this is indeed that Chriſt?

27 [11] Howbeit we know this man whence he is: but when that Chriſt commeth, no man ſhall know whence he is.

28 ¶ [12] Then cryed Jeſus in the Temple as he taught, ſaying, Yee both know me, and know whence I am: yet am I not come of my ſelſe, but he that ſent me is true, whom ye know not.

29 But I know him: for I am of him, and he hath ſent me.

30 [13] Then they ſought to take him, but no man layd hands on him, becauſe his houre was not yet come.

31 Now many of the people beleeved in him, and ſayd, When that Chriſt commeth, will he doe moe miracles then this man hath done?

32 [14] The Phariſes heard that the people murmured theſe things of him, and the Phariſes, and high Prieſts ſent officers to take him.

33 Then ſayd Ieſus unto them, Yet am I a little while with you, and then goe I unto him that ſent me.

34 * Ye ſhall ſeek me, and ſhall not find me, and where I am, can ye not come.

35 Then ſaid the Jewes among themſelves, Whither will he goe, that we ſhall not find him? Will he goe unto them that are [h] diſperſed among the Grecians, and teach the Grecians?

39 (* This ſpake he of the Spirit, which they that beleeved in him, ſhould receive: for the [l] holy Ghoſt was not yet given, becauſe that Jeſus was not yet [m] glorified.)

41 Other ſaid, This is that Chriſt: and ſome ſaid, But ſhall that Chriſt come out of Galile?

42 * Sayeth not the Scripture, that that Chriſt ſhall come of the ſeed of David, and out of the town of Beth-leem, where David was?

43 So was there diſſenſion among the people for him.

44 And ſome of them would have taken him, but no man laid hands on him.

45 [17] Then came the officers to the high Prieſts and Phariſes, and they ſaid unto them, Why have ye not brought him?

46 The officers anſwered, Never man ſpake like this man.

47 Then anſwered them the Phariſes, Are ye alſo deceived?

48 [18] Doth any of the rulers, or of the Phariſes beleeve in him?

49 But this people, which know not the Law, are curſed.

50 Nicodemus ſaid unto them (* he that came to Jeſus by night, and was one of them.)

51 Doeth our Law judge a man before it heare him, * and know [n] what he hath done?

52 They anſwered, and ſaid unto him, Art thou alſo of Galile? Search and looke: for out of Galile ariſeth no Prophet.

53 [19] And every man went unto his own houſe.

Chap. VIII.

3 The woman taken in adulterie, 11 Hath her ſinnes forgiven her. 12 Chriſt is the light of the world. 19 The Phariſes aske where his Father is. 39 The ſons of Abraham. 42 The ſons of God. 44 The devill the father of lying. 56 Abraham ſaw Chriſts day.

And Jeſus went unto the mount of Olives,

2 And earely in the morning came again into the temple, and all the people came unto him, and he ſate down and taught them.

3 [1] Then the Scribes and the Phariſes brought unto him a woman taken in adultery, and ſet her in the mids,

4 And ſaid unto him, Maſter, we found this woman committing adultery, even in the very act.

5 * Now Moſes in our Law commanded, that ſuch ſhould be ſtoned: what ſayeſt thou therefore?

6 And this they ſaid to tempt him, that they might have whereof to accuſe him. But Jeſus ſtouped down, and with his finger wrot on the ground.

7 [2] And while they continued asking him, he lift himſelf up, and ſaid unto them, * Let him that is among you without ſinne, caſt the firſt ſtone at her.

8 And againe he ſtouped down, and wrot on the ground.

9 And when they heard it, being accuſed by their own conſcience, they went out one by one, beginning at the eldeſt, even to the laſt: ſo Jeſus was left alone, and the woman ſtanding in the mids.

10 [3] When Jeſus had lift up himſelfe again, and ſaw no man, but the woman, he ſaid unto her, Woman, where are thoſe thine accuſers? hath no man condemned thee?

11 Shee ſaid, No man, Lord. And Jeſus ſaid, Neither doe I condemne thee, go and ſinne no more.

12 [4] Then ſpake Jeſus again unto them, ſaying, I * am that light of the world: he that followeth me, ſhall not walke in darkneſſe, but ſhall have that light of life.

13 [5] The Phariſes therefore ſaid unto him, [a] Thou beareſt record of thy ſelfe: thy record is not true.

14 * Jeſus anſwered, and ſaid unto them, [b] Though I beare record of my ſelfe, yet my record is true: for I know whence I came, & whither I go: but ye cannot tell whence I come, and whither I go.

15 Yee judge after the fleſh: I [c] judge no man.

16 And if I alſo judge, my judgement is true: for I am not alone, but I, and the Father, that ſent me.

17 And it is alſo written in your Law, * that the teſtimonie of two men is true.

18 [d] I am one that beare witneſſe of my ſelfe, and the Father that ſent me, beareth witneſſe of me.

19 [6] Then ſaid they unto him, Where is that Father of thine? Jeſus anſwered, Ye neither know me, nor that Father of mine. If ye had knowen me, ye ſhould have known that Father of mine alſo.

20 Theſe words ſpake Jeſus in the [e] treaſurie, as he taught in the Temple, and no man laid hand on him: [7] for his houre was not yet come.

21 [8] Then ſaid Jeſus againe unto them,

[15] There are two principles of our ſalvation: the one to be thorowly touched with a true feeling of our extream povertie: the other, to ſeeke in Chriſt onely (whom we catch hold on by faith) the abundance of all good things.

[7] We live and di at the pleaſure o God, and not o men: therefore this one thing remaineth that we go forward conſtantly in our vocation. [8] Becauſe that me do naturally abhor heavenly things, no man can be a fit diſciple of Chriſt, unleſſe the Spiri of God frame him: in the meane ſeaſon notwithſtanding, the world muſt of neceſſitie pe riſh, becauſe it refuſed the life that is offered unto it.

I goe

goe my way, and ye ſhall ſeeke me, and ſhall die in your ſinnes. Whither I go, can ye not come.

22 Then ſaid the Jewes, will he kill himſelfe, becauſe he ſaith, Whither I go, can ye not come?

23 And he ſaid unto them, Ye are from beneath, I am from above: ye are of this world, I am not of this world.

24 I ſaid therefore unto you, that ye ſhall die in your ſins: for except ye beleeve, that I am he, ye ſhall die in your ſinnes.

25 [9] Then ſaid they unto him, Who art thou? And Jeſus ſaid unto them, Even [f] the ſame thing that I ſaid unto you from the beginning.

26 [10] I have many things to ſay, and to judge of you: but he that ſent me, is true, and the things that I have heard of him, thoſe ſpeake I to the world.

27 [11] They underſtood not that he ſpake to them of the Father.

28 Then ſaid Jeſus unto them, When ye have life up the Son of man, then ſhall ye know that I am he, and that I doe nothing of my ſelfe, but as my Father hath taught me, ſo. I ſpeake theſe things.

29 For he that ſent me, is with me: the Father hath not left me alone, becauſe I do alwayes thoſe things that pleaſe him.

30 ¶ As he ſpake theſe things, many beleeved in him.

31 [12] Then ſaid Jeſus to the Jews, which beleeved in him, If ye continue in my word, ye are verely my diſciples, 32 And ſhall know the trueth, and the trueth ſhall [g] make you free.

33 [h] They anſwered him, We be [i] Abrahams ſeed, and were never bond to any man: why ſayeſt thou then, Ye ſhall be made free?

34 Jeſus anſwered them, Verely, verely I ſay unto you, that whoſoever committeth ſin, is the * ſervant of ſinne.

35 And the ſervant abideth not in the houſe for ever: but the Son abideth for ever.

36 If that Son therefore ſhall make you free, ye ſhall be free indeed.

37 [13] I know that ye are Abrahams ſeed, but ye ſeek to kill me, becauſe my word hath no place in you.

38 I ſpeake that which I have ſeen with my Father: and ye doe that which ye have ſeen with your Father.

39 They anſwered, and ſaid unto him, Abraham is our father. Jeſus ſaid unto them, If ye were Abrahams children, ye would doe the works of Abraham.

40 But now ye go about to kill me, a man that have told you the trueth, which I have heard of God: this did not Abraham.

41 Ye do the works of your father. Then ſaid they to him, We are not borne of fornication: we have one Father, which is God.

42 Therefore Jeſus ſaid unto them, If God were your Father, then would yee love me: for I proceeded forth, and came from God, neither came I of my ſelfe, but he ſent me.

43 Why doe ye not underſtand my [k] talk? becauſe ye cannot heare my word.

44 * Yee are of your father the devill, and the luſts of your father ye will doe: he hath been a murtherer from the [l] beginning, and [m] abode not in the [n] truth, becauſe there is no trueth in him. When he ſpeaketh a lie, then ſpeaketh he of his [o] own: for he is a liar, and the [p] father thereof.

45 And becauſe I tell you the trueth, ye beleeve me not.

46 [14] Which of you can rebuk me of ſinn? and if I ſay the trueth, why doe ye not beleeve me?

47 * He that is of God, heareth Gods words: yee therefore heare them not, becauſe ye are not of God.

48 [15] Then anſwered the Iewes, and ſayd unto him, Say we not well, that thou art a Samaritane, and haſt a devill?

49 Jeſus anſwered, I have not a devill, but I honour my Father, and ye have diſhonoured me.

50 And I ſeek not mine own praiſe: but there is one [q] that ſeeketh it, and judgeth.

51 [16] Verely, verely I ſay unto you, If a man keep my word, he ſhall [r] never ſee death.

52 [17] Then ſayd the Jewes to him, Now know we that thou haſt a devill. Abraham is dead, and the Prophets: and thou ſayeſt, If a man keep my word, he ſhall never taſte of death.

53 Art thou greater then our father Abraham, which is dead? and the Prophets are dead: whom makeſt thou thy ſelfe?

54 [18] Jeſus anſwered, If I honour my ſelfe, mine honour is [ſ] nothing worth: it is my Father that honoureth me, whom ye ſay, that he is your God.

55 [19] Yet yee have not knowen him: but I know him, and if I ſhould ſay, I know him not, I ſhould be a liar like unto you: but I know him, and keep his word.

56 [20] Your father Abraham rejoyced to ſee my [v] day, and he [x] ſaw it, and was glad.

57 Then ſaid the Jewes unto him, Thou art not yet fiftie yeare old, and haſt thou ſeene Abraham?

58 Jeſus ſaid unto them, Verely, verely I ſay unto you, Before Abraham was, I [y] am.

59 [21] Then took they up ſtones to caſt at him, but Jeſus hid himſelfe, and went out of the Temple: And he paſſed thorow the mids of them, and ſo went his way.

[12] The true diſciples of Chriſt continue in his doctrine, that profiting more & more in the knowledge of the trueth, they may be delivered from the moſt grievous burden of ſin, into the true liberty of righteouſneſſe and life.

[13] Our wicked maners declare, that we are plainly borne of a deviliſh nature. But we are changed, and made of the houſhold of God, according to the covenant which he made with Abraham by Chriſt only, apprehended and laid hold on by faith: which faith is known by a godly and honeſt life.

[q] That is, that will revenge both your deſpiſing of me, and of him.

[19] There is no right knowledge of God, without Chriſt, neither any right knowledge of Chriſt without his word.

[20] The vertue of Chriſt ſhewed it ſelfe thorow all former ages in the fathers, for they ſaw in the promiſes, that he ſhould come, and did very joyfully lay hold on him with a lively faith.

Chap. IX.

1 Chriſt giveth ſight on the Sabbath day to him that was borne blind: 13 Whom, after he had long reaſoned againſt the Phariſes, 22. 35 and was caſt out of the Synagogue, 36 Chriſt endueth with the knowledge of the everlaſting light.

AND [1] as Ieſus paſſed by, he ſaw a man which was blind from his birth.

2 And his diſciples asked him, ſaying, Maſter, who did ſin, this man, or his parents, that he was borne blind?

3 Ieſus anſwered, [a] Neither hath this man ſinned, nor his parents, but that the works of God ſhould be ſhewed on him.

4 [2] I muſt worke the works of him that ſent me, while it is [b] day: the night commeth when no man can worke.

5 As long as I am in the world, * I am the light of the world.

6 [3] Aſſoone as he had thus ſpoken, he ſpat on the ground. and made clay of the ſpettle, and annointed the eyes of the blind with the clay,

7 And ſaid unto him, Go waſh in the poole of Siloam (which is by interpretation, Sent) He went his way therefore, and waſhed, and came again ſeeing.

8 [4] Now the neighbours and they that had ſeen him before, when he was blind, ſaid, Is not this he that ſate and begged?

9 Some ſaid, This is he: and other ſaid, He is like him: but he himſelf ſaid, I am he.

10 Therefore they ſaid unto him, How were thine eyes [c] opened?

11 He anſwered, and ſaid, The man that is called Ieſus, made clay, and anointed mine eyes, and ſaid unto me, Go to the poole of Siloam, and waſh. So I went and waſhed, and received ſight.

12 Then they ſaid unto him, Where is he? He ſaid, I cannot tell.

13 ¶ They brought to the Phariſes him that was once blind.

14 And it was the Sabbath day, when Ieſus made the clay, and opened his eyes.

15 Then again the Phariſes alſo asked him, how he had received ſight. And he ſaid unto them, He laid clay upon mine eyes, and I waſhed, and doe ſee.

16 [5] Then ſaid ſome of the Phariſes, This man is not of God, becauſe he keepeth not the Sabbath day. Others ſaid, How can a man that is a ſinner, doe ſuch miracles? and there was a diſſention among them.

17 Then ſpake they unto the blinde again, What ſayeſt thou of him, becauſe he hath opened thine eyes? And he ſaid, He is a Prophet.

18 Then the Iewes did not beleeve him, (that he had been blind, and received his ſight) untill they had called the parents of him that had received ſight.

19 And they asked them, ſaying, Is this your ſon, whom yee ſay was borne blind? How doth he now ſee then?

20 His parents anſwered them, and ſaid, We know that this is our ſon, and that he was borne blind:

21 But by what meanes he now ſeeth, we know not: or who hath opened his eyes, can we not tell: he is old enough: aske him: he ſhall anſwere for himſelfe.

22 Theſe words ſpake his parents, becauſe they feared the Iewes: for the Iewes had ordeined already, that if any man did confeſſe that he was Chriſt, he ſhould be excommunicate out of the Synagogue.

23 Therefore ſaid his parents, He is old enough: aske him.

24 Then again called they the man that had been blinde, and ſaid unto him, [d] Give glory unto God: we know that this man is a [e] ſinner.

25 Then he anſwered, and ſaid, Whether he be a ſinner or no, I cannot tell: one thing I know, that I was blind, and now I ſee.

26 Then ſaid they to him again, What did he to thee? how opened he thine eyes?

27 He anſwered them, I have told you already, and yee have not heard it: wherefore would ye heare it again? will ye alſo be his diſciples?

28 [6] Then reviled they him, and ſaid, Be thou his diſciple: we be Moſes diſciples.

29 We know that God ſpake with Moſes: but this man we know not from whence he is.

30 The man anſwered and ſaid unto them, Doubtleſſe, this is a marveilous thing, that ye know not whence he is, and yet he hath opened mine eyes.

31 Now we know that God heareth not ſinners: but if a man be a worſhipper of God, and doeth his will, him heareth he.

32 Since the world began, was it not heard, that any man opened the eyes of one that was born blind.

33 If this man were not of God, he could have done nothing.

34 They anſwered, and ſaid unto him, [f] Thou art altogether born in ſins, and doeſt thou teach us? ſo they caſt him out.

35 [7] Ieſus heard that they had caſt him out: and when he had found him, he ſaid unto him, Doeſt thou beleeve in the Son of God?

36 He anſwered, and ſaid, Who is he, Lord, that I might beleeve in him?

37 And Ieſus ſaid unto him, Both thou haſt ſeen him, and he it is that talketh with thee.

38 Then he ſaid, Lord, I beleeve, and worſhipped him.

39 [8] And Ieſus ſaid, I am come unto [g] judgement into this world, that they [h] which

[2] The works of Chriſt are as it were a light, which lighten the darkeneſſe of the world.

[b] By (day) is meant the light, that is, the lightſome doctrine of the heavenly trueth: and by night is meant the darkeneſſe which commeth by the obſcuritie of the ſame doctrine.

[g] With great powe and authoritie, to doe what is righteous and iuſt: as if he ſaid, Theſe men ta upon them to govern the people of God after their own luſt, as though they ſaw all things, and no man but they: but I will rule far otherwiſe then theſe men doe: for whom they account for blind men, them will I lighten, and ſuch as take themſelves to be wiſeſt, them will I drown in moſt groſſe darkneſſe of ignorance.

[h] which ſee not, might ſee: and that they [*] which ſee, might be made blind.

40 And ſome of the Phariſes which were with him, heard theſe things, and ſaid unto him, Are we blind alſo?

41 Ieſus ſaid unto them, If ye were blind, ye ſhould not have ſinne: but now ye ſay, We ſee: therefore your ſin remaineth.

Chap. X.

1 Chriſt proveth that the Phariſes are the evill ſhepherds, 8 And by many reaſons, that himſelfe 11. 14 Is the good ſhepherd. 19 And thereof diſſention ariſeth. 31 They take up ſtones, 39 And goe about to take him, but he eſcapeth.

Verely, [1] verely I ſay unto you, He that entreth not in by the doore into the ſheepefold, but climbeth up another way, he is a thiefe and a robber.

2 But he that goeth in by the doore, is the ſhepherd of the ſheep.

3 To him the [a] Porter openeth, and the ſheep heare his voyce, and he calleth his own ſheep by name, and leadeth them out.

4 And when he hath ſent forth his owne ſheep, he goeth before them, and the ſheep follow him: for they know his voyce.

5 And they will not follow a ſtranger, but they flee from him: for they know not the voice of ſtrangers.

6 This [b] parable ſpake Jeſus unto them: but they underſtood not what things they were which he ſpake unto them.

7 Then ſaid Jeſus unto them againe, Verely, verely I ſay unto you, I am the door of the ſheepe.

8 [2] All, that [c] ever came before mee, are theeves and robbers: but the ſheepe did not heare them.

9 [3] I am that doore: by me if any man enter in, he ſhall be ſaved, and ſhall [d] goe in, and goe out, and find paſture.

10 The thiefe commeth not, but for to ſteale, and to kill, and to deſtroy: I am come that they might have life, and have it in abundance.

11 [*] I am that good ſhepherd: that good ſhepherd giveth his life for his ſheep.

12 But an hireling, and he which is not the ſhepherd, neither the ſheep are his own, ſeeth the wolfe comming, and he leaveth the ſheep, and fleeth, and the wolfe catcheth them, and ſcattereth the ſheep.

13 So the hireling fleeth, becauſe he is an hireling, and careth not for the ſheepe.

14 I am that good ſhepherd, and know mine, and am knowen of mine.

15 As the Father [e] knoweth me, ſo know I the Father: and I lay downe my life for my ſheepe.

16 [4] Other ſheepe I have alſo, which are not of this fold: them alſo muſt I bring, and they ſhall heare my voyce: and [*] there ſhall be [f] one ſheepfold, and one ſhepherd.

17 [5] Therefore doeth my Father love me, becauſe [*] [g] I lay downe my life, that I might take it againe.

18 No man taketh it from me, but I lay it downe of my ſelfe: I have power to lay it downe, and have power to take it againe: this [*] commandment have I received of my Father.

19 ¶ [6] Then there was a diſſention againe among the Iewes for theſe ſayings,

20 And many of them ſaid, He hath a devill, and is mad: why heare ye him?

21 Other ſaid, Theſe are not the words of him that hath a devill: Can the devil open the eyes of the blind?

22 And it was at Hieruſalem the feaſt of the [h] Dedication, and it was winter.

23 [7] And Ieſus walked in the Temple, in Solomons porch.

24 Then came the Iewes round about him, and ſaid unto him, How long doeſt thou make us doubt? If thou be that Chriſt, tell us plainely.

25 [8] Ieſus anſwered them, I told you, and ye beleeve not: the works that I do in my Fathers Name, they beare witneſſe of me.

26 [9] But ye beleeve not: [i] for ye are not of my ſheepe, as I ſaid unto you.

27 My ſheepe heare my voyce, and I know them, and they follow me,

28 And I give unto them eternall life, and they ſhall never periſh, neither ſhall any pluck them out of mine hand.

29 My Father which gave them me, is greater then all, and none is able to take them out of my Fathers hand.

30 I and my Father are one.

31 [*] [10] Then the Iewes againe tooke up ſtones, to ſtone him.

32 Jeſus anſwered them, Many good works have I ſhewed you from my [k] Father: for which of theſe works doe ye ſtone me?

33 The Iewes anſwered him, ſaying, For the good worke we ſtone thee not, but for blaſphemie, and that thou being a man, makeſt thy ſelfe God.

34 Jeſus anſwered them, Is it not written in your Law, [*] I ſaid, Ye are gods?

35 If he called them gods, vnto whom the word of God was given, and the Scripture cannot be [l] broken, 36 Say ye of him, whom the Father hath ſanctified, and ſent into the world, Thou blaſphemeſt, becauſe I ſaid, I am the Sonne of God?

37 If I doe not the works of my Father, beleeve me not.

38 But if I doe, then though ye beleeve not me, yet beleeve the works, that ye may know and beleeve, that the Father is in me, and I in him.

39 [11] Againe they went about to take him:

Chap. XI.

1 Chriſt, to ſhew that he is 25 the life and the reſurrection, 14 cometh to Lazarus being dead, 17. 34 and buried, 43 and raiſeth him up. 47 As the Prieſts were conſulting together, 49 Caiaphas 50 propheſieth that one muſt die for the people. 56. 57 They command to ſeek Chriſt out, and to take him.

1 Chriſt in reſtoring the ſtinking carcaſe of his friend to life, ſheweth an example both of his mighty power, and alſo of his ſingular good will toward men: which is alſo an image of the reſurrection to come.

a Where his ſiſters dwelt.

 Chap. 12.3. Matth. 26.7.*

b That is to ſay, ſent for the purpoſe to kill him.

AND [1] a certain man was ſick, named Lazarus of Bethania, the [a] town of Mary, and her ſiſter Martha.

2 (And it was that * Mary which anoynted the Lord with oyntment, and wiped his feet with her haire, whoſe brother Lazarus was ſick.)

3 Therefore his ſiſters ſent unto him, ſaying, Lord, behold, he whom thou loveſt, is ſick.

4 When Jeſus heard it, he ſaid, This ſickneſſe is not unto [b] death, but for the glory of God, that the Sonne of God might be glorfied thereby.

5 ¶ Now Jeſus loved Martha and her ſiſter, and Lazarus.

2 In that, that God ſeemeh ſometimes to linger in, helping of us, he doth it both for his glory, and for our ſalvation, as the falling out of the matter in the end plainly proveth.

3 This onely is the ſure and right way to life, to follow God boldly without fear, who calleth us and ſhineth before us in the darkneſſe of this world.

 Chap. 7.30. and 8.59. and 10.33.*

c All things are fitly wrought, and brought to paſſe in their ſeaſon.

d The Iewes uſed a milder kinde of ſpeach, and called death a ſleep, whereupon in other languages the place of buriall where the dead are laid, waiting for the reſurrection, is called a ſleeping-place

6 [2] And after he had heard that he was ſick, yet abode he two dayes ſtill in the ſame place where he was.

7 Then after that, ſaid he to his diſciples, Let us goe into Judea again.

8 [3] The diſciples ſaid unto him, Maſter, the Jewes lately ſought to *ſtone thee, and doeſt thou goe thither again?

9 Jeſus anſwered, Are there not [c]twelve houres in the day? If a man walke in the day, he ſtumbleth not, becauſe he ſeeth the light of this world.

10 But if a man walke in the night, he ſtumbleth, becauſe there is no light in him.

11 Theſe things ſpake he, and after, he ſaid unto them, Our friend Lazarus [d]ſleepeth: but I goe to wake him up.

12 Then ſaid his diſciples, Lord, if he ſleepe, he ſhall be ſafe.

13 Howbeit, Jeſus ſpake of his death: but they thought that he had ſpoken of the naturall ſleepe.

14 Then ſaid Jeſus unto them plainly, Lazarus is dead.

15 And I am glad for your ſakes, that I was not there, that ye may beleeve: but let us goe unto him.

16 Then ſaid Thomas (which is called Didymus) unto his fellow diſciples, Let us alſo goe, that we way die with him.

17 ¶ Then came Jeſus, and found that he had lien in the grave foure dayes already.

18 ¶ Now Bethania was neare unto Jeruſalem, about fifteen furlongs off.)

19 [4] And many of the Jewes were come to Martha and Mary to comfort them for their brother.

4 God who is maker of na doth not demne na affections, ſheweth that oughs to be mined by the of faith.

20 Then Martha, when ſhe heard that Jeſus was coming, went to meet him: but Marie ſate ſtill in the houſe.

21 Then ſaid Martha unto Jeſus, Lord, if thou hadſt been here, my brother had not been dead.

22 But now I know alſo, that whatſoever thou askeſt of God, God will give it thee.

23 Jeſus ſaid unto her, Thy brother ſhall [e] riſe again.

e That is, ſhall cover life again.

24 Martha ſaid unto him, I know that he ſhall riſe again *in the reſurrection at the laſt day.

 Chap. 5. 29. Luk 14. 14.*

25 Jeſus ſaid unto her, I am the reſurrection and the life: *he that beleeveth in me, though he were dead, yet ſhall he live.

 Chap. 6.35.*

26 And whoſoever liveth, and beleeveth in me, ſhall never die: beleeveſt thou this?

27 She ſaid unto him, Yea, Lord, I beleeve that thou art that Chriſt that Sonne of God, which ſhould come into the world.

28 ¶ And when ſhe had ſo ſaid, ſhe went her way and called Mary her ſiſter ſecretly, ſaying, The Maſter is come, and calleth for thee.

29 And when ſhe heard it, ſhe aroſe quickly, and came unto him,

30 For Jeſus was not yet come into the town, but was in the place where Martha met him.

31 The Jewes then which were with her in the houſe, and comforted her, when they ſaw Mary that ſhe roſe up haſtily, and went out, followed her, ſaying, She goeth unto the grave, to weep there.

32 Then when Mary was come where Jeſus was, & ſaw him, ſhe fell down at his feet, ſaying unto him, Lord, if thou hadſt been here, my brother had not been dead.

5 Chriſt took up on him, togethe with our fleſh, a affections of ma (ſinne onely ex cepted) and a mongſt them eſpe cially mercy, an compaſſion.

f Theſe are token that he was greatl moved, but yet the were without ſinne and theſe affection are proper to man nature.

 Chap. 9.6.*

33 [5] When Jeſus therefore ſaw her weep, and the Jewes alſo weep which came with her, he [f]groaned in the ſpirit, and was troubled in himſelf, 34 And ſaid, Where have ye laid him? They ſaid unto him, Lord, come and ſee.

35 And Jeſus wept.

36 Then ſaid the Jewes, Behold, how he loved him.

37 And ſome of them ſaid, *Could not he which opened the eyes of the blind, have made alſo, that this man ſhould not have died.

38 Jeſus therefore again groaned in himſelf, and came to the grave. And it was a cave, and a ſtone was laid upon it.

39 Jeſus ſaid, Take ye away the ſtone. Martha the ſiſter of him that was dead, ſaid unto him, Lord, he ſtinketh already: for he hath been dead foure dayes.

40 Jeſus ſaid unto her, Said I not unto thee, that if thou didſt beleeve, thou ſhouldeſt ſee the glory of God?

41 Then they took away the ſtone from the place where the dead was laid. And Jeſus lift up his eyes, and ſaid, Father, I thank thee, becauſe thou haſt heard me.

42 I know that thou heareſt me alwayes, but becauſe of the people that ſtand by, I ſaid it, that they may beleeve, that thou haſt ſent me.

43 As he had ſpoken theſe things, he cried with a loud voice, Lazarus, come forth.

44 Then he that was dead, came forth, bound hand and foot with bands, and his face was bound with a napkin. Jeſus ſaid unto them, Looſe him, and let him goe.

45 ¶ Then many of the Jewes, which came to Mary, and had ſeen the things which Jeſus did, beleeved in him.

46 [6] But ſome of them went their way to the Phariſees, and told them what things Jeſus had done.

47 Then gathered the high Prieſts, and the Phariſes a [g] councill, and ſaid, What ſhall we doe? For this man doth many miracles.

48 If we let him thus alone, all men will beleeve in him, and the Romanes will come and [h] take away both our place, and the nation.

49 [7] Then one of them named Caiaphas, which was the high Prieſt that ſame yeare, ſaid unto them, Ye perceive nothing at all,

50 *Nor yet doe you conſider that it is expedient for us, that one man die for the people, & that the whole nation periſh not.

51 [8] This ſpake he not of himſelf: but being high Prieſt that ſame yeare, he propheſied that Jeſus ſhould die for that nation:

52 And not for that nation onely, but that he ſhould gather together in one the children of God which [i] were ſcattered.

53 Then from that day forth they conſulted together to put him to death.

54 [9] Jeſus therefore walked no more openly among the Jewes, but went thence unto a countrey neere to the wilderneſſe, into a citie called Ephraim, and there continued with his diſciples.

55 ¶ And the Jewes Paſſeover was at hand, and many went out of the countrey up to Jeruſalem before the Paſſeover, to purifie themſelves.

56 Then ſought they for Jeſus, and ſpake among themſelves, as they ſtood in the Temple, What think ye that he cometh not to the feaſt?

57 Now both the high Prieſts and the Phariſes had given a commandement, that if any man knew where he were, he ſhould ſhew it, that they might take him.

[6] The laſt point of hard & yron-like ſtubburnnes is this to proclaime open warre againſt God, and yet ceaſeth not to make a pretence both of godlineſſe, and of the profit of the common wealth.

[g] The Iewes called this Councill Sanhedrin: and the word that Iohn uſeth, is Synedri.

[h] That is, taken away from us by force: for at that time, though the high Prieſts authority was greatly leſſened & decayed, yet there was ſomekinde of government left among the Iewes.

[7] The raging and mad company of ye falſe church perſwade themſelves that they cannot be in ſaftie, unleſſe he be taken away, who onely upholdeth the Church. And ſo likewiſe judgeth the wiſedome of the fleſh in worldly affairs, which is governed by the ſpirit of giddineſſe, or madnes.

* Chap. 18. 14.

[8] Chriſt doth ſomtimes ſo turn the tongues, even of the wicked, that even in curſing, they bleſſe.

[i] For they were not gathered together in one countrey, as the Iewes were, but to be gathered, from all quarters, from the Eaſt to the Weſt.

[9] We may give place to the rage of the wicked, when it is expedient ſo to doe, but yet in ſuch ſort, that we ſwarve not from Gods vocation.

CHAP. XII.

2 As Chriſt is at ſupper with Lazarus, 3 Mary anointeth his feet. 5 Iudas findeth fault with her. 7 Chriſt defendeth her. 10 The Prieſts would put Lazarus to death. 12 As Chriſt cometh to Ieruſalem, 18 The people meet him. 20 The Grecians deſire to ſee him. 42 The chief Rulers that beleeve in him, but for feare doe not confeſſe him. 44 He exhorteth to faith.

THen *Jeſus, ſix dayes before the Paſſeover, came to Bethania, where Lazarus was, who died, whom he had raiſed from the dead.

2 There they made him a ſupper, and Martha ſerved: but Lazarus was one of them that ſate at the table with him.

3 Then took Mary a pound of oyntment of Spiknard very coſtly, and anointed Jeſus feet, and wiped his feet with her haire, and the houſe was filled with the ſavour of the oyntment.

4 Then ſaid one of his diſciples, even Judas Iſcariot Simons ſonne, which ſhould betray him:

5 [1] Why was not this oyntment ſold for three hundreth pence, and given to the poore?

6 Now he ſaid this, not that he cared for the poore, but becauſe he was a thief, &*had the bag, and bare that which was given.

7 [2] Then ſaid Jeſus, Let her alone: againſt the day of my burying ſhe kept it:

8 For the poore alwayes ye have with you, but me ye ſhall not have alwayes.

9 [3] Then much people of the Jewes knew that he was there: and they came, not for Jeſus ſake onely, but that they might ſee Lazarus alſo, whom he had raiſed from the dead.

10 The high Prieſts therefore conſulted, that they might put Lazarus to death alſo, 11 Becauſe that for his ſake many of the Jewes went away, and beleeved in Jeſus.

12 ¶ * On the morrow a great multitude that were come to the feaſt, when they heard that Jeſus ſhould come to Jeruſalem, 13 Tooke branches of Palm-trees, and went forth to meet him, and cried, Hoſanna, Bleſſed is the King of Iſrael that cometh in the Name of the Lord.

14 And Jeſus found a young aſſe, and ſate thereon, as it is written:

15 * Feare not, daughter of Sion: behold, thy King cometh, ſitting on an aſſes colt.

16 But his diſciples underſtood not theſe things at the firſt: but when Jeſus was glorified, then remembred they, that theſe things were written of him, and that they had done theſe things unto him.

17 The people therefore that was with him, bare witnes that he called Lazarus out of the grave, and raiſed him from the dead.

18 Therefore met him the people alſo,

[3] When the light of the Goſpel ſheweth it ſelf, ſome are found to be curious, & other (which leaſt ought) to be open enemies: others in a rage honour him, whom they will ſtraightway fall from: and very few do ſo reverently receive him as they ought: notwithſtanding, Chriſt beginneth his ſpirituall kingdome in the midſt of his enemies.

because they ſaid that he had done this miracle.

19 [4] And the Phariſees ſaid among themſelves,Perceive ye how ye prevail nothing? Behold , the world goeth after him.

20 ¶ Now there were certain Greeks among them that [a] came up to worſhip at the feaſt.

21 And they came to Philip,which was of Bethſaida in Galilee, and deſired him , ſaying, Sir, we would ſee that Jeſus.

22 Philip came and told Andrew: and again Andrew and Philip told Jeſus.

23 And Jeſus anſwered them, ſaying, The houre is come, that the Sonne of man muſt be glorifyed.

24 [5] Verely , verely I ſay unto you, except the wheat corn fall into the ground and [b] die, it abideth alone: but if it die, it bringeth forth much fruit.

25 *He that loveth his life, ſhall loſe it, and he that hateth his life in this world, ſhall keep it unto life eternall.

26 *If any man ſerve me, let him follow me:for where I am,there ſhall alſo my ſervant be: and if any man ſerve me, him will my Father honour.

27 [6] Now is my ſoul troubled: and what ſhall I ſay ? Father, ſave me from this [c] houre: but therefore came I unto this houre.

28 Father, [d] glorify thy Name. Then came there a voice from heaven, ſaying, I have both glorifyed it, and will glorify it again.

29 Then ſaid the people that ſtood by, and heard, that it was a thunder: other ſaid, An Angel ſpake to him.

30 [7] Jeſus anſwered,and ſaid,This voice came not becauſe of me, but for your ſakes.

31 Now is the judgement of this world: now ſhall the prince of this world be caſt out,

32 *And I, if I were [e] lift up from the earth, will [f] draw all men unto me.

33 Now this ſaid he, ſignifying what death he ſhould die.

34 The people anſwered him, We have heard out of the* Law, that that Chriſt bideth for ever: and how ſaiſt thou,that that Sonne of man muſt be lift up ? Who is that Sonne of man?

35 [8] Then Jeſus ſaid unto them, Yet a little while is the *light with you: walk while ye have that light, leſt the darkneſſe come upon you: for he that walketh in the dark, knoweth not whither he goeth.

36 While ye have that light, beleeve in that light, that ye may be the [g] children of the light. Theſe things ſpake Jeſus,and departed, and hid himſelf from them.

37 ¶ [9] And though he had done ſo many miracles before them, yet beleeved they not on him,

38 That the ſaying of Eſaias the Prophet might be fulfilled, that he ſaid,* Lord, who beleeved our report? and to whom is the [h] arme of the Lord revealed?

39 Therefore could they not beleeve, becauſe that Eſaias ſaith again,

40 *He hath blinded their eyes,and hardened their heart, that they ſhould not ſee with their eyes, nor underſtand with their heart, and ſhould be converted, and I ſhould heale them.

41 Theſe things ſaid Eſaias when he ſaw his glory, and ſpake of him.

42 [10] Neverthleſſe, even among the chief rulers, many beleeved in him:but becauſe of the Phariſees they did not confeſſe him, leſt they ſhould be caſt out of the Synagogue.

43 * For they loved the praiſe of men, more then the praiſe of God.

44 [11] And Jeſus cried, and ſaid, He that beleeveth in me, beleeveth [i] not in me, but in him that ſent me.

45 And he that ſeeth me, ſeeth him that ſent me.

46 * I am come a light into the world, that whoſoever beleeveth in me, ſhould not abide in darkeneſſe.

47 *And if any man heare my words,& beleeve not,I judge him not:for I came not to judge the world, but to ſave the world.

48 He that refuſeth me, and receiveth not my words, hath one that judgeth him: * the word that I have ſpoken, it ſhall judge him in the laſt day.

46 For I have not ſpoken of my ſelfe: but the Father which hath ſent me, he gave me a commandement what I ſhould ſay, and what I ſhould ſpeake.

50 And I know that his commandement is life everlaſting: the things therefore that I ſpeak, I ſpeak them ſo as the Father ſaid unto mee.

4 He [c] riſeth from ſupper, and layeth aſide his upper garments, and took a towell, and girdeth himſelf.

5 After that, he powred water into a baſen, and began to waſh the diſciples feet, and to wipe them with the towell, wherewith he was girded.

6 Then came he to Simon Peter, who ſaid to him, Lord, doſt thou waſh my feet?

7 Jeſus anſwered, and ſaid unto him, What I do, thou knoweſt not now: but thou ſhalt know it hereafter.

13 Ye call me Maſter, and Lord, and ye ſay well: for ſo am I.

14 If I then your Lord, and Maſter, have waſhed your feet, ye alſo ought to waſh one anothers feet.

15 For I have given you an example, that ye ſhould do, even as I have done to you.

16 Verely, verely I ſay unto you, *The ſervant is not greater then his maſter, neither the ‡ ambaſſadour greater then he that ſent him.

* Chap. 15. 20. Matth. 10. 24. Luke 6. 40.

‡ The word ſignifieth an Apoſtle, which is any one that is ſent from another.

17 If ye know theſe things, bleſſed are ye, if ye do them.

18 ¶ [2] I ſpeake not of you all: I know whom I have choſen: but it is that the Scripture might be fulfilled, * He that eateth bread with me, hath lift up his heel againſt me.

[2] The betraying of Chriſt was not caſuall, or a thing that happened by chance, but ỹ Father ſo ordeined the cauſe of our ſalvation, to reconcile us unto himſelf in his Sonne, and the Sonne did willingly and voluntarily obey the Father.

* Pſal. 41. 9.

19 From hencefoth tell I you before it come, that when it is come to paſſe, ye might beleeve that I am he.

20 * Verely, verely I ſay unto you, If I ſend any, he that receiveth him, receiveth me, and he that receiveth me, receiveth him that ſent me.

* Matth. 10. 40. Luke 10. 16.

21 When Jeſus had ſaid theſe things, he was troubled in the Spirit, and [e] teſtified, and ſaid, Verely, verely I ſay unto you, that one of you ſhall betray me.

[e] He affirmed it openly and ſoothed it.

* Matth. 26. 21. Marke 14. 18. Luke 22. 21.

22 * Then the diſciples looked one on another, doubting of whom he ſpake.

23 Now there was one of his diſciples, which [f] leaned on Jeſus boſome, whom Jeſus loved.

[f] Iohn his leaning was ſuch, that ſitting down in his bed, his head was toward Ieſus his head: ſo that it was an eaſie matter for him to touch Ieſus his boſome: for it is certain that in old time men uſed not to ſit at the table, but to lie down on the one ſide.

24 To him beckned therefore Simon Peter, that he ſhould ask who it was of whom he ſpake.

25 He then, as he leaned on Jeſus breaſt, ſaid unto him, Lord, who is it?

26 Jeſus anſwered, He it is, to whom I ſhall give a ſop, when I have dipt it: and he wet a ſop, and gave it to Judas Iſcariot, Simons ſonne.

27 And after the ſop, Satan entred into him. Then ſaid Jeſus unto him, That thou doeſt, doe quickly.

28 But none of them that were at table, knew, for what cauſe he ſpake it unto him.

29 For ſome of them thought becauſe Judas had the bag, that Jeſus had ſaid unto him, Buy thoſe things that we have need of againſt the feaſt: or that he ſhould give ſome thing to the poore.

30 Aſſoon then as he had received the ſop, he went immediately out, and it was night.

31 ¶ [3] When he was gone out, Jeſus ſaid, [g] Now is the Sonne of man glorified, and God is glorified in him.

[3] We have to conſider ỹ glorifying of Chriſt in his ignominie.

[g] This verſe and the next following, are a moſt plain and evident teſtimonie of the divinitie of Chriſt.

32 If God be glorified in him, God ſhall alſo glorifie him in himſelf, and ſhall ſtraightway glorifie him.

33 [4] Little children, yet a little while am I with you: ye ſhall ſeek me, but as I ſaid unto the * Jewes, Whither I go, can ye not come: alſo to you ſay I now, 34 * A new Commandement give I unto you, that ye love one another: as I have loved you, that ye alſo love one another.

[4] The eternall glory ſhall flow by little and little from the head into the members. But in the meane time, we muſt take good heed, that we paſſe over the race of this life in brotherly love.

36 [5] Simon Peter ſaid unto him, Lord, whither goeſt thou? Jeſus anſwered him, Whither I go, thou canſt not follow me now: but thou ſhalt follow me hereafter.

[5] An heavie example of raſh truſt and confidence.

37 Peter ſaid unto him, Lord, why can I not follow thee now? * I will lay down my life for thy ſake.

* Matth. 26. 33. Marke 14. 29. Luke 22. 33.

CHAP. XIV.

1 He comforteth his diſciples, 2. 7 declaring his divinitie and the fruit of his death, 16 promiſing the Comforter, 17 even the holy Spirit, 26 whoſe office he ſetteth out. 27 He promiſeth his peace.

LEt [1] not your heart be troubled: ye beleeve in God, beleeve alſo in me.

[1] He beleeveth in God that beleeveth in Chriſt, and there is no other way to confirme our minds in greateſt diſtreſſes.

2 In my Fathers houſe are many dwelling places: if it were not ſo, [a] I would have told you: I go to [b] prepare a place for you.

[a] That is, if it were not ſo as I tell you, to wit, unleſſe there were place enough not onely for me, but for you alſo, in my Fathers houſe, I would not thus deceive you with a vain hope, but I would have told you ſo plainly. [b] All this ſpeech is by the way of an allegorie, whereby the Lord comforteth his own, declaring to them his departure into heaven, which is not to reigne there alone, but to goe before and prepare a place for them.

3 [2] And if I goe to prepare a place for you, I will [c] come again, and receive you unto my ſelf, that where I am, there may ye be alſo.

4 [3] And whither I go, ye know, and the way ye know.

5 Thomas ſaid unto him, Lord, we know not whither thou goeſt: how can we then know the way?

6 Jeſus ſaid unto him, I am [d] that way, and that truth, and that life. No man cometh unto the Father, but by me.

7 [e] If ye had known me, ye ſhould have known my Father alſo: and from henceforth ye know him, and have ſeen him.

8 Philip ſaid unto him, Lord, ſhew us thy Father, and it ſufficeth us.

9 Jeſus ſaid unto him, I have been ſo long time with you, & haſt thou not known me, Philip? he that hath ſeen me, hath ſeen my Father: how then ſayeſt thou, Shew us thy Father?

10 [4] Beleeveſt thou not, that I am in the Father, and the Father is in me? The words that I ſpeake unto you, I ſpeake not of my ſelf: but the Father that dwelleth in me, he doth the works.

11 Beleeve me, that I am in the Father, and the Father is in me: at the leaſt, beleeve me for the very works ſake.

12 [5] Verely, verely I ſay unto you, He that beleeveth in me, the works that I doe, he ſhall doe alſo, and [f] greater then theſe ſhall he doe: for I go unto my Father.

13 * And whatſoever ye ask in my name, that will I do, that the Father may be glorified in the Sonne.

14 If ye ſhall ask any thing in my name, I will doe it.

15 [6] If ye love me, keep my commandements,

16 And I will pray the Father, and he ſhall give you another Comforter, that he may abide with you for ever:

17 Even the [g] Spirit of truth, whom the [h] world cannot receive, becauſe it ſeeth him not, neither knoweth him: but ye know him: for he dwelleth with you, and ſhall be in you.

18 I will not leave you fatherleſſe: but I will come to you.

19 Yet a little while, and the world ſhall ſee me no more, but ye ſhal ſee me: becauſe I live, ye ſhall live alſo.

20 At that day ſhall ye know that I am [i] in my Father, and you in me, and I in you.

21 He that hath my commandments, and keepeth them, is he that loveth me: and he that loveth me, ſhall be loved of my Father: and I will love him, and will [k] ſhew mine own ſelf to him.

[2] Chriſt went not away from us, to ẏͤ end to forſake us, but rather that he might at length take us up with him into heaven.

[c] Theſe words are to be referred to the whole Church, and therefore the Angel ſaid to the diſciples when they were aſtoniſhed, What ſtand you gazing up into heaven? Thus Ieſus ſhall ſo come as you ſaw him goe up, Act. 1. 11. and in all places of the Scripture, the full comfort of the Church is referred to that day when God ſhall be all in all, and is therefore called the day of redemption.

[3] Chriſt onely is the way to true & everlaſting life, for he it is in whom ẏͤ Father hath revealed himſelf.

[d] This ſaying, ſheweth unto us both the nature, the will, and office of Chriſt.

[e] It is plain by this place, that to know God, and to ſee God, is all one: Now wheras he ſaid before, that no man ſaw God at any time, that is to be underſtod thus, without Chriſt, or were it not through Chriſt, no man could ever ſee, nor ſaw God at any time: for as Chryſoſtome ſaith, the Sonne is a very ſhort and eaſie ſetting forth of the Fathers nature unto us.

[4] The majeſtie of God ſheweth it ſelf, moſt evidently, both in Chriſts doctrine & deeds.

[5] The approving of the vertue of Chriſt is not included within his own perſon, but it is ſpread thorow the body of his whole Church.

[f] That is, not onely doe them, but I can alſo give other men power to do greater.

* Chap. 16. 23. Matth. 7. 7. Marke 11. 24. Iames 1. 5.

[6] He loveth Chriſt aright which obeyeth his commandements: and becauſe the ſame is accompanied ẇͭ an infinite ſort of miſeries, although he be abſent in body, yet doth he comfort his, with the preſent vertue of the holy Ghoſt, whom the world deſpiſeth, becauſe it knoweth him not.

[g] The holy Ghoſt is called the Spirit of truth, of the effect which he worketh, becauſe he inſpireth the truth into us, wheras otherwiſe he hath truth in himſelf.

[h] Worldly men.

[i] The Sonne is in the Father after ſuch ſort, that he is of one ſelfeſame ſubſtance with the Father, but he is in his diſciples in a certain reſpect, as an aider and helper of them.

[k] I will ſhew my ſelf to him, and be known of him, as if he ſaw me with his eyes: but this ſhewing of himſelf is not bodily, but ſpirituall, yet ſo plain as none can be more.

22 [7] Judas ſaid unto him (not Iſcariot) Lord, what is the cauſe that thou wilt ſhew thy ſelf unto us, and not unto the world?

23 Jeſus anſwered, and ſaid unto him, If any man love me, he will keep my word, and my Father will love him, and we will come unto him, and will dwell with him:

24 He that loveth me not, keepeth not my words, & the word which ye heare, is not mine, but the Fathers which ſent me.

25 [8] Theſe things have I ſpoken unto you, being preſent with you.

26 * But the Comforter, which is the holy Ghoſt, whom the Father will ſend in my name, he ſhall teach you all things, and bring all things to your remembrance, which I have told you.

27 [9] Peace I leave with you: my peace I give unto you: not as the world giveth, give I unto you. Let not your hearts be troubled, nor feare.

28 [10] Ye have heard how I ſaid unto you, I go away, and will come unto you. If ye loved me, ye would verely rejoyce, becauſe I ſaid, I go unto the Father: for the Father is [l] greater then I.

29 And now have I ſpoken unto you, before it come, that when it is come to paſſe, ye might beleeve.

30 [11] Hereafter will I not ſpeake many things unto you: for the prince of this world cometh, and hath [m] nought in me.

31 But it is that the world may know that I love my Father: and as the Father hath commanded me, ſo I doe. Ariſe, let us go hence.

[7] We muſt not as why the Goſpel i revealed to ſom rather then to o ther, but we muſ rather take hee that we embrac Chriſt, who is offered unto us, and that we truly love him, that is to ſay that we give ou ſelves wholly to his obedience.

[8] It is the office of the holy Ghoſ to imprint in the mindes of the elect, in their times and ſeaſons that which Chriſt once ſpake.

* Chap. 15. 26.

[9] All true felicity cometh to us by Chriſt alone.

[10] So farre is it that we ſhould be ſory for the departing of Chirſt from us, according to the fleſh, that we ſhould rather rejoyce for it, ſeeing that all the bleſſing of the members dependeth upon the glorifying of the head.

[l] This is ſpoken, in that that he is Mediatour, for ſo the Father is greater then he, in as much as the perſon to whom requeſt is made, is greater then he that maketh the requeſt.

[11] Chriſt goeth to death not unwillingly, but willingly, not as yeelding to the devill, but obeying his Fathers decree.

[m] As who would ſay, Satan will by and by ſet upon me with all the might he can, but he hath no power over me, neither ſhall he find any ſuch thing in me, as he thinketh he ſhall.

CHAP. XV.

1 By the parable of the vine, 2 And the branches, 5. 6 He declareth how the diſciples may beare fruit. 12. 17 He commendeth mutuall love. 18 He exhorteth them to beare afflictions patiently, 20 By his own example.

I [1] Am that true Vine, and my Father is that huſbandman.

2 * Every branch that beareth not fruit in me, he taketh away: and every one that beareth fruit, he purgeth it, that it may bring forth more fruit.

3 * Now are ye clean through the word, which I have ſpoken unto you.

4 Abide in me, and I in you: as the branch cannot beare fruit of it ſelf, except it abide in the vine, no more can ye, except ye abide in me.

5 I am that vine: ye are the branches: he that abideth in me, and I in him, the ſame bringeth forth much fruit: for without me can ye do nothing.

6 * If a man abide not in me, he is caſt forth as a branch, and withereth: and men gather them, and caſt them into the fire, and they burn.

7 * [2] If ye abide in me, and my words abide

[1] We are of nature dry and fit for nothing, but the fire: Therefore that we may live and be fruitfull, we muſt firſt be graffed into Chriſt, as it were into a vine, by the Fathers hand: and then be daily ſhred with a continuall meditation of the word, and the croſſe: otherwiſe, it ſhall not availe any man at all to have been graffed, unleſſe he cleave faſt unto the vine, and ſo draw juice out of it.

* Matth. 15. 13.

* Chap. 13. 10.

* Coloſſ. 1. 23.

* 1 Iohn 3. 22.

[2] He abideth in Chriſt, which reſteth in his doctrine, and therefore bringeth forth good fruit: And the Father will deny ſuch an one nothing.

abide in you, aſk what ye will, and it ſhall be done to you.

8 [a] Herein is my Father glorified, that ye beare much fruit, and be made my diſciples.

9 [3] As the father hath loved me,ſo have I loved you: [b] continue in that my love.

10 If ye ſhall keep my commandments, ye ſhall abide in my love,as I have kept my Fathers commandments, and abide in his love.

11 Theſe things have I ſpoken unto you, that my joy might remain in you, and that your joy might be full.

12 * This is my commandment,that ye love one another, as I have loved you.

13 Greater love then this hath no man, when any man beſtoweth his life for his friends.

14 Ye are my friends,if ye do, whatſoever I command you.

15 [4] Henceforth call I you not ſervants: for the ſervant knoweth not what his maſter doth: but I have called you friends: for all things that I have heard of my Father, have I made known unto you:

16 [5] Ye [c] have not choſen me, but I have choſen you, and ordained you,* that ye go and bring forth fruit,and that your fruit remain,that whatſoever ye ſhall ask of the Father in my Name, he may give it you.

17 Theſe things command I you, that ye love one another.

18 [6] If the world hate you, ye know that it hated me before you.

19 If ye were of the world, the world would love his own: but becauſe ye are not of the world, but I have choſen you out of the world,therefore the world hateth you.

20 Remember the word that I ſaid unto you, * The ſervant is not greater then his maſter. * If they have perſecuted me, they will perſecute you alſo: if they have kept my word, they will alſo keep yours.

21 [7] But * all theſe things will they do unto you for my names ſake, becauſe they have nor known him that ſent me.

22 [d] If I had not come and ſpoken unto them, they ſhould not have had ſinne: but now have they no cloke for their ſinne.

23 He that hateth me, hateth my Father alſo.

24 If I had not done works among them which none other man did, they had not had ſinne:but now have they both ſeen, and have hated both me, and my Father.

25 But it is that the word might be fulfilled, that is written in their [e] Law, * They hated me without a cauſe.

26 [8] But when that Comforter ſhall come, * whom I will ſend unto you from the Father, even the Spirit of truth, which proceedeth of the Father, he ſhall teſtifie of me.

27 And ye ſhall witneſſe alſo,becauſe ye have beene with me from the beginning.

CHAP. XVI.

1 He foretelleth the diſciples of perſecution. 7 He promiſeth the Comforter, and declareth his office. 21 He compareth the afflictions of his, to a woman that travaileth with childe.

These[1] things have I ſaid unto you,that ye ſhould not be offended.

2 They ſhall excommunicate you: yea, the time ſhall come, that whoſoever killeth you,will think that he doth God ſervice.

3 And theſe things will they do unto you, becauſe they have not known the Father, nor me.

4 * But theſe things have I told you, that when the houre ſhall come, ye might remember,that I told you them. And theſe things ſaid I not unto you, from the beginning, becauſe I was with you.

5 But now I go my way to him that ſent me, and none of you asketh me, Whither goeſt thou?

6 But becauſe I have ſaid theſe things unto you, your hearts are full of ſorrow.

7 [2] Yet I tell you the truth, It is expedient for you that I goe away: for if I goe not away, that Comforter will not come unto you: but if I depart, I will ſend him unto you.

8 [3] And when he is come,he will [a] reprove the [b] world of ſinne,and of righteouſneſſe, and of judgement.

9 Of ſin,becauſe they beleeved not in me:

10 Of [c] righteouſneſſe, becauſe I go to my Father, and ye ſhall ſee me no more:

11 Of [d] judgement, [e] becauſe the prince of this world is judged.

12 [4] I have yet many things to ſay unto you, but ye cannot beare them now.

13 Howbeit, when he is come which is the Spirit of truth,he will lead you into all truth: for he ſhall not ſpeake of himſelf,but whatſoever he ſhall heare, ſhall he ſpeake, and he will ſhew you the things to come.

14 [5] He ſhall glorifie me: For he ſhall receive of mine,and ſhall ſhew it unto you.

15 All things that the Father hath, are mine: therefore ſaid I, that he ſhall take of mine, and ſhew it unto you.

16 [6] A [f] little while,and ye ſhall not ſee me: and again a little while, and ye ſhall ſee me: [g] for I goe to the Father.

17 Then ſaid ſome of his diſciples among themſelves, What is this that he ſaith unto us, A little while, and ye ſhall not ſee me, and again, a little while, and ye ſhall ſee me, and, For I go to the Father?

18 They

[a] As who would ſay, Herein ſhall my Father be glorified, and herein alſo ſhall you be my diſciples, if you bring forth much fruit.

[3] The love of the Father towards the Sonne, and of the Sonne towards us, and ours towards God & our neighbour, are joyned together with an unſeparable knot: and there is nothing more ſweet and pleaſant then it is. Now this love ſheweth it ſelf by the effects: a moſt perfect example whereof Chriſt himſelf exhibiteth unto us.

[b] That is, in that love wherewith I do love you: which love is on both parts.

* Chap. 13. 34. 1 Theſ. 4. 9. 1 John 3. 11. and 4. 21.

[4] The doctrine of the Goſpel (as it is uttered by Chriſts own mouth) is a moſt perfect and abſolute declaration of the counſell of God, which perteineth to our ſalvation and is committed unto the Apoſtles.

[5] Chriſt is the Authour and preſerver of the miniſtery of the Goſpel even to the worlds end: but the miniſters have above all things need of prayer & brotherly love.

[c] This place teacheth us plainly, that our ſalvation cometh from the onely favour and gracious goodneſſe of the everlaſting God toward us, and of nothing that we do or can deſerve.

* Matth. 28. 19.

[6] It ought not onely not to feare, but rather confirm the faithfull miniſters of Chriſt, when they ſhall be hated of the world as their Maſter was.

* Chap. 13. 16. Matth. 10. 24.

* Matth. 24. 9.

[7] The hatred that the world beareth againſt Chriſt, proceedeth of the blockiſhneſſe of the minde, which notwithſtanding is voluntary blind, ſo that the world can pretend no excuſe to cover their fault.

* Chap. 16. 4.

[d] As who would ſay, If I had not come, theſe men would not have ſtuck to have ſaid ſtill before Gods judgement ſeate, that they are religious & void of ſinne: but ſeeing I came to them, and they cleane refuſe me, they can have no cloke for their wickedneſſe.

[e] Some time by this word, Law, are meãt the five books of Moſes, but in this place, the whole Scripture: for the place alledged is in the Pſalmes. * Pſal. 35. 19. [8] Againſt the rage of the wicked, we ſhall ſtand ſurely by the inward teſtimonie of the holy Ghoſt: But the holy Ghoſt ſpeaketh no otherwiſe, then he ſpeaketh by the mouth of the Apoſtles. * Chap. 14. 26. Luke 24. 49.

[1] The miniſters of the Goſpel muſt look for all manner of reproches, not onely of thẽ which are open enemies, but even of them alſo which ſeem to be of ỹ ſame houſhold, and the very pillars of the Church.

* Chap. 15. 21.

[2] The abſence of Chriſt according to the fleſh, is profitable to the Church, that we may wholly depend upon his ſpirituall power.

[3] The Spirit of God worketh ſo mightily by the preaching of the word, that he conſtraineth ỹ world, will it, nill it, to confeſſe its own unrighteouſneſſe, and Chriſts righteouſneſſe, and almightineſſe.

[a] He will ſo reprove the world, that the worldlings ſhall be able to pretend no excuſe.

[b] He reſpecteth the time that followed his aſcenſion, when as all gainſayers were manifeſtly reproved through the pouring out of the holy Ghoſt upon the Church: So that the very enemies of Chriſt were reproved of ſinne, in that they were conſtrained to confeſſe that they were deceived, in that they beleeved not, and therefore they ſaid to Peter. Acts 2. Men and brethren, what ſhall we doe?

[c] Of Chriſt himſelf: for when the world ſhall ſee, that I have powred out the holy Ghoſt, they ſhall be conſtrained to confeſſe that I was juſt and was not condemned of my Father, when I went out of this world.

[d] Of that authority and power which I have both in heaven and earth.

[e] That is, becauſe they ſhall then underſtand and know indeed that I have overcome the devill and doe govern the world when all men ſhall ſee that they ſet themſelves againſt you in vain, for I will arme you with that heavenly power, whereby you may deſtroy every high thing which is lifted up againſt the knowledge of God. 2. Cor. 10. 12

[4] The doctrine of the Apoſtles proceeded from the holy Ghoſt, and is moſt perfect. [5] The holy Ghoſt bringeth no new doctrine, but teacheth that which was uttered by Chriſts own mouth, & imprinteth it in our minds. [6] The grace of the holy Ghoſt is a moſt lively glaſſe, wherein Chriſt is truely beholden with the moſt ſharpe ſighted eyes of faith, and not with the bleared eyes of the fleſh, whereby we feel a continuall joy even in the midſt of ſorrows. [f] When a little time is once paſt. [g] For I paſſe to eternall glory, ſo that I ſhall be much more preſent with you then I was before: for then you ſhall feel indeed what I am, and what I am able to doe.

18 They ſaid therefore, What is this that he ſaith, A little while? we know not what he ſaith.

19 Now Jeſus knew that they would ask him, and ſaid unto them, Do ye enquire among your ſelves, of that I ſaid, A little while, and ye ſhall not ſee me: and again, a little while, and ye ſhall ſee me?

20 Verely, verely I ſay unto you, that ye ſhall weep and lament, and the world ſhall rejoyce: and ye ſhall ſorrow, but your ſorrow ſhall be turned to joy.

21 A woman when ſhe travaileth, hath ſorrow, becauſe her houre is come: but aſſoone as ſhe is delivered of the childe, ſhe remembreth no more the anguiſh, for joy that a man is born into the world.

22 And ye now therefore are in ſorrow: but I will ſee you again, and your hearts ſhall rejoyce, and your joy ſhall no man take from you.

23 And in that day ſhall ye ask me nothing. * Verely, verely I ſay unto you, Whatſoever ye ſhall ask the Father in my Name, he will give it you.

24 Hitherto have ye asked nothing in my Name: ask, and ye ſhall receive, that your joy may be full.

25 [7] Theſe things have I ſpoken unto you in parables: but the time will come, when I ſhall no more ſpeake to you in parables: but I ſhall ſhew you plainly of the Father.

26 [8] At that day ſhall ye ask in my Name, and I ſay not unto you, that I will pray unto the Father for you:

27 For the Father himſelf loveth you, becauſe ye have loved me, * and have beleeved that I came out from God.

28 I am come out from the Father, and came into the world: again, I leave the world, and go to the Father.

29 [9] His diſciples ſaid unto him, Lo, now ſpeakeſt thou plainely, and thou ſpeakeſt no parable,

30 Now know we that thou knoweſt all things, and needeſt not that any man ſhould ask thee. By this we beleeve that thou art come out from God.

31 Jeſus anſwered them, Do you beleeve now?

32 * [10] Behold, the houre cometh, and is already come, that ye ſhall be ſcattered every man into his own, and ſhall leave me alone: but I am not alone: for the Father is with me.

33 [11] Theſe things have I ſpoken unto you, that [h] in me ye might have peace: in the world ye ſhall have affliction, but be of good comfort: I have overcome the world.

CHAP. XVII.

1 Chriſt prayeth that his glory, together with his Fathers, may be made manifeſt. 9 He prayeth for his Apoſtles, 20 And for all beleevers.

THeſe [1] things ſpake Jeſus, and lift up his eyes to heaven, and ſaid, [2] Father, that houre is come: glorifie thy Sonne, that thy Sonne may alſo glorifie thee:

2 * As thou haſt given him power over [a] all fleſh, that he ſhould give eternall life to all them that thou haſt given him.

3 And this is life eternall, that they know thee to be the [b] onely very God, and whom thou haſt ſent, Jeſus Chriſt.

4 I have glorified thee on the earth: I have finiſhed the work which thou gaveſt me to do.

5 And now glorifie me, thou Father, with thine own ſelf, with the glory which I had with thee before the world was.

6 [3] I have declared thy name unto the men which thou gaveſt me out of the world: [c] thine they were, and thou [d] gaveſt them me, and they have kept thy word.

7 * Now they that know all things whatſoever thou haſt given me, are of thee.

8 For I have given unto them the words which thou gaveſt me, and they have received them, and have known ſurely that I came out from thee, and have beleeved that thou haſt ſent me.

9 I pray for them: I pray not for the world, but for them which thou haſt given me: for they are thine,

10 And all mine are thine, and thine are mine, and I am glorified in them.

11 And now am I no more in the world, but theſe are in the world, and I come to thee. Holy Father, keep them in thy Name, even them whom thou haſt given me, that they may be [e] one as we are.

12 While I was with them in the world, I kept them in thy Name: thoſe that thou gaveſt me, have I kept, and none of them is loſt, but the childe of perdition, that the * Scripture might be fulfilled.

13 And now come I to thee, and theſe things ſpeake I in the world, that they might have my joy fulfilled in themſelves.

14 I have given them thy word, and the world hath hated them, becauſe they are not of the world, as I am not of the world.

15 [4] I pray not that thou ſhouldeſt take them out of the world, but that thou keep them from all evill.

16 They are not of the world, as I am not of the world.

17 [f] Sanctifie them with thy truth: thy word is truth.

18 [5] As thou diddeſt ſend me into the world, ſo have I ſent them into the world.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 By Chriſts power, whom Iudas betrayeth, 6 The ſouldiers are caſt down to the ground. 13 Chriſt is led to Annas, and from him to Caiaphas. 22. 23 His anſwere to the officer that ſmote him with a rod. 28 Being delivered to Pilate, 36 Hee declareth his kingdome.

WHen [1] Jeſus had ſpoken theſe things, he went forth with his diſciples over the brooke * Cedron, where was a garden, into the which he entred, and his diſciples.

1 Chriſt goeth of his own accord into a garden, which his betrayer knew, to be taken, that by his obedience, he might take away the ſinne that entred into the world by one mans rebellion, and that in a garden.

* Matt.26. 36. Marke 14. 32. Luke 22.39.

2 And Judas which betrayed him, knew alſo the place: for Jeſus oftimes reſorted thither with his diſciples.

3 * [2] Judas then, after he had received a band of men and officers of the high Prieſts, and of the Phariſes, came thither with lanterns and torches, and weapons.

* Matt 26.47. Marke 14.43. Luke 22.47.

2 Chriſt who was innocent was taken as a wicked perſon, that we which are wicked might be let goe as innocent,

4 [3] Then Jeſus, knowing all things that ſhould come unto him, went forth and ſaid unto them, Whom ſeek yee?

3 Chriſts perſon (but not his vertue) was bound of the adverſaries, when and how he would.

5 They anſwered him, Jeſus of Nazareth. Jeſus ſaid unto them, I am he. Now Judas alſo which betrayed him, ſtood with them.

6 Aſſoone then as he had ſaid unto them, I am he, they went away backewards, and fell to the ground.

7 Then he asked them againe, Whom ſeeke ye? And they ſaid, Jeſus of Nazareth.

8 [4] Jeſus anſwered, I ſaid unto you, that I am he: therefore if ye ſeeke me, let theſe goe their way.

4 Christ doeth not neglect the office of a good paſtour, no not in his greateſt danger.

9 This was that the word might be fulfilled which he ſpake, * Of them which thou gaveſt me, have I loſt none.

* Chap.17. 12.

10 [5] Then Simon Peter having a ſword, drew it, and ſmote the high Prieſts ſervant, and cut off his right eare. Now the ſervants name was Malchus.

5 We ought to conteine the zeale we beare to God, within the bonds of our vocation.

11 Then ſaid Jeſus unto Peter, Put up thy ſword into the ſheath: ſhall I not drink of the cup which my Father hath given me?

12 Then the band and the captaine, and the officers of the Jewes took Jeſus, and bound him,

13 [6] And led him away to * Annas firſt (for he was father in law to Caiaphas, which was the high Prieſt that ſame yeare.)

6 Chriſt is brought before an earthly high Prieſt to be condemned for our blaſphemies, that we might be quitted of the everlaſting high Prieſt himſelfe.

16 But Peter ſtood at the doore without. Then went out the other diſciple which was knowen unto the high Prieſt, and ſpake to her that kept the doore, and brought in Peter.

17 Then ſaid the maid that kept the doore, unto Peter, Art not thou alſo one of this mans diſciples? He ſaid, I am not.

18 And the ſervants and officers ſtood there, which had made a fire of coales: for it was cold, and they warmed themſelves. And Peter alſo ſtood among them, and warmed himſelfe.

19 ¶ ([8] The high Prieſt then asked Jeſus of his diſciples, and of his doctrine.

8 Chriſt defendeth his cauſe but ſlenderly, not that he would withdrawe himſelſe from death, but to ſhew that he was condemned as an innocent.

20 Jeſus anſwered him, I ſpake openly to the world: I ever taught in the Synagogue and in the Temple, whither the Jewes reſort continually, and in ſecret have I ſaid nothing, 21 Why askeſt thou me? aske them which heard me what I ſaid unto them: behold, they know what I ſaid.

22 When he had ſpoken theſe things, one of the officers which ſtood by, ſmote Jeſus with his rod, ſaying, Anſwereſt thou the high Prieſt ſo?

23 Jeſus anſwered him, If I have evill ſpoken, beare witneſſe of the evill: but if I have well ſpoken, why ſmiteſt thou me?

27 Peter then denied againe, and immediatly the cock crew.

30 They anſwered, and ſaid unto him, If he were not an evill doer, we would not have delivered him unto thee.

31 Then ſaid Pilate unto them, Take ye him, and judge him after your own Law. Then the Jewes ſaid unto him, [b] It is not lawfull for us to put any man to death.

[b] For iudgements of life and death were taken from them fourtie yeares before the deſtruction of the Temple.

33 * So Pilate entred into the common hall againe, and called Jeſus, and ſaid unto him, Art thou the King of the Jewes?

* Matt.17.11. Marke 25.2. Luke 23.3.

34 Jeſus anſwered him, Sayeſt thou that of thy ſelfe, or did other tell it thee of me?

35 Pilate anſwered, Am I a Jew? Thine own nation, and the high Prieſts have delivered thee unto mee. What haſt thou done?

36 [11] Jeſus anſwered, my kingdome is not of this world: if my kingdome were of this world, my ſervants would ſurely fight, that I ſhould not be delivered to the Jewes: but now is my kingdome not from hence.

[11] Chriſt avoucheth his ſpirituall kingdome, but rejecteth a wordly.

37 Pilate then ſaid unto him, Art thou a King then? Jeſus anſwered, Thou ſayeſt that I am a King: for this cauſe am I born, and for this cauſe came I into the world, that I ſhould beare witneſſe unto the trueth: every one that is of the trueth, heareth my voice.

38 [12] Pilate ſaid unto him, [d] What is trueth? And when he had ſaid that, he went out againe unto the Jewes, and ſaid unto them, I finde in him no cauſe at all.

[12] It was requiſit that Chriſt ſhould be pronounced innocent, but notwithſtanding (in that that he took upon him our perſon) was to be condemned as a moſt wicked man.

[d] He ſpeaketh this diſdainfully and ſcoffingly, and not by way of asking a queſtion.

39 * But you have a cuſtome, that I ſhould deliver you one looſe at the Paſſeover: will ye then that I looſe unto you the King of the Jewes?

Chap. XIX.

1 Pilate when Chriſt was ſcourged, 2 and crowned with thornes, 4 was deſirous to let him looſe, 8 but being overcome with the outrage of the Iewes, 16 He delivereth him to be crucified. 26 Ieſus committeth his mother to the diſciple. 30 Having taſted vineger, he dieth. 34 And being dead, his ſide is pierced with a ſpeare. 40 He is buried.

2 And the ſouldiers platted a crown of thornes, and put it on his head, and they put on him a purple garment,

3 And ſaid, Haile King of the Jewes. And they ſmote him with their rods.

4 [2] Then Pilate went forth againe, and ſaid unto them, Behold, I bring him forth to you, that ye may know, that I finde no fault in him at all.

[2] Chriſt is ag quitted by th ſame mouth wherewith he afterward condemned.

5 Then came Jeſus forth wearing a crown of thornes, and a purple garment. And Pilate ſaid unto them, Behold the man.

6 Then when the high Prieſts and officers ſaw him, they cried, ſaying, [a] Crucifie, crucifie him. Pilate ſaid unto them, Take ye him and crucifie him: for I finde no fault in him.

[a] They will ha him crucified wh by an old cuſtome theirs they ſho have ſtoned & ha ged up as convi of blaſphemie: b they deſire to ha him crucified aft the manner of t Romanes.

7 The Jewes anſwered him, We have a law, and by our law he ought to die, becauſe he made himſelfe the Sonne of God.

8 ¶ [3] When Pilate then heard that word, he was the more afraid,

[3] Pilates conſcience fighte for Chriſt, but ſtraightway it yeeldeth, becau it is not uphold with the ſingul vertue of God.

9 And went againe into the common hall, and ſaid unto Jeſus, Whence art thou? But Jeſus gave him none anſwere.

10 Then ſaid Pilate unto him, Speakeſt thou not unto me? Knoweſt thou not that I have power to crucifie thee, and have power to looſe thee?

11 Jeſus anſwered, Thou couldeſt have no power at all againſt me, except it were given thee from above: therefore he that delivered me unto thee, hath the greater ſin.

12 From thenceforth Pilate ſought to looſe him, but the Jewes cried, ſaying, If thou deliver him, thou art not Ceſars friend: for whoſoever maketh himſelfe a King, ſpeaketh againſt Ceſar.

13 ¶ [4] When Pilate heard this word, he brought Jeſus forth, and ſate down in the judgement ſeate, in a place called, The Pavement, and in Ebrew, [b] Gabbatha.

[4] Pilate condem neth himſelfe firſt with the ſame mouth, wherewith he afterward condemneth Chriſt.

[b] Gabbatha ſignifieth an hie place, a iudgement ſeates are.

14 And it was the preparation of the Paſſeover, and about the ſixt houre: and he ſaid unto the Jewes, Behold your King.

15 But they cried, Away with him, away with him, crucifie him. Pilate ſaid unto them, Shall I crucifie your King? The high Prieſts anſwered, We have no King but Ceſar.

16 [5] Then delivered he him unto them, to be crucified. And they tooke Jeſus, and led him away.

[5] Chriſt faſteneth Satan, ſinne and death to the croſſe.

17 * And he bare his own croſſe, and came into a place named of dead mens ſkulls, which is called in Hebrew, Golgotha:

* Matt.27.31. Marke 15.25. Luke 23.26.

18 Where they crucified him, and two other with him, on either ſide one, and Jeſus in the middes.

19 ¶ [6] And Pilate wrote alſo a title, and put it on the Croſſe, and it was written, JESVS OF NAZARETH THE KING OF THE JEVVES.

[6] Chriſt ſitting upon the throne o the croſſe, is openly written everlaſting king of all people with hi own hand, whoſe mouth condemned him for uſurping a kingdome.

20 This title then read many of the Jewes:

Jewes : for the place where Jeſus was crucified, was neere to the citie : and it was written in Hebrew, Greeke and Latine.

21 Then ſaid the high Prieſts of the Jewes, to Pilate, Write not, The king of the Jewes, but that he ſaid, I am king of the Jewes.

22 Pilate anſwered, What I have written, I have written.

23 ¶ [7] Then the * ſouldiers, when they had crucified Jeſus, tooke his garments (and made foure parts, to every ſouldier a part) and his coat : and the coat was without ſeame woven from the top throughout.

24 Therefore they ſayd one to another, Let us not divide it, but caſt lots for it, whoſe it ſhall be. This was that the Scripture might be fulfilled, which ſayth, * They parted my garments among them, and on my coat did caſt lots. So the ſouldiers did theſe things in deed.

25 ¶ [8] Then ſtood by the croſſe of Jeſus his mother, and his mothers ſiſter, Mary the wife of Cleopas, and Mary Magdalene.

26 And when Jeſus ſaw his mother, and the diſciple ſtanding by, whom he loved, he ſaid unto his mother, Woman, behold thy ſonne.

27 Then ſaid he to the diſciple, Behold thy mother : and from that houre the diſciple tooke her home unto him.

28 ¶ [9] After, when Jeſus knew that all things were performed, that the * Scripture might be fulfilled, he ſaid, I thirſt.

29 And there was ſet a [c] veſſell full of vineger : and they filled a ſpunge with vineger, and put it about an Hyſſope ſtalke, and put it to his mouth.

30 Now when Jeſus had received of the vineger, he ſaid, It is finiſhed, and bowed his head, and gave up the ghoſt.

31 [10] The Jewes then (becauſe it was the Preparation, that the bodies ſhould not remaine upon the croſſe on the Sabbath day : for that Sabbath was an high day) beſought Pilate that their legs might be broken, and that they might be taken down.

32 Then came the ſouldiers and brake the legs of the firſt, and of the other which was crucified with Ieſus.

33 But when they came to Jeſus, and ſaw that he was dead already, they brake not his legs.

34 [11] But one of the ſouldiers with a ſpeare [d] pierced his ſide, and forthwith came thereout blood and water.

35 And he that ſaw it, bare record, and his record is true : and he knoweth that he ſaith true, that ye might beleeve it.

36 For theſe things were done, that the Scripture ſhould be fulfilled, * Not a bone of him ſhall be broken.

37 And againe another Scripture ſayth, * They ſhall ſee him whom they have thruſt through.

38 * [12] And after theſe things, Joſeph of Arimathea (who was a diſciple of Jeſus, but ſecretly for feare of the Jewes) beſought Pilate that he might take down the bodie of Jeſus. And Pilate gave him licence. He came then and tooke Jeſus bodie.

39 And there came * alſo Nicodemus (which firſt came to Jeſus by night) and brought of myrrhe and aloes mingled together about an hundred pound.

40 Then tooke they the bodie of Jeſus, and wrapped it in linnen clothes with the odours, as the maner of the Jewes is to burie.

41 And in that place where Jeſus was crucified, was a garden, and in the garden a new ſepulchre, wherein was [e] never man yet laid.

42 There then layd they Jeſus, becauſe of the Jewes preparation day, for the ſepulchre was neere.

CHAP. XX.

1 Mary bringeth word that Chriſt is riſen. 3 Peter and Iohn 4 runne to ſee it. 15 Ieſus appeareth to Mary, 19 and to the diſciples that were together in the houſe. 25 Thomas, before faithleſſe, 29 Now beleeveth.

NOw * [1] the firſt day of the weeke came Mary Magdalene, early when it was yet darke, unto the ſepulchre, and ſaw the ſtone taken away from the tombe.

2 Then ſhe ranne, and came to Simon Peter, and to the other diſciple whom Jeſus loved, and ſaid unto them, They have taken away the Lord out of the ſepulchre, & we know not where they have laid him.

3 Peter therefore went forth, and the other diſciple, and they came unto the ſepulchre.

4 So they ranne both together, but the other diſciple did outrunne Peter, and came firſt to the ſepulchre.

5 And he ſtouped down, and ſaw the linnen clothes lying: yet went he not in.

6 Then came Simon Peter following him, and went into the ſepulchre, and ſaw the linnen clothes lie,

7 And the kerchiefe that was upon his head, not lying with the linnen clothes, but wrapped together in a place by it ſelfe.

8 Then went in alſo the other diſciple, which came firſt to the ſepulchre, and he ſaw it, and beleeved.

9 For as yet they knew not the Scripture, That he muſt riſe againe from the dead.

10 And the diſciples went away againe unto their own home.

11 ¶ * But Mary ſtood [a] without at the ſepulchre weeping : and as ſhe wept, ſhe bowed her ſelfe into the ſepulchre,

[d] This wound was a moſt manifeſt witneſſe of the death of Chriſt : for the water that iſſued out of this wound gave us plainely to underſtand, that the weapon pierced the very ſkinne that compaſſeth the heart, which is the veſſell that containeth that water, and that being once wounded, that creature which is ſo pierced, and ſtricken, cannot chuſe but die.

15 Jeſus ſayth unto her, Woman, why weepeſt thou? whom ſeekeſt thou? She ſuppoſing that he had beene the gardiner, ſaid unto him, Sir, if thou haſt borne him hence, tell me where thou haſt laid him, and I will take him away.

16 Jeſus ſayth unto her, Marie. She turned her ſelfe, and ſaid unto him, Rabboni, which is to ſay, Maſter.

17 [4] Jeſus ſayth unto her, touch me not: for I am not yet aſcended to my Father: but goe to my [d] brethren, and ſay unto them, I aſcend unto [e] my Father, and to your Father, and to my God, & your God.

18 Mary Magdelene came and told the diſciples that ſhe had ſeen the Lord, and that he had ſpoken theſe things unto her.

19 ¶ * [5] The ſame day then at night, which was the firſt day of the weeke, and when the [f] doores were ſhut where the Diſciples were aſſembled for feare of the Iews, came Jeſus and ſtood in the mids, and ſaid to them, Peace be unto you.

20 And when he had ſo ſaid, he ſhewed unto them his hands, and his ſide. Then were the Diſciples glad when they had ſeene the Lord.

21 * Then ſaid Jeſus unto them againe, Peace be unto you: as my Father ſent me, ſo, ſend I you.

22 And when he had ſaid that, he breathed on them, and ſaid unto them, Receive the holy Ghoſt.

23 [6] Whoſoevers ſinnes ye remit, they are remitted unto them: and whoſoevers ſinnes ye retaine, they are retained.

24 ¶ [7] But Thomas one of the twelve, called Didymus, was not with them when Jeſus came.

25 The other Diſciples therefore ſaid unto him, We have ſeene the Lord: but he ſaid unto them, Except I ſee in his hands the print of the nailes, and put my finger into the print of the nailes, and put my hand into his ſide, I will not beleeve it.

26 ¶ And eight dayes after, againe his diſciples were within, and Thomas with them. Then came Jeſus, when the doores were ſhut, and ſtood in the mids, and ſaid, Peace be unto you.

27 After, ſaid he to Thomas, Put thy finger here, and ſee mine hands, and put forth thine hand; and put it into my ſide, and be not faithleſſe, but faithfull.

28 Then Thomas anſwerd, and ſaid unto him, Thou art my Lord and my God.

29 [8] Jeſus ſaid unto him, Thomas, becauſe thou haſt ſeene me, thou beleeveſt: bleſſed are they that have not ſeene, and have beleeved.

30 ¶ * [9] And many other ſignes alſo did Jeſus in the preſence of his Diſciples, which are not written in this booke.

31 But theſe things are written, that ye might beleeve, that Jeſus is that Chriſt that Sonne of God, and that in beleeving ye might have life through his Name.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Ieſus appeareth to his Diſciples as they were a fiſhing, 6,7 whom they know by a miraculous draught of Fiſhes. 15 He committeth the charge of the Sheepe to Peter, 18 and foretelleth him of the maner of his death.

AFter theſe things, [1] Jeſus ſhewed himſelfe againe to his Diſciples at the ſea of Tiberias: and thus ſhewed he himſelfe.

2 There were together Simon Peter, and Thomas, which is called Didymus, and Nathanael of Cana in Galile, and ſonnes of Zebedeus, and two other of his diſciples.

3 Simon Peter ſaid unto them, I goe a fiſhing. They ſaid unto him, We alſo wil goe with thee. They went their way and entred into a ſhip ſtraightway, and that night caught they nothing.

4 But when the morning was now come, Jeſus ſtood on the ſhore: nevertheleſs the deſciples knew not that it was Jeſus.

5 Jeſus then ſaid unto them, Sirs, have ye any meat? They anſwered him, No.

6 Then he ſaid unto them, Caſt out the net on the right ſide of the ſhip, and ye ſhall find. So they caſt out, & they were not able at all to draw it, for the multitude of fiſhes.

7 Therefore ſaid the diſciple whom Jeſus loved, unto Peter, Jt is the Lord. When Simon Peter heard that it was the Lord, he girded his [a] coat to him (for he was naked) and caſt himſelfe into the ſea.

8 But the other diſciples came by ſhip (for they were not farre from land, but about two hundreth cubites) and drew the net with fiſhes.

9 Aſſoone then as they were come to land, they ſaw hot coales, and fiſh laid thereon, and bread.

10 Jeſus ſaid unto them, Bring of the fiſhes which ye have now caught.

11 Simon Peter ſtepped forth and drew the net to land, full of great fiſhes, an hundreth, fiftie and three: and albeit there were ſo many, yet was not the net broken.

12 Jeſus ſaid unto them, Come, and dine. And none of the Diſciples durſt aske him, Who art thou? ſeeing they knew that he was the Lord.

2 Two Angels are made witneſſes of the Lords reſurrection.

b In white clothing.

c Mary ſpake as the common people uſe to ſpeake: for they ſpeake of a dead carkaſſe as they doe of a whole man.

3 Jeſus witneſſeth by his preſence, that he is truely riſen.

4 Chriſt which is riſen is not to be ſought in this world, according to the fleſh, but in heaven by faith, whither he is gone before us.

d By his brethren, he meaneth his diſciples: for in the next verſe following, it is ſaid, that Mary told his Diſciples.

e He calleth God his Father, becauſe he is his Father naturally in the Godhead, and he ſaith your Father, becauſe he is our Father, by grace, through the adoption of the Sonnes of God: that is, by taking us of his free grace to be his ſonnes, Epiphanius.

* Mar. 16. 14. Luke. 24.36. 1 Cor. 15.5.

5 Chriſt in that that he preſented himſelfe before his diſciples ſuddenly. through his divine power, when the gates were ſhut, doth fully aſſure them both of his reſurrection, and alſo of their Apoſtleſhip, inſpiring thē with the holy Ghoſt who is the miniſtery of the Goſpel.

f Either the doores opend to him of their owne accord, or the very wals themſelves were a Paſſage to him.

* *Mat.*28. 18.

6 The publiſhing of the forgivenes of ſins, by faith in Chriſt, and the ſetting forth and denouncing the wrath of God in retaining the ſins of the unbeleevers, is the ſumme of the preaching of the Goſpel,

7 Chriſt draweth out of the unbeleefe of Thomas a certaine and ſure teſtimonie of his reſurrection.

8 True faith dependeth upon the mouth of God, and not upon fleſhly eyes.

* Chap. 21. 25.

9 To beleeve in Chriſt the Sonne of God, and our only Saviour, is the end of the doctrine of the Goſpel, and eſpecially of the hiſtory of the reſurrection.

1 In that, that Chriſt here is not onely preſent but alſo eateth with his Diſciples, he giveth a moſt full aſſurance of his Reſurrection.

a It was a linnē garment, which could not let his ſwimming.

13 Ieſus then came and tooke bread and gave them, and fiſh likewiſe.

14 This is now the third time that Jeſus ſhewed himſelf to his diſciples, after that he was riſen again from the dead.

15 ¶ [2] So when they had dined, Jeſus ſaid to Simon Peter, Simon the ſon of Iona, loveſt thou me more then theſe? He ſaid unto him, Yea Lord, thou knoweſt that I love thee. He ſaid unto him, Feed my lambes.

16 He ſaid to him again the ſecond time, Simon the ſon of Iona, loveſt thou me? He ſaid unto him, Yea Lord, thou knoweſt that I love thee. He ſaid unto him, Feed my ſheep.

17 He ſaid unto him the [b] third time, Simon the ſon of Iona, loveſt thou me? Peter was ſorrie, becauſe he ſaid to him the third time, Loveſt thou me? and ſaid unto him, Lord, thou knoweſt all things: thou knoweſt that I love thee. Jeſus ſaid unto him, Feed my ſheep.

18 [3] Verely, verely I ſay unto thee, When thou waſt yong, thou [c] girdedſt thy ſelf, and walkedſt whither thou wouldeſt: but when thou ſhalt be old, thou ſhalt ſtretch forth thine hands, and another ſhall [d] gird thee, and lead thee whither thou wouldeſt [e] not.

19 And this ſpake he, ſignifying by [f] what death he ſhould glorifie God. And when he had ſaid this, he ſaid to him, Follow me.

20 [4] Then Peter turned about, and ſaw the diſciple whom Ieſus loved, following, which had alſo * leaned on his breſt at ſupper, and had ſaid, Lord, which is he that betrayeth thee?

21 When Peter therefore ſaw him, he ſaid to Ieſus, Lord, what ſhall this man doe?

22 Ieſus ſaid unto him, If I will that he tarrie till I come, what is it to thee? follow thou me.

23 Then went this word abroad among the brethren, that this Diſciple ſhould not die. Yet Ieſus ſaid not to him, He ſhall not die: but if I will that he tarie till I come, what is it to thee?

24 [5] This is that diſciple, which teſtifieth of theſe things, and wrote theſe things, and we know that his teſtimonie is true.

25 * Now there are alſo many other things which Ieſus did, the which if they ſhould be written every one, I ſuppoſe the world could not contain the bookes that ſhould be written, Amen.

Peter by this iple confeſſion is ſtored into his rmer degree om whence he ll by his triple eniall: and therewithall is adverti- ed, that he is in- ded a paſtour, hich ſheweth his ve to Chriſt, in eding his ſheep.

It was meet that e that had denied im thriſe ſhould nfeſſe him thriſe, at Peter might ither doubt of the rgiveneſſe of his ievous a ſin, nor his reſtoring to the ice of the Apoſtle- ip.

The violent eath of Peter is retold.

They that tooke far urneies, eſpecial- in the Eaſt coun- ey, and in thoſe pla- es where the people ed long garments, ad need to be girded nd truſſed up.

He meant that d of girding which ſed toward cap- es, when they are nd faſt with rdes and chaines, who would ſay, now thou girdeſt thy lfe as thou thinkeſt d, to go whither liſteſt, but the me will be, when u ſhalt not gird e with a girdle, but another ſhall bind thee with chains, and carrie thee whither thou wouldeſt not.

[e] Not that Peter ſuffered ought for the trueth of God againſt his will, for we reade that he came with ioy and gladneſſe, when he returned from the Councill, where he was whipped: but becauſe this wil commeth not from the fleſh, but from that gift of the Spirit which is given us from above, therefore he ſhewed, there ſhould be a certain ſtriving and conflict or repugnancie, which alſo is in us, in all our ſufferances as touching the fleſh.

[f] That is, that Peter ſhould die by a violent death.

[4] We muſt take heed, that whiles we caſt our eyes upon other, we neglect not that which is injoyned us.

* *Chap.*13.23.

[5] The hiſtorie of Chriſt is true and warily written: not for curioſitie of men, but for the ſalvation of the godly.

THE ACTES OF THE HOLY Apoſtles, writen by Luke the Euangeliſt.

Chap. I.

1 Luke tieth this hiſtorie to his Goſpell, 9 Chriſt being taken into heaven, 10 the Apoſtles 11 being warned by the Angels, 12 returne, 14 and give themſelves to prayer. 15 By Peters motion, 18 into Iudas the traytours place, Matthias is choſen.

I Have made the [1] former treatiſe, O Theophilus, of all that Ieſus began to [a] doe and teach.

2 Untill the day that hee was taken up, after that he through the holy Ghoſt had given commandements unto the Apoſtles, whom he had choſen:

3 [2] To whom alſo he preſented himſelfe alive after that he had ſuffred, by many [b] infallible tokens, being ſeen of them by the ſpace of fortie dayes, and ſpeaking of thoſe things which appertaine to the kingdome of God.

4 * And when he had [c] gathered them together, he commanded them that they ſhould not depart from Hieruſalem, but to wait for the promiſe of the Father, which * ſaid he, ye have heard of me.

5 * For Iohn indeed baptized with water, but ye ſhall be baptized [d] with the holy Ghoſt within theſe few dayes.

6 [3] When they therefore were come together, they asked of him, ſaying, Lord, wilt thou at this time [e] reſtore the kingdom to Iſrael?

7 And he ſaid unto them, It is not for you to know the times, or the [f] ſeaſons, which the Father hath put in his own power,

8 * But ye ſhal receive power of the holy Ghoſt, when he ſhall come on you: and ye a The acts of Ieſus are the miracles and doings which ſhewed his Godhead, and his moſt perfit holineſſe and examples of his doctrine.

2 Chriſt did not ſtraightwayes aſcend into heaven after his reſurrection, becauſe he would throughly prove his reſurrection, and with his preſence confirme his Apoſtles in the doctrine, which they had heard.

b He calleth thoſe infallible tokens, which are otherwiſe termed neceſſary: now in that, that Chriſt ſpake, and walked, and ate, and was felt of many, theſe are ſure ſignes and tokens that he truely roſe againe.

ſhall be witneſſes unto me both in Hieruſalem and in all Iudea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermoſt part of the earth.

9 * [4] And when he had ſpoken theſe things, while they beheld, he was taken up: for a cloud took him up out of their ſight.

10 And while they looked ſtedfaſtly toward heaven, as he went, behold two men ſtood by them in white apparell.

11 Which alſo ſaid, ye men of Galile, why ſtand ye gazing into the heaven? This Ieſus which is taken up [g] from you into heaven, ſhall ſo come, as ye have ſeen him go into heaven.

12 ¶ Then returned they unto Hieruſalem from the mount that is called the mount of Olives, which is neere to Hieruſalem, being from it a Sabbath [h] dayes journey.

13 [5] And when they were [i] come in, they went up into an upper chamber, where abode both Peter, and Iames, and Iohn, and Andrew, Philip, and Thomas, Bartlemew, and Matthew, Iames the ſon of Alpheus, and Simon Zelotes, and Iudas Iames brother.

14 Theſe all [k] continued with [l] one accord in [m] prayer, and ſupplication with the [n] women, and Marie the mother of Ieſus, and [o] with his brethren.

15 ¶ [6] And in thoſe dayes Peter ſtood up in the mids of the Diſciples, and ſaid (now the number of [p] names that were in one place were about an hundreth and twentie.)

16 [7] Ye men and brethren, this Scripture muſt needs have been fulfilled, which the * holy Ghoſt by the mouth of David ſpake before of Iudas, which was * guid to them that tooke Ieſus.

17 For he was numbred with us, & had obtained fellowſhip in this miniſtration.

18 He therefore hath [q] purchaſed a field with the reward of iniquitie: and when * he had [r] throwen down himſelfe headlong, he braſt aſunder in the mids, and all his bowels guſhed out.

19 And it is known unto all the inhabitants of Hieruſalem, in ſo much, that that field is called in their own language, Aceldama, that is, The field of blood.

20 For it is written in the booke of Pſalms, * Let his habitation be void, and let no man dwell therein: * alſo, Let another take his [ſ] charge.

21 [8] Wherefore of theſe men which have companied with us, all the time that the Lord Jeſus was [t] converſant among us.

22 Beginning from the Baptiſme of Iohn unto the day that he was taken up [v] from us, muſt one of them be made a witneſſe with us of his reſurrection.

23 [9] And they [x] preſented two, Ioſeph called Barſabas, whoſe ſurname was Iuſtus, and Matthias.

24 And they prayed, ſaying, Thou Lord, which knoweſt the hearts of all men, ſhew whether of theſe two thou haſt choſen.

25 That he may take the [y] roome of this miniſtration and Apoſtleſhip, from which Iudas hath [z] gone aſtray, to go to his own place.

26 Then they gave forth their lots, and the lot fell on Matthias, and he was by a common conſent counted with the eleven Apoſtles.

* Luke 24.51.

4 After that Chriſt had promiſed the full vertue of the holy Ghoſt, wherewith he would governe his Church, although he ſhould be abſent in body, he took up his body from us into the heavenly tabernacles, there to continue until the latter day of judgement, as the Angels witneſſe.

g That is, out of your ſight.

h About two mile.

5 Eccleſiaſticall aſſemblies to heare the word, & to make common prayer, were firſt inſtituted & kept in private houſes by the Apoſtles.

i They went into the houſe, which the Church had choſen at that time to be a reſiance for the whole aſſembly.

k The Greek word ſignifieth, an invincible conſtancie, and ſteadines.

l It is to good purpoſe, that this concord is mentioned: for thoſe prayers are moſt acceptable to God, which are made with agreeing minds and wils.

m The diſciples prayed for the ſending of the holy Ghoſt, and alſo to be delivered from preſent dangers, wherewith they were beſet.

n For it was behoveable, to have the wives confirmed, who were afterward to be partakers of the dangers with their husbands.

o With his kinsfolkes.

6 Peter is made the mouth and interpreter of the whole company of the Apoſtles, either by ſecret revelation of the holy Ghoſt, or by expreſſe judgement of the congregation.

p Becauſe men are commonly billed and enrolled by their names.

7 Peter preventeth the offence that might be taken of the falling away of Iudas the betrayer, ſhewing, that all things which came unto him, were foretold by God.

* Pſal.41.9.

* Iohn.13.27.

q Luke conſidered not Iudas his purpoſe, but that that followed of it, and ſo we uſe to ſay, that a man hath procured himſelf harme, not that his will and purpoſe was ſo, but in reſpect of that which followed.

* Matth.27.5.

r The Greek word, ſignifieth thus much, that Iudas fell down flat and was rent in ſunder in the mids, with a marveilous huge noiſe.

9 The Apoſtles muſt be choſen immediately from God and therefore after prayer, Matthias is choſen by lot, which is as it were, Gods own voyce.

x Openly, and by the voices of all the whole company.

y That he may be fellow and partaker of his miniſterie.

z Departed from, or fallen from: And it is a Metaphore taken from the way: For callings are ſignified by the name of wayes, with the Hebrews.

Chap. II.

1 The Apoſtles. 4 filled with the holy Ghoſt, 8 ſpeake with divers tongues: 13 They are thought to be drunk, 15 but Peter diſproveth that. 34 He teacheth that Chriſt is the Meſſias. 37 And ſeeing the hearers aſtonied, 38 he exhorteth them to repentance.

And [1] when the day of Pentecoſt was [a] come, they were [b] all with one accord in one place.

2 And ſuddenly there came a ſound from heaven, as of a ruſhing and mighty wind, and it filled all the houſe where they ſate.

3 And there appeared unto them cloven tongues, like fire, and it ſate upon each of them.

4 And they were all filled with the holy Ghoſt, and began to ſpeak with [c] other tongues, as the [d] Spirit gave them utterance.

5 And there were dwelling at Hieruſalem Jewes, men that feared God, of every nation under heaven.

6 Now when this was noiſed, the multitude came together, and were aſtonied, becauſe that every man heard them ſpeake his own language.

7 And they wondred all, and marveiled, ſaying among themſelves, Behold, are not all theſe which ſpeake, of Galile?

8 [e] How then heare we every man our own language, wherein we were borne?

9 Parthians, and Medes, and Elamites, and the inhabitants of Meſopotamia, and of Iudea, & of Cappadocia, of Pontus, and Aſia,

10 And of Phrygia, and Pamphylia, of Egypt, and of the parts of Libya, which is beſide Cyrene, and ſtrangers of Rome, and [f] Jewes, and Proſelites, 11 Creetes, and Arabians: we heard them ſpeake in our own tongues the wonderfull workes of God.

12 [2] They were all then amazed, and doubted, ſaying, one to another, what may this be?

13 And others [g] mocked, and ſaid, They are full of new wine.

1 The Apoſtles being gathered together on a moſt ſolemne feaſt day in one place, that it might evidently appeare to all the world, that they had all one office, one Spirit, one faith, are by a double ſigne from heaven authoriſed, and anointed with all the moſt excellent gifts of the holy Ghoſt, and eſpecially with an extraordinary, and neceſſary gift of tongues.

a Word for word, was fulfilled: that is, was begun, as Luke 2.21. For the Hebrewes ſay, that a day, or a yeare is fulfilled or ended, when the former dayes or yeares are ended, and the other begun. Ier.25.12. And it ſhall come to paſſe, that when ſeventie yeares are fulfilled, I will viſite, &c. For the Lord did not bring home his people, after the ſeventieth yeare was ended, but in the ſeventieth yeare: Now the day of Pentecoſt, was the fiftieth day after the feaſt of the Paſſeover.

b The twelve Apoſtles, which were to be the Patriarkes as it were of the Church.

c He calleth them other tongues, which were not the ſame which the Apoſtles uſed commonly, and Marke calleth them new tongues.

* Pſal.69.26. * Pſal.109.7. ſ His office and miniſterie: David wrote theſe words againſt Doeg the Kings herdman: And theſe words, Shepheard, Sheep, and Flock, are put over to the Church office & miniſterie, ſo that the Church & the offices thereof are called by theſe names. 8 The Apoſtles deliberate upon nothing, but firſt they conſult, and take adviſement by Gods word: and again they do nothing that concerneth and is behoveable for the whole body of the Congregation, without making the Congregation privie unto it. t Word for word, went in & out, which kind of ſpeech betokeneth as much in the Hebrew tongue, as the exerciſing of a publique and lawfull office, when they ſpeake of ſuch as are in any publique office. Deut.31.2. 1 Chro.27.1. v From our company.

d Hereby we underſtand, that the Apoſtles uſed not now one tongue, and then an other by hap hazard & at al adventure, or as fantaſticall men uſe to doe, but with good conſideration of their hearers: and to be ſhort, that they ſpake nothing, but as the holy Ghoſt governed their tongues. e Not that they ſpake with one voice, & many languages were heard, but that the Apoſtles ſpake with ſtrange tongues: for alſo the miracle had rather been in the hearers elſe, whereas now it is in the ſpeakers, Nazianzen in his oration of Whitſunday. f By Iews, he meaneth them yͭ were both Iewes by birth, and Iewes by profeſſion of religion, though they were borne in other places: and they were Proſelytes, which were Gentiles borne, & imbraced the Iewiſh religion. 2 Gods word pearceth ſome ſo yͭ it driveth them to ſeek out the trueth, and it doeth ſo choke other, that it forceth them to be witneſſes of their own impudencie. g The word which he uſeth here, ſignifieth ſuch a kind of mocking which is reprochfull & contumelious: And by this reprochfull mocking we ſee, that there is no miracle ſo great and excellent, which the wickedneſſe of man dareth not ſpeake evill of.

14 ¶ But Peter standing with the Eleven, [h] lift up his voice, and said unto them. Ye men of Iudea, and ye all that inhabite Hierusalem, be this known unto you, and hearken unto my words.

15 For these are not drunken, as ye suppose, since it is but the third [i] hour of the day

16 But this is that, which was spoken by the [k] Prophet * Ioel,

17 [3] And it shall be in the last days, saith God, I will powre out of my spirit upon [l] all [m] flesh, and your sons, and your daughters shall prophecie, and your yong men shall see visions, and your old men shall dream dreams.

18 And on my servants, and on mine handmaids I will powre out of my spirit in those dayes, and they shall prophesie.

19 And I will shew wonders in heaven above, and tokens in the earth beneath, blood, and fire, and vapour of smoke.

20 The Sun shall be turned into darknesse. and the Moon into blood, before that great and notable day of the Lord come.

21 [4] And it shall be, that whosoever shal [n] call on the Name of the Lord, shall be saved.

22 [5] Ye men of Israel, heare these words, Iesus of Nazrreth, a man [o] approved of God among you with great works, and wonders, and signes, which God did by him in the mids of you, as ye your selves also know:

23 Him, I say, being delivered by the determinate counsell, and [p] foreknowledge of God, after you had taken with wicked [q] hands, you have crucified and [r] slaine:

24 [6] Whom God hath raised up, and loosed the [s] sorrows of death, because it was unpossible that he should be holden of it.

25 For David saith concerning him, * I beheld the Lord alwayes before me: for he is at my right hand, that I should not be shaken.

26 Therefore did mine heart rejoyce, and my tongue was glad, and moreover also my flesh shall rest in hope,

27 Because thou wilt not [t] leave my soule in grave, neither wilt suffer thine holy One to see corruption.

28 Thou hast [v] shewed me the wayes of life, and shalt make me full of joy with thy countenance.

29 Men & brethren, I may boldly speak unto you of the Patriark David, * that he is both dead and buried, and his sepulchre remaineth with us unto this day.

30 Therefore, seeing he was a Prophet, and knew that God had * [x] sworne with an oath to him, that of the fruit of his loynes he would raise up Christ concerning the flesh, to set him upon his throne,

31 He knowing this before, spake of the resurrection of Christ, that * his soul should not be left in grave, neither his flesh should see corruption.

32 [7] This Iesus hath God raised up, whereof we are all witnesses.

33 Since then that he by the right [y] hand of God hath been exalted, and hath received of his Father the promise of the holy Ghost, he hath shed forth this which ye now see and heare.

34 For David is not ascended into heaven, but he saith, * The Lord said to my Lord, Sit at my right hand, 35 Untill I make thine enemies thy footstoole.

36 Therefore, let all the house of Israel know for a suretie, that God hath [z] made him both Lord, and Christ, this Iesus, I say, whom ye have crucified.

37 Now when they heard it, they were pricked in their hearts, and said unto Peter, and the other Apostles, Men and brethren, what shall we doe?

38 [8] Then Peter said unto them, Amend your lives, and be baptized every one of you in the Name of Iesus Christ for the remission of sins: and ye shall receive the gift of the holy Ghost.

39 For the [a] promise is made unto you, and to your children, and to all that are afarre off, even as many as the Lord our God shall call.

40 [9] And with many other words he besought and exhorted them, saying, save your selves from this froward generation.

41 [10] Then they that gladly received his word, were baptized: and the same day there were added to the Church about three thousand soules.

42 [11] And they continued in the Apostles doctrine, and [b] fellowship, and [c] breaking of bread, and prayers.

43 ¶ [12] And feare came upon every soule, and many wonders and signes were done by the Apostles.

44 [13] And all that beleeved, were in one place, and had all things common.

45 And they sold their possessions and goods, and parted them to all men, as every one had need.

46 [14] And they continued daily with one accord in the Temple, and breaking bread at home, did eate their meat together with gladnesse, and singlenesse of heart, 47 Praising God, and had favour with all the people: and the Lord added unto the Church from day to day, such as should be saved.

4 The chiefest use of all the gifts of the holy Ghost is to bring man to salvation by faith.

[m] This word, Call on, signifieth in holy Scriptures, an earnest praying and craving for help at Gods hand.

5 Christ being innocent, was by Gods providence crucified of wicked men.

[o] Who is by those works which God wrought by him so manifestly approved and allowed of, that no man can gainesay him.

[p] Gods everlasting knowledge going before, which can neither be separated from his determinate counsell, as the Epicures say, neither yet be the cause of evill: for God in his everlasting and unchangeable counsell, appointed the wicked act of Iudas to an excellent end: and God doth that well, which the instruments doe ill.

[q] Gods counsell doeth not excuse the Iews, whose hands were wicked.

6 Christ (as David foretold) did not onely rise againe, but also was in the grave voide of all corruption.

10 A notable example of the vertue of the holy Ghost: but such as are of age, are not baptized, before they make confession of their faith,

11 The marks of the true Church are the doctrine of the Apostles, the duties of charitie, the pure and simple administration of the Sacraments, and true invocations used of all the faithfull.

[b] Communicating of goods, & of all other duties of charitie, as is shewed afterward.

[c] *The Iewes used thinne loaves, and therefore they did rather breake them then cut them: So by breaking of bread, they understood that living together, and the banquets which they used to keep. 12 So oft as the Lord thinketh it expedient, he bridleth the rage of strangers, that the Church may be planted, and have some refreshing. 13 Charitie maketh all things common concerning the use, according as necessitie requireth. 14 The faithfull came together at the beginning with great fruit, not onely to the hearing of the word, but also to meat.

CHAP. III.

1 Peter going into the Temple with Iohn, 2 healeth the creeple. 9 To the people gathered together to ſee the miracle, 12 he expoundeth the myſterie of our ſalvation through Chriſt, 14 accuſing their ingratitude, 19 and requiring their repentance.

NOw [1] Peter and John went up together into the Temple, at the ninth houre of prayer.

2 And a certain man which was a creeple from his mothers womb was caried, whom they layd daily at the gate of the Temple called Beautifull, to aſke almes of them that entred into the Temple:

3 Who ſeeing Peter and John, that they would enter into the Temple, deſired to receive an almes.

4 And Peter earneſtly beholding him with Iohn, ſayd, Looke on us.

5 And he [a] gave heed unto them, truſting to receive ſome thing of them.

6 Then ſaid Peter, Silver and gold have I none, but ſuch as I have, that give I thee: in the Name of Jeſus Chriſt of Nazareth, riſe up and walke.

7 And he took him by the right hand, and lift him up, and immediatly his feet and ankle bones received ſtrength,

8 And he leaped up, ſtood, and walked, and entred with them into the Temple, walking and leaping, and praiſing God.

9 And all the people ſaw him walke, and praiſing God.

10 And they knew him, that it was he which ſate for the almes at the Beautifull gate of the Temple, and they were amaſed, and ſore aſtonied at that, which was come unto him.

11 ¶ And as the creeple which was healed, [b] held Peter and Iohn, all the people ranne amaſed unto them in the porch which is called Solomons.

12 [2] So when Peter ſaw it, he anſwered unto the people, Ye men of Iſrael, why marveile ye at this? or why looke ye ſo ſtedfaſtly on us, as though by our owne power or godlineſſe, we had made this man go?

13 The God of Abraham, and Iſaac, and Jacob, the * God of our fathers hath glorified his Sonne Jeſus, whom ye betrayed, and denied in the preſence of Pilate, when he had judged him to be delivered.

14 But ye denied the holy One & the Juſt, and deſired a murtherer to be given you,

15 And killed the Lord [c] of life, whom God hath raiſed from the dead, whereof we are witneſſes.

16 And his Name hath made this man ſound, whom ye ſee and know, through faith in his Name: [d] and the faith which is by him, hath given to him this perfect health of his whole body in the preſence of you all.

17 [3] And now brethren, I know that through ignorance ye did it, as did alſo your governours.

18 But thoſe things which God before had ſhewed [e] by the mouth of all his Prophets, that Chriſt ſhould ſuffer, he hath thus fulfilled.

19 Amend your lives therefore, and turne, that your ſinnes may be put away, when the time of refreſhing ſhall come from the preſence of the Lord.

20 And he ſhall ſend Jeſus Chriſt, which before was preached unto you.

21 [f] Whom the heaven muſt containe untill the time that all things be reſtored, which God had ſpoken by the mouth of all his holy Prophets ſince the world began.

22 * For Moſes ſaid unto the fathers, The Lord your God ſhall raiſe up unto you [g] a Prophet, even of your brethren, like unto me: ye ſhall heare him in all things, whatſoever he ſhall ſay unto you.

23 For it ſhall be that every perſon which ſhall not heare that Prophet, ſhall be deſtroyed out of the people.

24 Alſo the Prophets [h] from Samuel, and thenceforth as many as have ſpoken, have likewiſe foretold of theſe dayes.

25 [4] Ye are the [i] children of the Prophets, and of the covenant, which God hath made unto our fathers, ſaying to Abraham, * Even in thy ſeed ſhall all the kinreds of the earth be bleſſed.

26 Friſt unto you hath God [k] raiſed up his Sonne Jeſus, and him he hath ſent to bleſſe you, in turning every one of you from your iniquities.

CHAP. IV.

1 Peter and Iohn, 3 are taken and brought before the Councill, 7 and 19 They ſpeake boldly in Chriſts cauſe. 24 The diſciples pray unto God. 32 Many ſell their poſſeſſions. 36 Of whom Barnabas is one.

ANd [1] as they ſpake unto the people, the Prieſts and the [a] Captaine of the Temple, and the Sadduces came upon them,

2 Taking it grievouſly that they taught the people, and preached in Jeſus Name the reſurrection from the dead.

3 And they laid hands on them, and put them in hold, untill the next day: for it was now eventide.

4 Howbeit, many of them which heard the word, beleeved, and the [b] number of the men was about five thouſand.

5 ¶ And it came to paſſe on the morrow that their [c] rulers and Elders and Scribes, were gathered together at Ieruſalem,

6 And Annas the chief Prieſt, and Caiaphas, and Iohn, and Alexander, and as many as were of the [d] kinred of the high Prieſts.

7 [2] And when they had ſet them before

[1] Chriſt in healing a man that was borne lame, and well knowen to all men, both in place and time very famous, by the hands of his Apoſtles, doeth partly confirme them which beleeved, and partly alſo calleth other to beleeve.

[a] Both with heart and eyes.

[b] Either becauſe he loved them, who had healed him: or becauſe he feared that if he once let them go out of his ſight, he ſhould be lame againe.

[2] Miracles are appointed to convince the unbeleevers, and therefore they doe wickedly abuſe them, who ſtanding amaſed, either at the miracles themſelves or at the inſtruments and meanes which it pleaſeth God to uſe, take an occaſion to eſtabliſh idolatry and ſuperſtition, by that which God hath provided for the knowledge of his true worſhip, that is, Chriſtianitie.

[d] Becauſe he beleeved on him being raiſed from the dead, whoſe Name he heard of by us.

[3] It is beſt of all to receive Chriſt ſo ſoone as he is offered unto us: but ſuch as have neglected ſo great a benefit, through mans weakeneſſe, have yet repentance for a meane: As for the ignominy of the croſſe, we have to ſet againſt that, the decree and purpoſe of God, foretold by the Prophets, of Chriſt, how that firſt of all he ſhould be crucified here upon earth, and then he ſhould appeare from heaven the judge and reſtorer of all things, that all beleevers might be ſaved, and all unbeleevers utterly periſh.

[e] Though there were many Prophets, yet he ſpeaketh but of one mouth, to ſhow to us the conſent & agreement of the Prophets.

[f] Or, be taken up into heaven.

* Deut.18 15. Chap.7.37.

[g] This promiſe was of an excellent and ſingular Prophet.

[h] At what time the kingdome of Iſrael was eſtabliſhed.

[4] The Iewes that beleeve are the firſt begotten in the kingdome of God.

[i] For whom the Prophets were ſpecially appointed.

* Gen. 12.3. Galat.3.8.

[k] Given to the world, or raiſed from the dead, and advanced to his kingdome.

[1] None are commonly more diligent or bolder enemies of the Church, then ſuch as profeſſe themſelves to be head builders: but the more they rage, the more conſtantly the faithfull ſervants of God doe continne.

[a] The Iewes had certaine gariſons for the guard and ſafety of the Temple and holy things, Matth. 26.65. Theſe gariſons had a Captaine, ſuch as Eleazarus Ananias the high Prieſts ſon, was in the time of the warre that was in Iudea, being a very impudent and proud youg man, Ioſeph. lib.2. of the taking of Iudea.

[b] While they thought to diminiſh the number, they increaſed them.

[c] Theſe were they that made the Sanhedrin, which were all of the tribe of Iuda, untill Herod uſed that crueltie againſt Davids ſtocke.

[d] Of whom the high Prieſts were wont to be choſen and made, the executien of the yearely office being now changed.

[2] Againſt ſuch as bragge of a ſucceſſion of perſons, without a ſucceſſion of doctrine, and by that meanes beat downe the true miniſters of the word, ſo farre forth as they are able.

them, they asked, By what power, or in what [e] Name have ye done this?

8 Then Peter full of the holy Ghoſt, ſaid unto them, Ye Rulers of the people, and Elders of Iſrael,

9 [3] For as much as we this day are examined of the good deed done to the impotent man, to wit, by what meanes he is made whole,

10 [4] Be it knowen unto you all, and to all the people of Iſrael, that by the Name of IESVS CHRIST of Nazareth, whom ye have crucified, whom God raiſed againe from the dead, even by him doeth this man ſtand here before you, whole.

11 * This is the ſtone caſt aſide of you builders, which is become the head of the corner.

12 Neither is there ſalvation in any other: for among men there is [f] given none other [g] Name [h] under heaven, whereby we muſt be ſaved.

13 [5] Now when they ſaw the boldneſſe of Peter and Iohn, and underſtood that they were unlearned men and without [i] knowledge, they marveiled, and knew them, that they had beene with Jeſus:

14 And beholding alſo the man which was healed ſtanding with them, they had nothing to ſay againſt it.

15 Then they commanded them to goe aſide out of the Council, and [k] conferred among themſelves,

16 [6] Saying, What ſhall we doe to theſe men? for ſurely a manifeſt ſigne is done by them, and it is openly knowen to all them that dwell in Hieruſalem, and we cannot denie it.

17 But that it be noiſed no further among the people, let us threaten and charge them, that they ſpeak henceforth to no man in this Name.

18 So they called them, and commanded them, that in no wiſe they ſhould ſpeak or teach in the Name of Ieſus.

19 [7] But Peter and Iohn anſwered unto them, and ſaid, Whether it be right in the ſight of God, to obey you rather then God, judge ye.

20 For we cannot but ſpeak the things which we have ſeene and heard,

21 [8] So they threatned them, and let them go, and found nothing how to puniſh them, becauſe of the people: for all men praiſed God for that which was done.

22 For the man was above fourtie yeares olde, on whom this miracle of healing was ſhewed.

23 [9] Then aſſoone as they were let go, they came to their fellowes, and ſhewed all that the high Prieſts and Elders had ſaid unto them.

24 [10] And when they heard it, they lift up their voices to God with one accord, & ſaid, O Lord, thou art the God which haſt made the heaven, and the earth, the ſea, and all things that are in them,

25 Which by the mouth of thy ſervant David haſt ſaid, * Why did the Gentiles rage, and the people imagine vaine things?

26 The Kings of the earth aſſembled, and the rulers came together againſt the Lord, and againſt his Chriſt.

27 For doubtleſſe, againſt thine holy Sonne Jeſus, whom thou haddeſt anointed, both Herod & Pontius Pilate, with the Gentiles, and the [l] people of Iſrael gathered themſelves together, 28 To [m] do whatſoever [n] thine hand, and thy counſell had determined before to be done.

29 And now, O Lord, behold their threatnings, and graunt unto thy ſervants with all boldnes to ſpeake thy word, 30 So that thou ſtretch forth thine hand, that healing, and ſignes, and wonders may be done by the Name of thine holy Sonne Jeſus.

31 [11] And when as they had prayed, the place was ſhaken where they were aſſembled together, and they were all filled with the holy Ghoſt, and they ſpake the word of God boldly.

32 [12] And the multitude of them that beleeved, were of [o] one heart, and of one ſoule: neither any of them ſaid, that any thing of that which he poſſeſſed, was his owne, but they had all things * common.

33 And with great power gave the Apoſtles witnes of the reſurrection of the Lord Jeſus: and great grace was upon them all.

34 [13] Neither was there any among them, that lacked: for as many as were poſſeſſours of lands, or houſes, ſold them, and brought the price of the things that were ſold,

35 And laid it downe at the Apoſtles feet, and it was diſtributed unto every man, according as he had need.

36 Alſo Joſes which was called of the Apoſtles, Barnabas, (that is by interpretation the ſonne of conſolation) being a Levite, and of the countrey of Cyprus, 37 Whereas he had land, ſold it, and brought the money, and laid it down at the Apoſtles feet.

[c] For when they had appointed that farm or poſſeſſion for the Church, they ſtuck not at it to keep away part of the price, as though they had to do with men, and not with God, and therefore he ſaith afterward that they tempted God.

5 Now when Ananias heard theſe words, he fell down, and gave up the ghoſt. Then great fear came on all them that heard theſe things.

6 And the young men roſe up, and took him up, and carried him out, and buried him.

7 And it came to paſſe about the ſpace of three houres after, that his wife came in, ignorant of that which was done.

8 And Peter ſaid unto her, Tell me, ſold ye the land for ſo much? And ſhe ſaid, Yea, for ſo much.

9 Then Peter ſaid unto her, Why have ye agreed together to [e] tempt the Spirit of the Lord? behold, the feet of them which have buried thine huſband, are at the [f] doore, and ſhall carry thee out.

[e] Look how oft men do things with an evill conſcience, ſo oft they pronounce ſentence againſt themſelves, and as much as in them lieth, provoke God to anger, as of ſet purpoſe, minding to try whether he be juſt and almighty or no.

[f] Are at hand.

10 Then ſhe fell down ſtraightway at his feet, and yeelded up the ghoſt: and the young men came in, and found her dead, and carried her out, and buried her by her huſband.

11 2 And great fear came on all the church, & on as many as heard theſe things.

2 The Lord by his marvelous vertue brideleth ſome, that they may not hurt the Church: otherſome he keepeth in his awe and fear: and otherſome he allureth unto him.

12 Thus by the hands of the Apoſtles were many ſignes and wonders ſhewed among the people (and they were all with one accord in Solomons porch.

13 And of the other durſt no man joyn himſelf to them: neverthelеſſe, the people [g] magnifyed them.

[g] Highly praiſed them.

14 Alſo the number of them that beleeved in the Lord, both of men and women, grew more and more)

15 Inſomuch that they brought the ſick into the ſtreets, and laid them on beds and couches, that at the leaſt way the ſhadow of Peter, when he came by, might ſhadow ſome of them.

16 There came alſo a multitude out of the cities round about unto Jeruſalem, bringing ſick folks, and them which were vexed with unclean ſpirits, who were all healed.

17 ¶ 3 Then the chief Prieſt roſe up, and all they that were with him (which was the [h] ſect of the Sadduces) and were full of indignation,

3 The more that the Church increaſeth, the more increaſeth the rage of Satan, & therefore they proceed from threatnings to priſoning.

[h] The word which is uſed here, is hereſie, which ſignifieth a choice, and ſo is taken for a right form of learning, or faction, or ſtudie, and courſe of life, which the Latines call, a ſect, at the firſt this word was indifferently uſed, but at length it came to be taken onely in evil part, whereupon came the name of Heretike, which is taken for one that goeth aſtray from ſound and wholeſome doctrine, after ſuch ſort, that he ſetteth light by the judgement of God & his Church, and continueth in his opinion, and breaketh the peace of the Church.

18 And laid hands on the Apoſtles, and put them in the common priſon.

19 4 But the Angel of the Lord, by night opened the priſon doores, and brought them forth, and ſaid,

4 Angels are made ſervants of the ſervants of God.

20 5 Go your way, and ſtand in the Temple, and ſpeak to the people all the [i] words of this life.

5 God doth therefore deliver this, that they may more ſtoutly provoke his enemies.

[i] Words, whereby the way unto life is ſhewed.

21 6 So when they heard it, they entred into the Temple early in the morning, and taught. And the chief Prieſt came, and they that were with him, and called the Councill together, and all the Elders of the children of Iſrael, and ſent to the Priſon, to cauſe them to be brought.

6 God mocketh his enemies attempts from above.

22 But when the officers came and found them not in the priſon, they returned and told it,

23 Saying, Certainly we found the priſon ſhut as ſure as was poſſible, and the keepers ſtanding without, before the doores: but when we had opened, we found no man within.

24 Then when the chief Prieſt, and the captain of the Temple, and the high Prieſts heard theſe things, they doubted of them whereunto this would grow.

25 7 Then came one and ſhewed them, ſaying, Behold, the men that ye put in priſon, are ſtanding in the Temple, and teach the people.

7 The more openly that Chriſts vertue ſheweth it ſelf, the more increaſeth the madneſſe of his enemies, which conſpire againſt him.

26 8 Then went the captain with the officers, and brought them without violence (for they feared the people, leſt they ſhould have been ſtoned.)

8 Tyrants which fear not God, are conſtrained to fear his ſervants,

27 And when they had brought them, they ſet them before the Councill, and the chief Prieſt asked them,

28 9 Saying, Did not we ſtraightly command you, that ye ſhould not teach in this Name? and behold, you have filled Jeruſalem with your doctrine, and ye would [k] bring this mans blood upon us.

9 It is the propertie of tyrants to ſet out their owne commandments as right and reaſon, be they never ſo wicked.

[k] Make us guilty of murdering that man, whom yet they wil not vouchſafe to name.

29 10 Then Peter and the Apoſtles anſwered, and ſaid, We ought rather to obey God then men.

10 We ought to obey no man, but ſo farre forth as obeying him we may obey God.

30 11 The * God of our fathers hath raiſed up Jeſus, whom ye ſlew, & hanged on a tree

11 Chriſt is appointed & in deed declared Prince & preſerver of his Church in deſpight of his enemies.

* Chap. 3. 13.

31 Him hath God lift up with his right hand, to be a Prince and a Saviour, to give repentance to Iſrael, and forgivenes of ſins.

32 12 And we are his witneſſes concerning theſe things which we ſay: yea, and the holy Ghoſt, whom God hath given to them that obey him.

12 It is not ſufficient for us, that there is a right end, but we muſt alſo according to our vocation go on forward till we come unto it.

33 Now when they heard it, they [l] braſt for anger, and conſulted to ſlay them.

[l] This betokeneth that they were in a moſt vehement rage, and marvellouſly diſquieted in minde, for it is a borrowed kinde of ſpeech taken from them which are harſhly cut in ſunder with a ſaw.

34 13 Then ſtood there up in the Councill a certain Phariſee named Gamaliel, a Doctour of the Law, honoured of all the people, and commanded to put the Apoſtles forth a little ſpace, 13 Chriſt findeth defenders of his cauſe, even in the very rout of his enemies, ſo oft as he thinketh it needfull.

35 And ſaid unto them, Men of Iſrael, take heed to your ſelves, what ye intend to doe touching theſe men:

36 [14] For before theſe times, roſe up Theudas [m] boaſting himſelf, to whom reſorted a number of men, about a foure hundreth, who was ſlain: and they all which obeyed him were ſcattered, and brought to nought.

14 In matters of religion we muſt take good heed, that we attempt nothing under a colour of zeal, beſide our vocation.

m To be of ſome fame.

37 After this man, roſe up Judas of Galilee, in the dayes of the tribute, and drew away much people after him: he alſo periſhed, and all that obeyed him were ſcattered abroad.

38 And now I ſay unto you, [n] Refrain your ſelves from theſe men, and let them alone: for if this counſell, or this work be of [o] men, it will come to nought:

39 But if it be of God, ye cannot deſtroy it, leſt ye be found even fighters againſt God.

n He diſſwadeth his fellowes from murdering the Apoſtles, neither doth he think it good to referre the matter to the Romane Magiſtrate: for the Iewes could abide nothing worſe, then to have the tyrannie of the Romanes confirmed.

o If it be counterfeit and deviſed.

40 And to him they agreed, and called the Apoſtles: and when they had beaten them, they commanded that they ſhould not ſpeake in the Name of Jeſus, and let them go.

41 [15] So they departed from the Councill, rejoycing, that they were counted worthy to ſuffer rebuke for his Name.

42 And daily in the [p] Temple, and from houſe to houſe they ceaſed not to teach, and preach Jeſus Chriſt.

15 The Apoſtles accuſtomed to ſuffer and bear words, are at length inured to bear ſtripes, but yet ſo, that by that means they become ſtronger.

p Both publikly and privately.

CHAP. VI.

2 The Apoſtles 3 appoint the office of Deaconſhip 5 to ſeven choſen men: 8 Of whom Stephen, full of faith, is one: 12 He is taken, 13 and accuſed as a tranſgreſſour of Moſes Law.

AND [1] in thoſe dayes, as the number of the diſciples grew, there aroſe a murmuring of the [a] Grecians toward the Hebrewes, becauſe their widowes were neglected in the [b] dayly miniſtring.

1 When Satan hath aſſailed ẏ Church without, and that to ſmall purpoſe, & in vain, he aſſaileth it within, with civill diſſenſion and ſtrife betwixt themſelves: But ẏ Apoſtles take occaſion thereby to ſet order in the Church.

a Of their parts, which of Grecians became religious Iewes.

b In the beſtowing of almes according to their neceſſitie.

2 [2] Then the twelve called the multitude of the diſciples together, and ſaid, It is not [c] meet that we ſhould leave the word of God to ſerve the [d] tables.

2 The office of preaching the word, and diſpenſing the goods of the Church, are different one from another, and not raſhly to be ioyned together, as the Apoſtles doe here inſtitute: And the Apoſtles doe not chuſe ſo much as the Deacons without the conſent of the Church.

c It is ſuch a matter, as we may in no wiſe accept of it.

d Banquets: though by the name of tables, other offices are alſo meant, which are annexed to it, ſuch as pertain to the care of the poore.

3 [3] Wherefore brethren, look ye out among you ſeven men of honeſt report, and full of the holy Ghoſt, and of wiſdome, which we may appoint to this buſineſſe.

4 And we will give our ſelves continually to prayer, and to the miniſtration of the word.

5 And the ſaying pleaſed the whole multitude: and they choſe Steven a man full of faith and of the holy Ghoſt, and * Philip, and Prochorus, and Nicanor, and Timon, and Parmenas, and Nicolas a Proſelite of Antiochia,

6 [4] Which they ſet before the Apoſtles: and they prayed, and [e] laid their hands on them.

e This ceremonie o laying on of hand came from the Iew who uſed this orde both in publick af faires, and offering o ſacrifices, and alſo i private prayers an bleſſings, as appear eth Gen. 28. and th Church obſerved th ceremonie, 1 Tim.5 22. Act. 8. 17. bu here is no mentio made either o creame, or ſhaving or raſing, or cropſin &c.

7 [5] And the word of God increaſed, and the number of the diſciples was multiplyed in Jeruſalem greatly, and a great company of the Prieſts were obedient to the [f] faith.

5 An happie end o temptation.

f This is the figur Metonymia, meaning by faith, the doctrine of the Goſp which ingendre faith.

8 ¶ [6] Now Steven full of faith and [g] power, did great wonders aud miracles among the people.

6 God exerciſet his Church firſ with evil words & ſlanders, then wit impriſonments, afterward with ſcourgings, and b theſe meanes prepareth it in ſuc ſort, that at lengt he cauſeth it to encounter with Sata and the world, even to bloodſhe and death, and tha with good ſucce g Excellent and ſingular good gifts.

9 [7] Then there aroſe certain of the [h] Synagogue, which are called Libertines, and Cyrenians, and of Alexandria, and of them of Cilicia, and of Aſia, and diſputed with Steven.

7 Schooles and Univerſities were o old time addicte to falſe Paſtours and were the inſtruments of Sata to blow abroad & defend falſe doctrines.

h Of the company & Colledge, as it were 10 [8] But they were not able to reſiſt the wiſdome, and the Spirit by the which he ſpake.

8 Falſe teachers becauſe they wi not be overcome flee from diſputations to manife and open ſlandering and falſe accuſations,

11 Then they ſuborned men, which ſaid, We have heard him ſpeak blaſphemous words againſt Moſes, and God.

12 [9] Thus they moved the people and the Elders, and the Scribes: and running upon him, caught him, and brought him to the Councill, 13 [10] And ſet forth falſe witneſſes, which ſaid, This man ceaſeth not to ſpeak blaſphemous words againſt this holy place, and the Law.

14 For we have heard him ſay, that this Jeſus of Nazareth ſhall deſtroy this place, and ſhall change the ordinances, which Moſes gave us.

15 And all that ſate in the Councill, looked ſtedfaſtly on him, they [i] ſaw his face as it had been the face of an Angel.

9 The firſt bloody perſecution of th Church of Chriſt, begun and ſprang from a Councill of Prieſts, by the ſuggeſtion of th Univerſitie doctours. 10 An example of cavillers, or falſe accuſers, which gathe falſe concluſions of things that are well uttered and ſpoken. i Hereby it appeareth tha Steven had an excellent and goodly countenance, having a quiet and ſetled minde, a good conſcienc and ſure perſwaſion that his cauſe was juſt: For ſeeing he was to ſpeak before the people, Go beautifyed his countenance, to the end that with the very beholding of him, the Iewes mindes migh be pierced and amaſed.

CHAP. VII.

1 Steven pleading his cauſe, ſheweth that God choſe the Fathers, 20 before Moſes was born, 47 and before the Temple was built, 44 And that all outward ceremonies were ordained according to the heavenly pattern. 54 The Iewes gnaſhing their Teeth, 59 ſtone him.

THen [1] ſaid the chief Prieſt, Are theſe things ſo?

1 Steven is admitted to plead hi cauſe, but to thi end and purpoſe that under a clok and colour of Law he might be condemned.

2 [2] And he ſaid, Ye men, brethren, and Fathers, hearken. * That God of [a] glory appeared unto our Father Abraham, while he was in [b] Meſopotamia, before he dwelt in Charran,

3 And ſaid unto him, Come out of thy countrey, and from thy kinred, and come into the land which I ſhall ſhew thee.

4 Then came he out of the land of the Chaldeans, and dwelt in Charran. And after that his father was dead, God brought him from thence into this land, wherein ye now dwell,

2 Steven witneſſeth unto th Iewes, that he acknowledgeth th true Fathers, an the onely true God: and ſheweth moreover ẏ the are more ancien then the Templ with all that ſe vice appointed b the Law, & therefore they ought t lay another foundation of true religion, that is to ſa the free covena that God mad with the Fathers.

3 In chuſing of Deacons (much more of Miniſters) there muſt be examination both of their learning and manners of life. * Chap. 21. 8. 4 The ancient Church did with laying on of hands, as it were conſecrate to the Lord, ſuch as were lawfully elected.

5 And he gave him none inheritance in it, no, not the [c] breadth of a foot: yet he [d] promiſed that he would give it to him for a poſſeſſion, and to his ſeed after him, when as yet he had no childe.

6 But God ſpake thus, that his * ſeed ſhould be a ſojourner in a ſtrange land: and that they ſhould keep it in bondage, and entreat it evill [e] foure hundreth yeares.

7 But the nation to whom they ſhall be in bondage, will I judge, ſaith God: and after that, they ſhall come forth and ſerve me in this place.

8 * He gave him alſo the Covenant of Circumciſion: and ſo Abraham begat * Iſaac, and circumciſed him the eighth day: and Iſaac begat * Jacob, and Jacob the twelue * Patriarks.

9 [3] And the Patriarks mooved with envie, ſold * Joſeph into Egypt: but God was [f] with him,

10 And delivered him out of all his afflictions, and * gave him [g] favour and wiſedome in the ſight of Pharaoh king of Egypt, who made him governour over Egypt, and over his whole houſe.

11 ¶ Then came there a famine over all the land of Egypt and Chanaan, and great affliction, that our fathers found no ſuſtenance.

12 But when * Jacob heard that there was corn in Egypt, he ſent our fathers firſt:

15 So * Jacob went down into Egypt, and he * died, and our fathers,

16 And were [h] removed into Sychem, and were put in the ſepulchre, that Abraham had bought * for money of the ſonnes of Emor, father of Sychem.

17 But when the time of the promiſe drew neere, which God had ſworn to Abraham, the people * grew and multiplied in Egypt,

18 Till another king aroſe, which knew not Joſeph.

19 The ſame [i] dealt ſubtilly with our kinred, and evill intreated our fathers, and made them to caſt out their young children, that they ſhould not remain alive.

23 Now when he was full fourty yeare old, it came into his heart to viſit his brethren, the children of Iſrael.

24 * And when he ſaw one of them ſuffer wrong, he defended him, and avenged his quarell that had the harme done to him, and ſmote the Egyptain.

25 For he ſuppoſed his brethren would have underſtood, that God by his hand ſhould give them deliverance: but they underſtood it not.

26 * And the next day, he ſhewed himſelf unto them as they ſtrove, and would have ſet them at one again, ſaying, Sirs, ye are brethren: why do ye wrong one to another?

27 But he that did his neighbour wrong, thruſt him away, ſaying, Who made thee a Prince, and a Judge over us?

28 Wilt thou kill me, as thou didſt the Egyptian yeſterday?

29 Then fled Moſes at that ſaying, and was a ſtranger in the land of Midian, where he begat two ſonnes.

30 And when fourty yeares were expired, there appeared to him in the * wilderneſſe of mount Sina, an [l] Angel of the Lord in a flame of fire, in a buſh.

31 And when Moſes ſaw it, he wondred at the ſight: and as he drew neere to conſider it, the voice of the Lord came unto him, ſaying, 32 I am the God of thy fathers, the God of Abraham, and the God of Iſaac, and the God of Jacob. Then Moſes trembled, and durſt not behold it.

33 Then the Lord ſaid to him, Put off thy ſhooes from thy feet: for the place where thou ſtandeſt is holy ground.

34 I have ſeen, I have ſeen the affliction of my people, which is in Egypt, and I have heard their groning, and am come down to deliver them: and now come, and I will ſend thee into Egypt.

41 And they made a [n] calf in thoſe daies, and offered ſacrifice unto the idole, and rejoyced in the works of their own hands.

42 Then God turned himſelf away, and [o] gave them up to ſerve the [p] hoſte of heaven, as it is written in the book of the Prophets, *O houſe of Iſrael, have ye offered to me ſlain beaſts and ſacrifices by the ſpace of fourty yeares in the wilderneſſe?

57 [10] Then they gave a ſhout with a loud voice and ſtopped their eares, and [a] ranne upon him violently all at once,

58 And caſt him out of the city, & ſtoned him: and the [b] witneſſes laid down their clothes at a youngs mans feet, named Saul.

59 And they ſtoned Stephen, who called on God, and ſaid, Lord Jeſus, receive my ſpirit.

60 [11] And he kneeled down, and cryed with a loud voice, Lord, [c] lay not this ſinne to their charge. And when he had thus ſpoken he [d] ſlept.

And[1] Saul conſented to his death, and at that time, there was a great perſecution againſt the Church which was at Jeruſalem, and they were all ſcattered abroad thorow the regions of Judea and of Samaria, except the Apoſtles.

4 Therefore they that were ſcattered abroad, went to and fro preaching the word.

which preached the things that concerned the kingdome of God, and the name of Jeſus Chriſt, they were baptized both men and women.

13 [6] Then Simon himſelf beleeved alſo, and was baptized, and continued with Philip, and wondred when he ſaw the ſignes and great miracles which were done.

14 ¶ [7] Now when the Apoſtles, which were at Jeruſalem, heard ſay, that Samaria had received the word of God, they ſent unto them Peter and John.

15 Which when they were come down, prayed for them, that they might receive the [d] holy Ghoſt.

16 (For as yet he was fallen down on none of them, but they were baptized onely in the name of the Lord Jeſus.)

17 Then laid they their hands on them, and they received the holy Ghoſt.

18 [8] And when Simon ſaw, that through laying on of the Apoſtles hands, the holy Ghoſt was given, he offered them money, 19 Saying, Give me alſo this power, that on whomſoever I lay the hands, he may receive the holy Ghoſt.

20 [9] Then ſaid Peter unto him, thy money periſh with thee, becauſe thou thinkeſt that the gift of God may be obtained with money.

21 Thou haſt neither part nor fellowſhip in this [e] buſineſſe: for thine heart is not [f] right in the ſight of God.

22 [10] Repent therefore of this thy wickedneſſe, and pray God, that if it be poſſible, the thought of thine heart may be forgiven thee.

23 For I ſee that thou art in the [g] gal of bitterneſſe, and in the [h] bond of iniquitie.

24 Then anſwered Simon, and ſaid, Pray ye to the Lord for me, that none of theſe things which ye have ſpoken come upon me.

25 ¶ So they, when they had teſtifyed and preached the word of the Lord, returned to Jeruſalem, and preached the Goſpel in many townes of the Samaritanes.

26 [11] Then the Angel of the Lord ſpake unto Philip, ſaying, ariſe, and go toward the South unto the way that goeth down from Jeruſalem unto Gaza, which is waſte.

27 And he aroſe and went on: and behold, a certain Eunuch of Ethiopia, Candaces the Queen of the Ethiopians [i] chief Governour, who had the rule of all her treaſure, and came to Jeruſalem to worſhip.

28 And as he returned ſitting in his chariot, he read Eſaias the Prophet.

29 Then the Spirit ſaid unto Philip, Go neare and joyn thy ſelf to yonder chariot.

30 And Philip ran thither, and heard him reade the Prophet Eſaias, and ſaid, But underſtandeſt thou what thou readeſt?

31 And he ſaid, how can I, except I had [k] a guide? and he deſired Philip, that he would come up and ſit with him.

32 [12] Now the place of the Scripture which he read, was this, * he was led as a ſheep to the ſlaughter, and like a lambe dumbe before his ſhearer, ſo opened he not his mouth.

33 In his [l] humility his judgement hath been exalted: but who ſhall declare his [m] generation? for his life is taken from the earth.

34 Then the Eunuch anſwered Philip, and ſaid, I pray thee, of whom ſpeaketh the Prophet this? of himſelf, or of ſome other man?

35 Then Philip opened his mouth, and began at the ſame Scripture, and preached unto him Jeſus.

36 And as they went on their way, they came unto a certain water, and the Eunuch ſaid, See, here is water: what doth let me to be baptized?

37 [13] And Philip ſaid unto him, If thou beleeveſt with all thine heart, thou mayeſt. Then he anſwered, and ſaid, [n] I beleeve that that Jeſus Chriſt is that Son of God.

38 Then he commanded the chariot to ſtand ſtill: and they went down both into the water, both Philip and the Eunuch, and he baptized him.

39 And aſſoon as they were come up out of the water, the Spirit of the Lord caught away Philip, that the Eunuch ſaw him no more: ſo he went on his way rejoycing.

40 But Philip was found at Azotus, and he walked to and fro preaching in all the cities till he came to Ceſarea.

8 And Saul aroſe from the ground, and opened his eyes, but ſaw no man. Then led they him by the hand, and brought him into Damaſcus, 9 Where he was three dayes without ſight, and neither ate nor drank.

10 And there was a certain diſciple at Damaſcus named Ananias, and to him ſaid the Lord in a viſion, Ananias. And he ſaid, Behold, I am here Lord.

11 Then the Lord ſaid unto him, Ariſe, & go into the ſtreet which is called Strait, & ſeek in the houſe of Judas after one called Saul of [f] Tarſus: for behold he prayeth.

12 (And he ſaw in a viſion a man named Ananias coming in to him, and putting his hands on him, that he might receive his ſight.)

13 Then Ananias anſwered, Lord, I have heard by many of this man, how much evil he hath done to thy Saints at Jeruſalem.

18 And immediatly there fell from his eyes as it had been ſcales, and ſuddenly he received ſight, and aroſe, and was baptized,

19 And received meat, and was ſtrengthned. So was Saul certain dayes with the diſciples which were at Damaſcus.

26 [6] And when Saul was come to Jeruſalem, he aſſayed to joyne himſelf with the diſciples: but they were all afraid of him, and beleeved not that he was a diſciple.

27 But Barnabas took him, and brought him to the Apoſtles, and declared to them, how he had ſeen the Lord in the way, and that he had ſpoken unto him, and how he had ſpoken boldly at Damaſcus in the name of Jeſus.

28 [7] And he was converſant [l] with them at Jeruſalem.

29 And ſpake boldly in the Name of the Lord Jeſus, and ſpake and diſputed againſt the [m] Grecians, but they went about to ſlay him.

30 [8] But when the brethren knew it, they brought him to Ceſarea, and ſent him forth to Tarſus.

31 [9] Then had the Churches reſt through all Judea, and Galile, and Samaria, and were [n] edified and walked in the feare of the Lord, and were multiplied by the comfort of the holy Ghoſt.

32 [10] And it came to paſſe, as Peter walked throughout all quarters, he came alſo to the Saints which dwelt at Lydda.

CHAP. X.

1 Cornelius, 4 at the Angels commandement, 5 ſendeth for Peter: 11 Who alſo by a viſion, 15. 20 is taught not to deſpiſe the Gentiles: 34 He preacheth the Goſpel to Cornelius and his houſhold, 45 Who having received the holy Ghoſt, 47 are baptized.

FVrthermore [1] there was a certaine man in Ceſarea called Cornelius, a captaine of the band called the Jtalian band,

2 A [a] devout man, and one that feared God with [b] all his houſhold, which gave much almes to the people, and prayed God continually.

3 He ſaw in a viſion evidently (about the ninth houre of the day) an Angel of God comming in to him, and ſaying unto him, Cornelius.

4 But when he looked on him, he was afraid, and ſaid, [c] What is it, Lord? and he ſaid unto him, Thy prayers and thine almes are [d] come up into [e] remembrance before God.

5 Now therefore ſend men to Ioppa, and call for Simon, whoſe ſurname is Peter.

6 He lodgeth with one Simon a Tanner, whoſe houſe is by the ſea ſide: he ſhall tell thee what thou oughteſt to doe.

7 And when the Angel which ſpake unto Cornelius, was departed, he called two of his ſervants, and a ſouldier that feared God, one of them that waited on him,

8 And told them all things, and ſent them to Ioppa.

9 On the morow as they went on their journey, and drew neere unto the citie, Perer went up upon the houſe to pray, about the ſixt houre.

10 Then waxed he an hungred, and would have eaten: but while they made ſome thing readie, he fell into a [f] trance.

11 And he ſaw heaven opened, and a certaine veſſell come downe unto him, as it had beene a great ſheet, knit at the [g] foure corners, and was let downe to the earth.

12 Wherein were [h] all maner of [i] foure footed beaſts of the earth, and wild beaſts, and [k] creeping things, and fowles of the heaven.

13 And there came a voyce to him, Ariſe, Peter: kill, and eate.

14. [2] But Peter ſaid, Not ſo, Lord: for I have never eaten any thing that is polluted, or uncleane.

15 And the voyce ſpake unto him againe the ſecond time, The things that God hath purified, [l] pollute thou not.

16 This was ſo done thriſe: and the veſſell was drawen up againe into heaven.

17 ¶ Now while Peter doubted in himſelfe what this viſion which he had ſeen, meant, behold, the men which were ſent from Cornelius, had inquired for Simons houſe, and ſtood at the gate,

18 And called, and asked, whether Simon, which was ſurnamed Peter, were lodged there.

19 And while Peter thought on the viſion, the Spirit ſaid unto him, Behold, three men ſeek thee.

20 Ariſe therefore, and get thee downe, and goe with them, and doubt nothing: for I have ſent them.

21 ¶ Then Peter went down to the men, which were ſent unto him from Cornelius, and ſaid, Behold, I am he whom ye ſeek: what is the cauſe wherefore ye are come?

22 And they ſaid, Cornelius the captain, a juſt man, and one that feareth God, and of good report among all the nation of the Iewes, was warned from heaven by an holy Angel, to ſend for thee into his houſe, and to heare thy words.

23 Then called he them in, and lodged them, and the next day, Peter went forth with them, and certain brethren from Ioppa accompanied him.

24 ¶ And the day after, they entred into Ceſarea. Now Cornelius waited for them, and had called together his kinſemen, and ſpeciall friends.

25 [3] And it came to paſſe as Peter came in, that Cornelius met him, and fell down at his feet, and worſhipped him.

26 But Peter took him up, ſaying, Stand up: for even I my ſelfe am a man.

27 And as he talked with him, he came in, and found many that were come together.

28 And he ſaid unto them, Ye know that it is an unlawfull thing for a man that is a Iew, to company, or come unto one of an other nation: but God hath ſhewed me, that I ſhould not call any man polluted, or uncleane.

29 Therefore came I unto you without ſaying nay, when I was ſent for. I aske therefore, for what intent have ye ſent for me?

30 Then Cornelius ſaid, Foure dayes ago, about [m] this houre, I faſted, and at the ninth houre I praied in mine houſe, and behold, a man ſtood before me in bright clothing, 31 [4] And ſaid, Cornelius, thy prayer is heard, and thine almes are had in remembrance in the ſight of God.

35 But in every nation he that [o] feareth him, and worketh righteouſneſſe, is accepted with him.

36 Ye[p] know the word which God hath ſent to the children of Iſrael, preaching peace by Ieſus Chriſt which is Lord of all:

37 [7] Even the word which came through all Judea, * beginning in Galile, after the baptiſme which Iohn preached,

38 To wit, how God [q] anointed Jeſus of Nazareth with the holy Ghoſt, and with power: who went about doing good, and healing all that were oppreſſed of the devill: for God was with him.

39 And we are witneſſes of all things which he did both in the land of the Jewes, and in Hieruſalem, whom they ſlew, hanging him on a tree:

40 Him God raiſed up the third day, and cauſed that he was ſhewed openly:

41 Not to all the people, but unto the witneſſes [r] choſen before of God, even to us which did eat and drink with him, after he aroſe from the dead.

42 And he commanded us to preach unto the people, and to teſtifie, that it is he that is ordeined of God a Judge of quick and dead.

43 To him alſo give all the * Prophets witneſſe, that through his Name all that beleeve in him, ſhall receive remiſſion of ſins.

44 [8] While Peter yet ſpake theſe words, the holy Ghoſt fell on all them that heard the word.

45 So they of the circumciſion which beleeved, were aſtonied, as many as came with Peter, becauſe that on the Gentiles alſo was powred out the gift of the holy Ghoſt.

46 For they heard them ſpeak with tongus, and magnifie God. Then anſwered Peter, 47 [9] Can any man forbid water, that theſe ſhould not be baptized, which have received the holy Ghoſt, as well as we?

48 So he commanded them to be baptized in the Name of the Lord. Then prayed they him to tarie certain dayes.

NOw [1] the Apoſtles and the brethren that were in Iudea, heard that the Gentiles had alſo received the word of God.

2 And when Peter was come up to Hieruſalem, they of the circumciſion contended againſt him,

3 Saying, Thou wenteſt in to men uncircumciſed, and haſt eaten with them.

4 Then Peter began, and expounded the thing in order to them, ſaying,

5 I was in the citie of Joppa, praying, and in a trance I ſaw this viſion, A certaine veſſell comming down as it had bene a great ſheet, let down from heaven by the foure corners, and it came to me:

6 Toward the which when I had faſtened mine eyes, I conſidered, and ſaw four footed beaſts of the earth, and wilde beaſts, and creeping things, and fowls of the heaven.

7 Alſo I heard a voyce, ſaying unto me, Ariſe, Peter: ſlay and eate.

8 And I ſaid, God forbid, Lord: for nothing polluted or uncleane hath at any time entred into my mouth.

9 But the voyce anſwered me the ſecond time from heaven, The things that God hath purified, pollute thou not.

10 And this was done three times, and all were taken up againe into heaven.

11 Then behold, immediatly there were three men already come into the houſe where I was, ſent from Ceſarea unto me.

12 And the Spirit ſaid unto me, that I ſhould go with them, without doubting: moreover, theſe ſix brethren came with me: and we entred into the mans houſe.

13 And he ſhewed us how he had ſeene an Angel in his houſe, which ſtood and ſaid to him, Send men to Joppa, and call for Simon, whoſe ſurname is Peter.

14 He ſhall ſpeak words unto thee, whereby both thou and all thine houſe ſhall be ſaved.

15 And as I beganne to ſpeak, the holy Ghoſt fell on them, * even as upon us at the beginning.

16 Then I remembred the word of the Lord, how he ſaid. * Iohn baptized with water, but ye ſhall be baptized with the holy Ghoſt.

17 Foraſmuch then as God gave them a like gift, as he did unto us, when we beleeved in the Lord Jeſus Chriſt, who was I, that I could let God?

18 [2] When they heard theſe things, they held their peace, and glorified God, ſaying, Then hath God alſo to the Gentiles granted repentance unto life.

19 ¶ [3] And they which were * ſcattered abroad, becauſe of the affliction that aroſe about Steven, went thoughout till they came unto Phenice, and Cyprus, and [a] Antiochia, preaching the word to no man, but unto the Jewes onely.

[a] He ſpeaketh Antiochia which was in Syria a bordered upon Cilici

4 The Church of Antioch, the new Jerusalem of the Gentiles was extraordinarily called.

20 [4] Now ſome of them were men of Cyprus and of Cyrene, which when they were come into Antiochia, ſpake unto the Grecians, and preached the Lord Jeſus.

21 And the hand of the Lord was with them, ſo that a great number beleeved and turned unto the Lord.

5 The Apoſtles do not raſhly condemne an extraordinary vocation, but yet they iudge it by the effects.

22 [5] Then tidings of thoſe things came unto the eares of the Church which was in Jeruſalem, and they ſent forth Barnabas, that he ſhould go unto Antiochia:

23 Who when he was come and had ſeen the grace of God, was glad, and exhorted all, that with purpoſe of heart they would continue in the Lord.

24 For he was a good man, and full of the holy Ghoſt, and faith, and much people joyned themſelves unto the Lord.

6 There was no contention amongſt the Apoſtles either of uſurping, or of holding places and degrees.

25 ¶ [6] Then departed Barnabas to Tarſus to ſeek Saul:

26 And when he had found him, he brought him unto Antiochia: and it came to paſſe that a whole yeare they were converſant with the Church, and taught much people, inſomuch that the diſciples were firſt called Chriſtians in Antiochia.

7 God doeth ſo wrappe up his Church with the wicked, in his ſcourges and plagues which he ſendeth upon the earth, that notwithſtanding he provideth for it conveniently.

27 [7] In thoſe dayes alſo came Prophets from Jeruſalem unto Antiochia.

28 And there ſtood up one of them named Agabus, and ſignifyed by the Spirit, that there ſhould be great famine thorowout all the world, which alſo came to paſſe under Claudius Ceſar.

8 All Congregations or Churches make one body.

b That is, that thereby the Deacons might ſuccour the poore: for it behoved to have all theſe things done orderly and decently, and therefore it is ſaid, that they ſent theſe things to the Elders, that is, to the governours of the Church.

29 [8] Then the diſciples every man according to his abilitie, purpoſed to ſend [b] ſuccour unto the bretheren which dwelt in Judea.

30 Which thing they alſo did, and ſent it to the Elders, by the hand of Barnabas and Saul.

Chap. XII.

2 Herod killeth Iames with the ſword. 4 And impriſoneth Peter, 8 Whom the Angel delivereth, 20 Herod being offended with them of Tyrus, 21 is pacified. 22 And taking the honour due to God, to himſelf, 23 He is eaten with wormes, and ſo dieth.

1 God giveth his Church a truce but for a little time.

a This name Herod was common to all them that came of the ſtock of Herod Aſcalonites, whoſe ſurname was Magnus: but he that is ſpoken of here, was nephew to Herod the great, ſonne to Ariſtobulus, and father to that Agrippa who is ſpoken of afterward.

b Violently, his cauſe being not once heard.

2 It is an old faſhion of tyrants to procure the favour of the wicked with the blood of the godly.

3 The Tyrants and wicked make a gallous for themſelves, even then, when they do moſt according to their own will and fantaſie.

NOw [1] about that time, [a] Herod the the king ſtretched forth his hands to vex certain of the Church,

2 And he [b] killed James the brother of John with the ſword.

3 [2] And when he ſaw that it pleaſed the Jewes, he proceeded further, to take Peter alſo (then were the dayes of unleavened bread.)

4 [3] And when he had caught him, he put him in priſon, and delivered him to foure quaternions of ſouldiers to be kept, intending after the Paſſeover to bring him forth to the people.

5 [4] So Peter was kept in priſon, but earneſt prayer was made of the Church unto God for him.

6 And when Herod would have brought him out unto the people, the ſame night ſlept Peter between two ſouldiers, bound with two chains, and the keepers before the doore, kept the priſon.

* Chap. 5. 19.

c In the priſon.

7 [*] And behold, the Angel of the Lord came upon them, and a light ſhined in the [c] houſe, and he ſmote Peter on the ſide, and raiſed him up, ſaying, Ariſe quickly. And his chains fell from off his hands.

8 And the Angel ſaid unto him, Gird thy ſelf, and binde on thy ſandales. And ſo he did. Then he ſaid unto him, Caſt thy garment about thee, and follow me.

9 So Peter came out, and followed him, and knew not that it was true, which was done by the Angel, but thought he had ſeen a viſion.

10 Now when they were paſt the firſt and the ſecond watch, they came unto the yron gate that leadeth unto the citie, which opened to them by it own accord, and they went out, and paſſed thorow one ſtreet, and by & by the Angel departed from him.

11 ¶ And when Peter was come to himſelf, he ſaid, Now I know for a truth, that the Lord hath ſent his Angel, and hath delivered me out of the hand of Herod, and from all the waiting for of the people of the Jewes.

5 Holy meetings in the night, as well of men as women (when they cannot be ſuffered in the day time) are allowable by the example of the Apoſtles.

6 We obtain more of God then we dare wel hope for.

d Out of the place where they were aſſembled, but not out of the houſe.

12 [5] And as he conſidered the thing, he came to the houſe of Mary, the mother of John, whoſe ſurname was Mark, where many were gathered together, and prayed.

13 [6] And when Peter knocked at the entry doore, a maid [d] came forth to hearken, named Rhode.

14 But when ſhe knew Peters voice, ſhe opened not the entry doore for gladneſſe, but ran in, and told how Peter ſtood before the entry.

15 But they ſaid unto her, Thou art mad. Yet ſhe affirmed it conſtantly, that it was ſo. Then ſaid they, It is his Angel.

16 But Peter continued knocking, and when they had opened it, and ſaw him, they were aſtonied.

7 We may ſometimes give place to the rage of the wicked, but yet ſo that our diligence which ought to be uſed in Gods buſineſſe, be not a whit ſlackened.

17 [7] And he beckened unto them with the hand, to hold their peace, and told them how the Lord had brought him out of the priſon. And he ſaid, Go ſhew theſe things unto James, and to the brethren: and he departed and went into another place.

8 Evil counſell falleth out in the end to the hurt of the deviſers of it.

18 ¶ [8] Now aſſoon as it was day, there was no ſmall trouble among the ſouldiers, what was become of Peter.

19 And when Herod had ſought for him, and found him not, he examined the keepers, and commanded them to be led to be puniſhed. And he went down from Judea to Ceſarea, and there abode.

9 A miſerable and ſhamefull example of the end of the enemies of the Church.

20 [9] Then Herod was angry with them of Tyrus and Sidon, but they came all with one accord unto him, and perſwaded Blaſtus the Kings chamberlaine, and they deſired peace, becauſe their countrey was nouriſhed by the Kings land.

21 And upon a day appointed, Herod arayed himſelf in royall apparel, and ſate on the judgement ſeat, and made an oration unto them.

22 [10] And the people gave a ſhout, ſaying, The voice of God, and not of man.

23 [11] But immediately the Angel of the Lord ſmote him, becauſe he [e] gave not glory unto God, ſo that he was eaten of wormes, and gave up the ghoſt.

24 [12] And the [f] word of God grew and multiplied.

25 So Barnabas and Saul returned from Jeruſalem, when they had fulfilled their office, and took with them John, whoſe ſurname was Mark.

Chap. XIII.

2 The holy Ghoſt commandeth that Paul and Barnabas be ſeparated unto him. 6 At Paphus 8 Elymas the ſorcerer 11 is ſtricken blinde: 14 From whence being come to Antiochia, 17 They preach the Goſpel. 45 The Iewes vehemently withſtanding them.

There [1] were alſo in the Church that was at Antiochia, certain Prophets and teachers, as Barnabas, and Simeon called Niger, and Lucius of Cyrene, and Manahen, (which had been brought up with [a] Herod the Tetrarch) and Saul.

2 Now as they [b] miniſtred to the Lord, and faſted, the holy Ghoſt ſaid, Separate me Barnabas and Saul, for the work whereunto I have [c] called them.

3 [2] Then faſted they and prayed, and laid their hands on them, and let them go.

4 [3] And they, after they were ſent forth of the holy Ghoſt, came down unto [d] Seleucia, and from thence they ſailed to Cyprus.

5 And when they were at Salamis, they preached the word of God in the Synagogues of the Jewes: and they had alſo John to their miniſter.

6 So when they had gone thorowout the Iſle unto Paphus, they found a certain ſorcerer, a falſe prophet, being a Jew, named Barieſus,

7 Which was with the deputie Sergius Paulus, a prudent man. He called unto him Barnabas and Saul, and deſired to heare the word of God.

8 [4] But Elymas, the ſorcerer (for ſo is his name by interpretation) withſtood them, and ſought to turn away the Deputie from the faith.

9 Then Saul (which alſo is called Paul) being full of the holy Ghoſt, ſet his eyes on him,

10 [5] And ſaid, O full of ſubtiltie and all [e] miſchief, the childe of the devill, and 10 The flatterie of the people, maketh fools fain.

11 God reſiſteth the prond.

e Ioſephus recordeth, that this king did not repreſſe thoſe flatterers tongues, and therefore at his death he complained and cried out of their vanitie.

12 Tyrants build up the Church by plucking it down.

f They that hear the word of God.

1 Paul with Barnabas is again the ſecond time appointed Apoſtle of the Gentiles, not of man, neither by man, but by an extraordinary commandment of the holy Ghoſt.

a The ſame was Antipas, which put Iohn Baptiſt to death.

b Whiles they were buſie doing their office, that is, as Chryſoſtome expoundeth it, while they were preaching.

c The Lord is ſaid to call (whereof this word (calling) cometh, which is uſuall in the Church) when he cauſeth that to be, which was not, whether you referre it to the matter it ſelf, or to any qualitie or thing about the matter: and it groweth of this, becauſe when things begin to be, then they have ſome name: as God his mighty power is alſo declared thereby, who ſpake the word, and things were made.

2 Faſts and ſolemn prayers were uſed before the laying on of hands.

3 Paul and his companie doe at the firſt bring Cyprus to the ſubiection and obedience of Chriſt.

d Seleucia was a citie of Cilicia, ſo called of Seleucus one of Alexanders ſucceſſors.

4 The devill maketh the conqueſt of Chriſt more glorions, in that that he ſetteth himſelfe againſt him.

5 The ſorcerer which was ſtricken of Paul with corporall puniſhment (although extraordinarily) ſheweth an example to lawful magiſtrates, how they ought to puniſh them which wickedly and obſtinatly hinder the courſe of the Goſpel. e He noteth out ſuch a fault, as who ſo hath it, runneth headlong and with great deſire to all kind of wickedneſſe with the leaſt motion in the world.

enemie of all righteouſneſſe, wilt thou not ceaſe to pervert the ſtraight wayes of the Lord?

11 Now therefore behold, the [f] hand of the Lord is upon thee, and thou ſhalt be blind, and not ſee the Sunne for a ſeaſon. And immediatly there fell on him a miſt and a darkneſſe, and he went about, ſeeking ſome to leade him by the hand.

12 Then the Deputie when he ſaw what was done, beleeved, and was aſtonied at the doctrine of the Lord.

13 [6] Now when Paul and they that were with him, were departed by ſhip from Phaphus, they came to Perga a citie of Pamphylia: then Iohn departed from them, and returned to Hieruſalem.

14 But when they departed from Perga, they came to Antiochia a citie of [g] Piſidia, and went into the Synagogue on the Sabbath day, and ſate downe.

15 [7] And after the lecture of the Law and Prophets, the rulers of the Synagogue ſent unto them, ſaying, Ye men and brethren, if ye [h] have any word of exhortation for the people, ſay on.

16 [8] Then Paul ſtood up, and beckened with the hand, and ſaid, Men of Iſrael, and ye that feare God, hearken.

17 The God of this people of Iſrael choſe our Fathers, and [i] exalted the people when they dwelt in the land of * Egypt, and with an * [k] hie arme brought them out thereof.

18 And about the time of * fourtie yeares, ſuffered he their maners in the wildernes.

19 And he deſtroyed ſeven nations in the land of Chanaan, and * devided their land to them by lot.

20 Then afterward he gave unto them * Iudges about [l] foure hundred and fiftie yeares, unto the time of Samuel the Prophet.

21 So after that, they deſired a * King, and God gave unto them * Saul the ſonne of Cis, a man of the tribe of Benjamin by the ſpace of [m] fourtie yeares.

22 And after he had taken him away, he raiſed up * David to be their King, of whom he witneſſed, ſaying, I have found David the ſon of Ieſſe, a man after mine owne heart, which will doe all things that I will.

23 [9] Of this mans ſeed hath God * according to his promiſe raiſed up to Iſrael, the Saviour Jeſus:

24 When * Iohn had firſt preached [n] before his comming, the baptiſme of repentance to all the people of Iſrael.

25 And when Iohn had fulfilled his courſe, he ſaid, * Whom ye think that I am, I am not he: but behold, there commeth one

27 [11] For the inhabitants of Hieruſalem, and their rulers, becauſe they knew him not, nor yet the words of the Prophets, which are read every Sabbath day, they have fulfilled them in condemning him.

28 And though they found no cauſe of death in him, * yet deſired they Pilate to kill him.

29 And when they had fulfilled all things that were written of him, they took him down from the tree, and put him in a ſepulchre.

30 [12] But God * raiſed him up from the dead.

31 And he was ſeene many dayes of them, which came up with him from Galile to Hieruſalem, which are his witneſſes unto the people.

32 And we declare unto you, that touching the promiſe made unto the Fathers, 33 God hath fulfilled it unto us their children, in that he [o] raiſed up Jeſus, [13] even as it is written in the ſecond Pſalme, * Thou art my ſonne: this day have I begotten thee.

34 Now as concerning that he raiſed him up from the dead, no more to returne to corruption, he hath ſaid thus, * I will give you the holy things of David, [p] which are faithfull.

35 [14] Wherefore he ſaith alſo in another place, * Thou wilt not ſuffer thine Holy one to ſee corruption.

36 Howbeit, David after he had ſerved his time by the counſell of God, he * ſlept, and was laide with his Fathers, and ſaw corruption.

37 But he whom God raiſed up, ſaw no corruption.

38 [15] Be it knowen unto you therefore, men and brethren, that through this man is preached unto you the forgiveneſſe of ſinnes:

39 And from [q] all things, from which ye could not be juſtified by the Law of Moſes, by him every one that beleeveth, is juſtified.

40 [16] Beware therefore leſt that come upon you, which is ſpoken of in the Prophets,

41 * Behold, ye deſpiſers, and wonder, and vaniſh away: for I worke a worke in your daies, a worke which ye ſhall not beleeve, if a man would declare it you.

42 ¶ [17] And when they were come out of the Synagogue of the Iewes, the Gentiles beſought, that they would preach theſe words to them the next Sabbath day.

43 Now when the congregation was diſſolved, many of the Iewes and [r] Proſelites that feared God, followed Paul & Barnabas, which ſpake unto them, and exhorted them to continue in the grace of God.

44 And the next Sabbath day came almoſt the whole citie together to heare the word of God.

45 [18] But when the Iewes ſaw the people, they were full of envie, and ſpake againſt thoſe things which were ſpoken of Paul, contrarying them, and railing on them.

46 [19] Then Paul and Barnabas ſpake boldly, and ſaid, It was neceſſary that the word of God ſhould firſt have beene ſpoken unto you: but ſeeing yee put it from you, and [ſ] judge your ſelves unworthy of everlaſting life, loe, we turne to the Gentiles.

47 For ſo hath the Lord commanded us, ſaying, * I have made thee a light of the Gentiles, that thou ſhouldeſt be the ſalvation unto the end of the world.

48 And when the Gentiles heard it, they were glad, and glorified the word of the Lord: and as many as were [t] ordained unto eternall life, beleeved.

49 Thus the word of the Lord was publiſhed throughout the whole countrey.

50 [20] But the Iewes ſtirred certaine [v] devout and honorable women, and the chiefe men of the citie, and raiſed perſecution againſt Paul and Barnabas, and expelled them out of their coaſts.

51 [21] But they * ſhooke off the duſt of their feet againſt them and came unto Iconium.

52 And the diſciples were filled with joy, and with the holy Ghoſt.

2 And the [b] unbeleeving Iewes ſtirred up, and corrupted the mindes of the Gentiles againſt the brethren.

3 [2] So therefore they abode there a long time, and ſpake boldly in the Lord, which gave teſtimony unto the word of his grace, and cauſed ſignes and wonders to be done by their hands.

18 The favour of one ſelfe ſame Goſpel is unto the reprobate and unto beleevers, death, and to the elect, and ſuch as beleeve, life.

19 The Goſpel is publiſhed to the Gentiles by the expreſſe commandement of God.

[ſ] By this your doings you doe as it were pronounce ſentence againſt your ſelves, and iudge your ſelves.

* Eſai. 49.6.

[t] Therefore either all were not appointed to everlaſting life, or elſe all ſhould have beleeved, but becauſe that is not ſo, it followeth that ſome certaine were ordained: and therefore God did not onely foreknowe, but alſo fore ordaine, that neither faith nor the effectes of faith, ſhould be the cauſe of his ordaining or appointment, but his ordaining the cauſe of faith.

20 Such is the craft and ſubtiltie of the enemies of the Goſpel, that they abuſe the ſimplicitie of ſome which are not altogether euill men, to execute their crueltie.

[u] Such as imbraſed Moſes his Law.

21 The wickednes of the world cannot let God to gather his Church together, and to foſter and cheriſh it when it is gathered together.

* Matth. 10. 14. mar. 6.11. luke 9.5. Chap. 18.6.

1 We ought to be no leſſe conſtant in preaching of the Goſpel, then the perverſeneſſe of the wicked is obſtinate in perſecuting of it.

[a] Iconium was a city of Licaonia.

[b] Which obeyed not the doctrine.

2 We ought not to leave our places and give place to thretnings, neither to open rage, but when there is no other remedie, and that not for our owne quietneſſe ſake, but that the Goſpel of Chriſt may be ſpread further abroad.

their rulers, to do them violence, and to ſtone them,

6 They were ware of it,and [c] fled unto Lyſtra, and Derbe, cities of Lycaonia, and unto the region round about,

7 And there preached the Goſpel.

8 ¶ [3] Now there ſate a certain man at Lyſtra, impotent in his feet, which was a creeple from his mothers wombe,who had never walked :

9 He heard Paul ſpeake : who beholding him, and perceiving that he had faith to be healed,

10 Said with a loud voice,Stand upright on thy feet. And he leaped up,and walked.

11 Then when the people ſaw what Paul had done,they lift up their voices,ſaying in the ſpeech of Lycaonia, Gods are come down to us in the likeneſſe of men.

12 And they called Barnabas, Jupiter: and Paul, Mercurius: becauſe he was the chief ſpeaker.

13 Then Jupiters Prieſt,which was before their citie, brought bulles with garlands unto the [d] gates, and would have ſacrificed with the people.

14 But when the Apoſtles, Barnabas and Paul heard it, they rent their clothes, and ran in among the people, crying,

15 [4] And ſaying, O men,why do ye theſe things? We are even men ſubject to the [e] like paſſions that ye be, and preach unto you, that ye ſhould turn from theſe [f] vain things unto the living God, * which made heaven and earth, and the ſea, and all things that in them are:

16 [5] Who in times paſt [g] * ſuffered all the Gentiles to walk in their own wayes.

17 Neverthеleſſe, he left not himſelf without witneſſe, in that he did good and gave us rain from heaven, and fruitfull ſeaſons, filling our hearts with food,and gladneſſe.

18 And ſpeaking theſe things,ſcarce appeaſed they the multitude,that they had not ſacrificed unto them.

19 [6] Then there came certain Jewes from Antiochia and Iconium, which when they had perſwaded the people, * ſtoned Paul, and drew him out of the city, ſuppoſing he had been dead.

20 Howbeit,as the diſciples ſtood round about him, he aroſe up, and came into the citie, and the next day he departed with Barnabas to Derbe.

21 [7] And after they had preached the glad tidings of the Goſpel to that citie, and had taught many, they returned to Lyſtra, and to Iconium, and to Antiochia, 22 [8] Confirming the diſciples hearts,and exhorting them to continue in the faith, affirming that we muſt through many afflictions enter into the kingdome of God.

[c] It is lawfull ſometimes to flee dangers, in time convenient.

[3] It is an old ſubtiltie of the devill, either to cauſe the faithfull ſervants of God to be baniſhed at once, or to be worſhipped for idoles : and that chiefly, taking occaſion by miracles wrought by them.

[d] Of the houſe where Paul and Barnabas were.

[4] That is alſo called Idolatry,which giveth to creatures, be they never ſo holy and excellent , that which is proper to the onely one God, that is,invocation , or calling upon.

[e] Men as yee are, and partakers of the ſelfe ſame nature of man as you.

[f] He calleth idoles, vain things , after the manner of the Hebrewes.

* *Gen.*1.1. *Pſal.*146.5. *Revel.*14.7.

[5] Cuſtome, be it never ſo olde,doth not excuſe the idolaters.

* *Pſal.*81.13. *Rom.*1.24.

[g] Suffered them to live as they liſted, preſcribing and appointing them no kind of religion.

[6] The devill when he is brought to the laſt caſt, at length rageth openly,but in vain, even then when he ſeemeth to have the upper hand.

* 2 *Cor.*11.25.

[7] We muſt goe forward in our vocation through a thouſand deaths.

[8] It is the office of the miniſters, not onely to teach, but alſo to confirm them that are taught,and prepare them to the croſſe.

23 [9] And when they had ordeined them Elders by election in every Church, and prayed, and faſted,they commended them to the Lord in whom they beleeved.

24 [10] Thus they went throughout Piſidia, and came to Pamphylia.

25 And when they had preached the word in Perga,they came down to [h] Attalia,

26 And thence ſailed to [i] Antiochia, * from whence they had been commended unto the grace of God,to the work,which they had fulfilled.

27 And when they were come and had gathered the Church together,they rehearſed all the things that God had done by them, and how he had opened the doore of faith unto the Gentiles.

28 So there they abode a long time with the diſciples.

CHAP. XV.

1 Certain go about to bring in circumciſion at Antiochia. 6 About which matter the Apoſtles conſult. 19 And what muſt be done, 23 they declare by letters. 36 Paul and Barnabas 39 are at great variance.

THen [1] came down [a] certain from Judea, and taught the brethren, ſaying, Except ye be circumciſed after the manner of Moſes, ye cannot be ſaved.

2 [2] And when there was great diſſention,and diſputation by Paul and Barnabas againſt them,they ordeined that Paul and Barnabas,and certain other of them,ſhould go up to Jeruſalem unto the Apoſtles and Elders about this queſtion.

3 Thus [b] being brought forth by the Church, they paſſed through Phenice and Samaria, declaring the converſion of the Gentiles, and they brought great joy unto all the brethren.

4 And when they were come to Jeruſalem,they were received of the Church, and of the Apoſtles and Elders, and they declared what things God had done by them.

5 But ſaid they, certain of the ſect of the Phariſes,which did beleeve,roſe up,ſaying, that it was needfull to circumciſe them, and to command them to keep the law of Moſes.

6 [3] Then the Apoſtles and Elders came together to looke to this matter.

7 And when there had been great diſputation, Peter roſe up,and ſaid unto them, * [4] Ye men and brethren, ye know that a [c] good while agoe, amongſt us God choſe out me,that the gentils by my mouth ſhould heare the word of the Goſpel,and beleeve.

8 And God which knoweth the hearts, bare them witneſſe, in giving unto them the holy Ghoſt even as he did unto us.

10 [5]

10 [5] Now therefore, why [f] tempt ye God, to * lay a yoke upon the diſciples necks, which neither our fathers, nor we were able to beare?

11 But we beleeve, through the grace of the Lord Jeſus Chriſt to be ſaved, even as they doe.

12 [6] Then all the multitude kept ſilence, and heard Barnabas and Paul, which told what ſignes and wonders God had done among the Gentiles by them.

13 And when they held their peace, [g] James anſwered, ſaying, Men and brethren, hearken unto me.

14 [7] Simeon hath declared how God firſt did viſit the Gentiles, to take of them a people unto his name.

15 And to this agree the words of the Prophets, as it is written,

16 * After this I will returne, and will build againe the tabernacle of David, which is fallen down, and the ruines thereof will I build againe, and I will ſet it up,

17 That the reſidue of men might ſeeke after the Lord, and all the Gentiles upon whom my name is called, ſaith the Lord which doeth all theſe things.

18 From the beginning of the world, God [h] knoweth all his works.

19 [8] Wherefore my ſentence is, that we trouble not them of the Gentiles that are turned to God,

20 But that we ſend unto them, that they abſtain themſelues from [i] filthineſſe of idols, and fornication, and that that is ſtrangled, and from blood:

21 For Moſes of old time hath in every city them that preach him, ſeeing he is read in the Synagogues every Sabbath day.

22 [9] Then it ſeemed good to the Apoſtles and Elders with the whole Church, to ſend choſen men of their own company to Antiochia with Paul and Barnabas: to wit, Judas whoſe ſurname was Barſabas, and Silas, which were chiefe men among the brethren,

23 And wrote letters by them after this maner, THE APOSTLES, and the Elders, and the brethren, unto the brethren which are of the Gentiles in Antiochia, and in Syria, and in Cilicia, ſend greeting.

24 [10] Foraſmuch as we have heard, that certain which [k] went out from us, have troubled you with words, and [l] cumbred your minds, ſaying, Ye muſt be circumciſed and keep the Law, to whom we gave no ſuch commandment,

25 It ſeemed therefore good to us, when we were come together with one accord, to ſend choſen men unto you, with our beloved Barnabas and Paul.

26 Men that have [m] given up their lives for the Name of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt.

Peter paſſing from the ceremonies to the Law it ſelf in generall, ſheweth that none would be ſaved, if ſalvation were to be ſought for by the Law, and not by grace onely in Jeſus Chriſt: becauſe that no man would ever fulfill the Law, neither Patriarch nor Apoſtle.

f Why tempt you God, as though he could not ſave by faith?

* Matth. 23.4.

6 A true pattern of a lawfull Councill, where Gods truth onely reigneth.

g The ſon of Alpheus who is alſo called the Lords brother.

7 James confirmeth the calling of the Gentiles out of the word of God, therein agreeing to Peter.

* Amos 9. 11.

h And therefore nothing cometh to paſſe by fortune, but by Gods appointment.

8 In matters indifferent, we may ſo farre beare with the weaknes of our brethren, as they may have time to be inſtructed.

i From ſacrifices, or from feaſts which were kept in Idols temples.

9 In a lawfull Synode, neither they which are appointed and choſen Judges, appoint and determine any thing tyrannouſly, or upon a lordlineſſe, neither doth the common multitude ſet themſelves tumultuouſly againſt them which ſit as Judges by the word of God: as the like order alſo is holden in publiſhing & ratifying thoſe things which have been ſo determined and agreed upon.

10 The Councill of Jeruſalem concludeth, that they trouble mens conſciences, which teach us to ſeek ſalvation in any other meanes then in Chriſt onely, apprehended by faith, frō whence ſoever they come, and whomſoever they pretend to be authour of their vocation.

k From our congregation.

l A borrowed kinde of ſpeech taken of them which pull down that that was built up: and it is a very uſuall metaphore in the Scriptures, to ſay the Church is built, for the Church is planted and ſtabliſhed.

m Have greatly hazarded their lives.

27 We have therefore ſent Judas and Silas, which ſhall alſo tell you the ſame things by mouth.

28 [11] For it ſeemed good to the [n] holy Ghoſt, and [o] to us, to lay no more burthen upon you, then theſe [p] neceſſary things, 29 [12] That is, that ye abſtain from things offered to idols, and blood, and that that is ſtrangled, and from fornication: from which if ye keep your ſelves, ye ſhall doe well. Fare ye well.

30 [13] Now when they were departed, they came to Antiochia, and after that they had aſſembled the multitude, they delivered the Epiſtle.

31 And when they had read it, they rejoyced for the conſolation.

32 And Judas and Silas being Prophets, exhorted the brethren with many words, and ſtrengthened them.

33 And after they had taried there a ſpace, they were let goe in [q] peace of the brethren unto the Apoſtles.

34 Notwithſtanding Silas thought good to abide there ſtill.

35 Paul alſo and Barnabas continued in Antiochia, teaching and preaching with many other, the word of the Lord.

36 ¶ [14] But after certain dayes, Paul ſaid unto Barnabas, Let us return, and viſit our brethren in every city, where we have preached the word of the Lord, and ſee how they do.

37 [15] And Barnabas counſelled to take with them John, called Mark.

38 But Paul thought it not meet to take him unto their company, which departed from them from Pamphylia, and went not with them to the work.

39 [16] Then were they ſo [r] ſtirred, that they departed aſunder one from the other, ſo that Barnabas took Mark, and ſailed unto Cyprus.

40 And Paul choſe Silas and departed, being commended of the brethren unto the grace of God.

41 And he went through Syria and Cilicia, ſtabliſhing the Churches.

11 That is, a lawful Council, which the holy Ghoſt ruleth.

n Firſt they make mention of the holy Ghoſt, that it may not ſeem to be any mans work.

o Not that men have any authority of themſelves, but to ſhew the faithfulneſſe that they uſed in their miniſterie and labour.

p This was no preciſe neceſſitie, but in reſpect of the ſtate of that time, that the Gentiles & the Iews might more peaceably live together with leſſe occaſion of quarrell.

12 Charitie is requiſite even in things indifferent.

13 It is requiſite for all people to know certainly what to hold in matters of faith & religion, and not that the Church by ignorance and knowing nothing, ſhould depend upon the pleaſure of a few.

q This is an Hebrew kinde of ſpeech, which is as much to ſay, as the brethren wiſhed them all proſperous ſucceſſe, and the Church diſmiſſed them with good leave.

14 Congregations or Churches do eſily degenerate, unleſſe they be diligently ſeen unto, and therefore went theſe Apoſtles to overſee ſuch as they had planted, and for this cauſe alſo Synodes were inſtituted and appointed.

15 A lamentable example of diſcord between excellent men and very great friends, yet not for profane or their private affaires, neither yet for doctrine.

16 God uſeth the faults of his ſervants to the profit and building of the Church: yet we have to take heed, even in the beſt matters, that we paſſe not meaſure in our heate.

r They were in great heate: But herein we have to conſider the force of Gods counſell: for by this meanes it came to paſſe, that the doctrine of the Goſpel was exerciſed in many places.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Paul having circumciſed Timotheus, 12 Being at Philippi, 14 inſtructeth Lydia in the faith. 16 The ſpirit of divination 18 is by him caſt out: 20 And for that cauſe 22 they are whipped, 24 and impriſoned. 26 Through an earthquake 27 the priſon doores are opened. 31, 32 The Iayler receiveth the faith.

THen [1] came he to Derbe and to Lyſtra: and behold, a certain diſciple was there named * Timotheus, a womans ſon, which was a [a] Jeweſſe and beleeved, but his father was a Grecian.

1 Paul himſelf doth not receive Timothie into the miniſterie without ſufficient teſtimony, and allowance of the brethren.

* Rom. 16. 21. Phil. 2. 19. 1 Theſſ. 3. 2.

a Paul in his latter epiſtle to Timothie, commendeth the godlineſſe of Timothies mother and grandmother.

2 Of whom the brethren which were at Lyſtra and Iconium, [b] reported well.

3 [2] Therefore Paul would that he ſhould go forth with him, and took and circumciſed him, becauſe of the Jewes, which were in thoſe quarters: for they knew all, that his father was a Grecian.

4 [3] And as they went through the cities, they delivered them the [c] decrees to keep, ordained of the Apoſtles and Elders, which were at Jeruſalem.

5 And ſo were the Churches ſtabliſhed in the faith, and increaſed in number daily.

6 ¶ [4] Now when they had gone throughout Phrygia, and the region of Galatia, they were [d] forbidden of the holy Ghoſt to preach the word in Aſia.

7 Then came they to Myſia, and ſought to go into Bithynia: but the Spirit ſuffered them not.

8 Therefore they paſſed through Myſia, and came down to Troas.

9 [5] Where a viſion appeared to Paul in the night. There ſtood a man of Macedonia, and prayed him, ſaying, Come into Macedonia, and help us.

10 [6] And after he had ſeen the viſion, immediately we prepared to go into Macedonia, being aſſured that the Lord had called us to preach the Goſpel unto them.

11 Then went we forth from Troas, and with a ſtraight courſe came to Samothracia, and the next day to Neapolis,

12 ¶ And from thence to Philippi, which is the chief city in the parts of Macedonia, and whoſe inhabitants came from Rome to dwell there, and we were in that citie abiding certain dayes.

13 [7] And on the Sabbath day, we went out of the citie, beſides a River, where they were wont to [e] pray: and we ſate down, and ſpake unto the women, which were come together.

14 [8] And a certain woman named Lydia, a ſeller of purple, of the citie of the Thyatirians, which worſhipped God, heard us: whoſe heart the Lord opened, that ſhe attended unto the things, which Paul ſpake.

15 [9] And when ſhe was baptized, and her houſhold, ſhe beſought us, ſaying, If ye have judged me to be faithfull to the Lord, come into mine houſe, and abide there: and ſhe conſtrained us.

16 [10] And it came to paſſe that as we went to prayer, a certain maid having a ſpirit of [f] divination, met us, which gat her maſters much vantage with divining.

17 She followed Paul and us, and cried, ſaying, Theſe men are the ſervants of the moſt high God, which ſhew unto you the way of ſalvation.

18 And this did ſhe [g] many dayes: but Paul being grieved, turned about, and ſaid to the ſpirit, I command thee in the Name of Jeſus Chriſt that thou come out of her. And he came out the ſame houre.

19 [11] Now when her maſters ſaw that the hope of their gain was gone, they caught Paul and Silas, and drew them into the market place unto the Magiſtrates, 20 [12] And brought them to the governours, ſaying, Theſe men which are Jewes, trouble our citie.

21 [13] And preach ordinances, which are not lawfull for us to receive, neither to obſerve, ſeeing we are Romanes.

22 [14] The people alſo roſe up together againſt them, and the governours rent their clothes, and commanded them to be beaten with rods.

23 And when they had beaten them ſore, they caſt them into priſon, commanding the Jayler to keep them ſurely:

24 Who having received ſuch commandment, caſt them into the inner priſon, and made their feet [h] faſt in the ſtocks.

25 [15] Now at midnight Paul and Silas prayed, and ſung Pſalmes unto God: and the priſoners heard them.

26 And ſuddenly there was a great earthquake: ſo that the foundation of the priſon was ſhaken: and by and by all the doores opened, & every mans hands were looſed.

27 [16] Then the keeper of the priſon waked out of his ſleep, and when he ſaw the priſon doores open, he drew out his ſword and would have killed himſelf, ſuppoſing the priſoners had been fled.

28 [17] But Paul cried with a loud voyce, ſaying, Do thy ſelf no harme: for we are all here.

29 Then he called for a light, and leaped in, and came trembling, and fell down before Paul and Silas, 30 And brought them out, and ſaid, Sirs, what muſt I do to be ſaved?

31 And they ſaid, Beleeve in the Lord Jeſus Chriſt, and thou ſhalt be ſaved, and thine houſhold.

32 And they preached unto him the word of the Lord, & to all that were in the houſe.

33 [18] Afterward he took them the ſame houre of the night, and waſhed their ſtripes, and was baptized with all that belonged unto him, ſtraightway.

34 And when he had brought them into his houſe, he ſet meat before them, and rejoyced that he with all his houſhold beleeved in God.

35 [19] And when it was day, the governours ſent the ſergeants, ſaying, Let thoſe men go.

36 Then the keeper of the priſon told theſe words unto Paul, ſaying, The governours have ſent to looſe you: now therefore get you hence, and go in peace.

[b] Both for his godlineſſe and honeſtie.

[2] Timothie is circumciſed, not ſimply for any neceſſitie, but in reſpect of the time onely to winne the Jewes.

CHAP. XVII.

1 Paul at Theſſalonica 3 preaching Chriſt, 6, 7 is entertained of Iaſon: 10 He is ſent to Berea: 15 from thence comming to Athens, 19 in Mars ſtreet, 23 he preacheth the living God to them unknowen, 34 and ſo many are converted unto Chriſt.

NOw [1] as they paſſed through Amphipolis, and Apollonia, they came to Theſſalonica, where was a Synagogue of the Jewes.

2 And Paul, as his maner was, went in unto them, and three Sabbath daies diſputed with them by the Scriptures,

3 [2] Opening, and alleadging that Chriſt muſt have ſuffered, and riſen again from the dead: and this is Jeſus Chriſt, whom, ſaid he, I preach to you.

4 And ſome of them beleeved, and joyned in company with Paul and Silas: alſo of the Grecians that feared God a great multitude, and of the chiefe women not a few.

5 [3] But the Jewes which beleeved not, moved with envie, took unto them certain [a] vagabonds and wicked fellowes, and when they had aſſembled the multitude, they made a tumult in the citie, and made aſſault againſt the houſe of Jaſon, and ſought to bring them out to the people.

6 But when they found them not, they drew Jaſon and certain brethren unto the heads of the citie, crying, Theſe are they which have ſubverted the ſtate of the [b] world, and here they are,

7 Whom Jaſon hath received, and theſe all doe againſt the decrees of Ceſar, ſaying, that there is another King, one Jeſus.

8 Then they troubled the people, and the heads of the citie, when they heard theſe things.

9 Notwithſtanding when they had received ſufficient [c] aſſurance of Jaſon and of the other, they let them go.

10 [4] And the brethren immediatly ſent away Paul and Silas by night unto Berea, which when they were come thither, entred into the Synagogue of the Jewes.

11 [5] Theſe were alſo more [d] noble men then they which were at Theſſalonica, which received the word with all readines, and ſearched the Scriptures daily, whether thoſe things were ſo.

12 Therefore many of them beleeved, and of honeſt women, which were Grecians, and men not a few.

13 ¶ [6] But when the Jewes of Theſſalonica knew that the word of God was alſo preached of Paul at Berea, they came thither alſo, and moved the people.

14 [7] But by and by the brethren ſent away Paul to go as it were to the ſea: but Silas and Timotheus abode there ſtill.

15 [8] And they that did conduct Paul, [e] brought him unto Athens: and when they had received a commandement unto Silas and Timotheus, that they ſhould come to him at once, they departed.

16 ¶ [9] Now while Paul waited for them at Athens, his ſpirit was [f] ſtirred in him, when he ſaw the citie ſubject to [g] idolatrie.

17 Therefore he diſputed in the Synagogue with the Jewes, and with them that were religious, and in the market daily with [h] whomſoever he met.

18 [10] Then certain Philoſophers of the Epicures, and of the Stoikes diſputed with him, and ſome ſaid, What will this [i] babbler ſay? Other ſaid, He ſeemeth to be a ſetter forth of ſtrange gods (becauſe he preached unto them Jeſus, and the reſurrection)

19 And they took him, and brought him into [k] Mars ſtreet, ſaying, May we not know, what this new doctrine, whereof thou ſpeakeſt, is?

20 For thou bringeſt certain ſtrange things unto our eares: we would know therefore what theſe things meane.

21 [11] For all the Athenians, and ſtrangers which dwelt there, gave themſelves to nothing elſe, but either to tell, or to heare ſome newes.

22 [12] Then Paul ſtood in the mids of Mars ſtreet, and ſaid, Ye men of Athens, I perceive that in all things ye are too [l] ſuperſtitious.

23 For as I paſſed by, and beheld your [m] devotions. I found an altar wherein was written, VNTO THE [n] VNKNOWEN GOD. Whom ye then ignorantly worſhip, him ſhew I unto you.

24 [13] God that made the world, and all things that are therein, ſeeing that he is Lord of heaven and earth, * dwelleth not in temples made with hands,

20 We muſt not render injury for injury, and yet notwithſtanding it is lawfull for us to uſe ſuch helpe as God giveth us, to bridle the outragiouſneſſe of the wicked, that they hurt not other in like ſort.

21 The wicked are not moved with the feare of God, but with the feare of men: and by that meanes alſo God provideth for his, when it is needfull.

22 We may eſchew dangers, ſo that we never neglect our duetie.

1 The caſting out of Silas and Paul was the ſaving of many other.

2 Chriſt is therefore the Mediatour, becauſe he was crucified and roſe again: much leſſe is he to be rejected becauſe the croſſe is ignominious.

3 Although the zeale of the unfaithfull ſeeme never ſo goodly, yet at length it is found to have neither trueth nor equity: But yet the wicked cannot doe what they liſt, for even among themſelves God ſtirreth up ſome, whoſe helpe he uſeth to the deliverance of his.

a Certain companions which doe nothing but walke the ſtreets, wicked men, to be hired for every mans money to doe any miſchiefe, ſuch as we commonly call the raſcals and very ſinke and dunghill knaves of all townes and cities.

b Into what countrey and place ſoever they come, they cauſe ſedition and tumult.

c When Iaſon had put them in good aſſurance that they ſhould appeare.

4 That is indeed the wiſedom of the Spirit, which alwayes ſetteth the glory of God before it ſelfe, as a marke whereunto it directeth it ſelf, & never ſwarveth from it.

5 The Lord ſetteth out in one moment, & in one people, divers examples of his unſearchable wiſedome, to cauſe them to feare him.

d He compareth the Iewes with the Iewes.

6 Satan hath his, who are zealous for him, and that even ſuch, as leaſt of all ought.

7 There is neither counſell, nor fury, nor madneſſe againſt the Lord.

8 The ſheepe of Chriſt doe alſo watch for their paſtours health & ſafety, but yet in the Lord.

e It is not for naught that the Iewes of Berea were ſo commended, for they brought Paul ſafe from Macedonia to Athens, and there is in diſtance betwixt thoſe two, all Theſſalia, and Bœotia and Attica.

9 In comparing the wiſedome of God with mans wiſedome, men ſcoffe and mocke at that which they underſtand not: And God uſeth the curioſity of fooles to gather together his elect, f He could not forbeare.

g Slaviſhly given to idolatry: Pauſanias writeth that there were more idoles in Athens then in all Grecia, yea, they had altars dedicated to Shame, and Fame, and Luſt, whom they made goddeſſes.

h Whomſoever Paul met with, that would ſuffer him to talke with him, he reaſoned with him, ſo throughly did he burne with the zeale of Gods glory.

10 Two ſectes eſpecially of the Philoſophers, doe ſet themſelves againſt Chriſt: the Epicures which make a mocke and ſcoffe at all religion: and the Stoikes, which determine upon matters of religion according to their owne braines.

i Word for word, ſeed gatherer: a borrowed kind of ſpeach taken of birds which ſpoile corne, and is applied to them, which without all arte bluſter out ſuch knowledge as they have gotten by hearing this man and that man.

k This was a place called as you would ſay, Mars hill, where ỹ Iudges ſate, which were called Areopagitæ, upon weighty affaires, which in old time arreigned Socrates, and after condemned him of impiety. 11 The wiſdom of man is vanitie. 12 The idolaters themſelves miniſter moſt ſtrong and forcible arguments againſt their owne ſuperſtition. l To ſtand in too peeviſh and ſervile a feare of your gods. m Whatſoever men worſhip for religions ſake, that we call devotion. n Pauſanias in his Atticis maketh mention of the altar which the Athenians had dedicated to unknowen gods: and Laertius in his Epimenides maketh mention of an alter that had no name intituled. 13 It is a moſt fooliſh and vaine thing to compare the Creatour with the creature, to limit him within a place which can be comprehended in no place, and to thinke to allure him with gifts, of whom all men have received all things whatſoever they have. And theſe are the fountains of idolatry. * Chap.7.48.

25 *Neither is worſhipped with mens hands, as though he needed any thing, ſeeing he giveth to all life, and breath, and all things,

26 [14] And hath made of [o] one blood all mankinde, to dwell on all the face of the earth, and hath aſſigned the ſeaſons which were ordeined before, and the bounds of their habitation,

27 That they ſhould ſeek the Lord, if ſo be they might have [p] groped after him, and found him, though doubtleſſe he be not farre from every one of us.

28 For in him we live, and moove, and have our being, as alſo certaine of your owne Poets have ſaid, For we are alſo his generation.

29 *Foraſmuch then, as we are the generation of God, we ought not to thinke that the Godhead is like unto gold, or ſilver, or ſtone [q] graven by arte and the invention of man.

30 [15] And the time of this ignorance God regarded not: but now he admoniſheth all men every where to repent.

31 Becauſe he hath appointed a day in the which he will judge the world in righteouſnes, by that man whom he hath appointed, whereof he hath given an [r] aſſurance to all men, in that he hath raiſed him from the dead.

32 [16] Now when they heard of the reſurrection from the dead, ſome mocked, and other ſayd, We will heare thee againe of this thing.

33 And ſo Paul departed from among them.

34 Howbeit, certain men clave unto Paul, and beleeved: among whom was alſo Denys Areopagita, and a woman named Damaris, and other with them.

Chap. XVIII.

1 As Paul at Corinth, 6 taught the Gentiles, 9 the Lord comforteth him. 12 He is accuſed before Gallio, 16 but in vaine: 18 From thence he ſaileth to Syria, 19 and ſo to Epheſus. 23 At Galatia and Phrygia he ſtrengtheneth the diſciples. 24 Apollos being more perfectly inſtructed by Aquila, 28 preacheth Chriſt with great efficacie.

After [1] theſe things, Paul departed from Athens, and came to Corinthus,

2 And found a certain Jew named *Aquila, borne in Pontus, lately come from Italie, and his wife Priſcilla, (becauſe that [a] Claudius had commanded all Jewes to depart from Rome) and he came unto them.

3 And becauſe he was of the ſame craft, he abode with them and wrought (for their craft was to make tents)

4 [2] And he diſputed in the Synagogue every Sabbath day, and [b] exhorted the Jewes, and the Grecians.

5 Now when Silas and Timotheus were come from Macedonia, Paul [c] forced in ſpirit, teſtified to the Jewes that Jeſus was the Chriſt.

6 [3] And when they reſiſted and blaſphemed, he *ſhook his rayment, and ſaid unto them, Your [d] blood be upon your own head: I am cleane: from henceforth will I go unto the Gentiles.

7 So he departed thence, and entred into a certain mans houſe, named Juſtus, a worſhipper of God, whoſe houſe joyned hard to the Synagogue.

8 And *Criſpus the chiefe ruler of the Synagogue, beleeved in the Lord with all his houſhold: and many of the Corinthians hearing it, beleeved and were baptized.

9 [4] Then ſaid the Lord to Paul in the night by a viſion, Feare not, but ſpeak and hold not thy peace:

10 For I am with thee, and no man ſhal lay hands on thee to hurt thee: for I have much people in this citie.

11 So he [e] continued there a yeare and ſix moneths, and taught the word of God among them.

12 ¶ [5] Now when Gallio was deputie of [f] Achaia, the Jewes aroſe with one accord againſt Paul, and brought him to the judgement ſeat, 13 Saying, This fellow perſwadeth men to worſhip God otherwiſe then the Law appointeth.

14 And as Paul was about to open his mouth, Gallio ſaid unto the Jewes, If it were a matter of wrong, or an evill deede, O ye Jewes, I would according to [g] reaſon maintaine you.

15 But if it be a queſtion of [h] words and [i] names, and of your Law, look ye to it your ſelves: for I will be no judge of thoſe things.

16 And he drave them from the judgement ſeat.

17 Then took all the Grecians Soſthenes the chief ruler of the Synagogue, and beat him before the judgement ſeat: but Gallio cared nothing for thoſe things.

18 [6] But when Paul had taried there yet a good while, he took leave of the brethren, and ſayled into Syria (and with him Priſcilla and Aquila) after that [k] he had ſhorne his head in [l] Cenchrea: for he had a *vow.

19 Then he came to Epheſus, and left them there: but he entred into the Synagogue, and diſputed with the Jewes:

20 [7] Who deſired him to tarie a longer time with them: but he would not conſent,

21 But bade them farewell, ſaying, I muſt needs keep this feaſt that commeth, in Jeruſalem: but I will returne againe unto you, * [m] if God will. So he ſayled from Epheſus.

24 [8] And a certain Jew, named * Apollos, borne at Alexandria, came to Epheſus, an eloquent man, and [n] mightie in the Scriptures.

28 For mightily he confuted publikely the Jewes, with great vehemencie, ſhewing by the Scriptures, that Jeſus was that Chriſt.

CHAP. XIX.

1 Certain diſciples at Epheſus, 3 having onely received Iohns baptiſme, 2 and knew not the viſible gifts of the holy Ghoſt wherewith God had beautified his ſonnes kingdome, 5 are baptized in the Name of Ieſus. 13 The Iewiſh exorciſts, 16 are beaten of the devill. 19 Conjuring bookes are burnt. 24 Demetrius, 29 raiſeth ſedition againſt Paul.

AND [1] it came to paſſe, while Apollos was at Corinthus, that Paul when he paſſed thorow the upper coaſts, came to Epheſus, and found certain diſciples,

[1] Paul being nothing offended at the rudeneſſe of the Epheſians, planteth a Church amongſt them.

2 And ſaid unto them, Have ye received the [a] holy Ghoſt ſince ye beleeved? And they ſaid unto him, We have not ſo much as heard whether there be an holy Ghoſt.

3 [2] And he ſaid unto them, Vnto [b] what were ye then baptized? And they ſaid, Vnto [c] Johns baptiſme.

4 Then ſaid Paul, * Iohn verely baptized with the baptiſme of repentance, ſaying unto the poeple, that they ſhould beleeve in him which ſhould come after him, that is, in Chriſt Jeſus.

[a] Thoſe excellent gifts of the holy Ghoſt, which were in thoſe dayes in the Church.

[2] Iohn did only begin to inſtruct the diſciples whom Chriſt ſhould make perfect.

[b] In what doctrine then are you taught and inſtructed?

[c] To be baptized into Iohns baptiſme, is to profeſſe the doctrine which Iohn preached and ſealed with his baptiſme.

* Chap. 1. 5. & 2. 2. and 11. 16. Matth. 3. 11. Marke 1. 8. Luke 3. 16. Iohn 1. 26.

5 And when they heard it, they were baptized in the Name of the Lord Jeſus.

6 So Paul laid his hands upon them, and the holy Ghoſt came on them, and they ſpake the tongues, and propheſied.

7 And all the men were about twelve.

8 ¶ Moreover he went into the Synagogue, and ſpake boldly for the ſpace of three moneths, diſputing and exhorting to the things that appertain to the kingdome of God.

9 [3] But when certain were hardened, and diſobeyed, ſpeaking evill of the [d] way of God before the multitude, he departed from them, and ſeparated the diſciples, and diſputed daily in the ſchool of one [e] Tyrannus.

[3] For a man to ſeparate himſelfe and others from infidels which are utterly deſperate, it is not to divide the Church, but rather to unite it, and make it one.

[d] By this word, Way, the Hebrewes underſtand any kind of life, and here it is taken for Chriſtianity.

[e] This was a mans proper name.

10 And this was done by the ſpace of two yeares, ſo that all they which dwelt in Aſia, heard the word of the Lord Ieſus, both Jewes and Grecians.

11 And God wrought no ſmall miracles by the hands of Paul,

12 So that from his bodie were brought unto the ſick, kerchiefs, or handkerchiefs, and the diſeaſes departed from them, and the evill ſpirits went out of them.

13 [4] Then certain of the vagabond Jewes, [f] exorciſts, took in hand to name over them which had evill ſpirits, the Name of the Lord Jeſus, ſaying, We adjure you by Ieſus, whom Paul preacheth.

[4] Satan is conſtrained to give witneſſe againſt himſelfe.

[f] So were they called which caſt out devils by conjuring them in the Name of God: and in the beginning of the Church, they which had the gift of working miracles, and laid their hands on them that were poſſeſſed with devils, were alſo ſo called.

14 (And there were certain ſons of Sceva a Jew, the Prieſt, about ſeven which did this)

15 And the evill ſpirit anſwered, and ſaid, Jeſus I acknowledge, and Paul I know: but who are ye?

16 And the man in whom the evill ſpirit was, ranne on them, and overcame them, and [g] prevailed againſt them, ſo that they fled out of that houſe naked, and wounded.

[g] He prevailed againſt them, though they ſtrove never ſo much.

17 And this was knowen to all the Jewes and Grecians alſo, which dwelt at Epheſus, and feare came on them all, and the Name of the Lord Jeſus was magnified.

18 [5] And many that beleeved, came and [h] confeſſed, and ſhewed their works.

19 Many alſo of them which uſed curious arts, brought their bookes, and burned them before all men: and they counted the price of them, and found [i] it fiftie thouſand pieces of ſilver.

20 So the word of God grew mightily, and prevailed.

[5] Conjuring and ſorcerie is condemned by open teſtimony, and by the authoritie of the Apoſtle.

[h] Confeſſed their errours, and deteſted them openly, being terrified with the feare of the judgement of God: and what is this to eare-ſhrift?

[i] They that make the leaſt value of it, reckon it to be about eight hundred pounds Engliſh.

21 ¶ [6] Now when theſe things were accompliſhed, Paul purpoſed by the [k] Spirit to paſſe through Macedonia and Achaia, and to go to Hieruſalem, ſaying, After I have been there, I muſt alſo ſee Rome.

22 So ſent he unto Macedonia two of them that miniſtred unto him, Timotheus and Eraſtus, but he remained in Aſia for a ſeaſon.

[6] Paul is never wearie.

[k] By the motion of Gods Spirit: therefore we may not ſay that Paul ranne hand over head to death, but as the Spirit of God led him.

23 [7] And the ſame time there aroſe no ſmall trouble about that way.

24 For a certain man named Demetrius a ſilver ſmith, which made ſilver [l] temples of Diana, brought great gaines unto the crafteſmen,

25 Whom he called together, with the workemen of like things, and ſaid, Sirs, ye know that by this craft we have our goods:

26 Moreover ye ſee and heare, that not alone at Epheſus, but almoſt throughout all

[7] Gaine cloaked with a ſhew of religion, is the verie cauſe wherefore idolatrie is ſtoutly and ſtubbornly defended.

[l] Theſe were certain counterfeit temples with Dianas picture in them, which they bought that worſhipped her.

Aſia this Paul hath perſwaded, and turned away much people, ſaying, That they be not gods which are made with hands.

27 So that not onely this thing is dangerous unto us, that this our [m] portion ſhall be reproved, but alſo that the temple of the great goddeſſe Diana ſhould be nothing eſteemed, and that it would come to paſſe, that her magnificence, which all Aſia and the world worſhippeth, ſhould be deſtroyed.

[m] As if he ſaid, If Paul go on thus as he hath begun, to confute the opinion which men have of Dianas image, all this our game will come to nought.

28 Now when they heard it, they were full of wrath, and cryed out, ſaying, Great is Diana of the Epheſians.

29 And the whole citie was full of confuſion, and they ruſhed into the common place with one aſſent, and caught * Gajus, and * Ariſtarchus, men of Macedonia, and Pauls companions of his journey.

* *Rom.*16.23. 1 Cor. 1. 14.
* *Coloſſ.*4.10.

30 And when Paul would have entred in unto the people, the diſciples ſuffered him not.

31 [8] Certain alſo of the chiefe of Aſia which were his friends, ſent unto him, deſiring him that he would not preſent himſelfe in the Common place.

[8] There ought to be in all Chriſtians, and eſpecially in the miniſters, an invincible conſtancie, which may not by any ſtormes or aſſaults be overcome, which notwithſtanding muſt ſuffer it ſelf modeſtly to be governed by wiſedome.

32 Some therefore cried one thing, and ſome another: for the aſſembly was out of order, and the more part knew not wherefore they were come together.

33 And ſome of the company drew forth Alexander, the Jewes thruſting him forwards. Alexander then beckened with the hand, and would have excuſed the matter to the people.

34 [9] But when they knew that he was a Jew, there aroſe a ſhout almoſt for the ſpace of two houres, of all men, crying, Great is Diana of the Epheſians.

[9] In ſtead of reaſon, the idolaters are ſufficiently contented with their owne madneſſe & outcries, and thoſe are the greateſt defences that they have.

35 [10] Then the Town-cleark when he had ſtayed the people, ſaid, Ye men of Epheſus, what man is it that knoweth not how that the citie of the Epheſians is a worſhipper of the great goddeſſe Diana, and of the image, which [n] came down from Iupiter?

[10] An example of a politike man, who redeemeth peace and quietnes with lies, which Paul would never have done.

[n] The Epheſians beleeved ſuperſtitiouſly, that the image of Diana came down from heaven to them.

36 Seeing then that no man can ſpeak againſt theſe things, ye ought to be appeaſed, and to doe nothing raſhly.

37 For ye have brought hither theſe men, which have neither committed ſacriledge, neither doe blaſpheme your goddes.

38 Wherefore, if Demetrius & the crafteſmen which are with him, have a [o] matter againſt any man, the [p] law is open, and there are [q] Deputies: let them accuſe one another.

39 But if ye enquire any thing concerning other matters, it may be determined in a [r] lawfull aſſembly:

40 For we are even in jeopardie to be accuſed of this dayes ſedition, for as much as there is no cauſe, whereby we may give a reaſon of this concourſe of people.

41 And when he had thus ſpoken, he let the aſſembly depart.

[o] Have ought to accuſe any man of.

[p] For there are certain dayes appointed for civill cauſes and matters of judgement, and the Deputies ſit.

[q] By the Deputies are meant alſo the Deputies ſubſtitutes, that is, ſuch as did ſit for them.

[r] He ſpeaketh of a lawfull aſſembly, not onely to except againſt the diſordered hurly burly of the people, but alſo againſt all meeting & comming together, which was not by order: for there were certain dayes appointed to call the people together in.

CHAP. XX.

1 Paul appointeth to go to Macedonia. 7 In Troas preaching untill midnight, 9 Eutychus fell down dead out of a window, 10 he raiſeth him to life: 15 At Miletum, 17 having called the Elders of Epheſus together, 23 he declareth what things ſhall come upon himſelfe, 29 and others.

[4] The devill m ding to troub the Church wi great offence, veth Paul a ſingu occaſion to c firme the Goſp

9 And there ſate in a window a certain young man named Eutychus, fallen into a dead ſleepe: and as Paul was long preaching, he overcome with ſleepe, fell down from the third loft, and was taken up dead.

10 But Paul went down, and laid himſelfe upon him, and embraced him, ſaying, Trouble not your ſelves: for his life is in him.

11 Then when Paul was come up again, and had broken bread, and eaten, having ſpoken a long while till the dawning of the day, he ſo departed.

12 And they brought the boy alive, and they were not a little comforted.

13 ¶ Then we went before to ſhip, and ſailed unto the citie Aſſos, that we might receive Paul there: for ſo had he appointed, and would himſelfe go afoot.

14 Now when he was come unto us to Aſſos, and we had received him, we came to Mitylenes.

15 And we ſailed thence, & came the next day over againſt Chios, and the next day we arrived at Samos, and taried at Trogyllium: the next day we came to Miletum.

16 [5] For Paul had determined to ſaile by Epheſus, becauſe he would not ſpend the time in Aſia: for he haſted to be, if he could poſ-poſſible, at Jeruſalem at the day of Pentecoſt.

17 ¶ Wherefore from [c] Miletum, he ſent to Epheſus, and called the Elders of the Church:

[c] According as the ſituation of theſe places is ſet forth, that diſtance between Epheſus and Miletum, was about 400 furlongs, which maketh almoſt fiftie dutch miles.

18 [6] Who when they were come to him, he ſaid unto them, Ye know from the firſt day that I came into Aſia, after what manner I have been with you at all ſeaſons, [6] A lively image of a true Paſtor.

19 Serving the Lord with all modeſty, and with many teares, and temptations, which came unto me by the layings await of the Jewes,

20 And how I kept [d] back nothing that was profitable, but have ſhewed you, & taught you openly and throughout every houſe,

[d] I refrained not to ſpeake, neither diſſembled in any reſpect whatſoever, either for feare or lucres ſake.

21 Witneſſing both to the Jewes, and to the Grecians the repentance toward God, and faith toward our Lord Jeſus Chriſt.

22 [7] And now behold, I go [e] bound in the Spirit unto Jeruſalem, and know not what things ſhall come unto me there:

[7] He teſtifieth that he goeth to his bonds by the commandement of God.

[e] He calleth that motion of the holy Ghoſt, which inforced him to take his journey to Jeruſalem, the bond of the Spirit, whom he followed with al his heart.

23 Save that the holy Ghoſt witneſſeth in every citie, ſaying, that bonds and afflictions abide me:

24 But I paſſe not at all, neither is my life deare unto my ſelf, ſo that I may fulfill my courſe with joy, and the miniſtration which I have received of the Lord Jeſus, to teſtifie the Goſpel of the grace of God.

25 And now behold, I know that henceforth ye all, through whom I have gone preaching the kingdome of God, ſhall ſee my face no more.

26 Wherefore I take you to record this day, that I am [f] pure from the blod of al men.

[f] If you do periſh, yet there ſhall be no fault in me, Looke, chap. 18. 6.

27 [8] For I have kept nothing back, but have ſhewed you all the counſell of God.

[8] The doctrine of the Apoſtles is moſt perfect and abſolute.

28 Take heed therefore unto your ſelves, and to all the flock, whereof the holy Ghoſt hath made you overſeers, to [g] feed the Church of God, which [h] he hath purchaſed with [i] that his own blood.

[g] To keep it, to feed and govern it.

[h] A notable ſentence for Chriſts Godhead: which ſheweth plainly in his perſon, how that by reaſon of the joyning together of the two natures in his own perſon, that which is proper to one is ſpoken of the other, being taken in the derivative, and not in the primative: which in old time the godly fathers termed, a communicating or fellowſhip of proprieties, that is to ſay, a making common of that to two, which belongeth but to one.

[i] This word, That, ſheweth the excellencie of this blood.

29 [9] For I know this, that after my departing, ſhall grievous wolves enter in among you, not ſparing the flock.

[9] A prophecie of Paſtours ẏ ſhould ſtraightway degenerate into wolves, againſt ſuch as boaſt and brag only of a ſucceſſion of perſons.

30 Moreover of your own ſelves ſhall men ariſe ſpeaking perverſe things, to [k] draw diſciples after them.

[k] This is great miſerie, to want the preſence of ſuch a ſhepherd, but greater to have wolves enter in.

31 Therefore watch, and remember, that by the ſpace of three yers I ceaſed not to warn every one, both night and day with teares.

32 [10] And now brethren, I commend you to God, and to the word of his grace, which is able to build further, and to give you an [l] inheritance among all them, which are ſanctified.

[10] The power of God, and his free promiſes revealed in his word, are the props and upholders of the miniſtery of the Goſpel.

[l] As children, and therefore of free love and good will.

33 [11] I have coveted no mans ſilver, nor gold, nor apparell.

[11] Paſtours muſt before all things beware of covetouſneſſe.

34 Yea, ye know that theſe hands have miniſtred unto my *neceſſities, and to them that were with me.

* 1 Cor. 4. 13. 1 Theſ. 2. 9. 2 Theſ. 3. 8.

35 I have ſhewed you all things, how that ſo labouring, ye ought [m] to ſupport the weake, and to remember the words of the Lord Jeſus, how that he ſaid, It is a bleſſed thing to give, rather then to receive.

[m] As it were by reaching out the hand to them, which otherwiſe are about to ſlip and fall away, and ſo to ſtay them.

36 And when he had thus ſpoken, he kneeled down, and prayed with them all.

37 [12] Then they wept all abundantly, and fell on Pauls neck, and kiſſed him, [12] The Goſpel doth not take away naturall affections, but ruleth and bridleth them in good order.

38 Being chiefly ſory for the words which he ſpake, That they ſhould ſee his face no more. And they accompanyed him unto the ſhip.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Paul goeth toward Ieruſalem. 8 At Ceſarea he talketh with Philip the Evangeliſt. 10 Agabus foretelleth him of his bonds. 17 After he came to Ieruſalem, 26 and into the Temple, 27 the Iewes laid hands on him. 32 Lyſias the captain taketh him from them.

AND [1] as we lanched forth, and were departed from them, we came with a ſtraight courſe unto Coos, and the day following unto the Rhodes, and from thence unto Patara.

[1] Not onely men ſimply, but even our friends, and ſuch as are endued with the Spirit of God, do ſomtimes go about to hinder the courſe of our vocation: but it is our part to go forward without all ſtopping or ſtaggering; after that we are ſure of our calling from God.

2 And we found a ſhip that went over unto Phenice, and went aboard, and ſet forth.

3 And when we had diſcovered Cyprus, we left it on the left hand, and ſailed toward Syria, and arrived at Tyrus: for there the ſhip unladed the burden.

4 And when we had found Diſciples, we tarried there ſeven dayes. And they told Paul through the [a] Spirit, that he ſhould not go up to Jeruſalem.

[a] They foretold through the Spirit what dangers hanged over Pauls head: & this they did as Prophets: but of a fleſhly affection they frayed him from going to Ieruſalem.

5 But when the dayes were ended, we departed and went our way, and they all accompanied us with their wives and children, even out of the citie: and we kneeling down on the ſhore, prayed.

6 Then when we had embraced one another, we took ſhip, and they returned home.

7 And when we had ended the courſe from Tyrus, we arrived at Ptolemais, and ſaluted the brethren, and abode with them one day.

8 And the next day, Paul and we that were with him, departed, and came unto Ceſarea: and we entred into the houſe of * Philip the Evangeliſt, which was one of the [b] ſeven Deacons, and abode with him.

* Chap. 6. 5.

[b] He ſpeaketh of the ſeven Deacons which he mentioned before, Chap. 6.

9 Now he had foure daughters virgins, which did [c] prophecie.

[c] They had a peculiar gift of foretelling things to come.

10 And as we tarried there many daies, there came a certain Prophet from Judea, named Agabus.

11 And when he was come unto us, he took Pauls girdle, and bound his own hands and feet, & ſaid, Thus ſaith the holy Ghoſt, So ſhall the Jewes at Jeruſalem bind the man that oweth this girdle, and ſhall deliver him into the hands of the Gentiles.

12 And when we had heard theſe things, both we & other of the ſame place beſought him that he would not go up to Jeruſalem.

13 Then Paul anſwered, and ſaid, What do ye weeping and breaking mine heart? For I am ready not to be bound onely, but alſo to die at Jeruſalem for the Name of the Lord Jeſus.

14 [2] So when he would not be perſwaded, we ceaſed, ſaying, The will of the Lord be done.

15 And after thoſe dayes we truſſed up our fardels, and went up to Jeruſalem.

16 There went with us alſo certain of the diſciples of Ceſarea, and brought with them one Mnaſon of Cyprus, an old diſciple, with whom we ſhould lodge.

17 And when we were come to Jeruſalem, the brethren received us gladly.

18 And the next day Paul went in with us unto James: and all the Elders were there aſſembled.

19 [3] And when he had embraced them, he told by order al things, that God had wroght among the Gentiles by his miniſtration.

20 [4] So when they heard it, they glorified God, & ſaid unto him, Thou ſeeſt, brother, how many thouſand Jews there are which beleeve, & they are all zealous of the Law.

21 Now they are informed of thee, that thou teacheſt all the Jews, which are among the Gentiles, to forſake Moſes, and ſayeſt, that they ought not to circumciſe ther ſons, neither to live after the cuſtomes.

22 What is then to be done? the multitude muſt needs come together: for they ſhall heare that thou art come.

23 Do therfore this that we ſay to thee. We have foure men, which have made a vow:

24 Them take, and [d] purifie thy ſelf with them, and [e] contribute with them, that they may *ſhave their heads: & al ſhal know, that thoſe things, whereof they have been informed concerning thee, are nothing, but that thou thy ſelf alſo walkeſt & keepſt the Law.

25 For as touching the Gentiles, which beleeve, we have written, and determined that they obſerve no ſuch thing, but that they keep themſelves from things offered to idols, and from blood, and from that that is ſtrangled, and from fornication.

26 Then Paul took the men, and the next day was purified with them, & entred into the temple, [f] declaring the accompliſhment of the dayes of the purification, untill that an offering ſhould be offered for every one of them.

27 [5] And when the ſeven dayes were almoſt ended, the Jewes which were of Aſia (when they ſaw him in the Temple) mooved all the people, and laid hands on him,

28 Crying, Men of Iſrael, help: this is the man that teacheth all men every where againſt the people, & the law, and this place: moreover, he hath brought Grecians into the temple, & hath poluted this holy place.

29 For they had ſeen before Trophimus an Epheſian with him in the city, whom they ſuppoſed that Paul had brought into the Temple.

30 Then all the citie was mooved, and the people ran together: and they took Paul, and drew him out of the Temple, and forthwith the doores were ſhut.

31 [6] But as they went about to kill him, tidings came unto the chief captain of the band, that all Jeruſalem was on an uprore:

32 Who immediatly took Souldiers, & Centurions, and ran down unto them: and when thy ſaw the chief captain and the ſouldiers, they left beating of Paul.

33 Then the chief captain came neere and took him, and commanded him to be bound with two chaines, and demanded who he was, and what he had done.

34 And one cryed this, another that, among the people. So when he could not know the certaintie for the tumult, he commanded him to be led into the caſtle.

35 And when he came unto the grieces, it was ſo that he was born of the ſouldiers, for the violence of the people.

36 For the multitude of the people followed after, crying, Away with him.

37 And as Paul ſhould have been led into the caſtle, he ſaid unto the chief captain, May I ſpeake unto thee? Who ſaid, Canſt thou ſpeake Greek?

38 Art not thou the [g] Egyptian who before theſe dayes raiſed a ſedition, and led out into the wilderneſſe foure thouſand men that were murtherers?

39 Then Paul ſaid, Doubtleſſe, I am a man which am a Jew, and citizen of Tarſus, a famous city of Cilicia, and I beſeech thee, ſuffer me to ſpeake unto the people.

40 And when he had given him licence, Paul ſtood on the grieces, & beckned with the hand unto the people: and when there was made great ſilence, he ſpake unto them in the Hebrew tongue, ſaying,

CHAP. XXII.

1 Paul yeeldeth a reaſon of his faith, 22 and the Iewes heare him a while. 23 But ſo ſoon as they cryed out, 24 he is commanded to be ſcourged and examined, 27 and ſo declareth that he is a citizen of Rome.

YE men, brethren and fathers, heare my defence now towards you.

2 (And when they heard that he ſpake in the Hebrew tongue to them, they kept the more ſilence, and he ſaid)

3 [1] I am verely a man, which am a Jew. born in Tarſus in Cilicia, but brought up in this city at the [a] feet of Gamaliel, and inſtructed according to the perfect manner of the Law of the Fathers, and was zealous toward God, as ye all are this day.

4 And I perſecuted this way unto the death, binding and delivering into priſon both men and women.

me witneſſe, and all the company of the Elders, of whom alſo I received letters unto the brethren, and went to Damaſcus to bring them which were there, bound unto Jeruſalem, that they might be puniſhed.

6 ¶ And ſo it was, as I journeyed and was come neere unto Damaſcus about noon, that ſuddenly there ſhone from heaven a great light round about me.

7 So I fell unto the earth, and heard a voice ſaying unto me, Saul, Saul, why perſecuteſt thou me?

8 Then I anſwered, Who art thou, Lord? And he ſaid to me, I am Jeſus of Nazareth, whom thou perſecuteſt.

9 Moreover, they that were with me, ſaw indeed a light and were afraid: but they heard not the voice of him that ſpake unto me.

10 Then ſaid I, What ſhall I do, Lord? And the Lord ſaid unto me, Ariſe, and go into Damaſcus: and there it ſhall be told thee of all things, which are appointed for thee to do.

11 So when I could not ſee for the glory of that light, I was led by the hand of them that were with me, & came into Damaſcus.

12 And one Ananias a godly man, as pertaining to the Law, having good report of all the Jewes which dwelt there, 13 Came unto me, and ſtood, and ſaid unto me, Brother Saul, receive thy ſight: and that ſame houre I looked upon him.

14 And he ſaid, The God of our fathers hath appointed thee, that thou ſhouldeſt know his will, and ſhouldeſt ſee that juſt One, and ſhouldeſt heare the voyce of his mouth.

15 For thou ſhalt be his witneſſe unto all men, of the things which thou haſt ſeen and heard.

16 Now therefore why tarrieſt thou? Ariſe, and be baptized, and waſh away thy ſins, in calling on the Name of the Lord.

17 ¶ And it came to paſſe, that when I was come again to Jeruſalem, and prayed in the Temple, I was in a trance.

18 And ſaw him ſaying unto me, Make haſt, and get thee quickly out of Jeruſalem: for they will not receive thy witneſſe concerning me.

19 Then I ſaid, Lord, they know that I priſoned, and beat in every Synagogue them that beleeved in thee.

20 And when the blood of thy Martyr Steven was ſhed, I alſo ſtood by, and conſented unto his death, and kept the clothes of them that [b] ſlew him.

21 Then he ſaid unto me, Depart: for I will ſend thee farre hence unto the Gentiles.

22 ¶ [2] And they heard him unto this word, but then they lift up their voyces, and ſaid, Away with ſuch a fellow from the earth: for it is not meet that he ſhould live.

[b] This is properly ſpoken: for Steven was murdered of a ſort of cutthroats, not by order of iuſtice, but by open force: for at that time the Iewes could not put any man to death by law.

[2] Stout and ſtubborn pride will neither it ſelf imbrace the truth, neither ſuffer other to receive it.

23 And as they [c] cryed and caſt off their clothes, and threw duſt into the ayre,

24 [3] The chief captain commanded him to be led into the caſtle, and bad that he ſhould be ſcourged and examined, that he might know wherefore they cryed ſo on him.

25 [4] And as they bound him with thongs, Paul ſaid unto the centurion that ſtood by, Is it lawfull for you to ſcourge one that is a Romane, and not condemned?

26 Now when the Centurion heard it, he went and told the chief Captain, ſaying, Take heed what thou doeſt: for this man is a Romane.

27 Then the chief Captain came, and ſaid to him, Tell me, art thou a Romane? And he ſaid, Yea.

28 And the chief Captain anſwered, with a great ſumme obtained I this freedome. Then Paul ſaid, But I was ſo born.

29 Then ſtraightway they departed from him, which ſhould have examined him, and the chief Captain alſo was afraid, after he knew that he was [d] a Romane, and that he had bound him.

30 On the next day, becauſe he would have known the certaintie whereof he was accuſed of the Jewes, he looſed him from his bonds, and commanded the high Prieſts & all their Councill to come together: and he brought Paul, and ſet him before them.

AND [1] Paul beheld earneſtly the Councill, and ſaid, Men and brethren, I have in all good conſcience ſerved God untill this day.

2 [2] Then the high Prieſt Ananias commanded them that ſtood by, to ſmite him on the mouth.

3 [3] Then ſaid Paul to him, God [a] will ſmite thee, thou [b] whited wall: for thou ſitteſt to judge me according to the Law, and [c] tranſgreſſing the Law, commandeſt thou me to be ſmitten?

4 And they that ſtood by, ſaid, Revileſt thou Gods high Prieſt?

5 [4] Then ſaid Paul, I knew not, brethren, that he was the high Prieſt: for it is written, *Thou ſhalt not ſpeake evill of the ruler of thy people.

8 The Lord when it pleaſeth him, findeth defenders of his cauſe, even among his enemies.

e The Scribes office was a publick office, and the name of the Phariſes, was the name of a ſect.

10 [9] And when there was a great diſſention, the chief Captain, fearing leſt Paul ſhould have been pulled in pieces of them, commanded the ſouldiers to go down, and to take him from among them, and to bring him into the caſtle.

9 God will not forſake his to the end.

11 ¶ Now the night following, the Lord ſtood by him, and ſaid, Be of good courage, Paul: for as thou haſt teſtified of me in Jeruſalem, ſo muſt thou beare witneſſe alſo at Rome.

12 [10] And when the day was come, certain of the Jewes made an aſſembly, and bound themſelves [f] with a curſe, ſaying, that they would neither eate nor drink, till they had killed Paul.

10 Such as are caried away with a fooliſh zeale, think that they may lie, and murder, and do whatſoever miſchief they liſt.

f They curſing and banning themſelves, promiſed.

13 And they were more then fortie, which had made this conſpiracie.

14 And they came to the chief Prieſts and Elders, and ſaid, We have bound our ſelves with a ſolemn curſe, that we will eat nothing, untill we have ſlain Paul.

15 Now therefore, ye and the [g] Councill ſignifie to the chief Captain, that he bring him forth unto you to morrow, as though you would know ſome thing more perfectly of him, and we, or ever he come neere, will be ready to kill him.

g Ye and the Senate requiring the ſame to be done, leſt that the Tribune ſhould think that it was demanded of him at ſome private mans ſuite.

16 But when Pauls ſiſters ſonne heard of their laying await, he went, and entred into the caſtle, and told Paul.

17 [11] And Paul called one of the Centurions unto him, and ſaid, Take this young man hence unto the chief Captain: for he hath a certain thing to ſhew him.

11 The wiſdome of the Spirit muſt be joyned with ſimplicitie.

18 So he took him, and brought him to the chief Captain, and ſaid, Paul the priſoner called me unto him, and prayed me to bring this young man unto thee, which hath ſome thing to ſay unto thee.

19 Then the chief Captain took him by the hand, & went apart with him alone, and asked him, What haſt thou to ſhew me?

20 And he ſaid, The Jewes have conſpired to deſire thee, that thou wouldeſt bring forth Paul to morrow into the Councill, as though they would inquire ſomewhat of him more perfectly:

21 But let them not perſwade thee: for there ly in wait for him of them, more then fortie men, which have bound themſelves with a curſe, that they will neither eat nor drink, till they have killed him: and now are they ready, and wait for thy promiſe.

22 [12] The chief Captain then let the young man depart, after he had charged him to utter it to no man, that he had ‡ ſhewed him theſe things.

12 There is n counſell againſ the Lord and h ſervants.

23 And he called unto him two certain Centurions, ſaying, Make ready two hundred ſouldiers, that they may go to Ceſarea, and horſemen threeſcore and ten, and two hundred with darts, at the third houre of the night.

24 And let them make ready an horſe, that Paul being ſet on, may be brought ſafe unto Felix the Governour.

25 And he wrote an Epiſtle in this manner:

26 [13] Claudius Lyſias unto the moſt noble Governour Felix ſendeth greeting.

13 Lyſias is ſu denly made by th Lord, Pauls p tron,

27 As this man was taken of the Jewes, and ſhould have been killed of them, I came upon them with the gariſon, and reſcued him, perceiving that he was a Romane.

28 And when I would have known the cauſe, wherefore they accuſed him, I brought him forth into their Councill.

29 There I perceived that he was accuſed of queſtions of their Law, but had no crime worthy of death, or of bonds.

30 And when it was ſhewed me, how that the Jewes laid wait for the man, I ſent him ſtraightway to thee, and commanded his accuſers to ſpeak before thee the things that they had againſt him. Farewell.

31 Then the ſouldiers as it was commanded them, took Paul, and brought him by night to Antipatris.

32 And the next day, they left the horſmen to go with him, and returned unto the caſtle.

33 Now when they came to Ceſarea, they delivered the Epiſtle to the Governor, and preſented Paul alſo unto him.

34 So when the Governour had read it, he asked of what province he was: and when he underſtood that he was of Cilicia, 35 I will heare thee, ſaid he, when thine accuſers alſo are come, & commanded him to be kept in Herods judgement hall.

Chap. XXIV.

2 Tertullus accuſeth Paul: 10 He anſwereth for himſelf, 25 He preacheth Chriſt to the Governour and his wife. 27 Felix hopeth, but in vain, to receive a bribe, 28 who going from his office, leaveth Paul in priſon.

NOw [1] after five dayes, Ananias the high Prieſt came down with the Elders, and with Tertullus a certain oratour, which appeared before the Governour againſt Paul.

1 Hypocrites, w they cannot d what they wou do by force & d ceit, at length th go about to co paſſe it by a ſh of Law.

2 And when he was called forth, Tertullus began to accuſe him, ſaying, Seeing that we have obtained great quietneſſe, [a] through thee, and that many [b] worthy things are done unto this nation through thy providence,

3 Wee acknowledge it wholly, and in all places, moſt noble Felix, with all thanks.

4 But that I be not tedious unto thee: I pray thee, that thou wouldeſt heare us of thy curteſie a few words.

5 Certainely we have found this man a [c] peſtilent fellow, and a moover of ſedition among all the Jewes throughout the world, and a [d] chiefe maintainer of the ſect of the [e] Nazarites:

6 And hath gone about to pollute the Temple: therefore we tooke him, & would have judged him according to our Law:

7 But the chiefe captaine Lyſias came upon us, and with great violence tooke him out of our hands,

8 Commanding his accuſers to come to thee: of whom thou mayeſt (if thou wilt enquire) know all theſe things whereof we accuſe him.

9 And the Jewes likewiſe [f] affirmed, ſaying, that it was ſo.

10 [2] Then Paul, after that the Governour had beckened unto him that he ſhould ſpeake, anſwered, I doe the more gladly anſwer for my ſelfe, for as much as I know that thou haſt beene of [g] many yeares a judge unto this nation,

11 Seeing that thou mayeſt know, that there are but twelve dayes ſince I came up to worſhip in Hieruſalem.

12 And they neither found me in the Temple diſputing with any man, neither making uproare among the people, neither in the Synagogues, nor in the citie.

13 Neither can they [h] proove the things, whereof they now accuſe me.

14 [3] But this I confeſſe unto thee, that after the way (which they call [i] hereſie) ſo worſhip I the God of my Fathers, beleeving all things which are written in the Law and the Prophets.

15 And have hope towards God, that the reſurrection of the dead, which they themſelves looke for alſo, ſhall be both of juſt and unjuſt.

16 And herein I endevour my ſelfe to have alway a cleare conſcience toward God and toward men.

17 [4] Now after many yeares, I came and brought almes to my nation, and offerings.

18 At [k] what time, certaine Jewes of [l] Aſia found me purified in the Temple, neither with multitude, nor with tumult.

19 Who ought to have beene preſent before thee, and accuſe me, if they had ought againſt me.

a Felix ruled that province with great crueltie and covetouſnes, and yet Ioſephus recordeth that he did many worthy things, as that he tooke Eleazar the captaine of certaine cut-threats, and put that deceiving wretch the Egyptian to flight, which cauſed great troubles in Iudea.

b Hee uſeth a word which the Stoickes defined to be a perfite ſtate and behaviour.

c Word for word, a plague.

d As you would ſay, a ringleader, or enſigne bearer.

e So they called the Chriſtians, ſcoffingly, of the townes name where they thought that Chriſt was born, whereupon it came, that Iulian the Apoſtate called him Galilean.

f Confirmed Tertullus his ſaying.

2 Tertullus by the devils rhetorique beginning with flattery, maketh an end with lyes: but Paul uſing heavenly eloquence, and but a ſimple beginning, caſteth off from himſelfe the crime of ſedition, wherewith he was burdened, with a ſimple deniall.

g Paul pleaded his cauſe two yeares before Felix departed out of the province, Chap.27. but he had governed Trachonite, and Batavia, and Galaunite, before that Claudius made him governour of Iudea: Ioſephus in the hiſtorie of the Iewes warre, lib.2. Chap.11.

h They cannot lay forth before thee, and proove by good reaſons.

3 Paul goeth in the caſe of religion, from a ſtate of conjecture to a ſtate of qualitie, not onely not denying that religion which was objected againſt him, but alſo prooving it to be true, to be heavenly, and from God, and to be the oldeſt of all religions.

i Here this word Hereſie, or Sect, is taken in good part.

4 Paul in concluſion telleth the thing which was done truely, which Tertullus had before divers wayes corrupted.

k And while I was buſie about thoſe things.

l Hereby it appeareth that theſe of Aſia were Paul his enemies, and thoſe that ſtirred up the people againſt him.

20 Or let theſe themſelves ſay, if they have found any unjuſt thing in me, while I ſtood in the [m] Council, 21 Except it be for this one voyce, that I cryed ſtanding among them, Of the reſurrection of the dead am I accuſed of you this day.

22 [5] Now when Felix heard theſe things, he deferred them, and ſaid, When I ſhal more [n] perfectly know the things which concerne this way, by the comming of Lyſias the chiefe captaine, I will decide your matter.

23 [6] Then he commanded a Centurion to keep Paul, and that he ſhould have eaſe, and that he ſhould forbid none of his acquaintance to miniſter unto him, or to come unto him.

24 ¶ And after certaine dayes, came Felix with his wife [o] Druſilla, which was a Jeweſſe, and he called forth Paul, and heard him of the faith in Chriſt.

25 And as he diſputed of righteouſneſſe and temperance, and of the judgement to come, Felix trembled, and anſwered, Go thy way for this time, and when I have convenient time, I will call for thee.

26 He hoped alſo that money ſhould have beene given him of Paul, that he might looſe him: wherefore he ſent for him the oftner, and communed with him.

27 [7] When two yeares were expired, Porcius Feſtus came into Felix roome: and Felix willing to [p] get favour of the Jewes, left Paul bound.

m Whither the Tribune brought me.

5 The Iudge ſuſpendeth his ſentence, becauſe the matter is doubtfull.

n Felix could not judge whether he had done wickedly in the matters of his religion or no, untill he had better underſtanding of that way which Paul profeſſed: and as for other matters, touching the ſedition, he thinketh good to deferre it till he heare Lyſias, and therefore he gave Paul ſomewhat more libertie.

6 God is a moſt faithfull keeper of his ſervants, and the force of the truth is wonderfull, even amongſt men which are otherwiſe prophane.

o This Druſilla was Agrippa his ſiſter, of whom Luke ſpeaketh afterward, a very harlot and licentious woman, and being the wife of Azizus King of the Emeſens, who was circumciſed, departed from him, and went to this Felix the brother of one Pallas, who was ſometime Nero his bondman.

7 In a naughtie minde, that is, guiltie to it ſelfe, although ſomtime there bee ſome ſhew of equitie, yet by and by it will be extinguiſhed: but in the meane ſeaſon we have need of patience, and that continually.

p For whereas he had behaved himſelf very wickedly in the province, had it not beene for favour of his brother Pallas, he ſhould have dyed for it: ſo that we may gather hereby, why he would have pleaſured the Iewes.

Chap. XXV.

1 Feſtus ſucceeding Felix, 6 Commandeth Paul to be brought forth. 11 Paul appealeth unto Ceſar. 14 Feſtus openeth Pauls matter to King Agrippa, 23 and bringeth him before him, 27 that he may underſtand his cauſe.

WHen [1] Feſtus was then come into the Province, after three dayes he went up from Ceſarea, unto Hieruſalem.

2 Then the high Prieſt, and the chiefe of the Jewes appeared before him againſt Paul, and they beſought him,

3 And deſired favour againſt him, that he would ſend for him to Hieruſalem: and they laid wait to kill him by the way.

4 But Feſtus anſwered, that Paul ſhould be kept at Ceſarea, and that he himſelfe would ſhortly depart thither.

5 Let them therefore, ſaid he, which among you are able, come down with us: and if there be any wickedneſſe in the man, let them accuſe him.

6 ¶ [2] Now when he had taried among them no more then ten dayes, he went down to Ceſarea, and the next day ſat in the judgement ſeat, and commanded Paul to be brought.

7 And when he was come, the Jewes which

1 Satans miniſters are ſubtill, and diligent in ſeeking all occaſions: but God who watcheth for his, hindreth all their counſels eaſily.

2 We may repel an injury juſtly, but not with injury.

which were come from Hieruſalem, ſtood about him, and layd many and grievous complaints againſt Paul, whereof [a] they could make no plaine proofe,

[a] They could not prove them certainely, and with undoubted reaſons.

8 Foraſmuch as he anſwered, that he had neither offended any thing againſt the Law of the Jewes, neither againſt the Temple, nor againſt Ceſar.

9 [3] Yet Feſtus willing to get favour of the Jewes, anſwered Paul, and ſaid, Wilt thou goe up to Hieruſalem, and there be judged of theſe things before me?

[3] God doth not onely turn away the counſell of the wicked, but alſo turneth it upon their own heads.

10 Then ſaid Paul, I ſtand at Ceſars judgement ſeat, where I ought to be judged: to the Jewes I have done no wrong, as thou very wel knoweſt.

11 For if I have done wrong, or committed any thing worthy of death, I refuſe not to die: but if there be none of theſe things whereof they accuſe me, no man to pleaſure them, can deliver me to them: I appeale unto Ceſar.

12 Then when Feſtus had ſpoken with the Councill, he anſwered, Haſt thou appealed unto Ceſar? unto Ceſar ſhalt thou goe.

13 ¶ [4] And after certaine dayes, King [b] Agrippa and Bernice came downe to Ceſarea to ſalute Feſtus.

[4] Feſtus thinking no ſuch thing, even before kings, bringing to light the wickedneſſe of the Jewes, and Pauls innocencie, doth marveilouſly confirme the Church of God.

[b] This Agrippa was Agrippa his ſonne, whoſe death Luke ſpake of before, and Bernice was his ſiſter.

14 And when they had remained there many dayes, Feſtus declared Pauls cauſe unto the King, ſaying, There is a certaine man left in priſon by Felix, 15 Of whom when I came to Hieruſalem, the high Prieſts and Elders of the Jewes informed me, and deſired to have judgement againſt him.

16 To whom I anſwered, that it is not the manner of the Romanes for favour to [c] deliver any man to the death, before that he which is accuſed, have the accuſers before him, and have place to defend himſelf, concerning the crime.

[c] The Romanes uſe not to deliver any man to be puniſhed before, &c.

17 Therefore when they were come hither, without delay the day following I ſate on the judgement ſeat, and commanded the man to be brought forth:

18 Againſt whom when the accuſers ſtood up, they brought no crime of ſuch things as I ſuppoſed:

19 [5] But had certaine queſtions againſt him of their own [d] ſuperſtition, and of one Jeſus which was dead, whom Paul affirmed to be alive.

[5] The profane and wicked take an occaſion to condemn the true doctrine, by reaſon of private controverſies, and contentions of men betwixt themſelves: but the trueth nevertheleſſe abideth, in the meane ſeaſon, ſafe and ſure.

[d] This profane man calleth the Iewiſh religion, ſuperſtition, & that before King Agrippa, but no marvaile: for the rulers of provinces by reaſon of the maieſtie of the empire of Rome, uſed to preferre themſelves before Kings.

20 And becauſe I doubted of ſuch manner of queſtion, I asked him whether he would goe to Hieruſalem, and there be judged of theſe things.

21 But becauſe he appealed to be reſerved to the examination of Auguſtus, I commanded him to be kept, till I might ſend him to Ceſar.

22 [6] Then Agrippa ſaid unto Feſtus, I would alſo heare the man my ſelfe. To morrow, ſaid he, thou ſhalt heare him.

[6] That is fulfilled in Paul, which the Lord before had told to Ananias of him, Chap. 9. 15.

23 And on the morrow when Agrippa was come and Bernice, with great [e] pompe, and were entred into the Common hall with the chiefe Captaines and chiefe men of the citie, at Feſtus commandement Paul was brought forth.

[e] Gorgeouſly like Prince.

24 And Feſtus ſaid, King Agrippa, and all men which are preſent with us, ye ſee this man, about whom all the multitude of the Jewes have called upon me, both at Hieruſalem, and here, crying, that he ought not to live any longer.

25 Yet I have found nothing worthy of death, that he hath committed: nevertheleſſe, ſeeing that he hath appealed to Auguſtus, I have determined to ſend him:

26 Of whom I have no certaine thing to write unto my [f] lord: wherefore I have brought him forth unto you, and ſpecially unto thee, King Agrippa, that after examination had, I might have ſomewhat to write:

[f] To Auguſtus. Good princes refuſe this name at the first, to wit, to b called Lords, but af terward they admit ted it, as we read o Traianus.

27 For me thinketh it unreaſonable to ſend a priſoner, and not to ſhew the cauſes which are laid againſt him.

CHAP. XXVI.

2 Paul in the preſence of Agrippa 4 declareth his life from his childhood, 16 and his calling, 22 with ſuch efficacie of words, 28 that almoſt he perſwadeth him to Chriſtianitie: 30 But he and his companie depart, doing nothing in Pauls matter.

Then Agrippa ſaid unto Paul, Thou art permitted to ſpeake for thy ſelfe. So Paul ſtretched forth the hand, and anſwered for himſelfe.

2 [1] I thinke my ſelfe happie, King Agrippa, becauſe I ſhall anſwere this day before thee of all the things whereof I am accuſed of the Jewes:

[1] To have a ſkilfull judge, is a great and ſingula gift of God.

3 Chiefly, becauſe thou haſt knowledge of all cuſtomes, and queſtions which are among the Jewes: wherefore, I beſeech thee to heare me patiently.

4 [2] As touching my life from my childhood, and what it was from the beginning among mine own nation at Hieruſalem, know all the Jewes,

5 Which [a] knew me heretofore, even from my [b] Elders (if they would teſtifie) that after the [c] moſt ſtrait ſect of our religion, I lived a Phariſe.

[2] Paul divideth the hiſtorie of his life into two times: for the firſt he calleth his adverſaries witneſſes: for the latter, the Fathers and Prophets.

[a] What I was, and where, and how I lived.

[b] That my parents were Phariſes.

[c] The ſect of the Phariſes was the moſt exquiſite amongſt all the ſects of the Iewes, for it was better then all the reſt.

6 [3] And now I ſtand and am accuſed for the hope of the promiſe made of God unto our Fathers:

[3] There are three chiefe and principall witneſſes of true doctrine, God, the true Fathers, and the conſent of the Church.

7 Whereunto our twelve tribes inſtantly ſerving God day and night, hope to come: for the which hopes ſake, O King Agrippa, I am accuſed of the Jewes.

8 [4] Why ſhould it be thought a thing incredible unto you, that God ſhould raiſe againe the dead?

[4] He proveth the reſurrection of the dead, firſt by the power of God, then by the reſurrection of Chriſt, whereof he is a ſufficient witneſſe.

9 I alſo verely thought in my ſelfe, that I ought to doe many contrary things againſt the Name of Jeſus of Nazareth.

10 * Which thing I alſo did in Hieruſalem: for many of the Saints I ſhut up in priſon, having received authoritie of the high Prieſts, and when they were put to death, I gave my[d] ſentence.

11 And I puniſhed them throughout all the Synagogues, and [e] compelled them to blaſpheme, and being more mad againſt them, I perſecuted them, even unto ſtrange cities.

12 At which time, even as I went to * Damaſcus with authoritie, and commiſſion from the high Prieſts, 13 At midday, O King, I ſaw in the way a light from heaven, paſſing the brighneſſe of the Sunne, ſhine round about me, and them which went with me.

14 So when we were all fallen to the earth, I heard a voyce ſpeaking unto me, and ſaying in the Hebrew tongue, Saul, Saul, why perſecuteſt thou me? It is hard for thee to kick againſt pricks.

15 Then I ſaid, Who art thou, Lord? And he ſaid, I am Ieſus whom thou perſecuteſt.

16 But riſe and ſtand upon thy feet: for I have appeared unto thee for this purpoſe, to appoint thee a Miniſter and a witneſſe, both of the things which thou haſt ſeene, and of the things in the which I wil appeare unto thee:

17 Delivering thee from this people, and from the Gentiles, unto whom now I ſend thee:

18 [5] To open their eyes, that they may turn from darkneſſe to light, and from the power of Satan unto God, that they may receive forgiveneſſe of ſinnes, and inheritance among them, which are ſanctified by faith in me.

19 [6] Wherefore, King Agrippa, I was not diſobedient unto the heavenly viſion, 20 * But ſhewed firſt unto them of Damaſcus, and at Hieruſalem, and throughout all the coaſts of Judea, and then to the Gentiles, that they ſhould repent and turn to God, and doe works worthy amendment of life.

21 For this cauſe the Jewes caught me in the * Temple, and went about to kill me.

22 [7] Neverthleſſe, I obtained helpe of God, and continue unto this day, witneſſing both to [f] ſmall and to great, ſaying none other things, then thoſe which the Prophets and Moſes did ſay ſhould come,

23 To wit, that Chriſt ſhould [g] ſuffer, and that he ſhould be the [h] firſt that ſhould riſe from the dead, and ſhould ſhew [i] light unto this people, and to the Gentiles.

24 [8] And as he thus anſwered for himſelfe, Feſtus ſaid with a loud voyce, Paul, thou art beſides thy ſelfe: much learning doth make thee mad.

25 But he ſaid, I am not mad, O noble Feſtus, but I ſpeake the words of trueth and ſoberneſſe.

26 For the king knoweth of theſe things, before whom alſo I ſpeake boldly: for I am perſwaded that none of theſe things are hidden from him: for this thing was not done in a [k] corner.

27 [9] O King Agrippa, beleeveſt thou the Prophets? I know that thou beleeveſt.

28 Then Agrippa ſayd unto Paul, Almoſt thou perſwadeſt me to become a Chriſtian.

29 Then Paul ſaid, [l] I would to God that not only thou, but alſo all that heare me to day, were both almoſt, and altogether ſuch as I am, except theſe bonds.

30 [10] And when he had thus ſpoken, the King roſe up, and the Governour, and Bernice, and they that ſate with them.

31 And when they were gone apart, they talked betweene themſelves, ſaying, This man doth nothing worthy of death, nor of bonds.

32 Then ſaid Agrippa unto Feſtus, This man might have bene looſed, if he had not appealed unto Ceſar.

CHAP. XXVII.

1 Paul 7. 9 foretelleth the perill of the voyage, 11 but he is not beleeved. 14 They are toſſed to and fro with the tempeſt. 22. 41 and ſuffer ſhipwracke: 34 Yet all ſafe and ſound 44 eſcape to land.

NOw [1] when it was concluded, that we ſhould ſaile into Italy, they delivered both Paul, and certaine other priſoners unto a Centurion named Julius, of the band of Auguſtus.

2 And we * entred into a ſhip of Adramyttium, purpoſing to ſaile by the coaſts of Aſia, and lanched forth, and had Ariſtarchus of Macedonia, a Theſſalonian, with us.

3 And the next day we arrived at Sidon: and Julius courteouſly intreated Paul, and gave him libertie to goe unto his friends, that they might refreſh him.

4 And from thence we launched, and ſailed hard by Cyprus, becauſe the winds were contrary.

5 Then ſailed we over the ſea, by Cilicia, and Pamphylia, and came to Myra, a citie in Lycia.

6 And there the Centurion found a ſhip of Alexandria, ſailing into Italy, and put us therein.

7 And when we had ſailed ſlowly many dayes, and ſcarce were come againſt Gnidum, becauſe the wind ſuffered us not, we ſailed hard by Candie, neere to [a] Salmone,

8 And with much adoe ſailed beyond it, and came unto a certaine place called the Faire havens, neere unto the which was the citie Laſea.

9 [2] So when much time was ſpent, and ſailing was now ieopardous, becauſe alſo the [b] Faſt was now paſſed, Paul exhorted them,

10 And ſaid unto them, Sirs, I ſee that this voyage will be with hurt and much damage, not of the lading and ſhip onely, but alſo of our lives.

11 [3] Nevertheleſſe the Centurion beleeved rather the governour and the maſter of the ſhip, then thoſe things which were ſpoken of Paul.

12 And becauſe the haven was not commodious to winter in, many tooke counſell to depart thence, if by any meanes they might attaine to Phenice, there to winter, which is an haven of Candie, and lieth toward the Southweſt and by Weſt, and Northweſt and by Weſt.

13 And when the Southerne winde blew ſoftly, they ſuppoſing to attaine their purpoſe, looſed neerer, & ſailed by Candie.

14 But anon after, there aroſe by [c] it a ſtormie wind called [d] Euroclydon.

15 And when the ſhip was caught, and could not reſiſt the wind, we let her goe, and were caried away.

16 And we ran under a litle Ile named Clauda, and had much adoe to get the boat.

17 Which they tooke up and uſed all helpe, undergirding the ſhip, fearing leſt they ſhould have fallen into Syrtes, and they ſtrake ſaile, and ſo were caried.

18 [4] The next day when we were toſſed with an exceeding tempeſt, they lightned the ſhip.

19 And the third day we caſt out with our own hands the tackling of the ſhip.

20 And when neither ſunne nor ſtars in many dayes appeared, and no ſmall tempeſt lay upon us, all hope that we ſhould be ſaved, was then taken away.

21 [5] But after long abſtinence, Paul ſtood forth in the mids of them, and ſaid, Sirs, ye ſhould have hearkned to me, and not have looſed from Candie: ſo ſhould ye have gained this hurt and loſſe.

22 But now I exhort you to be of good courage: for there ſhall be no loſſe of any mans life among you, ſave of the ſhip onely.

23 For there ſtood by me this night the Angel of God, whoſe I am, and whom I ſerve, 24 Saying, Feare not, Paul: for thou muſt be brought before Ceſar: and lo, God hath given unto thee freely all that ſaile with thee.

25 [6] Wherefore, ſirs, be of good courage: for I beleeve God, that it ſhal be ſo as it hath been told me.

[2] Gods providence taketh not away the cauſes which God uſed as meanes, but rather ordereth and diſpoſeth their right uſe, even then when he openeth an extraordinary iſſue.

[b] This is meant of the Iewes faſt which they kept in the feaſt of expiation, as wee reade, Levit.23.27. which fell in the ſeventh moneth, which we call October, and is not good for navigation or ſailing.

[4] The end proveth that none provide worſe for themſelves, then they which commit themſelves to be governed onely by their own wiſedome.

[5] God ſpareth the wicked for a time, for his elect and choſens ſake.

[6] The promiſe is made effectuall through faith.

26 Howbeit, we muſt be caſt into a certaine Iland.

27 [7] And when the fourteenth night was come, as we were caried to and fro in the [e] Adriaticall Sea about mid-night, the ſhipmen deemed that ſome Countrey [f] approched unto them,

28 And ſounded, and found it twentie fathoms: and when they had gone a little further, they ſounded againe, and found fifteene fathoms.

29 Then fearing leſt they ſhould have fallen into ſome rough places, they caſt foure ankers out of the ſterne, and wiſhed that the day were come.

30 [8] Now as the mariners were about to flee out of the ſhip, and had let down the boat into the Sea under a colour as though they would have caſt ankers out of the foreſhip, 31 [9] Paul ſaid unto the Centurion and the ſouldiers, Except theſe abide in the ſhip, ye cannot be ſafe.

32 Then the ſouldiers cut off the ropes of the boat, and let it fall away.

33 [10] And when it began to be day, Paul exhorted them all to take meat, ſaying, This is the fourteenth day that ye have taried, and continued faſting, receiving nothing:

34 Wherefore I exhort you to take meat: for this is for your ſafegard: for there ſhall not an [g] haire fall from the head of any of you.

35 And when he had thus ſpoken, he tooke bread, and gave thanks to God in preſence of them all, and brake it, and began to eate.

36 Then were they all of good courage, and they alſo tooke meat.

37 Now we were in the ſhip in all two hundreth threeſcore and ſixteene ſoules.

38 And when they had eaten enough, they lightened the ſhip, and caſt out the wheat into the Sea.

39 [11] And when it was day, they knew not the countrey, but they ſpied a certaine [h] creeke with a banke, into the which they were minded (if it were poſſible) to thruſt in the ſhip.

40 So when they had taken up the ankers, they committed the ſhip unto the ſea, and looſed the rudder bonds, and hoiſed up the maine ſaile to the winde, and drew to the ſhoare.

41 And when they fell into a place, where [i] two Seas met, they thruſt in the ſhip: and the forepart ſtucke faſt, and could not be mooved, but the hinder part was broken with the violence of the waves.

42 [12] Then the ſouldiers counſell was to kill the priſoners, leſt any of them, when he had ſwom out, ſhould flee away.

Chap. XXVIII.

2 The Barbarians courteſie towards Paul and his company. 3 A viper on Pauls hand: 6 He ſhaketh it off without harme: 8 Publius 9 and others are by him healed. 11 They depart from Melita, 16 and come to Rome. 17 Paul openeth to the Iews 20 the cauſe of his comming: 22 He preacheth Ieſus 30 two yeares.

AND when they were come ſafe, then they knew that the Ile was called [a] Melita.

2 And the Barbarians ſhewed us no little kindneſſe: for they kindled a fire, and received us every one, becauſe of the preſent ſhowre, and becauſe of the cold.

3 [1] And when Paul had gathered a number of ſticks, and layed them on the fire, there came a viper out the heat, and leapt on his hand.

4 [2] Now when the Barbarians ſaw the worm hang on his hand, they ſaid among themſelves, This man ſurely is a murtherer, whom, though he hath eſcaped the ſea, yet [b] Vengeance hath not ſuffered to live.

5 But he ſhook off the worm into the fire, and felt no harme.

6 Howbeit they waited when he ſhould have [c] ſwolne, or fallen down dead ſuddenly: [3] but after they had looked a great while, and ſaw no inconvenience come to him, they changed their mindes, and ſaid, That he was a God.

7 [4] In the ſame quarters, the chief man of the Ile (whoſe name was Publius) had poſſeſſions: the ſame received us, and lodged us three dayes courteouſly.

8 And ſo it was, that the father of Publius lay ſick of the fever, and of a bloodie flix: to whom Paul entred in, and when he prayed, he laid his hands on him, and healed him.

9 [5] When this then was done, other alſo in the Iſle, which had diſeaſes, came to him, and were healed,

10 [6] Which alſo did us great honour: and when we departed, they laded us with things neceſſarie.

11 ¶ [7] Now after three moneths we departed in a ſhip of Alexandria, which had wintred in the Ile, whoſe [d] badge was Caſtor and Pollux.

12 And when we arived at Syracuſe, we taried there three dayes.

13 And from thence we fet a compaſſe, and came to Regium, and after one day, the South wind blew, and we came the ſecond day to Puteoli:

14 [8] Where we found brethren, and were deſired to tary with them ſeven dayes, and ſo we went toward Rome.

[a] That is it, which at this day we call Malta.

[1] The godly are ſure to have danger upon danger, but they have alwayes a glorious iſſue.

[2] Although adverſitie be the puniſhment of ſin, yet ſeeing that God in puniſhing of men, doth not alwayes reſpect ſin, they judge raſhly, which either doe not wait for the end, or doe judge and eſteeme of men, according to proſperitie or adverſitie.

[c] The Greek word ſignifieth, to be inflamed, or to ſwell: moreover, Dioſcorides in his 6 booke, chap. 38. witneſſeth that the biting of a viper, cauſeth a ſwelling of the body, and ſo ſaith Nicander, in his remedies againſt poyſons.

[3] There is nothing more unconſtant every way, then they which are ignorant of true religion.

[4] It never yet repented any man, that received the ſervant of God, were he never ſo miſerable and poore.

[5] Although Paul were a captive, yet the vertue of God was not captive.

[6] God doeth well to ſtrangers for his childrens ſake.

[7] Idoles do not defile the ſaints, which do in no wiſe conſent unto them.

[d] So they uſed to deck the forepart of their ſhips, whereupon their ſhips were called by ſuch names.

[8] God boweth & bendeth the hearts even of prophane men, as it pleaſeth him to favour his.

15 ¶ [9] And from thence, when the brethren heard of us, they came to meet us at the [e] market of Appius, and at the three tavernes, whom when Paul ſaw, he thanked God, and waxed bold.

16 So when we came to Rome, the Centurion delivered the priſoners to the generall Captain: but Paul was ſuffered to dwell by [f] himſelf with a ſouldier that kept him.

17 [10] And the third day after, Paul called the chiefe of the Jewes together: and when they were come, he ſaid unto them, Men and brethren, though I have committed nothing againſt the people, or Laws of the fathers, yet was I delivered priſoner from Hieruſalem into the hands of the Romanes:

18 Who when they had examined me, would have let me go, becauſe there was no cauſe of death in me.

19 [11] But when the Iews ſpake contrary, I was conſtrained to appeale unto Ceſar, not becauſe I had ought to accuſe my nation of.

20 For this cauſe therefore have I called for you, to ſee you, and to ſpeak with you: for that hope of Iſraels ſake, I am bound with this chaine.

21 Then they ſaid unto him, We neither received letters out of Iudea concerning thee, neither came any of the brethren that ſhewed or ſpake any evill of thee.

22 But we will heare of thee what thou thinkeſt: for as concerning this ſect, we know that every where it is ſpoken againſt.

23 [12] And when they had appointed him a day, there came many unto him into his lodging, to whom he expounded, [g] teſtifying the kingdom of God, and perſwading them thoſe things that concerne Ieſus, both out of the Law of Moſes, and out of the Prophets, from morning to night.

24 [13] And ſome were perſwaded with the things which were ſpoken, and ſome beleeved not.

25 Therefore when they agreed not among themſelves, they departed, after that Paul had ſpoken one word, to wit, Well ſpake the holy Ghoſt by Eſaias the Prophet unto our fathers,

26 [14] Saying, *Go unto this people, and ſay, By hearing ye ſhall heare, and ſhall not underſtand, and ſeeing, ye ſhall ſee, and not perceive:

27 For the heart of this people is waxed fat, and their eares are dul of hearing, and with their eyes have they [h] winked, leſt they ſhould ſee with their eies, and heare with their eares, and underſtand with their hearts, and ſhould return that I might heale them.

28 [15] Be it knowen therefore unto you, that

[9] God never ſuffereth his to be afflicted above their ſtrength.

[e] Appius way, was a pavement made by Appius the blind, with the help of his ſoulders, long and broad, and runneth out toward the ſea, and there were three tavernes in it.

[f] Not in a common priſon, but in a houſe which he hired for himſelf.

[10] Paul in every place remembreth himſelf to be an Apoſtle.

[11] We may uſe the meanes which god giveth us, but ſo, that we ſeek the glory of God, and not our ſelves.

[12] The Law and the Goſpel agree well together.

[g] By good reaſons, & proved, that the kingdome of God, foretold them by the Prophets, was come.

[13] The Goſpel is a ſavour of life to them ỹ beleeve, and a ſavour of death to them that be diſobedient.

[14] The unbeleevers do willingly reſiſt the trueth, & yet not by chance.

* Eſai 6.9. Matt. 13.14. Marke 4. 12. Luke 8.10. Iohn. 12.40. Rom. 11.8.

[h] They made as though they ſaw not that which they ſaw againſt their willes: yea they did ſee, but they would not ſee.

[15] The unbeliefe of the reprobate and caſtawayes, cannot cauſe the trueth of God to be of none effect.

that this ſalvation of God is ſent to the Gentiles, and they ſhall heare it.

29 [16] And when he had ſaid theſe things, the Jews departed, and had great reaſoning among themſelves.

30 [17] And Paul remained two yeares full in an houſe hired for himſelfe, and received all that came in unto him, 31 Preaching the kingdome of God, and teaching thoſe things which concerne the Lord Ieſus Chriſt, with all boldneſſe of ſpeech, without let.

16 Not ŷ Goſpel, but the contempt of the Goſpel is the cauſe of ſtrife and debate.
17 The word of God cannot be bound.

THE EPISTLE OF THE APOSTLE PAVL TO THE ROMANES.

Chap. I.

1 He firſt ſheweth on what authoritie his Apoſtleſhip ſtandeth. 15 Then he commendeth the Goſpel, 16 by which God ſetteth out his power to thoſe that are ſaved 17 by faith, 21 but were guiltie of wicked unthankfulnes to God: 26 For which his wrath was worthily powred on them, 29 ſo that they ran headlong to all kind of ſins.

PAUL [1] a [2] [a] ſervant of Jesus Christ called to be an [b] Apoſtle, * [c] put apart to preach the Goſpel of God,

2 (Which he had promiſed afore by his Prophets in the holy Scriptures)

3 [3] Concerning his [d] Son Jeſus Chriſt our Lord (which was [e] made of the ſeed of David, [f] according to the fleſh,

4 And [g] declared [h] mightily to be the Son of God, touching the Spirit of ſanctification by the reſurrection from the dead)

5 [i] By whom we have received [k] grace and Apoſtleſhip (that [l] obedience might be given unto the faith) for his Name [m] among all the Gentiles,

6 Among whom ye be alſo the [n] called of Ieſus Chriſt:

7 To all you that be at Rome beloved of God, called to be Saints: [o] Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Ieſus Chriſt.

8 [4] First I thank my God through Ieſus Chriſt for you all, becauſe your faith is [p] publiſhed throughout the [q] whole world.

9 For God is my witneſſe (whom I ſerve in my [r] ſpirit in the [ſ] Goſpel of his Son) that without ceaſing I make mention of you

10 Alwayes in my prayers, beſeeching that by ſome means, one time or other I might have a proſperous journey by the will of God, to come unto you.

11 For I long to ſee you, that I might beſtow among you ſome ſpirituall gift, that you might be ſtrengthened:

12 That is, that [t] I might be comforted together with you, through our mutuall faith, both yours and mine.

13 Now my brethren, I would that ye ſhould not be ignorant, how that I have oftentimes purpoſed to come unto you (but have been let hitherto) that I might have ſome fruit alſo among you, as I have among the other Gentiles.

14 I am debter both to the Grecians, and to the Barbarians, both to the wiſemen and to the unwiſe.

15 Therefore as much as in me is, I am ready to preach the Goſpel to you alſo that are at [v] Rome.

16 For I am not aſhamed of the Goſpel of Chriſt: [5] for it is the [x] power of God unto ſalvation to every one that beleeveth, to the Jew firſt, and alſo to the [y] Grecian.

17 [6] For by it the righteouſnes of God is reveiled from [z] faith to faith: [7] as it is written, * The juſt ſhall live by faith.

18 [8] For the wrath of God is reveiled

1 The firſt part of the Epiſtle containing a moſt profitable Preface, unto verſe 16.
2 He moving the Romanes to give diligent eare unto him, in that he ſheweth that he commeth not in his own name, but as Gods meſſenger unto the Gentiles, entreateth with them of the waightieſt matter that is, promiſed long ſince of God, by many fit witneſſes, and now at the length performed indeed.
a Miniſter, for this word Servant is not taken in this place as ſet againſt this word Freeman, but declareth his miniſtrie and office.
b Whereas he ſaid before in a generall terme, that he was a Miniſter, now he commeth to a more ſpeciall name, and ſaith he is an Apoſtle, and that he tooke not upon him this office of his own head, but being called of God, and therefore in this his writing to the Romanes, doth nothing but his duetie.
* Actes 13.1.
c Appointed of God to preach the Goſpel.

p Becauſe your faith is ſuch, that it is commended in all Churches.
q In all Churches.
r Very willingly, & with all my heart.
ſ In preaching his Son.
t Though Paul were never ſo excellent, yet by teaching the Church, he might be inſtructed by it.
v He meaneth all them that dwell at Rome, though ſome of them were not Romanes, Looke the end of the Epiſtle.
5 The ſecond part of the Epiſtle unto the beginning of the 9. chapter. Now the whole end and purpoſe of the diſputation is this: that is to ſay, to ſhew that there is but one way to attaine unto ſalvation (which is ſet forth unto us of God in the Goſpel, without any difference of nations) and that is Ieſus Chriſt apprehended by faith.

3 By declaring the ſum of the doctrine of the Goſpel, he ſtirreth up the Romanes to good conſideration of the matter whereof he entreateth: So then he ſheweth that Chriſt (who is the very ſubſtance and ſum of the Goſpel) is the onely Son of God the Father, who as touching his humanitie, is made of the ſeed of David, but touching his divine and ſpirituall nature, whereby he ſanctified himſelf, is begotten of the Father from everlaſting, as by his mightie reſurrection manifeſtly appeareth. d This is a plain teſtimonie of the perſon of Chriſt, that he is but one, and of his two natures, and their properties. e Which tooke fleſh of the Virgine, David his daughter. f As he is man: for this word, Fleſh, by the figure Synecdoche, is taken for man. g Shewed and made manifeſt. h The divine and mighty power is ſet againſt the weakneſſe of the fleſh, for that overcame death. i Of whom. k This marveilous, liberall and gracious gift, which is given me, the leaſt of all the Saints, to preach &c. Epheſians 3.8. l That men through faith might obey God. m For his names ſake. n Which through Gods goodneſſe are Chriſts. o Gods free good will: by peace, the Hebrews meane a proſperous ſucceſſe in all things. 4 He procureth their favourable patience, in that he reckoneth up their true commendation, and his true Apoſtolique good will toward them, confirmed by taking God himſelfe to witneſſe.

x God his mighty and effectuall inſtruments to ſave men by. y When this word Grecian, is ſet againſt this word Iew, then doeth it ſignifie a Gentile. 6 The confirmation of the former propoſition: we are taught in the Goſpel, that we are juſtified before God by faith, which increaſeth daily: and therefore alſo ſaved. z From faith which increaſeth daily. 7 The proofe as well of the firſt as of the ſecond propoſition, out of Abakuk, who attributeth and giveth unto faith, both juſtice and life before God. * Abakuk 2.4. 8 Another confirmation of that principall queſtion: All men being conſidered within themſelves, or without Chriſt, are guiltie both of ungodlineſſe and alſo unrighteouſneſſe, and therefore are ſubject to condemnation: Therefore muſt they needs ſeeke righteouſneſſe in ſome other.

from heaven againſt [a] all ungodlineſſe,and unrighteouſneſſe of men, which withhold the [b] trueth in unrighteouſneſſe:

19 [9] Foraſmuch as that, which may be knowen of God, is manifeſt in [c] them: for God hath ſhewed it unto them.

20 For the inviſible things of him, that is,his eternall power and Godhead are ſeen by the creation of the world, being [d] conſidered in his works, to the intent that they ſhould be without excuſe:

21 Becauſe that when they knew God, they [e] glorified him not as God, neither were thankfull, but became [f] vain in their thoughts,and their fooliſh heart was full of darkneſſe.

22 When they [g] profeſſed themſelves to be wiſe,they became fooles.

23 For they turned the glory of the [h] incorruptible God to the ſimilitude of the image of a corruptible man, and of birds, and four footed beaſts, and of creeping things.

24 [10] Wherefore [i] alſo God [k] gave them up to their hearts luſts, unto uncleannes, to defile their own bodies between themſelves:

25 Which turned the trueth of God unto a lie, and worſhipped and ſerved the creature, forſaking the Creator, which is bleſſed for ever, Amen.

26 For this cauſe God gave them up unto vile affections: for even their women did change the naturall uſe into that which is againſt nature.

27 And likewiſe alſo the men left the naturall uſe of the woman, and burned in their luſt one toward another, and man with man wrought filthineſſe,and received in themſelves ſuch [l] recompenſe of their errour, as was meet.

28 [11] For as they regarded not to acknowledge God, even ſo God delivered them up unto a [m] reprobate minde, to doe thoſe things which are not convenient,

29 Being full of all unrighteouſneſſe, fornication, wickedneſſe, covetouſneſſe, maliciouſneſſe, full of envy, of murther, of debate,of deceit, taking all things in the evill part,whiſperers,

30 Backbiters, haters of God, doers of wrong, proud, boaſters, inventers of evill things,diſobedient to parents, without underſtanding, [n] covenant breakers, without naturall affection, ſuch as can never be appeaſed,mercileſſe.

31 Which men, though they knew the [o] Law of God, how that they which commit ſuch things are worthy of death, yet not onely doe the ſame, but alſo [p] favour them that doe them.

Againſt all kinds fungodlines.

By trueth, Paul weth all the light at is left in man ce his fal, not as ugh they being led ereby were able to me into favour th God, but that ir own reaſon ght condemne em of wickedneſſe th againſt God d man.

9 Their ungodlineſſe he proveth hereby, that although all men have a moſt clear and evident glaſſe wherein to behold the everlaſting and almightie nature of God, even in his creatures, yet have they fallen away from thoſe principles, to moſt fooliſh and fond devices of their own brains, in conſtituting and appointing the ſervice of God.

In their hearts.

Thou ſeeſt not God, and yet thou acknowledgeſt him a God by his workes, Cic.

They did not honour him with that honour and ſervice which was meet for his everlaſting power and Godhead.

As if he ſaid, became ſo mad of themſelves.

Or, Thought themſelves.

For the true God they tooke another.

10 The unrighteouſneſſe of men he ſetteth forth, firſt in this, that even againſt nature following their luſts, they defiled themſelves one with another, by the juſt judgement of God.

The contempt of religion is the fountain of all miſchiefe.

As a iuſt iudge.

A meet reward for their deſerts.

11 He proveth the unrighteouſneſſe of man by a large rehearſall of many kinds of wickedneſſe, from which (if not from all, yet at the leaſt from many of them) no man is altogether free.

Into a mad and froward mind, whereby it commeth to paſſe, that the conſcience being once put out, and having almoſt no more remorſe of ſin, men run headlong into all kind of miſchief.

Vnmindfull of their covenants and bargains.

By the law of God he meaneth that which the Philoſophers called the Law of nature, and the Lawyers themſelves termed the Law of nations.

Are fellows and partakers with them in their wickedneſſe, and beſide that, commend them which do amiſſe.

Chap. II.

1 He bringeth all before the judgement ſeat of God. 12 The excuſe that the Gentiles might pretend 14 Of ignorance, he taketh quite away. 17 He urgeth the Iews with the written Law, 23 In which they boaſted: 27 And ſo maketh both Iew and Gentile alike.

THerefore [1] thou art inexcuſable, O man,whoſoever thou art that condemneſt: for in that that thou condemneſt another,thou condemneſt thy ſelfe: for thou that condemneſt, doeſt the ſame things.

2 But we [a] know that the judgement of God is according to [b] trueth,againſt them which commit ſuch things.

3 And thinkeſt thou this, O thou man, that condemneſt them which doe ſuch things, and doeſt the ſame, that thou ſhalt eſcape the judgement of God?

4 [2] Or deſpiſeſt thou the riches of his bountifulneſſe, and patience, and long ſufferance, not knowing that the bountifulneſſe of God leadeth thee to repentance?

5 But thou, after thine hardneſſe, and heart that cannot repent, * [c] heapeſt up as a treaſure unto thy ſelf wrath againſt the day of wrath, and of the declaration of the juſt judgement of God,

6 [3] *Who will reward every man according to his works?

7 That is, to them which through patience in well doing, ſeek [d] glory, and honour, and immortalitie, everlaſting life:

8 But unto them that are contentious and diſobey the [e] trueth,and obey unrighteouſneſſe, ſhall be [f] indignation and wrath.

9 Tribulation and anguiſh ſhall be upon the ſoul of every man that doeth evill: of the Jew firſt, and alſo of the Grecian.

10 But to every man that doeth good, ſhall be glory,and honour,and peace: to the Jew firſt,and alſo to the Grecian.

11 For there is no [g] reſpect of perſons with God.

12 [4] For as many as have ſinned without the Law,ſhall periſh alſo without the Law: and as many as have ſinned in the Law, ſhall be judged by the Law.

13 [5] (For the hearers of the Law are not righteous before God: but the doers of the Law ſhall be [h] juſtified.

14 [6] For when the Gentiles which have [i] not the Law, doe by [k] nature, the things conteined in the Law, they having not the Law,are a Law unto themſelves,

15 Which ſhew the effect of the Law [l] written in their hearts, their conſcience alſo bearing witneſſe, and their thoughts accuſing one another, or excuſing,)

1 He convinceth them which would ſeem to be exempt out of the number of other men, becauſe they reprehend other mens faults, and faith, that they are leaſt of all to be excuſed, for if they were well and narrowly ſearched (as God ſurely doeth) they themſelves would be found guiltie in thoſe things which they reprehend,and puniſh in other: ſo ỹ in condemning other, they pronounce ſentence againſt themſelves a Paul alledgeth no places of Scripture, for he reaſoneth generally againſt all men: but he bringeth ſuch reaſons as every man is perſwaded of in his mind, ſo that the devill himſelf is not able to pluck them clean out.

b Conſidering and iudging things aright, and not by any outward ſhew.

2 A vehement & grievous crying out againſt them ỹ pleaſe themſelves, becauſe they ſee more then other do, and yet are no whit better then others are.

* Iames 5.3.

c Whileſt thou giveſt thy ſelf to pleaſures, thinking to increaſe thy goods, thou ſhalt find Gods wrath.

3 The ground of ỹ former diſputation, That both ỹ Iews and Gentiles have altogether need of righteouſneſſe.

* Pſal.62.12. Matt.16.27. Revel.22.12.

d Glory which followeth good works, which he layeth not out before us, as though there were any that could attain to ſalvation by his own ſtrength, but, by laying this condition of ſalvation before us, which no man can perform, to bring men to Chriſt, who alone iuſtifieth the beleevers, as he himſelf concludeth, chap.2.21.22. following.

e By trueth, he meaneth that knowledge which we have of nature.

f Gods indignation againſt ſinners, which ſhall quickly be kindled.

g God doeth not meaſure men either by their blood or by their countrey, either to receive them, or to caſt them away.

4 He applieth that generall accuſation of mankind, particulary both to the Gentiles, and to the Iewes. 5 He preventeth an objection which might be made by the Iewes, whom the Law doth not excuſe, but condemne, becauſe that not the hearing of the Law, but the keeping of the Law doth juſtifie. h Shall be pronounced iuſt before Gods iudgement ſeat: which is true indeed if any ſuch could be found that had fulfilled the Law: but ſeeing Abraham was not iuſtified by the Law, but by faith, it followeth that no man can be iuſtified by works. 6 He preventeth an objection which might be made by the Gentiles, who although they have not ỹ Law of Moſes, yet they have no reaſon whereby they may excuſe their wickedneſſe, in that they have ſomewhat written in their hearts in ſtead of a Law, as men, that forbid and puniſh ſome things as wicked, and command and commend other ſome as good. i Not ſimply, but in compariſon of the Iews. k Command honeſt things and forbid diſhoneſt. l This knowledge is a naturall knowledge.

16 [7] At that day, when God ſhall judge the ſecrets of men by Jeſus Chriſt, according to [m] my Goſpel.

17 ¶ [8] Behold, thou art called a Jew, and reſteſt in the Law, and glorieſt in God,

18 And knoweſt his will, and [n] ‡ tryeſt the things that diſſent from it, in that thou art inſtructed by the Law,

19 And perſwadeſt thy ſelf that thou art a guide of the blind, a light of them which are in darkeneſſe,

20 An inſtructer of them which lack diſcretion, a teacher of the unlearned, which haſt the [o] form of knowledge, and of the trueth in the [p] Law.

21 Thou therefore, which teacheſt another, teacheſt thou not thy ſelfe? thou that preacheſt, A man ſhould not ſteale, doeſt thou steal?

22 Thou that ſayeſt, A man ſhould not commit adultery, doeſt thou commit adultery? thou that abhorreſt idoles, committeſt thou ſacriledge?

23 Thou that glorieſt in the Law, through breaking the Law, diſhonoureſt thou God?

24 For the name of God is blaſphemed among the Gentiles through you, * as it is written.

25 [9] For circumciſion verely is profitable, if thou doe the Law: but if thou be a tranſgreſſour of the Law, thy circumciſion is made uncircumciſion.

26 Therefore, if the [q] uncircumciſion keep the ordinances of the Law, ſhall not his [r] uncircumciſion be counted for circumciſion?

27 And ſhall not [ſ] uncircumciſion which is by nature, (if it keep the Law) condemne thee which by the [t] letter and circumciſion art a tranſgreſſour of the Law?

28 For he is not a Jew, which is one [v] outward: neither is that circumciſion, which is outward in the fleſh:

29 But he is a Jew which is one within, and the circumciſion is of the heart, in the [x] ſpirit, not in the letter, whoſe prayſe is not of men, but of God.

[7] God deferreth many judgements, which notwithſtanding he will execute at their convenient time by Ieſus Chriſt, with a moſt ſtrait examination, not onely of words & deedes, but of thoughts alſo, be they never ſo hidden or ſecret.

[m] As this my doctrine witneſſeth which I am appointed to preach.

[8] He proveth by the teſtimonie of David, & the other Prophets, that God beſtowed greateſt benefits upon the Iews, in giving them alſo ẏ Law, but that they are the moſt unthankfull and unkindeſt of all men.

[n] Canſt try and diſcerne what things ſwarve from Gods will.

‡ Or, alloweſt the things that are excellent.

[o] The way to teach and frame other in the knowledge of the truth.

[p] As though he ſaid, that the Iews under a colour of an outward ſerving of God, chalenged all to themſelves, when as indeed, they did nothing leſſe then obſerve the Law.

* Eſai.52.5. Ezek.36.20.

[9] He preciſely preventeth their objection, which ſet an holineſſe in circumciſion, and the outward obſervation of the Law: So that he ſheweth that the outward circumciſion, if it be ſeparated from the inward, doeth not onely, not juſtifie, but alſo condemne them that are indeed circumciſed, of whom it requireth that, which it ſignifieth, that is to ſay, cleanneſſe of ẏ heart, & the whole life according to ẏ commandement of the Law, ſo that if there be a man uncircumciſed according to ẏ fleſh, who is circumciſed in heart, he is far better & more to be counted of, then any Iew that is circumciſed according to the fleſh onely.
